

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. You can search through the full text of this book on the web at <http://books.google.com/>

November 1844

FD
14-225
75.00

The Country is fallen

A man destitute of Moral honesty or talent and the accident of a long election period of the N. E. C.

For My Country My Country

۱۱۱۱

دین من

دین من

دین من

دین من

دین من

دین من

دین من

دین من

دین من

دین من

A DIGEST

OF THE LAWS OF THE STATE OF GEORGIA:

CONTAINING

ALL STATUTES AND THE SUBSTANCE OF ALL RESOLUTIONS OF A GENERAL AND PUBLIC NATURE, AND NOW IN FORCE, WHICH HAVE BEEN PASSED IN THIS STATE, PREVIOUS TO THE SESSION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF DEC. 1837.

WITH OCCASIONAL EXPLANATORY NOTES, AND CONNECTING REFERENCES.

TO WHICH IS ADDED

AN APPENDIX,

CONTAINING

THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES; THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF GEORGIA AS AMENDED; THE STATUTE OF FRAUDS AND PERJURIES; THE HABEAS CORPUS ACT, &c.

ALSO

A SYNOPSIS OF THE LOCAL ACTS, ARRANGED TO EACH COUNTY, AND CLASSED UNDER APPROPRIATE HEADS.

WITH A

COPIOUS INDEX.

COMPILED BY THE APPOINTMENT, AND UNDER THE AUTHORITY OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY,

BY OLIVER H. PRINCE.

SECOND EDITION.

ATHENS:
PUBLISHED BY THE AUTHOR.
1837.

P R E F A C E .

THE statutes of this State have so accumulated as to be somewhat formidable from their number alone; but they have become so perplexed with amendments, repeals, revivals, and supplements; and by frequent modifications of the amending or supplementary acts, that the law on most subjects is utterly beyond the reach of the people at large, and is not attainable without some difficulty even by the profession. The obvious remedy for this evil was that provided by the act of 1819, directing the compilation of a digest unincumbered with private or local acts, and presenting to the public in a portable and convenient volume, such laws only as are public in their nature, and still in force; and these so arranged and indexed as to be readily found.

The first duty that devolves on the compiler of such a work, and perhaps not the least embarrassing, is to determine with a due regard to public utility and to the size of the intended volume, what acts are of such a character as to be proper for insertion. A fully public, and a strictly private act are, indeed, widely different; but between these there are many of an intermediate description, some of which are so nearly equivocal in their nature as to make it a matter of some difficulty to determine to which class they most properly belong, and to decide under all the circumstances on which hand they should be placed. The definitions and distinctions in the law-books, formed as they are on a system of statutes considerably different in their structure from ours, have been found not entirely satisfactory, and therefore have not been strictly followed. By these authorities, the bank charters are private acts; being for the regulation of private associations of individuals for purposes of private emolument. But these companies are so dispersed over the State, and so thoroughly mixed through the population; their operations are so intimately and extensively connected with the rights of property; and they hence exert an influence which, though secret and silent, is so pervading and powerful, that to most moral and practical purposes, and without adverting to the shares held by the government, their charters should, as the compiler conceives, be ranked with public acts. They are therefore included.

The acts to carry into effect the penitentiary system afford an instance of the opposite kind. These, as they relate to a State institution, are technically public. But as they have for their object little else than to provide for the organization and internal police of the prison, are perhaps of scarcely any interest beyond its walls; and are therefore operatively local. These acts are, however, included; partly in deference to legal authority, but principally for the convenience of the legislature, and of the officers of the institution.

Statutes respecting the judiciary of one or more, but not all the circuits; or such as are relative to the roads in any number of counties more than one and less than the whole, and other statutes of a similar kind, have been generally admitted. But acts of this extensive nature, if they apply to persons independently of territory—such for instance as relate to incorporated companies—it has in most cases been deemed proper to exclude. The operation of the former, though it does not pervade the State, is in its nature uniform and steady throughout a certain part of it. But the latter being limited in their application to no ascertained boundary, nor confined to any description of officers, or class of the people, is of course contingent, fluctuating, and always indefinite. These reasons, though not perhaps of much real weight, have been found sufficient to incline a scale already balanced.

Several important objects have been acted on by the legislature, not in the usual manner of general enactments, but almost entirely in detail. County Academies, and water courses, are instances of this. Each of these has its peculiar acts, which are strictly local, and therefore inadmissible, consistently either with the plan prescribed by the legislature or any moderate size of the work. But, as collectively taken, these are matters of undoubted public concern, the compiler was desirous, and in fact originally intended to insert in their proper places a summary of these and most of the other local acts now in force. This, though not required by the act prescribing the form of this digest, would obviously have greatly enhanced its utility, and therefore would without doubt have been highly acceptable to the public. Not however having time for this very tedious and operose undertaking, the compiler has been obliged to content himself with references. All the private and local acts that have been passed respecting each county academy, town, river, incorporated company or church, and several other matters are accordingly classed and referred to; and such acts as relate to the counties respectively are moreover distinguished as they may concern either the organization, the lines and boundaries, roads and bridges, or county taxes. To have selected and referred to such only of these acts as are now in force, would have been a mode much preferable. But that process would have consumed almost as much time as the summary just mentioned. As they now stand, they have cost no little labor, and it is presumed they may be of some use. Indeed an after-thought has suggested the hope, that on some occasions, perhaps in a search by the legislature for precedent, a reference to all the acts that have been passed on any particular local matter may be even preferable to those only that were in force at any particular time.

But the most delicate and important duty of the compiler of a work like the present, and that in which he incurs most hazard, is in determining which of the public statutes are in force. Where indeed one act expressly refers to another, and explicitly repeals it, there can be no hesitation; his office in such case is merely mechanical. And in sweeping clauses "repealing all others repugnant to" the repealing act, the question can in general be solved by carefully collating all the laws on the same subject, and by a tolerably distinct recollection of the acts on such other subjects as from their analogy or connection may be affected by the repeal. It is obvious also that some statutes or clauses are rendered clearly inoperative by the change of government, and by the changes of organization under the successive constitutions. And besides the common case of subsequent legislation without an express repeal, a state of public peace succeeding to that of war and alarm, the mere efflux of time, and the mere extension of settlements have each had their agency, either to abrogate them entirely or to change their operation and character.* But although some statutes are thus easily disposed of, others occasionally present themselves where the annulling cause, whatever it may be, operates so obliquely and dubiously, or where various implications so combine or conflict with each other as to render it doubtful what general effect can be fairly allowed to them; or in other words, whether on the whole the clause in question continues in force or not. In determining questions like these, which have often puzzled and divided the bench, the compiler could not, unless he had the gift of infallibility, hope to avoid error; nor can he escape sometimes the groundless imputation of it, unless his readers were infallible also. When, however, real errors (for such there undoubtedly are) shall be discovered by the concentrated attention of anxious and scrutinizing counsel, some allowance perhaps may be made in favor of him to whom that point was presented among a multitude of others. The liberal-minded will acknowledge that a great diversity of objects is unfavorable to closeness of investigation; and may perhaps admit that he who has to winnow a thousand statutes, may be pardoned if some one of them is not correctly analyzed.

It is presumed that illustrations of the statutes from authorities in the English and civil law are not expected. It is obvious that they are incompatible with the plan of the work. If their introduction here were attempted, either their scantiness would leave the undertaking altogether incomplete, or their bulk would swell the Digest greatly beyond any size imagined by the legislature. But it is understood that a respectable portion of the community expect to find in it notes of cases decided in the courts of the State. The utility of such notes cannot be appreciated by any person higher than by myself. No general law has ever yet been framed that has not been susceptible of various constructions; and from the structure of language and the constitution of human affairs, this must ever be the case. Laws then, may have a different, and even an opposite effect as they are construed; and as judicial decisions where they are binding at all have the same effect as statutes, the individual has frequently as much occasion to know the one as the other. If the statute makes a demand necessary to the establishment of a right, the reader is immediately put upon the inquiry what will be a sufficient demand. If resistance to legal process is declared punishable, the citizen may be much embarrassed to know how far and in what cases he may defend himself or his property, without incurring the penalties of the law. Inveigling of slaves is highly penal; but the statute does not nor could it anticipate all future cases, and inform the owner under what circumstances he might in the absence of all other means of redress, overtake and persuade back a slave that had been decoyed from his service. In all these supposed cases, and in a thousand others of daily occurrence, the adjudged point is necessary and alone sufficient for his proper information. It is true that in most instances, recourse may be had to professional advice, but in many conjunctures which may, and do in fact often happen, this may be prevented by urgency or accident, and the individual reduced to the hard alternative of either losing all redress, or in obtaining it at random, to hazard the heaviest penalties. If then it be true that the people should know the laws at all, it is equally true, and for the same reason, that they should know, or at least should have the opportunity of knowing those authoritative interpretations which explain their obscurities, reconcile to common apprehensions their apparent inconsistencies, and define exactly the extent of their operation. In a community like this, such information printed with the statutes, would circulate very extensively. It would probably reach most of the citizens either by their own perusal or at second-hand; but above all, it would afford to the legislature convenient and authentic information of the real operation of the laws, and enable that body to apply correctives; not partially and so imperfectly as heretofore has been sometimes done, but with such fullness and precision as to render the repeal or amendment of amendatory acts more seldom necessary.

* Tithes, naturalization, recording of deeds, wearing arms at church, depreciation. See also Vol. I. 433, 590, 596.

Sensible of this, the compiler would gladly have prefixed to the several titles, brief and compendious notes of the decisions on such points as are of most general concern, but unfortunately this was impracticable. The reader already anticipates the difficulty, or rather, the insurmountable obstacle which at once presents itself in six (and there will soon be more) distinct and independent tribunals; no one of which has any authority, nor even any influence in the others except by courtesy. The adjudications in one circuit have just the same force in another, as those pronounced in another State on the federal constitution would have;—the reasoning may convince, but the authority never binds. The decisions of our courts, except in some few cases on the minutes, rest only in loose notes or in memory, and there being no where any continuous series even of these, who can say as to any one that it has not been overruled or varied in some subsequent case even in the same circuit? But further;—if the compiler could make an authentic collection from such sources, it necessarily must be from those persons nearest at hand; and he presumes that not a word need be said of the presumption as well as the futility of publishing in this form, the decisions of that circuit in which he happens to reside, to the exclusion of those of the others. These reasons are respectfully offered to the public for having declined altogether to insert notes of this description. A task which though very laborious he would have cheerfully performed, had the necessary materials been in existence and within his reach; but to have attempted it with such as were, would, it is believed, have tended more to mislead and betray the reader than to inform him correctly. Without some supreme court for the correction of errors of law, whose decisions will bear the expense of printing, all expositions of the statutes worth knowing, must be hidden from the people; and they must continue as they now are, under the necessity of reading the laws without the assistance of the bench.

In presenting to the public a work to which no other merit can be allowed than that of mere correctness, the compiler can lay claim to no higher reward in the public sentiment than what may be due for the exercise of industry and patience;—qualities of quite too plain a character to be much admired, and too severe in their aspect to be generally attractive. Utility, is the end proposed. If in this the compiler has answered the reasonable expectations of the public, and in doing so has justified the confidence of his friends, he has accomplished all he aspired to, and indeed all of which the work is really susceptible.

WASHINGTON, WILKES Co., Nov. 1, 1821.

P R E F A C E

TO THE SECOND EDITION.

THIS second edition is upon the same plan as the first, which is familiar to the public, and has been generally approved. It may be proper to mention, that this volume is not as some have supposed, a mere reprint of the first edition, with the late acts appended to it; but a thorough revision and recast of the whole from the beginning.

The land laws concerning head rights, after some hesitation, have been retained; these being still the basis of title to all or nearly all lands in the State that were granted before the commencement of the lottery system. Such parts of the lottery acts, too, as vest the title in the drawers, are included; as also the captions of some statutes on collateral branches of this subject, which may for some years hence be convenient for reference.

All such acts however in the former edition as have since become inoperative by repeal or otherwise, are left out of this. Among these may be mentioned as the most voluminous, the old laws of confiscation and amercement, those concerning our then unlocated Western territory, and the penal code of 1817, superseded by that of 1823.

Some may perhaps question the propriety of inserting the numerous acts incorporating rail-road and other joint stock companies. Among these, it was not for an editor to judge which of them would grow to maturity, and which, if any, would die in their youth. The plain alternative therefore was, to insert or reject the whole; and rather than leave out all this important class of acts in which so large a portion of the State are individually interested, it was decided to include them.

So very large a portion of our acts are local, that they form the main body of the laws, and indeed several subjects of a general nature, (such as the precinct elections and some others,) have thus been acted on by the legislature in detail ; each county having its own code. This is embarrassing in a work like the present. To give even the substance of these numerous local statutes was out of the plan prescribed by the legislature in the act of 1819 (see page 572), and, not to mention its great labor, would have enlarged the work to an unwieldy size. Still, to lose all clue to them must be inconvenient and sometimes injurious to every county and town and corporation ; for each of these has its peculiar acts, and some have a considerable series of them. With a view therefore to render such statutes easily accessible, and within the smallest possible compass, they have been arranged, each to its proper county, and then to its subject ; so that the reader may turn to the county in its alphabetical order, where the act he wants will be found classed under Boundaries, Election Precincts, or some other appropriate head, with its date and the page of the volume or pamphlet of the statutes at large. There are some local acts that do not refer specifically to counties—such as create small incorporations ; and those authorizing particular roads. These are placed together at the end of the other local acts : those establishing public bridges and ferries being arranged to the rivers they cross.

No pains have been spared for accuracy ; but if after all, some mistakes should be found, the general plea must be made, that no book of so many thousand references has ever yet been found to be entirely free from them. The worst effect of any such instance in this work, will be the trouble of turning to the statute as originally printed. Neither the editor nor the printer must be held responsible for the punctuation ; as it was found, so it is given.

The decennial reprints or compilations are referred to as in the first edition.

Volume I. comprises all the statutes up to the year 1800. These are contained in Marbury and Crawford's Digest.

Volume II. (Clayton's) contains the acts from 1800 to 1810.

Volume III. (Lamar's) from 1810 to 1820.

Volume IV. (Dawson's) from 1820 to 1830.

For all acts since 1830, the annual pamphlets are referred to.

ATHENS, May, 1837.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,

STATE OF GEORGIA.

EXTRACT OF REPORT AND RESOLUTIONS OF 1836.

(See Pam. Laws, p. 24 of Res.)

THE joint committee on the judiciary, to whom was referred the letter of Oliver H. Prince, Esq. concerning a second edition of the Digest of the Laws of Georgia; have had the subject under consideration, and beg leave to report :

The first edition of that work was compiled in conformity with an act of the General Assembly, passed in 1819, and was reported to the Governor in November, 1821, for examination by a committee. It was executed with a degree of care and fidelity, which has rendered it a work of very general usefulness. A number then supposed to be sufficient for public purposes, was taken by the government, but the supply was exhausted in 1831, and more were purchased in 1832, which are also nearly gone, there being in the state-house now, about two hundred, and none to be procured elsewhere.

The manuscript of this second edition is offered by the same editor, and upon the same plan as the former. He states that the old Digest has been thoroughly revised, leaving out the acts that have been since repealed, or that have become obsolete, inserting the subsequent statutes in their proper places, so that the volume will exhibit all the public laws of force, from the earliest period of our legislation, down to the date of its publication. To this is added, a synopsis of all the local acts and resolutions, in which are brought together those concerning each county, so as to exhibit in one view, and in order of time, all those that relate to the same subject, with the date of each, and a reference to its volume and page. The convenience and usefulness of the former edition, while it lasted, has been generally felt. Seventeen years of legislation, has however produced so many new acts, and such a variety of repeals and amendments of the old, that a new edition would seem to be called for, even if the former was not out of print; and the present time is particularly appropriate, for the further reason, that if the acts of the present session are included, the volume will contain the important amendments of our judicial system, which are now in contemplation.

The committee have, therefore, no hesitation in saying, that the acts of the present session should be included, and they recommend, that the manuscript be then examined by a committee to be appointed for the purpose, and that upon their favorable report, the Governor be directed to take a sufficient number to supply the public officers now, and such as may probably be wanted in future. The volume if printed as proposed, in the same manner as the former, is estimated to be something more than once and a half as large.

* * * * *

The committee, on the whole, would recommend the adoption of the following resolution :

Resolved, That as soon as the acts of the present session shall have been incorporated as proposed, his excellency the Governor is requested to appoint a committee of three competent persons, to examine the said manuscript, and that if they report their approbation of the same, and that in their opinion, the volume from the quantity of necessary matter contained therein, will be as large as the foregoing estimate, he is directed to take for the public use, at a price not exceeding five dollars per volume, a sufficient number of bound copies, to furnish one to each of the civil officers of the State, as directed at the last session in the distribution of the Georgia Justice,* and also, eight hundred copies for future distribution, and that he pay for the same out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated.

* One copy to the offices of each of the justices of the inferior court, one to the offices of each sheriff, one to the offices of each clerk of the superior, inferior and court of ordinary, and one to the offices of each of the justices of the peace throughout the State of Georgia.—See Pam. of 1835, p. 335.

TO HIS EXCELLENCY

WILLIAM SCHLEY,

GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF GEORGIA.

SIR,

Under an Executive appointment of the 8th inst. we have very carefully and minutely examined the manuscript copy of the second edition of the Laws of Georgia, by Oliver H. Prince, Esq.

This edition, embracing all the objects contemplated by the joint resolution of both houses of the General Assembly, approved 2d December, 1836, and the report accompanying the same, we have rigidly compared with the first edition, volume IV. of the Laws, the pamphlets of 1830, 1831, 1832, 1833, 1834, 1835 and 1836, and volumes I., II. and III. of the Laws, as became necessary in the progress of our scrutiny.

From the great amount of interesting and important local legislation for some years past, the synopsis of local acts arranged according to their counties and subjects, will be found particularly convenient.

As a Digest of the Laws of Georgia, then, we are of opinion, that this edition, both from its admirable arrangement, the accuracy of its execution, and the fidelity evinced by its details and references, which reflect the highest credit upon the editor, is entitled to the fullest confidence of the public; we have therefore to report to your Excellency our most cordial approbation of the same, and that in our opinion the volume from the quantity of necessary matter contained therein will be nearly twice as large as the old edition.

Very respectfully, your ob't serv'ts,

WM. L. MITCHELL,
JUNIUS HILLYER.

ATHENS, GEORGIA, May 16, 1837.

TABLE OF THE TITLES.

	Page.		Page.
Academies and Free Schools,	17	Pedlers,	611
Affirmation,	30	Penal Laws,	614
Attachment,	30	Penitentiary,	668
Attorneys,	43	Physicians,	679
Auctions,	45	Public Printer,	682
Banks,	47	Private Bankers, &c.	682
Bastardy,	140	Religious Societies,	686
Boats and Crews,	142	Rent,	687
Boundary,	144	Rice Dams,	688
Cattle,	146	Rivers,	692
Cessions to the United States,	150	Roads, Bridges and Ferries,	733
Coin and Currency,	156	Seal of Georgia,	753
Conveyances,	158	Seamen and Mariners,	754
Cotton Seed,	168	Servants not Slaves,	756
Counties,	169	Shipping and Pilotage,	758
County Funds and Records,	171	Slaves, Patrols, &c.	772
County Officers,	176	Specifics,	813
Divorces,	187	Staples,	814
Elections,	190	State Officers,	830
Escheats,	198	Surplus Revenue,	836
Estrays,	204	Tariff,	838
Evidence,	209	Taverns,	839
Executors, Administrators, &c.	221	Tax,	840
Fences,	256	University,	866
Fees,	258	Vagrants,	886
Foreigners,	267	Vice and Immorality,	886
Health,	270	Weights and Measures,	889
Indians,	278
Indigo Weed,	285
Insolvent Debtors,	286
Interest,	293	APPENDIX.
Internal Transportation,	296	Constitution of the U. States,	891
Joint Stock Companies,	382	“ of Georgia,	902
Judiciary,	419	Statute of Frauds and Per- juries,	914
Justices of the Peace,	500	Habeas Corpus,	919
Land,	512	Local Acts concerning County affairs,	930
Laws,	569	Small Incorporations,	973
Limitation of Actions,	573	Particular Bridges and Ferries,	974
Lotteries and Gaming,	580	Lotteries,	976
Militia,	583	Stage Routes,	976
Millers,	610

D I G E S T
OF THE
LAWS OF THE STATE OF GEORGIA.

ACADEMIES AND FREE SCHOOLS.

Act of 8th December, 1810. Vol. II. 598.

Whereas, the General Assembly of this State did, on the 20th day of December, 1792,* pass a law authorizing the commissioners of the academies of the several counties in this State, to purchase one thousand pounds' worth of confiscated property, and as there are several new counties in this State which have not yet received such donation;

Commissioners may purchase 1,000 pounds value of confiscated property.

1. Sec. I. Be it therefore enacted, &c. That the commissioners of the several county academies in this State, or their agents, who have not heretofore received one thousand pounds worth of confiscated property, shall be and they are hereby authorized to purchase at any sales of confiscated property, to the amount of one thousand pounds for each county, and the commissioners for selling confiscated property are hereby authorized to receive their bids to the above amount, and to make sufficient titles to them for the same, and their successors in office.†

2. Sec. II. Where the commissioners of any of the county academies as aforesaid, have heretofore become purchasers of any confiscated property, either by themselves or agents, the said commissioners of confiscated property are hereby authorized and required to make titles for the same to them, and their successors in office, as well as for all other property which they or any of them may hereafter purchase at such sales; Provided nevertheless, that if any commissioners so purchasing, or having purchased at such sales, having heretofore received any part of the one thousand pounds as allowed by the before-recited act, that in that case they shall only receive such sum as will in all make the sum of one thousand pounds, as aforesaid.

And receive titles for former purchases.

* Vol. I. 99.

† The resolution of 20th Dec. 1817. (Vol. III. 1182,) directs moreover, that if the commissioners of any such academies should find any lands subject to be sold under the acts of confiscation, it may be exposed to sale by the sheriff as if under execution, for the benefit of such academy; and the overplus of the proceeds, if any above the 1,000 pounds, to go equally to such other academies as may not have received the full amount of this donation, who are further provided for out of escheat money. See Escheats.

An Act to create and establish a Fund for the support of Free Schools throughout this State.—Passed December 18, 1817. Vol. III. 325.

Whereas, it is universally acknowledged, that in all well-regulated governments, and particularly that form of government under which we have the happiness to live; the education of youth, and the general advancement of useful knowledge, are objects of primary importance: And whereas, the present system of education in this State is not well calculated for the general diffusion and equal distribution of useful learning.

250,000 dolls.
appropriated for free schools.

Proviso.

3. Sec. I. Be it therefore enacted, &c. That from and immediately after the passage of this act, the sum of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars be, and the same is hereby set apart and appropriated for the future establishment and support of Free Schools throughout this State; * Provided, that nothing contained herein shall prevent a future general assembly from repealing the whole, or any part of the above-recited law.

Sec. II. It shall be the duty of his excellency the governor, so soon as a favorable opportunity may occur, to invest the above sum in bank or other profitable stock.

Land Lottery Act of 1818, Vol. III. 416.—Disposing of the lands in Appling, Irwin, Early, Walton, Gwinnett, Hall and Habersham.

Reserve for educating poor children.

4. Sec. XXII. Lots Nos. 10 and 100, shall be reserved and set apart, in each surveyor's district, for the education of poor children.

5. Sec. XXIII. The proceeds arising from the sales of the fractions, if there be any after defraying the necessary expenses, be set apart as a permanent fund for the purpose mentioned in the preceding section.

Act of 17th December, 1819. Vol. III. 102.

100,000 dolls.
of this fund,
and 100,000
dolls. of the internal navigation fund in Darion bank
stock.

Appropriation for this purpose.

6. Sec. I. That his excellency the governor be, and he is authorized and required to vest in said stock [of Darion bank] the sum of one hundred thousand dollars of the fund heretofore set apart for the establishment and support of Free Schools; and that his excellency aforesaid, be, and he is authorized and required to vest in said stock, the sum of one hundred thousand dollars of the fund heretofore set apart for the improvement of the internal navigation of this State.

7. Sec. II. The further sum of one hundred and seventy-five thousand dollars be, and the same is hereby appropriated, to be drawn for from time to time, as future instalments shall be required.

An Act to exempt from Taxation the Real Estate belonging to the Academies of this State.—Passed 18th Dec. 1820. Vol. IV. 5.

Real estate of academies free from taxation.

8. From and immediately after the passing of this act, all the real estate belonging to, or attached to the different Academies of this State, shall be exempt from taxation, together with all such Academies as may hereafter be established—any law or usage to the contrary notwithstanding.

* Never to be appropriated to any other purpose. Res. of Dec. 1820. See Sec. 50.

An Act to amend an Act, entitled an Act to point out the mode under which property reverting to this State shall be disposed of, and for the promotion of Literature, and for the encouragement of the County Academies.—Passed Dec. 21, 1820. Vol. IV. 246.

All such funds as now are, or hereafter may come into the possession of this State, or that now are, or may hereafter become due to the same on account of confiscated or reverted property, or the sales thereof, and for forfeited land, and all such funds as may accrue to the State under the several escheat laws thereof, provided such escheated property has not heretofore been set apart to other special purposes by law, be, and the same is hereby set apart as a fund for the promotion of literature, and the advancement of the county academies in the manner heretofore pointed out.

9. Sec. II. The fund herein contemplated and set apart for literary purposes, shall be distributed among the several county academies in this State, in such proportions as appears to be still due as contemplated by the act of 1792.

10. Sec. III. Whatever sum may hereafter be received by any county academy from the fund contemplated in this act, shall be considered upon the same footing as if the same had have been received out of the fund contemplated by the act of 1792.*

Funds from confiscated, forfeited, or escheated property, to be distributed among the County academies, as under the Act of 1792. What are County academies.

An Act for the permanent endowment of County Academies, and to increase the funds heretofore set apart for the encouragement and support of Free Schools, and for the internal improvement of the State.—Passed Dec. 21, 1821. Vol. IV. 9.

11. Sec. I. The sum of five hundred thousand dollars, be and the same is hereby set apart, the one half for the support and encouragement of free schools, and the other half for the permanent endowment of county academies; and the further sum of five hundred thousand dollars be and the same is hereby set apart for the internal improvement of the State.

$500,000 set apart; half for Free Schools, half for Academies $500,000 for Int. Imp.

12. Sec. II. The said sum of five hundred thousand dollars, first above named, shall be denominated the School Fund, and shall be composed of two hundred thousand dollars of the stock of the Bank of Darien, two hundred thousand dollars of the stock of the State Bank, and one hundred thousand dollars of the Bank of Augusta. The fund to be denominated the Internal Improvement Fund shall be composed of one hundred thousand dollars heretofore vested in stock of the Steamboat Company, one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars in stock of the Bank of Darien, two hundred thousand dollars in stock of the State Bank, and seventy-five thousand dollars in stock of the Planters' Bank.

School Fund of what to be composed.

Int. Imp. Fund of what composed.

13. Sec. III. The principal sums set apart as aforesaid shall at no time, or for any purpose, be appropriated or used: but the interest arising thereon shall be applied to the purposes herein before mentioned, as the legislature may from time to time direct.

Interest only to be applied.

14. Sec. IV. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer, Comptroller-general, Trustees or Commissioners of county academies, and the Inferior Courts of the several counties within this State, together with the Senators of said counties, to examine and make full and accurate report to the next legislature of the amount received by said counties

Reports to be made by the different Counties.

* But see subsequent acts.

Dividends of one-half School Fund to be paid semi-annually.

respectively, in confiscated property or other endowment; and when such returns are made, and information obtained, the dividends yielded by the one half of the school fund aforesaid, shall be apportioned and paid semi-annually to the several counties, as a future legislature may direct.

[Sec. V. superseded by subsequent acts.]

Subject to be altered by a future legislature.

15. Sec. VI. Nothing in this act contained shall be so construed as to prevent any future General Assembly from altering or repealing this act, or any part thereof.

An Act to dispose of and distribute the Bank Dividends and other net proceeds of the Poor School Fund among the different Counties of this State.—Passed Dec. 23, 1822. Vol. IV. 11.

$12,000 of Poor School fund to be divided.

16. Sec. III. It shall be the duty of his excellency the governor to cause the sum of $12,000 of the bank dividends, and other net proceeds of the poor school fund to be divided among the different counties, in proportion to the number of poor children returned as above.*

17. Sec. IV. Provided, that no child shall be sent to school and paid for out of said fund, when such child has been taught reading, writing, and the usual rules of arithmetic. [The rest of the section afterwards re-enacted.]

What children to be schooled.

18. Sec. VI. No child shall be sent to school under the age of eight years, or exceeding eighteen years; and no child shall be sent to school at public expense more than three years.

[The rest of this statute incorporated in subsequent acts.]

An Act to distribute certain funds among the several Counties in the State for the use of Academies, and to provide a method of obtaining further information concerning endowments heretofore granted.—Passed Dec. 23, 1822. Vol. IV. 2.

Certain dividends to be divided among the several Counties.

19. The dividends, which have been declared upon the bank stock heretofore set apart for the endowment of county academies, and also all monies now in the treasury, which have arisen under the several laws of this State, upon the subject of escheats and of confiscated reverted property be, and the same are hereby directed to be divided among the several counties of this State, in the following manner, to wit: That each county shall have an equal part of the sum to be distributed, until each shall have received $2,000, including the amount already received in cash or in confiscated property, calculating the confiscated property at the rate of one-eighth of the amount given for the same; after which, each county shall have a distributive share of the funds arising, in proportion to the representation from each county.†

[Sec. II. repealed. See Sec. 45.]

Where no Academies, Inf Courts to draw the proportion, &c.

21. Sec. III. In counties in which there are no academies, and in which the census may have been taken as aforesaid, the Inferior Courts of said counties respectively have power to draw the proportion which said counties may have a right to claim under this Act, to be by them applied to the purposes of education in said counties.‡

[Sec IV. and V. incorporated in subsequent acts.]

* As returned by the trustees through the senators. See Sec. VI. of act of 1828. Sec. 37 of this title.

† Representative population. See act of 1832. Sec. 44 of this title.

‡ So of the poor school funds. See Sec. 28.

An Act to be entitled An Act to alter and amend an Act passed the twenty-third day of December, eighteen hundred and twenty-two, to distribute the Bank Dividend and other net proceeds of the Poor School Fund among the different Counties in this State.—Passed Dec. 22, 1823. Vol. IV. 14.

22. From and after the passing of this Act the sum of twenty thousand dollars out of the proceeds of the poor school fund, and the same is hereby set apart and distributed annually among the different counties of this State, in proportion to the number of free white population* in each county, which population shall be ascertained by the census next to be taken, and which shall be considered as the population of said counties, until it shall be again taken, according to law, for the purpose of educating such children who are destitute of the means of education.

$20,000 of the Poor School fund to be distributed annually among the Counties.

[Sec. II. Directing the bond and qualification of trustees, re-enacted.]

23. Sec. III. The trustees aforesaid shall hold their offices during good behavior, and a majority of them shall be competent to the transaction of business; and should either of them fail or refuse to do their duty as trustees, the Inferior Court shall have power to remove them, and appoint others in their place.

Term of Trustees' office.

[Sec. IV. and V. re-enacted.]

24. Sec. VI. The trustees shall purchase a good and sufficient bound book, to be paid for out of the poor school money, for the purpose of registering all the proceedings of this institution, and shall make an annual return thereof to the Senatus Academicus, by the Senator elect from their county.

Shall register proceedings, and make return.

25. Sec. VII. His excellency the governor be, and he is required to transmit to the Justices of the Inferior Court, in each county in this State, a dedimus to be sworn, and subscribed to before them, and also blank bonds, which dedimus and bonds when executed agreeably to the requisitions of this act, shall be deposited in the Clerk's Office of the Superior Court; and in case a breach or violation of the duty enjoined by this act, by any trustee, may be sued by the Inferior Court of said county, and the amount recovered thereon shall, after defraying necessary expenses, go to and become a part of the poor school fund of said county.

Manner of taking bonds of Trustees, and proceedings for violation thereof.

So much of the act of which this is amendatory, as militates against this act, is hereby repealed.

Repealing clause.

An Act to compel persons holding Academy Funds in their hands, to pay interest in certain cases.—Passed Dec. 20, 1824. Vol. IV. 22.

26. Sec. I. All and every person or persons, who now has, or hereafter may have, in his or their hands, any money belonging to academies, other than the trustees of said academies, or persons entitled by law to have the same, which has arisen from the sales of confiscated property or otherwise, shall pay at and after rate of twenty per cent. per annum, until they shall have settled and paid the same to the trustees of academies, or other persons entitled by law to have and receive the same.

Persons withholding Academy funds, to pay 20 per cent. per annum.

27. Sec. II. Any person or persons, whether trustees, commissioners, or agents of any academy in this State, who shall refuse, when Same of Commissioners, &c.

* Representative population. See act of 1832. Sec. 44 of this title.

required by a majority of the trustees or commissioners of said academy, to pay over to the treasurer or other person appointed by said commissioners or trustees as aforesaid, within ten days after demanded, all sums belonging to said academies in their hands, shall be liable to pay the same interest, until paid, as persons in the first section of this act subjected to, for holding funds, unaccounted for, any law to the contrary notwithstanding.

An Act to authorize the Justices of the Inferior Court of the different Counties in this State, in certain cases to draw for and dispose of the Dividends of the Poor School Fund to which their Counties may respectively be entitled.—Passed June 11, 1825. Vol. IV. 31.

Where no Trustee, Inferior Courts authorized to draw their proportion.

28. In all the counties in this State, where no trustees have been, or may hereafter be appointed, in conformity to the act passed on the twenty-second day of December, eighteen hundred and twenty-three, for distributing a portion of the poor school fund, it shall and may be lawful for the justices of the Inferior Courts of said counties respectively, to draw for, and dispose of the dividends to which their counties may respectively be entitled, in such manner as they may think will best promote the intention of the Legislature, any thing in said law to the contrary notwithstanding: Provided, however, that the justices aforesaid shall make annual reports to the Senatus Academicus of their actings and doings in the premises, showing the plans pursued by them respectively.

An Act for the relief of the several Counties in this State, in which the Commissioners of the Poor School Fund shall have failed to make their returns in conformity with the law.—Passed Dec. 21, 1827. Vol. IV. 43.

Trustees who have failed to make returns, may do so, and draw their money.

31. In all cases where the trustees of any poor school funds in this State shall have failed to make their returns in terms of the law in such cases made and provided, they shall be allowed to make returns for the ensuing year, embracing returns for the past years, and that thereupon they shall be entitled to receive such sum as they would have been entitled to, if they had made their returns regularly.

An Act to be entitled An Act for the better distribution and application of the Poor School Fund, and to point out the mode of accounting for the disbursement of the Academy and Poor School Funds.—Passed Dec. 22, 1828. Vol. IV. 49.

Clerks of the Court of Ordinary appointed sole Trustees of the Poor School fund. Shall give bond, and take an oath.

32. The clerks of the Courts of Ordinary, in the several counties in this State, are hereby appointed sole trustee of the poor school fund, who shall be capable of suing and being sued, under the name and style of "the Trustee of the Poor School Fund;" the said trustee shall, before he enters upon the duties of his office, give bond with approved security, to the justices of the Inferior Court of his county, in the sum of one thousand dollars, for the faithful performance of his duty as trustee, and at the same time take and subscribe the following oath, before the justices of the Inferior Court, or a majority of them, to wit: I, —, do solemnly swear, that I will faithfully perform and discharge the duties of trustee of the poor school fund, for the county of —, as the law directs; that I will not, nor shall any person for me or themselves, by or with my consent or knowledge, use any money or sums of money coming into my hands as trustee aforesaid, for my own or their private use—so help me God.—Which oath shall be entered upon the minutes of the Inferior Court, and the trustee may retain five per cent. as commissions or compensation for his services as trustee, upon all sums disbursed by him.

The oath.

33. Sec. II. If the clerk of the Court of Ordinary will not accept the appointment of trustee of the poor school fund, the justices of the Inferior Court shall immediately proceed to appoint some fit and discreet person in the county, trustee of the poor school fund, which trustee when appointed shall be, and is hereby vested with all the powers that the clerk of the Court of Ordinary could possess when acting as trustee of the poor school fund, agreeable to the provisions of this act; and it shall be the duty of the trustee appointed by the Inferior Court, to give bond [and] security, and take the oath prescribed by this act. And whenever the trustee of the poor school fund, whether the clerk or the person appointed by the Inferior Court, shall neglect or refuse to furnish the senator elect with a correct statement of the receipts and expenditures of the poor school fund, agreeable to the provisions of this act, such trustee shall forfeit, and not be entitled to receive or retain in his hands any commissions or compensation for his services, and the Justices of the Inferior Court shall immediately order suit to be brought against such trustee on the bond given by him.

In case the Clerk will not accept, the Inf. Court to appoint some fit person, who shall give bond and take the oath.

In case of neglect, the Trustee to forfeit his fees, and his bond may be sued.

34. Sec. III. It shall be the duty of the trustee appointed by this act, or that may be appointed by the Inferior Court, to call upon all former trustees, or other persons who have heretofore received or had charge of the disbursement of the poor school funds, in the several counties in this State, and require them to pay over all unexpended balances remaining in his, her, or their hands; and in case of neglect or refusal to pay the same within twenty days after the same is demanded, the trustee shall immediately commence an action in the Superior Court, for all sums above thirty dollars, against such defaulters, for all sums due and owing by him, her, or them, and for all sums of thirty dollars and under, in a Justice's Court.

Trustee to receive the funds from former Trustees, &c.

On refusal, to commence suit therefor.

35. Sec. IV. It shall be the duty of the Justices of the Peace, in the different captains' districts of each county, to produce and make out a list of all children in their respective districts, together with their names, ages, and sexes, whose extreme indigence entitle them to a participation in the poor school fund, and report them in writing to the trustee of the county. Which list, after being examined and approved of by the trustee, shall be registered by said trustee in a book, to be kept by him for that purpose, and it shall be the duty of such trustee, to cause all such poor children to be sent to school, whenever a school can be had sufficiently near to their place of residence; and when such child or children are sent to school, the teacher shall submit his accounts to said Justices of the Peace, who shall approve or reject the same, and if such account be approved, the teacher shall place the same in the hands of the trustee for revision and correction, on or before the second Monday in October in each and every year; at which time said trustees shall pay the account of the teacher, unless the funds in his hands are not sufficient to pay the whole accounts of the county of similar amount—then, and in that case, it shall be the duty of the trustee to divide the funds in his hands equally among the poor children educated for that year.

Justices of the Peace to make out a list of the children who shall be sent to School.

Teacher to submit his account.

To be paid by the Trustee.

36. Sec. V. His excellency the Governor is hereby authorized to draw a warrant on the treasurer in favor of the trustee of the poor school fund, for the distributive share of the poor school fund, to which

The Governor to draw his warrant in favor of the Trustee.

D I G E S T

OF THE

LAWS OF THE STATE OF GEORGIA.

ACADEMIES AND FREE SCHOOLS.

Act of 8th December, 1810. Vol. II. 598.

Whereas, the General Assembly of this State did, on the 20th day of December, 1792,* pass a law authorizing the commissioners of the academies of the several counties in this State, to purchase one thousand pounds' worth of confiscated property, and as there are several new counties in this State which have not yet received such donation ;

1. Sec. I. Be it therefore enacted, &c. That the commissioners of the several county academies in this State, or their agents, who have not heretofore received one thousand pounds worth of confiscated property, shall be and they are hereby authorized to purchase at any sales of confiscated property, to the amount of one thousand pounds for each county, and the commissioners for selling confiscated property are hereby authorized to receive their bids to the above amount, and to make sufficient titles to them for the same, and their successors in office.†

2. Sec. II. Where the commissioners of any of the county academies as aforesaid, have heretofore become purchasers of any confiscated property, either by themselves or agents, the said commissioners of confiscated property are hereby authorized and required to make titles for the same to them, and their successors in office, as well as for all other property which they or any of them may hereafter purchase at such sales; Provided nevertheless, that if any commissioners so purchasing, or having purchased at such sales, having heretofore received any part of the one thousand pounds as allowed by the before-recited act, that in that case they shall only receive such sum as will in all make the sum of one thousand pounds, as aforesaid.

Commissioners may purchase 1,000 pounds value of confiscated property.

And receive titles for former purchases.

* Vol. I. 99.

† The resolution of 20th Dec. 1817, (Vol. III. 1182,) directs moreover, that if the commissioners of any such academies should find any lands subject to be sold under the acts of confiscation, it may be exposed to sale by the sheriff as if under execution, for the benefit of such academy; and the overplus of the proceeds, if any above the 1,000 pounds, to go equally to such other academies as may not have received the full amount of this donation, who are further provided for out of escheat money. See Escheats.

An Act to create and establish a Fund for the support of Free Schools throughout this State.—Passed December 18, 1817. Vol. III. 325.

Whereas, it is universally acknowledged, that in all well-regulated governments, and particularly that form of government under which we have the happiness to live; the education of youth, and the general advancement of useful knowledge, are objects of primary importance: And whereas, the present system of education in this State is not well calculated for the general diffusion and equal distribution of useful learning.

250,000 dolls.
appropriated for free schools.

Proviso.

3. Sec. I. Be it therefore enacted, &c. That from and immediately after the passage of this act, the sum of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars be, and the same is hereby set apart and appropriated for the future establishment and support of Free Schools throughout this State; * Provided, that nothing contained herein shall prevent a future general assembly from repealing the whole, or any part of the above-recited law.

Sec. II. It shall be the duty of his excellency the governor, so soon as a favorable opportunity may occur, to invest the above sum in bank or other profitable stock.

Land Lottery Act of 1818, Vol. III. 416.—Disposing of the lands in Appling, Irwin, Early, Walton, Gwinnett, Hall and Habersham.

Reserve for educating poor children.

4. Sec. XXII. Lots Nos. 10 and 100, shall be reserved and set apart, in each surveyor's district, for the education of poor children.

5. Sec. XXIII. The proceeds arising from the sales of the fractions, if there be any after defraying the necessary expenses, be set apart as a permanent fund for the purpose mentioned in the preceding section.

Act of 17th December, 1819. Vol. III. 102.

100,000 dolls.
of this fund,
and 100,000
dolls. of the internal navigation fund in Darien bank
stock.

Appropriation for this purpose.

6. Sec. I. That his excellency the governor be, and he is authorized and required to vest in said stock [of Darien bank] the sum of one hundred thousand dollars of the fund heretofore set apart for the establishment and support of Free Schools; and that his excellency aforesaid, be, and he is authorized and required to vest in said stock, the sum of one hundred thousand dollars of the fund heretofore set apart for the improvement of the internal navigation of this State.

7. Sec. II. The further sum of one hundred and seventy-five thousand dollars be, and the same is hereby appropriated, to be drawn for from time to time, as future instalments shall be required.

An Act to exempt from Taxation the Real Estate belonging to the Academies of this State.—Passed 18th Dec. 1820. Vol. IV. 5.

Real estate of academies
free from taxation.

8. From and immediately after the passing of this act, all the real estate belonging to, or attached to the different Academies of this State, shall be exempt from taxation, together with all such Academies as may hereafter be established—any law or usage to the contrary notwithstanding.

* Never to be appropriated to any other purpose. Res. of Dec. 1820. See Sec. 50.

An Act to amend an Act, entitled an Act to point out the mode under which property reverting to this State shall be disposed of, and for the promotion of Literature, and for the encouragement of the County Academies.—Passed Dec. 21, 1820. Vol. IV. 246.

All such funds as now are, or hereafter may come into the possession of this State, or that now are, or may hereafter become due to the same on account of confiscated or reverted property, or the sales thereof, and for forfeited land, and all such funds as may accrue to the State under the several escheat laws thereof, provided such escheated property has not heretofore been set apart to other special purposes by law, be, and the same is hereby set apart as a fund for the promotion of literature, and the advancement of the county academies in the manner heretofore pointed out.

9. Sec. II. The fund herein contemplated and set apart for literary purposes, shall be distributed among the several county academies in this State, in such proportions as appears to be still due as contemplated by the act of 1792.

Funds from confiscated, forfeited, or escheated property, to be distributed among the County academies, as under the Act of 1792. What are County academies.

10. Sec. III. Whatever sum may hereafter be received by any county academy from the fund contemplated in this act, shall be considered upon the same footing as if the same had have been received out of the fund contemplated by the act of 1792.*

An Act for the permanent endowment of County Academies, and to increase the funds heretofore set apart for the encouragement and support of Free Schools, and for the internal improvement of the State.—Passed Dec. 21, 1821. Vol. IV. 9.

11. Sec. I. The sum of five hundred thousand dollars, be and the same is hereby set apart, the one half for the support and encouragement of free schools, and the other half for the permanent endowment of county academies; and the further sum of five hundred thousand dollars be and the same is hereby set apart for the internal improvement of the State.

$500,000 set apart: half for Free Schools, half for Academies $500,000 for Int. Imp.

12. Sec. II. The said sum of five hundred thousand dollars, first above named, shall be denominated the School Fund, and shall be composed of two hundred thousand dollars of the stock of the Bank of Darien, two hundred thousand dollars of the stock of the State Bank, and one hundred thousand dollars of the Bank of Augusta. The fund to be denominated the Internal Improvement Fund shall be composed of one hundred thousand dollars heretofore vested in stock of the Steamboat Company, one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars in stock of the Bank of Darien, two hundred thousand dollars in stock of the State Bank, and seventy-five thousand dollars in stock of the Planters' Bank.

School Fund of what to be composed.

Int. Imp. Fund of what composed.

13. Sec. III. The principal sums set apart as aforesaid shall at no time, or for any purpose, be appropriated or used: but the interest arising thereon shall be applied to the purposes herein before mentioned, as the legislature may from time to time direct.

Interest only to be applied.

14. Sec. IV. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer, Comptroller-general, Trustees or Commissioners of county academies, and the Inferior Courts of the several counties within this State, together with the Senators of said counties, to examine and make full and accurate report to the next legislature of the amount received by said counties

Reports to be made by the different Counties.

* But see subsequent acts.

Dividends of one-half School Fund to be paid semi-annually.

respectively, in confiscated property or other endowment; and when such returns are made, and information obtained, the dividends yielded by the one half of the school fund aforesaid, shall be apportioned and paid semi-annually to the several counties, as a future legislature may direct.

[Sec. V. superseded by subsequent acts.]

Subject to be altered by a future legislature.

15. Sec. VI. Nothing in this act contained shall be so construed as to prevent any future General Assembly from altering or repealing this act, or any part thereof.

An Act to dispose of and distribute the Bank Dividends and other net proceeds of the Poor School Fund among the different Counties of this State.—Passed Dec. 23, 1822. Vol. IV. 11.

$12,000 of Poor School fund to be divided.

16. Sec. III. It shall be the duty of his excellency the governor to cause the sum of $12,000 of the bank dividends, and other net proceeds of the poor school fund to be divided among the different counties, in proportion to the number of poor children returned as above.*

17. Sec. IV. Provided, that no child shall be sent to school and paid for out of said fund, when such child has been taught reading, writing, and the usual rules of arithmetic. [The rest of the section afterwards re-enacted.]

What children to be schooled.

18. Sec. VI. No child shall be sent to school under the age of eight years, or exceeding eighteen years; and no child shall be sent to school at public expense more than three years.

[The rest of this statute incorporated in subsequent acts.]

An Act to distribute certain funds among the several Counties in the State for the use of Academies, and to provide a method of obtaining further information concerning endowments heretofore granted.—Passed Dec. 23, 1822. Vol. IV. 2.

Certain dividends to be divided among the several Counties.

19. The dividends, which have been declared upon the bank stock heretofore set apart for the endowment of county academies, and also all monies now in the treasury, which have arisen under the several laws of this State, upon the subject of escheats and of confiscated reverted property be, and the same are hereby directed to be divided among the several counties of this State, in the following manner, to wit: That each county shall have an equal part of the sum to be distributed, until each shall have received $2,000, including the amount already received in cash or in confiscated property, calculating the confiscated property at the rate of one-eighth of the amount given for the same; after which, each county shall have a distributive share of the funds arising, in proportion to the representation from each county.†

[Sec. II. repealed. See Sec. 45.]

Where no Academies, Inf. Courts to draw the proportion, &c.

21. Sec. III. In counties in which there are no academies, and in which the census may have been taken as aforesaid, the Inferior Courts of said counties respectively have power to draw the proportion which said counties may have a right to claim under this Act, to be by them applied to the purposes of education in said counties.‡

[Sec IV. and V. incorporated in subsequent acts.]

* As returned by the trustees through the senators. See Sec. VI. of act of 1828. Sec. 37 of this title.

† Representative population. See act of 1832. Sec. 44 of this title.

‡ So of the poor school funds. See Sec. 28.

An Act to be entitled An Act to alter and amend an Act passed the twenty-third day of December, eighteen hundred and twenty-two, to distribute the Bank Dividend and other net proceeds of the Poor School Fund among the different Counties in this State.—Passed Dec. 22, 1823. Vol. IV. 14.

22. From and after the passing of this Act the sum of twenty thousand dollars out of the proceeds of the poor school fund, and the same is hereby set apart and distributed annually among the different counties of this State, in proportion to the number of free white population* in each county, which population shall be ascertained by the census next to be taken, and which shall be considered as the population of said counties, until it shall be again taken, according to law, for the purpose of educating such children who are destitute of the means of education.

[Sec. II. Directing the bond and qualification of trustees, re-enacted.]

23. Sec. III. The trustees aforesaid shall hold their offices during good behavior, and a majority of them shall be competent to the transaction of business; and should either of them fail or refuse to do their duty as trustees, the Inferior Court shall have power to remove them, and appoint others in their place.

[Sec. IV. and V. re-enacted.]

24. Sec. VI. The trustees shall purchase a good and sufficient bound book, to be paid for out of the poor school money, for the purpose of registering all the proceedings of this institution, and shall make an annual return thereof to the Senatus Academicus, by the Senator elect from their county.

25. Sec. VII. His excellency the governor be, and he is required to transmit to the Justices of the Inferior Court, in each county in this State, a dedimus to be sworn, and subscribed to before them, and also blank bonds, which dedimus and bonds when executed agreeably to the requisitions of this act, shall be deposited in the Clerk's Office of the Superior Court; and in case a breach or violation of the duty enjoined by this act, by any trustee, may be sued by the Inferior Court of said county, and the amount recovered thereon shall, after defraying necessary expenses, go to and become a part of the poor school fund of said county.

So much of the act of which this is amendatory, as militates against this act, is hereby repealed.

An Act to compel persons holding Academy Funds in their hands, to pay interest in certain cases.—Passed Dec. 20, 1824. Vol. IV. 22.

26. Sec. I. All and every person or persons, who now has, or hereafter may have, in his or their hands, any money belonging to academies, other than the trustees of said academies, or persons entitled by law to have the same, which has arisen from the sales of confiscated property or otherwise, shall pay at and after rate of twenty per cent. per annum, until they shall have settled and paid the same to the trustees of academies, or other persons entitled by law to have and receive the same.

27. Sec. II. Any person or persons, whether trustees, commissioners, or agents of any academy in this State, who shall refuse, when required by a majority of the trustees or commissioners of said academy, to pay over to the treasurer or other person appointed by said commissioners or trustees as aforesaid, within ten days after demanded, all sums belonging to said academies in their hands, shall be liable to pay the same interest, until paid, as persons in the first section of this act subjected to, for holding funds, unaccounted for, any law to the contrary notwithstanding.

* Representative population. See act of 1832. Sec. 44 of this title.

An Act to authorize the Justices of the Inferior Court of the different Counties in this State, in certain cases to draw for and dispose of the Dividends of the Poor School Fund to which their Counties may respectively be entitled.—Passed June 11, 1825. Vol. IV. 31.

Where no Trustee, Inferior Courts authorized to draw their proportion.

28. In all the counties in this State, where no trustees have been, or may hereafter be appointed, in conformity to the act passed on the twenty-second day of December, eighteen hundred and twenty-three, for distributing a portion of the poor school fund, it shall and may be lawful for the justices of the Inferior Courts of said counties respectively, to draw for, and dispose of the dividends to which their counties may respectively be entitled, in such manner as they may think will best promote the intention of the Legislature, any thing in said law to the contrary notwithstanding: Provided, however, that the justices aforesaid shall make annual reports to the Senatus Academicus of their actings and doings in the premises, showing the plans pursued by them respectively.

An Act for the relief of the several Counties in this State, in which the Commissioners of the Poor School Fund shall have failed to make their returns in conformity with the law.—Passed Dec. 21, 1827. Vol. IV. 43.

Trustees who have failed to make returns, may do so, and draw their money.

31. In all cases where the trustees of any poor school funds in this State shall have failed to make their returns in terms of the law in such cases made and provided, they shall be allowed to make returns for the ensuing year, embracing returns for the past years, and that thereupon they shall be entitled to receive such sum as they would have been entitled to, if they had made their returns regularly.

An Act to be entitled An Act for the better distribution and application of the Poor School Fund, and to point out the mode of accounting for the disbursement of the Academy and Poor School Funds.—Passed Dec. 22, 1828. Vol. IV. 49.

Clerks of the Court of Ordinary appointed sole Trustee of the Poor School fund. Shall give bond, and take an oath.

32. The clerks of the Courts of Ordinary, in the several counties in this State, are hereby appointed sole trustee of the poor school fund, who shall be capable of suing and being sued, under the name and style of "the Trustee of the Poor School Fund;" the said trustee shall, before he enters upon the duties of his office, give bond with approved security, to the justices of the Inferior Court of his county, in the sum of one thousand dollars, for the faithful performance of his duty as trustee, and at the same time take and subscribe the following oath, before the justices of the Inferior Court, or a majority of them, to wit: I, —, do solemnly swear, that I will faithfully perform and discharge the duties of trustee of the poor school fund, for the county of —, as the law directs; that I will not, nor shall any person for me or themselves, by or with my consent or knowledge, use any money or sums of money coming into my hands as trustee aforesaid, for my own or their private use—so help me God.—Which oath shall be entered upon the minutes of the Inferior Court, and the trustee may retain five per cent. as commissions or compensation for his services as trustee, upon all sums disbursed by him.

The oath.

33. Sec. II. If the clerk of the Court of Ordinary will not accept the appointment of trustee of the poor school fund, the justices of the Inferior Court shall immediately proceed to appoint some fit and discreet person in the county, trustee of the poor school fund, which trustee when appointed shall be, and is hereby vested with all the powers that the clerk of the Court of Ordinary could possess when acting as trustee of the poor school fund, agreeable to the provisions of this act; and it shall be the duty of the trustee appointed by the Inferior Court, to give bond [and] security, and take the oath prescribed by this act. And whenever the trustee of the poor school fund, whether the clerk or the person appointed by the Inferior Court, shall neglect or refuse to furnish the senator elect with a correct statement of the receipts and expenditures of the poor school fund, agreeable to the provisions of this act, such trustee shall forfeit, and not be entitled to receive or retain in his hands any commissions or compensation for his services, and the Justices of the Inferior Court shall immediately order suit to be brought against such trustee on the bond given by him.

In case the Clerk will not accept, the Inf. Court to appoint some fit person, who shall give bond and take the oath.

In case of neglect, the Trustee to forfeit his fees, and his bond may be sued.

34. Sec. III. It shall be the duty of the trustee appointed by this act, or that may be appointed by the Inferior Court, to call upon all former trustees, or other persons who have heretofore received or had charge of the disbursement of the poor school funds, in the several counties in this State, and require them to pay over all unexpended balances remaining in his, her, or their hands; and in case of neglect or refusal to pay the same within twenty days after the same is demanded, the trustee shall immediately commence an action in the Superior Court, for all sums above thirty dollars, against such defaulters, for all sums due and owing by him, her, or them, and for all sums of thirty dollars and under, in a Justice's Court.

Trustee to receive the funds from former Trustees, &c.

On refusal, to commence suit therefor.

35. Sec. IV. It shall be the duty of the Justices of the Peace, in the different captains' districts of each county, to produce and make out a list of all children in their respective districts, together with their names, ages, and sexes, whose extreme indigence entitle them to a participation in the poor school fund, and report them in writing to the trustee of the county. Which list, after being examined and approved of by the trustee, shall be registered by said trustee in a book, to be kept by him for that purpose, and it shall be the duty of such trustee, to cause all such poor children to be sent to school, whenever a school can be had sufficiently near to their place of residence; and when such child or children are sent to school, the teacher shall submit his accounts to said Justices of the Peace, who shall approve or reject the same, and if such account be approved, the teacher shall place the same in the hands of the trustee for revision and correction, on or before the second Monday in October in each and every year; at which time said trustees shall pay the account of the teacher, unless the funds in his hands are not sufficient to pay the whole accounts of the county of similar amount—then, and in that case, it shall be the duty of the trustee to divide the funds in his hands equally among the poor children educated for that year.

Justices of the Peace to make out a list of the children who shall be sent to School.

Teacher to submit his account.

To be paid by the Trustee.

36. Sec. V. His excellency the Governor is hereby authorized to draw a warrant on the treasurer in favor of the trustee of the poor school fund, for the distributive share of the poor school fund, to which such county is entitled ; if such trustee applies for the same in person, or draws an order upon the Governor for the same : Provided, that the Justices of the Inferior Court, shall certify that such trustee is duly qualified to apply for the same, agreeably to the provisions of this act.

The Governor to draw his warrant in favor of the Trustee.

Provide.

Trustees of P. S. fund and of Acad. fund to furnish annually two lists of scholars and accounts; and on failure to comply, not entitled to draw any farther dividend.

37. Sec. VI. The Trustees of the several academies, and the trustees of the poor school fund in each county in this State, shall annually, on or before the third Monday in each October, transmit to the senator elect [from] their county, two accounts each of their respective receipts and expenditures of that year, together with a list of the names, ages, and sexes of the poor children and scholars respectively educated in the county, and at their academy. One copy each of said accounts respectively shall be deposited by the senator in the Executive Department, and one copy of each shall be laid before the Senatus Academicus. And if the trustees of any academy or poor school shall fail to comply with the provisions of this act, such trustees of academy, or trustees of poor school fund, shall not be entitled to draw any dividend of their respective academic or poor school fund, until the amount previously received by said trustees or trustee shall be respectively accounted for, either to his excellency the Governor, or the Senatus Academicus.

Trustees, &c. who make a full and fair statement of their receipts and expenditures, entitled to draw their funds.

38. Sec. VII. The trustees of the several academies, or Justices of the Inferior Court, or trustees of the poor school fund, in the several counties in this State, who shall at any time hereafter make to his excellency the Governor a full and fair statement of the receipts and expenditures of their respective several academies or poor school funds heretofore drawn by them for such county or academy ; also showing in what manner the moneys received by them from the treasury have been applied and expended—and also showing what amount is due and owing by former trustees or others who have received or had charge of their several respective academic or poor school funds, in the several counties of this State, then, and in that case, his excellency the Governor shall be, and is hereby authorized to draw a warrant on the treasurer in favor of the different academies, respectively and severally, and the trustees of poor schools, for all arrears which their counties or academies may be entitled to.

Warrant on the personal application of Trustees.

39. Sec. VIII. His excellency the Governor shall not draw a warrant on the treasurer in favor of the trustees of any academies, unless it is on the personal application of one or more of the trustees, or a written order for the same, signed by a majority of the trustees of such academy.

40. Sec. IX. When there are two or more incorporated academies in any one county, and the trustees of either academy fail to exhibit a satisfactory account of their respective several disbursements in terms of this act, the trustees of the academy or academies in the same county, which do thus account, shall be entitled to draw the whole dividend provided for said county or counties, for every year in which there may be a failure as aforesaid.*

Inferi. Courts may appropriate surplus county funds to academies and poor children.

41. Sec. X. The Justices of the Inferior Courts throughout this State shall have power to order an appropriation of any part or portion of the surplus county funds in aid of the provisions now or which may hereafter be made, for the benefit of county academies, or the education of poor children.

Repealing clause.

All laws militating against this act are hereby repealed.

* But see Section 45.

An Act more effectually to define the duty of the Trustees of the Poor School Fund, in the respective Counties of this State.—Passed Dec. 22, 1829. Vol. IV. 56.

42. From and immediately after the passage of this act, the trustees of the poor school fund in the respective counties in this State, are required, whenever the teachers of poor children, in their respective counties, shall make out their accounts agreeable to the provisions of an act, passed the twenty-second day of December, eighteen hundred and twenty-eight, entitled, "An Act for the better distribution and application of the poor school fund, and to point out the mode of accounting for the disbursement of the academy and poor school funds," to pay said accounts at the times, and on the days following, to wit: on the first Monday in April, on the first Monday in July, on the first Wednesday in October, and on the first Monday in January in each and every year: Provided, no account shall be paid until the full end and expiration of the quarter for which the demand is made. Trustees to pay Teachers of poor children quarterly. Proviso.

43. Sec. II. The trustee of the poor school fund in the respective counties of this State shall not wait until all the Justices of the Peace in their respective counties may report, but said trustee is hereby required, whenever said justices or any of them shall fail or neglect to report, agreeable to the act of the twenty-second day of December, eighteen hundred and twenty-eight, to pay over to such teachers as may have made out their accounts as aforesaid, their respective demands: Provided, that said trustee, on paying out such sums, shall retain in his hands, as nearly as he can ascertain, a rateable proportion of money, as will be sufficient to cover the demands that may be made in the defaulting districts in his county, until said return shall have been made agreeable to law. Duty of the Trustee when Justices of the Peace fail to report. Proviso.

All acts, or parts of acts, militating against this act are hereby repealed. Repealing clause.

An Act to provide for the more equal distribution of the academic fund among the several counties of this State.—Passed Dec. 24, 1832. Pam. 20.

44. Sec. I. The academic fund hereafter to be distributed among the several counties of this State shall be distributed in proportion to the representative population of each county, agreeable to the last census, returned to the Executive office. Representative population.

Sec. II. All laws militating against this law are hereby repealed.

An Act, to amend an Act, entitled an Act, to distribute certain funds among the several counties in this State, for the use of Academies, and to provide a more equitable method for the distribution of said funds.—Passed Dec. 23, 1833. Pam. 9.

45. So much of the before recited act, as requires a joint application of a majority of the Trustees of the several Academies, in counties where there are more than one incorporated Academy, to enable them to draw the Academy fund due the county, be, and the same is hereby repealed; and, that each Academy is hereby entitled, to draw a share of said funds in proportion to the number of students taught in the Academy during the past year, agreeably to the returns made to the Executive office, on the order of a majority of the Trustees of such Academy: Provided, that those counties, wherein there are no Academies now in operation, shall be permitted to draw on said funds, according to the laws heretofore passed, and now of force.

Each Academy allowed to draw in proportion to students.

An Act to amend an Act entitled an Act for the better distribution of Poor School Funds, and to point out the mode of accounting for the disbursement of the Academy and Poor School Funds, passed 22d December, 1828.—Passed Dec. 23, 1833. Pam. 237.

Teachers' accounts shall state the number of days.

46. Sec. I. From and after the passage of this act, the trustees of the poor schools in the several counties of this State be required to reject the account of any teacher of a poor child or children, unless the same shall set forth the number of days each child was so taught, and to require the same to be proven before some justice of the peace, or justice of the inferior court.

Trustees' accounts to go to Grand Jury.

47. Sec. II. It shall be the duty of the trustees of the poor school funds in each county, to submit to the grand jury of their respective counties, at the fall term of the superior court, an abstract containing the receipts and disbursements of the monies drawn by him as trustee, which shall be accompanied by the necessary vouchers.

Sec. III. All laws militating against this act are hereby repealed.

An Act to amend the several laws of this State on the subject of the Poor-school Fund so far as relates to the times of disbursement by the Trustees.—Passed Dec. 20, 1834. Pam. 167.

Teachers to be paid annually by 10th of January in full or proportionally.

48. From and after the passage of this act it shall be lawful for the Trustees of the Poor-school Fund of the several counties of this State to pay the teachers of the poor children their respective accounts against said fund annually; and the several teachers shall, during the month of December in each year, render in their accounts to the several trustees of the different counties, and at the expiration of said year, and within ten days thereafter, the said trustees shall proceed to pay the same.

[Proviso repealed by the ensuing act of 1835.]

An Act to amend an Act, passed the 20th of December, 1834, on the subject of the Poor-school Fund, so far as relates to the arrears to be paid out of the Poor-school Fund.—This act passed December 26, 1835. Pam. 171.

49. Sec. I. [Is a transcript of the last act as far as the proviso; instead of which, this act adds the following words]—"according to the priority of said account or accounts."

Sec. II. Repeals all repugnant acts.

An Act to appropriate and set apart, one third of the Surplus Fund, to be derived to this State from the United States, as a permanent Free School and Education Fund, and to authorize the appointment of a Committee to prepare and report a plan of Free Schools, &c. to the next Legislature.—Approved Dec. 23, 1836. Pam. 138.

One-third of the surplus revenue set apart, and the interest appropriated to the schools.

50. Sec. I. One third of the Surplus Revenue which this State may receive from the United States, be, and the same is hereby appropriated and set apart, as a permanent Free School and Education Fund; that the same, as it may be received, shall be deposited in the Central Bank, and loaned out to the citizens of this State, according to the law regulating the disbursement of the funds of the Central Bank, and that the interest only, of said fund, shall be used for the establishment and maintenance of such plan or system of Free Schools and Education, as may hereafter be determined on by the Legislature, at its next, or some subsequent session.

51. Sec. II. A joint Committee of five, two from the Senate, and three from the House of Representatives, to be named by the presiding officer of each House respectively, and shall be appointed at the present session of the Legislature, whose duty it shall be, to digest a plan of common school education, best adapted to the genius, habits, of life and of thought, of the people of Georgia, and report the same to the General Assembly at its next session; and with a view of obtaining every necessary information, in regard to the various systems of Elementary Schools which exist in this country, and that they may come to the consideration of the subject committed to their charge with the best lights which the age affords; authority is hereby given them, to appoint a sub-committee of not more than two of their own number, who shall, during the ensuing year, visit different parts of the United States, and particularly the New England States, with the object aforesaid, and shall also institute a correspondence with such persons as they may think proper, either in the United States, or Europe, or both, for the purpose of getting information of the different systems of common school education, which likewise prevail in some of the European countries, and the said place [plan] which the committee may digest and report, shall be accompanied by the reasons on which it is founded, and the information which may be collected as aforesaid.

Committee appointed to digest and report a plan.

52. Sec. III. All laws or parts of laws repugnant to this act, be, Expense. and the same are hereby repealed: And all expense incurred by collecting such information, shall be paid out of the present contemplated school fund, and shall not exceed the sum of two thousand dollars.

RESOLUTIONS.

53. Whole amount received up to 5th June, 1820, on the free school funds invested in bank stocks, $18,566. As to Academies, the committee are not able to ascertain what sum had been received by each,—very unequal,—some had received nothing.

Resolved, That the fund of $250,000, set apart by a former Legislature, as a free school fund, and the interest yielded thereon or that may be yielded thereon, from time to time—together with lots of land, Nos. 10 and 100, set apart by an act of the Legislature of 1818, for the education of poor children, shall not under any authority or pretence whatever, be applied to any other object than that of free schools, in such mode and manner as may hereafter be prescribed by the Legislature. Further resolved, That a committee be appointed to prepare and report to the next session, a system of free school education.—[Reso. of 12 Dec. 1820. Vol. IV., 6.]

54. Treasurer directed to issue executions against all persons indebted for forfeited lands; and the Governor directed to employ an agent to investigate and collect all that is practicable of the large amount still due for reverted confiscated property, and report in detail to the ensuing session.—[Res. of 18 Dec. 1820. Ib. 4.]

55. Resolved, That each county which shall exhibit satisfactory certificates from the Surveyor General's, the Executive, the Secretary of State's, and the Treasurer's office, or any of them, that they have not received the amount with which they stand charged, shall be entitled to receive their proportion of dividends, in common with counties not charged.—[Reso. of 22d Dec. 1823. Ib. 31.]

As to a tract of confiscated land, supposed to lie on the St. Mary's river, which had been purchased by the academy of Elbert, Jackson, Clarke, Jasper, Morgan, Putnam, Laurens, Montgomery, Scriven, and Bullock, at $3,962, (equal by the scale to $495 25,) but could never be found, see Reso. of 1823, ib. 31; and as to Tatnell academy, in connection with the same subject, see Reso. of 1825, ib. 56, and of 1834, pam. 277.

56. Resolved, That hereafter it shall be the duty of the trustees of all academies in this State which derive a part or the whole of their support from the State funds, to make an annual report to the Senators of the county in which such academy may be, of the following form :

1. The number and salaries of instructors.
2. The number of scholars.
3. The annual income.
4. Branches of learning taught in each, together with any material change which may have taken place since the last report.

Resolved further, That if any academy shall fail to make such report in time for it to be laid before the Senatus Academicus, such academy shall be debarred from any further aid from the funds, which now or may be hereafter, set apart for that purpose, until such report shall be made as herein contemplated.

Approved, December 18th, 1824. (Ib. 40.)

57. The report of 1826 (ib. 79) presents a history of the County Academy, and of the Free School endowments respectively : notices some of the misapplications and abuses in both systems ; exhibits a table of counties, population, and amount due to each county ; and appoints a committee of three to digest and report to the next session, a plan suited to the condition of the Poor School Fund, and of the dependent population of the State. And,

Resolved, That in all cases in which any county, by its agent, may heretofore have drawn any portion of the poor school fund, and shall not have made a full, distinct, and detailed return of the manner in which such fund so drawn has been disbursed, it shall not be lawful for such county to draw any further portion of such fund, until full report shall have been made, according to the statutes in force on this subject shall have been fully complied with : and that his excellency the Governor be requested to have this resolution strictly complied with.

Resolved, That any stock that may hereafter be subscribed for, or taken by the State, in the bank of Macon, or in the increased stock of the bank of Augusta, that the same be set apart and added to the stock composing the school fund of the State, and that the dividends thereof be distributed accordingly.

58. Report of 1827 (ib. 92) vindicates philosophically, and at considerable length, the importance of classical studies, and prescribes a tabular form of returns for Academies and for Free Schools.

59. Such has been the irregular manner, say the committee of 1828, (ib. 116,) in which the reports of Academies and Free Schools have been made, that they find it impossible to give such a condensed view of them as can lead to any correct conclusion as to their real state and condition. They had found out but one fact,—that, with some honorable exceptions, there had been great waste and misapplication of the funds.

60. The report of the proper committee, agreed to Dec. 19th, 1829, (ib. 138,) states, That the present free-school system of Georgia is miserably defective, your committee have had but too mortifying testimony in the returns of the several counties, submitted to their inspection during the present session. The fund set apart for free schools, although entirely inadequate to effect the important desideratum of furnishing the means for a plain and substantial education to every family in the State, under a more regular and economical administration, has, it is feared, been dissipated with comparatively little benefit.

Resolved, (in substance,) That the Governor is authorized to appoint one or more persons to digest and report to the next session, a system for the Free Schools of Georgia.

61. Resolved, That the Trustees of the Poor-school Fund of said counties [all the counties] be, and they are hereby authorized and required to accept and pay off all accounts due for the tuition of poor children prior to their acceptance of the appointment of trustees (and which have not been paid by their predecessors,) in the order the same become due; Provided, the persons claiming such accounts shall render the same under oath.

And be it further resolved, That his excellency the Governor be, and he is hereby authorized and required to pay over the amount of the Poor-school Fund set apart for this State.

Approved, December 18th, 1829. (Ib. 148.)

62. December 23d, 1830, (pam. 257,) Resolved, That charges in the accounts of trustees of Academies, or of poor school fund, for compensation of agents, for conveying money from the Treasury, is disapproved.

Resolved, That it be recommended to the trustees, of the several Academies and of the poor school fund, to procure the transmission of the money apportioned to them, in such manner as may preclude expense.

63. A resolution of December, 1831, (pam. 289,) disapproves the plan proposed by the board of trustees, of educating at the University, one poor boy from each county; and again authorizes the Governor to appoint suitable persons to report to the next Legislature, a system of Academic and free school instruction as nearly uniform as practicable throughout the State.

64. The Legislature express in the adopted report and appended resolution of 1834, (pam. 279,) a cordial approbation of the manual labor system, and a willingness to foster and encourage the efforts making to that end by several religious denominations.

A digested statement of the condition of the Academies and Free Schools in each county in the State, alphabetically arranged, is published with the laws of 1833, 1834, and 1835.

A brief report in 1836 concludes with stating, that "from all the information before your committee, there is great imperfection apparent in this system of education, and great laxity in the disbursement of this fund, calling for a thorough reformation."—Pam. of 1836, p. 16 of Res.

AFFIRMATION.—1756.

An Act for the ease of Dissenting Protestants, within this province, who may be scrupulous of taking an oath, in respect to the manner and form of administering the same.—Passed December 13, 1756. Vol. I. 391.

Whereas many inconveniences may arise in this province through the scruples of divers Protestant Dissenters, within the same, of good estates and abilities, who refuse to take an oath, by laying their hand on the holy evangelists, whereby the public is deprived of their services as jurymen. And whereas, acts of toleration and indulgence to Protestant Dissenters have been found of beneficial tendency to other his Majesty's provinces, and may, in a particular manner, be so to this infant province, in order that such Dissenting Protestants may be enabled and compellable to serve on all juries, and to give evidence in all cases, and that the acts of such Protestant Dissenters may be valid and effectual, in respect of the manner and form of taking and administering oaths;

A solemn affirmation valid as an oath, and, if false, punished as perjury.

Be it enacted, That immediately after passing of this act, any person who shall appear in any of the Courts of Judicature, or before any judge, or magistrate in this province, either as juror, witness, party, or otherwise, in any cause, civil or criminal, and shall make and distinctly repeat a solemn and conscientious declaration and affirmation, according to the form of his profession, in any matter, cause, or thing, wherein an oath is required by law, in the following words: "I, A. B. do swear, in the presence of Almighty God, as I shall answer at the great and awful day of judgment, that, (as the case may be.) So help me God." And such solemn and conscientious declaration and affirmation shall be deemed, held, adjudged, and taken to be valid and effectual to all intents, constructions, and purposes whatsoever, in the same manner as if such person had taken an oath on the holy evangelists of Almighty God. And that all and every such person and persons, as shall be convicted of falsely and corruptly affirming and declaring any matter or thing, which (if the same had been an oath taken on the holy evangelists,) would by law amount to wilful and corrupt perjury, shall incur the same penalties, disabilities, and forfeitures, as persons convicted of wilful perjury do incur by the laws of Great Britain.

ATTACHMENT.—1799.

An Act to regulate Attachments in this State.—Passed February 18, 1799. Vol. I. 39.

Whereas it is just and proper that provision should be made for the recovery of debts, where the same cannot be done by the ordinary process of law; therefore,

In what cases the agent or attorney may attach.

1. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That in case of non-residence, or where both debtor and creditor shall reside without the limits of this State,* it shall and may be lawful for such creditor, by himself, his agent, or attorney, to attach the property,† both real or personal, which may be found in the State, of such debtor, in the same manner, and under the like restrictions, as are or shall be usual in case of absconding debtors, or where the debtor alone resides out of the State.

2. Sec. II. It shall and may be lawful for the judges of the superior, or justices of the inferior court, or any one of them, and also for any justice of the peace, upon complaint made on oath, that his debtor resides out of this State, or is actually removing without the limits of this State, or any county, or absconds, or conceals himself, or stands in defiance of a peace officer, so that the ordinary process of law cannot be served on him, to grant an attachment against the estate of such debtor, or so much thereof as shall be of sufficient value to satisfy the plaintiff's demand and costs, which attachment shall be directed to, and served by the sheriff of the county where the property may be found, or his deputy, or any constable; and it shall be the duty of such sheriff, his deputy, or any constable, to serve and levy the same, upon the estate, both real and personal, of such debtor, wherever the same may be found, either in the hands of any person indebted to, or having effects of such debtor, and summon such person or persons to appear at the next court to be held for the said county, and to which the said attachment may be returnable, there to answer on oath what he is indebted to, or what effects of such party he hath in hand, or had at the time of levying such attachment, which, being returned executed, the court may by order compel such person to appear and answer as aforesaid: And where any person, in whose hands any debt or effects may be attached, shall deny owing any money to, or having in his hands any effects of such debtor, it shall be lawful for the plaintiff to traverse such denial, and thereupon an issue shall be made up, and the same be tried by a jury; and if found against such garnishee, he, she, or they shall be subject to pay the plaintiff such sum as shall be so found, and the court shall order judgment to be entered thereof against such garnishee, as in other cases: Provided that the said judge, justice of the inferior court, or justice of the peace, before granting such attachment, shall take bond and security of the party for whom the same may be granted, in double the sum to be attached,‡ payable to the defendant, for satisfying and paying all costs which may be incurred by the defendant, in case the plaintiff suing out such attachment shall discontinue or be cast in his suit, and also all damages which may be recovered against the said plaintiff for suing out the same; which bond shall be returned to the court to which such attachment may be made returnable on or before the last day of the term; and the party entitled to such cost and damages may bring suit, and recover thereon; and every attachment issued without such bond taken, or where no bond shall be returned as aforesaid, is hereby declared to be illegal, and shall be dismissed with costs: Provided always, that every attachment which may be issued, as aforesaid, shall be attested by the judge of the superior, or justice of the inferior court, or justice of the peace, issuing the same, and be by the sheriff, or person authorized to serve the same, publicly advertised at the court-house of the said county, at least thirty days before the sitting of the court; and if any attachment shall be issued within thirty days of the next court, such attachment shall be made returnable to the court next after the expiration of the said thirty days, and not otherwise; and all attachments issued and

Who may issue attachments, and in what cases.

To be levied by a sheriff, or constable, on the defendant's real or personal estate, or in the hands of garnishees.

Summons of garnishees.

Issue may be made up on the return of garnishees.

Trial and judgment thereon.

Plaintiff shall give bond.

Form of the condition.

How attested.

Advertised thirty days.

* In all cases. See Sec. 43.

† Certain property of poor debtors excepted. See Sec. 47.

‡ Explained by act of 1833. See Sec. 39.

Informal attachments void.

Replevy.

Perishable property may be sold by order of court.

Proceedings
after return, where there is no replevy.

Against garnishees.

Property of absent debtors in different counties.

returned in any other manner than is herein-before directed, shall be, and the same are declared to be null and void; and all goods, chattels, lands, and tenements, subject to such attachments, shall be repleviable by appearance and putting in special bail, or by the defendant's giving bond, with good and sufficient security, to the sheriff, or other officer serving the same; which bond he is hereby empowered to take, compelling the defendants to appear at the court to which such attachments shall be returnable, and to abide by and perform the order and judgment of such court: Provided always, that all goods and effects attached and not replevied, as aforesaid, where the same shall appear to be of a perishable nature, on motion of the plaintiff, or his attorney, the court, or, if not in term time, the judge of the superior, or any two or more of the justices of the inferior court, may, and are hereby authorized and required to order a sale of such perishable property; and the moneys arising from such sales shall be deposited in the clerk's office by the sheriff, or other officer selling the same, to answer the demands of the plaintiff, if established, and the balance, if any, after satisfying such demands and costs, shall, by order of the said court, be returned to the defendant or his attorney.

3. Sec. III. If any attachment shall be returned executed, and the property attached shall not be replevied, as aforesaid, the subsequent proceedings thereon shall be the same as on original process against the body of the defendant, where there is a default of appearance;* and all such goods and chattels, lands and tenements, not replevied, shall, after the plaintiff has established his demand, be, by order of the court, sold and disposed of, for and towards the satisfaction of the plaintiff's judgment, in the like manner as if the same had been taken under execution; and where any attachments be returned, served in the hands of a third person, it shall be lawful, upon his appearance and examination, in the manner heretofore directed, to enter up judgment as against the original debtor, and award execution against such third person for the moneys due by him to the absent debtor, and against such property or effects as may be in his hands or keeping, belonging to such debtor, or so much thereof as will be of value sufficient to satisfy the judgment and costs thereon.

4. Sec. IV. Where an absent debtor hath property lying in different counties, the same shall be liable to attachment, and an original and copies shall issue for each county where the property may be found; the whole to be returnable to the court from whence the first original issued.†

Sec. V. Directing suits to be brought on debts returned by garnishees, re-enacted. [See sec. 7.]

An Act to amend the foregoing.—Passed November 22d, 1814. Vol. III. 69.

Whereas the above recited act has been found by experience to be inadequate to the complete effectuation of the purposes intended, and to require amendment,

5. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That where any sheriff or constable shall levy any attachment on personal property,‡ claimed by any person not a party to such attachment, such person, his agent, or attorney, shall make oath to such property; and it shall be the duty of such sheriff, or constable, to return the fact of such claim to the court to

* And Sec. 13 and 18.

† But see Sec. 6, 7, and 45.

‡ As to lands and negroes, see Act of 1828, Judiciary, Sec. 188, &c.

Claims to personal property attached, how reported and tried.

which the attachment shall be made returnable; and such court shall cause an issue to be joined between the plaintiff and such claimant, and the right of property to be decided on by a jury at the same term, unless sufficient cause be shown to induce the court to continue the same: Provided, the person claiming such property, his agent, or attorney, shall give bond (to the sheriff or constable serving such attachment,) with security, in a sum equal to the amount of such attachment,* conditioned to pay to the plaintiff all damages which the jury, on the trial of the right of property, may assess against such claimant, in case it should appear that such claim was made for the purpose of delay. And every juror on the trial of such claim shall be sworn, in addition to the oath usually administered, to give such damages, as may seem reasonable and just to the plaintiff, against the claimant, in case it shall be sufficiently shown that such claim was intended for the purpose of delay only; and it shall be lawful for the plaintiff to enter up judgment, and have execution against such claimant, for the amount of such verdict; and where the jury shall find the property not subject to the attachment, the claimant may enter up judgment, and have execution against the plaintiff for the costs by him incurred in establishing his claim.

6. Sec. II. Land or real estate shall not be subject to be attached under or by virtue of any attachment issuing and returnable out of the county in which such land is situate; and in all cases of claims to land, levied on by virtue of any attachment, the proceedings shall be the same as those pointed out by the preceding section for claims to other property, except that such claim shall be returned to, and tried in the superior court of the county where the land is situate.

7. Sec. III. No person, who may be summoned as garnishee, shall be compelled to answer to any attachment out of the county in which such garnishee lived at the time of serving such attachment; and where any garnishee shall return that he has in his hands a note or notes, bond or bonds, or other evidences of debt, belonging to the absent debtor, the same shall be forthwith deposited with the clerk of the court in which the attachment is pending, subject to the order of said court; and after the plaintiff shall have established his demand against the absent debtor, the court may, in its discretion, direct the clerk to deliver to the plaintiff, in such attachment, his agent, or attorney, such note or notes, bond or bonds, or other evidence of debt, or so much thereof as will be sufficient to discharge the amount of the demand which the plaintiff shall have established against the defendant, taking a receipt therefor, which receipt shall be filed with the papers appertaining to such attachment, and shall be considered as a payment to that amount; unless the plaintiff shall make it appear, that, after due diligence used by him, he was unable to collect the amount; and where the evidence so deposited is of a debt greater than the plaintiff's demand, and will not admit of division, the court shall order the same to be sued for, in such manner as will, in their discretion, best ensure recovery; and the money, when collected, to be deposited with the clerk of the court in which the attachment pended, a part to be applied to the discharge of the amount due the attaching creditor, the balance to remain subject to the future order of said court.†

8. Sec. IV. No suit by way of attachment shall abate by the death of either party, where the cause of action would survive to the exec-Land, how attached, and claimed.

No garnishee obliged to answer out of his county.

Debts returned by the garnishee to be deposited with the clerk.

After judgment to be turned over to the attaching creditor.

Parties, how to be made.

* In double the value of the property claimed. See Sec. 44.

† See further as to garnishees, in acts of 1822, 1823, 1829 and 1830.

Where the plaintiff dies.

Where the defendant dies.

Replevy and defence by executor or administrator.

Making parties in justices' courts.

Interrogatories.

Commencement of lien, as respects other attachments. And as respects judgments.

Defendant may replevy or may plead.

utor or administrator ; but such death being suggested on the record, the cause shall proceed under the restrictions and regulations following : When a plaintiff in attachment shall die, the executor or administrator of such plaintiff shall, within six months after the probate of the will, and obtaining letters testamentary, or obtaining letters of administration, cause to be issued by the clerk of the court in which such attachment is pending, a scire facias returnable to the next term of the said court, giving notice of his intention to become a party in the place and stead of the deceased testator or intestate, which shall be published at the door of the court-house in the county in which such attachment is pending, by the sheriff of said county, at least twenty days prior to the term at which such scire facias is made returnable ; which being done, such executor or administrator may, on motion, be made party plaintiff, and the cause proceed ; and where the defendant shall die, scire facias shall issue in manner aforesaid, immediately after the expiration of twelve months, which scire facias shall contain a notice to the legal representatives of the defendant, whether executor or administrator, of the pendency of such attachment, and of the intention of the plaintiff to proceed with the same ; which, being published in like manner, it shall be lawful for the plaintiff to proceed with his attachment, as if such death had not taken place. Provided nevertheless, that the executor or administrator of the defendant may appear at the return of the scire facias, and, upon giving security in terms of the act to which this is amendatory, shall be permitted to plead and defend the said attachment, in the same manner that his testator or intestate might have done.

9. Sec. V. In cases of attachments pending in justices' courts, where either party shall die, such attachments shall not abate ; but a notice of the intention of the representatives of the plaintiff, whether executor or administrator, to proceed, being published at the house where such justices' courts are holden, by the constable of the district, ten days before the time at which parties are to be made, such parties shall thereupon be made, and the cause proceed.

10. Sec. VI. Where any witness resides out of this State, or out of the county in which any attachment may be pending, and in which his testimony may be required, it shall be lawful for the plaintiff, on filing interrogatories in the office of the clerk of the court where such attachment is pending, and publishing a notice at the door of the court-house of said county, that such interrogatories are filed, to obtain a commission in like manner, as is prescribed by the 23d section of the judiciary act of 1799, [see Judiciary, Sec. 22,] for taking testimony in other cases.

11. Sec. VII. In all cases the attachment first served shall be first satisfied.

12. Sec. VIII. No lien shall be created by the levying of an attachment, to the exclusion of any judgment obtained by any creditor, before judgment is obtained by the attaching creditor.*

Sec. IX. [Repeals so much of the foregoing act as is repugnant to this.]

An Act, in addition to, and amendatory of an Act, to regulate Attachments in this State.—Passed Dec. 18, 1816. Vol. III. 72.

13. Sec. I. Every attachment hereafter sued out, the property attached may be restored to the person or persons against whom the attachment may have issued, upon the defendant or defendants giving good and sufficient security to the officer serving the said attachment, in double the debt or demand for which the said attachment may have been issued and granted;* or the said defendant or defendants may file his, her, or their defence to the petition or declaration of the attaching creditor, or creditors, and enter into the same defence as if the property attached had been replevied.

* And see Sec. 46.

14. Sec. II. Where a debt is not due, and the debtor or debtors is, Attachments for debts not yet due. or are removing, or is, or are about to remove without the limits of this State, and oath being made by the creditor, his agent, or attorney, of the amount of the debt to become due, and the debtor, or debtors is, or are removing, or about to remove, without the limits of this State, an attachment may issue against the property of such debtor, or debtors; but the defendant may relieve his property, by giving to the creditor good security to pay the money when due, and cost.†

15. Sec. III. In all cases where an attachment may issue against Third persons may act as the friend of the defendant, and represent him in court. any person absent, that on the trial of the same, any person may act as a friend, give good special bail, and by himself, or attorney, plead and defend the suit, in the same manner as though the defendant was personally present, and did it himself.

An Act in addition to, and amendatory of the several Acts to regulate Attachments in this State, and to authorize remedies in certain cases.—Passed Dec. 8, 1820. Vol. IV. 202.

16. Sec. I. In any case where a person or persons has been a security for another in a note, obligation, or other instrument of writing, and has been compelled to pay off the same by legal process, or has paid it by being called on by the person or persons holding such note, obligation, or other instrument in writing; and in cases where suit is pending upon any such note, obligation, or instrument in writing, against the principal, and security or securities, or against either or any of them;‡ and in cases where such note, obligation, or other instrument, to which there is or are security or securities, is, or are not due, and the principal debtor or debtors, in any such case, is or are removing, or is or are about to remove, or have removed without the limits of this State or any county; and oath being made by the security or securities, his, her, or their agent, or attorney, in fact or at law, of the facts, and of his, her, or their liability on said note, obligation, or other instrument in writing, and that his, her, or their principal is, or are removing, or about to remove, or have removed, without the limits of this State, or any county therein, an attachment may issue against the property and effects of such principal debtor or debtors, in favor of such security or securities; and in cases where the debt has been paid by such security or securities before the issuing such attachment, the said security or securities shall be authorized to proceed to judgment on such attachment, and to recover judgment for the amount to which the person suing out such attachment is entitled; and in case of suing out such attachment by a security or securities, in a case where a suit or suits may be pending, as aforesaid, or on a demand where the note, obligation, or other instrument of writing, is not due, such security or securities shall have a lien upon the property and

A surety, who has paid, or is sued on the contract, may have an attachment against the principal.

Or if the debt is not due.

How to proceed to judgment where the debt has been paid.

Where the debt is not due, or is in suit.

* And see Sec. 18.

† Explained Sec. 17.

‡ Sureties further protected by acts of 1826 and 1831. See Judiciary, Sec. 183, 221.

Establishment of plaintiff's demand.

And disposal of the property attached.

Judgment may be entered for debts not due, with stay of execution.

Defendant, or his agent, &c. may replevy, according to the act of 1799.

Act of 1799 in force, where not repugnant to this act.

Attachment may issue pending a suit.

Set-off may be pleaded in attachment before it is due.

effects of the principal attached until such property is replevied, or the principal debtor or debtors shall give good and sufficient security to the person suing out such attachment, his, her, or their agent, or attorney, in fact, or at law, for the payment of such note, obligation, or other instrument of writing, when it may or shall become due, or at the termination of said suit or suits: and in case the property shall not be replevied, the person attaching shall be admitted to proceed to establish his demand as though the debt was due, or the suit or suits determined; and the property or effects of the principal debtor so attached by such security or securities, shall be disposed of, in the manner pointed out in the attachment laws of this State, and paid into the clerk's office of the court in which such attachment may be pending, subject to be paid over, by order of said court, to the original creditor or creditors, when such debt shall become due.

17. Sec. II. Where an attachment shall issue, under and by virtue of the second section of the attachment law, passed on the 18th day of December, in the year 1816, that the plaintiff or plaintiffs in such attachment shall be, and hereby is, and are authorized to proceed to judgment, in the same manner as though the debt had been due at the time of issuing such attachment, with a stay of execution until the time the said debt should become due; provided the same should not have become due before entering up judgment.

18. Sec. III. In all cases of attachment, the property or effects of the defendant or defendants in attachment may be replevied by his, her, or themselves, his, her, or their agents, or attorneys, in fact or at law, in the manner pointed out in an act, entitled "An Act to regulate Attachments in this State," passed on the 18th day of February, in the year 1799.

19. Sec. IV. In all cases of the issuing of attachments, the formalities and regulations provided in the said attachment law of the year 1799, except as herein excepted and provided for, shall be in full force, which the plaintiff in attachment, his, her, or their agent, or attorney, in fact or at law, is hereby authorized to pursue.

20. Sec. V. In all cases, wherein a suit or suits may have been instituted, on any debt or demand, and pending such suit or suits, the defendant or defendants may place themselves in any or either of the situations, in which the suing out an attachment by the laws of this State would be authorized, it shall be lawful for the plaintiff or plaintiffs, his, her, or their agent, or attorney, in fact or at law, to sue out an attachment, notwithstanding the pendency of such suit or suits aforesaid; and such suit or suits shall not be pleaded in bar to such attachment; but the satisfaction received upon any such attachment may be given in evidence against any such pending suit or suits.

21. Sec. VI. Any defendant against whom an attachment shall be sued out, under the provisions of this act, may avail himself in his defence of any set-off, properly pleadable by the laws of this State, notwithstanding such set-off may not be due at the time of suing out such attachment, or at the trial thereof.

Sec. VII. [Repeals all acts which are inconsistent with this.]

An Act to authorize parties' plaintiffs to issue Summons of Garnishment in certain cases, as in cases of Attachment.*—Passed Dec. 23, 1822. Vol. IV. 208.

Summons of garnishment may issue pendente lite.

22. In all cases pending in any court of this State, or which may be hereafter commenced, it shall and may be lawful for the plaintiff or his attorney to issue a summons of garnishment, to be directed to any person or persons who may be indebted to the defendant, or who may have any money, effects, property, either real or personal, or any bonds, notes, or other evidences of debt whatsoever, in his, her, or their hands, belonging to said defendant or defendants, requiring said persons to be and appear at the next term of the court in which said suit or suits may be pending, then and there to depose on oath what he, she, or they is or are indebted to the said defendant and defendants, and what money, effects, property, either real or personal, or evidences of debt belonging to said defendant or defendants, is or was in their hands or possession at the time the summons was served; Provided, the plaintiff or his agent or attorney shall, before issuing the said summons, make an affidavit of the amount of the debt or demand which he, she, or they believe to be due, and that he is apprehensive of the loss of the same or some part thereof unless such summons do issue, and shall file the same in the office of the clerk of the court where the suit is pending, or with the justice of the peace when within his jurisdiction.

* Amended by next act.

23. Sec. II. In all cases where judgment has heretofore been obtained, or may be hereafter obtained, it shall and may be lawful for the plaintiff, or his agent or attorney, to issue summons of garnishment, returnable to the Superior, Inferior, or justices' court, as the case may be, to be directed, and requiring the garnishee to depose in like manner, as in the preceding section; Provided, that the plaintiff, or his agent or attorney shall, if required by the defendant or garnishee, or by any plaintiff holding a younger judgment or execution, or his attorney, swear that he believes the sum apparently due and claimed on said judgment or execution is actually due; And provided further, that the sheriff, or his deputy, or constable, shall enter on said execution that there is no property of the defendant to be found.

Or after judgment
obtained.

24. Sec. III. The said summons, when the same is returnable to the Superior or Inferior courts, shall be signed and served by the sheriff or his deputy on the garnishee personally, twenty days before the court to which he is directed to appear; and when returnable to the justices' court, shall be signed and served by a constable on the garnishee personally, ten days before the court to which he is directed to appear.

When to be served for the
Sup. or Inf.
Court, or Justices' Court.

25. Sec. IV. When any person shall fail to appear and depose on being summoned as a garnishee, the court, on application, shall proceed against him by attachment for contempt;* and when any person shall appear and depose, the after proceedings shall be as in cases of attachment; Provided, that any garnishee deposing and admitting that he is indebted to the defendant, or has in his hands and possession a sufficient amount to pay the plaintiff's demand, shall be deemed a compliance with this act.

Failing to answer is a contempt.

26. Sec. V. When any money shall be paid into court, or shall be raised by the sheriff or his deputy, or by a constable under this act, the same shall be paid over to judgments or executions against the defendant, as in other cases, according to the priority established by law.

Money to be paid over.

27. Sec. VI. This act shall extend to proceedings in the mayor's City Courts court in the city of Augusta and Darien, and the Court of Common Pleas, and Oyer and Terminer, in the city of Savannah; and the summons shall be signed and served by the city sheriff or marshal, or his deputy, on the garnishee personally, ten days before the court to which said garnishee is directed to appear; And provided also, that the benefits of this act shall be extended to plaintiffs in any suit or judgment which may be pending or rendered in any court hereafter established by the legislature in any corporate town in this State.

* Rule nisi and judgment for plaintiff's demand. See Sec. 41, 42.

An Act to amend an Act to authorize Parties Plaintiffs to issue Summons of Garnishment in certain cases, as in cases of Attachment, passed December twenty-third, eighteen hundred and twenty-two.—
This act passed Dec. 20, 1823. Vol. IV. 212.

Proceedings where the garnishee resides in the county.

28. Sec. I. When parties plaintiffs, their agents, or attorneys, intending to avail themselves of the benefit of the above-recited act, shall file his, her, and their affidavit of the amount of his, her, or their debt or demand, in the office of the clerk of the court, or justice of the peace, in which the suit or suits is or are pending, or in which the judgment or execution was obtained on which garnishments are intended to issue, it shall be the duty of the clerk of such court, or such justice of the peace, as the case may be, to deliver to such plaintiffs, their agents, or attorneys, a certified copy of such affidavit, which, when placed in the hands of the sheriff, or his deputy, or a constable, in case such certified copy shall be signed by a justice of the peace, shall be sufficient to authorize said sheriff, deputy sheriff, or constable, and they are hereby required forthwith to make out, sign, and serve a summons of garnishment on any person or persons who may be indebted to the defendant or defendants in such suit, judgment, or execution; Provided, that the person or persons intended to be garnisheed reside in the county in which such suit or suits is or are pending, or in which such judgment or execution is obtained.

Where he resides out of the county.

29. Sec. II. Where persons indebted to a defendant or defendants in any suit pending, or judgment or execution obtained, in any of the courts of law or equity in this State, reside in a different county from the one in which suit is pending, or such judgment or execution is obtained, the parties plaintiffs, their agent, or attorneys, shall make and file his, her, or their affidavits of the amount claimed to be due in the office of the clerk of the court, or justice of the peace, where such suit is pending, or such judgment or execution is obtained; and it shall be the duty of such clerk or justice of the peace to deliver to such plaintiff, his agent, or attorney, a certified copy of said affidavit, which shall be placed in the hands of the sheriff, deputy sheriff, or constable, as the case may be, of the county in which the person or persons so indebted and intended to be garnisheed may reside; and such sheriff, deputy sheriff, or constable shall forthwith make out, sign, and serve a summons of garnishment on the person or persons so indebted, returnable to the next Superior, or Inferior, or Justice's Court of the county or district in which such garnishee may reside, under the restrictions and in the manner pointed out in the before-recited act; Provided always, that such garnishment shall be made returnable to a Superior, Inferior, or Justice's Court, as it would have been had such garnishee resided in the county in which the suit is pending, or the judgment or execution was obtained on which such summons of garnishment is founded; and any person or persons so garnisheed shall appear at the court to which such summons of garnishment is returnable, agreeably to the provisions of the before-recited act.

Garnishees
to answer at the return term.

30. Sec. III. All persons duly summoned as garnishees under this act, or the one to which this is an amendment, shall be bound to make their returns at the term to which such summons of garnishment shall be returnable; * Provided, that in all cases when summons of garnish-

* And see Sec. 41 and 42.

ment shall issue, it shall be lawful for the defendant or defendants to dissolve said garnishment, by giving bond and security for eventual condemnation money and cost of suit to the plaintiff, his agent, or attorney; and provided also, that in all cases the applicant for summons of garnishment, his, her, or their agent, or attorney at law, shall give bond and security as in cases of attachment.

How the garnishment may be dissolved. Applicant to give bond.

31. Sec. IV. All laws and parts of laws, so far as they militate against this act, are hereby repealed.

Repealing clause.

An Act to amend the several Attachment Laws of this State, so far as to permit persons whose property may be insured in Insurance Offices, carried on by Agents in the State of Georgia, whenever a dispute shall hereafter arise between the insurers and the insured, to issue an attachment against the goods, property, or effects of said Insurance Company, and to garnishee its Agent or Agents.—Passed Dec. 19, 1829. Vol. IV. 228.

Whereas, disputes have arisen and may hereafter arise between Insurance Companies, whose business is carried on in this State by agents, as to the amount of loss which they may have sustained by fire or otherwise; and whereas, when such disputes do arise, the insured is compelled at great expense and almost a total loss of his insurance, to prosecute his rights in the country or State where the Insurance Company hath been incorporated, to the manifest injustice of the rights of the citizens of this State, and to their great inconvenience; for remedy whereof.

Preamble.

32. Sec. I. Be it enacted, That from and after the passage of this act, it shall and may be lawful for any person or persons, who may hereafter insure his, her, or their property or effects in any Insurance office or company, carried on by agents in the State of Georgia, when any dispute shall or may hereafter arise from any cause whatsoever between the said insurers and the insured, either in relation to the amount of loss claimed, or the justness of the claim or demand, after he, she, or they shall have first complied with the rules and regulations of said insurance office or company contained in the policy, as to notice and loss, to issue an attachment against said company upon refusal or neglect to pay said loss to the amount claimed by the insured, so that the same do not exceed the amount contained in the policy, in the same manner, and under the like restrictions, as are pointed out in the attachment laws of this State, passed 18th day of February, 1799.

Attachments may issue against the property of insurers in certain cases, and under certain circumstances.

33. Sec. II. Upon said attachment being issued out as aforesaid, it shall and may be lawful for the said plaintiff in attachment to summon the agent or agents of such insurance office or company in writing, to appear at the term of court to which the said attachment shall be made returnable, under the penalty of an attachment for contempt,* then and there to answer upon oath what he, she, or they are indebted to, or what effects of said office or company he or they had in his or their hands at the time of issuing said attachment, and hath or have at the time of making his, her, or their return under oath as aforesaid; and if the said agent or agents shall deny being indebted to, or having in his, her, or their hands any property or effects belonging to said office or company at the time of issuing the attachment, and at the time of making his return under oath as aforesaid, it shall and may be lawful for the said plaintiff in attachment to traverse such denial in the same manner, and under the like penalty, as is prescribed in the second section of the attachment law as aforesaid.

The amount to be controlled by the policy.

The agent of any Insurance Office, &c. may be summoned as a garnishee, under the penalties of an attachment for a contempt to answer, &c.

* And see Sec. 41 and 42.

How such attachment may be dissolved. The Company to give bond, &c.

Bond to be assignable.

Suit when to be commenced on bond.

Repealing clause.

34. Sec. III. That it shall and may be lawful for the said company against whom said attachment may issue, or their agent or agents, upon the same being issued, to dissolve such attachment; the said company against whom it shall issue giving bond and security to the sheriff or other officer authorized to receive the same, in double the amount claimed for the eventual condemnation money, and all costs, which bond so given shall be, and is hereby declared to be assignable by said sheriff or other officer to the plaintiff in attachment, upon the said agent or agents of said company failing or refusing to pay or cause to be paid to the said plaintiff or his attorney, within thirty days after the rendition of a final judgment against said company or said claimant, the amount of said judgment and all costs; and the said plaintiff in the said attachment is hereby authorized forthwith to commence an action of debt on said bond against said company and its securities, and shall and may recover judgment on said bond for the amount of said original finding against said principal and securities as aforesaid, jointly or severally, according to the existing laws of this State in such cases made and provided.

35. Sec. IV. All laws or parts of laws militating against this law, are hereby repealed.

An Act to authorize the several courts of law and equity of this State, to award judgment against garnishees, in certain cases, and to point out the mode whereby such garnishees may be relieved from the operation of said judgment.—Passed Dec. 21, 1830. Pam. 62.

Judgment to be entered vs the garnishee for what he acknowledges he has in his hands; but he may surrender it in discharge.

36. Sec. I. In all cases arising under the laws of this State, which authorize summons of garnishment to be issued, when the garnishee shall return on oath, that he or she hath in hand goods or effects of the debtor, he or she shall state in his or her deposition the value of the same, and the court to which the same may be made returnable, shall proceed to award judgment against said garnishee, for the value of said effects, as stated in said deposition: Provided nevertheless, That the said garnishee may discharge said judgment, by delivering to the officer, having the execution in hand, the goods or effects so by him or her deposited to be in his or her possession.

Issue may be made to try the value of goods or effects.

37. Sec. II. The plaintiff at whose instance the said summons shall have been sued out, may make up an issue on said deposition which shall be submitted to a jury, and the said jury shall render a verdict for the value of such goods, or effects as may be proved to be in the hands of the garnishee, or for the value of such goods or effects as may by him or her, be admitted to be in hand, and the court shall proceed to give judgment accordingly, which said judgment may be discharged in the manner prescribed in the first section of this act.

38. Sec. III. All laws and parts of laws, militating against this act, are hereby repealed.

An Act to amend and explain the second section of the Attachment law of this State, passed on the eighteenth of February, seventeen hundred and ninety-nine.—Passed Dec. 24, 1833. Pam. 36.

Whereas different constructions have been made in the courts of this State in regard to the precise amount, for which the attaching creditor's bond should be given; for remedy whereof, Attachment bond to be in double the amt'n sworn.

39. Sec. IV. Be it enacted, From and after the passage of this act, all plaintiffs in attachment, their agents or attorneys at law, or in fact, shall give to the defendant in attachment, bond and security, at the time of issuing the attachment, in a sum at least equal to double the amount sworn to be due, or to become due, by the attaching creditor.

40. Sec. V. All laws or parts of laws militating against this act are hereby repealed.

An Act to amend the several acts relative to the issuing of summonses of garnishment and proceedings against garnishees.—Passed Dec. 22, 1834. Pam. 79.

41. From and after the passing of this act, in all cases, in any of the courts of this State, where any person or persons shall fail to answer, after being duly summoned as garnishee or garnishees, the court, upon motion of the plaintiff or his attorney, shall pass a rule or order requiring the garnishee or garnishees to answer at such time as the court may direct, or show cause why judgment should not be entered against him, her, or them for the amount of the plaintiff's demand and costs, which rule shall be served by the sheriff or his deputy; and if the garnishee or garnishees shall fail to answer or show cause at or by the time limited in the said rule or order, the court shall enter judgment against the garnishee or garnishees for the amount of the plaintiff's judgment with costs.

Defaulting garnishees subject to rule nisi, and then to judgment unless cause shown.

42. Sec. II. The clerk and sheriff shall be entitled each to the sum of one dollar for the entry and service of such rule or order as is prescribed in the first section of this act, which fees each garnishee shall be compelled to pay before his answer is received by the court; and when the garnishee shall answer to the summons of garnishment, in compliance with the said rule or order, the same proceedings shall be had as if he had answered in due time without the passing of any such rule or order by the court.

And costs.

Subsequent proceedings to be as usual.

Sec. III. In all cases whatsoever, either at law or in equity, the plaintiff or complainant shall be permitted to issue summonses of garnishment upon complying with the terms of the law now of force, regulating the issuing of the same, whether the subject matter of the suit be a debt or not.

Garnishment in any suit.

Sec. IV. All laws and parts of laws militating against this act, are hereby repealed.

An Act, to amend the several acts regulating attachments in this State, and to regulate proceedings in certain cases where the plaintiff shall die after rendition of Judgment.—Passed Dec. 29, 1835. Pam. 36.

43. Sec. I. From and after the passage of this act, in all cases where attachments may issue, under the laws of force, it shall and may be lawful for the same to issue upon the oath of the creditor, or his agent or attorney in fact or at law, by swearing, to the best of his belief, from the evidence in his possession, and the said agent or attorney in fact or at law shall be, and is hereby authorized to execute, in the name of the creditor, the bond now required by law.

Agents or attorneys may sue out attachments and give bond.

44. Sec. II. In all cases where any property levied on by an attachment shall be claimed, such claimant or claimants shall give bond, with security in double the value of the property claimed, to be estimated by the officer making the levy, and the claimant shall be entitled to the possession of such property so claimed, upon giving to the officer levying the attachment, bond with good security in the sum aforesaid, payable to the plaintiff, for the forthcoming of such property at the time and place; Provided, the same be found subject to the attachment, and if the property shall not be produced, the plaintiff or plaintiffs, his, her, or their executors or administrators may recover on said bond the amount of the judgment obtained on such attachment including principal, interest and cost, together with all interest and cost accruing after the rendition of judgment: Provided, always, that no recovery shall be for more than half of the amount of such bond with interest thereon from the date of the levy.

Claim bonds to be in double the value of the property claimed.

Plaintiff's remedy on the bond.

All attachments to the Sup. or Inf. Courts, shall be directed to all the sheriffs and constables of the State.

Originals and copies how returned and tried.

45. Sec. III. All attachments hereafter issued returnable to either the Superior or Inferior Courts of the State, shall be directed to all and singular the sheriffs and constables of this State, that an original attachment and copy shall issue, if the plaintiff or plaintiffs shall desire, for any other county or counties besides the one in which the first original attachment shall be issued, and when a levy or levies shall be made by virtue thereof, the copy attachments shall be returned to the court to which the first original may be returnable, and such other original shall be returned to the like court in the county in which the levy may be made, and such proceedings shall be had in said court against the property levied upon, or any garnishee, as if the first original attachment had been returned thereto.

Judgment how far binding on persons and property.

46. Sec. IV. Judgment on attachment shall bind no other property than that attached, nor shall the person or property of the defendant other than that attached be liable to payment of such judgment, unless the defendant shall come in terms of the law, and be made a party to such attachment: Provided, also, in all such cases of attachments, when the defendants shall return to the county where said attachments are proceeding, and ten days' notice being given to the defendants, personally, by the plaintiff, his attorney, or any legal officer, of the proceedings on said attachments, previous to final judgment on the same, and in all such cases of attachments, when notice shall have been given, and the defendant or defendants shall refuse or fail to appear and defend said suit or suits, personally or by attorney; then, in all such cases of attachments, the judgments on the same shall not only bind the property attached, but all the property of such defendant or defendants.

Certain property of poor debtors exempted from attachment.

Proviso.

47. Sec. V. In all cases of levy, by virtue of process of attachment, the officer levying the same, shall, under the same rules, regulations and restrictions, reserve and exempt from levy and sale, like articles as are now, by the laws of the State, exempted under fi. fa. for the benefit of debtors' families, any usage, custom, or practice, to the contrary, notwithstanding: Provided, that such debtor's family shall not have absconded or removed beyond the limits of the county where such debtor, or his family may usually have resided.

In all cases of claim, the executor or administrator of the last surviving plaintiff in execution may be made parties on motion, on 30 days' notice to the claimant.

48. Sec. VI. In all cases where any claim shall be interposed for property levied on by virtue of a fieri facias, from any of the courts of this State, and pending such claim, the plaintiff shall die, it shall and may be lawful for the executor or executors, administrator or administrators of such deceased plaintiff, upon motion, in the court where such claim is pending, to be made parties, instant, and the said case shall proceed without further delay: Provided, the said executors or administrators shall produce in court, their letters testamentary or of administration; and, provided, they shall give to the claimant, or his attorney, twenty days' notice of the said intended application to make such parties. And provided always, in such cases, where there are more than one plaintiff, the cause shall proceed in the name of the survivor, and this act shall not be applicable, except when the last surviving plaintiff shall die while such claim is pending.

Sec. VII. And be it further enacted, That all laws and parts of laws militating against this act, are hereby repealed.

ATTORNEYS.—1806, 1829.

An Act for the better regulating the admission of Attorneys to plead and practice in the several Courts of Law and Equity, within this State.—Passed Dec. 8, 1806. Vol. II. 331.

1. Sec. I. From and after the passing of this act, all, and every person, or persons whatsoever, who are citizens of this State, may, on application to the judge of the Superior Court, be admitted to practice as an attorney: Provided, such person shall produce satisfactory evidence of his moral rectitude, and shall undergo an examination in open court, upon a day assigned for that purpose, by the judge; any law, usage, or custom, to the contrary notwithstanding.

Attorneys,
how admitted.

2. Sec. II. The rule of court relative to the admission of attorneys, which requires the applicant to study any particular length of time in the office of any judge or practitioner of law, be, and the same is, hereby declared to be abrogated and void.

No stated probationary period of study necessary.

An Act to authorize certain persons therein described to plead and practise in the Courts of Law and Equity in this State, on the terms therein mentioned.—Passed Dec. 20, 1823. Vol. IV. 316.

3. When any application for admission to plead and practice in the courts of law and equity in this State, shall be made by any person who shall produce to the court in which such application shall be made the certificate of a judge of the Court of Common Pleas, or judge of the Court of Equity of the State of South Carolina, duly attested under the seal of either of the said courts, stating in substance that such person has practised for three years immediately preceding in the county courts of the said State as an attorney and solicitor, and has maintained a good moral and professional reputation, he shall be forthwith admitted to plead and practice as an attorney and solicitor in the courts of law and equity in the State of Georgia, without a compliance of any form or requisite, except only the payment of the usual fees and taking the usual oath; Provided always, that this act shall not go into operation until an act similar in its provisions shall have been passed by the Legislature of the State of South Carolina.

Persons from South Carolina authorized to practice law in this State upon certain conditions.

Proviso.

An Act to provide for the admission of Attorneys and Solicitors from adjoining States and Territories to plead and practise law in this State.—Passed Dec. 19, 1829. Vol. IV. 228.

4. Sec. I. From and after the passage of this act, it shall and may be lawful for any judge of the Superior Courts in this State, in term time of any of said Superior Courts, upon application being made and filed in writing, to cause a license to be issued by the clerk of said court to any attorney or solicitor from any of the adjoining States or territories, to plead and practise in any of the courts of law and equity in this State, as fully as if such applicant were a citizen of Georgia; Provided, said applicant shall, before the granting of such license, produce to the judge aforesaid a certificate from some one of the judges

Attorneys
and Solicitors from adjoining States and territories how admitted to plead and practice law,
&c. in this State.

of the superior, circuit or district courts of the State or territory of which he is a citizen, under the seal of said court, stating that he is of good moral character, and that he has been regularly admitted to plead and practise law in such State or territory, and is at the date of such certificate a practising attorney of such State or territory.

Clerk's fee for issuing license.

5. Sec. II. The clerk of the Superior Court who issues such license shall be entitled to and receive the same fee therefor, to be paid by said applicant, as is usually paid by persons admitted who are citizens of this State.

Repealing
clause.

6. Sec. III. All laws or parts of laws militating against this act, are hereby repealed.

An Act to make null and void all contracts made and entered into, in writing or otherwise, between party or parties plaintiff or defendant, and attorney or attorneys at law, where the attorneys shall fail or neglect to attend to the suit or suits, which he or they contracted to do, in person, or by some competent attorney, until the rendition of a judgment.—Passed Dec. 26, 1831. Pam. 139.

Professional contracts void if the service is not performed.

7. Sec. I. From and after the passage of this act, all contracts made and entered into between party or parties plaintiff or defendant, and attorney or attorneys at law, in writing or otherwise, shall be held and deemed null and void, whenever the said attorney or attorneys, shall fail to attend in person, or by some competent attorney, to the suit or suits which he or they contracted to do until the rendition of a judgment.

Transferring the note, &c.
—penalty of double the amount.

8. Sec. II. If any attorney or attorneys at law, as aforesaid, shall transfer any note, or notes, obligation or obligations, in writing, taken or received for his or their services as attorney or attorneys as aforesaid, and shall fail to attend to the suit or suits, in person or by some other competent attorney, until the rendition of a judgment, he or they shall forfeit and pay to the person or persons, whom the same was taken from, double the amount so transferred, recoverable in any court having jurisdiction of the same.

An Act to permit Attorneys of the State of Alabama to plead and practise in the several Courts of law and equity in this State.—Passed Dec. 23, 1835. Pam. 29.

Any Attorney of Alabama of good standing may practice in the courts of Georgia.

9. Sec. I. From and after the passage of this act, it shall and may be lawful for any judge of the Superior Courts of this State, upon application made by any licensed Attorney of the State of Alabama, either in term time or in vacation, to cause a license to be issued by any of the clerks of the Superior Courts, authorizing said Attorney to plead and practise in the several Courts of law and equity in this State; Provided, the Attorney making such application shall produce before said Judge of the Superior Court, to whom he applies for admission as aforesaid, his license to plead and practise in the Courts of Alabama, and a certificate of his good moral character, signed by some Judge of the Courts of said State, and pays to the clerk issuing the license the sum of five dollars for the same.

Sec. II. Repeals all conflicting laws.

AUCTIONS.—1794, 1819.

An Act for the better regulating of Vendues within this State.—Passed Dec. 8, 1794. Vol. I. p. 570.

Sec. I. [Relates to the appointment of Vendue Masters in Savannah, Augusta, Sunbury and St. Marys.—Superseded except as to Sunbury by Act of 1819, Sec. 1 and 2.]

1. Sec. II. The said vendue masters and no others, shall from and after the passing of this act, have full power and authority to set up and expose to sale by public outcry and vendue, all and any houses, lands, ships and vessels, goods and wares, and merchandise and property whatsoever, rendering and paying to the State treasurer for the use of the State, one per centum of the gross amount of the sale so by him or them made as aforesaid. Powers and duty of vendue masters.

2. Sec. V. No vendue shall be held by any vendue master in the district of any other vendue master, and that their fees or recompense for selling at public vendue, collecting the money, and paying over the same without loss or waste shall be as follows: for houses, lands, negroes, ships, sloops, schooners and other vessels, two and a half per centum, and for all other goods and property whatsoever five per centum. They shall not sell out of their districts. Their compensation.

3. Sec. VI. If any vendue master shall neglect or refuse to pay over the moneys arising from the sales of any houses, lands, goods, wares, merchandise or other property sold as aforesaid, either at private sale, or public auction, to the owner of the same, or his or her legal representatives, within a reasonable time after demand made, and after the sale of the property aforesaid, all such debts due by such vendue master shall be considered as coming under, and may be sued for and recovered from them or their securities, as in cases of courts merchants. [The rest of this repealed by subsequent laws.] Moneys how to be recovered of them.

Act of Dec. 16, 1811. Vol. III. 1067.

6. Sec. II. The vendue masters throughout this State shall give bond with good security to the governor for the time being, and to his successors in office, conditioned for the true and faithful performances of the duties required of them by law, and shall take and subscribe an oath truly and faithfully to perform and discharge all such duties; which bond shall be taken and approved of, and oath administered by the justices of the Inferior Court, or any two of them, of the county in which such vendue masters may be, under a dedimus potestatem from the executive department. [Sec. I. and III. local.] Shall be sworn and give security.

Act of Dec. 21, 1819. Vol. III. 1073.

Sec. I. II. III. Local.

Sec. IV. Every vendue master in this State shall keep a book, in which shall be entered every article by him sold at public auction, and the price at which the same was sold, and shall quarter-yearly on the last days of the months of March, June, September, and December, in Vendue masters shall keep a book of sales, and make quarterly returns.

every year, cast up the amount of his sales, and prepare a return thereof, to be made to the treasurer of this State, which return shall be sworn to by him before some judge, justice of the Inferior Court, or justice of the peace of this State, as containing the true and accurate amount of his sales at auction, of every description whatever, during the quarter or time therein expressed. And if any vendue master shall fail or neglect to make a return, sworn to in the manner above pointed out, to the treasurer within thirty days after the expiration of either of the said quarters, or having made the same, shall within that time fail to pay to the treasurer the tax or duty of one per centum on the amount of such return, it shall be the duty of the treasurer, as soon as he thereafter can cause to be published in one of the gazettes of the town or city in which such delinquent may be a vendue master; and in case of no gazette being published therein, in the gazette of the nearest town or city thereto, a notice of such failure to make a return or to pay said duty; and if any such delinquent vendue master shall, after the publication of such notice sell, or attempt to sell any goods, wares, and merchandise, or property of any kind whatever at public auction, or as a vendue master, he shall incur a penalty equal to that mentioned in the preceding section, to be recovered of him in the manner and for the purposes therein expressed.

Sec. V. It shall be the duty of the treasurer, and it is hereby made lawful for him when returns are made, as in the preceding section directed, and the tax or duty thereon not paid within the time required, to issue his execution against the vendue master so in default and his securities, for the amount of the tax or duty accruing to the State on his return; and the sheriff in whose hands such execution may be placed, shall be bound to collect and pay over the same within the time therein required, and in case of failure so to do, to be proceeded against in the manner pointed out by law for failing to collect and pay over the amount of any executions against a tax collector; and in case no return shall have been made, the treasurer shall immediately transmit the bond of any vendue master so delinquent to the attorney or one of the solicitors general to be put in suit.

Sec. VI. Every vendue master shall, at the time of transmitting a return of the amount of his sales, for any quarter, to the treasurer, deliver to the clerk of the corporation of the place for which he is a vendue master, a duplicate thereof, which the said clerk is hereby required to file in his office; and if any quarter shall expire, during which a vendue master may have made no sales at auction, it shall be the duty of each vendue master to state the same on oath to the treasurer, and on failing so to do, shall be prohibited from further acting as such in the manner prescribed by the fourth section of this act, for failing to make his return or pay the duty on his sales, and shall incur the same penalties as that therein pointed out for disregarding such prohibition, to be recovered and applied as therein directed.

Sec. VII. If any vendue master shall make a fraudulent return to the treasurer of the amount of his sales for any quarter, or shall return a less amount than that actually sold by him, he shall, upon due conviction thereof, before any court of competent jurisdiction, be deemed and held guilty of perjury; and his securities shall moreover be liable for any loss which may accrue to the State or any individual by reason of such fraudulent or improper return.

Sec. VIII. [Repeals all laws contrary to this.]

Sec. IX. [Temporary.]

If he makes none, or an untrue return, or fails to pay the duty of one per cent.,

he shall be published in the gazette, and be prohibited from selling, on pain of $500.

In such cases execution to issue for the duty.

Bond to be put in suit.

V. masters shall deliver to the clerk of the corporation a duplicate of his return; and if he has made no sales within the quarter, he shall state that fact on oath.

V. masters making fraudulent or untrue returns, guilty of perjury.

BANKS.

An Act to regulate the intercourse between the Banks of this State, and other Institutions and Brokers.—Passed Dec. 22, 1826. Vol. IV. 75.

1. If any bank or other institution, which is, or shall, or may be incorporated by the general assembly of the State of Georgia, or other lawful authority of the United States, or any one of them, or any broker, or any agent, attorney, or officer of any broker, or bank, or other institution as aforesaid, shall at any time after the passage of this act, collect, acquire, purchase or receive, whether in deposit or otherwise, the bill or bills, note or notes, or other security or securities of any bank or banks, which is, or are, or shall, or may be incorporated, by the general assembly of this State, or located in this State, by lawful authority, such bank or other institution, or broker, agent, attorney, or officer so collecting, acquiring, purchasing, or receiving such bill or bills, note or notes, or other security or securities, shall not be entitled to claim, demand, have, recover, or receive of or from such other banks so incorporated, or chartered by the general assembly of this State, or located therein by lawful authority as aforesaid, interest on such bill or bills, note or notes, or other security or securities, above or beyond the rate of four per centum per annum; Provided, that nothing herein contained shall authorize or allow any bank to refuse redeeming any of its bills, which shall have been received in payment for land at any United States' Land Office, upon demand for payment made by any United States' agent.

Banks and Brokers to receive but 4 per cent.

Proviso.

2. Sec. II. Whenever a demand shall be made for specie upon either of the banks incorporated by the general assembly of the State of Georgia, or upon any bank located therein by lawful authority, and the president or cashier of the bank, upon which the demands shall be made, shall suspect or believe that the person demanding specie is the officer, agent, or attorney of any broker, or any incorporated institution whatever, whether authorized by the general assembly of the State of Georgia, or located therein by lawful authority, or created by authority of any of the States, it shall be lawful for the cashier or president of the bank from which specie shall be demanded, to require the person or persons making the demand, to take an oath before a judge, justice, or magistrate, in the presence of said president or cashier, that he is not acting as the officer, agent, or attorney of any broker, or of any incorporation whatever; and in case of a refusal to take said oath by the person or persons demanding specie, then such person or persons shall not be entitled to claim, demand, recover, or receive interest on such bill or bills, note or notes, beyond the rate of four per centum per annum.*

The person demanding payment may be sworn.

3. Sec. III. Nothing in this act shall be so construed as to deprive individuals (brokers or their agents excepted,) who may demand specie for themselves for the notes, or bills, or other securities of either of the banks incorporated by the general assembly of the State of Georgia, or located therein by lawful authority, from the same privi-

This act shall not affect individuals.

* This section is perhaps superseded, by the last general proviso, in the 5th Sec. of the act of the next year (1827) amending the Marine and Fire Insurance charter. See Sec. 205.

leges and advantages in obtaining specie or interest as now exist by the laws of this State.

An Act to prevent the circulation of Bank Bills, under the denomination of five dollars, within this State.—Passed Dec. 24, 1832. Pam. 26.

Whereas, the circulation of bank bills of a small denomination, has been productive of fraud and loss to the public, and has a tendency to prevent or retard the general and speedy restoration of a specie currency.

No bank-bills of less than $5 to be circulated.

4. Be it therefore enacted, That from and after the first day of September next, it shall not be lawful for any bank or body corporate, invested with banking privileges, or person or persons whomsoever, within the limits of this State, to issue, emit, pay away, pass or circulate, any bank bill, note, ticket, or paper, purporting to be a bank note, or of the nature, character, or appearance of a bank note, or calculated for circulation as a bank note, either of the banks of this State or of any other State, of a less denomination than five dollars.

Proviso.

Provided, that nothing herein contained shall be so construed, as to make it unlawful for any corporation or person or persons whomsoever, to present for payment or in any other mode, transmit for redemption to any bank either of this or any other State, any bill or bills of such bank of the denomination aforesaid, remaining in circulation after the time aforesaid, with the view and in the mode to stop the future circulation thereof.

Penalty §100.

5. Sec. II. Any bank or corporate body, or person or persons whomsoever, offending against the provisions of the first section of this act shall forfeit the sum of one hundred dollars, to be sued for in the name of the State, by any licensed attorney, on the application of any informer cognizant of such offence, who shall be a competent witness on the trial, and recovered by an action of debt or on the case, in any court of competent jurisdiction in this State, with full costs, one half whereof when recovered shall be paid to the use of the State, and the other half to the use of the informer.

Every issue a new offence.

6. Sec. III. Each and every issuing, passing, paying away, or circulating, of each and every such bank bill or note, as is specified in the first section of this act, contrary to the spirit, true intent and meaning thereof, shall constitute a new separate and distinct offence, and shall be liable to a new separate and distinct penalty.

An Act to regulate the intercourse between Banks and private individuals, so as to subject Banks to payment of damages, if they refuse or fail to pay specie when demanded, under certain circumstances.—Passed Dec. 24, 1832. Pam. 29.

Banks failing to pay specie, liable to pay 10 per cent.

7. When any bank now incorporated or which may hereafter be incorporated in this State, shall refuse or fail to pay specie for any of its bills, notes, drafts or other writing for which they may be bound when demanded, by any individual or individuals, and held as his or their own property, upon suit thereof such individual or individuals in addition to the lawful interest shall receive ten per centum damage, for such refusal or failure upon the amount so refused or failed to be redeemed in specie, Provided, That nothing in this act shall be so construed as to authorize any bank, other incorporated institution or broker, to recover the damages contemplated by this act.

Proviso.

*An Act more effectually to secure the solvency of all the banking institutions in this State.—Passed Dec. 24, 1832. Pam. 29.

Whereas, the enormous amount of banking capital chartered by the laws of this State, and her circulating currency being composed almost entirely of the bills of her own banks; and whereas, the safety and best interest of our citizens require, that the true condition and solvency of each bank or incorporated company, exercising banking privileges, should be known to the community, so as to guard the great body of the people from receiving a depreciated or doubtful paper, and for remedy whereof;

8. Be it enacted, That from and after the passage of this act, it shall be the duty of the President and Directors of each incorporated bank or company exercising banking privileges in this State, to make a semi-annual return on the first Monday in April and October, in each year, of the names of all the stockholders, the amount of stock owned by each individual or company, and the amount of money actually paid into the funds of each bank, on each share respectively, and forward the same to his excellency the governor, for the time being, and to be subject to the examination of the general assembly.

Banks to make semi-annual returns of the stockholders and funds,

9. It shall be the duty of the President and Directors aforesaid, and they are hereby required to give a minute statement of the standing and management of each incorporated bank or company exercising banking privileges in this State, and their branches, on the first Monday in April next, and thereafter semi-annually, and forward the same to his excellency the governor, for the time being, showing particularly the amount of bills on other banks in this State, the amount of gold, silver and bullion in their vaults, the amount of debts due them at the North, or elsewhere, which may be denominated specie funds, the amount of active or running paper, the amount in suit, the amount under protest, and not in suit, and clearly stating what amount of all the debts due the bank, is considered good, what amount doubtful, and what amount is considered bad and lost to the bank, the amount of issues by each bank, the amount of bills in circulation, and the amount of bills of said bank in circulation under the amount of deposits, and the highest amount due and owing by each bank, all of said reports to be subject to the examination of the general assembly.

and of the standing and management.

10. Should the President and Directors, of any one or more of the aforesaid banks, fail to comply with the spirit and true meaning of this act, it shall be the duty of his excellency the governor, for the time being, to notify the Treasurer of this State, and the President and Directors of the Central Bank, of said delinquent bank or banks, whereupon, it shall not be lawful to receive the bills of any such delinquent bank or banks, in payment of any debt due the State of Georgia, or the Central bank, until the President and Directors of such delinquent bank or banks, shall have made such returns as are required by this act.

On failure, their bills not receivable by the State.

11. It shall be the duty of his excellency the governor, for the time being, to publish the name or names of any bank or banks, which may fail to comply with all the requisitions of this act, in all the newspapers printed in Milledgeville, as often as he may think expedient for the public good.

And such banks to be advertised.

12. The notes and bonds hereafter made payable at and discounted by any bank, shall when transferred to any other bank continue payable Notes and bonds transferred by a Bank, still to be payable in its bills.

* For provisions in the criminal code against the fraudulent management of banks. See Penal Laws, Sec. 151 to 158.

Proviso.

Returns to be on oath.

in the bills of the bank at which they were so made payable and discounted, in the same manner and on the same principles as if they were still holden by the bank, at which they were made payable and by which they were discounted. Provided, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to take away from any bank, any rights which are secured to it by the provisions of its charter.

13. All returns required to be made by this act, shall be made on the oath of the president and cashier of the respective banks, and that a copy of such oath shall accompany and be appended to said returns.

An Act to alter and amend an act, entitled an act more effectually to secure the solvency of all the banking institutions in this State, as passed on the 24th December, 1832.—Passed Dec. 21, 1833. Pam. 38.

Bank returns to be published.

14. From and after the passage of this act, the first section of an act "entitled an act more effectually to secure the solvency of all the banking institutions in this State, passed on the 24th December, 1832," shall be so altered and amended as to authorize his excellency the governor, on the reception of the reports of the president and directors of each incorporated bank, or company exercising banking privileges in this State, to cause the same to be published in as many of the gazettes of this State, as he may deem necessary to secure a general circulation of the said reports, and that the expenses of publication be paid out of the contingent fund, any law, usage or custom to the contrary, notwithstanding.

BANK OF AUGUSTA.—1810.

An Act to incorporate the Bank of Augusta.—Passed Dec. 6, 1810. Vol. II. 588.

Whereas Thomas Cumming, president, and John Howard, Richard Tubman, John McKinne, James Gardner, Hugh Nesbit, David Reid, John Moore, John Campbell, John Willson, Anderson Watkins, John Carmichael, and Ferdinand Phinizy, directors of the said bank, have petitioned the legislature, that they the said president and directors, and others the stockholders of the said bank, may be incorporated under the name of "The Bank of Augusta." And whereas it is deemed expedient that the said company be incorporated under proper restrictions; therefore, Directors and stockholders incorporated.

Corporate name.

Their powers and privileges.

15. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That the said [persons before named] with all such persons as are now, or may hereafter become stockholders in the said company, be, and they are hereby incorporated and made a body politic, by the name and style of "The President, Directors, and Company of the Bank of Augusta," and so shall continue until the 1st of May, 1830. And by that name shall be, and are hereby made able and capable in law, to have, purchase, receive, possess, enjoy and retain to them and their successors, lands, rents, tenements, hereditaments, goods, chattels and effects of what kind, nature, or quality soever, and the same to sell, grant, demise, alien or dispose of, to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, answer and be answered, defend and be defended in courts of record, or any other place whatsoever; and also to make, have, and use a common seal, and the same to break, alter and renew at their pleasure, and also to ordain, establish, and put in execution, such by-laws, ordinances and regulations as shall seem necessary and convenient for the government of the said corporation, not being contrary to the laws or to the constitution of this State or of the United States, or repugnant to the fundamental rules of this corporation; and generally to do and execute all and singular such acts, matters and things which to them it shall or may appertain to do; subject nevertheless to the rules, regulations, restrictions, limitations and provisions hereinafter prescribed and declared.

16. Sec. II. For the well ordering of the affairs of the said corporation, there shall be thirteen directors chosen annually, on the first Monday of December in each year, the first election to be on the first Monday of December, 1811, until which time the present board of directors shall continue in office. Their annual elections.

17. Sec. III. In all future appointments of directors, the number of votes to which each stockholder shall be entitled, shall be according to the number of shares held, in the proportions following; that is to say, for one share and not more than two shares, one vote; for every two shares above two, and not exceeding ten, one vote; for every four shares above ten, and not exceeding thirty, one vote; for every six shares above thirty, and not exceeding sixty, one vote; for every eight shares above sixty, and not exceeding one hundred, one vote; and for every ten shares above one hundred, one vote; but no person, corporation, copartnership or body politic, shall be entitled to more than thirty votes, and no share or shares shall confer a right of suffrage which shall not have been holden three calendar months previous to the day of election, and unless it be holden by the person in whose name it appears, absolutely and bona fide in his own right, or in that of his wife, and for his or her sole use and benefit, or as executor or administrator, or guardian, or in the right and use of some copartnership, corporation or society, of which he or she may be a member, and not in trust for, or to the use of any other person; any stockholder being absent, may authorize, by power of attorney under seal, any other stockholder to vote for him, her or them. Qualification of voters.

18. Sec. IV. A fair and correct list of the stockholders shall be made out at least two weeks before any election of directors, to be submitted to the inspection of any stockholder who shall require to see the same, to the end that public information may be given to the parties concerned of their co-proprietors and stockholders; and to prevent a division of shares, in order to obtain to the person or persons so dividing them, an undue influence, the managers of elections for directors, shall administer to every stockholder offering to vote, the following oath: "You, A. B. do swear (or affirm) that the stock you now represent, is bona fide your property, and that you are a citizen of the United States, and that no other person or persons is or are concerned therein;" and to any person voting by proxy, or for a minor, or in right of, or in trust for any other person entitled to vote, the following oath: "You, A. B. do swear (or affirm) that the stock of C. D. whom you now represent, is to the best of your knowledge and belief the property of the said C. D. and that he is a citizen of the United States, and that no other person or persons is or are concerned therein;" and any stockholder refusing to take such oath or affirmation, shall not be allowed to vote at such election. List of stockholders to be made out, and for what purpose. Voter's oath. Oath of proxy.

19. Sec. V. Those who shall be duly chosen at any election, shall be capable of serving as directors by virtue of such choice until the end or expiration of one day next succeeding the first Monday of December in each year, and no longer; and the said directors at their first meeting after each election, shall choose one of their number as president, and in case of the death, resignation, or absence from the Directors how long to serve. To choose a president.

Elections
when to be regulated by the by-laws.

State, or removal of a director, his place may be filled up by a new choice for the remainder of the year by the directors. But should it so happen that an election of directors should not be made on the said first Monday of December in any year, or any other day appointed by the stockholders, the said corporation shall not for that cause be deemed to be dissolved; but it shall be lawful on any other day to hold and make an election of directors, in such manner as may be regulated by the rules and ordinances of the said corporation.

20. Sec. VI. The following rules, limitations, and provisions shall form and be fundamental articles of the constitution of the said corporation.

Capital
stock.

State stock.

Rule 1st. The capital stock of the bank shall consist of three hundred thousand dollars, divided into shares of one hundred dollars each, of which fifty thousand dollars shall be reserved until the first of January, 1812, on the original terms, to be then or at any prior time taken by the State, according to the pleasure of the legislature,* whereby the governor, treasurer and comptroller general shall be entitled at each succeeding election, to exercise the right of appointing two of the board of directors.

The capital
may be increased.

Reservation
to the State.

21. Rule 2d. The capital stock may be increased at any time to the amount of six hundred thousand dollars, whenever a majority of the stockholders shall so determine at any stated or special meeting, by authorizing the directors to receive subscriptions for, or disposing of shares of one hundred dollars each, to any person or persons in such manner as they shall think fit, in which case such new subscribers shall become parties to this association, reserving for the State of Georgia, the one-sixth part of such increased capital, to be subscribed for at the first session of the legislature, after the capital shall be so increased;† and should the legislature fail to subscribe for part or the whole of the capital so reserved, it shall and may be lawful for the directors of the bank to dispose of that part of the capital so reserved for the State, and not subscribed for as aforesaid, to individuals, upon the same terms as are prescribed for the disposal of the other part of such increased capital: And upon the State subscribing for such increased capital, she shall be entitled to appoint one additional member of the board of direction, in the same proportion, and in the same manner as is prescribed in the fundamental articles of this association. Provided, that if any profit shall be made by such disposition, the same shall enure to the use and benefit of all the stockholders previous to the time of every such extension or increase.

Proviso.

Directors' qualifications.

22. Rule 3d. None but a stockholder, being a citizen of the State of Georgia, shall be eligible as a director, and no director of any other bank shall be at the same time a director of this bank; and if any one of the directors, after being elected, shall at any time during the term for which he shall have been chosen, cease to be a stockholder, the remaining directors, or a majority of them, shall at their next meeting, pass an order, declaring him thus ceasing to be a stockholder as aforesaid, to be no longer a director of the said bank, and shall forthwith proceed to fill up by a new election, his place for the remainder of the term for which he shall have been elected.

Powers of the board of directors.

23. Rule 4th. The board of directors, for the time being, shall have power to elect a cashier, and such other officers and clerks under them, as shall be necessary for executing the business of the company, and to allow them such compensation for their services respectively as they may deem reasonable, and shall be capable of exercising such other powers and authorities, of making, revising, altering, or annulling all such by-laws and regulations for the government of the said company, and that of their officers and affairs, as they or a majority of them shall from time to time think expedient, not inconsistent with law, and to use, employ, and dispose of the joint stock, funds or property of the company, (subject only to the restrictions herein contained,) as to them or a majority of them shall seem expedient.

* This stock has been taken by the State, see Resolution of Dec. 1811.

† And this also. Resolution of Dec. 1817.

24. Rule 5th. The cashier before he enters upon the duties of his office, shall be required to give bond with two or more securities, to the satisfaction of the directors, in such sum as the board of directors may by their by-laws order and direct, from time to time, with condition for the faithful performance of his duties; and the president, cashier, and other officers of the bank; shall take the following oath on entering on the duties of their respective offices: "I, A. B. do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of president, or cashier, or other officer (as the case may be) of the bank of Augusta;" which oath shall be subscribed and entered on the minutes.

Cashier to give bond.

Oath of the officers.

25. Rule 6th. Not less than seven directors shall form a board for the transaction of business, of whom the president shall always be one, except in case of sickness or necessary absence, in which case his place may be supplied by any other director, whom the majority of directors present shall nominate for that purpose.

How many directors shall form a board.

President pro tem.

26. Rule 7th. A majority of the directors shall have power to call a general meeting of the stockholders for purposes relative to the concerns of the company, giving at least thirty days' notice in one of the newspapers printed in Augusta, Washington, (Wilkes county,) Milledgeville and Savannah, specifying the object of such meeting.

General meeting of the stockholders, how called.

27. Rule 8th. That in case of death, resignation, or removal of the president, the directors shall appoint one from their number to fill the vacancy, who shall hold the office during the remainder of the term for which his predecessor was elected.

Vacancy of president.

28. Rule 9th. The shares of the capital stock shall be transferable on the books of the company, according to such rules, as conformable to law, may be established in that respect by the board of directors.

Shares transferable.

29. Rule 10th. The bills obligatory and of credit, under the seal of the said corporation, which shall be made to any person or persons, shall be assignable by endorsement thereupon under the hand or hands of such person or persons, and of his, her or their assignee or assignees, and so as absolutely to transfer and vest the property thereof in each and every assignee or assignees, successively, and to enable such assignee or assignees, to bring and maintain an action thereupon in his, her or their own name or names. And bills or notes which may be issued by order of the said corporation, signed by the president, and countersigned by the principal cashier or treasurer thereof, promising the payment of money to any person or persons, his, her or their order, or to bearer, though not under the seal of the said corporation, shall be binding and obligatory upon the same in the like manner, and with the like force and effect as upon any private person or persons, if issued by him, her or them, in his, her or their private or natural capacity or capacities, and shall be assignable and negotiable in like manner as if they were so issued by such private person or persons; that is to say, those which are, or shall be payable to any person or persons, his, her or their order, shall be assignable by endorsement, and those which are or shall be payable to bearer, shall be negotiable and assignable by delivery only.

Bills obligatory and of credit, how transferable.

How the corporation may issue bills or notes.

Transfers of stock. How to be entered.

30. Rule 11th. No transfer of stock in this company shall be considered as binding upon the company, unless entered in a book or books kept for that purpose by the company.

What real estate may be held by the corporation.

31. Rule 12th. That the lands, tenements and hereditaments which it shall be lawful for the said company to hold, shall be only such as shall be necessary for its immediate accommodation, in relation to the convenient transaction of business, and such as shall have been bona fide mortgaged to the company by way of security; or conveyed to it, or to some person in trust, for the use of the company, in satisfaction or security for money actually loaned, or advanced, or in satisfaction of, or security for debts previously contracted, or due to the said company, or purchased at sales upon judgments which shall be obtained for such debts; and in every instance in which the said company may become owners or claimants of lands, tenements, or hereditaments, the board of directors are empowered to sell or dispose of the same, in such manner as they shall deem beneficial to the use of the said company.

Their authority to sell.

Prohibited from merchandising, &c.

32. Rule 13th. The company shall in no case directly or indirectly be concerned in commerce or insurance, or in the importation or exportation, purchase or sale of any goods, wares or merchandise whatever, (bills of exchange, notes and bullion only excepted,) except such goods, wares, or merchandise, as shall be truly transferred, conveyed or pledged to them by way of security, for money actually loaned and advanced, or for debts due, owing, or growing due to the said company, or purchased by them, to secure such debts so due to said company, or to effect insurance on the property that may belong, or be thus pledged to the said company for its security.

Bills, bonds, notes, &c. to be signed and countersigned.

33. Rule 13th. All bills, bonds, notes, and every other contract, and engagement, on behalf of the company, shall be signed by the president, and countersigned or attested by the cashier of the company, and the funds of the company shall in no case be held responsible for any contract or engagement whatever, unless the same shall be so signed, countersigned, or attested as aforesaid, and the books, papers, correspondence, and the funds of the company, shall at all times be subject to the inspection of the board of directors.

Books, papers, and correspondence subject to inspection. The bank may owe three times the amount of its capital. The acting directors answerable for any excess.

34. Rule 15th. The total amount of the debts which the bank shall at any time owe, whether by bond, bill, note or other contract, shall not exceed three times the amount of its capital (over and above the moneys then actually deposited in the bank for safe keeping.) In case of excess, the directors under whose administration it shall happen, shall be liable for the same in their private capacities, and an action of debt may in such case be brought against them, or any of them, their, or any of their heirs, executors, or administrators, in any court in this State having jurisdiction, by any creditor or creditors of the said corporation, and may be prosecuted to judgment and execution; any condition, covenant, or agreement to the contrary notwithstanding. But this shall not be construed to exempt the said corporation, or the lands, tenements, goods or chattels of the same, from being also liable for, and being chargeable with the said excess. Such of the said directors, who may have been absent, when the said excess was contracted or created, or who may have dissented from the resolution or act, whereby the same was so contracted or created, may respectively exonerate themselves from being individually liable, by entering, if present, their dissent upon the books of the bank, at the time the debt may be so contracted, and forthwith giving notice of the fact to the stockholders at a general meeting, which each of the said directors shall have power to call for that purpose.

Absent or dissenting directors how exonerated.

35. Rule 16th. Dividends of the profits of the company, or of so much of the said profits as shall be deemed expedient and proper, shall be declared and paid half yearly; and the said dividends shall from time to time be determined by a majority of the directors, at a meeting to be held for that purpose, and shall in no case exceed the amount of the net profits actually acquired by the company, so that the capital stock thereof shall never be impaired by dividend. Dividends.

36. Rule 17th. If the said directors shall at any time, wilfully and knowingly, make or declare a dividend which shall impair the capital stock, all directors, who shall be present at the making or declaring such dividend and assenting thereto, shall be liable, in their individual capacities, to the said company for the amount or portion of said stock so divided by the said directors; and each director, who shall be present at the making or declaring of such dividend, shall be deemed to have consented thereto, unless he shall immediately declare in writing his dissent on the minutes of the proceedings of the board. No dividend to impair the capital stock.

37. Rule 18th. The directors shall keep fair and regular entries in a book, provided for that purpose, of their proceedings; and on every question, when two directors shall require it, the yeas and nays of the directors voting shall be duly inserted on their minutes, and those minutes be at all times, on demand, produced to the stockholders when, at a general meeting, the same shall be required. Directors to keep a book of their proceedings.

38. Rule 19th. The corporation shall continue until the first day of May, 1830; but the proprietors of two-thirds of the capital stock of the company, may, by their concurring vote, at a general meeting to be called for that express purpose, dissolve the same at any prior period: Provided that notice of such meeting, and of its object, shall be published in one of the newspapers, printed in the city of Augusta, Savannah, and Milledgeville, for at least twelve months previous to the time appointed for such meeting. Duration of the corporation.
Proviso.

39. Sec. VII. Immediately on the dissolution of the company, effectual measures shall be taken by the existing directors for closing all the concerns of the company, and for dividing the capital and profits, which may remain among the stockholders, in proportion to their respective interests. Funds to be divided, on dissolution.

40. Sec. VIII. When the increase of the capital shall take place, no person or persons shall, in his, her, or their own right, or in the right of any other person, subscribe for more than ten shares, until after the expiration of three months; and should there be any shares unsold after the aforesaid time, the same may be subscribed for by any person or persons, and the directors shall advertise the same for the space of three months in the newspapers aforesaid. Increased capital, how taken.

Sec. IX. [Death for counterfeiting the bills, repealed.]

An Act to extend the charter of the Bank of Augusta, and to authorize an increase of the capital.—Approved Dec. 22, 1826. Vol. IV. 77.

Whereas, the directors of the Bank of Augusta, in conformity with instructions from the stockholders, have applied, by petition, to the general assembly, for an extension of the charter, and for leave to increase the capital of said bank in certain cases; Preamble.

41. Be it enacted, &c. That the charter of the bank of Augusta be, and it is hereby declared to be prolonged to the 1st day of May, A. D. 1850. Charter extended until the year 1850.

42. Sec. II. It shall be lawful for the stockholders of the said bank, at any meeting to be called for the purpose, and in the manner prescribed in the existing charter, to increase the capital of said bank, Authorized to increase their capital $200,000.

from time to time, and in such portions as they may deem to be expedient, not exceeding in the whole six hundred thousand dollars, in addition to the present capital of the said bank.*

On every increase, one-sixth part to be reserved to the State.

43. Sec. III. Upon every such increase being agreed upon by a decision of the stockholders, one-sixth part of such increased stock shall be reserved for the State at par, until the end of the session of the legislature next after the capital shall be so increased, and that the other five-sixths shall be disposed of by the directors for the time being, in the manner pointed out by the second rule of the original charter, for the benefit of the individual stockholders, if any benefit there should be in the disposition thereof; the interest of the State in such cases being equalized by receiving its portion of such increased stock at par, as hereinbefore provided.

PLANTERS' BANK.

Act to incorporate the Planters' Bank of the State of Georgia, and to repeal the former act for that purpose.†—Approved December 19, 1810. Vol. II. 632.

Capital stock one million of dollars.

State interest.

44. Sec. I. A bank shall be established in the city of Savannah, the capital stock whereof shall be one million of dollars, to be divided into ten thousand shares of one hundred dollars each; of which, one thousand shares shall be reserved until the first day of January, 1812,‡ on the original terms, then, or at any prior time, to be taken by the State, according to the pleasure of the legislature, whereby the State, at any subsequent election, shall be entitled to the appointment of two directors; and, if they be not then taken by the State, to be disposed of in manner hereinafter provided.

Sec. II. and III. [Repealed. See Sec. 67.]

Incorporated.

Style.

Capacities and privileges.

Common seal.

By-laws.

45. Sec. IV. All those who shall become subscribers to the said bank, their successors and assigns, shall be, and they are hereby created and constituted a corporation, and body politic, by the name and style of "The Planters' Bank of the State of Georgia;" and by that name, shall be, and are hereby made able and capable in law, to have, purchase, receive, possess, enjoy, and retain, to them, and their successors, lands, rents, tenements, hereditaments, goods, chattels, and effects, of whatsoever kind, nature, or quality the same may be, to an amount not exceeding, in the whole, one million three hundred thousand dollars, including the amount of the capital stock, aforesaid; and the same to sell, grant, demise, alien, or dispose of; to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, answer and be answered, defend and be defended, in courts of record, or any other place whatsoever; and also to make, have, and use a common seal, and the same to break, alter, and renew, at their pleasure; and also to ordain, establish, and put in execution, such by-laws, rules, and regulations, as shall seem necessary and convenient for the government of the said corporation: Provided that such by-laws, rules, and regulations, be not contrary to the constitution and laws of the State, or the United States; and generally to do and execute all and singular such acts, matters, and things, as to them may or shall appertain, subject, nevertheless, to the rules, regulations, restrictions, limitations and provisions hereinafter prescribed.

Sec. V. [Repealed. See Sec. 67.]

* See a Resolution of 1834, Pam. 327, approving of the conduct of the bank on this subject.

† Vol. II. 374.

‡ Until January 1, 1813. Sec. 47.

46. Sec. VI. The directors, for the time being, shall have power to appoint such officers and clerks under them as shall be necessary for executing the business of the said corporation, and to allow them such compensation for their services, respectively, as shall be reasonable; and shall be capable of exercising such other powers and authorities, for the well governing and ordering the affairs of the said corporation, as to them shall appear conducive to the interest of the institution.

Sec. VII. [Repealed. See Sec. 67.—Sec. VIII. repeals the act of 1807.]

Act to amend the foregoing.—Approved December 3, 1811. Vol. III. 74.

47. Sec. I. The capital stock of the said bank shall be one million of dollars, to be divided into ten thousand shares of one hundred dollars each; of which, one thousand shares shall be reserved until the first day of January, 1813, on the original terms, then, or at any prior time, to be taken by the State, according to the pleasure of the legislature,* whereby the State, at any subsequent election, shall be entitled to the appointment of two directors; and if they be not then taken by the State, to be disposed of in manner hereinafter provided.

48. Sec. II. The capital stock of the said bank, and every other property real or personal, which it may hereafter acquire and hold, shall be subject to a taxation, not exceeding the ratio of other taxable property in this State: Provided the corporation of the city of Savannah shall not have the power to tax said bank stock, but may tax any property, real or personal, which said bank may acquire, in the ratio of taxation against the like property in the said city.

[As to the subsequent tax on bank stock in general, see Tax.]

49. Sec. III. The subscription already opened in the city of Savannah shall continue until the first day of December next,† under the superintendence of the present commissioners; to wit, [fifteen persons named,] a majority of whom shall be competent to the discharge of their duties, until which day, it shall and may be lawful for any person or copartnership, being citizens of the United States, corporation, or body politic, to subscribe for any number of shares, not exceeding one hundred, except as provided aforesaid in relation to the State: Provided, that if the whole number of shares be not taken up on or before the first day of December next, then, and in that case, it shall and may be lawful for any person or copartnership, being citizens of the United States, corporation, or body politic, established in the United States, to subscribe for any number of shares unsubscribed for, as aforesaid; and the sums to be respectively subscribed for shall be payable in the manner following; viz. ten per cent. at the time of subscribing, and twenty per cent. on or before the first day of January next ensuing the said subscription, and the balance of the sums so subscribed at such time as the same shall be required by the directors, provided, that sixty days' previous notice of the time at which such payment is required to be made, be given in the gazettes at the city of Savannah.

49. Sec. IV. The present stockholders, who have heretofore subscribed for shares, and paid ten per cent. at the time of subscribing, shall, upon thirty days' notice given by the commissioners, and published in the gazettes of Savannah, be required to pay the further sum of twenty per cent. upon the sum before subscribed.

* Taken. See Resolutions of 5th and 9th December, 1812. Vol. III. 1106. 1113.

† December 25, 1811. Vol. III. 83.

Stock not taken.

50. Sec. V. The stock which shall remain unsubscribed for, or the instalments which shall remain unpaid, on the day appointed for the election of directors, such stock shall thereafter be disposed of, or such further instalment be called in, by such persons, at such time, and under such regulations, as to payment of instalments, or number of shares to be subscribed for on the unsold stock, by any one person, copartnership, or body politic, as shall be ordered and published by the said directors.

Shares forfeited, if payments are not made.

51. Sec. VI. If there shall be a failure in the payment of any sum, to be paid by any person, copartnership, or body politic, when the same is required to be paid by this act, or when it shall be required to be paid by the directors, the share or shares upon which such failure shall happen or accrue, shall be for such failure forfeited, and may be again sold and disposed of in such manner as the directors shall order or provide, and the sums which may have been paid thereon shall enure to the benefit of the said corporation.

Directors,
when, and how elected.

52. Sec. VII. For the well ordering the affairs of the said corporation, there shall be thirteen directors, who shall be elected as soon as thirty thousand dollars in gold and silver coin shall have been received on account of the subscription for the said stock, and on the first Monday in January in each and every year thereafter, by the stockholders or proprietors of the capital stock of the said corporation, and by plurality of votes actually given in; and those who shall be duly chosen at any election shall be capable of serving as directors, by virtue of such choice, until the end or expiration of the first Monday in January next ensuing the time of such election, and no longer; and the said directors, at their first meeting after each election, shall choose one of their number as president; and in case of his death, resignation, removal from the State, or from the board of direction, the said directors shall proceed to fill the vacancy by a new election for the remainder of the year: Provided always, and be it further enacted, that as soon as the sum of thirty thousand dollars in gold and silver shall have been actually received on account of the subscriptions to the said stock, notice thereof shall be given by the commissioners hereinbefore named,

President,
how chosen.

Vacancies of
president.

Advertising for election
of directors.

in the gazettes of the city of Savannah and Augusta; and the commissioners shall, at the same time, in like manner, notify a time and place, within the said city of Savannah, at the distance of thirty days at least from the date of such notification, for proceeding to the election of directors; and it shall be lawful for such to be then and there made, and the persons who shall then and there be chosen, shall be the first directors, and shall receive from the said commissioners the net proceeds, after deducting expenses, which may be in their hands, and shall be capable of acting, by virtue of such choice, until the end or expiration of the first Monday in January next, ensuing the time of making the same; and shall forthwith thereafter commence the operation of the said bank, at the said city of Savannah: And provided further, that in case it should at any time happen, that an election of directors should not be made upon any day, when, pursuant to this act, it ought to have been made, the said corporation shall not for that cause be deemed to be dissolved; but, it shall be lawful on any other day, to hold and make an election of directors, in such manner as shall have been regulated by the by-laws of the said corporation; and provided, that in case of the death, resignation, absence from the State, or removal of a director, his place may be filled up by a new choice, for the remainder of the year, by the remaining directors.

Failure of
elections.

Vacancies of
directors.

53. Sec. VIII. The following rules, restrictions, limitations, and provisions, shall form, and be fundamental articles of the constitution of the said corporation.

Rule 1st. The number of votes, to which each stockholder shall be entitled, shall be according to the number of shares he shall hold, in the following proportion: that is to say, for one share, one vote; for two shares, and not exceeding five, two votes; for every five shares, above five, one vote: Provided, that no person, corporation, or body politic, or corporate, shall be entitled in his, her, or their own right, to more than sixty votes; and, after the first election, no share or shares shall confer a right of suffrage which shall not have been holden and transferred, according to the rules of the bank, three calendar months previous to the day of election.

Qualification of voters, according to shares.

54. Rule 2d. None but a stockholder, entitled in his own right to twenty shares, and being a citizen of the State, and not being a director of any other bank, shall be eligible as a director; and if any one of the directors, after being elected, shall at any time, during the term for which he shall have been chosen, cease to be a stockholder, his seat shall thereupon become vacated, and the remaining directors, or a majority of them, shall, at their next meeting, pass an order declaring him no longer to be a director.

Qualification of directors.

Vacancies.

55. Rule 3d. The stockholders shall make such compensation to the president for his services as shall appear to them reasonable.

President to be compensated.

56. Rule 4th. Not less than five directors shall constitute a board for the transaction of business, of whom the president shall always be one, except in case of sickness, or necessary absence; in which case, his place may be supplied by any director, whom he, by writing under his hand, shall nominate for the purpose.

Five directors form a board.
President pro tem.

57. Rule 5th. A number of stockholders, not less than twenty, who, together, shall be proprietors of two hundred shares or upwards, shall have power at any time to call a meeting of the stockholders, for purposes relative to the institution, giving at least sixty days' notice in the gazettes of the city of Savannah and Augusta, specifying in such notice the object or objects of such meeting.

Meeting of stockholders, how called.

58. Rule 6th. The cashier or treasurer of the bank, for the time being, and all other officers, appointed by the directors, (except the president,) before he or they enter upon the duties of his or their office, shall give bond, with two or more securities, to the satisfaction of the directors, in such sum or sums as shall be required by the said directors, with condition for his or their good behavior, and a faithful discharge of duty.

Officers to give security.

59. Rule 7th. The lands, tenements, and hereditaments, which it shall be lawful for the said corporation to hold, shall be only such as shall be requisite for its immediate accommodation, in relation to the convenient transaction of its business, and such as shall have been bona fide mortgaged to it as security, or conveyed to it in satisfaction of debts previously contracted in the course of its dealings, or purchased at sales upon judgments, which shall have been obtained for such debts: And in every instance in which the said company may become owners or claimants of lands, tenements, or hereditaments, the board of directors are empowered to sell or dispose of the same, in such manner as they shall deem beneficial to the use of the said company.

What real estate may be held by the company.

60. Rule 8th. The total amount of the debts which the said corporation shall at any time owe, whether by bond, bill, note, or other contract, shall not exceed three times the amount of their capital stock, over and above the amount of specie actually deposited in their vaults for safe keeping. In case of excess, the directors, under whose administration it shall happen, shall be liable for the same in their individual, natural, and private capacities, and an action of debt may in such case be brought against them, or any of them, by any creditor or creditors of the said corporation, and may be prosecuted to judgment and execution, any condition, covenant, or agreement to the contrary notwithstanding; but this shall not be construed to exempt the said corporation, or the lands, tenements, goods, and chattels of the same, from being also liable for, and chargeable with the said excess; and such of the said directors who may have been absent when the said excess was contracted or created, or who may have dissented from the resolution or act whereby the same was so contracted or created, may respectively exonerate themselves from being so liable, by having their dissent, if present, entered upon the minutes of the said corporation.

The bank may owe three times the amount of its capital.

Certificates of stock to be issued, and how transferred.

61. Rule 9th. The directors shall have power to issue to the subscribers their certificates of stock, which shall be transferable on the books of the cashier only, by personal entry, of the stockholder, his legal representative, attorney, guardian, or trustee, duly authorized for that purpose.

Stockholders how to vote.

62. Rule 10th. That the stockholders at their meeting shall vote in person, or by attorney duly authorized for that purpose, which power shall be executed in the presence, and to be certified by a justice of the peace or notary public of the county or State where the shareholder resides, and minors or feme coverts shall vote by his, her, or their guardians, or trustees, duly authorized.

Shall not be concerned in commerce or insurance.

63. Rule 11th. The company shall in no case, directly or indirectly, be concerned in commerce or insurance, or in the importation or exportation, purchase or sale, of any goods, wares, or merchandise whatever, (bills of exchange, notes, and bullion, only excepted,) except such goods, wares, and merchandise, as shall be truly transferred, conveyed, or pledged to them, by way of security for money actually loaned and advanced, or for debts due, owing, or growing due to the said corporation, or purchased by them to secure such debt so due to the said corporation, or to indemnify and secure the said corporation for advances to be made, or notes to be discounted, or to effect the insurance on the property that may belong, or be thus pledged, to the said company for its security.

How liable on contracts.

64. Rule 12th. The bills obligatory and of credit, notes, and other contracts whatever, on behalf of the said corporation, shall be binding and obligatory upon the said company, provided the same be signed by the president, and countersigned or attested by the cashier, of the said corporation; and the funds of the said corporation shall in no case be liable for any contract or engagement whatever, unless the same shall be so signed and countersigned or attested as aforesaid; and the books, papers, and correspondence, and the funds of the company, shall at all times be subject to the inspection of the board of directors and stockholders, when convened, according to the provisions of this act.

Books, papers, &c. to be open to inspection.

Dividends.

Rule 13th. [As to dividends—same as sec. 35.]

Minutes.

Rule 14th. As to a book of minutes—same as sec. 37.]

Duration of the charter.

65. Rule 15th. The corporation shall exist and continue until the first day of January, 1841; when it shall cease from discounting or making further emoluments as a corporation; nevertheless the said corporation shall continue after the expiration of its charter, until the concerns and claims of the said bank are finally settled and wound up, so as to enable the said bank to appear as plaintiff or defendant, and to obtain by suit or otherwise, a settlement and liquidation of its outstanding demands, and in no ways to acquire new property or profits by discount or otherwise.

Sec. IX. [As to embezzlement by officers—embraced by the penal code.] Embezzlement.

Sec. X. [As to counterfeiting—see penal laws.] Counterfeiting.

66. Sec. XI. If any person shall forge, alter, or counterfeit any letter of attorney, order, or other instrument, to transfer or convey any share or shares of stock in the Planters' Bank of the State of Georgia, or to receive the same or any dividend or part thereof, or shall knowingly and fraudulently demand to have such share or shares, dividend or any parts thereof, transferred, conveyed, or received by virtue of such forged, altered or counterfeited letter of attorney, order or other instrument, or shall falsely and deceitfully personate any true and lawful proprietor or proprietors of any share or shares of stock or dividend, or money, or other property deposited in the said bank, thereby transferring or endeavoring to transfer the said stock, dividend, money, or other property, or receiving or endeavoring to receive the said stock, dividend, money, or other property; in every such case, the person or persons so offending, and being thereof duly convicted, shall be adjudged a felon or felons, and suffer such punishment as shall be adjudged by the court before which the said conviction shall take place, so that the same does not extend to death, or less than ten years of servitude or imprisonment. Forging letters of attorney, &c.
Personating stockholders.

Sec. XII. [Temporary.]

Sec. XIII. [Ratifying and confirming certain releases of forfeitures which had been executed among the former subscribers.]

67. Sec. XIV. The 2d, 3d, 5th, and 7th sections of an act, entitled "An Act to incorporate the Planters' Bank of the State of Georgia, &c. passed the 19th December, 1810," [see sec. 44] be and the same are hereby repealed.

Act of Nov. 3d, 1814, Vol. III. 84.

68. The board of directors of the Planters' Bank of the State of Georgia and its officers, are hereby authorized to remove from the city of Savannah, for such time as they may think proper, and transact business in any part of the State of Georgia, whenever the president and directors, or a majority of the members thereof who may be present, shall think it prudent, from causes of alarm, which in their opinion may endanger the safety of the institution, or in cases of contagion affecting the city, or the vicinity thereof: and all the business of the said bank which may be transacted after such removal as is authorized by this act, shall be equally binding and legal as if the same had been done and transacted in the city of Savannah. In cases of danger or alarm, the bank may be removed.

An Act further to amend an Act, entitled An Act to incorporate the Planters' Bank of the State of Georgia, and to repeal the former Act for that purpose.—Passed Dec. 20, 1828. Vol. IV. 85.

Whereas experience has proved that it is proper to reduce the number of the directors of said institution, and in other respects to alter its act of incorporation; Preamble.

69. Be it enacted, That the number of directors of the Planters' Bank of the State of Georgia, from and after the passage of this act, shall be ten, of whom eight shall be elected by the stockholders, and two by the State. The number of Directors shall hereafter be ten.

Four a board in summer. 70. Sec. II. During the months of July, August, September, and October, four of the directors shall constitute a board for the transaction of business.

Sickness of the president. 71. Sec. III. In case of the sickness or necessary absence of the president, without having nominated a director to supply his place, or in case of the sickness or necessary absence of such director also, his place may be supplied by the election, by the directors then present, of a president pro tempore from their own number.

STATE BANK.

An Act to incorporate a bank to be called the Bank of the State of Georgia.—Passed Dec. 16, 1815. Vol. III. 85.

Amount of capital. 72. Sec. I. A bank of the State of Georgia shall be established in the city of Savannah, the capital stock whereof shall not exceed one million five hundred thousand dollars, divided into fifteen thousand shares, each share being one hundred dollars.

Reservation for the State. 73. Sec. II. Six thousand shares of said capital stock shall be reserved until the first day of January, 1817, on the original terms, then, or at any prior time, to be taken and subscribed for by the State, according to the pleasure of the general assembly, whereby the State, at any subsequent election, shall be entitled to the appointment of six directors; and if the said shares so reserved be not taken by the State, to be disposed of in manner hereinafter prescribed.

Shares, how and by whom to be taken. 74. Sec. III. [Names the places where, and the commissioners by whom, the books of subscription shall be opened, to be kept open six months if not sooner filled]—during which time it shall and may be lawful for any person or copartnership, being citizens of the United States, corporation or body politic established in the United States, to subscribe for any number of shares not exceeding one hundred, except, as hereinbefore provided, relative to the State—Provided, that if the whole number of shares be not taken up within the said space of six months, then, and in that case, it shall be lawful for any person or copartnership, being citizens of the United States, corporation or body politic, established in the United States, to subscribe for any number of the shares unsubscribed for as aforesaid; and the sums respectively subscribed for, shall be payable in manner following, that is to say; seventeen per centum at the time of subscribing, twenty per centum at the expiration of six months thereafter, and the balance of the sums so subscribed, at such other time or times as the directors of said bank may require and direct; Provided, that sixty days' notice of the time at which payment is required to be made, be given in one of the gazettes of Savannah, Augusta, Milledgeville, and Washington, Wilkes' county.

How to be paid.

Sec. IV. [A transcript of sec. 51.]

Failure of payment. Incorporated. Style. 75. Sec. V. All those who shall become subscribers to said bank, their successors and assigns shall be, and they are hereby created and made a corporation and body politic, by the name and style of The Bank of the State of Georgia, and by that name shall be, and are hereby made able and capable in law, to have, purchase, receive, possess, enjoy, and retain to them and their successors, lands, rents, tenements, hereditaments, goods, chattels, and effects, of what kind, nature, or quality soever, to an amount not exceeding in the whole, one million five hundred thousand dollars, or the amount of its capital, if the same shall hereafter be increased, including the amount of the capital stock aforesaid; and the same to sell, grant, demise, alien, or dispose of, to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, answer and be answered, defend and be defended, in courts of record, or any place whatsoever, and also to make, have, and use a common seal, and the same to break, alter, and renew at their pleasure; and also to ordain, establish, and put in execution, such by-laws, ordinances, and regulations, as shall seem necessary and convenient for the government of said corporation: Provided nevertheless, that such by-laws, rules, and regulations be not contrary to the laws and constitution of this State, or of the United States; and generally to do and execute all and singular such acts, matters, and things as to them may or shall appertain to do, subject nevertheless to the rules, regulations, restrictions, limitations, and provisions hereinafter prescribed.

76. Sec. VI. For the well ordering of the affairs of said corporation, there shall be fifteen directors, nine of whom shall be elected by the stockholders, and six by the State; and the nine directors of the stockholders, shall be elected so soon as two hundred and fifty thousand dollars in gold and silver coin shall have been received on account of the subscriptions of the said stock, of whom there shall be an election on the first Monday in May next, and on the same day in each year by the stockholders or proprietors of the capital stock, and by the plurality of votes actually given in; and those who shall be duly chosen at any election, shall be capable of serving as directors by virtue of such choice, until the end or expiration of the first Monday in May next ensuing the time of such election, and no longer; and the six directors to be appointed by the State, shall be chosen by the legislature immediately on the passage of this act; Provided always, that as soon as the sum of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars in gold and silver shall have been actually received on account of the subscriptions to said stock, notice thereof shall be given by the commissioners in Savannah, hereinbefore named, in one at least of the public gazettes of Savannah, Augusta, Milledgeville, Washington, and Athens; and the said commissioners shall at the same time in like manner notify a time and place within the said city of Savannah, at the distance of ninety days at least from the date of such notification, for proceeding to the election of directors; and it shall be lawful for such to be then and there made; and the persons who shall be then and there chosen, shall be the first directors, and shall receive from the said commissioners, the money which shall be received by them; and the said directors at their first meeting after such election, shall choose one of their number as president, and in case of his death, resignation, or removal from the State, or from the board of direction, the said directors shall proceed to fill the vacancy by a new election for the remainder of the year; Provided, that in case it should at any time happen that an election of directors should not be made at any day when pursuant to this act it ought to have been made, the said corporation shall not for that cause be deemed to be dissolved, but it shall be lawful on any other day to hold an election of directors, in such manner as shall have been regulated by the laws and ordinances of said corporation.

77. Sec. VII. The directors for the time being shall have power to appoint such officers, clerks, and servants under them, requiring from said officers, clerks, and servants such security, and administering to them such oaths, as the said directors shall deem necessary, and to allow them such compensation for their services respectively, as shall be reasonable; and shall be capable of exercising such other powers and authorities for the well ordering and governing the affairs of the said corporation, as shall be described, fixed, and determined by the laws, regulations, and ordinances of the same.

Common seal.

By-laws.

Proviso.

Number of Directors.

When and how elected.

Term of office.

State Directors.

President.

Failure of election.

Power to appoint officers, &c.

78. Sec. VIII. The following rules, restrictions, limitations, and provisions shall form and be fundamental articles of the corporation of said institution.

Qualification of voters.

Rule 1st. The number of votes to which each stockholder shall be entitled, shall be according to the number of shares he shall hold, in the following proportion; that is to say, for one share, one vote; for two shares, and not exceeding five, two votes; and for every five shares above five, one vote; Provided, no person, corporation, or body politic shall be entitled in his, her, or their own right, to more than thirty votes; and after the first election, no share or shares shall confer a right of suffrage which shall not have been holden three calendar months previous to the day of election.

Proxy.

79. Rule 2d. Stockholders usually resident within the United States, and none others, may vote in elections, by proxy; none but a stockholder, entitled in his own right to fifteen shares, and being a citizen of the State, and not being a director of any other bank, shall be eligible as a director; but this qualification not to be necessary on the part of the State directors; and if any one of the directors after being elected, shall at any time during the term for which he shall have been chosen, cease to be a stockholder, his seat shall thereupon become vacated, and the remaining directors or a majority of them, shall at their next meeting, pass an order declaring him to be no longer a director.

President's compensation.

80. Rule 3d. The stockholders shall make such compensation to the president as may appear to them reasonable.

Number of Directors to form a board.

81. Rule 4th. Not less than nine directors shall constitute a board for the transaction of business, of whom the president shall always be one, except in cases of sickness or necessary absence, in which case his place may be supplied by any director, to be elected president pro tem. by a majority of the board present.

President pro tem.

Meetings of stockholders.

82. Rule 5th. A number of stockholders, not less than thirty, who together shall be proprietors of two hundred and fifty shares or upwards, shall have power at any time to call a meeting of the stockholders for purposes relative to the institution, giving at least sixty days' notice in a public gazette in the city of Savannah, in the city of Augusta, in Milledgeville, and at Washington and Athens, specifying in such notice the object or objects of such meeting.

Cashier to give security.

83. Rule 6th. The cashier of the bank for the time being, before he enters upon the duties of his office, shall be required to give bond with two or more securities, to the satisfaction of the directors, in a sum not less than fifty* thousand dollars.

What real estate the bank may hold.

84. Rule 7th. The lands, tenements, and hereditaments which it shall be lawful for the said corporation to hold, shall be only such as shall be requisite for its immediate accommodation in relation to the convenient transacting of its business; and such as shall have been bona fide mortgaged to it by way of security, or conveyed to it in satisfaction of debts previously contracted in the course of its dealings, or purchased at sales upon judgments which shall have been obtained for such debts.

Debts not to exceed three times the amount of capital.

85. Rule 8th. The total amount of the debts which the said corporation shall at any time owe, whether by bond, bill, note, or other contract, shall not exceed three times the amount of their capital stock over and above the amount of specie actually deposited in their vaults for safe keeping. In case of an excess, this charter shall be deemed and considered as forfeited to all intents and purposes,† and the directors under whose administration it shall happen, shall be liable for the same in their individual, natural, and private capacities, and an action of debt may in such case be brought against them, or any of them, their, or any of their heirs, executors, or administrators, in any court of record in the United States, *or of this State, having competent jurisdiction, or either of them, by any creditor or creditors of said institution, and may be prosecuted to judgment and execution, any condition, covenant, or agreement to the contrary notwithstanding. But this shall not be construed to exempt the said corporation, or the lands, tenements, goods, and chattels of the same, from being also liable for, and chargeable with, the said excess; and such of the said directors who may have been absent when the said excess was contracted or created, or may have dissented from the resolution or act, whereby the same was so contracted or created, may respectively exonerate themselves from being so liable, by having their dissent, if present, entered on the minutes of said corporation.

* Darien Bank, forty thousand.

† The words in italics, are not in the above section, but added in the charter of the Darien Bank.

Directors
liable for any excess.

How exonerated.

86. Rule 9th. The directors shall have power to issue to the subscribers their certificates of stock, which shall be transferable on the books of the cashier only by personal entry of the stockholder, his legal representative or attorney, duly authorized by special power for that purpose.

Certificates of stock, how issued and transferred.

87. Rule 10th. The corporation shall in no case directly or indirectly be concerned in commerce or insurance, or in the importation or exportation, purchase or sale of any goods, wares, or merchandise whatever, (bills of exchange, notes, and bullion only excepted,) except such goods, wares, or merchandise as shall be truly transferred, conveyed, or pledged to them by way of security for money actually loaned and advanced, or for debts due to the said corporation, or purchased by them to secure such debts so due to the said corporation, or to effect the insurance on the property that may belong to, or be thus pledged to the said corporation for its security.

Not to be concerned in commerce or insurance.

88. Rule 11th. The bills obligatory and of credit, notes and other contracts whatever, shall be binding and obligatory upon said corporation; Provided, the same be signed by the president and countersigned or attested by the cashier of the said corporation; and the funds of the corporation shall be in no case held liable for any contract or engagement whatever, unless the same shall be so signed and countersigned, or attested as aforesaid; and the books, papers, and correspondence, *and the funds of the corporation, shall at all times be subject to the inspection of the board of directors and stockholders, when convened according to the provisions of this act.

How liable on contracts

Books, papers, &c. to be open to inspection.

89. Rule 12th. Dividends of the profits of the corporation, or so much thereof as shall be deemed expedient and proper, shall be declared and paid half yearly, (the first half year after the bank shall have been in operation excepted,) and the said dividends shall, from time to time, be determined by a majority of the directors at a meeting to be held for that purpose, and shall in no case exceed the amount of the net proceeds actually acquired by the corporation, so that the capital stock thereof shall never be impaired.

Dividends,
how declared and paid.

Rule 13th. [As to a book of minutes—same as sec. 37.]

Minutes.

90. Rule 14th. The corporation shall exist and continue until the first day of January, 1835; and immediately after the dissolution of said corporation, effectual measures shall be taken by the directors last appointed and acting, for closing all the concerns of the corporation,

Duration of the charter.

Winding up.

* The words in italics, are not in the above sections, but added in the charter of the Darien Bank.

and for dividing the capital and profits which may then remain among the stockholders according to their respective interests.

Branches at Augusta and Milledgeville and other places.

91. Rule 15th. The directors shall within six months after said bank shall go into operation, establish an office of discount and deposit at the city of Augusta, and one at the town of Milledgeville, and wheresoever they shall think fit, within this State, for the purpose of discount and deposit only, and upon the same terms, and in the same manner, as shall be practised at the bank which shall be established in Savannah, and to commit the management of said offices, and the making of the said discounts, to such persons, under such agreements, and subject to such regulations, as they shall deem proper, not being contrary to law or to the constitution of the bank; and the amount of stock shall be apportioned by the directors in the different offices according to the exigencies of business, but each branch shall have as much of the stock as can be employed to advantage.

Sec. IX. [Directions to the commissioners as to the number of shares to be subscribed for at each place—temporary.]

Future increase of
capital.

92. Sec. X. A future general assembly may, whenever they think it will be expedient, increase the capital stock to three millions of dollars, or to such sum as they may think proper, and the State shall, if they think proper, be entitled to subscribe for one half, or of such other part as she may think proper; and in case of the increase of the capital, there shall be books of subscription opened at such times and places as a future legislature may direct, to subscribe for the increased stock; Provided nevertheless, that if the whole number of shares apportioned to the above places be not subscribed for, then the commissioners at Savannah shall give notice to fill up such deficiencies at such place as they may think proper.

Reservation
for the University.

93. Sec. XI. The trustees of the University of Georgia shall have until the first day of January, 1817, to subscribe for one thousand shares out of the six thousand herein reserved for the State.

Act to amend the foregoing.—Passed Dec. 12, 1816. Vol. III. 72.

Five Directors to form a board in certain months.

94. Sec. I. Five directors shall constitute a board competent to transact the business of the Bank of the State of Georgia, provided they shall be unanimous, for and during the months of July, August, September, and October in every year, of whom the president shall always be one, except in cases of sickness or necessary absence, in which case, his place may be supplied by any director, to be elected president pro tem. by a majority of the board present, any thing contained in any part of the above recited act to the contrary notwithstanding.

President
pro tem.

Sec. II. [Repealed. Vol. III. 93.]

An Act further to amend an Act to incorporate a Bank, to be called the Bank of the State of Georgia, passed the sixteenth day of December, eighteen hundred and fifteen.—Passed Dec. 18, 1826. Vol. IV. 77.

Preamble.

Whereas, by the sixth section of the act to incorporate the Bank of the State of Georgia, it is enacted, that for the well ordering of the affairs of said corporation, there shall be fifteen directors, nine of whom shall be elected by the stockholders, and six by the State; and whereas experience has proved that it is proper to reduce the number of Directors;

Ten Directors.

95. Be it enacted, That the number of directors of the Bank of the State of Georgia, from and after the passage of this act, shall be ten, six of whom shall be elected by the stockholders, and four by the State.

96. Sec. II. Not less than six directors, being a majority of the whole board, shall have power to do business, excepting during the months of July, August, September, and October, in every year; when four directors, who must be unanimous, and of whom the president, or president pro tempore, must always be one, shall constitute a competent number; any thing contained in this act of incorporation to the contrary notwithstanding.

What number shall constitute a Board of Directors.

An Act, to extend the charter of the Bank of the State of Georgia, and the acts now of force amendatory thereto.—Passed Dec. 22d, 1830. Pam. 40.

Whereas, the directors of the Bank of the State of Georgia, have applied by memorial and petition, to the general assembly, for an extension of their charter, and the acts now of force, amendatory thereto.

97. Be it enacted, That the charter of the Bank of the State of Georgia, granted on the sixteenth day of December, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and fifteen, and the acts of the general assembly, amendatory thereto, now of force, be, and the same are hereby prolonged to the sixteenth day of December, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-five.

Charter extended to Dec. 16, 1855.

BANK OF DARIEN.

An Act to incorporate the Bank of Darien.—Passed Dec. 15, 1818. Vol. III. 94.

98. Sec. I. A bank shall be established in the town of Darien, the capital stock whereof shall not exceed one million of dollars, divided into ten thousand shares of one hundred dollars each, of which five thousand shares shall be reserved until the first day of January, 1820, on the original terms, then or at any prior time, to be taken by the State, according to the pleasure of the general assembly; whereby the State at any subsequent election, shall be entitled to the appointment of five directors; and if they be not then taken by the State, to be disposed of in manner hereinafter provided and prescribed.

Capital stock one million.

Reservation for the State.

Sec. II. [Relates to the opening books for original subscriptions. Temporary.]

Sec. III. [Temporary.]

99. Sec. IV. All those who shall become subscribers to the said bank, their successors and assigns, shall be, and they are hereby created, and made a corporation and body politic, by the name and style of the Bank of Darien, and are hereby made able and capable in law, to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, answer and be answered, defend and be defended, in courts of record, or any place whatsoever; and also to make, have, and use a common seal, and the same to break, alter, and renew, at their pleasure; and also to ordain, establish, and put in execution, such by-laws, ordinances, and regulations, as shall seem necessary and convenient for the government of said corporation; provided such by-laws, rules, and regulations, be not contrary to the laws and constitution of this State, or of the United States; and generally to do and execute all and singular such acts, matters, and things, as to them may or shall appertain to do, subject, nevertheless, to the rules, regulations, restrictions, limitations, and provisions, hereinafter prescribed.

Incorporated.

Name.

Common seal.

Proviso.

Ten Directors to be chosen.

100. Sec. V. For the well ordering of the affairs of the said corporation, there shall be ten directors, five of whom shall be elected by the stockholders, and five by the State. The directors, on the part of the stockholders, after the first election hereinafter mentioned, shall, on the first Monday in January, annually, be elected by the stockholders or proprietors of the capital stock of the said corporation, and by plurality of the votes actually given in; and those who shall be duly chosen at any election, shall be capable of serving as directors by virtue of such choice, until the end or expiration of the first of January next ensuing the time of such election, and no longer; and the said directors, at their first meeting after such election, shall choose one of their members as president; and in case of his death, resignation, removal from the State, or from the board of direction, the said directors shall proceed to fill the vacancy by a new election for the remainder of the year: And it is further provided, that in case it should at any time happen that an election of directors should not be made upon the day when, pursuant to this act, it ought to have been made, the said corporation shall not for that cause be deemed to be dissolved; but it shall be lawful, on any other day, to hold and make an election of directors, in such manner as shall have been regulated by the rules and by-laws of the said corporation; and provided, that in case of the absence or removal of a director, his place may be filled, by a new choice for the remainder of the year, by the remaining directors.

Term of office.

President.

Vacancy of president.

Failure of election.

Vacancies of Directors.

Shares forfeited for failure of payment.

101. Sec. VI. If there shall be a failure in the payment of any sum subscribed by any person, copartnership, or body politic, when the same is required to be paid by this act, or when it shall be required to be paid by the directors, the share or shares, on which such failure shall accrue, shall, for such failure, be forfeited, and may be again sold and disposed of in such manner as the directors shall order and provide, and the sums which may have been paid thereon shall enure to the benefit of the said corporation.

May appoint officers.

102. Sec. VII. The directors for the time being shall have power to appoint such officers and clerks under them, &c. [Same as Sec. 46.]

Sec. VIII. [Respecting the commencement of the banking operations. Temporary.]

103. Sec. IX. The following rules, restrictions, limitations, and provisions, shall form, and be fundamental articles of the constitution of the said corporation.

Qualification of voters.

Qualification of Directors.

Rule 1st. [Same as rule 1st of the State Bank. See Sec. 78.]

104. Rule 2d. None but a stockholder, entitled in his own right to fifteen shares, and being a citizen of this State, and not being a director of any other bank, shall be eligible as a director; and if any one of the directors, after being elected, shall at any time, during the term for which he shall have been chosen, cease to be a stockholder, his seat thereupon shall become vacated; provided the above qualification be not necessary to the directors on the part of the State: Provided, that in case of a vacancy of any director on the part of the State, by death, resignation, or otherwise, during the recess of the legislature, then, and in that case, the governor shall have the power of filling the vacancy, by appointing some fit and proper person.

Vacancies in the State direction, how filled.

President's compensation.

Board of Directors.

Meetings of stockholders.

105. Rule 3d. The directors shall make such compensation to the president for his services as shall appear to them to be reasonable.

106. Rule 4th. [Five directors shall form a board. In all else, a transcript of Sec. 81.]

107. Rule 5th. Any number of stockholders, not less than thirty, who, together, shall be proprietors of two hundred shares, or upwards, shall have power, at any time, to call a meeting of the stockholders, for purposes relative to the institution, giving at least sixty days' public notice in the public papers, specifying in such notice the objects of such meeting; and in every such meeting of the stockholders, there shall be appointed by the governor three fit and proper persons, who shall have votes in proportion to the stock owned by the State, to attend as representatives of the State's interest in said bank.

State's representation therein.

Rule 6th. [Requires security of the cashier. See Sec. 83.]

108. Rule 7th. The lands, tenements, and hereditaments, which it shall be lawful for the said corporation to hold, shall be only such as may be requisite for its immediate accommodation, in relation to the convenient transacting its business.

What real estate may be held.

Rule 8th. [Limits the debts to thrice the capital, and provides against excess. See Sec. 85.]

Rule 9th. [Certificates of stock, how issued and transferred. Transcript of Sec. 86.]

Rule 10th. [Forbids all concern in commerce and insurance—same as Sec. 87.]

Rule 11th. [How liable on contracts. See Sec. 88.]

Rule 12th. [As to dividends. Same as Sec. 89.]

Rule 13th. [Requiring minutes to be kept. Same as Sec. 37.]

Rule 14th. [Duration of the charter to 1837. See Sec. 90.]

109. Rule 15th. The directors shall, within six months after the said bank shall go into operation, establish an office of discount and deposit, in the town of Milledgeville, and one at some convenient place, contiguous to the Oakmulgee, within two years from the time the said bank shall go into operation, for the purpose of discount and deposit only, upon the same terms and in the same manner as shall be practised at the bank which shall be established in the town of Darien; and, at any time thereafter, to establish one or more offices of discount and deposit, at any other place or places, at the discretion of the directors, or a majority of them, and to commit the management of said offices to such persons, under such agreements, and subject to such regulations, as they shall deem proper, not contrary to law, or to the constitution of the bank; and the amount of stock shall be apportioned, by the directors in the different branches, according to the exigencies of business.

Branches.

110. Sec. X. All notes, discounted by said bank, shall be made payable at the office where they are offered; and if the endorser or endorsers live without the limits of the town where the said bank, or office of discount, may be established, they shall be held and bound for the payment of the note, without any demand being made of the drawer, or notice of its non-payment being served on them.

Endorsers, how liable.

111. Sec. XI. The sums respectively subscribed for shall be payable in the manner following; viz. twenty-five per centum, as before specified, and the remainder of the sum so subscribed, at such time or times as the directors of the said bank may require and direct; provided that sixty days' notice of the time at which payment is required to be made be given in the public gazettes of Darien and Milledgeville; and nothing herein contained shall prevent any future legislature from increasing the capital of this bank, if deemed necessary, to the amount of one million of dollars more.

Installments on stock, how paid in.

112. Sec. XII. Notes issued by the mother bank shall be made payable at the same, and the notes issued by any of its offices of discount and deposit shall be made payable at said offices; and if the bank, or either of its offices of discount and deposit, shall at any time Legislature may increase the capital.

Notes payable where issued.

Failure to pay specie.

fail, or refuse to redeem their notes in specie, and the same shall be protested before any notary public, the legislature may direct its prosecuting officer to commence an action in any court having competent jurisdiction thereof, for such violation, and on the fact being established, the charter may be declared and considered forfeited: Provided, that nothing herein contained shall prevent said corporation, in case of a forfeiture of their charter, from suing and collecting, in their corporate capacity, all debts previously due them, and of being sued and compelled to pay all debts due by said corporation.

Stockholders
individually liable for the notes.

113. Sec. XIII. The persons and property of stockholders in said bank shall be pledged and bound, in proportion to the amount of the value of shares that each individual or company may subscribe for or hold in said bank, for the ultimate redemption of the bills or notes issued by and from said bank, in the same manner as in common commercial cases, or simple actions of debt, and that the State be pledged for the ultimate redemption of the bills or notes of said bank, in proportion to the amount of the value of shares that shall or may be subscribed for and held by said State.

Other banks,
&c may be paid in their own notes.

114. Sec. XIV. When any other bank, company, or corporation, shall apply at this bank, or any of its offices of discount and deposit, and demand specie in payment of the bills or notes which said bank, company or corporation, may hold on this bank, the said notes or bills shall and may be paid off, in the whole or a part, by this bank, or such of its offices of discount and deposit, in notes or bills which this bank, or such of its offices of discount and deposit, may hold upon such bank, company, or corporation; and the cashier of this bank, or such of its offices of discount and deposit, may, if he requires it, demand an oath in writing of the person presenting said bills or notes for payment, that such notes or bills, so presented for payment, are not the property of any other bank, company, or corporation.

Oath may be required that their demands are bona fide.

Shall discount at 90 days.
Shall not require town residence.

115. Sec. XV. It shall be the duty of the president and directors of the mother bank, and each of its offices of discount and deposit, to discount notes at ninety days, without requiring that the drawer, or any one of the endorsers should be residents of the town in which such bank or branch may be located, provided said note or notes should be, in the opinion of the president and directors, safely and sufficiently endorsed.

This charter may be recinded by the legislature.

116. Sec. XVI. Nothing contained in this act shall be so construed as to take the power of controlling said institution out of the legislature; but the legislature shall at all times have the power of arresting or suspending said charter, whenever it shall be made appear that the said corporation has not complied with all or any of the foregoing provisions.

Act of Dec. 18, 1819. Vol. III. 102.

Investment of school funds;

117. Sec. 1. Enacted, That his excellency the governor be, and he is authorized and required to vest in said stock [of the bank of Darien] the sum of one hundred thousand dollars of the fund heretofore set apart for the establishment and support of free schools; and that his excellency aforesaid be, and he is authorized and required to vest in said stock, the sum of one hundred thousand dollars of the fund heretofore set apart for the improvement of the internal navigation of this State.

of navigation funds.

Appropriation for future instalments.

118. Sec. II. The further sum of one hundred and seventy-five thousand dollars be, and the same is hereby appropriated, to be drawn for from time to time as future instalments shall be required.

An Act to amend an Act, entitled an Act to incorporate the Bank of Darien, passed the 15th day of Dec. in the year 1818.—Approved Nov. 22, 1826. Vol. IV. 77.

Whereas, doubts have been entertained whether the Bank of Darien Preamble.
could take a conveyance of real estate, or hold, or reconvey the same;

119. Be it enacted, That from and after the passing of this act, it The Bank of Darien may hold real estate.
shall and may be lawful for the said corporation to hold all such lands, tenements, and hereditaments as shall have been, or may be, bona fide, mortgaged to it by way of security, or conveyed to it in satisfaction of debts previously contracted in the course of its dealings, or purchased at sales upon judgments which shall have been obtained for such debts.

120. Sec. II. All conveyances heretofore made to the said corporation, of any lands, tenements, and hereditaments, shall be held and deemed valid and effectual at law and in equity; any law to the contrary notwithstanding. All conveyances heretofore made valid.

An Act to authorize the Bank of Darien to redeem the amount of its bills now in the Central Bank, upon certain terms.—Approved Dec. 22d, 1829. Vol. IV. 89.

Whereas, a resolution passed both branches of the legislature in Preamble.
1827, making it obligatory upon the Bank of Darien to redeem, semi-annually, $75,000 of its bills then in the treasury; and whereas, by the act chartering the Central Bank, it is the opinion that the aforesaid resolution has been repealed;

121. Sec. I. Be it enacted, That from and immediately after the The B. of Darien bound by the Res. of 1827. passage of this act, that the Bank of Darien shall be bound by the resolution already above cited.

122. Sec. II. It shall not be in the power of the directors of the Central [Bank] to call upon the Bank of Darien for a redemption of The Cen. Bank shall demand only $75,000 semi-annually.
more than $75,000 of its bank bills semi-annually.

123. Sec. III. All laws and parts of laws militating against this act are hereby repealed.

An Act to extend the charter of the Bank of Darien, and the acts now of force amendatory thereto.—Approved 19th Dec., 1834. Pam. 44.

Whereas, the president and directors of the Bank of Darien have petitioned for an extension of the act incorporating the Bank of Darien, and the acts now of force amendatory thereto—

124. Be it enacted, That the charter of the Bank of Darien, Charter extended to Jan. 1, 1855.
granted on the 15th day of Dec. in the year 1818, and the acts of the general assembly amendatory thereto now of force be, and the same are hereby prolonged to the 1st day of January, A. D. 1855:

Provided, that nothing in this charter shall be so construed as to prevent the State from selling out her stock, and thereby withdrawing her interest at pleasure; in which case the stockholders should have the privilege of choosing five more directors: nor shall any thing be so construed as to authorize the president and directors to call in an additional instalment upon the stock owned by the State. Proviso.

125. Sec. II. The said bank shall, at the discretion of its directors, Branch at Dahlohnega. or a majority of them, establish a branch at Dahlohnega, in Lumpkin county, with a capital of not less than one hundred thousand dollars, within six months after the commencement of the recharter; and the said branch shall be permanent thereat, subject to the same regulations and restrictions as are other branch banks.

Seven State
Directors.

126. Sec. III. From and after the passage of this act, the State shall elect seven directors, and the stockholders three directors.

CENTRAL BANK.

An Act to establish a bank at Milledgeville, to be called and known by the name and style of "the Central Bank of Georgia," to appropriate Moneys, Bank Stock, and other Securities, to form the Capital Stock of said Bank, and to incorporate the same.—Approved Dec. 22, 1828. Vol. IV. 86.

Preamble.

Whereas, it is deemed expedient and beneficial both to the State and its citizens, to establish a bank on the funds of the State, for the purpose of discounting paper, and making loans upon terms more advantageous than has been heretofore customary;

The Central Bank of Georgia established at Milledgeville.

127. Be it therefore enacted, That a bank shall be established in behalf of the State of Georgia, at Milledgeville, in said State, to be known and called by the name and style of "the Central Bank of Georgia," in the manner and on the conditions and limitations herein-after expressed.

What shall constitute the capital
stock.

128. Sec. II. The money in the treasury of this State, not otherwise appropriated; the shares owned by the State in the bank of Augusta, in the Planters' Bank of the State of Georgia, in the Bank of the State of Georgia, and in the Bank of Darien; and all bonds, notes, specialties, judgments due the State; and all moneys arising from the sales of fractions and town lots heretofore made (and hereafter to be made); and all other debts and moneys at any time due the State, shall constitute and form the capital stock of said bank; and the same are hereby appropriated for that purpose, and are and shall be vested in the president and directors of said bank, and their successors in office, as hereinafter prescribed; and shall be and remain the capital stock of said bank, and subject to the payment of all bills and notes issued by said bank: and it shall be the duty of the directors to collect the debts due the State as early as practicable; Provided, however, that every person in debt to the State may be allowed to renew his, her, or their notes, bonds, or other specialty, agreeably to the provisions of this act, in the same manner as persons borrowing money on accommodation paper: and provided further, that when the time of payment has been extended by the State, and when payments are not yet due, no suit shall be commenced until the times of payment shall arrive.

The Directors to collect debts due the State.
Proviso.

Taxes and Bank dividends to be deposited.

129. Sec. III. All the taxes hereafter to be collected on account of the State, and all its dividends arising from stock in other banks, shall be deposited in said bank, to aid and facilitate its operations; subject, nevertheless, to all the drafts on the part of the State, authorized by legal appropriations; Provided, nothing in this act shall be so construed as to interfere with the appropriations of the proceeds of the bank stock heretofore set apart for the purposes of internal improvement and education.

Proviso.

Directors to be appointed by the governor.
They shall elect a president, cashier and clerk.

130. Sec. IV. There shall be three directors of said bank, who shall be appointed by his excellency the governor, to superintend and manage the affairs of said bank; which said directors shall elect a president from among their own body to preside over said institution; and the said president and directors shall have power to elect a cashier and clerk; and the said cashier and clerk, so appointed, shall remain in office so long as they continue to discharge their respective duties with fidelity; subject to removal by the governor, the president, and directors of said bank; and any officer, so removed, shall not again be eligible to hold any office in said bank.

131. Sec. V. That the directors of said bank shall, before entering upon the duties of their office, severally make and deliver to his excellency the governor for the time being, and his successors in office, their bonds, with good and sufficient securities in the sum of one hundred thousand [dollars], for the faithful discharge of their duties as directors aforesaid.

The Directors and

132. Sec. VI. The cashier of said bank, before entering upon the duties of his office, shall make and deliver to his excellency the governor, for the time being, and his successors in office, his bond, with good and sufficient securities, in the sum of $100,000, conditioned for the faithful discharge of his duties as cashier aforesaid; and all other officers of said bank shall each give bond and security, in the manner and form aforesaid, in the sum of $20,000; which bonds, so taken, shall be, by his excellency the governor, deposited in the office of the comptroller general; and all the officers of said bank, before entering on the discharge of their respective duties, shall take and subscribe the following oath, to wit: "I, _____, do solemnly swear, that I will faithfully discharge the trust reposed in me, as _____ of the Central Bank of Georgia; so help me God:" which oath shall be taken in writing, signed by the party, and filed in the Executive Department.

Cashier shall give bond and security in the sum of $100,000.

Also all other officers.

Bonds to be deposited.

And shall take an oath.

Oath.

133. Sec. VII. Immediately after the passage of this act, his excellency the governor shall appoint three directors, who shall continue in office until the first day of January, 1830; at which time, and on every first Monday in January thereafter, he shall appoint three directors for said bank: and provided he shall fail to appoint at the time above mentioned, the old directors shall continue in office until his excellency the governor shall make such appointments on any day thereafter; and such directors shall be eligible to reappointment.

Directors to be appointed annually, and be reeligible.

Proviso.

134. Sec. VIII. When any vacancy shall happen in said board of directors, his excellency the governor shall fill the same.

Vacancies.

135. Sec. IX. The president of said bank shall receive for his salary the sum of $1,500 per annum; the other directors of said bank shall receive for their salaries $700 each per annum; the cashier of said bank, who shall perform the duties of cashier and teller of said bank, shall receive for his salary $1,500 per annum; and the salary of the clerk, who shall perform the duties of discount clerk and book-keeper, shall be $1,000 per annum: which said salaries shall be payable quarter-yearly.

President's salary $1,500.

Directors, $700 each.

Cashier, $1,500.

Clerk, $1,000.

136. Sec. X. The governor, the president, and directors of said bank be, and they are hereby authorized to appoint another clerk, with a salary of $1,000 per annum, whenever, in their judgment, the business of said bank require it; to whom shall be assigned such part of the duties hereinbefore mentioned as they may think proper.

May appoint another clerk when necessary.

136. Sec. XI. The said bank shall discount bills of exchange and notes on two or more good securities or indorsers; and the president and directors of said bank are hereby vested with power to require additional security on any note, or bill of exchange, made payable at said bank, when, in their opinion, the interest of said bank shall require it.

Shall discount bills of exchange and notes.

May require additional security.

137. Sec. XII. The total amount of the debts which the said bank shall at any time owe, shall not exceed the amount of its capital.

Total amt of debts.

138. Sec. XIII. No person, who is not a citizen of this State, or who is a director of any other bank, or copartner of any such director, Qualifications.

Not to borrow of the Bank, &c.

shall be eligible as president or director of said bank; nor shall the president, directors, or other officer of this bank be entitled to borrow any amount of money from said bank, or shall their names be received as endorsers in said bank.

Books of proceedings open to the legislature.

139. Sec. XIV. The directors shall keep fair and regular entries in books, to be kept for that purpose, of their proceedings; and on any question, when one director shall require it, the yeas and nays of the directors voting shall be duly inserted on their minutes, and those minutes be at all times, on demand, produced to the Legislature, or any committee thereof, who may require the same.

Constituted a corporation.
Its style.

140. Sec. XV. The said bank is hereby incorporated, and made a corporation and body politic, by the name and style of the "Central Bank of Georgia," and so shall continue until the first day of January, 1840; and by that name shall be, and is hereby made able and capable in law to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, answer and be answered, defend and be defended, in courts of record, or any other place whatsoever; and all suits and proceedings, instituted in any of the courts in this State, shall be in the name of the "Central Bank of Georgia," and not by attorney, as is usual with corporate bodies; and also to make, have, and use a common seal, and the same to break, alter, and renew at pleasure; and also to ordain, establish, and put in execution such by-laws, ordinances, and regulations, as shall seem necessary and convenient for the government of said corporation; not being contrary to the laws or constitution of this State.

Privileges.

May have and use a common seal, &c.

Proviso.

May issue notes.

141. Sec. XVI. The president and directors of said bank shall have power to issue notes, signed by the president, and countersigned by the cashier, on behalf of said corporation, for such sums, and with such devices as they may deem most expedient and safe; and shall be capable of exercising such other powers and authorities as may be necessary for the well-governing and ordering the affairs of said corporation, and of promoting the interest and credit thereof.

All transactions, &c. shall be fairly kept.

Annual statement.

142. Sec. XVII. All the transactions, operations, and accounts of said bank shall be fairly kept in books, to be provided for that purpose, and that the said books shall at all times be open to the inspection of his excellency the governor; and that a general statement of the transactions of said bank, signed by the president, and countersigned by the cashier, shall be made annually, on the first Monday in November, to his excellency the governor, and by him laid before the general assembly.

143. Sec. XVIII. The books of said bank shall be open to the inspection of the general assembly, or any committee appointed for that purpose.

Bills receivable by the State.

144. Sec. XIX. The bills or notes of the said corporation shall be receivable in payment of all taxes and debts due the State.

Town endorser nor notice of protest necessary.

145. Sec. XX. The directors of said bank shall not require town endorsers upon any note or obligation made payable at said bank, when the country endorsers are deemed amply responsible to secure the payment of the same; and no notice or protest shall be necessary to charge any endorser, nor shall any charge be made by any notary public, for noting for non-payment or protesting any note due at said bank.

Notes renewable semi-annually.

Interest 6 per cent.

Additional security may be required.

146. Sec. XXI. On all accommodation notes running at said bank, the makers thereof shall renew their notes once in six months at least,* by paying up the interest in advance, at the rate of six per centum per annum, or for shorter periods, as the said makers may think proper; Provided, nevertheless, that the directors may call at any time on the maker of any discounted note for additional security, and if he shall refuse or neglect to comply within twenty days after notice, said note shall be deemed and considered due, and suit shall be [commenced] immediately.

* Now Annually. See Sec. 302, 303.

147. Sec. XXII. The directors of said bank shall loan as much money upon accommodation paper as the interest and safety of said bank will permit, and they shall not require to be paid upon such accommodation loans more than twenty per centum per annum of the principal thereof, unless the exigencies of the bank shall require it.

Extent of loans on accommodation. Not more than 20 per cent. to be paid annually.

Sec. XXIII. [Directing the procurement of plates. Temporary.]

Sec. XXIV. [Respecting the commencement of operations. Temporary.]

148. Sec. XXV. The directors of said bank shall distribute their loans as equally as practicable among the citizens of this State, having due regard to the population of the different counties: and no loan made by said bank to any one person or body corporate, or any society, or collection of persons whatsoever, shall exceed $2,500; nor shall the directors of the Central Bank at any time put in circulation the bills thereof to a greater amount than the aggregate of specie and bills of the other chartered banks of this State, and the bills of the Bank of the United States in its vault.

Loans, how to be distributed, and not to exceed the amount of specie and bills.

149. Sec. XXVI. All suits commenced by said corporation upon any note, bill, bond, or obligation, upon which there shall be any endorser or endorsers, the maker or makers, together with the endorser or endorsers, or their representatives, may be embraced and sued in the same action, and no proof of notice, demand, or protest shall be required on any trial to authorize a recovery.

How to sue on notes, bonds, &c.

150. Sec. XXVII. The president and directors shall not allow any individual, company, or corporation, to place any note, bill, or obligation in said bank for collection.

No note, &c. to be taken for collection.

151. Sec. XXVIII. The Central Bank of Georgia shall be subject and liable to be sued in law and equity, and a copy of any process left at the banking-house shall be deemed good and sufficient service.

Bank liable to be sued—how served.

152. Sec. XXIX. Nothing in this act contained shall be so construed, as to prevent the alteration or repeal of any part, or the whole of this act, should any subsequent general assembly deem such alteration or repeal expedient.

Charter may be altered or repealed.

An Act to amend "An Act to establish a bank at Milledgeville, to be called and known by the name and style of the Central Bank of Georgia, to appropriate Moneys, Bank Stock, and other securities, to form the Capital Stock of said bank, and to incorporate the same;" passed on the 22d of December, 1828; and also to provide for the disposition and sale of lands forfeited to the State.—Passed Dec. 19, 1829. Vol. IV. 87.

153. Nothing contained in the said act shall be so construed as to prevent or prohibit the directors of the said bank from allowing any person indebted to the State, in a sum exceeding $2,500, from renewing his, or her, or their notes, bonds, or other specialties, for the whole amount of his, her, or their debt, according to the provisions of the said act. But the said bank shall allow any person indebted to the State, in any amount, to run notes in said bank for the same.

Notes of more than $2,500 may be renewed.

154. Sec. II. Nothing contained in the twenty-second section of the said act shall be so construed as to prohibit the directors from requiring to be paid in, upon loans already made, or hereafter to be made, twenty per centum per annum on the original amount of the said loan.

20 per cent. on loans to be paid annually.

Loans to be according to population.

155. Sec. III. The directors of the said bank shall hereafter distribute their loans as equally as practicable among the citizens of this State, having due regard to the population of the different counties, on the basis fixed by the seventh section of the first article of the constitution.

Bank to receive the dividends from Bank stock, &c.

156. Sec. IV. The directors of the bank shall be, and are hereby authorized and required to receive all dividends which may become due on the bank stock now owned by the State, and to pay over so much thereof as has been heretofore set apart for internal improvement and education, to the treasurer.

To procure a transfer of all the Bank stock belonging to the State.

157. Sec. V. The directors of the said bank be, and they are hereby authorized and required immediately to take the necessary measures to procure a transfer on the books of the several banks in which this State owns stock, of the said stock so owned by the State, in the said banks respectively, to the said Central Bank of Georgia; and that the said several banks in which the State owns stock, be, and they are hereby authorized, on the application of the directors of the said Central Bank of Georgia, to transfer all the said stock so owned by the State in such banks respectively, to the said Central Bank of Georgia.

Debtors of the State may put in their notes when the debts may be due by instalment.

158. Sec. VI. Persons indebted to the State for lands, or other real estate, bond, note, or otherwise, and where the said debt is payable by instalment, be, and they are hereby allowed to discount their notes in the said bank for the whole amount of the said debt, upon the same conditions, reservations, and restrictions, as other debtors of the State are allowed to obtain discounts; and that in estimating the amount due on such debt, when such debt does not bear interest, a deduction shall be made therefrom of an amount equal to the discount of six per cent. on the debt, from the time the said discount shall be granted, until the same shall become payable, according to the terms of the original bond, note, or contract; and that upon the note of such debtor being discounted as aforesaid, and the proceeds thereof passed to his credit and his check given therefor, he shall be, and is hereby authorized to demand of his excellency the governor, a grant, or such other title to the said land, or real estate, as he would have been entitled to receive upon a full compliance with the terms of the original contract: Provided, that before he shall be entitled to demand or receive the said grant, or other title, he shall be required to deposite in the office of the surveyor general a certificate, signed by the cashier of the said bank, that his said debt has been fully settled by note or notes. And provided also, that nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to effect any security or lien which the State may have on any lands, or other real estate, for securing the payment of any debt which has been transferred to the said bank, and for which a note has been already discounted by the said bank.

Interest to be deducted.

Grants for fractions in such cases to be issued, &c.

Proviso.

Satisfied bonds, &c. to be delivered up.

159. Sec. VII. The directors of the said bank be, and they are hereby authorized to deliver to the obligors, or makers, all bonds, notes, or other obligations, which have been transferred to the said bank, and which have been, or may hereafter be, fully paid and satisfied.

Interest from due.

160. Sec. VIII. In making settlements with the debtors of the State, the directors of the said bank shall demand and require the payment of interest thereon, from the time the said debt became due, according to the terms of the original contract.

Books not to be required in court.

161. Sec. IX. In no suit or action in any court of this State, in which the said bank may be a party, shall it be lawful for the other party or parties to require the said bank to produce the books of the bank into court in evidence; nor shall it be lawful for such party or parties to require, by subpoena or otherwise, the attendance of any officer of the said bank in court, on the trial of such cause. But whenever, in any such suit, it may become necessary for the attainment of justice, that the evidence contained in the said books, or the testimony of such officer should be had, it shall and may be lawful for either party in such cause, requiring such evidence or testimony, to take out a commission, in the usual manner, to examine the officers of the said bank, as to the contents of the said books, or as to their own knowledge of the facts, notwithstanding such officer may reside in the county in which such suit may be pending.

The contents to be proved on commission.

Sec. X. and XI. [Directing the sale of forfeited and undrawn lands, are presumed to be executed and obsolete.]

162. Sec. XII. In directing, by the second section of the act establishing the bank, the transfer to it of all the bonds, notes, specialties, judgments due, or to become due to the State, the general assembly did not divest the State of any of its rights, powers, privileges, or immunities, reserved by law, or accruing to it in virtue of its sovereign capacity, in regard to the collection of the aforesaid bonds, notes, specialties, &c. further than to vest the said rights, powers, privileges, and immunities, in the said president and directors. And all the aforesaid rights, powers, privileges, and immunities, are hereby declared to be vested in the president and directors of the said bank, by them to be used, enjoyed, and exercised, in behalf and for the benefit of the State, in regard to the aforesaid bonds, notes, specialties, judgments, &c.; and all notes that have been, or may hereafter be discounted, in renewal of them in terms of the charter, and all other notes and bills of exchange that have been, or may hereafter be discounted by said bank, in as full, perfect, absolute, and unqualified a manner, as they could have been used, enjoyed, and exercised by the State, had no such transfer been made, or such bank been established.

The legislature divested of no control over the funds, &c.

What rights are vested in the President and Directors.

163. Sec. XIII. From and after the passing of this act, it shall not be lawful for any clerk or clerks of the Central Bank to be a director of any other bank in this State.

No Clerk of this Bank shall be a Director of any Bank. Repealing clause.

164. Sec. XIV. All laws and parts of laws militating against this act are hereby repealed.

An Act to amend in part the ninth Section of an act to establish a Bank at Milledgeville to be called and known by the name and style of "the Central Bank of Georgia," to appropriate Moneys, Bank Stock, and other Securities, to form the Capital Stock of said Bank, and to incorporate the same, so far as regards the salary of the Cashier of said Bank.—Passed Dec. 26, 1831. Pam. 45.

165. Sec. I. From and after the first day of January, 1832, the Cashier of the Central Bank of Georgia, shall receive for his salary the sum of $2,000 per annum, which salary shall be payable quarterly.

Cashier's salary $2,000.

166. Sec. II. All laws or parts of laws militating against this act, are hereby repealed.

An Act to authorize the President and Directors of the Central Bank of Georgia, to appoint an additional officer in said Bank, to be called and known as Teller.—Approved Dec. 22, 1832. Pam. 26.

167. From and immediately after the passage of this act, the President and Directors of the Central Bank of Georgia, be and they are authorized and required to appoint under like restrictions and obligations with the clerks of said Bank, an additional clerk to be styled and known as the Teller of said Bank, with a salary of $1,000 per annum, payable as the salaries of other officers now are, and to assign him such part or portion of the labors of said Bank, as may in their judgment be most advisable; who shall be appointed and hold his office in like manner and under the same tenure with the other officers in said Bank.

Allowed to appoint a Teller.

An Act to alter and amend the tenth section of an act passed 19th December, 1829, in relation to the Central Bank of Georgia, and to provide for the sale and disposition of lands forfeited to the State.—
Approved Dec. 23, 1833. Pam. 37.

Shall sell all undrawn and forfeited lands, now and in future.

168. From and after the passage of this act it shall be the duty of the president and directors of the Central Bank of Georgia, to cause all the lands which have been or may hereafter be forfeited to the State, and all lands which were intended to be disposed of but were not drawn for in the several land lotteries of the State, to be sold at public outcry, before the court house, at the following places, to wit: Hawkinsville, Macon, Columbus, Newnan, Campbell-town, and La Grange, between the usual hours of sheriff's sales, on such days as the said directors may deem best: Provided, always, that sixty days previous notice of the time and place of such intended sale, with a description of each tract of land intended to be sold, shall first be published in one of the gazettes printed in the circuit in which such land may be situated, if there be such gazette, and also in the gazettes in Milledgeville: Provided, in all cases, that the purchaser or person holding the certificate, shall be allowed to stop the sale by coming forward and paying up the principal with all interest due the State for such forfeited lots or fractions; and grants shall issue to the holders of such certificates in the usual way, as though such lots had not been forfeited: Provided, also, no sale be advertised previous to the first day of March next: Provided, also, they come forward and pay up before the day of sales.

Sec. II. That all laws and parts of laws militating against this act are hereby repealed.

SAVINGS BANK OF AUGUSTA.

*An Act to incorporate the Savings Bank of Augusta.—*Approved Dec. 18, 1827. Vol. IV. 77.

Preamble.

Whereas a number of the citizens of Augusta and its neighborhood, under the title of "The Augusta Savings Bank," have voluntarily associated themselves as a society, for the sole purpose of receiving and investing in public stock and substantial security on real estate, or otherwise, such sums as may be deposited by individuals, and of affording to them the advantages of security and interest; and whereas the members of this society, by their memorial to the Legislature, have prayed to be perpetuated and brought into legal existence by being incorporated and established by law, with perpetual succession, for the purposes of receiving, holding, and improving in such way as to them may seem proper, all such real and personal estate as the said institution shall become possessed of or entitled to, by gift, grant, devise, bequest, purchase, deposite, loan, and payment, for the purposes of the said institution; therefore,

169. Be it enacted, That John Campbell, Thos. Cumming, Samuel

Hale, Isaac Henry, Timothy Edwards, Edward F. Campbell, James Fraser, Wm. W. Montgomery, Joseph Wheeler, Anderson Watkins, Asaph Waterman, Augustus Moore, Henry Cumming, John Howard, Wm. H. Turpin, John Course, Richard Tubman, John Phinizy, George Twiggs, John Moore, and James Harper, and their successors in office for ever, be, and they are hereby erected and made one body politic and corporate, in deed and in law, by the name, style, and title of "the Augusta Savings Bank;" and by the same name shall constitute a board of appointment, having perpetual succession, with power annually on the second Monday of January, in each and every year, to elect a board consisting of seven managers, for the regulation of the concerns of the said Savings Bank; and are hereby made able and capable in law to have, purchase, receive, take, hold, possess, enjoy, and retain, to them and their successors, lands, rents, tenements, hereditaments, stock, goods, chattels, and effects, of what kind, nature, or quality soever, whether real, personal, or mixed, by gift, grant, demise, bargain, and sale, demise, bequest, testament, legacy, loan, deposit, or advance, or by any other mode of conveyance or transfer whatever; and the same to give, grant, bargain, sell, demise, convey, assure, transfer, alien, pay, release, and dispose of, for the whole or any less estate or property than they have in the same, and also to improve and augment the same, in such manner and form as said society, by their by-laws and regulations, shall order and direct; and shall and may apply the same, with the rents, issues, income, interest, and profits of such estate, and the moneys arising from the sale, alienation, disposal, or employment thereof, to the uses, ends, and purposes of their institution, according to the rules, regulations, and orders of their society now in force, or which, according to the provisions hereinafter made, shall from time to time be declared touching the same, as effectually and fully as any person or body politic or corporate within this State, by the constitution and laws of this State, can do and perform: and the said institution, by the name, style, and title aforesaid, shall and may sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, answer and be answered, defend and be defended, in courts of law within this State and elsewhere; and also make, have, and use a common seal, and the same break, alter, and renew at their pleasure; and shall have power also to make, establish, ordain, and put in execution such by-laws, ordinances, and regulations as shall to them, or a majority of such quorum of them (as has already or shall hereafter be directed), seem meet or convenient for the government of such corporation, not being contrary to the constitution and laws of this State; and generally to do and execute all and singular such acts, matters, and things which to the said corporation shall or may appertain and be necessary for the purposes thereof; subject nevertheless to the rules, regulations, restrictions, limitations, and provisions herein prescribed and declared.

The corporations, and their names.

Its style.

The Board to be annually elected.

Their privileges.

Powers and liabilities.

Fundamental rules.

Shall choose annually a President, and fill vacancies.

There shall be seven Managers chosen annually, from 170. Sec. II. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the following rules, limitations, and provisions shall form and be fundamental articles of the constitution of the corporation.

ARTICLE I.—The board of appointment shall have power each year to choose, by ballot, from its own body, a president and other officers, at the time of their annual meeting on the second Monday of January, and also to fill all vacancies which may occur among them by death, resignation, or otherwise; and at such meeting eleven members shall constitute a quorum.

ARTICLE II.—The bank shall be conducted by seven managers, chosen annually by the board of appointment, who shall, each and every year, at such time as shall be designated in the by-laws of the institu-which number a President shall be chosen.

To fill all vacancies.

tion, choose from among its own body a president, and shall have power to appoint a secretary, treasurer, and such other officers as the business of the corporation may require, with such compensation as they may determine.

ARTICLE III.—The managers shall have power to fill up by ballot any vacancy which may occur in their own body or officers, two-thirds of the number present to agree to all removals and new appointments; and no appointment or removal to take place when a less number than five managers are present.

ARTICLE IV.—No president or manager shall receive, directly or indirectly, any pay or emolument for his services.

ARTICLE V.—Deposites of not less than two dollars, but of any larger sum, shall be received.

ARTICLE VI.—On the first Monday of June and December in every year, if the funds of the institution shall warrant it, there shall be declared and paid a dividend on all sums which shall have been deposited, at such rate of interest as the board of managers shall direct; interest to be calculated only from the first day of January, April, July, and October, in each year, and not having relation to the time of deposit, provided deposits shall be made at any intermediate period between those dates, nor shall interest be allowed for fractional parts of a month.

ARTICLE VII.—The deposits and payments shall be regularly entered in the books of the office, and every person depositing money shall be furnished with a duplicate of his or her account, in which every deposit or payment shall be regularly entered as soon as made: no money shall be drawn out under five dollars, unless to close an account; and all deposits shall be repaid when required, on giving two weeks' notice.

Three shall constitute a quorum.

ARTICLE VIII.—The managers shall meet at least once in every month, and five shall be a quorum; except in the months of July, August, and September, when three members shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business: the books, treasurer's accounts, and other documents, shall be produced at such meetings.

May refuse or return deposits.

ARTICLE IX.—The managers shall be at liberty, at any time, to refuse deposits; and, on giving one month's notice, to return such as have been made, with interest thereon, to be calculated to that time, and no longer.

A report shall be made annually, and published.

ARTICLE X.—A report shall annually be prepared by three auditors, who shall not be managers or officers of the corporation, chosen by the board of appointment from their body or elsewhere, and such report shall be published in one or more of the gazettes of the city of Augusta; and the managers shall annually transmit one copy of the said report to the governor, and by him to be laid before the legislature of the State of Georgia.

No Manager or other officer allowed to borrow.

ARTICLE XI.—No manager, officer, or agent of the Savings Bank shall be allowed directly or indirectly to borrow any money or moneys from the said bank; nor shall the said bank have, hold, or purchase any notes, bonds, mortgages, or other securities for the payment of money drawn or endorsed by, or existing against, any manager, officer, or agent of the said Savings Bank.

Officers to continue until others are appointed. No misnomer to affect.

ARTICLE XII.—The officers elected pursuant to this act shall be and continue in office until others be appointed; and no misnomer of the said corporation in any deed, testament, or gift, grant, demise, or other instrument, or other contract or conveyance, shall vitiate or defeat the same, if the said corporation shall be sufficiently described to ascertain the intent of the party or parties to give, demise, bequeath, assure to, or contract with the corporation hereby created by the name aforesaid: nor shall any non-uses of the said privileges hereby granted create any forfeiture of the same; but such privileges may be exercised by the said corporation, notwithstanding any failure to meet at any of the times appointed herein, or that may be appointed by the by-laws and ordinances of the said society, for the purpose of holding their annual or other meetings, for elections or for other subjects for consideration: the officers then in office shall continue to hold and exercise their respective offices until others shall be duly elected to succeed them at some future meeting of the said institution, which the said corporation is hereby authorized to hold for such purpose.

Privileges,
&c.

AUGUSTA INSURANCE AND BANKING COMPANY.

An Act to incorporate the Augusta Insurance and Banking Company of the City of Augusta, and to repeal the Act passed on the ninth day of December, eighteen hundred and twenty-two.—Approved Dec. 26, 1827. Vol. IV. 79.

171. Peter Bennock, James Harper, John Bones, Charles Labuzan, Anderson Watkins, Edward J. Harden, W. W. Montgomery, Samuel Hale, and Abraham M. Woolsey, or any three or more of them, be, and they are hereby constituted a board of commissioners, whose duty it shall be to open a book of subscription for shares in said company; which book shall be opened on the first Monday in February next, and shall continue open for twenty days, at such place, and for so many hours each day, as the said board of commissioners may determine on; during which time it shall be lawful for any person or persons, citizens of this State, to subscribe for any number of shares not exceeding one hundred; and if the whole amount of capital hereinafter mentioned be not subscribed for at the expiration of said twenty days, it shall then be lawful for any citizen or citizens, or for any corporation or body politic within this State, to subscribe for any number of shares remaining unsubscribed for.

Shall open a book of subscription, &c.

Sec. II. [Notice to be given, and amount to be paid on subscribing.—Temporary.]

172. Sec. III. The stockholders in said institution shall be, and they are hereby declared to be, a body corporate and politic, under the name and style of "the Augusta Insurance and Banking Company;" and by that name and style may sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, answer and be answered unto, in any court of law or equity in this State, or elsewhere, having competent jurisdiction; and shall enjoy perpetual succession of officers and members, may have and use a common seal, may make, ordain, and establish such by-laws, rules, and regulations as they may deem expedient and necessary to carry into effect the objects of this institution; Provided, such by-laws, rules [ordinances], and regulations be not repugnant to the laws or constitution of this State, or the United States.

Declared a body corporate.
Its style.

Privileges,
&c.

Make by-laws, &c.

Proviso.

173. Sec. IV. The capital stock of said company shall not exceed $500,000, which shall be divided into shares of $100; but the company may commence business as soon as $100,000 in specie, or the notes of specie-paying banks, shall have been paid; and that upon the expiration of the said twenty days hereinbefore allowed for subscribing, it shall be the duty of said commissioners to convene the stockholders or subscribers, by giving ten days' notice in the public newspapers of Augusta, of the time and place of meeting, who may then or at any

Capital.

May commence when $100,000 in specie is paid.

Election of Directors.	time thereafter proceed to the election of a board of directors, under such rules and regulations as they may adopt for that purpose.
President and other officers to be elected.	174. Sec. V. The directors so appointed shall, at their first meeting thereafter, proceed to the appointment of a president from among their own body; and the said president and directors may appoint such officers under them, as they may deem necessary and expedient for carrying the provisions of [this] act into effect.
May insure.	175. Sec. VI. The said company, when organized as aforesaid, shall have full power and authority to insure property and effects of every nature and description, against losses by fire or water, and all other accidents, dangers, and casualties, for which insurance companies are usually established, or to buy or sell life annuities.
Payment of losses.	176. Sec. VII. Said company shall be bound to pay all losses on property or other assurances made by them, within six months after the happening thereof. And in all cases, when the claimant shall be compelled to institute a suit for the recovery of such losses, the same shall stand in order for trial at the first term, and the amount recovered shall be on interest from and after the expiration of the said six months; and if the said company shall neglect or refuse to pay such losses within the said six months, when there is no dispute as to the amount claimed, or within ten days after final recovery against them in cases disputed, then, and in such event, this charter may be declared null and void.
Trials at law.
Interest.
Forfeiture of charter.
May hold property, real and personal, and dispose of it.	177. Sec. VIII. The said company shall have power to receive, hold, purchase, and possess any property, real or personal, for the use, benefit, or advantage of the said corporation, and to sell and dispose of the same, and they are hereby declared to be vested with all the powers, advantages, privileges, and emoluments of an association of persons incorporated for the intentions and purposes aforesaid.
Corporation to continue 30 years.	178. Sec. IX. The said corporation shall and may continue for and during the term of thirty years from the passage of this act, unless the same should be forfeited according to the provisions thereof.
May issue bills.	179. Sec. X. Said company shall be permitted, and they are hereby authorized to issue bills or notes of credit, payable to bearer on demand, signed by the president, and countersigned or attested by the cashier, to the amount of the capital stock paid in; Provided , that no bills of credit shall be issued as aforesaid, unless by consent of the owners of three-fifths of the stock of said company.
Payable on demand.	180. Sec. XI. All bills or notes of credit issued as aforesaid shall be paid on demand at the company's office.
Repealing clause.	181. Sec. XII. An act, entitled an Act to incorporate the Georgia Mutual Insurance Company, and to repeal the act heretofore passed for that purpose, which was assented to on the 9th day of December, 1822, is hereby repealed.

An Act to amend an act entitled an act to charter the Augusta Insurance and Banking Company, passed on the 26th day of December, 1827.—Approved Dec. 27, 1831. Pam. 45.

182. Sec. I. From and after the passing of this act, the Augusta Insurance and Banking Company shall be permitted, and they are hereby authorized, to issue bank bills or notes, payable to bearer on demand, signed by the president and countersigned or attested by the cashier, to double the amount of the capital stock paid, or which shall hereafter be paid in by the stockholders.

183. Sec. II. So much of the act passed on the 26th day of December, 1827, creating the Augusta Insurance and Banking Company, is hereby repealed.

BANK OF COLUMBUS.

An Act, to be entitled, an act to incorporate a bank in the town of Columbus, to be called the Bank of Columbus.—Approved Dec. 22d, 1828. Vol. IV. 83.

184. A bank shall be established in the town of Columbus, the capital stock whereof shall be three hundred thousand dollars, to be divided into three thousand shares, of one hundred dollars each, of which five hundred shares shall be reserved until the first day of Jan., in the year 1830, on the original terms, then or at any previous time to be taken by the State, according to the pleasure of the legislature, whereby the State, at any subsequent election, shall be entitled to two directors, and if they be not then taken by the State, to be disposed of in manner hereinafter provided for; and also with the privilege of increasing such capital at any time thereafter as the stockholders may desire, to the sum of one million of dollars, which increased capital shall be divided into shares as above.

A bank shall be establish'd at Columbus.

Reservation of shares for the State.

185. Sec. II. [Providing for opening the books, and apportioning the shares among several towns—temporary, except the following]—The sums respectively subscribed for shall be payable in manner following, viz. five per cent. at the time of subscribing, and fifteen per cent. at the expiration of four months thereafter, and the balance of eighty per cent. at such times as the same shall be required by the directors; Provided, that sixty days' notice of the time at which such payment is required to be made be given in one of the gazettes of Columbus, Macon, and Milledgeville, and provided that no payment shall be requested at any time between the first of July and the first of November, in any one year.

Subscriptions how payable.

Proviso.

186. Sec. III. If there shall be a failure in the payment of any sum subscribed by any person, copartnership, or body politic, when the same is required to be paid by this act, or when it shall be required to be paid by the directors, the share or shares upon which such failure shall happen or accrue shall be for such failure forfeited, and may be again sold and disposed of in such manner as the directors shall order or provide, and the proceeds from such sale, together with the sum or sums which may have been paid thereon, shall enure to the benefit of said corporation.

Forfeitures for non-payment.

187. Sec. IV. All those who shall become subscribers to the said bank, their successors and assigns, shall be, and they are hereby created and constituted a corporation and body politic, by the name and style of "the Bank of Columbus;" and by that name shall be, and are hereby made able and capable in law to have, hold, purchase, receive, possess, enjoy, and retain, to them and their successors, lands, rents, tenements, hereditaments, goods, chattels, and effects, of whatsoever kind, nature, or quality the same may be; and the same to sell, grant, demise, alien, or dispose of; to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, answer and be answered, defend and be defended in courts of record, or any other place whatsoever; and also to make, use, and have a common seal, and the same to break, alter and renew at their pleasure; and also to ordain, establish, and put in execution such by-laws, rules, and regulations as seem necessary and convenient for the government of said corporation; Provided, that such by-laws, rules, and regulations be not contrary to the constitution and laws of this State, or of the United States; and generally to do and execute all and singular such acts, matters, and things, as to them may or shall appertain, subject

Subscribers made a body corporate.

Privileges.

Proviso.

nevertheless to the rules, regulations, restrictions, limitations, and provisions hereinafter prescribed.

Directors, how many and by whom to be elected. 188. Sec. V. For the well ordering of the affairs of said corporation there shall be seven directors, who shall be elected as soon as gold and silver coin, or bills of the Bank of the United States, to the amount of fifty thousand dollars of the subscription for the said stock shall have been received; and in each and every year thereafter, the directors shall be chosen by the stockholders or proprietors of the capital stock of said corporation, when a plurality of votes given in shall be required to make a choice, and those who shall be duly chosen at any election shall be capable of serving as directors by virtue of such choice, until the end or expiration of the first Monday in November next ensuing the time of such election, and no longer; and the said directors, at their first meeting after each election, shall choose one of their own members as president; and in case of his death, resignation, removal from the State, or from the board of direction, the said directors shall proceed to fill the vacancy by a new election for the remainder of the year. [Directors how to commence operations,—temporary.] And provided further, that in case it should at any time happen that an election for directors should not be made upon any day when pursuant to this act it ought to have been made, the said corporation shall not for that cause be deemed to be dissolved, but it shall be lawful on any other day to hold and make an election of directors in such manner as shall have been regulated by the rules and by-laws of the said corporation: and provided, that in case of the death, resignation, absence from the State, or removal of a director, his place may be filled up by a new choice, made by the remaining directors for the remainder of the year.

Annual elections by the stockholders.

Directors to elect a President.

Proviso.

Elections when regulated by the by-laws, &c.

Directors empowered to appoint officers, clerks, and servants. 189. Sec. VI. The directors for the time being shall have power to appoint such officers and clerks under them as shall be necessary for executing the business of the said corporation, and allow them such compensation for their services, respectively, as shall be reasonable; and shall be capable of exercising such other powers and authorities for the well-governing and ordering the affairs of said corporation, as to them shall appear conducive to the interest of the institution.

Fundamental rules. 190. Sec VII. The following rules, regulations, limitations, and provisions, shall form and be fundamental articles of the constitution of the said corporation.

Qualification of voters. 1. The number of votes to which each stockholder shall be entitled to, shall be according to the number of shares he shall hold, each share to be entitled to one vote; Provided, that no share or shares shall confer a right of suffrage, which shall not have been holden at least three calendar months previously to the day of election, and unless it be holden by the person in whose name it appears absolutely and bona fide in his own right, or in that of his wife, and for his or her own benefit and use, or as executor, administrator, or guardian, or in the right and use of some copartnership, corporation, or society, of which he or she may be a member, and not in trust for, or to the use of any other person: any stockholder, being absent, may authorize by power of attorney, under seal, any other stockholder to vote for him, her, or them.

Proviso.

Who eligible as a voter.

Who may vote by proxy.

Who eligible as a Director. 2. None but a stockholder, entitled in his own right to thirty shares, and being a citizen of this State, and not a director of any other bank or branch bank, shall be eligible as a director; and if any one of the directors, after being elected, shall at any time during the term for which he shall have been chosen cease to be a stockholder, his seat shall thereupon become vacated, and the remaining directors, or a majority of them, shall, at their next meeting, pass an order, declaring him no longer to be a director.

Disqualification.

3. The stockholders shall make such compensation to the president for his services as shall to them appear reasonable. President's pay.

4. No less than four directors shall constitute a board for the transaction of business, of whom the president shall always be one, except in case of sickness or necessary absence, in which case his place may be supplied by any director, appointed by the board of directors present for that purpose. How many Directors to form a Board.

5. A number of stockholders, not less than ten, who together shall be proprietors of five hundred shares or upwards, shall have power at any time to call a meeting of the stockholders for purposes relative to the institution; giving at least sixty days' notice in a public gazette at Columbus, Macon, and Milledgeville, specifying in such notice the object or objects of such meeting. Who may call a meeting.

6. The cashier of the bank for the time being, before he enters upon the duties of his office, shall give bond, with two or more securities, to the satisfaction of the directors, in a sum not less than twenty thousand dollars, with condition for his good behavior and the faithful discharge of his duties. Cashier to give bond.

7. The lands, tenements, and hereditaments, which it shall be lawful for the said corporation to hold, shall be only such as shall be required for its immediate accommodation in relation to the convenient transaction of business; and such as shall have been bona fide mortgaged to it as security, or conveyed to it in satisfaction of debts previously contracted in the course of its dealings, or purchased at sales upon judgments which shall have been obtained for such debts; which said lands and tenements, conveyed to it in satisfaction of said debts, or purchased at sales upon judgments obtained by said corporation, shall not be held or remain in possession of said corporation for more than twelve months after said conveyance. The corporation may hold real estate.

8. The total amount of the debts which the said corporation shall at any time owe, whether by bond, bill, note, or other contract, shall not exceed three times the amount of their capital stock actually paid in, over and above the amount of specie actually deposited in the vaults for safe keeping: in case of excess, the directors under whose administration it shall happen shall be liable for the same in their individual, natural, and private capacities; and an action of debt may in such case be brought against them or any of them, their or any of their heirs, executors, administrators, in any court of record in the United States, having competent jurisdiction, or either of them, by any creditor or creditors of the said corporation, and may be prosecuted to judgment and execution, any condition, covenant, or agreement to the contrary notwithstanding: but this shall not be construed to exempt the said corporation, or the lands, tenements, goods, and chattels of the same from being also liable for and chargeable with the said excess; and such of the directors who may have been absent when the said excess was contracted or created, or who may have dissented from the resolution or act whereby the same was so contracted or created, may respectively exonerate themselves from being so liable, by having their dissent, if present, entered on the minutes of the said corporation. And for what length of time.

9. [Repealed. See Sec. 283.]

10. The company shall in no case, directly or indirectly, be concerned in commerce or insurance, or in the importation or exportation, purchase or sale of any goods, wares, and merchandise whatever (bills of exchange, notes, and bullion only excepted), except such goods, May owe three times the amount of its capital stock.
If more, the Directors liable individually.
Property of the corporation also liable.
Absent and dissenting Directors may be exonerated.
The corporation not to be concerned in commerce, &c.

Exception. wares, and merchandise as shall be truly transferred, conveyed, or pledged to them by way of security for money actually loaned and advanced; or for debts due, owing, or growing due to the said corporation, or to effect the insurance on the property that may belong to, or be pledged to the said company for its security.

Bills, notes, &c. how signed, or the funds of the Bank not liable. 11. The bills obligatory and of credit, notes, and other contracts whatever on the behalf of said corporation, shall be binding and obligatory on the said company, provided the same be signed by the president, and countersigned or attested by the cashier of the said corporation; and the funds of the corporation shall in no case be held liable for any contract or engagement whatever, unless the same shall be so signed and countersigned or attested as aforesaid; and the books, papers, and correspondence, and the funds of the company, shall at all times be subject to the inspection of the board of directors and stockholders, when convened according to the provisions of this act.

Dividends, how and when determined. 12. Dividends of the profits of the corporation, or of so much thereof as shall be deemed expedient and proper, shall be declared and paid half-yearly (the first half, after the bank shall have been in operation, excepted); and the said dividends shall, from time to time, be determined by a majority of the directors, at a meeting to be held for that purpose, and shall in no case exceed the amount of the net profits actually acquired by the corporation, so that the capital stock thereof shall never be impaired.

Capital stock not to be impaired. 13. The directors shall keep fair and regular entries, in a book to be provided for that purpose, of their proceedings; and on any question, when two directors shall require it, the yeas and nays of the directors voting shall be duly entered on their minutes, and those minutes be at all times, on demand, produced to the stockholders, when at a general meeting the same shall be required.

Duration of the company. 14. The corporation shall exist and continue until the 1st day of Jan., 1860; and immediately after the dissolution of the said corporation, effectual measures shall be taken by the directors last appointed and acting, for closing all the concerns of the company, and for dividing the capital stock and profits which may then remain among the stockholders, according to their respective interests.

Its affairs how settled after dissolution. 15. The persons and property of the stockholders for the time being, in said bank, shall be pledged and bound in proportion to the amount of the shares that each individual or company may hold in said bank, for the ultimate redemption of the bills or notes issued by or from said bank, during the time he, she, or they may hold such stock, in the same manner as in common commercial cases, or simple cases of debt; and that the State be pledged for the ultimate redemption of the bills or notes of said bank, in proportion to the amount of the value of shares that shall or may be subscribed for and held by the said State.

Personal responsibility of the Directors, in the same manner as common commercial cases. 191. Sec. VIII. No stockholder shall be permitted to borrow money from said bank upon the faith or pledge of their stock, but shall be subjected to the same rules and regulations in borrowing money therefrom as any other customer of said bank.

Stockholders not to borrow money on the faith of stock. 192. Sec. IX. If the stock herein reserved to the State should not be taken within the time herein limited, that the same shall be disposed of in such manner as the directors for the time being may point out for the benefit of said corporation; and in like manner, should the capital of said bank be hereafter increased as contemplated by this act, the said increased stock shall be disposed of for the benefit of said corporation, in such manner as the said directors for the time being may think proper, or as a majority of the stockholders may direct.

Stock if not taken by the State, and future stock how disposed of.

An Act to amend an act, entitled an act to establish and incorporate an insurance company in the city of Savannah, to be called the Marine and Fire Insurance Company of the city of Savannah, and to grant banking powers to the same.—Approved Dec. 20th, 1825. Vol. IV. 75.

193. From and after the passage of this act, the Marine and Fire Insurance Company of the city of Savannah shall be known by the name and style of "the Marine and Fire Insurance Bank of the State of Georgia;" and the said company, with all such persons as are now, or may hereafter become stockholders in said company, be, and they are incorporated, hereby made a body politic, by the name and style aforesaid, and so shall continue, together with all and singular the privileges, rights, and immunities granted heretofore to the Marine and Fire Insurance Company of the city of Savannah: the board of directors, for the time being, shall have power to elect a cashier and such other officers and clerks under them as shall be necessary and proper for executing the business of the said corporation, and to allow them such compensation for their services respectively, as shall to them appear fit and proper; and shall be capable of exercising such other powers and authorities, for the well governing and ordering of the affairs of the said corporation, as to them shall appear conducive to the interests of the institution.

Known as the Marine and Fire Insurance [Bank] of the State of Georgia.

The Directors may elect officers, and do other acts.

194. Sec. II. The bills obligatory and of credit, notes, and other contracts whatever, shall be binding and obligatory upon said corporation; Provided, the same be signed by the president, and countersigned or attested by the cashier of the said corporation; and the funds of the corporation shall in no case be held liable for any contract or engagement whatever, unless the same shall be so signed and countersigned or attested as aforesaid; and the books, papers, and correspondence, and the funds of the corporation, shall at all times be subject to the inspection of the board of directors and stockholders when convened.

Bills, &c. binding on the corporation. Provided they are properly signed.

195. Sec. III. Before the said corporation shall exercise any of the rights, privileges, and immunities hereby granted, the said corporation shall have bona fide one hundred thousand dollars in specie actually deposited in their vaults; which amount of specie shall, upon the declaration under oath of the president or cashier of said corporation, that the said specie is unconditionally the property of the said corporation, be certified by two or more justices of the Inferior Court of Chatham county, under the seal of the said court, which shall be transmitted to the governor for the time being; when the said corporation shall be allowed to issue bank bills or notes to three times the amount of the said specie so deposited, and to possess, exercise, and enjoy all the rights, privileges, and immunities of an incorporated banking company; subject, nevertheless, to the restrictions and penalties hereinafter mentioned: and upon the increase of said specie or its equivalent, certified as before provided, the said corporation shall have full power to increase their issue of bank notes in the same proportion as before directed to the amount of said increase; Provided always, that nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to authorize the issue of a larger amount of bank notes than three times the amount of the capital stock of the said corporation.

Before the corporation can exercise any of the rights and privileges, they must have $100,000 in specie, unconditionally, and certified by the clerk of the Inferior Court of Chatham.

Upon an increase of specie, may increase issues Provided—may issue to three times the amount of stock.

196. Sec. IV. If the said corporation shall fail or refuse promptly to redeem, when demanded, any one or more of its bank bills or notes, upon proof of the same by and under the seal of any public notary being had and obtained; then and in that case the said corporation shall forfeit all and singular the rights, privileges, and immunities hereby granted; and the owner or holder of every such bank bill or note issued by the said corporation, the payment of which shall have been refused upon demand, shall be entitled to sue for and recover, over and above the principal and interest accruing from the time of such refusal, ten per cent. damages; and for each and every bank bill or note issued by the said corporation after such refusal of payment on demand, the said corporation shall, upon conviction of the same in any court having competent jurisdiction thereof, forfeit and pay, over and above the principal, interest, and costs of suit, fifty per cent. damages upon the amount of said bank bills or notes; one-half for the use of the State, and the other to the informer.

Failure to pay specie, or to redeem their bills, is a forfeiture.

197. Sec. V. It shall be the duty of said corporation to make an annual report of its condition, issue of notes, &c. in the same mode and manner as is now required by law of the other banks, to the general assembly.

198. Sec. VI. The said corporation have permission, and be allowed and authorized to establish a branch of the said bank at the town of Macon, with the consent of a majority of the stockholders, subject to the control, regulation, and direction of the said corporation.

199. Sec. VII. The persons and property of the present and all future stockholders, who may hereafter become stockholders by a transfer of stock in the Marine and Fire Insurance Company of the city of Savannah, or Marine and Fire Insurance Bank of the State of Georgia, shall be pledged and bound in proportion to the amount of the value of share or shares that each individual or company hold, possess, are interested in, or entitled to in the said Marine and Fire Insurance Company of the city of Savannah, or the Marine and Fire Insurance Bank of the State of Georgia, for the ultimate redemption of all notes or bills issued, or that may be hereafter issued by and from the said Marine and Fire Insurance Company of the city of Savannah, or the Marine and Fire Insurance Bank of the State of Georgia, in the same manner as in common commercial cases or simple actions of debt.

200. Sec. VIII. That upon the expiration of the charter of the aforesaid Marine and Fire Insurance Company, as provided for, all and singular the rights, privileges, and immunities herein granted to the said Marine and Fire Insurance Bank of the State of Georgia shall also cease and determine.

An Act to amend an Act, entitled An Act to amend an Act, entitled An Act to establish and incorporate an insurance company in the city of Savannah, to be called the Marine and Fire Insurance Company of the city of Savannah, and to grant banking powers to the same, passed on the 20th of December, 1825; and also, to regulate intercourse between the several chartered banks and branch banks in this State, so far as relates to demand of payment from one another of the notes issued by them respectively.—This act approved Dec. 24, 1827. Vol. IV. 80.

201. If the said Marine and Fire Insurance Bank of the State of Georgia shall at any time refuse or neglect to pay and redeem any of its notes or bills, when payment thereof shall have been demanded of the said bank, through its proper officer, that then, and in such case, the persons and property of all and every persons or person who shall or may be stockholders in the said bank at the time when such demand shall have been made, shall be liable and bound to the extent of the value of the share or shares of the stock so held by such persons or person, for the eventual payment and redemption of the notes or bills of the said bank, which it shall neglect or refuse to pay in manner aforesaid.

202. Sec. II. When any demand shall be made upon the said Marine and Fire Insurance Bank of the State of Georgia, by any other bank, to redeem any one or more of its bank bills or notes in terms of the fourth section of the aforesaid in part recited act, that it shall and may be lawful for the said Marine and Fire Insurance Bank to tender in payment to such other bank its own notes and bills, which tender shall relieve the said Marine and Fire Insurance Bank of the State of Georgia from the penalties and forfeitures mentioned in the said fourth section of the said in part recited act.

Regulating the intercourse between the Fire Insurance Bank, and other Banks.

203. Sec. III. If any persons or person, copartnership, or body politic, shall at any time hereafter refuse or neglect to pay into the said bank any instalment of the amount due by such persons or person, copartnership, or body politic, on the stock held or owned by such persons or person, copartnership, or body politic, the shares or share upon which such failure shall happen or accrue, shall be forfeited to the use of the said bank, and may be again sold and disposed of for the use and benefit thereof; Provided, that sixty days' previous notice of the time within which, and the place where such payment is required to be made, be published in at least one public gazette of Savannah, Augusta, and Milledgeville.

What shall be done in cases of refusal to pay any instalments due for shares.

Forfeiture thereof.

Proviso.

204. Sec. IV. Dividends of the profits of the said bank, or of so much thereof as shall be deemed expedient and proper, shall be declared and paid half-yearly; and the said dividends shall from time to time be determined by a majority of the directors, at a meeting to be held for that purpose, and shall in no case exceed the amount of the net profits actually acquired by the company, so that the capital stock thereof shall never be impaired by dividends.

Dividends to be declared half-yearly.

Capital stock not to be diminished.

205. Sec. V. Whenever any chartered bank, or the branch of any chartered bank, of this State, by its officer, agent, or other person, shall demand payment of the notes of another chartered bank, or of the notes of any branch of any chartered bank, it shall be lawful for the bank or branch bank of which payment may be demanded to redeem its notes with, and tender in payment of the same, the notes of the bank or branch bank making the demand: and if the bank or branch bank making the demand shall refuse to take its own notes in payment of the notes of the bank or branch bank on which the demand may be made, it shall not be lawful for the bank or branch bank so refusing to receive its own notes in payment, to recover from the bank or branch bank making the tender of them interest upon the amount of the notes for the payment of which it refused its own notes, or cost of suit: Provided, nevertheless, that if the payment of the notes of any chartered bank or branch of any chartered bank of this State shall be made by the branch of any other chartered bank of this State, the branch making the demand shall not be compelled to receive in payment any notes but such as are made payable at the branch bank making the demand, and for refusal to receive any other than the notes liable to be redeemed by it, the principal bank of which it is a branch shall not incur the penalty herein before prescribed; and provided further, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to extend to any individual making demand of any bank or branch bank for payment of its notes: but if the cashier of any bank or branch bank shall suspect that any individual is demanding payment of its notes, and that the

What shall be redeeming the notes of any Bank of the State when a demand shall be made.

In default, interest.

Proviso. Regulations when there are branch Banks.

No part of this section to affect individuals.

same belong to another bank or branch bank, then the cashier may refuse payment, until affidavit be made by the person making the demand, that the note or notes presented by him for payment is not the property of any bank or branch bank, but his own, or of some individual for whom he is agent.

When to affect branches.

206. Sec. VI. The benefits intended by this act shall not extend to any bank having a branch or branches, unless the notes issued by its branch or branches shall express in the face of them, that they will be paid at the branch from which they issue.

Repealing clause.

That all acts or parts of acts militating against the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

An Act to incorporate a Bank in the Town of Columbus, to be called the Farmers' Bank of Chattahoochie.—Approved Dec. 20, 1830. Pam. 26.

Capital, $300,000.

207. A bank shall be established in the Town of Columbus, the capital stock whereof, shall be $300,000, to be divided into shares of $100 each, with the privilege of increasing the capital at any time the stockholders may desire it, to the sum of $600,000, which increased capital shall be divided into shares of $100 each.

Sec. II. [Opening the books, &c. temporary.]

Shares forfeited in default of payment.

208. Sec. III. If there shall be a failure in the payment of any sum subscribed for by any person, copartnership or body politic, when the same is required to be paid by this act, or when it shall be required to be paid by the directors, the share or shares upon which such failure shall happen or accrue, shall be, for such failure, forfeited and may be again sold and disposed of in such manner as the directors shall order and provide, and the proceeds from such sale, together with the sum or sums, which may have been paid thereon, shall enure to the benefit of said corporation.

Incorporated.

209. Sec. IV. All those who shall become subscribers to the said bank, their successors and assigns, shall be, and they are hereby created and constituted a corporation and body politic, by the name and style of "The Farmers' Bank of Chattahoochie" and by that name, shall be, and are hereby made, able and capable in law, to have, hold, purchase, receive, possess, enjoy and retain, to them and their successors, lands, rents, tenements, hereditaments, goods, chattels, and effects, of whatsoever kind, nature or quality the same may be; and the same to sell, grant, demise, alien and dispose of; to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, answer and be answered unto, defend and be defended in courts of record, and other places; and also to make, use, and have a common seal, and the same to alter, break and renew at their pleasure; and also to ordain, establish and put in execution such by-laws, rules and regulations as seem necessary and convenient for the government of said corporation; Provided, that such by-laws, rules and regulations be not contrary to the constitution and laws of this State, or of the United States, and generally to do and execute, all and singular, such acts, matters and things, as to them shall or may appertain, subject nevertheless, to the rules, regulations, restrictions, limitations and provisions, hereinafter prescribed.

Five Directors.

210. Sec. V. For the well ordering of the affairs of said corporation, there shall be five directors, who shall be elected as soon as gold or silver coin, or bills of the bank of the United States to the amount of $50,000 of the subscription for the said stock, shall have been received; and in each and every year thereafter, the directors shall be chosen by the stockholders or proprietors of the capital stock of said corporation, when a plurality of votes given in, shall be required to make a choice, and those who shall be duly chosen at any election, shall be capable of serving as directors by virtue of such choice, until the end or expiration of the first Monday in November next, ensuing the time of such election and no longer; and the said directors at their first meeting after each election, shall choose one of their own members as president, and in case of his death, resignation, removal from this State, or from the board of direction, the said directors shall proceed to fill the vacancy by a new election for the remainder of the year. [Commencing operations—temporary.] And provided further, that in case it should happen that an election for directors should not be made upon any day, when pursuant to this act, it ought to have been made, the said corporation shall not for that cause, be deemed to be dissolved, but it shall be lawful on any other day, to hold and make an election of directors in such manner as shall have been pointed out by the rules and regulations of the said corporation; And provided, that in case of the death, resignation or absence from the State of a director, his place may be filled up by a new choice made by the remaining directors for the remainder of the year.

To be elected by the stockholders.

President.

Vacancy.

Failure of elections.

Vacancy.

211. Sec. VI. The directors for the time being, shall have power and authority to appoint such officers and clerks under them as shall be necessary for executing the business of the said corporation and allow them such compensation for their services respectively, as shall be reasonable; and shall be capable of exercising such other powers and authorities for the well governing and ordering the affairs of said corporation, as to them shall appear conducive to the interest of the institution.

Directors may appoint officers.

212. Sec. VII. The following rules, regulations, limitations and provisions, shall form and be fundamental articles of the constitution of said corporation.

Rules.

1st. The number of votes to which each stockholder shall be entitled shall be according to the number of shares, he shall hold, each share to be entitled to one vote: Provided, That no share or shares shall confer a right of suffrage, which shall not have been holden at least three calendar months previously to the day of election, and unless it be holden by the person in whose name it appears absolutely, and bona fide, in his own right, or in that of his wife, and for his, or her own benefit and use, or as executor, administrator or guardian, or in the right and use of some copartnership, corporation or society of which he or she may be a member, and not in trust for, or to the use of any other person; any stockholder being absent, may authorize by power of attorney under seal, any other person to vote for him, her or them.

Each share one vote.

2d. None but a stockholder entitled in his own right to thirty shares, and being a citizen of the State and not a director in any other bank or branch bank, shall be eligible as a director; and if any one of the directors after being elected shall cease to be a stockholder, his seat shall thereupon, become vacated, and the remaining directors, or a majority of them, shall at their next meeting pass an order declaring him to be no longer a director.

Qualification of Directors.

3d. The stockholders shall make such compensation to the president, for his services, as shall to them appear reasonable.

President's pay.

4th. Not less than three directors, shall constitute a board for the transaction of business, of whom the president shall always be one, except in cases of sickness or necessary absence, in which case, his place may be supplied by any director, appointed by the directors present for that purpose.

Three Directors a board.

Called meetings.

5th. A number of stockholders not less than ten, who together shall be proprietors of five hundred shares at least, shall have power to call a meeting, at any time, of the stockholders, for purposes relative to the institution, giving at least sixty days' notice, in a public gazette at Columbus, Macon, Milledgeville and Augusta, specifying in such notice the object or objects of meeting.

Cashier's
bond.

6th. The cashier of the bank for the time being, before he enters upon the duties of his office, shall give bond with two or more securities, to the satisfaction of the directors, in a sum not less than $20,000 with condition for his good behavior, and the faithful discharge of his duties.

What real estate may be held by the Bank.

7th. The lands, tenements and hereditaments, which it shall be lawful, for the said corporation to hold, shall be only such as shall be required for its immediate accommodation, in relation to the convenient transaction of business, and such as shall have been bona fide, mortgaged to it as security, or conveyed to it in satisfaction of debts previously contracted, in the course of its dealings, or purchased at sales made under judgments which shall have been obtained for such debts, which said lands and tenements conveyed to it, in satisfaction of debts, or purchased at sales upon judgments obtained by said corporation, shall not be held or remain in possession of said corporation, for more than twelve months after said conveyance.

May owe
three times the amount of capital paid in. Directors liable for excess.

8th. The total amount of debts which the said corporation shall at any time owe whether by bond, bill, note or other security, shall not exceed three times the amount of their capital stock actually paid in, over and above the amount of specie actually deposited in the vaults for safe keeping. In case of excess, the directors under whose administration it shall happen, shall be liable for the same in their individual, natural and private capacities, and an action of debt or on the case, may in such case be brought against them, or any of them, their, or any of their heirs, executors or administrators in any court of record in the United States, having competent jurisdiction, or either of them, by any creditor or creditors, of the said corporation, and may be prosecuted to judgment and execution, any condition, covenant, or agreement to the contrary notwithstanding. But this shall not be construed to exempt the said corporation or the lands, tenements, goods and chattels of the same from being also liable for, and chargeable with the said excess; and such of the said directors, who may have been absent when the said excess was contracted or created, or who may have dissented from the resolution or act, whereby the same was so created or contracted, may respectively exonerate themselves from being so liable by having their dissent, if present, entered on the minutes of the said corporation.

Certificates
of stock
transferable.

9th. The directors shall have power to issue to the subscribers their certificates of stock, which shall be transferable on the books of the cashier only, by personal entry of the stockholder, his legal representative or attorney, duly authorized by special power for that purpose.

Shall not be concerned in commerce,
&c.

10th. The corporation shall in no case directly or indirectly be concerned in commerce or insurance, or in the importation or exportation, purchase or sale of any goods, wares or merchandize, (bills of exchange, notes and bullion only excepted,) except such goods, wares and merchandize, as shall be truly transferred, conveyed or pledged to them, by way of security, for money actually loaned and advanced, or for debts due, or owing, or growing due, to the said corporation, or purchased by them, to secure such debts so due to the said corporation, or to effect the insurance on the property that may belong to, or be pledged to the said company for its security.

11th. The bills obligatory and of credit, notes and other contracts whatever, on the behalf of said corporation, shall be binding and obligatory on said company: Provided, The same be signed by the president, and countersigned by the cashier of said corporation; and the funds of the said corporation, shall in no case be held liable for any contract or engagement whatever, unless the same shall be so signed, and countersigned, or attested as aforesaid, and the books, papers and correspondence, and the funds of the company, shall at all times be subject to the inspection of the board of directors and stockholders, when convened according to the provisions of this act.

Bills, &c. how to be signed.

12th. The dividends of the profits of the corporation, or of so much thereof, as shall be deemed expedient and proper, shall be declared and paid half yearly, (the first half after the bank shall go into operation excepted,) and the said dividends shall from time to time, be determined by a majority of the directors, at a meeting, to be held for that purpose, and shall in no case exceed the amount of the actual profits acquired by the corporation, so that the capital stock thereof, shall never be impaired.

Dividends.

13th. The directors shall keep fair and regular entries in a book to be provided for that purpose, of their proceedings, and on any question when the directors shall require it, the yeas and nays of the directors voting, shall be duly entered on their minutes, and those minutes be at all times subject to the view of the stockholders when at a general meeting, the same shall be required.

Book of entries.

14th. The corporation shall exist and continue until the first day of January, 1862, and immediately after the dissolution of said corporation, effectual measures shall be taken by the directors last appointed, and acting, for closing all the concerns of the company, and for dividing the capital stock and profits, which may then remain among the stockholders, according to their respective interests.

Charter exists till
Jan. 1, 1862.

15th. The persons and property of the stockholders for the time being in said bank, shall be pledged and bound in proportion to the amount of the shares, that each individual, or company may hold in said bank, for the ultimate redemption of the bills, or notes issued by, or from said bank, during the time he, she, or they, may hold such stock, in the same manner as in ordinary commercial cases, or simple cases of debt.

Stockholders bound to the amount of their shares.

213. Sec. VIII. No stockholder shall be permitted to borrow money from said bank, upon the faith, or pledge of their stock, but shall be subjected to the same rules and regulations in borrowing money, therefrom, as any other customer of the bank.

Not to borrow money
on stock.

214. Sec. IX. Should the capital of said bank, be hereafter increased as contemplated by this act, the said increased capital stock shall be disposed of, for the benefit of said corporation, in such manner as the directors, for the time being, may think proper, or as a majority of the stockholders may direct.

Increased
capital.

215. Sec. X. Any bank, or the branches of bank, either by themselves, or their agents, who may make a demand of specie from said bank, shall be compelled to receive the bills of the bank, or of the branches making demand, in payment.

Banks to receive their own bills.

216. Sec. XI. The directors are hereby authorized to establish one, or more offices of discount and deposit, (not exceeding three,) at such place, or places, as they may select in this State, for the purpose of discount and deposit only, and upon the same terms, and in the same manner as shall be practiced at the bank, which shall be practiced at the bank which shall be established in Columbus, and to commit the management of said office, or offices, and the making of the said

Branches
may be established.

discounts, to such persons under such agreements, and subject to such regulations as they shall deem proper, not being contrary to law, or to the constitution of the bank.

Shall receive its own bills,
&c.

217. Sec. XII. In all cases of exchange of paper between the said Farmers Bank of Chattahoochie, and any other bank, person or persons, the said bank shall be bound to receive its own bills when tendered, and that the penalties imposed upon other banks of this State, for failure to redeem its bills in specie, shall attach and appertain to the said Farmers Bank of Chattahoochie.

An Act, to Incorporate a Banking Company in the City of Augusta.
Approved Dec. 21, 1830. Pam. 34.

Capital,
$200,000.

218. A bank shall be established in the city of Augusta, the capital stock whereof, shall be $200,000, to be divided into shares, of $100 each; and also with the privilege of increasing the said capital at any time thereafter, as the stockholders may desire, to the sum of $400,000, to be divided into shares as aforesaid.

Sec. II. [Requiring books to be opened, &c.—temporary.]

Stockholders forfeit on non-payment.

219. Sec. III. If there shall be a failure in the payment of any sum subscribed by any person, copartnership, or body politic, when the same is required to be paid by this act, or when it shall be required to be paid by the directors, the share, or shares, upon which such failure shall happen, or accrue, shall be for such failure forfeited, and may be again sold, or disposed of in such manner, as the directors shall order, or provide, and the proceeds from such sale, together with the sum, or sums which may have been paid thereon, shall revert to the benefit of said corporation.

Incorporated.

Corporate
powers.

220. Sec. IV. All those who shall become subscribers, to the said bank, their successors and assigns, shall be, they are hereby created, and constituted a body politic, by the name and style of "The Mechanics Bank," and by that name shall be, and are hereby made able and capable in law, to have, purchase, receive, possess, enjoy, and retain to them, and their successors, lands, rents, tenements, hereditaments, goods, chattels, and effects of whatsoever kind, nature, or quality the same may be, and the same to sell, grant, demise, alien, or dispose of, to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, answer and be answered, defend and be defended, in courts of record, or any other place whatsoever; and also, to make and have a common seal, and the same to break, alter and renew at their pleasure; and also, to ordain, establish, and put in execution, such by-laws, rules and regulations, as shall be necessary and convenient, for the government of the said corporation: Provided, That such by-laws, rules and regulations, be not contrary to the laws and constitution of this State, or of the United States, and generally to do, and execute all such acts, matters and things as to them may, or shall appertain, subject nevertheless, to the rules, regulations, restrictions, limitations and provisions herein prescribed.

Nine Directors.

221. Sec. V. For the well ordering of the affairs of the said corporation, there shall be nine directors, who shall be elected as soon as gold and silver coin, to the amount of twenty per cent. of the subscriptions for said stock, shall have been received, and in each and every year thereafter, the directors shall be chosen by the stockholders, or proprietors of the capital stock of said corporation, when a plurality of votes given in, shall be required to make a choice; and those who shall be duly chosen at any election shall be capable of serving as directors, by virtue of such choice, until the end of the first Monday in January next, ensuing the time of such election, and no longer, and the said directors at their first meeting after each election, shall choose one of their number as president, and in case of his death, resignation, removal from the State, or from the board of direction, the said directors shall proceed to fill the vacancy, by a new election for the remainder of the year. [Commencement of operations—temporary.] And provided further, That in case it should at any time happen that an election of directors should not be made upon any day when pursuant to this act, it ought to have been made, the said corporation shall not for that cause, be deemed to be dissolved; but it shall be lawful on any other day to hold, and make an election of directors in such manner, as shall have been regulated by the rules and by-laws of said corporation: And provided, That in case of the death, resignation, absence from the State, or removal of a director, his place may be filled up by a new choice for the remainder of the year by the remaining directors.

How to be elected.

President.
Vacancy.

Failure of
elections.

222. Sec. VI. The directors for the time being, shall have power to appoint such officers and clerks under them, as shall be necessary, for executing the business of the said corporation, and to allow them such compensation for their services respectively, as shall be reasonable, and shall be capable of exercising such other powers and authorities, for the well governing and ordering the affairs of the said corporation, as to them, shall appear conducive to the interest of the same.

Appointment of officers.

223. Sec. VII. The following rules, regulations, limitations, and provisions, shall form and be fundamental articles of the constitution of the said corporation.

Rules.

1st. The number of votes to which each stockholder shall be entitled, shall be according to the number of shares he shall hold; each share to be entitled to one vote: Provided, That no share, or shares, shall confer a right of suffrage, which shall not have been holden three calendar months previously to the day of election, and unless it be holden by the person, in whose name it appears absolutely and bona fide in his own right, or in that of his wife, and for his or her sole use and benefit, or as executor, administrator, or guardian, or in the right and use of some copartnership, corporation, or society, of which he or she may be a member, and not in trust for, or to the use of any other person; any stockholder being absent, may authorise any other person, a citizen of the United States, by power of attorney, under seal, to vote for him, or her.

Each share
one vote.

How holden.

2d. None but a stockholder entitled in his own right, to ten shares, and being a citizen of the State, and not being a director, for any other bank, shall be eligible as a director, and if any one of the directors after being elected, shall at any time, during the term for which he shall have been chosen, cease to be a stockholder, his seat shall thereupon become vacated, and the remaining directors, or a majority of them, shall at their next meeting, pass an order, declaring him no longer to be a director.

Qualification
of Directors.

3d. The directors shall make such compensation to the president, for his services, as shall appear to them reasonable.

President's pay.

4th. Not less than five directors, shall constitute a board, for the transaction of business, of whom the president shall always be one except in case of sickness or necessary absence, in which case his seat may be supplied by any director appointed by the board of directors present for that purpose.

Five Directors to form a board.

5th. A number of stockholders, not less than twenty, who together, shall be proprietors of two hundred shares, or upwards, shall have power at any time, to call a meeting of stockholders, for purposes relative to the institution, giving at least sixty days' notice, in one of the

Who may call a meeting of stockholders.

public gazettes of the city of Augusta, specifying in such notice the object of such meeting.

Cashier's bond.

6th. The cashier or treasurer of the bank, before he enters upon the duties of his office, shall give bond with two or more securities, to the satisfaction of the directors, in a sum not less than twenty thousand dollars, with condition for his good behavior, and the faithful discharge of his duties.

What real estate may be held by the Bank.

7th. The lands, tenements, and hereditaments, which it shall be lawful for the said corporation to hold, shall be only such, as shall be requisite for its immediate accommodation, in relation to the convenient transaction of business, and such as shall have been bona fide, mortgaged to it as security, or conveyed to it, in satisfaction of debts, previously contracted in the course of its dealings, or purchased at sales upon judgments, which shall have been obtained for such debts.

May owe three times the amount of its capital.

8th. The total amount of debts which the said corporation, shall at any time, owe either by bond, bill, note, or contract, shall not exceed three times the amount of their capital stock, over and above the amount of specie, actually deposited in their vaults for safe keeping.

Stockholders ultimately bound.

The persons and property of the stockholders, for the time being in said bank, shall be pledged and bound in proportion, to the amount of the shares, that each individual, or company, may hold in said bank, for the ultimate redemption of the bills, or notes, issued by, or from said bank, during the time he, she, or they may hold such stock, in the same manner, as in common commercial cases, or simple cases of debt.

Certificates of stock transferable.

The directors, shall have power to issue to the subscribers, their certificates of stock, signed by their president, and countersigned by their cashier, which shall be transferable on the books of their cashier, only by personal entry of the stockholder, his legal representative, or attorney, duly authorised by special power for that purpose.

Shall not be concerned in commerce, &c.

The company shall in no case, directly, or indirectly, be concerned in commerce, or insurance, or in the importation, or exportation, purchase, or sale, of any goods, wares, or merchandise whatever, (bills of exchange, notes, and bullion only excepted,) except such goods, wares, or merchandise, as shall be truly transferred, conveyed, or pledged to them by way of security, for money actually loaned and advanced, or debts due, owing, or growing due to the said corporation, or purchased by them, to secure such debts, so due to the said corporation, or to effect the insurance, on the property that may belong, or be thus pledged to the said company for its security.

Bills, &c. how to be signed.

The bills obligatory and of credit, notes, and other contracts whatever, on the behalf of the said corporation, shall be binding, and obligatory upon the said company: Provided, The same be signed by the president, and countersigned, or attested by the cashier of the said corporation, and the funds of the said corporation, shall in no case be liable for any contract, or engagement whatever, unless the same shall be so signed, and countersigned, or attested as aforesaid; and the books, papers, and correspondence, and the funds of the company, shall at all times be subject to the inspection of the board of directors and stockholders, when convened according to the provisions of this act.

Dividends.

Dividends of the profits of the corporation, or of so much thereof, as shall be deemed expedient and proper, shall be declared, and paid half yearly, (the first half after the bank shall have been in operation excepted,) and the said dividends, shall from time to time, be determined by a majority of directors, at a meeting to be held for that purpose, and shall in no case exceed the amount of the net profits, actually acquired by the corporation, so that the capital stock thereof shall never be impaired.

The directors shall keep fair and regular entries in a book to be provided for that purpose, of their proceedings, and on any question, when two directors shall require it, the yeas and nays of the directors voting, shall be inserted on their minutes, and those minutes be at all times on demand, produced to the stockholders at their general meetings.

The corporation shall exist, and continue until the first day of January, 1860, and immediately after the dissolution of the same, effectual measures shall be taken by the directors last appointed and acting, for closing all the concerns of the company, and for dividing the capital and profits which may remain then among the stockholders according to their respective interests.

224. Sec. IX. No stockholder shall be permitted to borrow money from the said bank, upon the faith, or pledge of their stock, but shall be subjected to the same rules and regulations, in borrowing money therefrom, as any other customer of said bank.

Sec. X. [Temporary.]

An Act, to amend an act entitled An Act, to incorporate a banking company, in the city of Augusta, passed on the 21st day of December, in the year 1830.—This act approved Dec. 30th, 1836. Pam. 39.

Sec. I. The stockholders of the Mechanics' Bank, which is in the city of Augusta, or as many as may represent a majority of the stock of said bank, be, and they are hereby authorised, at a meeting of the stockholders of said bank, to be called after the passage of this act, in pursuance of the fifth rule prescribed in said act of incorporation, be, and they are hereby authorised, to increase the capital stock of said bank, to the sum of one million of dollars.

COMMERCIAL BANK.

An Act to incorporate a banking company, under the name of "The Commercial Bank of Macon."—Approved Dec. 22d, 1831. Pam. 25.

Whereas, a number of the citizens of Macon, and its vicinity, have voluntarily associated themselves together, for the purpose of forming a bank at Macon, the capital stock of which has already been subscribed for, and in the subscription of which no one individual or copartnership of individuals has been allowed to subscribe for more than one hundred shares: And whereas, the stock for said contemplated bank has been subscribed for, under such restrictions, as utterly to prevent a monopoly of the stock of said bank; and whereas, the subscribers for said stock, by their memorial to the legislature, have prayed to be perpetuated, and brought into legal existence by being incorporated, and established by law, with perpetual succession, under the name of "The Commercial Bank at Macon:" And whereas, it is deemed expedient that the said company be incorporated under proper restriction; therefore,

225. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That Thomas T. Napier, A. R. Freeman, J. Cowles, Wm. Cooke, Levi Eckley, E. L. Young, Jeremiah Pearson, H. Blair, William Barker, T. L. Smith, J. S. Smith, A. P. Patrick, A. Shotwell, John Martin, James Goddard, Benjamin

H. Reed, Thomas M. Ellis, R. W. Fort, Nathan C. Munroe, John B. Wick, David Ralston, John L. Jones, L. H. Hamilton, C. S. Hamilton, William B. Cone, William Melrose, David Kidd, Geo. Smith, James Lamar, Charles Williamson, Carlton B. Cole, Charles Campbell, Thomas Napier, Oliver Sage, Jacob Shotwell, John Hollingsworth, James Williams, Geo. Jewett, M. Bartlett, Thomas Woolfolk, Thomas B. Ward, Lewis L. Griffin, J. T. Persons, John S. Childers, E. W. Wright, U. J. Bullock, Geo. B. Wardlaw, David Flanders, R. Turner, N. B. Thompson, John Carter, Benj. Fort, Lyman Burnap, Lewis P. Harwell, John L. Blackburn, Lewis Fitch, Wm. J. Rice, E. Calhoun, Samuel Griswold, H. H. Tarver, Henry Solomon, Alford Clopton, Charles Collins, H. S. Cutter, R. Harvey, Randall Jones, Erastus Graves, Rufus R. Graves, Michael Kelly, George Wood, Edward D. Tracy, Roger McCarthy, L. Baldwin, Andrews Battle, M. Felton, Joseph S. Ellis, Scott Cray, Warren Phelps, with all such persons as may hereafter become stockholders in the said company, be, and they are hereby incorporated and made a body politic, by the name and style of "The Commercial Bank at Macon," and so shall continue until the first day of January, 1852, and by that name shall be, and are hereby made able and capable in law, to have, purchase, receive, possess, enjoy and retain to them, and their successors, lands, rents, tenements, hereditaments, goods, chattels, and effects, of what kind, nature or quality soever, and the same to sell, grant, demise, alien or dispose of, to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, answer and be answered, defend and be defended, in courts of record in this State, and also to make, have, and use a common seal, and the same to break, alter, and renew, at their pleasure; and also to ordain, establish, and put in execution, such by-laws, ordinances, and regulations, as shall seem necessary and convenient for the government of the said corporation, not being contrary to the laws or the constitution of this State or of the United States, or repugnant to the fundamental rules of this corporation, and generally to do and execute all and singular, such acts, matters, and things, which to them it shall or may appertain to do, subject nevertheless, to the rules, regulations, restrictions, limitations, and provisions, hereinafter prescribed and declared.

Incorporated
till Jan. 1, 1852.
Corporate
powers.

Stock, how to be paid in.

226. Sec. II. The subscribers to the capital stock of said bank, be, and they are hereby required to pay five per cent. of the amount of their subscription by the tenth day of January, 1832; and twenty per cent. by the twentieth day of January, 1832; and the remainder of their subscriptions in such sums and at such times as the board of directors of said bank, after they shall have organized, for the discharge of the duties devolving on them as such, shall require.

Not to issue bills till $100,000 in specie is in the vault.

227. Sec. III. [Directing preparatory measures. All temporary, except the following proviso.] That the directors of said bank, shall not be authorised to issue any bills or notes, until the sum of one hundred thousand dollars in gold or silver coin, shall have been actually received on account of the subscriptions of the said stock, and deposited in said bank.

Forfeited stock how disposed of.

228. Sec. IV. If any subscriber or subscribers to the capital stock of the said bank, shall refuse or neglect to comply with the stipulations specified in the second section of this act, then, and in that case, every and all such amounts of stock on which an instalment is due and unpaid, shall be forfeited to the company, and the board of directors shall immediately proceed to sell all such stock so forfeited to any person or persons, who may apply for the same: Provided, That it shall not be lawful for them, the said directors, to sell such stock to any person or persons, who are at the time of applying for the same, owners in their own rights of one hundred shares of the stock of said bank. Nor shall it be lawful for the said directors to sell more than one hundred shares of the said stock to any one individual or copartnership.

229. Sec. V. The capital stock of said bank, shall consist of four hundred thousand dollars, divided into four thousand shares of one hundred dollars each. Capital stock $400,000.

230. Sec. VI. For the well ordering of the affairs of the said corporation, there shall be nine* directors, who shall be elected annually on the first Monday of February of each year, by the stockholders, or the proprietors of the capital stock of said corporation, when a majority of votes given in shall be required to make a choice. The first election to take place on the first Monday in February, 1832—And those who shall be duly chosen, shall be capable of serving as directors by virtue of such choice, until the end or expiration of the first Monday in February next ensuing the time of such election, and no longer; and the said directors at their first meeting after such election, shall choose one of their number president, and in case of his death, resignation, removal from the State or from the board of directors, the said directors shall proceed to fill the vacancy by a new election for the remainder of the year, and in case it shall at any time happen that an election of directors should not be made upon any day, when pursuant to this act, it ought to have been made, the said corporation shall not for that cause, be deemed to be dissolved, but it shall be lawful on any other day, to hold and make an election of directors, in such manner as shall have been regulated by the rules and by-laws of the said corporation: and provided, that in case of the death, resignation, absence from the State, or removal of a director, his place may be filled by a new choice for the remainder of the year, by the remaining directors. Nine Directors.
How elected.

President.
Vacancy.

231. Sec. VII. The board of directors for the time being, shall have power to elect a cashier and such other officers and clerks under them, as shall be necessary for executing the business of the company, and to allow them such compensation for their services respectively as they may deem reasonable; and shall be capable of exercising such other powers and authorities, of making, revising, altering or annulling, all such by-laws and regulations for the government of the said company, and that of their officers and affairs, as they or a majority of them, shall from time to time think expedient, not inconsistent with law, and to use, employ, and dispose of the joint stock, funds, or property of the company (subject only to the restrictions herein contained) as to them or a majority of them shall seem expedient. Directors may appoint Cashier and other officers.

May make
by-laws.

232. Sec. VIII. The cashier, before he enters on the duties of his office, shall be required to give bond with two or more securities to the satisfaction of the directors, in such sum as they may by their by-laws order and direct, from time to time, with condition for the faithful performance of his duties; and the president, cashier, and other officers of the bank, shall take the following oath on entering on the duties of their respective offices: I, A. B. do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of president, cashier, or other officer, (as the case may be,) of the Commercial Bank at Macon, which oath shall be subscribed and entered on the minutes. Cashier's bond and oath.

233. Sec. IX. The following rules, regulations, limitations, and provisions, shall form and be fundamental articles of the constitution of the said corporation. Rules.

* Reduced to five. See Sec. 319.

Each share entitled to one vote as far as to 100.

Shares how held to confer the right of voting.

Lists made out and exhibited to prevent division of shares.

Stockholder's path on voting.

Oath of proxy, &c.

Qualification of Director.

President's pay.

Five Directors to make a board.

Who may call meetings of stockholders, and how.

What real estate the bank may hold.

Rule 1st. The number of votes, in electing directors, to which each stockholder shall be entitled, shall be according to the number of shares he shall hold, each share to be entitled to one vote, from one, to one hundred shares. But no stockholder shall be entitled to more than one hundred votes, and no share or shares (after the first election) shall confer a right of suffrage, which shall not have been holden by the person in whose name it appears, at least three calendar months previous to the day of election, and unless it be holden by the person in whose name it appears, absolutely and bona fide in his own right, or in that of his wife, and for his or her sole use and benefit, or as executor, administrator, or guardian, or in the right and use of some copartnership, corporation, or society, of which he or she may be a member, and not in trust for or to the use of any other person; any stockholder being absent, may authorise, by power of attorney under seal, any other stockholder to vote for him, her or them.

Rule 2d. A fair and correct list of the stockholders shall be made out at least two weeks before any election of directors, to be submitted to the inspection of any stockholder, who shall require to see the same, to the end that public information may be given to the parties concerned of their co-proprietors and stockholders, and to prevent a division of shares in order to obtain to the person or persons so dividing them, an undue influence, the managers of elections for directors, shall cause to be administered to every stockholder offering to vote, the following oath: You, A. B. do solemnly swear, (or affirm,) that the stock you now represent is, bona fide, your property, that you are a citizen of the United States, and that no other person or persons is or are concerned therein; and to any person voting by proxy, or for a minor, or in right, or in trust for any other person entitled to vote, the following oath: You, A. B. do solemnly swear (or affirm) that the stock of C. D. whom you now represent, is to the best of your knowledge and belief the property of the said C. D. and that he is a citizen of the United States and that no other person or persons is or are concerned therein; any stockholder refusing to take such oath or affirmation, shall not be allowed to vote at such election.

Rule 3d. None but a stockholder entitled in his own right to fifty shares, and being a citizen of this State, and not being a director of any other bank, shall be eligible as a director, and if any one of the directors, after being elected, shall at any time, during the term for which he shall have been chosen, cease to be a stockholder, his seat shall thereupon become vacated; and the remaining directors or a majority of them, shall at their next meeting pass an order, declaring him no longer to be a director.

Rule 4th. The stockholders shall make such compensation to the president for his services, as shall appear to them reasonable.

Rule 5th. Not less than five directors shall constitute a board for the transaction of business, of whom the president shall always be one, except in case of sickness or necessary absence, in which case, his place may be supplied by any director, appointed by the board of directors present for that purpose.

Rule 6th. Any number of stockholders representing five hundred shares or upwards, shall have power at any time to call a meeting of the stockholders for purposes relative to the institution, giving at least sixty days' notice in a public gazette, at Macon, Milledgeville, Augusta, and Savannah, specifying in such notice the object or objects of such meeting.

Rule 7th. The lands, tenements, and hereditaments which it shall be lawful for the said corporation to hold, shall be only such as shall be requisite for its immediate accommodation, in relation to the convenient transaction of business, and such as have been bona fide, mortgaged to it as security, or conveyed to it in satisfaction of debts previously contracted, in the course of its dealings, or purchased at sales upon judgments which shall have been obtained for such debts.

Rule 8th. The total amount of the debts which the said corporation shall at any time owe, whether by bond, bill, note, or other contract, shall not exceed three times the amount of their stock paid in, over and above the amount of monies actually deposited in their vaults for safe keeping; in case of excess the directors under whose administration it shall happen, shall be liable for the same in their individual, natural, and private capacities, and an action of debt may in such case be brought against them or any of them, their, or any of their heirs, executors or administrators, in any court of record in the United States, having competent jurisdiction, or either of them by any creditor or creditors of the said corporation, and may be prosecuted to judgment and execution, any condition or covenant or agreement to the contrary notwithstanding. But this shall not be construed to exempt the said corporation, or the lands, tenements, goods, and chattels of the same, from being also liable for and chargeable with the said excess, and such of the said directors, who may have been absent when the said excess was contracted or created, or who may have dissented from the resolution or act, whereby the same was so contracted or created, shall be liable as other directors for said excess. But such directors may be entitled to recover out of the directors assenting to such excess, by action of debt or on the case, the amount which they may have been compelled to pay.

May owe three times the amount of stock paid in. Directors individually liable for any excess.

Rule 9th. The directors shall have power to issue to the subscribers their certificates of stock; and no transfer of stock in this company shall be considered as binding upon the company, unless entered in a book or books, kept for that purpose by the company, by personal entry of the stockholder, his legal representative or attorney, duly authorized by special power for that purpose. Provided, That no stockholder, indebted to the bank, shall transfer his or her stock, until all debts, due said bank by such stockholder, shall be paid.

Stock transferable on the books.

Bank lien on the stock.

Rule 10th. The company shall in no case directly or indirectly, be concerned in commerce or insurance, or importation or exportation, purchase or sale, of any goods, wares, or merchandise, whatever, (bills of exchange, notes, and bullion only excepted,) except, such goods, wares and merchandise, as shall be truly transferred, conveyed, or pledged to them, by way of security for money actually loaned, and advanced, or for debts due, owing or growing due to the said corporation, or to effect insurance on the property that may belong or be thus pledged to the said corporation for its security.

Shall not be concerned in commerce, &c., except,

Rule 11th. The bills obligatory, and of credit, notes and other contracts whatever, on behalf of the said corporation, shall be binding and obligatory upon the said company: Provided, the same be signed by the president, and countersigned or attested by the cashier of the said corporation, and the funds of the corporation shall in no case be held liable for any contract or engagement whatever, unless the same shall be so signed and countersigned or attested as aforesaid: and the books, papers, and correspondence, and the funds of the company, shall at all times be subject to the inspection of the board of directors and stockholders, when convened according to the provisions of this act.

Bills, &c. how to be signed.

Rule 12th. No instalment shall be required by the board of directors to be paid on the capital stock of the said corporation, without Calls of payment on stock must be advertised. giving the stockholders notice thereof by publishing the resolution of the said directors, calling for the same, in one of the public gazettes in Macon, Milledgeville, and Augusta, at least sixty days before the day on which the said instalment is made payable.

Dividends. Rule 13th. Dividends of the profits of the corporation or of so much thereof as shall be deemed expedient and proper, shall be declared and paid half yearly (the first half after the bank shall have been in operation excepted) and the said dividends shall from time to time be determined by a majority of the directors, at a meeting to be held for that purpose, and shall in no case exceed the amount of the net profits actually acquired by the corporation, so that the capital stock thereof shall never be impaired.

Books of entries. Years and nays. Rule 14th. The directors shall keep fair and regular entries in a book to be provided for that purpose, of their proceedings; and on any question when two directors shall require it, the yeas and nays of the directors voting, shall be duly inserted on their minutes; and those minutes be at all times, on demand, produced to the stockholders, when at a general meeting the same shall be required.

Stockholders individually liable ultimately in proportion to their stock. Rule 15th. The persons and property of the stockholders in the Commercial Bank at Macon, shall at all times be pledged and bound in proportion to the amount of the value of share or shares that each individual or company hold, possess, are interested in, or entitled to in the said Commercial Bank at Macon, for the ultimate redemption of all notes or bills issued, or that may be hereafter issued by and from the said Commercial Bank at Macon, in the same manner as in common commercial cases, or simple actions of debt.

INSURANCE BANK OF COLUMBUS.

An Act to incorporate the Insurance Bank of Columbus.—Approved Dec. 26, 1831. Pam. 33.

Whereas, insurance companies properly conducted are beneficial to society, by dividing among many losses which would otherwise fall heavily on few: and whereas the good of this State would be promoted by keeping within it, the large sums of money which are now annually sent to the North, to pay insurance on Southern property: and whereas, an insurance bank located at Columbus, willing for a reasonable premium to take risks on buildings and merchandise, is much desired by the merchants and others of that and the neighboring towns;

234. Be it therefore enacted, That James Boykin, Geo. Granbury, William H. Harper, James Wadsworth, James C. Watson, Wilkins Hunt, John Milton, Springer Gibson, Farish Carter, James B. Caswell, Thomas W. Baxter, Allen Lawhon, Hugh W. Ector, John Martin, Felix Lewis, Wiley Jones, Charles Phillips, Barkley Martin, George H. Paddock, John W. Gordon, Williams Rutherford, Henry H. Lowe, Daniel M'Dougald, Norborne B. Powell, William D. Lucas, William L. Wynn, Thomas L. Jackson, Lewis C. Allen, Shadrach Perry, Edward Featherston, and such others as may hereafter become associated with them, be, and they are hereby declared a body corporate and politic, by, and under the name and style of "The Insurance Bank of Columbus," and by that name may sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, answer and be answered unto, in any court of law or equity in this State, or elsewhere, having competent jurisdiction; and shall enjoy perpetual succession of officers and members, may have and use a common seal, and make and ordain and establish such by-laws, rules and regulations, as they may deem expedient and necessary to carry into effect the objects of the institution: Provided, such by-laws, rules and regulations, be not repugnant to the constitution or laws of this State or of the United States.

Incorporated with certain powers.

235. The capital stock of said Insurance Bank of Columbus, shall be three hundred thousand dollars, to be divided into three thousand shares, of one hundred dollars each; with the privilege of increasing said capital stock to six hundred thousand dollars, whenever at any time hereafter a majority of the stockholders may deem the same prudent and necessary.

Capital stock $300,000, and may be increased to $600,000.

For the well ordering of the affairs of said corporation, there shall be five directors, who shall be elected by the stockholders of said Insurance Bank, so soon as the sum of sixty thousand dollars of the capital stock of said corporation shall have been actually received and paid in, and said five directors so elected, shall be capable of serving as such, until the first Monday in January of the year 1833, and no longer; on which day, and in each and every year thereafter, the directors shall be chosen by the stockholders or proprietors of the capital stock of said corporation, when a plurality of the votes given in shall be required to make a choice; and the said directors at their first meeting after each election, shall choose one of their own members as president, and in case of his death, resignation, or removal from the State, or from the board of direction, the remaining directors shall proceed to fill the vacancy for the remainder of the year: Provided always, and be it further enacted, That so soon as the aforesaid sum of twenty per cent. shall have been received, due notice shall be given through the gazettes of Columbus, Macon and Milledgeville, at the distance of thirty days from the date of said notification, to the stockholders of said corporation of the intended election for directors: And provided further, That in case it should happen that no election for directors should be made on the day, when pursuant to this act it should have been made, the said corporation shall not for that cause be deemed to be dissolved, but it shall be lawful on any other day to make and hold an election of directors, in such manner as shall have been regulated by the rules and by-laws of said corporation: And provided, That in case of the death, resignation, absence from the State, or removal of a director, his place may be filled up by a new choice, made by the remainder of the directors for the residue of the year.

Five Directors.

To be chosen by the stockholders.

Regular election failing, it may be had at some other time.

Vacancy of Director.

236. The directors for the time being, shall have full power and authority to require the payment of the residue of the sums owing on the amount of stock originally subscribed for, or held, at such times and by such instalments as to them may seem reasonable and proper, sixty days' notice being first given through the public gazettes, of such requirement; and if there should be any failure in the payment of any sum or sums subscribed by any person, copartnership or body politic, when the same is required by the directors to be paid, the share or shares upon which said failure shall happen or accrue, shall be for such failure forfeited, and may be again sold or disposed of in such manner as the directors shall order or provide, and the proceeds from such sale, together with the sum or sums which may have been paid thereon, shall enure to the benefit of said corporation.

Forfeiture of shares not paid in.

237. The directors for the time being, shall have power and authority to appoint such officers and clerks under them, as shall be necessary for executing the business of the said corporation, and to allow them such compensation for their services respectively, as to them shall appear reasonable.

Directors to appoint officers.

238. Said Insurance Bank shall be permitted and they are hereby authorised to issue bills or notes of credit, payable to bearer on de-

May issue bills.

May owe treble the stock paid in.

Delinquent
Directors liable for excess.

mand, signed by the president, and countersigned or attested by the cashier, but the total amount of debts which the said corporation shall at any time owe, whether by bond, bill, note or other contract, shall not exceed three times the amount of their capital stock paid in, over and above the amount of specie actually deposited in their vaults for safe keeping, and in case of excess, the directors under whose administration it shall happen, shall be liable for the same, in their individual, natural and private capacities, and an action of debt may in such case be brought against them, or any of them, their or any of their heirs, executors, or administrators, in any court of record in the United States, having competent jurisdiction, or either of them, by any creditor or creditors of the said corporation, and may be prosecuted to judgment and execution, any condition, covenant, or agreement to the contrary notwithstanding: but this shall not be construed to exempt the corporation or the lands, tenements, goods, and chattels of the same, from being also liable for, and chargeable with said excess; and such of the said directors, who may have been absent when said excess was contracted, or created, or who may have departed from the resolution or act, whereby the same was so contracted or created, may respectively exonerate themselves from being so liable by having their dissent if present entered on the minutes of said corporation.

May insure,
and may deal
in life annuities.

239. Said corporation when organized as aforesaid, shall have full power and authority to insure property and effects of every nature and description, against losses by fire or water and all other accidents, dangers and casualties for which insurance companies are usually established, or to buy or sell life annuities.

Shall pay losses in six months.
Suits triable
at first term.

Interest from six months.

240. Said Insurance Bank shall be bound to pay all losses on property or other assurances made by them within six months after the happening thereof; and in all cases where the claimant shall be compelled to institute a suit for the recovery of such losses, the same shall stand in order for trial at the first term, and the amount recovered shall be on interest from and after the expiration of the said six months; and if the said company shall neglect or refuse to pay such losses within the said six months (if the same be demanded) where there is no dispute as to the amount claimed, or within ten days after a final recovery against them in cases disputed, this charter may be declared null and void.

May hold any property, real or personal.

241. The said company shall have power to receive, hold, purchase, and possess any property, real or personal, for the use, benefit or advantage of the said corporation, and to sell and dispose of the same; and they are hereby declared to be vested with all the powers, advantages, privileges, and emoluments of an association of persons incorporated for the intentions and purposes aforesaid.

242. The following shall form and be fundamental articles of the constitution of said corporation.

Each share entitled to one vote.

Shares, how to be held.

1st. The number of votes to which each stockholder shall be entitled, at any meeting or election, shall be according to the number of shares he shall hold, each share to be entitled to one vote: Provided, That no share or shares shall confer a right of suffrage, unless the same shall have been holden three calendar months previously to the day of election, and unless it be holden by the person in whose name it appears, absolutely and bona fide in his own right or in that of his wife, and for his or her sole use and benefit, or as executor, administrator or guardian, or in the right of some copartnership, corporation or society of which he or she may be a member, and not in trust for, or to the use of any other person; any stockholder being absent, may authorise by power of attorney under seal, any other stockholder to vote for him, her, or them.

2d. None but a stockholder entitled in his own right to fifty shares, and being a citizen of the State, and not being a director of any other bank, shall be eligible as a director, and if any one of the directors after being elected shall at any time during the term for which he shall have been chosen, cease to be a stockholder, his seat shall thereupon become vacated. Director's qualification.

3d. The stockholders shall make such compensation to the president as shall to them appear reasonable.

4th. A number of stockholders not less than twenty, who, together, shall be proprietors of two hundred shares or upwards, shall have power at any time to call a meeting of the stockholders for the purposes relative to the institution, by giving at least sixty days' notice in the public gazettes, specifying the object or objects of such meeting. Two hundred shares may call a meeting of stockholders.

5th. The cashier of the bank for the time being, before he enters upon the duties of his office, shall give bond with two or more securities to the satisfaction of the directors in the sum of twenty thousand dollars, with condition for his good behavior and the faithful discharge of his duties. Cashier's bond.

6th. The directors shall have power to issue to the subscribers their certificates of stock, which shall be transferable on the books of the cashier only, by personal entry of the stockholder, his legal representative or attorney, duly authorized by special power for that purpose. Stock transferable on the books only.

7th. The bills obligatory and of credit, notes and other contracts whatsoever, on behalf of the said corporation, shall be binding and obligatory upon the said company: Provided, the same be signed by the president and countersigned by the cashier of the said corporation, and the funds of said corporation shall in no case be held liable for any contract or engagement whatever, unless the same be so signed and countersigned as aforesaid; and the books, papers and correspondence, and the funds of the company shall at all times be subject to the inspection of the board of directors and stockholders when convened, according to the provisions of this act. Bills, &c. how to be signed. Books subject to inspection.

8th. Dividends of the profits of the corporation or so much thereof, as may be deemed expedient and proper, shall be declared and paid half yearly, (the first half after the bank shall be in operation excepted,) and the said dividends shall be determined from time to time, by a majority of the directors at a meeting to be held for that purpose, and shall in no case exceed the amount of the net profits actually acquired by the corporation, so that the capital stock thereof, shall never be impaired. Dividends.

9th. The directors shall keep fair and regular entries in a book to be kept for that purpose, of their proceedings, and these minutes be at all times on demand produced to the stockholders when at a general meeting the same shall be required. Book of minutes.

10th. The persons and property of the stockholders shall be pledged and held bound in proportion to the amount of the value of the shares that each individual or company may hold in said bank, for the ultimate redemption of the bills or notes issued by or from said bank, in the same manner as in common commercial cases or simple actions of debt. Individuals ultimately bound in proportion to their stock for bills.

243. Said Insurance Bank shall be at liberty to establish branches or offices of discount and deposit and insurance, not exceeding three in number, at such places and at such times as a majority of the stockholders may deem suitable and proper, and at their option to discontinue the same. May establish three branches.

244. Said corporation shall exist and continue for the term of Chartered 30 years.

thirty years from the passage of this act, unless the same should be forfeited according to the provisions thereof.

Stockholders individually liable for insurances or debts.

245. The real and personal property, of each stockholder, who is now or may hereafter at any time become stockholders, either by original subscription or transfer, shall be held and deemed liable for all insurances or debts made or due by said bank.

50 per cent. must be in.

246. Said bank shall not commence issuing bills or notes, or take insurance on property until fifty per cent. of its capital stock shall be paid in, in specie; and upon refusal of said bank to pay specie for its bills or notes when demanded, shall pay at, and after the rate of ten per cent. damages per annum, upon the amount so refused payment, over and above the lawful interest accruing thereon, and the same shall be sued for, and recovered in any court having jurisdiction of the same.

Liable to 10 per cent on refusal to pay specie.

BANK OF HAWKINSVILLE.

An Act to Incorporate a Banking Company in the town of Hawkinsville.—Approved Dec. 24, 1831. Pam. 39.

Capital $200,000, and may increase it to $400,000.

247. Sec. I. A Bank shall be established in the town of Hawkinsville, the capital stock whereof, shall be $200,000, to be divided into shares of $100 each; and also, with the privilege of increasing the said capital at any time thereafter as the stockholders may desire, to the sum of $400,000 to be divided into shares as aforesaid.

Sec. II. [Directing the opening books for the original stock.—Temporary.]

Shares forfeited for non-payment.

248. Sec. III. If there shall be any failure in the payment, for any of the shares subscribed for by any person, copartnership, or body politic, when required according to the provisions of this act, the said share or shares for the failure aforesaid, shall become forfeited and may be again sold or disposed of as the directors shall order and provide, and the proceeds of the sale, and the sum or sums which may have been paid thereon, shall revert to the benefit of said corporation.

Incorporated.

249. Sec. IV. All those who shall become subscribers for the shares in said bank, their successors and assigns shall be, and they are hereby created and constituted a body politic by the name and style of "the Bank of Hawkinsville;" and by that name shall be and are hereby made able and capable in law, to have, purchase, receive, possess, enjoy, and retain to them and their successors, lands, rents, tenements, hereditaments, goods, chattels, and effects, whatsoever kind, nature, or quality the same may be, and the same to sell, grant, demise, alien, or dispose of, to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, answer and be answered, defend and be defended in Courts of Record, or in any other place whatsoever; and also, to make and have a common seal, and the same to break, alter and renew at their pleasure, and also, to ordain, establish, and put in execution such by-laws, rules and regulations, as shall be necessary and convenient for the government of said corporation: Provided, they be not repugnant to the laws and constitution of this State or of the United States.

Corporate powers.

Seven Directors, how to be chosen by the stockholders.

250. Sec. V. For the well ordering of the affairs of said corporation, there shall be seven directors, who shall be elected as soon as gold and silver coin to the amount of $50,000 of the subscription for the said stock, shall have been received: and in each and every year thereafter, the directors shall be chosen by the stockholders or proprietors of the capital stock of said corporation, a plurality of votes being required to make a choice, and those who shall be chosen at any such election, shall be capable of serving as such directors until the first Monday in November next thereafter, and shall be eligible to re-election, and the said directors at their first meeting after each election, shall choose one of their own members as president, and in case of his death, resignation, removal from this State, or from the board of directors, the said directors shall proceed to fill the vacancy by a new election for the remainder of the year: [measures merely of preparation for business omitted.] Provided, That in case it should happen that an election for directors should not be made upon any day, when pursuant to this act, it ought to have been made, it shall be lawful on any other appointed day to hold and make an election of directors in such manner as shall have been pointed out by the rules and regulations of the said corporation: And Provided That in case of the death, resignation, or absence from the State of a director, his place may be filled up by a new choice, made by the remaining directors for the remainder of the year.

President.

Vacancy of that office.

Regular election failing, may be held afterwards.

251. Sec. VI. The directors for the time being, shall have power and authority to appoint such officers and clerks under them, as shall be necessary for executing the business of the said corporation, and allow them, together with the president, such compensation as shall be reasonable, and shall be capable of exercising such other powers and authorities for the well governing and ordering the affairs of said corporation, as to them shall appear conducive to the interest of the Institution.

Directors may appoint and compensate officers.

252. Sec. VII. The following rules, regulations, limitations, and provisions shall form and be fundamental articles of the constitution of said corporation.

Rules.

1st. The number of votes to which each stockholder shall be entitled, shall be according to the number of shares he shall hold; each share to be entitled to one vote: Provided, That no share or shares shall confer a right to suffrage which shall not have been holden three calendar months previously to the day of election, and unless it be holden by the person in whose name it appears absolutely and bona fide in his own right or in that of his wife, and for his or her sole use and benefit, or as executor, administrator or guardian, or in the right and use of some copartnership, corporation, or society of which he or she may be a member and not in trust for, or to the use of any other person; any stockholder being absent, may authorize any other citizen of the United States by power of attorney under seal to vote for him or her.

Each share one vote.

Share how to be holden.

2d. None but a stockholder entitled in his own right to ten shares and being a citizen of the State, and not being a director for or stockholder in any other bank, shall be eligible as a director, and if any one of the directors after being elected, shall at any time during the time for which he shall have been chosen, cease to be a stockholder, his seat shall thereupon, become vacant, and the remaining directors or a majority of them, shall at their next meeting pass an order declaring him no longer to be a director, and immediately proceed to fill the vacancy.

Qualification for Director.

3d. Not less than four directors shall constitute a board for the transaction of business, of whom the president shall always be one, except in case of sickness or necessary absence, in which case his seat may be supplied by any director appointed by the board of directors present for that purpose.

Four Directors make a board.

President pro tem.

4th. A number of stockholders not less than fifteen, who together shall be proprietors of 400 shares, or upwards, shall have power at any time to call a meeting of stockholders, for purposes relative to the Institution, giving at least sixty days' notice in one of the public gazettes of Macon and Milledgeville, specifying in such notice the object of such meeting.

400 shares may call a meeting of stockholders.

Cashier's and clerk's bonds.

5th. The cashier of the bank, before he enters upon the duties of his office, shall give bond with two or more securities to the satisfaction of the directors, in a sum not less than $20,000, with condition for his good behavior and the faithful discharge of his duties, and the clerk or clerks, if any in said bank, shall give bond, with like condition and in such sum, and with such security as shall be satisfactory to the directors.

What real estate may be held by the Bank.

6th. The lands and tenements which it shall be lawful for the said corporation to hold, shall be only such as shall be requisite for its immediate accommodation in relation to the convenient transaction of business, and such as shall have been bona fide mortgaged to it as security, or conveyed to it in satisfaction of debts previously contracted in the course of its dealings, or purchased at sales upon judgments, which shall have been obtained for such debts.

May owe three times the amount of stock paid in.

7th. The total amount of debts which the said corporation shall at any time owe, either by bond, bill, note or contract, shall not exceed three times the amount of their capital stock paid in, over and above the amount of specie actually deposited in their vaults for safe keeping.

Individuals bound in proportion to their stock for redemption of bills.

253. Sec. VIII. The persons and property of the stockholders for the time being in said bank, shall be pledged and bound in proportion to the amount of shares that each individual or company may hold in said bank, for the ultimate redemption of the bills or notes, issued by or from said bank, during the time he, she, or they may hold such stock, in the same manner as in common commercial cases, or simple cases of debt.

Stock transferable on the books.

254. The directors shall have power to issue to the subscribers their certificates of stock, signed by their president, and countersigned by their cashier, which shall be transferable on the books of the cashier only, by personal entry of the stockholder, his legal representative or attorney, duly authorized by special power for that purpose.

Bills, &c. how to be signed.

255. The bills obligatory, and of credit notes, and other contracts whatever, on the behalf of the said corporation, shall be binding and obligatory upon the said company: Provided the same be signed by the president and countersigned or attested by the cashier of the said corporation, and the funds of the said corporation shall, in no case, be liable for any contract or engagement, whatever, unless the same shall be so signed and countersigned or attested as aforesaid, and the books, papers and correspondence, and the funds of the company shall at all times, be subject to the inspection of the board of directors and stockholders when convened according to the provisions of this act.

Dividends.

256. Dividends of the profits of the corporation, or of so much thereof, as shall be deemed expedient and proper, shall be declared and paid half-yearly, (the first half after the bank shall have been in operation excepted,) and the said dividends shall, from time to time, be determined by a majority of the directors at a meeting to be held for that purpose, and shall in no case, exceed the amount of the net profits actually acquired by the corporation, so that the capital stock thereof, shall not be impaired.

Minutes of proceedings.

257. The directors shall keep fair and regular minutes of their proceedings, and on any question, when two directors shall require it, the yeas and nays of the directors voting shall be inserted on the minutes.

Yeas and nays.

258. The corporation shall exist and continue until the first Monday in November, 1862, and immediately after the dissolution of the same, the last acting directors shall close the concerns of the company, and divide the capital and profits among the stockholders according to their respective interests.

Chartered till
Nov. 1862.

259. Sec. IX. No stockholder shall borrow money from the said bank upon the faith or pledge of their stock.

No loans on stock.

260. Sec. X. Any bank or the branches thereof, who may make a demand of specie from said bank, shall be compelled to receive either the bills of the said original bank or any of its branches in payment.

Banks demanding specie shall take their own bills.

BANK OF MILLEDGEVILLE.

An Act to be entitled An Act to incorporate the Bank of Milledgeville with banking and insurance privileges, located at Milledgeville.—
Approved Dec. 22, 1835. Pam. 36.

261. Whereas the directors of the Central Bank of Georgia are obliged by their charter to distribute their loans in small sums among the several counties in this State, thereby furnishing a sufficient circulation to none: and whereas the capital of the Bank of the State of Georgia is so divided among its numerous branches as to render it unable to supply an amount equal to the wants of the business of the place; and whereas the branch banks are under the control of the parent boards, and are frequently from their orders obliged to suspend discounts when most needed by the community; and whereas a number of the citizens of Milledgeville and its vicinity have associated themselves together with the view to remedy these evils, and promote the growth and prosperity of the capital of the State.

Preamble.

Sec. I. Be it therefore enacted, That Seaton Grantland, Faris Carter, William Sanford, Green H. Jourdan, Thomas Moughon, Charles Malone, Nichols and Demming, Richard K. Hines, Thomas Ragland, William D. Jarratt, Tomlinson Fort, Owen H. Kenan, Joseph Cooper, Michael J. Kenan, Nathan M'Gehee, Thomas B. Stubbs, Miller Grieve, Warren Jourdan, John W. Gordon, Charles C. Mills, A. Jarratt, Lorenzo D. Buckner, Charles W. Howard and F. V. Delaunay be, and they are hereby incorporated and made a body politic by the name and style of the Bank of Milledgeville with banking and insurance privileges, located at Milledgeville, and so shall continue until the first day of January, 1865: and by that name shall be, and are hereby made able and capable in law to have, purchase, receive, possess, enjoy and retain, to them and their successors, lands, rents, tenements, hereditaments, so far as may be necessary for the erection of necessary banking houses only, and not otherwise, goods, chattels and effects, of what kind, nature or quality soever, and the same to sell, grant, demise, alien or dispose of; to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, answer and be answered, defend and be defended in any court of law or equity in this State or elsewhere, having competent jurisdiction; to make, have and use a common seal, and the same to break, alter and renew at their pleasure; and to make and ordain such by-laws, rules and regulations as they may deem expedient and necessary to carry into effect the objects of the Institution; Provided, such by-laws, rules and regulations be not repugnant to the constitution or laws of this State or of the United States.

Incorporated with insurance privileges.

Corporate
powers.

262. Sec. II. The capital stock of said bank shall be $500,000, to be divided into 5,000 shares of $100 each, and apportioned among the aforesaid stockholders.

Capital
$500,000.

Five Directors.

263. Sec. III. For the well ordering the affairs of the said corporation, there shall be elected by the stockholders not less than five directors, as soon as gold and silver coin to the amount of $100,000 of the subscription for the said stock shall have been received, and said five directors so elected shall be capable to serve as such until the first Monday in October, of the year 1836; and shall be eligible to re-election, on which day, and in each and every year thereafter on the same day, directors shall be chosen by the proprietors or owners of the capital stock of said corporation, when a majority of the votes given in shall be required to make a choice, and the directors thus chosen shall, at their first meeting, and at the first meeting after each and every such election, make choice of one of their own members as president; and in case of his death, or resignation, or removal from this State or from the board of directors, the remaining directors shall proceed to fill the vacancy for the remainder of the year; and in case it shall at any time happen that the stockholders omit, fail or neglect to elect directors on the day prescribed and authorized by this act, the said corporation shall not, for such omission, failure or neglect be deemed to be dissolved, but it shall be lawful on any other day to hold and make an election of directors in such manner as shall have been or may be prescribed by the rules and by-laws of the said corporation: And provided, that in case of the death, resignation, removal from the State, or from the board of any director, his place may be filled by a new choice for the remainder of the year by the remaining directors.

How chosen.

President.

Lapsed elections.

Forfeited shares.

264. Sec. IV. If there should be a failure in the payment of any sum or sums subscribed by any person, copartnership or body politic, when the same is required by the directors to be paid, the share or shares of stock upon which said failure occurs, shall be, for such failure, forfeited, and may again be sold or disposed of in such manner as the directors may order and provide; and the proceeds of the sale, and the sum or sums which may have been paid thereon, shall revert to and belong to said corporation; Provided, that sixty days' notice of the time at which such payment is required to be made, be given in each of the public gazettes of Milledgeville.

Other officers.

Their pay and qualifications.

265. Sec. V. The directors, for the time being, shall have power and authority to appoint such officers and clerks under them as may be necessary for executing the business of the said corporation, and shall allow them, together with the president, such compensation as they may deem reasonable, and shall require of the cashier and other officers under him, such bonds, conditioned for their good behavior and the faithful discharge of their duties, as to them may be satisfactory; and the president, cashier and other officers of the bank shall take the following oath before entering on the duties of their respective offices: I, A. B., do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of president, cashier or other officer (as the case may be) of the bank of Milledgeville with banking and insurance privileges: which oath shall be entered and subscribed in the minutes of the corporation.

Each share one vote.

266. Sec. VI. The number of votes to which each stockholder shall be entitled at any meeting or election, shall be according to the number of shares he may hold; each share to be entitled to one vote: Provided, that no share or shares shall confer a right of suffrage unless the same shall have been holden by the person in whose name it appears at least three calendar months previously to the day of election, and unless the same be holden by the person in whose name it appears, absolutely and bona fide in his own right, or in that of his wife, and for his or her sole use and benefit, or as executor, administrator or guardian, or in the right of some copartnership, corporation or society of which he or she may be a member, and not in trust for, or to the use of any other person. Any stockholder being absent, may authorize, by power of attorney under seal, any other stockholder to vote for him, her or them; Provided, that said power of attorney is filed in bank sixty days before the day of election.

Proxies.

267. Sec. VII. Any number of stockholders who shall together be the owners and proprietors of 500 shares or upwards, shall have power at any time to call a meeting of the stockholders for purposes relative to the institution; giving at least sixty days' notice in the public gazettes of Milledgeville, specifying in such notice the object of such meeting.

500 shares may call a meeting of stockholders.

Sec. VIII. That the directors shall have power to issue to the subscribers their certificates of stock, signed by the president and countersigned by their cashier, and which shall be transferable in the books of the cashier only by personal entry of the stockholder, his legal representative or attorney, duly authorized by special power for that purpose; Provided, that no stockholder indebted to the bank shall transfer his or her stock until all debts due said bank by such stockholder shall be paid; unless by consent of the directors entered upon their minutes.

Transfers of stock.

268. Sec. IX. The bills obligatory and of credit, notes and other contracts whatsoever, in behalf of the said corporation, shall be binding upon the said company; Provided, the same be signed by the president and countersigned by the cashier of the said corporation; and the funds of the said corporation shall in no case be held liable for any contract or engagement whatever, unless the same be so signed and countersigned as aforesaid.

Contracts, how to be authenticated.

269. Sec. X. The directors shall keep fair and regular minutes of their proceedings; and upon any question, when a director shall require it, the yeas and nays of the directors voting shall be inserted in said minutes; and the books, papers, correspondence and funds of the company shall, at all times, be subject to the inspection of the board of directors, or stockholders when convened according to the provisions of this act.

Minutes.

Yeas and nays.

270. Sec. XI. No notice or protest shall be necessary to charge any maker or indorser of any note, bill or other obligation discounted by said bank; and in all suits commenced by said corporation upon any note, bill, bond or obligation, upon which there shall be any indorser or indorsers, the maker or makers, together with the indorser or indorsers, or their representatives, may be embraced and sued in the same action; and no proof of notice, demand or protest, shall be required on any trial to authorize a recovery.

Suits by the Bank.

271. Sec. XII. In no suit or action, in any court of this State in which the said bank may be a party, shall it be lawful for the other party or parties to require the said bank to produce the books of the bank into court as evidence: nor shall it be lawful for such party or parties to require, by subpoena or otherwise, the attendance of any officer of the said bank in court on the trial of such case. But whenever, in any such suit, it may become necessary for the attainment of justice that the evidence contained in the said books, or the testimony of such officer should be had, it shall, and may be lawful for either party in such cause, requiring such evidence or testimony, to take out a commission, in the usual manner, to examine the officers of the said bank as to the contents of the said books, or as to their own knowledge of the facts, notwithstanding such officer may reside in the county in which such suit may be pending.

Officers or books not to be taken out by subpoena.

Officers not to borrow of the Bank.

272. Sec. XIII. It shall not be lawful for the president, ~~directors~~ or officers of said bank to borrow any amount of money from said bank.

Not to owe more than three times
the amount
of stock.

273. Sec. XIV. The said bank of Milledgeville with banking and insurance privileges, shall be permitted, and are hereby authorized, to issue bills or notes of credit, payable to bearer on demand, signed by the president and countersigned by the cashier; but the total amount of debts which the said corporation shall at any time owe, whether by bond, bill, note or other contract, shall not exceed three times the amount of the capital stock actually paid in; and in case of excess, it shall be the duty of the president and cashier to notify the governor, in writing, of such excess; upon the receipt of which, it shall be the duty of the governor to issue his proclamation declaring the charter of said bank forfeited, in consequence of said excess, and calling a meeting of the stockholders; who shall have power and authority to adopt such measures as may be deemed prudent and effectual in bringing the affairs of the said corporation to a speedy close.

Branches or agencies.

274. Sec. XV. The said bank of Milledgeville with banking and insurance privileges, shall be at liberty to establish one or more branches or offices of discount and deposit, or agencies, at such place or places, and at such times as a majority of the stockholders may deem suitable and proper, and at their option to discontinue the same: Provided, that such branches or agencies are not objected to by the town or city where they may be established.

Other Banks
shall receive their own bills.

275. Sec. XVI. Any bank, or the branches thereof, which may make a demand of specie from the Bank of Milledgeville with banking and insurance privileges, shall be compelled to receive the bills of the said bank making the demand.

Dividends.

276. Sec. XVII. That dividends of the profits of the corporation, or so much thereof as may be deemed expedient and proper, shall be declared and paid half yearly. And the said dividends shall be determined from time to time by a majority of the directors at a meeting to be held for that purpose, and shall in no case exceed the amount of the net profits actually acquired by the corporation, so that the capital stock thereof shall never be impaired.

Stockholders
individually liable for its debts.

277. Sec. XVIII. That the persons and property of the stockholders in the Bank of Milledgeville with Banking and Insurance privileges, shall at all times be pledged and bound in proportion to the number of dollars issued upon each of the share or shares that each individual or company hold, possess, are interested in, or entitled to in the said Bank of Milledgeville, for the payment and discharge of the debts or contracts of said bank, or for the ultimate redemption of all notes or bills issued, or that may be hereafter issued by, and from the said Bank of Milledgeville with Banking and Insurance privileges, in the same manner as in simple actions of debt or common commercial cases.

Insurance
privileges.

278. Sec. XIX. The said company, when organized as aforesaid, shall have full power and authority to insure property and effects of every nature and description, against losses by fire or water, and all other accidents, dangers and casualties for which Insurance Companies are usually established, or to buy or sell life annuities; Provided, that the insurance shall at no time exceed the amount of capital stock paid in; and whenever the same shall reach that amount, then the issues of said bank shall not exceed double that sum.

Transfers of stock within six months of the failure of the Bank,
void.

279. Sec. XX. All transfers of stock in said bank shall be wholly void, if made within six months previous to the failure of said bank, but that said stock so transferred shall be deemed and held liable for the debts of the institution, notwithstanding said transfers.

An Act to amend an act entitled An Act to prevent the circulation of Bank Bills under the denomination of five dollars within this State, passed the 24th of December, 1832, and to prevent the circulation of bank bills of any other denomination than fives, tens, twentys, fiftys, hundreds and thousands.—Approved Dec. 22, 1835. Pam. 33.

280. Whereas, the above recited act has manifestly benefited the circulating medium of this State, and ought to be carried out in spirit as well as letter—

Sec I. Be it enacted, That from and after the passage of this act, it shall not be lawful for any bank or body corporate, or person or persons whomsoever, within the limits of this State, to issue, emit, pay away, pass or circulate any bank bill, note, or ticket, or paper purporting to be a bank note, or of the nature, character or appearance of a bank note, or calculated for circulation as a bank note of either of the banks of this State or of any other State, of a denomination other than of the denomination of five dollars, ten dollars, twenty dollars, fifty dollars, hundreds of dollars or thousands of dollars. Denominations of notes that may be issued.

281. Sec. II. Any bank or body corporate, or person or persons whomsoever offending against the provisions of this act, shall forfeit for each offence the sum of $500, to be recovered and applied as provided for by the second section of the act herein before recited, and that the third section of said act shall in like manner apply to and govern in cases provided by this act. $500 penalty

An Act to be entitled An Act to provide for the more equitable distribution of the dividends of the Central Bank of Georgia.—Approved Dec. 24, 1835. Pam. 34.

282. Whereas, the Central Bank of Georgia was created for the benefit of the citizens of every county in the State, and whereas, individuals residing in counties contiguous to the said bank are in the habit of borrowing the names of irresponsible individuals in other counties and drawing the amount of dividend designed for the citizens of these counties, for remedy whereof—

Be it enacted, That from and after the passage of this act, no note shall be discounted in the Central Bank of Georgia unless the principal and all indorsers shall be residents of the respective counties entitled to said dividends: Provided, that nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to require the officers of said bank to retain the amount of dividend, or any part thereof, more than thirty days after the same shall have been actually declared and made; any law, usage or custom to the contrary notwithstanding. All names on notes shall be residents of the county entitled. Dividends not to be retained longer than 30 days

An Act to amend the charter of the Bank of Columbus.—Approved Dec. 24, 1835. Pam. 35.

283. The ninth rule of the charter of the Bank of Columbus be, and the same is hereby repealed, and the following shall be substituted in lieu thereof:

RULE 9. The directors shall have power to issue to stockholders of the bank certificates of the shares by them respectively held; which shares shall be transferable by the shareholder or his legal representative or attorney under such rules and regulations as the directors may prescribe.

An Act to incorporate a bank for savings in the city of Macon.
 Approved Dec. 26, 1835. Pam. 42.

Preamble.

284. Whereas, a number of benevolent individuals in the city of Macon, desirous to form a voluntary association for the purpose of encouraging habits of laudable frugality, industry and economy, by receiving and securing to those having small sums of money, a safe place of deposit with reasonable accumulation of interest thereon, ask this general assembly to make them a body corporate under the title of the "Bank for Savings in the city of Macon," with perpetual succession, for the purpose of receiving, holding and improving in such manner as to them may seem proper, all such real and personal estate as the said institution shall become possessed of or entitled to by gift, grant, devise, bequest, purchase, deposit, loan and payment for the purposes of said institution.

Incorporated.

Sec. I. Therefore, be it enacted, That Everard Hamilton, Thomas Hardeman, Robert W. Fort, Nathan C. Munroe, David B. Butler, William H. Burdsall, E. B. Weed, Charles Campbell, Azel R. Freeman, Charles Cotton, Washington Poe, William B. Ball, Charles Day and Henry G. Lamar be, and they are hereby constituted a body corporate and politic by the name of "The Bank for Savings in the city of Macon," and by that name they shall have perpetual succession, and shall be persons capable of suing and being sued, pleading and being impleaded, answering and being answered unto, defending and being defended in all courts of law and equity in this State; and may have a common seal with power to change, alter, break and renew the same from time to time, and shall be capable of purchasing, taking, holding and enjoying to them and their successors any real estate in fee simple or otherwise, rents, tenements and hereditaments, stock, goods, chattels and effects of what nature, kind or quality soever, whether real, personal or mixed, by gift, grant, demise, bargain, sale, devise, bequest, testament, legacy, loan, deposit or by any other mode of conveyance or transfer whatsoever, and the same to give, grant, bargain, demise, convey, assure, transfer, alien, pay, release and dispose of for the whole or any less estate or property than they have in the same, in such manner or form as the said corporation, by their by-laws and regulations, shall order and direct; and shall and may apply the same, with the rents, issues, income, interest and profits of such estate, and the monies arising from the sale, alienation, disposal or employment thereof to the uses, ends and purposes of their institution, according to the rules, regulations and orders of the said corporation which shall be declared according to the provisions hereinafter made, as fully and as effectually as any other person or body corporate or politic within this State, by the constitution and laws of the State can or do perform.

Corporate powers.

To receive deposits.

285. Sec. II. The said corporation shall receive as deposits all sums of money that may be offered for that purpose, in such sums and on such terms for the purpose of being invested as aforesaid, which shall be invested accordingly; and shall be repaid to each depositor when required, and at such times and with such interest and under such regulations as the board of trustees, to be hereinafter appointed, shall from time to time prescribe, which regulations shall be put up in some public and conspicuous place in the room where the business of said corporation shall be transacted, but shall not be altered so as to affect any one who may have been a depositor previous to such alteration. No president, vice president, trustee or accountant shall, directly or indirectly, borrow or use the funds of the corporation except to pay the necessary current expenses; and all certificates, entries or evidences of deposits made by the proper officer, shall be as binding on the corporation as if it were under their common seal. And the said corporation shall, from time to time, have power to make, constitute, ordain and establish such by-laws and regulations as they shall judge proper for the election of their officers, for prescribing their respective functions, and the mode of discharging the same; for regulating the times and the places of meeting of the officers and trustees, and for the transacting, managing and directing the affairs of the institution; provided, such rules, by-laws and regulations are not repugnant to this act, to the constitution and laws of this State and of the United States. And provided, further, that it shall be the duty of the trustees of said bank to regulate the rate of interest to be allowed depositors, so that they shall receive a rateable proportion of all the profits of said bank, after deducting therefrom all necessary expenses authorised by this act.

Officer not to borrow.

Make by-laws.

Proviso.

Proviso.

286. Sec. III. The officers of the said institution shall consist of a president and vice president, who, together with eleven trustees, shall constitute a board of managers, three of whom, with the president or vice president, assembling at the time and place designated for that purpose by the by-laws or regulations of the institution, shall constitute a legal meeting thereof.

Officers.

287. Sec. IV. Everard Hamilton, Thomas Hardeman, Robert W. Fort, Nathan C. Munroe, David B. Butler, William H. Burdsall, E. B. Weed, Charles Campbell, Azel R. Freeman, Charles Cotton, Washington Poe, William B. Ball, Charles Day and Henry G. Lamar be, and they are hereby constituted the first board of trustees, who shall constitute the first board of managers of said institution, who, or a majority of them shall, so soon as convenient after the passage of this act, assemble and elect from their body a president and vice president to serve for one year, and until their successors are duly elected; and in case of a vacancy by death, resignation or otherwise among the said officers and trustees, such vacancy shall be filled up by ballot by the board of managers at their first regular meeting thereafter, and the person having the majority of the whole number of votes present and voting shall be considered as duly elected, and not otherwise; and the said board shall from time to time appoint a fit person as an accountant of the institution, removable at pleasure, who shall give such reasonable security for his fidelity and good conduct as the board of managers may from time to time require, and they may, if necessary, appoint a clerk to assist him, likewise removable at pleasure, and to fix the salaries of such accountant and clerk so appointed.

First organization.

288. Sec. V. The deposits and payments of the institution shall be regularly entered in the books of the office, and every person depositing money shall be furnished with a duplicate of his or her account, in which every deposit or payment shall be regularly entered as soon as made. No money shall be drawn out under five dollars, unless to close an account.

Deposits and payments.

289. Sec. VI. The books of said corporation shall at all times be open to the treasurer of the State, and to such other person or persons as he or the legislature may from time to time delegate, for inspection and examination.

Books open to inspection.

290. Sec. VII. The accountant or clerk of said bank, for the time being, is hereby authorised to administer oaths in all such cases where it may be necessary to carry into effect the true intent and object for which this institution is hereby incorporated, and when such oaths shall be directed to be administered by the by-laws of said corporation.

Clerk may administer oaths.

291. Sec. VIII. This act is hereby declared to be a public act, Act shall be beneficially construed.

Legislature may amend or repeal the act.

and that the same shall be construed in all courts and places favorably and benignly for every beneficial and benevolent purpose therein intended, and that no misnomer of the said corporation, in any deed, gift, grant or demise, or any other instrument of contract or conveyance, shall vitiate or defeat the same; Provided the corporation shall be sufficiently described to ascertain the intention of the parties; and provided also, that the legislature may at any time hereafter amend or repeal this act and dissolve the said corporation, or vary or modify its powers as to them may seem fit and proper.

BANK OF BRUNSWICK.

An Act, to incorporate the Bank of Brunswick, with banking privileges, to be located at Brunswick.—Approved Dec. 27th, 1836. Pam. 40.

Incorporated
till 1866.

Corporate
powers.

292. Sec. I. Thomas Butler King, William B. Stockton, Isaac Abrahams, Thomas Dover, A. Delaroche, George March, James Fort, Stephen C. King, Urbanus Dart, R. J. Berrie and Henry Gigniliat, and such persons as they may procure, to take stock under this act, and their assigns, shall hereafter be a body corporate and politic, by the name and style of the Bank of Brunswick, with banking powers and privileges, located at Brunswick, and so shall continue, until the first day of January, 1866; and by the same corporate name, shall be, and are hereby made capable and able in law, to have, purchase, receive, possess, enjoy and retain to them, and their successors, lands, rents, tenements, hereditaments, goods, chattels and effects, of whatsoever kind, nature, or quality, the same may be; and the same to sell, grant, demise, alien or dispose of; to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, answer and be answered unto, defend and be defended in courts of record; and also, to make and have a common seal, and the same to break, alter and renew, at their pleasure; and also, to elect a board of directors, whose duty it shall be, to elect a president, and other officers; to ordain, establish and put in execution, such by-laws, rules and regulations, as shall be necessary and convenient, for the governing of the said corporation: Provided, that such by-laws, rules and regulations, shall not be contrary to the laws and constitution of this State, or of the United States: Provided, also, that said corporation shall not purchase and hold more real estate, than shall be necessary and proper, for its needful buildings, and such as shall have been, bona fide mortgaged to it as security, or conveyed to it in satisfaction of debts previously contracted, in the course of its dealings, or purchased at sales upon judgments, which shall have been obtained for such debts.

Capital
$200,000.

May be increased.

293. Sec. II. The capital stock of the company, shall consist of two hundred thousand dollars, in shares of one hundred dollars each, and that the said company be formed on that capital; but as soon as the Brunswick and Altamaha Canal shall be completed and in full use, the capital stock may be increased to one million of dollars; and as soon as the Brunswick and Florida Railroad shall be completed, from Brunswick to the Apalachicola river, the capital stock of said company may be increased to, and consist of three millions, in shares of one hundred dollars each.

Forfeiture of stock for non-payment.

294. Sec. III. If there should be a failure in the payment of any sum or sums subscribed, by any person, copartnership, or body politic, when the same is required by the directors to be paid, the share or shares of stock upon which such failure occurs, shall be for such failure forfeited, and may again be sold or disposed of, in such manner as the directors may order and provide, and the proceeds of the sale, and the sum or sums which may have been paid thereon, shall revert to, and belong to said corporation: Provided, that sixty days' notice of the time at which such payment is required to be made, be given in at least three of the public gazettes of this State, at or nearest to Brunswick.

295. Sec. IV. The number of votes to which each stockholder shall be entitled to, shall be according to the number of shares he shall hold in the following proportion—that is to say, for one share, one vote; for two shares and not exceeding five, two votes; and for every five shares above five, one vote: Provided, no person, corporation, or body politic, shall be entitled, in his, her, or their own right, to more than thirty votes; and after the first election, no share or shares shall confer a right of suffrage, which shall not have been holden three calendar months, previous to the day of election. Stockholders' votes.

296. Sec. V. Any number of stockholders, who shall together, be the owners of a majority of the stock of said company, shall have power at any time, to call a meeting of the stockholders, for purposes relative to the institution; giving at least sixty days' notice, in three of the public gazettes at, or nearest to Brunswick, specifying in such notice, the object of such meeting. Called meetings of stockholders.

297. Sec. VI. The directors shall have power to issue to the subscribers, their certificates of stock, signed by the president, and countersigned by their cashier, and which shall be transferable in the books of the cashier only, by personal entry of the stockholder, his legal representative or attorney, duly authorized by special power for that purpose: Provided, that no stockholder, indebted to the bank, shall transfer his, her, or their stock, until all debts due said bank by such stockholder shall be paid, unless by consent of the directors entered upon their minutes. Certificates and transfer of stock.

298. Sec. VII. All amounts of stock subscribed for, shall be paid in specie at the time of subscribing, and that the said corporation shall not, at any time, suspend or refuse payment in gold or silver, of any of its notes, bills or obligations; and if the said corporation shall, at any time, refuse or neglect to pay, on demand, any bill, note or obligation, issued by the corporation, according to contract, promise or understanding, therein expressed, the charter hereby granted shall be forfeited: Provided, however, that whenever a demand shall be made on this bank, by any bank or branch bank, by itself or its agent, this bank shall have the right of redeeming the bills thus demanded, with the bills of the bank or its branches making the demand. Payments on stock in specie.

299. Sec. VIII. The said Bank of Brunswick, with banking privileges, shall be permitted, and is hereby authorized; to issue bills or notes of credit payable to bearer on demand, signed by the president and countersigned by the cashier; but the total amount of debts which the said corporation shall at any time owe, whether by bond, bill or note, or other contract, shall not exceed three times the amount of the capital stock actually paid in. Failure in payment forfeits the charter.

300. Sec. IX. The persons and property of the stockholders, in the Bank of Brunswick with banking privileges, shall, at all times be pledged and bound in proportion to the number of dollars issued upon each of the shares that each individual or company hold, possess, are interested in, or entitled to, in the said Bank of Brunswick, for the payment and discharge of the debts or contracts of said bank; or for the ultimate redemption of all notes and bills issued, or that may be hereafter issued by, and from the said Bank of Brunswick with bank- May pay banks in their own notes.

May issue bills.

May owe three times the amount paid in.

Stockholders personally liable.

ing powers and privileges, in the same manner, as in simple actions of debt, or common commercial cases.

U. S. Bank to hold none of its stock.

301. Sec. X. The United States Bank, now located in Pennsylvania, shall hold no stock in said company.

An Act, to alter and amend the twenty-first section of an act, to establish a bank at Milledgeville, to be called and known by the name and style of the "Central Bank of Georgia," &c., passed, 22d Dec. 1828, so far as to require notes running and payable at said bank, to be renewed once in every twelve months, instead of once in six months, as is by said act now required.—This act approved Dec. 22d, 1836. Pam. 43.

Notes renewable annually.

302. Sec. I. From and after the passage of this act, that on all accommodation notes, running and payable at said bank, the makers thereof, shall, when the same become due, renew their notes once in twelve months thereafter, and on all accommodation, payable and hereafter discounted at said bank, the makers thereof shall renew their notes once in twelve months at least, after the date of said notes, under the same rules and regulations as are by said act prescribed for the renewal of notes in said bank.

303. Sec. II. So much of said twenty-first section of said act, as requires makers of notes running at said bank, to renew the same once in six months, be, and the same is hereby repealed: Provided, however, that this act is not to be so construed, that makers of notes now payable and running at said bank, shall not be required to renew their notes at the expiration of six months from their date.

304. Sec. III. All laws repugnant to this act, be, and the same are hereby repealed.

An Act, to incorporate a bank in the city of Macon, to be called the Ocmulgee Bank of the State of Georgia.—Approved Dec. 30, 1836. Pam. 43.

305. Whereas, a number of persons in Macon and its vicinity, interested in the welfare of that place, have capital which they are desirous of employing in facilitating its business, advancing its interests, and lessening its dependence on the banks of other places, by whose orders, discounts are controlled, and often stopped when they are most wanted and needed, in order to purchase the produce brought to this market.

Capital $500,000.

306. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That a bank shall be established in the city of Macon, to be called and known as "The Ocmulgee Bank of the State of Georgia," and that the capital stock of said bank shall be five hundred thousand dollars, divided into five thousand shares of one hundred dollars each.

How to be paid in.

307. Sec. II. [Details the time, places and manner of opening the books for original subscriptions, and proceeds to direct, that]—the sums thus respectively subscribed for, shall be payable in gold or silver coin, or in current bank bills of any or either of the banks or their branches, now established in Macon, Milledgeville, Augusta, or Savannah, in the manner following, to wit: Five per cent. shall be paid to the commissioners, at the time of subscribing for said stock, for which, said commissioners shall give a certificate; and twenty-five per cent, at such time as the commissioners at Macon, shall notify, as hereinafter provided; and the remaining seventy per cent, at such times and in such sums, as the directors of said bank, for the time being, shall, by sixty days' notice, given in the public gazettes of Macon, Milledgeville, Augusta and Savannah, appointed for that purpose: Provided, that no payment shall be called for, in the months of June, July, August and September, of any year:—And provided, also, that nothing herein contained, shall be so construed, as to cause, or permit the promissory notes, drafts, bills of exchange, checks on any bank, or any other obligation whatever, of any subscribers to said capital stock, to be received as equivalent to the notes or bills of the banks before mentioned: And provided further, That when all the shares constituting said capital stock, shall have been subscribed for, and five per cent. paid in, at the time of subscribing as aforesaid, then it shall be the duty of the commissioners at Macon, to give public notice thereof, in the gazettes of Macon, Milledgeville, Augusta, and Savannah, and at the same time, in each of the gazettes aforesaid, in like manner notify a place within the city of Macon, and likewise a day and hour at the distance of thirty or more days from the date of such notification, for all the subscribers to said capital stock, to pay in an additional twenty-five per cent. on the shares so subscribed, and for proceeding to the election of directors; and it shall be lawful for elections then and there to take place, and the persons who shall be then and there chosen, shall be the first directors, and shall receive from the commissioners, the money which may have been received by them, and it shall be the duty of said commissioners to pay over to said directors, all such sum or sums of money received by them, on account of said subscription, after deducting the amount of expense they may have incurred in managing the same. And the aforesaid directors, first chosen in the manner, and at the time notified as before mentioned, shall be capable of acting by virtue of such choice, until the end or expiration of the first Monday in November next ensuing said election, and shall forthwith commence the operation of said bank, in the city of Macon: And provided further, That in case it should at any time happen, that an election of directors should not be made on any day, when pursuant to this act, hereinafter provided, it ought to have been made, the said corporation shall not, for that cause, be deemed to be dissolved; but it shall be lawful on any other day within the space of three months thereafter, of which public notice shall be given in the public gazettes of Macon, to hold and make an election of directors, in such manner as is hereinafter provided for, and as may be regulated by the rules and by-laws of the said corporation: Provided also, That in case of the removal, resignation, absence, or death of any director, his place may be filled up for the remainder of the term for which he was elected, by the remaining directors.

Organization
of the Bank.

Lapsed
elections.

Vacancies in the direction.

308. Sec. III. If there shall be a failure in the payment of any sum or sums subscribed by any person, copartnership, corporation, or body politic, when the same is required to be paid by this act, or when it shall be required to be paid by the directors of said bank, the share or shares upon which such failure shall happen or accrue, shall be for such failure forfeited, and the sum or sums which may have been paid thereon, shall enure to the benefit of said corporation—and the share or shares so forfeited, shall be disposed of in such manner as the directors or a majority of them may provide: Provided always, that public notice was always given in the public gazettes, as before mentioned.

Forfeiture
for default of payment.

309. Sec. IV. All those who shall become subscribers to said bank, their successors and assigns, shall be, and they are hereby declared, created, and constituted a corporation and body politic, by the name and style of "the Ocmulgee Bank of the State of Georgia," and by that name shall be, and are hereby made able and capable in law, to have and to hold, purchase, receive, possess, enjoy, and retain to them and their successors, lands, rents, hereditaments, goods, chattels, and effects, of whatever kind, nature, or quality, the same may be; and the same to sell, grant, demise, alien or dispose of; to sue and be sued; plead and be impleaded; answer and be answered; defend and be defended in courts of record, or any other place whatsoever; and also to make, use, and have a common seal, and the same to break, alter and renew at their pleasure, and also to ordain, establish and put in execution, such by-laws, rules and regulations, as seem necessary and convenient for the government of said corporation: Provided, That such by-laws, rules, and regulations, be not contrary to the constitution and laws of the State, or of the United States, and generally, to do and execute all and singular, such matters and things, as to them may, or shall appertain; subject, nevertheless, to the regulations, restrictions, limitations and provisions, hereinafter prescribed.

Incorporated.

Corporate powers.

Rules.

310. Sec. V. The following rules, regulations, limitations, and provisions, shall form and be fundamental articles of the constitution of said corporation.

RULES.

Seven Directors.

1st. That for the good management and well ordering the affairs of the said corporation, seven directors shall be chosen, a majority of whom shall be competent to the discharge of their duties, who shall be first elected after thirty per cent. of said capital stock shall have been paid in gold or silver coin, or in current notes of either of the banks of Macon, Milledgeville, Augusta, or Savannah, or of the branches of said banks, in either of those places as before mentioned; and on the first Monday in November, in each and every year thereafter, the directors shall be chosen by the stockholders, or proprietors of the capital stock of said corporation, when a plurality of votes given in, shall be required to make a choice, and those who shall be duly chosen at any such election, shall be capable of serving by virtue of such choice, until the end of the first Monday in November next ensuing the time of such election, or until a new board shall have been elected as herein before provided, and no longer. And the said directors at their first meeting after such election, shall choose one of their number as president; and in case of his removal, resignation, absence or death, the said directors shall proceed to fill the vacancy by a new election from their body, for the remainder of the year: Provided, nothing herein contained, shall be so construed as to prevent such president from appointing any one of the other directors to be president pro tem., during his temporary absence of not more than three months: And provided further, That in case it should at any time happen, during the months of June, July, August, and September, that two or more directors should be absent from the city of Macon, then, in that case, five directors or a majority of them, shall be competent to do the business of said corporation, during the months before mentioned.

When and how chosen.

President.

Vacancies.

President pro tem.

When five Directors may act.

Scale of suffrage.

Maximum.

Stock to be held three months sensu sde.

2d. The number of votes to which each shareholder shall be entitled, shall be in the following proportion:—"That is to say, for one share, one vote; for two shares and not exceeding five, two votes; and for every five shares, above five, one vote: Provided, no person, corporation, or body politic, shall be entitled in his, her, or their own right, to more than thirty votes: provided, that, after the first election, no share or shares shall confer a right of suffrage, that shall not have been holden and transferred on the books of the bank, three calendar months previously to the day of election, and be held absolutely and bona fide, in his or her own right, or in that of his wife, or as executor, administrator, or guardian, or in the right and use of some copartnership, corporation or body politic, of which he or she may be a member, and not in trust for, or to the use of any other person, to be declared upon oath, when required by the cashier of the said corporation: Provided, also, that any stockholder, being absent, or unable, from any cause, to appear at the place of such election, may authorize, by power of attorney, under seal, any person to vote for him, her or them, and to which the above declaration upon oath shall and may be attached, if required, as before mentioned.

Probate.

Proxies.

3d. None but a stockholder, entitled in his own right, (which he shall declare upon, if required, as before mentioned,) to fifty shares of said stock, and not being a director of any other bank, shall be eligible as a director; and if any one of the directors of said corporation, shall, after being elected, become a director of any other bank, or accept of any appointment or office from any other bank, or cease to be a stockholder, he shall be no longer fit to serve, and his seat shall be vacated, if the remaining directors, or a majority of them, shall, upon their next meeting, pass and enter upon their minute book, an order, declaring him no longer to be a director.

Qualification of Directors.

4th. The directors, for a time being, shall have power to appoint such officers and clerks, under them, as they shall deem necessary for the executing the business of said corporation: Provided, such officers and clerks give bond and security for the faithful performance of their duty, which shall be satisfactory to such directors, or a majority of them, who shall make an entry on the minute book of said corporation, signifying their assent and approval of such officers and clerks, and their security accordingly.

Appointment of clerks and other officers.

5th. The board of directors, of whom the president, or president pro tem, shall always be one, shall convene at the banking house of said corporation, at least once a week: Provided, that the bill or exchange business of the said corporation, may be transacted by a committee of directors, on such days as there may be no meeting of the board of directors, who shall, at the next weekly meeting of directors, ensuing, be bound to examine such business, and enter on the minute book or journal of said corporation, their approval or disapproval of the business so done by said committee.

Weekly meetings.

Exchange Committee.

6th. The lands, tenements and hereditaments, which it shall be lawful for the said corporation to hold, shall be only such, as shall be requisite for its immediate accommodation in relation to the convenient transaction of its business, and such as have been bona fide mortgaged to it as security, or conveyed to it in satisfaction of debts, previously contracted, in the course of its business, or purchased upon sales upon judgments, which shall have been obtained for debts; and only to prevent sacrifice of such property so mortgaged or sold upon judgments.

What real estate may be held.

7th. The total amount of the debts which said corporation shall at any time owe, whether by bond, bill, note, obligation, or other contract, shall not exceed three times the amount of their capital stock, over and above the amounts actually deposited with them for safe keeping; and in case of excess, the acting board of directors, or such of them as may be in the State at the time, under whose administration it shall happen, and the person who shall hold the office of cashier, at the time of such excess, together with the securities, shall be liable for the same, in their individual, natural and private capacities, and the board of directors, the cashier and his securities, acting as above, shall not exonerate themselves, or any of their heirs, executors, or administrators, in any Bank never to owe more than treble the amount of its capital.

Directors not publicly protesting, and the cashier, liable for excess.

court of record having jurisdiction over the same, from such liability, under any pretence whatsoever, other than by giving public notice of such fact, in the public gazettes of the city of Macon, or any other two gazettes of the State, so soon as such excess shall come within their knowledge, and in case of failure to give such public notice, this shall be so construed as to prevent said directors and cashier and his securities, from recovering out of the effects of the said corporation, until all its other creditors are paid off and their claims satisfied.

Stock how to be issued and transferred.

8th. The directors shall have power to issue to the subscribers, their certificates of stock, in exchange for those granted by the commissioners, which shall be transferable only on the books of the bank, kept for that purpose, by personal entry of the stockholder, his, her or their legal representative or attorney, duly authorized by special power for that purpose.

Authentication of contracts.

9th. The bills obligatory and of credit, notes and other contracts, whatever, on behalf of said corporation, shall be binding and obligatory on said company, provided, the same be signed by the president and countersigned by the cashier of said corporation, and the funds of said corporation shall be, in no case, held liable for any contract or engagement, whatever, unless the same shall be so signed and countersigned, or attested as aforesaid, except only checks on any other bank, in the United States, shall be binding, if signed by the cashier only : and the books, papers, correspondence, and the funds and accounts of the company, shall, at all times, be subject to the inspection of the board of directors and stockholders, when convened, according to the provisions of this act.

Books and papers to be subject to inspection.

7,000 shares may call a meeting of stockholders.

10th. A number of stockholders, not less than ten, who shall be proprietors of not less than one thousand shares and upwards, of said stock, shall have power, and may, at any time, by giving sixty days' notice in the public gazettes of Macon, Augusta and Savannah, call a meeting of the stockholders of said corporation.

Dividends, how and when declared and paid.

11th. Dividends of the profits of the corporation, or so much thereof as shall be deemed expedient and proper, shall be declared and paid half yearly, (the first half year after the bank shall have been in operation excepted,) and the said dividends, shall, from time to time, be determined by a majority of the directors, at a meeting to be held for that purpose, on the second Monday in April and November, of each year, and shall, in no case exceed the profits acquired by the corporation.

Minutes, how to be kept.

12th. The directors shall keep fair and regular entries in a book to be provided for that purpose, called a minute book or journal of their proceedings, in which shall be entered a list of all notes, drafts or exchange discounted, together with the names of all the parties to such notes, drafts or exchanges discounted by the said board of directors, or the committee appointed by them ; and also, the yeas and nays of the directors voting on all questions whatsoever, and these minutes shall, at all times, be produced, when called for, by any meeting of directors or stockholders, when convened according to the provisions of this act.

Stock not to be pledged for loans, but stock always liable for the debts of the holders.

13th. No person, copartnership, or body politic whatever, shall be permitted to borrow money, or otherwise obtain any credit from said corporation upon the faith or pledge of his, her or their stock in said corporation, but shall be subjected to the same rules and regulations as are generally required from, and imposed upon other customers of said corporation ; and should any of the corporation be indebted by note, draft, bill of exchange, or other obligations which shall be past due, under protest, or in suit, then, in that case, it shall be lawful for the board of directors, for the time being, to declare the stock or shares, belonging to such person forfeited to the bank, to the amount he, she or they may be so indebted to the said corporation, as above.

311. Sec. VI. All property, either real or personal, which this corporation may hereafter acquire or hold, shall be subject to a taxation, not exceeding the ratio of other taxable property in this State; and the corporation of the city of Macon, shall have power to tax any property, whether real or personal, held in the city of Macon, by said corporation, in the same ratio of taxation against the like property in said city; but shall not have power to levy a city tax on the capital stock of said corporation.

The property except the capital stock subject to taxation.

312. Sec. VII. The said corporation, shall not at any time, suspend or refuse payment, in gold or silver, of any of its notes, bills, or obligations; and if the said corporation, shall, at any time, refuse or neglect to pay, on demand, any note, bill, or obligation, issued by the corporation, according to the contract, promise, or understanding therein expressed, the charter hereby granted shall be forfeited: Provided, however, that when a demand shall be made on this bank by any bank or branch bank, by itself or its agent, this bank shall have the right of redeeming the bills thus demanded, with the bills of the bank or its branches, making the demand.

Refusal to pay gold or silver, a forfeiture of the charter.

But banks may be paid in their own bills.

313. Sec. VIII. No notice or protest shall be necessary to charge any maker or makers, endorser or endorsers of any note, bill, or draft, or other obligation, discounted by said bank, and in all suits commenced by said corporation, upon any note, bill, draft, or other obligation, upon which there shall be any endorser or endorsers, the maker or makers, together with the endorser or endorsers, or their representatives, may be embraced and sued in the same action, and no proof of notice, demand or protest, shall be required on any trial to authorize a recovery.

Notice and protest unnecessary.

Endorsers may be sued with makers.

314. Sec. IX. The persons and property of the stockholders, for the time being, of said bank, shall be pledged and bound, over and above the amount of said stock paid in, in proportion to the amount of the shares that each individual, copartnership, corporation, or body politic, may hold in said bank, for the ultimate redemption of the bills or notes issued by, or from said bank, in the same manner as in common commercial cases or simple cases of debt.

Stockholders personally bound for the bills.

315. Sec. X. This corporation shall continue until the first day of January, 1857, and the directors, immediately preceding the dissolution of said bank, whenever it may happen, last appointed and acting, shall be bound to account to the company, for the just, proper and correct closing of its concerns, to all persons interested, according to their respective claims or interests; and the officers last acting in said bank, shall be, after the dissolution of said bank, bound to continue to act, in settling the affairs of said corporation, and in doing all things needful and necessary to be done for that purpose, during such time as the aforesaid last acting directors may order. This they shall do, under penalty of forfeiting their bond, for the use of whoever may have claims, and sue for recovery.

Incorporated till 1857.

Winding up the business.

316. Sec. XI. In consideration of the granting of this charter, the corporation aforesaid shall be required to pay a bonus of twenty-five thousand dollars to the trustees of the Georgia Female College, at Macon; five thousand dollars to be paid, on or before said bank commences discounts, and the residue in annual instalments thereafter, of ten thousand dollars each. Nothing shall be so construed, as to authorize the directors of this bank, to proceed to banking, until twenty-five per cent. of their capital stock is paid in, in specie, Bonus of $25,000 to the Female college at Macon.

An Act, to amend an act, entitled an act, "To incorporate the bank of Milledgeville, located at Milledgeville, with banking and insurance privileges," passed, 22d December, 1835, so far as to authorize the increase of the capital stock of said Bank, for the benefit of Oglethorpe University.—Approved Dec. 24th, 1836. Pam. 54.

Preamble.

317. Whereas, the friends of education, in this and other States, have united to establish Oglethorpe University, and have for this purpose contributed funds for its endowment, a part of which is now ready for investment, and other portions will be paid in a very short time.—And whereas, at the present high price of stocks, the funds thus contributed, cannot be vested without paying a high premium to procure stock in any of the banks of this State, by which the active means of the University will be very much curtailed—to avoid which, as well as to secure to the University, the right to profitable stock, the trustees of said University are desirous to procure an amendment of the charter of the Bank of Milledgeville, authorizing an increase of the capital stock of said bank, for the benefit of the University.

Allowed to increase the capital $100,000 for the Oglethorpe University.

Sec. I. Be it therefore enacted, That the president and directors of the Bank of Milledgeville, with the consent of the stockholders, shall be, and they are hereby authorized to increase from time to time, the capital stock of the Bank of Milledgeville, one thousand shares of one hundred dollars each, upon the application of the board of trustees of Oglethorpe University, or the executive committee of said board, and to issue certificates of stock for every such increase, as heretofore provided by the charter of said bank, which certificates of stock thus granted, shall be placed upon the footing of certificates of stock heretofore issued by said bank.

To be paid and banked upon as other stock.

318. Sec. II. All payments made, or which shall be required to be made upon the stock thus granted, shall be considered a part of the capital of said bank, in like manner as the payments heretofore made upon the capital stock of said bank, and the president and directors shall be authorized to issue the notes of said bank to the extent of three times the amount of the capital thus actually paid in.

All laws or parts of laws repugnant to this act, be, and the same are hereby repealed.

An Act, to amend an act, establishing a bank at Macon, known as the Commercial Bank.—Approved Dec. 29th, 1836. Pam. 54.

Preamble.

319. Whereas the sixth section of the charter of the Commercial Bank, located at Macon, requires the election annually, of nine directors, for remedy whereof, Direction reduced to five.

Be it enacted, That the stockholders of the Commercial Bank of Macon, shall annually elect five directors for the management of said bank, a majority of whom, shall be capable of transacting the business of the same, any law to the contrary notwithstanding.

An Act, to incorporate a banknig company, under the name of the Planters and Mechanics Bank of Columbus.—Approved Dec. 30th, 1836. Pam. 55.

Certain persons and their future associates incorporated.

320. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That Hampton S. Smith, Seymore R. Bonner, John W. Campbell, Job T. Niles, Joseph Sturges, Walter T. Colquett, William & W. Toney, Philip A. Clayton, Thomas Hoxey, John Warren, Dana Hungerford, John L. Lewis, Samuel A. Bailey, Petkin & Richards, William P. Malone, Richard Jones, Augustus

Grant, John Woolfolk, E. S. Greenwood, & Co., Bowdrie & Rickards, Philo D. Woodruff, Jonathan A. Hudson, William P. M'Keen, Thomas Watson, Samuel R. Andrews, King & Boring, John N. Copeland, Richard Hooper, Thomas Wood, John W. Lumpkin, J. J. Boswell, A. B. Ragan, T. R. Gold, F. C. M'Kinley, James N. Bethune, John R. Dawson, John Banks, W. B. Ector, Alexander Pope, Garnett Andrews, Robert A. Toombs, James Nolan, Lock Weems, Ira E. Smith, Stephen D. Heard, Pleasant Benning, Jacob M. Guerri, John B. Davis, George W. B. Towns, John S. Wood, Alexander J. Robison, Green Ball and John R. Stanford, with all such persons as may hereafter become stockholders in said company, be, and they are hereby incorporated and made a body politic, by the name and style of the "Planters and Mechanics Bank of Columbus;" and shall continue until the first day of January, 1857, and by that name shall be, and are hereby made able and capable in law, to have purchase, receive, possess, enjoy and retain to them and their successors, lands, rents, tenements, hereditaments, goods, chattels and effects of what kind, nature, or quality, whatsoever, and the same to sell, grant, demise, alien or dispose of; to sue and be sued; plead and be impleaded; answer and be answered; defended and be defended against, in courts of record in this State; and also, to make, have, and use a common seal, and the same to break, alter and renew at their pleasure; and also to ordain, establish and put in execution such by-laws, ordinances and resolutions, as shall seem necessary and convenient for the government of said corporation, not being contrary to the laws and constitution of this State, or the United States, and generally, to do, perform and execute, all and singular, such acts, matters and things, which, to them, it shall appertain to do, subject, nevertheless, to the rules, regulations, restrictions, limitations and provisions hereinafter prescribed and declared; but the said corporation shall own no real estate, except such as may be necessary for the erection of buildings for the use and accommodation of the bank, or such as may be conveyed to it by mortgage, or otherwise, for the payment of the debts due to it; and in no instance shall the bank be allowed to become the purchaser of any real estate under any mortgage due to the bank.

Corporate name.

Duration.

Corporate powers.

Restrictions as to real estate.

321. Sec. II. The stock of the company shall consist of one million of dollars, in shares of one hundred dollars each, and the stockholders of said bank are hereby required to pay twenty-five per cent. on the amount of their capital stock, in specie, before the board of directors shall be permitted to issue their bank notes, and the remainder of their subscription, in such sums, and at such times, as the board of directors of said bank shall require: Provided, ninety days' notice of the requisition shall first be given in two public gazettes of Columbus, or in one gazette in Columbus and one in Milledgeville, as the directors may think proper.

Stock $1,000,000.

How to be paid in.

322. Sec. III. If there shall be a failure in the payment of any sum subscribed for, by any person, copartnership, or body politic, when the same is required to be paid by this act, the share or shares upon which such failure shall happen or accrue, shall be for such failure forfeited, and may be again sold and disposed of in such manner as the directors shall order and provide, and the proceeds from such sale, together with the sum or sums which may have been paid thereon, shall revert to the benefit of said corporation.

Forfeiture for non-payment.

323. Sec. IV. For the well ordering of the affairs of said corporation, there shall be seven directors, who shall be elected as soon as the sum of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars in specie shall have been paid in by the stockholders of the bank, and the president, directors Organization.

When to commence business.

Directors
how to be chosen.

President.

Vacancy of
president.

Vacancies of Directors.

Lapsed
elections.

Appointment of officers by the Directors.

Rules.

Scale of suffrage by stockholders.

Maximum.

Shares how held to confer the right of voting.

Qualification
of Directors.

and cashier, are hereby expressly inhibited from the issuing of their bank notes, until they have officially and under oath, notified the governor, that the provisions of this charter have been literally and strictly complied with; and in each and every year thereafter, the directors shall be chosen by the stockholders on the first day of February, when a majority of votes given in shall be necessary to make a choice, and those who shall be duly chosen at any election, shall at their first meeting after each election, choose one of their own members as president, and in case of his death, resignation, or removal from this State, or from the board of directors, the said directors shall proceed to fill the vacancy, by a new election for the remainder of the year: Provided, that the first election for directors shall not take place before sixty days' notice shall have been given in two or more newspapers printed at or near Columbus: And provided, that in case of death, resignation, absence from the State, or removal of a director, his place may be filled until the ensuing annual election, by the remaining directors: And provided further, that in case it should at any time happen, that an election of directors should not be made on the day when pursuant to this act it ought to have been made, the said corporation shall not on that account be deemed to be dissolved, but it shall on any other day, be lawful to hold and make an election of directors, in such manner as shall have been ordained and regulated by the rules and by-laws of said corporation.

324. Sec. V. The directors for the time being, shall have power to appoint such officers and clerks under them, as shall be necessary for executing the business of said corporation, and allow them such compensation respectively, as shall be reasonable for their services, and shall be capable of exercising such other powers and authorities for the well governing and ordering the affairs of said corporation, as to them shall appear conducive to the interest of the institution.

325. Sec. VI. The following rules, regulations, limitations and provisions shall form, and be held fundamental articles of the constitution of said corporation.—

1st. The number of votes to which each stockholder shall be entitled, shall be according to the number of shares he shall hold, each share to be entitled to one vote.

The number of votes to which each stockholder shall be entitled, shall be according to the number of shares he shall hold in the following proportion; that is to say—for one share, one vote; for two shares, and not exceeding five, two votes; for every five shares above five, one vote; but no number of shares shall entitle any one stockholder to more than sixty votes: provided, that no share or shares shall confer the right of suffrage, which shall not have been holden at least three calendar months previously to the day of election, and unless it be holden absolutely and bona fide in his own right or in that of his wife, and for his, or her own benefit and use; or as executor, administrator, or guardian, or in the right of some copartnership, corporation or society, of which he or she, may be a member, and not in trust for, or to the use of any other person. Any stockholder being absent, may authorise by power of attorney, under seal, to vote for him her or them.

2d. None but a stockholder entitled in his own right, to thirty shares, being a citizen of the State, and not a director in any other bank or branch bank, shall be eligible as a director, and if any one of the directors, after being elected, shall cease to be a stockholder, his seat shall thereupon become vacated and be so declared by the remaining directors or a majority of them, by an order passed for that purpose at their next meeting.

3d. The stockholders shall make such compensation to the president as shall to them appear just and reasonable. President's compensation.

4th. The total amount of debts which the said corporation shall at any time owe, whether by bond, bill, note, or other security, shall not exceed three times the amount of their capital stock actually paid in, over and above the amount of specie actually deposited in the vaults for safe keeping. In case of excess, the directors under whose administration it shall happen, shall be liable for the same, in their private and individual capacities, and may be sued for the same, in any court of record in the United States, by any creditor of the corporation, any condition, covenant, or agreement to the contrary notwithstanding; but this shall not be so construed as to exempt the said corporation, or the lands, tenements, goods and chattels, of the same, from being liable for, and chargeable with the said excess. Never to owe more than treble the amount of stock paid in. Directors personally liable for any excess.

326. Sec. VII. In no suit or action in any court of this State, in which the said bank may be a party, shall it be lawful for the other party or parties to require the said bank to produce the books of the bank into court in evidence, nor shall it be lawful for such party or parties to require, by subpoena or other process, the attendance of any officer of the said bank in court, on the trial of such case; but whenever, in any such suit, it may become necessary that the evidence contained in said book, or the testimony of such officer should be had, it shall and may be lawful for either party to take out a commission in the usual manner, to examine said officers as to the contents of said books, or as to their own knowledge of the facts. Books and officers not to be summoned out of the Bank on subpoena in its own cases.

327. Sec. VIII. The bills obligatory and of credit, notes, and all other contracts whatever, on the behalf of said bank, shall be binding and obligatory on said company: Provided, the same be signed by the president and countersigned by the cashier of said corporation, and the funds of said corporation shall, in no case, be held liable for any contract or engagement whatever, unless the same shall be so signed and countersigned, or attested as aforesaid, and the books, papers and correspondence, and the funds of the corporation, shall, at all times, be subject to the inspection of the board of directors and stockholders, when convened, according to the provision hereinafter inserted. Authentication of contracts. Books, &c. to be subject to inspection.

328. Sec. IX. The dividends of the profits of the corporation, which in no case shall exceed the amount of the actual profits acquired, shall be determined by a majority of the directors, and declared and paid half yearly, the first half year after the bank goes into operation excepted.

329. Sec. X. The directors shall keep fair and regular entries of their proceedings, in a book kept for that purpose, which shall be at all times subject to the inspection of the stockholders, when at a general meeting the same shall be required. Minutes how kept, and open to inspection.

330. Sec. XI. The persons and property of the stockholders shall be pledged and held bound in proportion to the amount of shares, and the value thereof, that each individual or company, may hold in said bank, for the ultimate redemption of the bills or notes issued by said bank, in the same manner, as in common actions of debt, and no stockholder shall be relieved from such liability by sale of his stock, until he shall have caused to have been given, sixty days' notice in some public gazette of this State. Stockholders individually bound for payment of the bills.

331. Sec. XII. A number of stockholders, who together, shall be proprietors of fifteen hundred shares at least, shall have power to call a meeting at any time, of the stockholders, for purposes relative to the institution, first giving sixty days' notice, in some public gazette of this State, specifying the object or objects of said meeting. 1,500 shares may call a meeting of the stockholders.

Cashier to give bond.

332. Sec. XIII. The cashier of said bank, before he enters on the duties of the office, shall give bond with two or more securities, satisfactory to the directors, in a sum not less than thirty thousand dollars, with condition for his good behavior in said office, and the faithful discharge of his duties.

Certificates
of stock.

333. Sec. XIV. The directors shall have power to issue to the stockholders of the bank, certificates of the shares by them respectively held, and are authorised to open transfer books, by agents or otherwise, whenever they may deem it advisable.

Transfer
books.

Loans not to be made on pledges of stock.

334. Sec. XV. No stockholder shall be permitted to borrow money from said bank, upon the faith or pledge of their stock, but shall be subject to the same rules and regulations in borrowing money therefrom, as any other customer of the institution.

Stock held within six months liable if the bank fails.

335. Sec. XVI. In case of a failure of said bank, all the stockholders who may have sold their stock at any time within six months prior to said failure, shall be liable in the same manner as if they had not sold their stock.

An Act to incorporate the Western Bank of Georgia, with banking privileges, to be located at Rome.—Approved December 30th, 1836. Pam. 60.

Incorporated.

336. Sec. I. A bank shall be established and incorporated, to be called the Western Bank of Georgia, to be located at Rome in the county of Floyd, and so to continue, until the first day of Jan. 1867, and by that name shall be, and is hereby made capable in law, to have, purchase, receive and possess, and retain to them and their successors, lands, rents, tenements, hereditaments, so far as may be necessary for the erection of necessary banking houses only; goods, chattels, and effects, of what kind soever; and the same to grant, alien, sell and convey; to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded; answer and be answered unto; defend and be defended, in any court of law or equity in this State or elsewhere, having competent jurisdiction; to make, use, and have a common seal, and the same to break, alter or renew at their pleasure—and to make or ordain such by-laws, rules and regulations, as they may deem expedient and necessary, to carry into effect, the object of the above institution: Provided, such by-laws, rules, and regulations, be not repugnant to the constitution of this State, or of the United States.

Corporate
powers.

Capital
$400,000.

337. Sec. II. The capital stock of said bank, shall be four hundred thousand dollars, to be divided into shares of one hundred dollars each. [Here follows the several places appointed, and the number of shares for each in which the books are to be opened.] And the sum or shares respectively subscribed for, shall be payable, in gold or silver coin, and that five per cent. shall be paid to the commissioners, at the time of subscription, for said stock, for which, said commissioners shall give a certificate, and the remainder, at such time, as the directors to be appointed, shall order: provided, that when all the shares of said stock shall have been subscribed for, and the five per cent. paid in, it shall be the duty of the commissioners at Cassville, to give public notice, in the Macon, Milledgeville and Georgia Pioneer papers, to the stockholders, calling on them for the payment of twenty-five per cent. more, and appointing a time and place, for the stockholders to meet, for the payment of the said twenty-five per cent., and for the election of five or more directors, which time shall not be in less than thirty days of such notice, and it shall be the duty of the said commissioners, to pay over to the directors when chosen, the amount of money by them received, deducting expenses.

How paid in.

First organization.

338. Sec. III. No individual stockholder, shall, in his own right, possess a number of shares, exceeding two hundred.

No person to hold over 200 shares.

339. Sec. IV. For the well ordering the affairs of said bank, there shall be elected by the stockholders not less than five directors, as soon as gold and silver coin, to the amount of fifty thousand dollars of the subscription for said stock shall have been received, and said directors, so elected, shall be capable to serve as such, until the first Monday in January of the year 1838, on which day, and every year thereafter, on the same day, directors shall be chosen by the owners and proprietors of the stock of said bank when a majority of the votes given in shall be required to make a choice, and the directors thus chosen, shall at their first meeting, and at each annual meeting thereafter, make choice of one of their own members as president, and in case of his death or resignation or removal from this State, or from the board of directors, the remaining directors shall proceed to fill the vacancy for the remainder of the year, and in case it shall at any time happen that the stockholders omit or neglect to elect directors on the day prescribed and authorised by this act, the said corporation shall not for such omission or neglect, be deemed to be dissolved, but it shall be lawful on any other day, to hold and make an election of directors, in such manner as shall have been or may be prescribed, by the rules and by-laws of said corporation, and provided, that in case of the death, resignation or removal of any directors from this State, his place shall be filled for the remainder of the year, by the remainder of the directors.

Five Directors.

Subsequent elections.

President.

Vacancy of President.

Lapsed elections.

Vacancy of Directors.

340. Sec. V. If there should be a failure in the payment of any sum, or sums subscribed by any of the stockholders, after the same is required by the directors to be paid, the share or shares of stock upon which such failure occurs, shall, for such failure be forfeited, and may again be sold or disposed of in such manner as the directors may order and provide, and the proceeds of the sale, and the sum or sums, that may have been paid thereon, shall revert to, and belong to said corporation: Provided, sixty days' notice of the time when such payment is required to be made, be given in two of the public gazettes of Milledgeville: And provided, it shall not effect the rights of orphans, who may not have a legal guardian or guardians, to represent their interests in said corporation.

Forfeiture for non-payment.

60 days' notice of calls.

Orphans not affected.

341. Sec. VI. The directors for the time being, shall have power and authority, to appoint such officers and clerks under them, as may be necessary, for executing the business of said corporation, and shall allow them, together with the president, such compensation as to them shall seem reasonable, and shall require of the cashier and other officers, under such bonds conditioned for their good behavior and a faithful discharge of their duties, as to them may be satisfactory. and the president, cashier and other officers, of the bank, before entering on the duties of their office, shall take the following oath "I, A. B. do solemnly swear, (or affirm,) that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of president, cashier or other officer (as the case may be) of the Western Bank of Georgia, to the best of my knowledge and ability," which oath shall be entered and subscribed on the minutes of the corporation.

Appointment of other officers.

Official bonds.

Oath.

342. Sec. VII. The number of votes, that each stockholder, shall be entitled to, shall be according to the number of shares he shall own, in the following proportion—that is to say, for one share, one vote; for two shares, and not exceeding five, two votes; and for every five shares above five, one vote: Provided, no person, body politic or corporation, shall be entitled in his, her, or their own right, to more than thirty votes; and after the first election, no share or shares shall confer a right of suffrage, which shall not have been holden, three calendar months previous to the day of election; any stockholder being absent, may authorise, by power of attorney, under seal, any other stockholder to vote for him, her, or them: provided, said power of attorney, is filed in bank thirty days before the day of election.

Scale of suffrage.

How shares must be held to confer the right of suffrage.

500 shares
may call a meeting of the stockholders.

343. Sec. VIII. Any number of stockholders, who shall together, be the owners and proprietors of five hundred shares and upwards, shall have power at any time, to call a meeting of the stockholders, for purposes relative to the institution, giving at least sixty days' notice, in two of the public gazettes, one in Milledgeville, and the other, in one published in the Cherokee Circuit, specifying in such notice the object of such meeting.

Qualification
of Directors.

344. Sec. IX. None but a stockholder, being a citizen of the State of Georgia, shall be eligible as a director, and no director of any other bank shall be a director of this bank, and if any director after being chosen cease to be a stockholder, the remaining directors shall, at their next meeting, declare him to be no longer a director, and shall proceed to fill his seat, for the remainder of the year, for which he was chosen.

Quorum of Directors.

345. Sec. X. No less than a majority of directors, shall form a board for the transaction of business, of whom the president shall always be one, unless sick, or absent on necessary business, in which case, a president pro tem., of one of the directors may be selected.

President
pro tem.

Certificates
of stock.

346. Sec. XI. The directors, shall have power to issue, to the subscribers, their certificates of stock, signed by the president, and countersigned by the cashier, and which shall be transferable only by personal acting of the stockholder, in the books of the cashier, or by his agent or attorney authorised by special power of attorney for that purpose: Provided, that no stockholder indebted to the bank, shall make such transfer of stock, until all debts due said bank, by said stockholder shall be paid, unless by consent of the directors entered upon their minutes.

Transfers.

Authentication of written contracts.

347. Sec. XII. The bills obligatory, and of credit, notes and other contracts whatsoever, in behalf of said corporation, shall be binding upon the said company: provided, the same be signed by the president, and countersigned by the cashier of the said corporation; and the funds of said corporation, shall in no case, be held liable for any contract, or engagement whatever, unless the same be signed and countersigned as aforesaid.

Failure to pay gold or silver, a forfeiture of the charter.

348. Sec. XIII. The said corporation, shall not at any time, suspend or refuse payment in gold or silver, of any of its notes, bills or obligations, and if the said corporation shall at any time, refuse or neglect to pay on demand, any bill, note, or obligation, issued by the corporation, according to the contract, promise or understanding therein expressed, the charter hereby granted shall be forfeited: Provided, however, that whenever a demand shall be made on this bank by any bank or branch bank, by itself or its agent, this bank shall have the right of redeeming the bills thus demanded, with the bills of the bank or its branches, making the demand.

But banks to be paid in their own bills.

Minutes.

349. Sec. XIV. The directors shall keep fair and regular minutes of the proceedings, and upon any question, when a director shall require it, the yeas and nays of the directors voting, shall be inserted on said minutes, and the books, papers and correspondence and funds of the company, shall, at all times, be subject to the inspection of the board of directors or stockholders, when convened according to the provisions of this act.

Yeas and nays.

Subject to inspection.

350. Sec. XV. No notice or protest, shall be necessary to charge any endorser or maker of any note or obligation due said bank, and all makers or endorsers, or their representatives, may be embraced and sued in one action, and no proof of notice, demand or protest, shall be necessary or required on any trial to authorise a recovery: Provided, that nothing in this act, shall be so construed as to prevent any endorser or endorsers from being exonerated from liability, after having given said corporation three months' notice to sue on said demand.

351. Sec. XVI. In no suit or action, in any court of this State, in which the said bank may be a party, shall it be lawful for the other party or parties, to require the said bank to produce its books into court as evidence, nor shall it be lawful for such party or parties, to require by subpoena the attendance of any officers of this bank in court, on the trial of the case; but it shall and may be lawful for the party requiring such testimony or evidence, to take out a commission in the usual manner, to examine the officers of said bank, as to the contents of said books, or as to their knowledge of facts, notwithstanding such officer may reside in the county where such suit is pending.

352. Sec. XVII. The said bank shall be permitted, and is hereby authorized to issue bills or notes of credit, payable to bearer on demand, signed by the president and countersigned by the cashier; but the total amount of debts, which said corporation shall at any time owe, whether by bond, note, bill, or other contract, shall not exceed three times the amount of capital stock actually paid in, and in case of excess, it shall be the duty of the president and cashier, to notify the governor, in writing, of such excess; upon the receipt of which, it shall be the duty of the governor to issue his proclamation, declaring the charter of said bank forfeited, and calling a meeting of the stockholders, who shall have power and authority to adopt such measures as may be deemed prudent and effectual, in bringing the affairs of said bank to a speedy close.

353. Sec. XVIII. Dividends of the profits of the corporation, or so much thereof as may be deemed expedient and proper, shall be declared and paid semi-annually, and the said dividends shall be determined from time to time, by a majority of the directors, at a meeting to be held for that purpose, and shall in no case exceed the amount of the net proceeds actually acquired by the corporation, so that the capital stock shall never be impaired.

354. Sec. XIX. The persons and property of the stockholders in the Western Bank of Georgia, with banking privileges, shall at all times be pledged and bound in proportion to the number of dollars issued upon each of the share or shares, that each individual or company may hold or possess, or are interested in, or entitled to, in said Western Bank of Georgia, for the payment and discharge of the debts or contracts of said bank, or for the ultimate redemption of all notes or bills issued, or that may be hereafter issued by, and from the said bank, in the same manner as simple actions of common debt, or common commercial cases.

355. Sec. XX. All transfers of stock in said bank, shall be wholly void if made [within?] six months previous to the failure of said bank, but that said stockholders so transferring, shall be deemed and held liable for the debts of the institution, notwithstanding such transfer.

356. Sec. XXI. It shall not be lawful for the president, directors or officers of said bank, to borrow any amount of money from said bank, nor to endorse for any applicant for money to said bank.

357. Sec. XXII. Said bank shall receive and disburse all funds belonging to the State, that may be deposited therein, free of all charge or expense.

All parties liable on notes, payable in one action, no protest or notice necessary.

How endorsers may be exonerated.

Books and officers not subject to notice and subpoena, where the bank is a party.

May issue bills.

Never to owe more than treble the amount of stock paid in.

On pain of forfeiture.

Dividends, how declared and paid.

Stockholders individually bound for redemption of bills, &c.

Transfers within six months of bank failure, void.

President and Directors may not borrow nor endorse. Bank shall disburse for the State.

An Act to extend the Charter of the Planters Bank of the State of Georgia, and to continue the rights granted by existing acts to the said Bank.—Approved Dec. 23, 1836. Pam. 68.

Charter extended to Jan'y, 1861. 358. Sec. I. The charter of the Planters Bank of the State of Georgia, is hereby declared to be prolonged and extended for, and to the end of twenty years from the day before the expiration of its present charter.

And all acts concerning it, continued in force. 359. Sec. II. All and every, the act and acts of the general assembly of this State, relating to the said, the Planters Bank of the State of Georgia, be, and the same are hereby declared to be continued and in force for and during the said extended charter.

Stockholders individually bound for the bills, &c. 360. Sec. III. The persons and property of the stockholders for the time being, in said Planters Bank, shall be pledged and bound in proportion to the amount of the shares that each individual or company may hold in said bank, for the ultimate redemption of the bills or notes issued by, or from said bank, during the time he, she, or they may hold such stock, in the same manner as in ordinary commercial cases or simple cases of debt.

An Act to Incorporate the Bank of St. Marys.—Approved Dec. 29, 1836. Pam. 68.

Capital stock $250,000. 362. Sec. I. A bank shall be established in the town of St. Marys, the capital stock of which, shall be $250,000, to be divided into shares of $100 each.

Subscriptions how paid in. 363. Sec. II. [Prescribes the time and places of the original subscriptions, and directs, that] the sums respectively subscribed for, shall be payable in manner following—that is to say—ten per cent at the time of subscribing—ten per cent at the expiration of thirty days, and the balance of the sums so subscribed, at such other time or times, as the directors shall require: Provided, thirty days' previous notice of the time, at which said payment is required, shall be given in the gazettes of Savannah and Darien, and at three of the most public places in Camden county.

Forfeiture of stock for non-payment. 364. Sec. III. If there shall be a failure in the payment of any sum subscribed by any person, copartnership, corporation or body politic, when the same is required to be paid by this act or the directors, the share or shares, upon which such failure shall happen or accrue, shall be forfeited, and may again be sold and disposed of in such manner as the directors shall order and provide; and the proceeds from such sale, together with the sum or sums, which may have been paid thereon, shall enure to the benefit of said corporation.

Incorporated. 365. Sec. IV. All those who shall become subscribers to the said bank, their successors and assigns, shall be, and they are hereby created and made a corporation and body politic, by the name and style of "The Bank of St. Marys," and by that name shall be, and are hereby made capable in law, to have, purchase, receive, possess, enjoy and retain to them and their successors, lands, tenements, rents, hereditaments, goods, chattels, and effects, of what kind, nature, or quality soever; and the same to sell, grant, demise, alien or dispose of; to sue and be sued; plead and be impleaded; answer and be answered; defend and be defended; in courts of record, or any other place whatsoever. And also to make, have, and use, a common seal, and the same to break, alter and renew at their pleasure; and also to ordain, establish, and put in execution, such by-laws, rules, and regulations, as shall seem necessary and convenient for the government of said corporation : Provided, nevertheless, that such by-laws, rules and regulations, be not contrary to the laws and constitution of this State, or of the United States ; and generally, to do and execute all and singular, such matters, acts and things, as to them may, or shall appertain to do, subject nevertheless, to the rules, regulations, restrictions, limitations, and provisions, hereinafter prescribed.

Name.
Corporate powers.

366. Sec. V. For the well ordering of the affairs of said corporation, there shall be seven directors, who shall be elected as soon as $50,000 in gold or silver, shall have been received on account of the subscription of said stock. And in each and every year thereafter, the directors shall be chosen by the stockholders or the proprietors of the capital stock of said corporation, when a plurality of votes given in, shall be necessary to a choice, and those who shall be duly elected, shall be capable of serving as directors, by virtue of such choice, until the end of the first Monday in January next, ensuing the time of said election, and no longer ; and the said directors, at their first meeting after such election, shall choose one of their number as president, and in case of his death or resignation, removal from the State or board of directors, the said directors shall proceed to fill the vacancy, by a new election for the remainder of the year : And provided always, and be it further enacted, that so soon as $50,000 aforesaid, shall have been actually received by the commissioners, where books have been opened on account of the subscriptions to said stock, such sums shall immediately thereafter be transmitted to the commissioners in St. Marys, who shall give notice in the gazettes of Savannah and Darien, and at three of the most public places in the county of Camden, thereof, and at the same time, and in like manner, notify a time and place within the town of St. Marys, at the distance of thirty days at least, from the date of such notification, for proceeding to the election of directors, and it shall be lawful for the election then and there to be made, and the persons who shall then and there be chosen, shall be the first directors, and shall receive from the commissioners, the money which may have been received by them, and shall be capable of acting by virtue of such choice, until the end of the first Monday in January next, ensuing the time of making the same, and shall forthwith thereafter, commence the operations of said bank, at the said town of St. Marys : Provided, further, that in case it should at any time happen, that an election of directors should not be made at any day, when pursuant to this act, it ought to have been made, the said corporation shall not, for that cause, be deemed to be dissolved, but it shall be lawful on any other day to hold an election for directors, in such manner as shall have been regulated by the laws and rules of said corporation : And provided, that in case of the death, resignation or removal of a director, or his absence from the State, his place may be filled up by a new choice for the remainder of the year, by the remaining directors.

Seven Directors to be annually elected.

President.

Vacancy of President.

Original organization.

Commencement of business. Lapsed elections.

Vacancies in the direction.

Officers, their appointment, compensation and security.

367. Sec. VI. The directors, for the time being, shall have power to appoint such officers, clerks and servants, as shall be necessary for the executing the business of said corporation, requiring from said officers, clerks and servants, such security as said directors shall deem necessary, and to allow them such compensation for their services respectively, as shall be reasonable ; and shall be capable of exercising such other power and authority, for the well ordering and governing of the affairs of said corporation, as shall appear conducive to the interest of the institution.

Sec. VII. The following rules, restrictions, limitations and provisions, shall form and be fundamental articles of the constitution of said corporation.

Rules.

Graduated scale of suffrage.

Proxies.

Qualification
of Directors.

President's compensation.

Quorum of Directors.

President
pro tem.

200 shares may call a meeting of stockholders.

Cashier's
bond $20,000.

Never to owe more than treble the amount of stock paid in.

Directors not recording their dissent, to be individually liable for any excess.

Certificates and transfers
of stock.

Rule 1. The number of votes to which each stockholder shall be entitled shall be according to the number of shares he shall hold, in the following proportion; that is to say—for one share, one vote; for two shares, and not exceeding five, two votes; and for every five shares above five, one vote. Any stockholder being absent, may authorize by power of attorney, under seal, any other stockholder to vote for him, her or them.

Rule 2. None but a stockholder entitled in his own right to ten shares, being a citizen of this State, and not being a director of any other bank, shall be eligible as a director; and if any one of the directors shall at any time, during the time for which he shall have been chosen, cease to be a stockholder, his seat thereupon shall become vacant, and the remaining directors, or a majority of them, shall at the next meeting, pass an order declaring him to be no longer a director.

Rule 3. The stockholders shall make such compensation to the president, as shall seem reasonable.

Rule 4. Not less than four directors shall constitute a board for the transaction of business, of whom the president shall be one—but in case of sickness or necessary absence, a president pro tem. may be elected by the directors present, from amongst themselves to supply his place.

Rule 5. A number of stockholders, not less than ten, who together, shall be proprietors of two hundred shares or upwards, shall have power at any time, to call a meeting of the stockholders, for purposes relative to the corporation, giving at least sixty days' notice in the gazettes of Savannah and Darien, and at three of the most public places in Camden county, specifying in such notice, the object of such meeting.

Rule 6. The cashier of the bank, for the time being, before he enters on the duties of his office, shall be required to give bond, with two or more securities, to the satisfaction of the directors, in a sum not less than $20,000.

Rule 7. The total amount of the debts which said corporation shall at any time owe, whether by bond, bill, note, or other contract, shall not exceed three times the amount of its capital stock actually paid in, and above the amount of specie actually deposited in its vaults for safe keeping. In case of excess, the directors under whose administration it shall happen, shall be liable for the same, in their individual and private capacity, and an action of debt may be brought against them, or any of them, or any of their heirs, executors or administrators, in any court of record of the United States, having competent jurisdiction, or either of them, by any creditor or creditors of said corporation, and may be prosecuted to judgment and execution; any condition, covenant, or agreement, to the contrary notwithstanding. But this shall not be construed to exempt the said corporation, or the lands, tenements, goods, chattels and effects of the same, from being also liable for, and chargeable with the said excess; and such of the said directors, who may have been absent when the said excess was created or contracted, or may have dissented from the resolution or act, whereby the same was created and contracted, may respectively exonerate themselves from being so liable, by having their dissent, if present, entered on the minutes of said corporation.

Rule 8. The directors shall have power to issue to the subscribers, their certificates of stock, which shall be transferable on the books of the cashier only, by personal entry of the stockholder, his legal representatives, or attorney, duly authorised by special power for that purpose.

Rule 9. The corporation shall in no case, directly or indirectly, be concerned in commerce, or insurance, or the importation or exportation, purchase or sale of any goods, wares or merchandize, whatsoever, except bills of exchange, notes and bullion, save such goods, wares and merchandize, as shall be truly transferred, conveyed, or pledged to it, by way of security for money actually loaned, and advanced, or for debts due to the said corporation, or purchased by it to secure such debt so due to said corporation, or to effect the insurance of the property that may belong to, or be pledged to said corporation for its security.

Shall not be concerned in commerce or insurance, except to secure debts.

Rule 10. The bills obligatory and of credit, notes and other contracts whatever, shall be binding and obligatory on said corporation: Provided, the same be signed by the president and countersigned or attested by the cashier of said corporation: and the funds of said corporation shall in no case be held liable for any contract or engagement whatever, unless the same shall be so signed and countersigned, or attested as aforesaid: and the books, papers and correspondence, shall at all times be subject to the inspection of the board of directors and stockholders, when convened according to the directions of this act.

Authentication of written contracts.

Books, papers, &c. subject to inspection.

Rule 11. Dividends of the profits of the corporation, or so much thereof as shall be deemed expedient and proper, shall be declared and paid half yearly, the first half year after the bank shall have been in operation, excepted; and the said dividends shall, from time to time, be determined by a majority of the directors at a meeting to be held for that purpose, and shall, in no case, exceed the amount of the net proceeds, actually acquired by the corporation, so that the capital stock thereof, shall never be impaired.

Dividends, how and when to be declared.

Rule 12. The directors shall keep fair and regular entries in a book provided for that purpose, of their proceedings, and on every question, when two directors shall require it, the yeas and nays of the directors voting, shall be duly inserted on their minutes, and those minutes be at all times, on demand, produced to the stockholders, when at a general meeting, the same shall be required.

Minutes.

Yeas and nays. Minutes subject to inspection.

Rule 13. The corporation shall exist and continue until the first day of January, 1856, and immediately after the dissolution of said corporation, effectual measures shall be taken by the directors last appointed and acting, for closing all the concerns of the corporation, and for dividing the capital and profits which may then remain, among the stockholders, according to their respective interests.

Duration of the charter to 1856. Closing the affairs.

An Act, to increase the Salaries of the Cashier, and other Officers of the Central Bank.

368. Sec. I. From and after the passage of this act, the cashier of said bank, shall receive for his salary, the sum of $2,500 per annum. The salary of the teller, shall be $1,500 per annum. The salary of the discount clerk, shall be $1,250 per annum, and the salary of the book-keeper, shall be $1,250 per annum, which said salaries shall be paid quarterly.

Salaries of the officers raised.

Sec. II. [Repeals all militant acts.]

RESOLUTIONS.

The Resolution of 21st December, 1820, requiring the State Bank, the Bank of Darien, Planters' Bank and Bank of Augusta to make annual reports (vol. iv. p. 1 of Res.) is superseded by that of 22d December, 1823. Which

On the complaint of the Bank committee, that these reports were so general in their nature, and so obscure in expression that it was impossible to ascertain from them any thing definitely,

Resolved, That the different banks in this State, in which the State is a stockholder, shall, and they are hereby required to make plain and full exhibits to his excellency the Governor of this State for the time being, by the twentieth day of October in each year, of the real state and condition of those institutions, calculated to the first day of October preceding, particularly showing, in their respective reports and exhibits, the amount of specie in their vaults, and owned by said banks; the amount of issues in circulation; the amount of discounted paper due and running to maturity; designating the amount in suit, the amount considered bad, and the amount considered doubtful, (with an exhibit of the names of the parties, makers, and endorsers, of such bad paper,) and at what time or times such loan or loans were made; a schedule and description of all real or personal property owned by said banks, and from whom purchased; the particular circumstances which induced the purchase of such property; its real value at the time of purchase, and its value on the first day of October in each and every year after this date, so long as such reports may be required. (Vol. iv. p. 30 of Res.)

To their own chartered institutions the people of Georgia should exclusively look for a circulating medium, and it is to be regretted that these are unequal to the duty, at least they do not fulfil it. Such are the conveniences which paper money possesses over a specie currency in the usual transaction of commerce and trade, that they cannot exist together, the latter invariably yielding to the former. If a paper medium which is known to be good cannot be obtained from our own banks in sufficient quantity for the demand of trade, that which is issued abroad for purposes of speculation will be cast into our market, affording a convenience at the time, but as in all former instances resulting in loss and injury to us. (Resolu. of December, 1825. 1b. 61.)

Resolution arraigning the conduct of the United States Bank in draining the specie from State Banks, and recommending a law to regulate the intercourse between banks, Dec. 1821. 1b. 11.

Adopted report on the necessity of retaining in the State a sufficiency of gold and silver as a basis for the paper circulation,—on the great power and sinister influence of the United States Bank, &c. Dec. 22, 1826. 1b. 68.

The appointment of a committee recommended to examine into the affairs of the several Banks in which the State is a stockholder, and report to the next session, but no such was made: at least I find no report of such committee.

Banks no longer required to report the names of individuals whose debts may be considered bad or doubtful. Dec. 18, 1824. Vol. iv. 48 of Res.

General reports on the state of the Banks, 1836. p. 15 and 18 of Res.

Resolutions against a recharter of the United States Bank, 13th December, 1834. Pam. 295.

State Bank. The Resolution of 1820 says that by the exhibit made, the standing of the Bank is satisfactory; and that the Legislature knows of nothing that should diminish the public confidence in its good management and stability, (vol. iv. p. 1 of Res.)—1821. The ability of this, and of the Planters' and Darien Banks rest on metallic capital, and are in a state of unquestionable solvency, (1b. 11.)—1824. The policy adopted by it is sound, and its present management merits the full confidence of the State, (1b. 48.)—1825. Its exhibit sustains the favorable report of last session—sound and faithfully administered, (1b. 61.)—1826. Amidst the revolutions and disasters of the commercial world, its solvency and reputation have, by correct management, been maintained, (1b. 68.)—1828. Sound and well managed, (1b. 110.) The report and resolution of 1829 notices the commercial difficulties of the times, and the blighting influence of the United States Bank; but notwithstanding these, this institution has been useful to the public, and productive to the revenue. It states the general average of all the dividends at six and a half, and those of some years past at seven per cent. "Too much legislation on the monied corporations of any country" says the adopted report, "has never had a beneficial influence either in promoting their credit or strengthening their solvency—and it has been demonstrated even in our own State, that a bank may sink under legislative enactments," (1b. 139)—1830. In a sound and wholesome condition, (Pam. 248.)—Resolutions of 1831, pam. 282, of 1832, pam. 296, of 1833, pam. 352, of 1834, pam. 300, and of 1835, pam. 323, are to the same effect.

Merchants' and Planters' Bank of Augusta. By resolution of 1829, in a sound and wholesome state, vol. iv. 132. In 1830, (pam. 248,) the faithful and judicious administration of its affairs, entitle it to the highest confidence of the Legislature and the people of Georgia.—1831. Pam. 283. From an examination of its exhibit the Legislature consider it entirely sound, and meriting the patronage of the public.—1832. Pam. 295. The same body on a like examination of similar evidence, is still of the same opinion,—sound, thriving, and entitled to confidence. But, in 1833, pam. 398, a joint committee of investigation is appointed, who (Ibidem 399) report the facts preceding and attending its failure. Whereupon, the Attorney General is instructed to institute judicial proceedings “for the purpose of procuring a forfeiture of said charter.”

Augusta Insurance and Banking Company; had sustained heavy losses, but well able to meet all its engagements, 1829, vol. iv. 132.—Report of 1830, much to the same effect; immense losses by “that destructive element, fire”; improved nevertheless in condition compared with last year; believed to be able now to redeem its circulation, and ultimately to fulfil its engagements—deserves confidence. (Pam. of 1830. 258.)—1831, Pam. 282, the Legislature speaks favorably of its banking, but regrets its silence as to the insurance risks.—1832 (pam. 296) sound and flourishing.—Reports of 1833, pam. 352, of 1834, pam. 341, and of 1835, pam. 323, of similar import.

Bank of Columbus. Report of 1830, pam. 249, considers it to be sound and of unimpaired credit; and that the faithful and judicious management of its affairs entitle it to the highest confidence.—1831, pam. 283, same.—1832, pam. 297, perfectly solvent, possessing adequate means if its bills of exchange can be made available, of which the Legislature have no reason to doubt.—1833, pam. 352, and 1835, pam. 323, of similar import.

Planters' Bank. Dec. 1821, in the most wholesome condition notwithstanding some embarrassing difficulties with the United States branch, vol. iv. 11.—1824, appears to have been ably managed, and to be in a very prosperous condition, (lb. 48.)—1825, sound and ably conducted, (lb. 61.)—1828, to the same effect, (lb. 113.) The adopted resolution of Dec. 19, 1829, adverts to the ready convertibility of paper, as the true foundation of its current value and usefulness; and, noticing the late banking difficulties, throughout the State, from commercial vicissitudes, commends the Planters' Bank for having at times abstained from dividends, pronounces it to have been conducted upon the soundest principles, and such as should create a confident reliance on its competency, (lb. 138.) 1830, entirely prosperous and sound, (pam. 278.) 1831, highly satisfactory, pam. 283. 1832, solvent: possessing the means of meeting the demands that may justly be brought against it, if the stocks and bills of exchange on hand can be made available; of which, from the President's explanatory letter, they have no doubt, pam. 297. 1833, solvent and deserving the public confidence, pam. 352. Pam. of 1835, p. 323, to the same effect, and recommending a renewal of its charter.

The Bank of Augusta has always been most steadily supported by the cordial testimony of the Legislature. Resolutions to that effect, of 1824, vol. iv. p. 48; of 1825, ib. 61; of 1826, ib. 68; of 1835, pam. 323. The committee of that year find “in circulation only $1,670 more of their bills than they have of the bills of other banks, and of specie in their vault; and that they have a surplus fund nearly equal to the whole amount of their bad and doubtful debts, and of the estimated value of the real estate held by the bank.” Resolution of 1829, lb. 132. In 1830, an approving resolution in the usual terms, seems founded on the facts stated, that of its discounted paper little more than one per cent. was considered bad, and one and a half doubtful; with a surplus of $104,000 then on hand, pam. 259. The Legislature of 1831 finds it as usual in a prosperous and flourishing condition, pam. 282. This testimony is repeated in 1832 (pam. 298) with emphasis (“extra credit”) for the general conduct of its affairs, during the current year, the method of its accounts, and the plainness of its returns. In 1834, it receives with other banks the usual assurances of continued confidence, pam. of 1834. p. 341. Resolution of same year, (p. 327,) approves what had been done in increasing its stock.

Bank of Darien. A branch at Macon authorized 1823, vol. iv. 29 of Res. Resolution of 1827 accedes to its proposal of redeeming $150,000 annually, of its bills that were in the State treasury, vol. iv. p. 89. By Res. of 1829 (ib. 132) it appears that the bank had continued to do this, although by chartering the Central Bank it had been absolved from that engagement. Bills again at par, and the institution restored to public confidence. In 1830, we are informed that its circulation which at one time exceeded $1,800,000, was reduced to little more than $200,000; and that it now was entitled to as much confidence as the other banks in this State, pam. of 1830. p. 278. Resolution reported by the Finance committee concerning it, lb. 271. In 1831, it had resumed semi-annual dividends, which had yielded on the State stock $21,125. Its steady course had re-established it in the public confidence, pam. of 1831. p. 281. An examination of its affairs directed to determine on the policy of a recharter, 1833, pam. 387. Other reports and resolutions generally expressive of its solvency, vol. iv. 11. 48. Pam. of 1832, 296. Those of 1833, 410; and 1834, pam. 299, recommend a recharter. Pam. of 1835, p. 393, sustains this with others.

Marine and Fire Insurance Bank. Resolutions expressive of its good management, and the confidence of the Legislature, vol. iv. 114, 132. Pam. of 1831, p. 281; of 1832, p. 299; of 1833, p. 352; of 1834, p. 300; and of 1835, pam. 323.

Central Bank. Report of Committee adopted by the Legislature, Dec. 19, 1829, vol. iv. 137, approves the conduct of the directors—recommends that a sum be set apart for the discount of bills of exchange, to enable the bank to keep funds in Savannah, Augusta, &c., so as to prevent runs for specie. Had in circulation $263,409, and its means of redemption amounted to $392,829.

In 1831, (pam. 280) its circulation was $111,996, to meet which it had $80,656 of specie, $50,805 of United States bills, and $108,653 of bills of Georgia banks; in all, $240,114. The resolution proposes to raise the salary of the cashier to $2,000; and to appoint agents to hunt up and make collections from debtors to the State for fractions, &c. whose residence had become unknown.

In 1832, the general conduct of the officers approved much in the terms of the preceding year. The Bank had advanced to the Treasury $92,880 to carry on the Cherokee surveys; a nearly equal amount would be needed to help out the appropriations of the current session; and from this deduction of about $180,000 from its means, they fear there can be no loans as usual to the counties the ensuing Spring. Circulation, $96,704. In Bank, $81,959 of specie; $49,280 of U. S. Bank notes; and $91,480 of Georgia bank notes. They recommend the appointment of another officer of the bank; and that the mutilated notes be burned. See pam. of 1832. p. 257.

There is in 1833, no resolution relating to this bank except a direction, (pam. 388) that certain notes for rent of Indian improvements be given up to the makers who could not obtain possession of the places they rented.

The resolution of 1834 (pam. 275) expresses the usual approbation of the management of the institution. Bills in circulation, $226,246. Means of redemption, $256,361. That is to say, specie, $132,134; and bills of U. S. and local banks, $124,227. They regret the want of punctuality in some of the debtors; more than $200,000 of the discounted paper then lying unattended to. To enable the bank to make its usual distribution of loans, and to compel punctuality in future, the directors are authorized to sue on any paper lying over three months, unless satisfactory reasons for the neglect is given to the directors. A Resolution of the same year, (pam. 326) approves the conduct of the board in relation to the proposed renewal of the Darien Bank charter, and to the increase of the Augusta Bank stock.

By the committee's report of 1835 (pam. 300) the affairs of the Bank had been managed with ability and fidelity. It states in a table among other items, the circulation to be $172,700. On hand, in specie, $104,145; and in notes of the U. S. and Georgia banks, $65,463. They again notice a large amount of discounted paper lying over and unattended to, but abstain from any specific recommendation, leaving the subject to the discretion and judgment of the directors. They propose to increase the salaries of the officers, and to appoint an assistant book-keeper. Noticing that, during the year, the bank had advanced to the State $42,800, they propose in the appropriation bill to authorize the direction to charge the capital stock of the Bank with that amount, and also such further sums as may be necessary, which they are directed to advance for the treasury in future. Which was inserted in the appropriation bill accordingly. Pam. of 1835. p. 18.

The report of 1836 states the amount of discounted notes at	$1,103,111
In suit	46,924
Lying over unpaid	211,058

The committee consider it in strictness not illegal, but doubt the policy of allowing more than the sum of $2,500 as limited for loans, to be drawn on bills of exchange by any one person. They state, however, that the practice of such loans, has, as they are informed, existed from an early date, and have been made out of monies lying idle in the bank.

The Legislature required the directors to put in suit all notes not paid or renewed. Pam. of 1836, p. 6 of Res.

The Augusta Savings Bank, has never been reported on except in 1831, pam. 282. Noticing its charitable object and useful tendency, the legislature speak in high commendation of its management and progress; and what is more to the purpose than any vague formal encomiums, we have the fact, that its expenses from the commencement of its operations in 1827 to that time, amounted to only twenty-two dollars and seventy-four cents!

Insurance Bank of Columbus. "Appears sound and ready at any moment to meet any demands that can be justly brought against it." Report of committee, adopted Dec. 21, 1832, pam. 297. Judiciously conducted, 1835, pam. 323.

Mechanics' Bank. Prudent and cautious—keeping its issues within proper limits, Dec. 21, 1832, pam. 299. Solvent and deserving of confidence, 1833, pam. 352; and 1835, pam. 323.

Farmers' Bank of Chattahoochee. Included in both the foregoing resolutions. But the resolution of 1834 (Pam. 276) directed a joint committee, having power to send for persons and papers, to proceed in the course of the ensuing recess, after reasonable notice to the officers of the bank, to examine into its management and condition, and report the facts to the governor; directing him, if he should think the charter forfeited, to order a scire facias sued out to annul it, pam. of 1834, p. 276.

Bank of Macon. On a careful examination of its exhibit in 1829, it appeared to the Legislature that the bank was in a sound state, and that the directors were entitled to the public confidence for the ability with which they had managed its affairs, vol. iv. 132. In 1831, about the usual terms of the annual encomium, pam. 254. In 1831, we find a cautious, measured, and rather dubious approval, pam. 284; and in pam. of 1832, p. 279, is the detailed report of the joint committee appointed to investigate its conduct, its failure, and its actual condition. Act of that session declaring its charter forfeited, and appointing a receiver, ib. 28.

Commercial Bank of Macon. In 1832, prudently managed, but had omitted to show their amount of specie. In every other particular had complied with the resolution of 1823, pam. 299. In 1833, deemed, with several other banks named, to be solvent and deserving the confidence of the people, pam. of 1833, p. 352. Conducted with fidelity and entitled to the continued confidence of the community, pam. of 1834, 341. Judiciously conducted and perfectly sound, pam. of 1835, p. 323.

Bank of Hawkinsville. By report adopted Dec. 1833, the return was strictly conformable to law, and manifested a prudent and cautious management, pam. 299. That of the following year (pam. of 1833, p. 353) expresses the continued approbation of the government; as also do those of 1834, pam. 341; and 1835, 323.

All the Banks.

The standing committee to whom have been referred the several returns of the Banks of Georgia, have had the same under review, and beg leave to report:

That there are eleven banks now in safe and successful operation, exclusive of the financial or Central Bank, for State purposes alone, and the Farmers' Bank of Chattahoochee—the latter bank not now in operation.

Your committee have reason to believe that the said eleven banks, viz. the Planters' Bank of Savannah, the Bank of the State of Georgia, the Marine and Fire Insurance Bank of Savannah, the Bank of Darien, the Bank of Augusta, the Insurance and Banking Company of Augusta, the Mechanics' Bank of Augusta, the Hawkinsville Bank, the Bank of Columbus, the Insurance Bank of Columbus, and the Commercial Bank of Macon, are all judiciously conducted; are all in a perfectly sound state, and deserve the confidence of the public.

To show in the aggregate the highly favorable state of our monied institutions, it is only necessary to compare our banking capital with the bills in circulation and the specie in the vaults.

It appears that the whole amount of banking capital for commercial purposes is $4,571,000. Bills in circulation since the fifth of October last, $3,942,000—$629,000 less than the capital stock paid in: that the specie in the vaults is $2,111,000, a little less than half the capital, and something more than half the amount of the bills in circulation. Since the exclusion by law of bank bills under five dollars, we find an abundance of specie in circulation, and your committee think it may equal the amount in the vaults.

Taking this for granted, the result would be, that there is in the State about $300,000 in gold and silver over and above the circulating bills. This view of the subject places our monied institutions on high ground, and speaks loudly in their behalf.

Your committee would not be invidious in drawing comparisons between the aforesaid institutions, but they may say, that the Planters' Bank of Savannah has strong claims on the favor of the State when she asks for a renewal of her charter, and your committee confidently recommend that her prayer be granted.

In a perspective view of the whole subject of our banking operations, including those concerned with the railroads now under consideration, together with the proposed Milledgeville Bank, and comparing them with our annual exports, the following statement is presented :

Annual exports	$20,000,000
Banking capital now in operation	4,000,000
Milledgeville Bank	500,000
Two railroad banks	3,000,000
Whole amount of Bank capital	$7,500,000
Being only two-fifths of our annual exports.

It will be observed that your committee have not confined themselves to fractional numbers, believing that a more general view would be satisfactory.

(After concurrence of both houses) assented to by the governor, Dec. 24th, 1835, pam. 323.

BASTARDY.

An Act respecting Bastardy, and other immoralities.—Approved Dec. 16, 1793. Vol. I. 42.

Proceedings against the mother.

1. Sec. I. Any justice of the peace, in any county within this State, who of his own knowledge, or on information to him on oath, made of any free white woman having a bastard child, or being pregnant with one, which it is probable will become chargeable to the county, he may thereupon cause a warrant, under his hand and seal, directed to the sheriff, or any constable of said county, where the case may arise, and oblige the offender to be brought before him to give security to the inferior court of the county, in the sum of £150, for the support and education of such child or children till the age of fourteen years, or to discover on oath the father of such bastard child; which being done, the said justice shall issue his warrant, in like manner, to bring before him the person sworn to be the father of such child or children, so born or to be born, who, on refusing to give security for the maintenance and education of such child or children, until they arrive at the age of fourteen years, and also the expense of lying-in with such child or children, boarding, nursing, and maintenance, while the mother of such child is confined by reason thereof, that then it may and shall be lawful for the said justice to bind over such delinquent in a sufficient recognizance, to be and appear before the next superior court, which may be held in said county; and it shall be the duty of the attorney or solicitor general to prefer a bill of indictment, to be laid before the grand jury, to answer to such complaint as may be then and there alleged against him touching the premises.*

Against the father.

Women to be committed, who fail to comply with this act.

2. Sec. II. In case the woman, who shall have been delivered, or is likely to be delivered, when brought before a justice, refuses to discover on oath the father of such child or children, so born, or to be born, or give such security to appear before the next superior court, to be held in and for the said county, and to give such security as may be then and there required of her by the said court, for the maintenance and education, as aforesaid, of the said child or children, that then it shall be lawful for the justice to commit her, in manner and form aforesaid, as pointed out by this act; and in case of her refusing to make known to the said court the father of such child, or give secu-

* See Penal Laws, Sec. 257.

ity as aforesaid, that then it may and shall be lawful for the said court to imprison her, not exceeding three months.

And whereas it is highly injurious in civilized society, that men or women should live in adultery or fornication together ;

3. Sec. III. Be it enacted, &c. That from and after the passing of this act, any man or woman who shall live together in like manner, it shall be the duty of any of the neighboring justices if within their knowledge, or upon information to them on oath that such man and woman do live in adultery or fornication, he shall thereupon cause the said man and woman to be brought before them, or either of them, whose duty it shall be to bind them over to appear at the next superior court, and the attorney or solicitor general shall then and there prefer a bill of indictment against both the man and woman. [As to the penalty, see code. Penal laws, 236.]

Justices shall bind over the parties for adultery and fornication.

An Act supplementary to the foregoing.—Approved Nov. 26, 1802. Vol. II. 60.

Provided nevertheless, that nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to bar either party when charged as aforesaid, from offering exculpatory testimony to the magistrate, in the first instance of the charge exhibited ; who may exercise his discretionary power, after due inquiry being had, either to discharge or recognize both or either of the parties charged as aforesaid, in conformity to the intent and meaning of this act ; any thing to the contrary notwithstanding.*

But they may offer exculpatory evidence.

An Act to carry into effect the first section of an act, entitled "An Act respecting Bastardy, and other immoralities," and the more fully to empower the inferior courts of the several counties in this State, to provide for the maintenance of bastard children.—Approved Dec. 9, 1809. Vol. II. 524.

4. Sec. I. From and immediately after the passage of this act, it shall be the duty of the inferior courts, in the several counties of this State, when any child or children have, or shall become chargeable to the county, where bonds are taken, and to be hereafter taken, in conformity to an act, passed the 16th day of December, 1793, as above recited, for the maintenance of bastard children, to institute an action on all bonds so taken, and to be hereafter taken, in manner aforesaid, and prosecute the same to judgment ; and it shall be lawful for them to recover the full amount of said bond or bonds, which judgment or judgments shall remain open, and be subject to be appropriated by the courts aforesaid, from time to time, as the situation and exigencies of the said bastard child or children may require.

Bonds for the maintenance of bastard children, how to be recovered and appropriated.

5. Sec. II. It shall be the duty of the justice or justices of the peace, before whom the aforesaid bond shall be taken, to return such bond to the clerk of the inferior court of the county, in which such female shall reside, within thirty days after the same is taken.

How and where such bonds are to be returned.

[Respecting murder of infants, evidence, &c., see penal laws, Sec. 67, 68, 69.]

* The rest of this act superseded by the code. See Penal Laws, Sec. 236.

BOATS AND CREWS.

An Act for the better regulation of Boats and Boats' Crews, navigating the Savannah river from the city of Augusta to the head waters of said river.*—Approved Dec. 4, 1815. Vol. III. 112.

Whereas the inhabitants of this State, residing on or near Savannah river, complain of serious injuries inflicted on their rights and property, by boats' crews navigating the waters aforesaid; for remedy whereof,

Each boat to have a bill of lading, which shall be always subject to examination.

Penalty for not giving such bill of lading, or for not producing it when required, 50 dollars.

Owners of boats liable for all thefts, &c.

1. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That from and after the first day of January next, it shall be the duty of all owners or agents of boats employed in the navigation of the aforesaid waters, to grant to each and every boat respectively, previous to its departure from the landing or wharf, a certificate or bill of lading, showing its destination, contents, the name of its patroon and consignee; which certificate or bill of lading shall, at all times, be subject to the examination of any free white person or persons requiring the same.

2. Sec. II. If any owner or agent, as aforesaid, shall neglect or refuse to furnish the certificate or bill of lading, required by this act, or the patroon, upon application, or being required by any free white person as aforesaid, shall refuse to exhibit his certificate or bill of lading as aforesaid, the owner of such boat or boats shall, for every such refusal or neglect, be liable to indictment in the superior courts of this State; and on conviction thereof, forfeit and pay the sum of fifty dollars, one half thereof to the use of the informer, and the other half to the use of the county, where such conviction shall take place.

3. Sec. III. Owners of boats, navigating the waters aforesaid, shall be liable, and compelled to pay for all pillages and thefts committed by their respective crews, on conviction of the offender or offenders.

An Act to prevent Boat-owners or Patroons from permitting boat hands, or other negroes, from trafficking in corn, or other produce, or from carrying the same to market, on board of the boats accustomed to navigate the river Savannah, between Augusta and Savannah.—Approved Dec. 13, 1816. Vol. III. 113.

Whereas the practice of permitting negroes on board of the boats navigating the river Savannah, to carry corn, cotton, or other produce to market, as their own property, has been found, by fatal experience, to be an encouragement of theft; and whereas it is right and proper, that such encouragement should not any longer be held out to this description of persons; for remedy whereof,

Boats' hands, being slaves, not to carry produce of their own to market, nor trade with each other.

4. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That, from and after the passing of this act, it shall not be lawful for any owner or patroon of a boat, to suffer or permit any boat hand, or negro, being a slave, to put on board their boat, whereof he is owner or patroon, any corn, cotton, peas, or other articles of produce, as the property of such boat hand, or negro, for the purpose of carrying the same to Savannah, or elsewhere, to market, or for sale; nor shall such owner or patroon suffer the boat hands, or other negroes, being slaves as aforesaid, on board of their boat or boats, to barter or trade the one with the other, in any articles of produce, as before enumerated, under any pretext whatever.

* No person of color allowed to be patroon of a boat between Savannah and Augusta. Vol. II. 332.

5. Sec. II. Any owner or patroon, offending against the provisions of the first section of this act, shall be subject to indictment in the superior court of the county in which the offence shall be committed; and upon conviction thereof, shall be fined and imprisoned, or both, at the discretion of the court before whom such indictment shall or may be tried.

Penalty on the owner or patroon.

An Act to alter and extend the foregoing.—Approved Dec. 10, 1817.
Vol. III. 114.

6. Sec. I. From and immediately after the passing of this act, that the before recited act shall be held, deemed, and considered in full force, from Augusta to the head navigation of Savannah and Broad rivers, and in all the rivers that now are, or hereafter may be, made navigable in this State.

Act of 1816 extended to all navigable rivers,

7. Sec. II. If any owner or patroon of any boat, accustomed to navigate between the head navigation of said Savannah and Broad rivers to Augusta, or in any other river that now is, or hereafter may be made navigable in this State, shall offend against the first section of the before recited act, he shall be subject to all the pains and penalties contained in the second section of said act.

and its penalties inflicted.

8. Sec. III. All or any offence against this act, or the one to which it is amendatory, shall be tried and punished in any or either of the counties in this State, adjoining the water course on which the offence was committed.

Offences in what counties punishable.

9. Sec. IV. The aforesaid act shall be held, deemed, and considered, as extending to all rivers that now are, or hereafter may be made navigable in this State.

Act of 1816 again extended to all navigable rivers.

An Act, to amend, explain, and cause to be enforced, the several acts of the General Assembly of the State of Georgia, assented to the 4th of December 1815, and that of the 13th of December 1816, and an act amendatory of the last specified act, assented to the 10th day of December, 1817.—This act assented to Dec. 26, 1836. Pam. 76.

10. Whereas, the before recited acts, require that each boat, navigating the Savannah and Broad rivers, and all the rivers that are made navigable in this State, shall be required, to keep a white patroon thereon, and are further required to furnish, and exhibit to any free white person or persons that may wish an examination, a bill of lading, showing the contents, the name of the patroon and consignee of said cargo, and forbid such boat-owner, or their patroons to suffer, or permit any boat hand being a slave, to put on board of their boat, any corn, cotton, peas, or other article of produce as the property of such boat hand, to be carried to market: yet the aforesaid acts do not prohibit the trafficking in stock of any or all kinds, poultry and other articles prohibited by law, for slaves to sell or vend, for remedy whereof:

Preamble.

Sec. I. Be it enacted, That from and immediately after the passage of this act, it shall not be lawful for a boat owner or patroon, navigating either of the navigable rivers within this State, to suffer the boat hands to take with them, any kind of stock whatever, poultry of any kind, or other articles that are by law, prohibited to them to traffic in, except the same shall be stated in such bill of lading of the owner of said boat or his agent, and that no stock, poultry, or other articles as aforesaid, shall be permitted to go on board of a boat, unless it is immediately under the direction of such owner or patroon, or the agent of the owner, and specified in the bill of lading. Every offender against the provisions of this act, shall be liable to like punishment and fine, as pointed out in the foregoing acts.

Articles shipped by slaves shall be in the bill of lading.

Inf. courts of the proper counties, shall publish the acts on this subject.

II. Sec. II. It shall be the duty of the inferior courts of the several counties of this State, bordering on, or which navigable waters shall pass through, to cause to be published in various parts of said county, the provisions of the foregoing acts; and in the counties bordering on navigable waters which are on the borders of the State, the inferior courts of the several counties bordering on such water courses, that are navigable, shall cause to be published in one or more of the public gazettes, the provisions of this and the foregoing acts for the information of those in the adjoining States, who are engaged in navigating such water courses, and the expenses thereof, to be defrayed out of the county funds.

BOUNDARY.—1. South Carolina.

An Act for the ratification of certain agreements made and entered into by commissioners, appointed by the legislatures of Georgia and Carolina, for the purpose of settling certain disputes relative to boundary.
—Approved February 1, 1788. Vol. I. 337.

Whereas, by an ordinance passed by the legislature of this State, commissioners were appointed and authorised to meet other commissioners, similarly appointed by the State of South Carolina: and whereas the said commissioners, or a majority of them from each State, were vested with full powers to settle all differences, controversies, disputes, and claims, which subsisted between the two States, relative to boundary: and whereas, they, conformably to those powers, did, on the 28th day of April, in the year 1787, in convention at Beaufort, in the State of South Carolina, by certain instruments of writing to which the said commissioners interchangeably set their hands and affixed their seals, make mutual concessions and agreements for the purpose aforesaid:

Beaufort convention ratified.

Be it therefore enacted, &c. That whatever was done* by the said commissioners, or a majority of them as aforesaid, is hereby ratified, and shall be considered as binding upon the citizens of this State, any law to the contrary notwithstanding.

2. North Carolina line. The boundary between North Carolina and Georgia, which has been the subject of so much controversy, has arisen principally out of the difficulty of fixing on the thirty-fifth degree of North latitude with such exactness and certainty as to satisfy both parties. The first measure that appears on the Statute Book, is a resolution of May 7, 1803, [Vol. II. 678.] directing the governor to take such measures as he may deem necessary "to ascertain and identify that tract of country ceded by the United States to this State," and also to ascertain to what part thereof the Indian title had been extinguished, and to direct the surveyor general to lay a map thereof before the next legislature.

On the 10th Dec. 1804, an act was passed [Vol. II. 189.] which, deducing in its preamble the chain of the Georgia title, gives by enactment an authority to the governor to appoint commissioners to meet such as may be appointed by North Carolina, for ascertaining and designating the lines of Walton county. The resolution of December 5, 1807, [Vol. II. 682-4.] reciting that the commissioners and artists from both States had proceeded in their duty; but that from the differences in result among themselves, and from other causes, the Georgia commissioners appeared not to be confident of the accuracy of the calculations: And therefore resolved, that three commissioners be appointed, to be attended by two artists and the surveyor general with other instruments, for the purpose of ascertaining satisfactorily this parallel of latitude, requesting of North Carolina her coöperation in this measure; and that in the mean time the people of that county might not be disturbed by any officers of that State. The State of North Carolina not having attended to this, the resolution of December 1808 [Vol. II. 689.] requests the governor to renew his application to the government of that State; and should they refuse or fail to coöperate, the governor of Georgia is requested to proceed alone.

* For the Beaufort Convention, see Vol. I. 662.

Nothing however appears to have been done in pursuance of these resolutions. On the 15th of December, 1809, [Vol. II. 690.] the legislature addressed her memorial to the general government, briefly setting forth the origin and progress of the dispute, and praying the government of the United States to appoint a proper person to run the dividing line through its whole extent between the two States. There being some unexpected difficulties in this course; and there being now, it would seem, a better prospect of amicable adjustment with North Carolina, the legislature once more, by resolution of 15th December, 1810, [Vol. II. 694.] invited the attention of the sister State to the subject. The governor, by that resolution, was authorized to employ Mr. Andrew Ellicott to ascertain the 35th degree of North latitude for the satisfaction of Georgia alone, if North Carolina would not concur. But the governor was to advise the executive of North Carolina of this measure, with the assurance, that if that State would coöperate, the observation taken should be final and conclusive. Mr. Ellicott made his observations, which were acquiesced in; and here ended the dispute, as to the parallel of latitude. But the line was not then run out and marked. The resolution of 9th Nov. 1818, [Vol. II. 1197.] directs the governor to appoint persons to meet such as may be appointed by North Carolina, to run and plainly mark the dividing line between the States of N. Carolina and Georgia. And that that State be invited to coöperate in this measure.

3. Alabama. The prospect of a cession of Creek lands adjoining Alabama, rendering it important for the line to be run, and the legislature deeming that duty incumbent on the United States, directs the governor to bring this subject to the attention of the president, and to appoint an artist and one other person to coöperate on the part of the State. [Res. of Nov. 29, 1822, Vol. IV. 24, of Res.]

In 1824, referring to the necessity of having this business accomplished as soon as possible, the legislature request the governor to continue his exertions to that end. [Ib. 29.]

At the extra session of June, 1825, supposing an act for the survey and disposal of the territory lately acquired, bounding on Alabama, would probably be passed before the adjournment, and as Alabama and the general government had both declined any agency in the measure contemplated, the governor is required to appoint commissioners to ascertain the boundary line, according to the compact of 1802; duly notifying Alabama and acting with her commissioners if that State should think proper to appoint them. [Ib. Res. p. 50.]

In December, 1826, the committee report what had been done by the Georgia commissioners, Messrs. Blount, Crawford and Hamilton. That Miller's Bend had been ascertained to be the first great bend in the Chattahoochee above the mouth of Uchee creek, from which a right line to Nickajack would not touch the river. But the Alabama commissioners not agreeing to this as the beginning point, and contending for another, those of Georgia proceeded to run the line alone from Miller's bend. Referring to the constitution of 1798, Art. I. sec 23, which reserves to Georgia the whole of the Chattahoochee, some of which would be thrown into Alabama by the line proposed by the commissioners of that State, the legislature concurs in the line designated by the Georgia commissioners and recognizes it as the true line contemplated by the articles of cession of 1802. [Ib. 66.]

Alabama having protested against this boundary in 1828, the committee's report, adopted by the Georgia legislature of that year, reviews the whole controversy, sums up the arguments, adheres to the line as run by Georgia, and expressing kind and amicable feelings for Alabama, indulges the hope she will not persist in what is conceived to be an error. [Ib. 115 of Res.]

That State, however, being still unsatisfied with the line as run, and having passed certain resolutions concerning it, the subject is brought before the legislature in 1833. They notice the invitations given to Alabama and the United States to coöperate, and their failure to do so;—The action of Georgia alone under circumstances of urgent necessity not admitting of delay;—the private titles now held under Georgia up to the line; and finally, that the United States, and not Alabama is interested in the question so far as the private right of soil is concerned. That therefore Georgia cannot consent at present to open the question of boundary, but if Alabama wishes to obtain further information, to satisfy herself, Georgia will afford all facilities in her power; and after the exact points of difference, and the amount of territory involved in the controversy are known, it will be in time for Georgia to consider and determine what course will be most just and proper. [Pam. of 1833, p. 345.]

4. Florida line. The resolution of December, 1818, [Vol. III. 1201.] authorizes the governor to appoint two persons to ascertain the true head of the Saint Mary's river, and if it shall appear that the mound thrown up by Mr. Ellicott and the Spanish deputation is not at the place set forth in the treaty with Spain, that they make a special report of the facts to the governor, who shall thereupon communicate the same to the president of the United States, with a request that the lines may be run agreeably to the true intent and meaning of the treaty. The governor requested to open a correspondence with the general government, and with that of Florida if necessary, with a view to a permanent establishment of the line [Res. of 20th November, 1824, Vol. IV. 38.] The executive requested to associate with one under the United States in performing this service. [December 4, 1826. lb. 66.]

The United States' and Georgia commissioners not having been able to agree, the legislature of 1827, referring to the only point of dispute, the head or source of the river St. Mary, deny that Ellicott's mound marks it truly, or that Georgia is concluded by any supposed acquiescence in that designation, and object to the assumption by congress of that location as the true one; and requests our delegation in congress to procure an act authorizing the line to be run, not specifically as before from that mound, but to ascertain the true point without any regard to previous operations, and run the line according to the treaty of 1775. [lb. 91.]

The resolution of 1828, referring to the adverse report of the representatives' committee of congress, review and oppose the reasonings of that report, denying that the joint American and Spanish commission had any authority to vary the treaty with Spain, if, as the legislature contend, they did vary it, or in any way to conclude the rights of Georgia; and that any supposed acquiescence of this State was under a mistake, which, until discovered, could not have prejudiced her rights. Deducing the claim of Georgia from our old charter, the commission to governor Wright, [Vol. I. 672.] the definitive treaty of peace with Great Britain, and the treaty with Spain of 1795, recognized and acted on by our own act of 1783, [lb. 323] and by our State constitution, and from several other documents, all referring to "the most southern stream" of the Saint Mary, the legislature contend for the source of the most southern tributary of that river as the true point; and Resolve, that congress be earnestly requested to pass an act which shall direct the line to be run without reference to Ellicott's Mound, as required by the act of Congress of May, 1826, but generally "according to the provisions of the second article of said treaty;" and in the event that congress should refuse to do this, that then the governor is authorized to appoint commissioners with a surveyor and artist so to run and mark the line. [Vol. IV. 127.]

The legislature of 1829, regretting that no such act as requested had been passed by congress, deem it sufficient to refer to without reiterating the full exposition of this subject made at the preceding session. They do not view the land in controversy, but the rights of the State as the main question; and not considering itself invested with the constitutional power to give up or barter away or relinquish its jurisdiction over any portion of the territory or citizens of the State, renew the claims of Georgia as before asserted, and repeat in substance the resolutions of the preceding year. [lb. 135.]

In 1830, the legislature again sustain, by further argument, the claim of Georgia, repeat the request to congress so to amend the act of May, 1826, as to admit of a joint demarkation of the boundary without reference to the terminus designated by Mr. Ellicott; and that, in failure of this attempt, "that the question ought to be carried for decision before the proper judicial tribunal." [Pam. 229.]

CATTLE.—1773.

An Act to prevent the stealing of horses and neat cattle, and unlawfully branding, marking, killing, or driving the same.—Approved Sept. 29, 1773. Vol. 52.

Sec. I. [As to stealing horses and cattle—punishable by the penal code.]

1. Sec. II. Immediately from and after the passing of this act, upon the sale or exchange of any horse, mare, gelding, colt, filly, or neat cattle, the person or persons so selling or exchanging the same, if required by the purchaser, shall be avouched and tolled, and a certificate thereof obtained from the toll master, except however, public sales of horses or neat cattle, by executors, or administrators, belonging to the estates of persons deceased, for which he, she or they may act in such capacity, and except also sales by the provost marshal or his deputies, constables, or other persons empowered by the act of the general assembly of this province, to make distress, and levy execution.

Sale of horses, &c. to be certified by toll masters, if required.

2. Sec. III. The justices assigned to keep the peace, in the several parishes in this province shall be and they are hereby appointed to be toll masters* in their respective parishes, and they are hereby declared to have full authority to exercise all and every the powers in them vested as toll masters by virtue of this act.

Justices of the peace made toll masters.

3. Sec. IV. The toll masters hereby appointed, shall administer oaths to the persons avouching, or tolling before them respectively, touching the proof of the property of the person so tolling, (of the sufficiency of which proof such toll masters are hereby declared to be judges,) and, upon such proof appearing, they are hereby required and directed to avouch or toll any horse, mare, gelding, colt, filly, or neat cattle, produced to them or either of them, in a book to be kept for that purpose, shall enter the time of sale, and the name and place of dwelling, of every seller and buyer of such horse, mare, gelding, colt, or filly, burnt mark or other notable flesh mark thereof, and the price for which the same is sold, or the value of what may be given in exchange, and shall under his hand and seal, give a certificate of such entry, to every person requiring the same, upon the payment of one shilling and six pence for his trouble therein, under the penalty of three pounds for every neglect or refusal of any or either of the said toll masters.

Toll masters to swear persons avouching, and enter the names of the parties, description, consideration given, &c.

and grant certificates thereof

4. Sec. V. If any horse, mare, colt, or filly, after the passing of this act shall be stolen, and afterwards shall be sold and tolled as aforesaid, that yet nevertheless the sale of any such horse, mare, gelding, colt, or filly, shall not take away the property of the owner from whom the same was stolen, so as a claim be made, in six months after the offence or felony done, by the party from whom the same was stolen, or by his executors or administrators, or by any other person of their appointment, in the parish where the same horse, mare, gelding, colt, or filly shall be found, before any justice of the peace of the said parish, and so that the proof be made within forty days, then next ensuing, by two sufficient witnesses to be produced, and depose before such justice of the peace, that the property of such horse, mare, gelding, colt, or filly so claimed was the property of the party by and from whom such claim is made, and was stolen from him or her within six months, next before such claim of any horse, mare, gelding, colt, or filly, but that the party from whom said horse, mare, gelding, colt, or filly was stolen, his or her executors or administrators shall and may at all times after, notwithstanding any such sale or sales, have again and enjoy the said horse, mare, gelding, colt, or filly, upon payment of the party that shall have in possession the same, so much money as shall appear to have been paid by him or her, by a certificate from the toll master, or by oath before any justice of the peace, that he or she has paid such value without fraud or collusion, any law, custom, or usage to the contrary notwithstanding.

Tolling and sale of stolen horses, &c. not to divest the owner's right if claimed in six months.

But the owner may have them again on refunding the price to the purchaser.

5. Sec. VI. No toll master hereby appointed shall toll any horse, mare, gelding, colt, filly, or neat cattle, sold or offered for sale by any person or persons not being freeholders in this province, unless the said person or persons produce a certificate, under the hands and seals of two or more justices of the peace of their respective counties or parishes where they usually reside, of their being legally possessed of the same, under the penalty of three pounds for every horse, mare, gelding, colt, filly, or neat cattle so by him tolled.

* Now the clerks of the Inferior Courts. See Estrays, 6.

Toll masters not to toll horses, &c. brought by persons not freeholders without certificate, &c.

And in order to prevent, as much as may be, the pernicious practice of unlawfully branding, marking, or disfiguring of horses and neat cattle ;

Penalty for unlawfully killing, branding, disfiguring brands, or driving off cattle, &c.

6. Sec. VII. Enacted, That immediately from and after the passing of this act, every person and persons within this province, who shall be lawfully convicted of killing, or of branding, marking, or disfiguring the brand, or altering the mark of any horse, mare, gelding, colt, filly, or neat cattle, or of driving them, or either of them, off from their usual range, or place of feeding, wantonly and not with an intention to steal, not being the property of such person or persons, (except by order and direction of the lawful owner or owners thereof,)* upon oath of one or more evidences before two or more justices of the peace, in any parish within the same, shall, besides the damages otherwise recoverable by law, forfeit for every such offence, a sum not exceeding eight pounds,† to be recovered by warrant of distress, and sale of the offender's goods, under the hands and seals of such justices, and be applied one half to the informer or informers, and the other half for the use of the poor of the parish where such offence was committed : and in case no distress shall be found whereon to levy such forfeiture, then, and in such case, the party or parties offending shall be committed to the common jail of Savannah, there to remain for the space of one month, and shall receive such corporal punishment, by whipping on the bare back, not exceeding thirty-nine lashes, as to such justices shall seem meet.

Like penalty for ordering slaves to kill, mark, brand, drive off, &c.

7. Sec. VIII. No person or persons whatever shall order or direct his, her, or their slave or slaves to kill, mark, or brand, any horses or neat cattle, such person not being at the same time present, or causing some white person to be present, at such killing, marking, or branding, nor shall order any of his, her, or their slave or slaves, to drive any horse or neat cattle from their usual place of feeding, unless he, she, or they shall give such slave or slaves, a ticket in writing, for that purpose, under the penalty of a sum not exceeding eight pounds, to be heard and adjudged, recovered and applied, as herein is before directed, and in case any slave or slaves shall be found killing, marking, branding, or driving any horse or neat cattle, contrary to the directions of this act, every such slave or slaves being convicted thereof, by the evidence of a white person, or of a slave, shall be punished by whipping on the bare back, not exceeding thirty-nine lashes, by order or warrant of any justice of the peace, before whom the fact shall be proved.‡

Slaves offending herein, to receive thirty-nine lashes.

Sec. IX. [Relates to estrays—repealed. See Estrays.]

And whereas there are in many parts of this province gangs of wild horses and neat cattle, to which, or any of which, no property can with any degree of certainty be claimed or made out, and the keeping such horses and neat cattle within enclosures for any length of time will be attended with considerable trouble and expense ;

8. Sec. X. Enacted, That in case any person or persons shall drive upon and pen, or put in any enclosure any horse, mare, colt, filly, or neat cattle, that are wild, such person or persons shall give notice

* For altering any lawful brand, see Code of 1833, Penal Laws, Sec. 129, Killing Cattle, ib. Sec. 281.

† Justice's jurisdiction reduced to thirty dollars.

‡ As to slaves acting by direction of their masters, see Penal Laws, Sec. 34.

thereof, to any toll master in the parish where the same shall happen, within ten days after such driving up, under the penalty of twenty shillings for every such horse, mare, colt, filly, or neat cattle, so drove up, to be recovered, levied and applied, as herein is before directed, and such toll master is hereby directed and required to fix an advertisement at the several places of worship, or at the courts of conscience, in such parish; and if within thirty miles of Savannah, then also in the gazette, giving notice thereof, and where such wild horses, mares, colts, fillies, or neat cattle are; and that any person or persons claiming any right or title to any such horses, mares, colts, fillies, or neat cattle may view the same, and claim such right within thirty days, and, in case any person or persons shall within such time prove his, her, or their property therein to the satisfaction of the toll master, the same to be delivered to him, her, or them upon paying such reasonable charge and expense, for driving up and keeping such horses, mares, colts, fillies, or neat cattle, as the said toll master shall direct, together with one shilling and six pence for his trouble therein, and in case of refusal of paying the same, then such charge and expense, and fees for the same, to be levied by warrant of distress and sale, under the hand and seal of such toll master, either upon such horses, mares, colts, fillies, or neat cattle, or upon any other of the effects of such person or persons; and in case no owner or owners shall appear to claim such horses, mares, colts, fillies, or neat cattle, within the time limited by such advertisement, it shall and may be lawful, to and for such toll master, to sell the same by public outcry, and out of the proceeds thereof, to pay the reasonable charges of driving up and keeping, and the remainder, after deducting his fees and charges of sale, to be applied as hereinbefore directed.

Wild horses and cattle how regulated and disposed of where an owner appears.

Where no owner is found, the cattle, &c. may be sold.

Sec. XI. XII. XIII. [Obsolete.]

12. Sec. XIV. This act shall continue and be in force for and during the term of two years from the passing hereof, and from thence to the end of the next session of the general assembly, and no longer.*

Continuance of the act.

An Act to revise and amend "An Act for recording Marks and Brands in this State."—Approved Dec. 8, 1792. Vol. I. 347.

13. Sec. I. From and after the passing of this act, it shall and may be lawful for all persons residing within this State, to record their marks and brands in the clerk's office of the superior court of the county in which such person resides; and if any person or persons shall neglect to record the same, then and in that case, whenever any property shall or may happen to be in dispute between the party so recording his marks and brands, and any other person not having recorded as aforesaid, both having one and the same marks or brands, the property being found in the possession of the person complying with this act, the party so claiming any such property in dispute as aforesaid, shall not be allowed to take the same out of the hands of the person found in possession, without such claimant can prove, by disinterested testimony, such property so in dispute, and that the same is his property, such proof, when the value of the property is under five pounds, to be made before any justice of the peace in the county where such property may be found, and if above that value, before any court having jurisdiction thereof.

Marks and brands to be recorded in the clerk's office.

Property disputed, to belong to the person first recording his marks, &c.

14. Sec. II. Where two or more persons shall have the same marks and brands, each of them recorded; in such case the oldest record

* Perpetuated by Act of 1783. See Laws, Sec. 1.

Two persons shall be evidence of right, so far as to compel the other party to prove his property by disinterested testimony, in the manner hereinbefore pointed out: Provided, That nothing in this act contained shall compel such person or persons as have already had their brands and marks recorded in the secretary's office, to record the same in the clerk's office aforesaid, but such record in the secretary's office shall be good and valid.

Clerk shall record marks, brands, &c.

His fees.

15. Sec. III. It shall be the duty of the clerks of the superior courts, upon the application of any person or persons, to record all marks and brands, in books to be kept by them for that purpose, and give certificates thereof when thereunto required, by any person or persons, and for which they shall receive the fees pointed out by the act to revise and amend "An Act for ascertaining the fees of the public officers of this State."

An Act to empower the Justices of the Inferior Court of the County of Camden or a majority of them, to appoint Inspectors of Cattle in said county.—Approved December 5, 1799. Vol. I. 56.

Appointment of an inspector of cattle driven into Florida, who shall record their marks.

Compensation.

Penalty for so driving cattle without inspection.

16. Sec. I. It shall be the duty of the justices of the inferior court of the county of Camden, to meet at the court-house in said county, on the first Monday in February next, and there to appoint two fit and proper persons to inspect all cattle which may be drove through or from the county of Camden to the province of East Florida, by taking the marks and brands of each, and recording the same in a book to be kept for that purpose by him.

Sec. II. The owner or owners of said cattle, shall pay to said inspector six and one quarter cents for each head of cattle so inspected.

17. Sec. III. Any person or persons, failing or neglecting to give information to the said inspector, of his, her, or their intention to drive cattle from this State to the province of East Florida, and do actually drive the same without being inspected by the inspector or inspectors appointed by virtue of this act, shall forfeit for each head, ten dollars, to be recovered by action of debt, in any court having cognizance of the same, the one half to the person informing, and the other part to the use of the county.

CESSIONS TO THE UNITED STATES.—1791.

An Act to empower the Senators, or one Senator and two Representatives, from this State, in the Congress of the United States, to sign, seal, and deliver a Deed of Cession of the Lighthouse on Tybee Island, and five acres of land belonging thereto, to the United States.—Approved December 15, 1791 Vol. I. 344.

Lighthouse on Tybee island, with five acres of land, to be ceded to the U. States.

1. From and immediat lawful for the senators of States, or for one of the representatives of this State to the United States, to the Lighthouse on Tybee Island, State of, in, and to the the passing of this act and belonging thereto, to hold the same and every part thereof to the said United States for ever. Provided always, that the said United States shall keep the same in proper repair, and shall supply the same with the necessary lights. And provided also, that the act allowing three pence per ton for clearing and removing wrecks and other obstructions in the river Savannah be continued until the same shall be completely cleared.

Proviso—to be kept in repair and supplied with lights. Tonnage of 3 pence to be continued.

An Act to amend an Act entitled "An Act to carry the twenty-third Section of the first article of the Constitution into operation, so far as relates to the powers vested by the same in the honorable Abraham Baldwin, James Jones, and Benjamin Taliaferro, Esqrs. commissioners on the part of Georgia, to make a cession of part of the unlocated territory of said State to the United States.—Approved December 2, 1800. Vol. I. 586.*

Whereas the powers vested by the above-recited act in the said commissioners have been found too limited to enable them to carry the same into operation :

2. Sec. I. Be it therefore enacted, &c. That the honorable Abraham Baldwin, James Jones, Benjamin Taliaferro, and James Jackson, Esqrs. representatives of this State in congress, or a majority of them, be and are hereby authorised and empowered to meet any person or persons who now are, or hereafter may be appointed on the part of the United States; and they are hereby duly authorised and empowered as commissioners on the part of Georgia, with full and unlimited powers to treat, consult, conclude, and agree for the sale of all or any part of territory within the constitutional limits of this State, west of a line commencing at a point upon our northern boundary line, where Crow Creek, a branch of the Tennessee River, intersects the same, running from thence in a direct course to fall upon the thirty-first degree of north latitude, seventy geographical miles west of the Chatahouchee river, on such terms and reasonable compensation for the same as may be beneficial to both parties, and shall procure to this State all the land east and north of the aforesaid line, within a reasonable time.

Commissioners appointed to sell the western territory to the U. States.

Sec. II. All laws and clauses of laws militating against this act shall be, and are hereby repealed.

An Act to ratify and confirm certain articles of agreement and cession entered into on the 24th day of April, 1802, between the Commissioners of the State of Georgia on the one part, and the Commissioners of the United States on the other part.—Approved June 16, 1802. Vol. II. 48.

3. Whereas the commissioners of the State of Georgia, to wit : James Jackson, Abraham Baldwin, and John Milledge,† duly authorized and appointed by, and on the part and behalf of the said State of Georgia; and the commissioners of the United States, James Madison, Albert Gallatin, and Levi Lincoln, duly authorized and appointed by, and on the part and behalf of the said United States, to make an amicable settlement of limits, between the two sovereignties, after a due examination of their respective powers, did, on the 24th day of April last, enter into a deed of articles, and mutual cession, in the words following, to wit.

* Vol. I. 584. Superseded by this.

† In the place of James Jones, deceased. See Vol. II. 47.

4. Articles of agreement and cession, entered into on the 24th day of April, 1802, between the commissioners appointed on the part of the United States, by virtue of an act entitled "An Act for an amicable settlement of limits with the State of Georgia, and authorizing the establishment of a government in the Mississippi territory;" and of the act supplemental to the last mentioned act on the one part; and the commissioners appointed on the part of the State of Georgia, by virtue of an act entitled "An Act to carry the 23d Section of the first Article of the Constitution into effect," and of the act to amend the last mentioned act on the other part.

5. ARTICLE I. The State of Georgia cedes to the United States, all the right, title, and claim, which the said State has to the jurisdiction and soil situated within the boundaries of the United States, south of the State of Tennessee, and west of a line beginning on the western bank of Chatahouchie river, where the same crosses the boundary line between the United States and Spain, running thence up the said river Chatahouchie, and along the western bank thereof, to the great bend thereof, and next above the place where a certain creek or river called Uchee, (being the first considerable stream on the western side, above the Cussetas, and Coweta towns,) empties into the said Chatahouchie river, thence in a direct line to Nickajack on Tennessee river, then crossing said last mentioned river, and thence running up the said Tennessee river, and along the western bank thereof, to the southern boundary line of the State of Tennessee, upon the following express conditions, and subject thereto—that is to say:

6. First.—That out of the first net proceeds of the sales of the lands thus ceded, which net proceeds shall be estimated by deducting from the gross amount of sales, the expenses incurred in surveying, and incident to the sale, the United States shall pay at their treasury $1,250,000 to the State of Georgia, as a consideration for the expenses incurred by the said State, in relation to the said territory; and for the better securing as prompt a payment of the said sum as is practicable, a land office for the disposition of the vacant lands thus ceded, to which the Indian title has been, or may hereafter be extinguished, shall be opened within a twelvemonth after the assent of the State of Georgia to this agreement, as hereafter stated, shall have been declared.

7. Secondly.—That all persons who, on the 22d day of October, 1795, were actual settlers within the territory thus ceded, shall be confirmed in all the grants, legally and fully executed prior to that day, by the former British government of West Florida, or by the government of Spain, and in the claims which may be derived from any actual survey or settlement made under the act of the State of Georgia, entitled, "An Act for laying out a District of Land situate on the River Mississippi, and within the bounds of this State, into a County to be called Bourbon," passed the 7th day of February, 1785.

Thirdly.—That all the lands ceded by this agreement to the United States, shall, after satisfying the above-mentioned payment of $1,250,000 to the State of Georgia, and the grants recognized by the preceding condition, be considered as a common fund for the use and benefit of the United States, Georgia included, and shall be faithfully disposed of for that purpose, and for no other use or purpose whatever. Provided however, that the United States for the period and until the end of one year after the assent of Georgia to the boundary established by this agreement shall have been declared, may, in such manner as not to interfere with the above-mentioned payment to the State of Georgia, nor with the grants herein before recognized, dispose of or appropriate a portion of the said lands not exceeding five millions of acres, or the proceeds of the said five millions of acres, or of any part thereof, for the purpose of satisfying, quieting, or compensating for any claims other than those hereinbefore recognized, which may be made to the said lands, or any part thereof.* It being fully understood, that if an act of Congress making such disposition or appropriation, shall not be passed into a law within the above mentioned period of one year, the United States shall not be at liberty thereafter to cede any part of the said lands on account of claims which may be laid to the same, other than those recognized by the preceding condition, nor to compensate for the same; and in case of any such cession or compensation, the present cession of Georgia to the right of the soil thus ceded or compensated for, shall be considered as null and void, and the lands thus ceded or compensated for shall revert to the State of Georgia.

8. Fourthly.—That the United States shall at their own expense extinguish for the use of Georgia, as early as the same can be peaceably obtained on reasonable terms, the Indian title to the county of Tallassee, to the lands left out by the line drawn by the Creeks in the year 1798, which had been previously granted by the State of Georgia; both of which tracts had formerly been yielded by the Indians; and to the lands within the forks of the Oconee and Oakmulgee rivers; for which several objects the President of the United States has directed that a treaty shall be immediately held with the Creeks, and that the United States shall in the same manner extinguish the Indian title to all the other lands within the State of Georgia.

9. Fifthly.—That the territory thus ceded shall form a State, and be admitted as such into the Union, as soon as it shall contain 60,000 free inhabitants, or at an earlier period if Congress should think it expedient, on the same conditions and restrictions, with the same privileges, and in the same manner as is provided in the ordinance of Congress of the 13th day of July, 1787, for the government of the western territory of the United States, which ordinance shall in all its parts extended to the territory contained in the present act of cession, that article only excepted which forbids slavery.

10. ARTICLE II. The United States accept of the cession above mentioned, and on the conditions therein expressed; and they cede to the State of Georgia whatever claim, right, or title they may have to the jurisdiction or soil of any of the lands, lying within the United States, and out of the proper boundaries of any other States, and situated south of the southern boundaries of the States of Tennessee, North Carolina, and South Carolina, and east of the boundary line herein above described as the eastern boundary of the territory ceded by Georgia to the United States.

11. ARTICLE III. The present act of cession and agreement shall be in full force as soon as the legislature of Georgia shall have given its assent to the boundaries of this cession: Provided that the said assent shall be given within six months after the date of these presents; and provided that Congress shall not, during the same period of six months, repeal so much of any former law as authorizes this agreement, and renders it binding and conclusive on the United States: but if either the assent of Georgia shall not be thus given, or if the law of the United States shall be thus repealed within the said period of six months, then, and in either case, these presents shall become null and void.

* Yazoo claims were not here intended by Georgia. See Resolution of 1807. Vol. II. 680.

In faith whereof, the respective commissioners have signed these presents, and affixed hereunto their seals. Done at the city of Washington, in the District of Columbia, this 24th day of April, 1802.

[Signed by the commissioners and witnesses.]

Act to ratify and confirm the foregoing articles.

12. Be it enacted, &c. That the said deed or articles of agreement and cession be, and the same hereby is and are fully, absolutely, and amply ratified and confirmed in all its parts, and hereby is and are declared to be binding and conclusive on the said State, her government, and citizens forever.

An Act to cede to the United States jurisdiction over four acres of Land on the Southern extremity of St. Simon's Island, and six acres of Land on the Southern extremity of Cumberland Island, for the purpose of erecting Lighthouses.*—Approved December 10, 1804. Vol. II. 197.

Jurisdiction of 4 acres on St. Simon's Island, ceded to the United States.

Proviso.

And 6 acres on Cumberland Island.

13. Sec. I. From and immediately after the passing of this act, the jurisdiction to and over the four acres of land on the southern extremity of Saint Simon's Island, in the county of Glynn, ceded to the United States, for the purpose of erecting a lighthouse in and for the port of Brunswick, be and the same is hereby vested in the said United States of America: Provided, that the said United States shall erect a lighthouse on the same.

14. Sec. II. Jurisdiction to and over six acres of land, on the southern extremity of Cumberland island, in the county of Camden, ceded to the United States for the purpose of erecting a lighthouse in and for the port of Saint Mary's, be and the same is hereby vested in the United States: Provided, that the said United States shall erect a lighthouse on the same.

An Act to cede to the United States jurisdiction over five acres of Land, on the Southern extremity of Sapelo Island, for the purpose of erecting a Lighthouse.—Approved May 23, 1808. Vol. II. 438.

Five acres on Sapelo, for a lighthouse.

15. From and immediately after the passing of this act, the jurisdiction to and over five acres of land on the southern extremity of Sapelo Island, in the county of McIntosh, for the purpose of erecting a lighthouse in and for the port of Darien, be and the same is hereby vested in the said United States of America: provided, that the said United States shall erect a lighthouse on the same.

An Act to cede jurisdiction over Lands acquired by the United States, for the purpose of erecting Fortifications in this State.—Approved Dec. 22, 1808. Vol. II. 466.

Jurisdiction ceded to the U. States of certain territory for forts, &c.

16. From and immediately after the passing of this act, the congress of the United States shall have and maintain jurisdiction in and over all the lands they have purchased, or which has been ceded or otherwise acquired by them, or hereafter may be acquired, for the purpose of erecting forts or fortifications in this State: Provided, the said United States do or shall cause forts or fortifications to be erected thereon.

* See Resolution of June, 1807, on this subject. Vol. II. 675.

An Act to cede jurisdiction over five acres of Land on Wolf Island, or part thereof across the Creek at the West end of said Island, for the purpose of erecting a Lighthouse or Beacons.—Approved Dec. 14, 1819. Vol. III. 434.

17. Sec. I. From and after the passing of this act, the jurisdiction to and over five acres of land on Wolf island, in the county of McIntosh, for the purpose of erecting a lighthouse or beacons, be and the jurisdiction thereof is hereby ceded to the United States of America : Provided, the United States has or shall erect a lighthouse or beacon on the same. Five acres on Wolf Island for a light-house.

18. Sec. II. The United States of America may take a part of the said five acres of land across the creek at the west end of Wolf island, in the same manner and on the same terms prescribed above for Wolf island. May take a part thereof across the creek.

An Act to cede to the United States of America the Interest of the State in, and its Jurisdiction to, certain Sites on the Savannah River, whereon Beacons have been erected.—Approved Dec. 22, 1820. Vol. IV. 244.

19. Whatever right, title, or interest the State of Georgia may have in or to the sites or parcels of ground, or any of them, whereon the United States of America have placed or erected beacons or beacon lights, on Tybee Island, on Cockspur Island, on the Oyster Bank opposite said Cockspur Island, on the White Oyster Bank, likewise opposite the same, on Long Island, and on Elba Island, in the Savannah river, and likewise the jurisdiction to and over the same, be, and the same are hereby ceded to and vested in the said United States of America. Certain sites on the Savannah river, ceded to the U. States.

An Act to cede to the United States Jurisdiction over Marsh Island, for the purpose of erecting Beacons.—Approved May 16, 1821. Vol. IV. 244.

20. From and immediately after the passing of this act, the Congress of the United States shall have and maintain jurisdiction in and over Marsh Island, situate and lying in the county of McIntosh, a little to the east of Doboy Island, for the purpose of erecting a beacon, or other purposes. Congress authorized to jurisdiction over Marsh Island.

An Act assenting to and confirming a Purchase made by the United States of a piece of Land, situated near Augusta, Georgia, and for ceding the Jurisdiction over the same.—Approved Dec. 26, 1826. - Vol. IV. 261.

The consent of the legislature of the State of Georgia is hereby granted to a purchase which the United States have lately made from Freeman Walker, of a certain tract of land situate in the county Richmond, about three miles above the city of Augusta, containing seventy acres, for a site for an arsenal and military establishment; which tract is bounded as follows: commencing at a stone corner, and running north two degrees to the west, eighteen chains twenty-five links, to a stone corner standing on the road which divides the Bellevue tract of land from land belonging to Mr. Thomas Cumming; from thence running with the road, and on the left side thereof north eighty- Consent given to the purchase of a tract of land purchased of Freeman Walker by the United States for an arsenal. The boundaries of said tract.

Proviso.

nine degrees and thirty seconds to the west, twenty-nine chains and eighty-seven links to a stone corner; from thence running south twenty-eight chains and ninety-two links to a stone corner; from thence running north seventy-one degrees fifteen seconds to the east, thirty-two chains and twenty links to the beginning; having in all four corners, each of which has the initial letters of the United States (U. S.) engraved on the top thereof; and that the jurisdiction over said tract is hereby ceded to the United States; Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall extend, or be constructed to extend, so as to impede or prevent the execution of any process, civil or criminal, under the authority of this State.

COINS AND CURRENCY.

An Act to prevent the clipping and mutilating the Current Coin of this State.—Approved Feb. 3, 1789. Vol. I. 59.

Whereas the most mischievous consequences are daily experienced by the good citizens of this State, from the nefarious practice of clipping and mutilating the circulating specie thereof, to prevent the same,

Coin to pass by tale.

1. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That all gold and silver coin of full weight shall pass current by tale within this State.

Clipping the coin, £100 for the first offence.

2. Sec. II. If any person or persons shall presume to cut, clip, or mutilate the gold or silver coin current in this State,* after the first day of March next, he, she, or they, so offending, and shall be lawfully convicted, shall forfeit, for the first offence, the sum of one hundred pounds, one half to go to the informer, and the other half to go to the use of the academy within the county or counties where such offence may be committed; and for the second offence, on conviction before any court of judicature, having cognizance thereof, he, she, or they shall and are hereby declared guilty of felony, and shall suffer death without benefit of clergy.

Death for the second.

An Act for regulating the rates of Coin.—Approved Dec. 29, 1794. Vol. I. 60.

Dollars to be rated at eight shillings and four pence, and other coins in the same proportion.

3. After the first day of July next, a Spanish milled dollar shall pass and be received in payment of all debts which may be contracted by or with any person or persons within this State, and in payment of all taxes that may be laid or assessed after the present session, at the rate of eight shillings and four pence,† and all other coins in the same rate and proportion: Provided nevertheless, that this act shall not be so construed as to affect any contract or money transaction, made or

* This offence is believed not to be embraced by the Penal code. See Penal Laws, Sec. 160, &c.

† The act of 1786, for the emission of 50,000 pounds in paper money, made it a legal tender at the rate of 4 shillings and 8 pence to the dollar, and 37 shillings and 4 pence to the half johanna of Portugal. Vol. I. 380-84.

"An Act for emitting the sum of 50,000 pounds in bills of credit, and for establishing a fund for the redemption of the same, and for other purposes therein mentioned," Vol. I. 379; and "An Act to redeem the paper medium of this State," Ibid. 382. are omitted as obsolete. Also the act prescribing the scale of depreciation. Ibid. 125.

entered into prior to the first day of July, 1795: And provided also, Not to affect fees or salaries of officers. that nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to reduce or alter the fees or salaries of the several officers within this State.

An Act to regulate the manner of keeping Public Accounts within this State.—Approved Feb. 22, 1796. Vol. I. 33.

4. Sec. I. From and after the first day of March, 1796, all accounts in the public offices, and all the accounts of the tax collectors of this State, shall be expressed in dollars or units, dismes or tenths, cents or hundredths, and mills or thousandths; a disme being the tenth part of a dollar, a cent the hundredth part of a dollar, and a mill the thousandth part of a dollar. Public accounts to be kept in dollars.

5. Sec. II. The verdicts of juries, on all contracts which shall be made after the first day of March next, shall be expressed conformable to this regulation. Verdicts to be in dollars.

Resolved, That persons having claims or demands against the State, payable at the treasury, shall not in future be compelled to receive any depreciated currency in payment of such claims or demands; but the treasurer shall pay the same in specie or current bills.

And be it further resolved, That the treasurer shall not, from and after the first day of January next, receive in payment for any debts due the State and payable at the treasury, bills of any depreciated currency: Provided, however, nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to authorize the treasurer to refuse the reception of Darien bills for taxes collected for the political year 1824 or any time previous thereto. [Approved Nov. 23, 1825.]

House of Representatives, Saturday, Nov. 20, 1830.

The committee to whom was referred the petition of Major John Scriven, praying the redemption of certain paper medium, issued under authority of this State, in 1786, respectfully—report:

That in 1786, an act was passed authorizing the emission of £50,000 in bills of credit, for the purpose of furnishing a circulating medium. The peace of 1782, found the State of Georgia as also the other States of the confederation, devoid of credit and without any medium for the commerce of the country, but revolutionary and depreciated money. The scarcity of gold and silver (as the act authorizing the issuing of the £50,000 expresses it) rendered it necessary to supply the good people of this State, with a medium of commerce of a sound and solid nature for want of which, they already suffered; and founded upon these premises, really and truly existing, the legislature emitted this £50,000, with the best intentions, with full confidence of its usefulness, its prop to public credit, and its entire security, from the “pledge of a vast tract of valuable land,” and the “guarantee of the honor and faith of Georgia,” superadded to mortgage of soil.

This money continued to be a tender in law, and to be received in all payments due the public. From 1790, it was solely received by the treasurer and public officers of the State; and as taxes increased, property sold under the confiscation requiring payments into the treasury, other public demands, fines of courts and a variety of other causes, reduced this medium, and it was slowly, quietly, and almost unknowingly, so far absorbed by the treasury, that the report of the comptroller general, dated 3d December, 1811, made in compliance with a call by the house of representatives for information, shows that at that time there were outstanding, $11,019 87½. Since that time there have been redeemed the sum of $1,827 74½, leaving an unredeemed balance against the State, of $9,192 13, as appears from the report of the treasurer of the 4th of this month, of this last sum, Major John Scriven owns $2,679 96.

That this money is still redeemable at the treasury, for testimonials and head-right grants, and it is merely a question, whether the State shall redeem at once, or allow a debt now so long due, to be gradually and slowly extinguished. Upon this subject, your committee do not hesitate, and they respectfully recommend that the claim be paid without further delay. In accordance with this opinion, they respectfully submit the following resolution:

Resolved, That the treasurer or comptroller of the State, be, and he is hereby authorized to receive the following bills: 300 of twenty shillings; 360 of ten shillings; 403 of five shillings; 249 of two shillings and six pence; 213 of one shilling, and 110 of six pence; making in the whole, the sum of $285 5s. 6d.—$2,776 17, and six-sevenths of a cent, computing dollars, at four shillings and eight pence, either for any debts due the State, or for taxes after the said treasurer or comptroller, shall be satisfied of the genuineness of said bills. [Pam. of 1830, p. 267.]

Your committee find on the treasurer's books, and chargeable to that officer, the sum of $2,787 73, in paper medium; but on examining the contents of a packet, the envelope of which was endorsed with that amount, they found it to contain $5,683 31 of paper medium, which never can be of any value, and which is believed to be an unnecessary encumbrance of useless paper, not required by sound policy longer to be kept in the treasury of the State. They also find twenty-one dollars of counterfeit money, and a ten dollar bill on the Bank of the State of Georgia, which appears to have been raised. Your committee therefore offer the following resolution:—

Resolved, That the treasurer be, and he is hereby required to cancel the bill supposed to have been raised for its true value, and charge himself with that amount; and that the counterfeit money and paper medium be burnt in the presence of the committee on finance; and that the treasurer have credit for $2,787 73 of paper medium, and $31 of counterfeit money.

Read and agreed to, Dec. 10, 1834. Pam. p. 324.

CONVEYANCES.—1755.

*An Act to prevent Fraudulent Deeds of Conveyances.—Approved March 7, 1755. Vol. I. 111.

Whereas many inconveniences may attend the want or neglect of recording in the public offices of this province all conveyances of lands, negroes, and other chattels, or mortgages of the same :

Conveyances,
mortgages,
&c. where,
and in what time to be recorded.

1. Sec. I. Be it enacted, that all conveyances of lands, tenements, negroes, and other chattels, or hereditaments whatsoever, or mortgages of the same, that were made before the passing of this act, shall be registered in the register of the records' office of this province, within three months after the publishing of this act, except such as have been or may be hereafter executed in Europe, which shall be registered as directed by this act, within a twelve month and a day; and except such as have been or may be hereafter executed in the West India Islands, or on the American continent, north of South Carolina, which shall be registered by this act within six months; and such as may be hereafter made within this province be registered within the space of sixty days from the date of the several deeds, conveyances, or mortgages; in failure of which, all such as are lawfully and regularly registered as aforesaid, shall be deemed, taken, and construed to be prior, and shall take place and be recoverable in law before any and every deed, conveyance, or mortgage, which has not been lawfully registered as above, any law, custom, or usage to the contrary notwithstanding.†

And in order to discourage and deter all and every person and persons from making any fraudulent conveyances or mortgages;

2. Sec. II. Be it enacted, that if any vender or mortgager of lands,

* As all acts must govern the contracts made under them, it seems difficult to assign any period when those relating to conveyances may be considered as obsolete. Personal contracts, indeed, are generally disposed of by the statutes of limitation; but questions of title, especially to real estate, very frequently depend on the soundness of former titles; so that real property is held under not only recent acts, but under those that have been in force at various periods heretofore. For these reasons, besides those mentioned in the former edition, it is deemed best not to mutilate the statutes on this subject, but to present them entire.

† The recording of mortgages, and the extent of their lien, more fully provided for by Act of 1837. See this title, Sec. 22, et seq.

tenements, negroes, or other chattels, or hereditaments, within this province, shall presume to execute a second or other deed of conveyance, or sale of the same lands, tenements, negroes, or other chattels, or hereditaments, other than the first vender of such lands, tenements, negroes, or other chattels, or hereditaments, or a second or other deed of mortgage, without having taken notice in the said deed of mortgage of the first or prior mortgage or mortgages with which the said lands, tenements, negroes, or other chattels or hereditaments, stand charged at the time of executing the said deed, all and every person and persons so offending, shall be tried and punished, and be subject to the like forfeitures and penalties as the laws of that part of Great Britain, called England, have provided against all such persons as shall execute deeds of mortgage without taking notice of all prior mortgages made.

If fraudulent, how detected and punished.

3. Sec. III. All wills and testaments conveying properties within this province, that have been formerly made and not recorded in the former office, be registered in the register* of records' office of this province, within three months after the passing of this act, except such as have been or may be made in Europe, all which shall be registered as aforesaid, within a twelve month and a day, otherwise they are deemed and construed to be void; and all wills and testaments hereafter to be made within this province shall be registered as above, within three months* from the death of the testator, in failure of which, the said wills or testaments shall be deemed and construed to be void and of no effect.

Time and place of recording wills or testaments.

4. Sec. IV. All deeds of conveyances, mortgages, wills or writings that have been regularly entered in the former office of record of this province, shall be deemed lawful to all intents and purposes, any thing in this act or any other act contained to the contrary notwithstanding.

Deeds, wills, &c. already recorded, deemed legal.

An Act to enable Feme-Couverts to convey their Estates, and for confirming and making valid all conveyances and acknowledgments heretofore made by Feme-Couverts.—Approved April 24th, 1760. Vol. I. 112.

Whereas the usual method of conveying lands and tenements in England, by feme-couverts, is by fine or recovery, which methods have not been practised in any of his majesty's American colonies: And whereas, instead thereof, it has been customary in the conveyances of lands by husband and wife, for the wife to acknowledge her consent before a judge or justice, being first privately examined by the said judge or justice; whether she acknowledged the same voluntarily and freely:

5. Sec. I. Be it therefore enacted, That all alienations and conveyances whatsoever, which have at any time heretofore in this province been made, either by husband and wife, having jointly signed a deed of conveyance before witnesses, or by the acknowledgment of the wife of her consent to such a sale of lands and tenements, before any of the then justices or magistrates, shall in such cases be valid in law, and good and effectual against the husband and wife, their heirs, and assigns, and against all other person or persons whatsoever claiming under the said husband and wife, or either of them, to all intents and purposes as if the same had been done by fine or recovery, or by any other way or means in the law.

Conveyances, &c. of lands, made by husband and wife, or acknowledged by the wife, made valid.

* The place, now the clerk of the court of ordinary's office. The time, superseded by subsequent acts.

Two persons shall be evidence of right, so far as to compel the other party to prove his property by disinterested testimony, in the manner hereinbefore pointed out: Provided, That nothing in this act contained shall compel such person or persons as have already had their brands and marks recorded in the secretary's office, to record the same in the clerk's office aforesaid, but such record in the secretary's office shall be good and valid.

Clerk shall record marks, brands, &c.

His fees.

15. Sec. III. It shall be the duty of the clerks of the superior courts, upon the application of any person or persons, to record all marks and brands, in books to be kept by them for that purpose, and give certificates thereof when thereunto required, by any person or persons, and for which they shall receive the fees pointed out by the act to revise and amend "An Act for ascertaining the fees of the public officers of this State."

An Act to empower the Justices of the Inferior Court of the County of Camden or a majority of them, to appoint Inspectors of Cattle in said county.—Approved December 5, 1799. Vol. I. 56.

Appointment of an inspector of cattle driven into Florida,

who shall record their marks.

Compensation.

Penalty for so driving cattle without inspection.

16. Sec. I. It shall be the duty of the justices of the inferior court of the county of Camden, to meet at the court-house in said county, on the first Monday in February next, and there to appoint two fit and proper persons to inspect all cattle which may be drove through or from the county of Camden to the province of East Florida, by taking the marks and brands of each, and recording the same in a book to be kept for that purpose by him.

Sec. II. The owner or owners of said cattle, shall pay to said inspector six and one quarter cents for each head of cattle so inspected.

17. Sec. III. Any person or persons, failing or neglecting to give information to the said inspector, of his, her, or their intention to drive cattle from this State to the province of East Florida, and do actually drive the same without being inspected by the inspector or inspectors appointed by virtue of this act, shall forfeit for each head, ten dollars, to be recovered by action of debt, in any court having cognizance of the same, the one half to the person informing, and the other part to the use of the county.

CESSIONS TO THE UNITED STATES.—1791.

An Act to empower the Senators, or one Senator and two Representatives, from this State, in the Congress of the United States, to sign, seal, and deliver a Deed of Cession of the Lighthouse on Tybee Island, and five acres of land belonging thereto, to the United States.—Approved December 15, 1791. Vol. I. 344.

Lighthouse on Tybee island, with five acres of land, to be ceded to the U. States.

1. From and immediately after the passing of this act, it shall be lawful for the senators of this State in the congress of the United States, or for one of the said senators, with any two of the representatives of this State to the said congress, to sign, seal, and deliver a deed of cession to the United States, on behalf of this State, of the lighthouse on Tybee Island, and of the property and jurisdiction of this State of, in, and to the same, and of five acres of land nearest adjoining,

and belonging thereto, to hold the same and every part thereof to the said United States for ever. Provided always, that the said United States shall keep the same in proper repair, and shall supply the same with the necessary lights. And provided also, that the act allowing three pence per ton for clearing and removing wrecks and other obstructions in the river Savannah be continued until the same shall be completely cleared.

Proviso—to be kept in repair and supplied with lights. Tonnage of 3 pence to be continued.

An Act to amend an Act entitled "An Act to carry the twenty-third Section of the first article of the Constitution into operation, so far as relates to the powers vested by the same in the honorable Abraham Baldwin, James Jones, and Benjamin Taliaferro, Esqrs. commissioners on the part of Georgia, to make a cession of part of the unlocated territory of said State to the United States.—Approved December 2, 1800. Vol. I. 586.*

Whereas the powers vested by the above-recited act in the said commissioners have been found too limited to enable them to carry the same into operation :

2. Sec. I. Be it therefore enacted, &c. That the honorable Abraham Baldwin, James Jones, Benjamin Taliaferro, and James Jackson, Esqrs. representatives of this State in congress, or a majority of them, be and are hereby authorised and empowered to meet any person or persons who now are, or hereafter may be appointed on the part of the United States; and they are hereby duly authorised and empowered as commissioners on the part of Georgia, with full and unlimited powers to treat, consult, conclude, and agree for the sale of all or any part of territory within the constitutional limits of this State, west of a line commencing at a point upon our northern boundary line, where Crow Creek, a branch of the Tennessee River, intersects the same, running from thence in a direct course to fall upon the thirty-first degree of north latitude, seventy geographical miles west of the Chatahouchee river, on such terms and reasonable compensation for the same as may be beneficial to both parties, and shall procure to this State all the land east and north of the aforesaid line, within a reasonable time.

Commissioners appointed to sell the western territory to the U. States.

Sec. II. All laws and clauses of laws militating against this act shall be, and are hereby repealed.

An Act to ratify and confirm certain articles of agreement and cession entered into on the 24th day of April, 1802, between the Commissioners of the State of Georgia on the one part, and the Commissioners of the United States on the other part.—Approved June 16, 1802. Vol. II. 48.

3. Whereas the commissioners of the State of Georgia, to wit : James Jackson, Abraham Baldwin, and John Milledge,† duly authorized and appointed by, and on the part and behalf of the said State of Georgia; and the commissioners of the United States, James Madison, Albert Gallatin, and Levi Lincoln, duly authorized and appointed by, and on the part and behalf of the said United States, to make an amicable settlement of limits, between the two sovereignties, after a due examination of their respective powers, did, on the 24th day of April last, enter into a deed of articles, and mutual cession, in the words following, to wit.

* Vol. I. 584. Superseded by this.

† In the place of James Jones, deceased. See Vol. II. 47.

4. Articles of agreement and cession, entered into on the 24th day of April, 1802, between the commissioners appointed on the part of the United States, by virtue of an act entitled "An Act for an amicable settlement of limits with the State of Georgia, and authorizing the establishment of a government in the Mississippi territory;" and of the act supplemental to the last mentioned act on the one part; and the commissioners appointed on the part of the State of Georgia, by virtue of an act entitled "An Act to carry the 23d Section of the first Article of the Constitution into effect," and of the act to amend the last mentioned act on the other part.

5. ARTICLE I. The State of Georgia cedes to the United States, all the right, title, and claim, which the said State has to the jurisdiction and soil situated within the boundaries of the United States, south of the State of Tennessee, and west of a line beginning on the western bank of Chatahouchie river, where the same crosses the boundary line between the United States and Spain, running thence up the said river Chatahouchie, and along the western bank thereof, to the great bend thereof, and next above the place where a certain creek or river called Uchee, (being the first considerable stream on the western side, above the Cussetas, and Coweta towns,) empties into the said Chatahouchie river, thence in a direct line to Nickajack on Tennessee river, then crossing said last mentioned river, and thence running up the said Tennessee river, and along the western bank thereof, to the southern boundary line of the State of Tennessee, upon the following express conditions, and subject thereto—that is to say:

6. First.—That out of the first net proceeds of the sales of the lands thus ceded, which net proceeds shall be estimated by deducting from the gross amount of sales, the expenses incurred in surveying, and incident to the sale, the United States shall pay at their treasury $1,250,000 to the State of Georgia, as a consideration for the expenses incurred by the said State, in relation to the said territory; and for the better securing as prompt a payment of the said sum as is practicable, a land office for the disposition of the vacant lands thus ceded, to which the Indian title has been, or may hereafter be extinguished, shall be opened within a twelvemonth after the assent of the State of Georgia to this agreement, as hereafter stated, shall have been declared.

7. Secondly.—That all persons who, on the 22d day of October, 1795, were actual settlers within the territory thus ceded, shall be confirmed in all the grants, legally and fully executed prior to that day, by the former British government of West Florida, or by the government of Spain, and in the claims which may be derived from any actual survey or settlement made under the act of the State of Georgia, entitled, "An Act for laying out a District of Land situate on the River Mississippi, and within the bounds of this State, into a County to be called Bourbon," passed the 7th day of February, 1785.

Thirdly.—That all the lands ceded by this agreement to the United States, shall, after satisfying the above-mentioned payment of $1,250,000 to the State of Georgia, and the grants recognized by the preceding condition, be considered as a common fund for the use and benefit of the United States, Georgia included, and shall be faithfully disposed of for that purpose, and for no other use or purpose whatever. Provided however, that the United States for the period and until the end of one year after the assent of Georgia to the boundary established by this agreement shall have been declared, may, in such manner as not to interfere with the above-mentioned payment to the State of Georgia, nor with the grants herein before recognized, dispose of or appropriate a portion of the said lands not exceeding five millions of acres, or the proceeds of the said five millions of acres, or of any part thereof, for the purpose of satisfying, quieting, or compensating for any claims other than those hereinbefore recognized, which may be made to the said lands, or any part thereof.* It being fully understood, that if an act of Congress making such disposition or appropriation, shall not be passed into a law within the above mentioned period of one year, the United States shall not be at liberty thereafter to cede any part of the said lands on account of claims which may be laid to the same, other than those recognized by the preceding condition, nor to compensate for the same; and in case of any such cession or compensation, the present cession of Georgia to the right of the soil thus ceded or compensated for, shall be considered as null and void, and the lands thus ceded or compensated for shall revert to the State of Georgia.

8. Fourthly.—That the United States shall at their own expense extinguish for the use of Georgia, as early as the same can be peaceably obtained on reasonable terms, the Indian title to the county of Tallessee, to the lands left out by the line drawn by the Creeks in the year 1798, which had been previously granted by the State of Georgia; both of which tracts had formerly been yielded by the Indians; and to the lands within the forks of the Oconee and Oakmulgee rivers; for which several objects the President of the United States has directed that a treaty shall be immediately held with the Creeks, and that the United States shall in the same manner extinguish the Indian title to all the other lands within the State of Georgia.

9. Fifthly.—That the territory thus ceded shall form a State, and be admitted as such into the Union, as soon as it shall contain 60,000 free inhabitants, or at an earlier period if Congress should think it expedient, on the same conditions and restrictions, with the same privileges, and in the same manner as is provided in the ordinance of Congress of the 13th day of July, 1787, for the government of the western territory of the United States, which ordinance shall in all its parts extended to the territory contained in the present act of cession, that article only excepted which forbids slavery.

10. ARTICLE II. The United States accept of the cession above mentioned, and on the conditions therein expressed; and they cede to the State of Georgia whatever claim, right, or title they may have to the jurisdiction or soil of any of the lands, lying within the United States, and out of the proper boundaries of any other States, and situated south of the southern boundaries of the States of Tennessee, North Carolina, and South Carolina, and east of the boundary line herein above described as the eastern boundary of the territory ceded by Georgia to the United States.

11. ARTICLE III. The present act of cession and agreement shall be in full force as soon as the legislature of Georgia shall have given its assent to the boundaries of this cession: Provided that the said assent shall be given within six months after the date of these presents; and provided that Congress shall not, during the same period of six months, repeal so much of any former law as authorizes this agreement, and renders it binding and conclusive on the United States: but if either the assent of Georgia shall not be thus given, or if the law of the United States shall be thus repealed within the said period of six

* Yazoo claims were not here intended by Georgia. See Resolution of 1807. Vol. II. 680.

the same in the office of the clerk of the county where such person resides, or where the land in question is situate, and shall notify by public gazette of this State, that such person or persons intends to establish such deed or paper, that then it shall and may be lawful, and in case no sufficient objection shall be made, for the superior courts in each county to establish the title and right of such person or persons to the property alluded to, by the testimony and papers offered to the said court, and be deemed as good evidence in law, so far as to give the party applying a good right and title, until a better shall appear and be made out to the satisfaction of the court and jury within the time limited by the act of limitation.

An Act to extend the Limitation of Actions, and for other purposes therein mentioned.—Approved Feb. 1, 1788. Vol. I. 36.

And whereas, the time limited in an act, entitled “An Act to render easy the mode of conveying lands, and for making valid all deeds and conveyances heretofore that may be deficient in point of form,” and for other purposes therein mentioned, has not allowed sufficient time for some of the purposes for which it was intended :

Time for recording deeds extended

19. Sec. II. Be it enacted, &c. That no deed of feoffment, bargain and sale, lease and release, or other conveyance of lands and tenements, bona fide, executed as directed by the said recited act, shall in any wise be affected by reason of the same not being registered or recorded in the respective offices where the lands lie, agreeably to the said act; but that every person or persons shall, and he or they hereby have full liberty and power to register or record his, her, or their deed or deeds of conveyance of lands and tenements aforesaid, at any time within the term of two years from the date hereof; and the said deeds so registered or recorded as last aforesaid, are hereby declared to be good and valid in law and equity, according to the true intent and meaning thereof, any thing in the before mentioned act notwithstanding.

to 1st Feb.
1790.

An Act to amend, explain, and continue the “Act for regulating the Judiciary Department of this State.”—Approved Dec. 9, 1790. Vol. I. 37.

And to 1st of Feb. 1793.

20. Sec. XIV. The “Act to extend the limitation of actions, and for other purposes therein mentioned,” passed at Augusta the first day of February, 1788, be, and the same is hereby revived and continued until the first day of February, 1793, and no longer. [All the remainder of this act repealed by the judicial act of 1792. Watk. 492.]

An Act to prevent Assignments, or transfers of property, to a portion of creditors, to the exclusion and injury of the other creditors, of persons who fail in trade, or who are indebted at the time of such assignment or transfer.—Approved Dec. 19, 1818. Vol. III. 248.

Whereas a practice of selecting particular creditors by assignments and transfers of property, made by persons indebted, and thereby excluding or defrauding other bona fide creditors of their just claims on the estate of insolvent debtors, is contrary to the first principles of equity and justice; to prevent the mischief thereof:

21. Be it enacted, &c. That any person or persons, unable to pay his, her, or their debts, who shall at any time hereafter make any assignment or transfer of real or personal property, stock in trade, debts, dues, or demands, in trust, to any person or persons, in satisfaction or payment of any debt or demand, or in part thereof, for the use and benefit of his, her, or their creditor or creditors, or for the use and benefit of any other person or persons, by which any creditor of the said debtor shall or may be excluded from an equal share or portion of the estate so assigned or transferred, such assignment, transfer, deed, or conveyance, shall be null and void, and considered in law and equity as fraudulent against creditors: Provided nevertheless, that nothing contained in this act, shall prevent any person or persons in debt, from bona fide and absolutely selling and disposing of any part or the whole of his, her, or their estate, so the same be free from any trust for the benefit of the seller, or any person or persons appointed by him, her, or them.

Assignments of property to some creditors in preference to others, declared void.

Proviso.

An Act to provide for the Recording of Deeds of Mortgage upon real and personal property within this State, and to define the lien of the same; and also to amend an act, entitled "An Act to admit certain Deeds to record, and to authorize the same or copies thereof to be read in evidence, and also the copies of certain other Deeds," and for other purposes.—Approved Dec. 26, 1827. Vol. IV. 221.

Whereas, it is doubted if there be any law of force in this State requiring deeds of mortgage to be recorded; and whereas, such a law is highly necessary for the prevention of frauds and oppression; for remedy whereof,

Preamble.

22. Be it enacted, That all deeds of mortgage upon real property which have been heretofore executed shall, after having been proved, as in case of deeds of real property, be recorded in the clerk's office of the superior court of the county in which such real property may lie, within twelve months after the passing of this act; and that all deeds of mortgage upon personal property which have been heretofore executed, shall be proved by the affidavit of the subscribing witness, and recorded in the clerk's office of the superior court of the county in which the mortgager shall have resided at the time of the making of the same, or if he be dead, in the county where his legal representatives reside at the time of recording the same; or if there be no legal representatives in the county where the mortgager last resided previous to his death, within twelve months after the passage of this act; Provided, that nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to require mortgages which have already been recorded to be again recorded, but the same shall be held and deemed to be legally recorded, and admitted in evidence under the laws now in force in this State; and provided also, that if the witnesses to any mortgage are dead, or removed from the county, then the same may be recorded upon the affidavit of one or more persons who are acquainted with the hand-writing.

Existing mortgages to be recorded in 12 months from date of this act.

On personalty, how proved, and where recorded.

Proviso. All existing records of mortgages legalized.

If the witnesses are dead or removed, proof of hand-writing.

23. Sec. II. All deeds of mortgage upon real property hereafter to be made, shall be proved in the same way as is above required by the first section of this act for the proving of mortgages of real estate, and shall be recorded in the clerk's office of the superior court of the county in which such real estate shall lie, within three months from the date of such deed; and that all deeds of mortgage upon personal property hereafter to be made, shall be proved in the same manner as is provided in the first section of this act for the proving of like deeds heretofore made, and shall be recorded in the clerk's office of the superior court of the county in which the mortgager resided at the time of the execution of the said mortgage, within three months after the date of such mortgage.

Future mortgages of realty or personalty, to be recorded in 3 months from date.

How all future deeds are to be admitted to record.

24. Sec. III. Every deed of conveyance or mortgage of either real or personal property hereafter to be made, may, upon being executed in the presence of, and attested by a notary public, judge of the superior court, justice of the inferior court, or justice of the peace (and in cases of real property, by one other witness), be admitted to record and made evidence in the different courts of law and equity in this State, as though the same had been executed, proved, and attested as heretofore required by the laws of this State in case of deeds of real property.

Unrecorded mortgages lose their lien.

25. Sec. IV. Upon failure to record any mortgage, as hereinbefore required, within the time or times hereinbefore specified for recording the same, that then and in such case all judgments obtained before the foreclosure of the said mortgage, and also any mortgage executed after the same, and duly recorded, shall take lien on the said mortgaged property in preference to the said mortgage.

Mortgage of personalty made out of the State, when and where to be recorded.

26. Sec. V. And whereas, personal property is frequently mortgaged while beyond the limits of this State, which property, so mortgaged, is afterward brought within the limits of this State, before the debt for which the same was pledged is satisfied; Be it therefore enacted, That in cases of mortgages of personal property, executed when the said property so mortgaged is beyond the limits of this State, and which property shall be afterward brought within the limits of this State, such mortgages shall be recorded within six months after the said property shall be so brought in, in the office of the clerk of the superior court of the county where the person so bringing the said property shall first establish his residence.

Or lose their lien.

27. Sec. VI. If the holder of any mortgage of property, so brought into the State, shall fail to record his mortgage at the place and within the time specified in the preceding section for the recording the same; then and in such case any and all judgments which shall have been duly obtained against the said mortgager, before the foreclosure of such mortgage, shall be entitled to take lien on the said mortgaged property, prior to the said mortgage; Provided, that if the said mortgagee or his assignee, or the legal representatives of such mortgagee or assignee shall, on foreclosure of the said mortgage, make affidavit before the judge or justice granting such foreclosure, that he was the holder of the said mortgage at the time of the removal of the said property into this State, and that he did not know, before the expiration of the time fixed as aforesaid for recording such mortgages, that the said mortgaged property had been removed within this State; or if the said debt be not due, and the mortgagee, or his legal representatives, or assignee, shall make a like affidavit before a judge or justice as aforesaid, and place the said mortgage and affidavit together on record in the proper office hereinbefore specified; then and in such case, the said mortgage shall be considered and taken from that time to have and be entitled to the same lien as if the same had been duly recorded.

Unless oath made of want of knowledge.

Deeds of land recorded, on the oath of one or more of the sub. witnesses, &c. admitted as evidence, &c.

28. Sec. VII. All deeds of land which may have been recorded on the oath of one or more of the subscribing witnesses, or if subscribed by two or more witnesses, one of whom attested the same as a judge of the superior court, justice of the inferior court, justice of the peace, or notary public, shall have been recorded in their official attestation; such deeds, though not recorded within the time prescribed by law, shall be admitted in evidence in the same manner as deeds which have been duly recorded; and when the originals of such deeds are lost or destroyed, and that fact is made known to the court, the copies of such deeds, taken from the record, and duly attested by the person having the custody of the same, may be read in evidence before any court of law or equity in this State.

29. Sec. VIII. And be it further enacted, That all deeds, other than mortgages, executed and proven, as stated in the preceding section, but not recorded, may be recorded within twelve months from the passage of this act. Deeds other than mortgages.

An Act to authorize the appointment of Commissioners out of this State to take the Acknowledgments of Deeds and other instruments of writing under seal, and to admit the same to record in this State; and also to take Affidavits.—Approved Dec. 22, 1829. Vol. IV. 225.

30. The governor of this State be, and he is hereby authorized to name, appoint, and commission one or more commissioners in each or such of the other States of the United States, or the territories thereof, or the district of Columbia, as he may deem expedient; which commissioners shall continue in office during the pleasure of the governor, and shall have authority to take acknowledgments and proof of the execution of any deed, mortgage, or other conveyance of any lands, tenements, hereditaments, or other property lying and being in this State, and of any contract, letter of attorney, or any other writing under seal, to be used or recorded in this State; and such acknowledgment or proof taken or made in the manner directed by the laws of this State, and certified by any one of the said commissioners, before whom the same shall be taken or made under his seal, which certificate shall be endorsed on or annexed to the said deed or instrument aforesaid, shall have the same force and effect, and be as good and available in law for all purposes, as if the same had been made before a judge or justice of the peace in this State. The Governor authorized to nominate and commission one or more Commissioners, in any of the States, territories, or the district of Columbia, to take the acknowledgment of deeds, &c. To continue in office at the pleasure of the Governor. Such writing or such proof, to be recorded, &c.

31. Sec. II. Every commissioner appointed by virtue of this act shall have full power and authority to administer an oath or affirmation to any person who shall be willing and desirous to make such oath or affirmation before him; and such affidavit or affirmation made before such commissioner shall and is hereby declared to be as good and effectual to all intents and purposes as if taken by any magistrate resident in this State, and competent to take the same. Such Commissioner authorized to administer an oath, &c. to carry this Act into effect.

32. Sec. III. Every commissioner appointed as aforesaid, before he shall proceed to perform any duty under and by virtue of this act, shall take and subscribe an oath or affirmation before a judge of one of the Superior Courts of the State in which such commissioner shall reside, well and faithfully to execute and perform all the duties of such commissioner under and by virtue of the laws of Georgia; which oath or affirmation shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state of this State. Every such Commissioner required to take an oath. The substance thereof.

Sec. IV. All laws or parts of laws militating against this act are hereby repealed. Repealing clause.

An Act to abolish the Right of Survivorships in Joint Tenants in this State.—Approved Dec. 17, 1828. Vol. IV. 222.

Whereas, it is doubtful whether the right of survivorship, as under the English law, does not still exist in this State, in all estates of joint tenancy; Preamble.

33. Be it enacted, That from and after the passage of this act, when two or more persons shall hold and possess any estate of lands Survivorship abolished between joint tenants.

in joint tenancy in this State, and one or more of said joint tenants may depart this life during the existence of said estate, the title or interest of the deceased joint tenant in said estate shall not go and become the property of the surviving joint tenant or tenants, as under the English law, but that the same shall be distributed as all other estates are, under the existing laws of this State.

All laws and parts of laws militating against this act are hereby repealed.

An Act, to alter and amend the several Acts regulating the foreclosures of mortgages upon real estate.—This act approved Dec. 26, 1836. Pam. 164.

Rule absolute to be passed at the next term.

34. From and after the passage of this act, in all cases where any application shall be made to any Superior Court of this State, for the foreclosure of any mortgage upon real estate, it shall be the duty of such court to pass an order, requiring the mortgager to pay the principal and interest due upon such mortgage, into court, on or before the first day of the next term, which order shall be served or published in the manner now required by law; and if such order be not complied with by the mortgager, the court may at such term, pass a rule absolute for the sale of the mortgaged property.

COTTON SEED.—1803.

An Act to compel the owners or occupiers of Cotton Machines within this State, to enclose the same, and in particular situations to remove the seed therefrom.—Approved December 10, 1803. Vol. II. 135.

Occupiers of cotton machines to enclose the seed,

1. Sec. I. From and after the first day of January next, it shall be the duty of all owners or occupiers of cotton machines for picking of cotton, in all towns or villages, or immediately in the vicinity of any town or village within this State, to enclose the seed in such manner as will effectually prevent all stock, especially hogs, from eating them.

and remove it at least once a week from any town or village,

2. Sec. II. All owners or occupiers of such machines as aforesaid, shall secure and keep the seed dry, or remove them at least once every week from said machine, to such distance from such city, town, village, or vicinity thereof, so as to prevent all the unwholesome effects resulting from the stench and vapors arising from the seed, in their putrid state, if suffered to remain in heaps; and it shall be the duty of such owners or occupiers of such machines, to enclose the seed in the place to which the same shall be removed, so as to prevent his, her, or their neighbors' stock from feeding thereon.

and enclose it.

Penalty, $3 per week.

3. Sec. III. From and after the first day of January next, that for every week, any owner or occupier of such machine who shall neglect to comply with the several duties required of them by this act, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding three dollars.

Owners or occupiers of country machines to enclose them.

4. Sec. IV. It shall be the duty of all owners or occupiers of cotton machines at country sites in this State, to keep their machines sufficiently enclosed, under the penalty of three dollars per week, from and after the first day of January next, so as to prevent their neighbors' stock of all kinds from having access thereto.

How the penalties are to be collected.

5. Sec. V. It shall be the duty of any justice of the peace in whose district such offence or offences may be committed, to issue his warrant, upon information of any free white person, commanding such offender or offenders to be and appear before him at the next justices' court to be held in the district, to answer the charge alleged against him or them, and such justice shall issue summonses to compel the attendance of such witnesses as may be thought necessary to establish or defend the said charge, who shall be subject to attachment for non-attendance or refusing to answer on oath such questions as may be asked him or them; and if upon such examination it shall appear that such offender or offenders is or are guilty of any breach of this act, it shall be the duty of such justice to enter judgment against such offender or offenders for the aforesaid sum of three dollars for each week the seed may remain unremoved (and enclosed) from the said gins or machines as aforesaid. And that the said justices shall forthwith issue execution on the said judgment or judgments entered up, which execution shall be levied upon the goods and chattels, lands and tenements of such offender or offenders, and sold agreeably to the law regulating constables' sales, and the moneys arising from such fine or fines, shall be paid into the hands of such justice of the peace, one-half thereof to the use of the informer, and the remaining moiety shall be paid by the said justice to the clerk of the Inferior court, to be appropriated to the same uses as other county funds. Fines, how applied.

6. Sec. VI. If any justice of the peace shall in any manner offend against this act, it shall and may be lawful for him or them, to be sued or prosecuted in any one of the adjoining districts, and the same fees shall be allowed, levied, and collected for services performed under this act, as are allowed for like services in magistrates' courts. If a justice offends, how to be sued.

COUNTIES.

An Act for building and keeping in repair the Court-Houses and Jails in the respective counties within this State, and for the support of the Poor.—Approved Feb. 21, 1796. Vol. I. 171.

1. Sec. I. From and after the passing of this act, the justices of the Inferior courts of every county within this State, in their respective counties, shall cause to be erected and kept in good repair, (or where the same shall be already built,) shall maintain and keep in good repair, at the charge of such county, one good and convenient court-house of stone, brick, or timber, and one sufficient jail, with the necessary apartments for the safe-keeping of criminals and debtors, well secured with iron bars, bolts, and locks; and shall cause to be erected contiguous thereto, one pillory, whipping-post, and stocks. Inferior courts to erect and keep in repair court-houses and jails.

2. Sec. II. The Inferior courts in each county shall have full power and authority at all times to inquire into the conduct of jailers, and the state of jails in their respective counties, and on neglect of duty to cause such jailers to be removed, by an order to the sheriff for that purpose; and the said courts shall have full power and authority to call on all persons, their heirs, executors, or administrators, in their respective counties, who have had, or may have county moneys in their hands, collected for the express purpose of building court-houses and jails, or for any other county purposes whatever; and in case of neglect or refusal to pay the same, the said court shall and are hereby required to cause executions to be issued for the full Pillories, &c. Shall superintend the state of jails and conduct of jailers. And shall issue executions against persons detaining county moneys in their hands.

amount appearing to be due,* in the same manner as the treasurer is authorized by law to issue executions against the defaulting collectors of taxes in the different counties; and such moneys, when collected, may be applied by such court to the uses and purposes of building and repairing court-houses and jails.

Sec. III. [Superseded by act of 1821. See Sec. 7, 8, 9, of this title.]

All fines and moneys arising from sales of estrays appropriated to county purposes.

3. Sec. IV. All moneys that now are, or may hereafter come into the hands of the clerks of the Superior or Inferior courts, by fines or forfeitures, and all money arising from the sale of estrays, are hereby made liable and subject to the draught, or order of the several County courts, to be appropriated and applied as aforesaid, either in the building or repairing court-houses and jails, or to the support of the poor and building bridges, at the discretion of such courts.

Sec. V. [Relates to the county of Bryan—local and temporary.]

All former laws laying county taxes repealed.

Proviso.

Chatham county.

4. Sec. VI. All laws, or parts of laws, clause or clauses heretofore made, or such part thereof as authorize the County courts of this State to levy a tax for county purposes, be, and the same are hereby repealed. Provided, that nothing in this act contained shall extend or be construed to extend to have operation in the county of Chatham, so as to repeal or affect any law appointing the mayor, aldermen of the city of Savannah, commissioners of the court-house and jail in the said county.

An Act to impose an additional Tax on Proprietors or Exhibitors of Shows.—Approved Dec. 18, 1820. Vol. IV. 415.

Show-men may be required to pay from $5 to $50.

5. Sec. I. From and immediately after the passing this act it shall and may be the duty of the justices of the Inferior courts, justices of the peace, and the corporation officers of all cities, towns, or villages within this State, or any one or more of them, to exact and collect from all proprietors or exhibitors of shows a sum not exceeding fifty nor less than five dollars for each and every day that shall exhibit shows of any kind within any corporation or county of this State.

How applied.

6. Sec. II. All sums so collected within the limits of any corporation shall be applied, by the officers of such corporation, to such purposes as they may deem proper within the limits of their official jurisdiction; and all sums so collected by the justices of the Inferior courts, or justices of the peace, without the limits of any corporation shall be appropriated to county purposes; which said fines and penalties shall be collected in the same manner as other fines and penalties are collected under the existing laws of this State.

How collected.

An Act to authorize the Justices of the Inferior Court in the several Counties in this State to levy extraordinary Taxes for County purposes.—Approved Dec. 19, 1821. Vol. IV. 419.

Justices of the Inferior courts may levy extra taxes.

7. From and after the passing of this act, the justices of the Inferior court of the respective counties in this State, or any three of the bench of justices of the said court in any county, shall have power, whenever in their opinion the exigencies of their respective counties may so require, to levy upon the inhabitants of any county in which the said justices may reside a tax extraordinary of the general State tax, and shall be authorized to have the same collected by the tax collector for any county in which such tax may be levied by them;* Provided, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to authorize the justices as aforesaid, to order any levy which shall exceed fifty per centum on the general State tax annually; Provided, this act shall not be construed to extend to the repeal of an act passed on the 2d day of December, 1820, authorizing the inferior court of the county of Oglethorpe to levy an extra tax.

* And see Tax, Sec. 75.

8. Sec. II. No extraordinary tax shall be levied and collected by the inferior courts, as by this act contemplated, unless two-thirds of the grand jury of the county shall first recommend the same at a regular term of the superior court. If two-thirds of grand jury recommend.

9. Sec. III. It shall be the duty of the tax collector of any county in which an extraordinary tax may be levied in the manner provided in the foregoing section of this act, upon being required to do so by the justices of the inferior court, or a majority of them, to give bond and approved security to the justices aforesaid, or their successors in office, in a sum not exceeding double the amount of the extraordinary tax assessed, conditioned for the faithful collection and payment of the same into the clerk's office of the inferior court, there to remain subject to the order and application of the justices of the inferior court for county purposes; and the collector shall be entitled to the usual commission for collecting any such extraordinary tax to be assessed and levied as aforesaid. The duty of the tax collector. His compensation.

An Act to authorize the Justices of the Inferior Court of either County to build Bridges over Water-courses dividing Counties.—Approved Dec. 20, 1824. Vol. IV. 214.

10. From and after the passage of this act, it shall and may be lawful, in all cases where the justices of the inferior court of one county shall refuse or fail to co-operate with another in building a bridge over a stream dividing the counties, for the justices of the inferior court of the county to proceed to build a bridge over said stream, subject to no other restriction than they would be were the said bridge in their own county entirely. Bridges over water-courses dividing counties.

COUNTY FUNDS AND RECORDS.

An Act for the better regulating of Taverns, and for establishing a fund for building and keeping in repair the Court Houses and Jails in the counties of this State.—Approved Feb. 1, 1788. Vol. I. 446.

Sec. I. and II. [Repealed by act of 1791. Vol. I. 445.]

1. Sec. III. The judges of the superior court in each county shall, as often as they think proper, appoint three or more discreet persons to be commissioners of the jail and court house, which said commissioners, or one of them, shall receive the moneys arising from licenses in their respective counties, fines of defaulting jurors, fines imposed by the court, and the forfeiture of recognizances, to be a fund set apart in each county, under the direction of the judges, for building and repairing the jail, court house, pillory, and stocks, and for the support of prisoners.† Money arising from licenses, fines, &c. how to be applied.

*All the State tax reserved to the counties respectively. See Tax, Sec. 100.

†And to pay certain costs. See Penal Laws, Sec. 311.

[The rest of this section, as well as the beginning of it, was superseded, first by the act of Dec. 16, 1815, and afterwards by the more ample provisions of the act of 1823. See County Officers, Sec. 39, &c.]

Act of December 13, 1809. Vol. II. 541.

The ex-officer liable for any papers not in the schedule.

Sec. IV. The said successor shall not be liable for any papers not contained in said last schedule,* but his predecessor shall be liable as aforesaid, in the same manner during the time intervening between the election and commissioning of his said successor, as he was previous to said election.

Records to be kept in bound books.

2. Sec. VI. It shall be the duty of the clerks of the superior and inferior courts, and the clerks of the courts of ordinary, to keep their records in books well bound. [For the rest of the act not repealed, see County Officers, Sec. 7, 8.]

Act of December 6, 1813. Vol. III. 148.

Sec. I. [Repeals so much of the 2d and 3d sections of the foregoing act, as directs the clerks of the superior and inferior courts, and courts of ordinary, to return a schedule of their office papers thirty days before the election.]

All clerks to deliver over to their successors, all the books and papers of the office.

3. Sec. II. It shall be the duty of the clerks aforesaid to deliver over to their successors in office respectively, all the books and papers appertaining to their respective offices, within five days after their successors are qualified. Provided, that the said clerks shall make out and deliver to their successors in office respectively upon oath, a fair and correct schedule of all the papers relative to any unfinished business in their said offices respectively, in term bundles, and all other papers and books appertaining to said office, in good order.

An Act to define the Duty of the Justices of the Inferior Courts in regard to the Books of Record of their respective Counties; and to define the Duties of the Clerks of the Superior and Inferior Courts, with respect to County Funds.—Approved Dec. 16, 1815. Vol. III. 151.

Preamble.

Whereas much injury may be sustained by the citizens of this State, from important matter being recorded on loose paper or books unbound, and subject to come to pieces in a short term of years;

Inferior courts shall purchase blank books well bound.

4. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That it shall be the duty of the justices of the inferior courts, to purchase, or cause to be purchased, out of the county funds, a sufficient number of well bound blank volumes for the clerks of the superior, inferior, and courts of ordinary of their respective counties, and that it shall be their duty to letter or cause to be lettered and indexed, said volumes, as they in their judgment may think proper, and have them immediately entered on the minutes of the court.

A schedule of the office books to be annually recorded.

5. Sec. II. The justices aforesaid, shall, at the expiration of each year, cause said clerks to produce a schedule of the books in their respective offices, and have the same duly recorded.†

* Referring to the schedule mentioned in the sections of the act repealed, and supplied by act of 1813. See Sec. 2 and 3 this title.

† The governor shall cause the secretary of state, treasurer, surveyor-general, and comptroller-general to make out a schedule or list of all the books of records,

6. Sec. III. It shall be the duty of the clerks of the superior and inferior courts of the several counties in this State, to lay before the inferior court of their respective counties, at the first annual session of the said courts, a correct statement of the several sums of money received for county rates or taxes, or fines, forfeitures, impositions, license, or otherwise, in such method, as that the net proceeds of the whole revenue of such county, and the amount of the several disbursements in discharge of the several demands against such county, may distinctly appear;* and if any of the said clerks shall divert, misapply or conceal any of the money belonging to such county, he shall forfeit and pay to, and for the use of such county, double the money he shall be found so to have diverted, misapplied, or concealed, to be recovered before any court having jurisdiction of the same; and it shall further be the duty of said clerks, to record such statement of county funds in proper books, to be provided at the expense of such county.

Clerks of sup. and inf. court shall exhibit annually to the inf. court a statement of the county funds.

Forfeiture of double the amount for embezzlement.

Statements of county funds to be recorded.

An Act to compel Clerks of the Inferior Courts in this State to pay over money deposited in their hands.—Approved Dec. 19, 1816. Vol. III. 155.

7. Sec I. From and after the passage of this act, it shall and may be lawful for the justices of the inferior court or a majority of them, in each county, respectively, of this State, when any clerk of the inferior court, may or shall refuse, or neglect to pay over any money or moneys belonging to the county funds, deposited or paid to him for the use of the county for which he is the clerk, to issue an execution against such clerk and his security or securities, directed to the sheriff, or officer authorized to execute the same, commanding him to levy the same on the estate both real and personal, belonging to the said clerk and his security or securities, as the case may be, or so much thereof as will be sufficient to satisfy such execution and costs thereon, and such other proceedings shall be had thereon as are usual on other executions issued upon judgments.

Justices of the inferior court may issue ex. fu. against defaulting clerk.

An Act, to authorize the Inferior Courts of the several Counties in this State to transcribe the Records of the Superior Courts and Inferior Courts, and of the Courts of Ordinary of said Counties; and more fully to define the duties of the Clerks of the Superior Courts and Inferior Courts; and to provide a remedy for the non-performance of such duties.—Approved Dec. 22, 1829. Vol. IV. 227.

8. Whenever it shall be made known to the Inferior Courts of the several counties in this State that the records of the superior courts and the inferior courts, and courts of ordinary, or of any of said courts in their respective counties have become obliterated, defaced, or mutilated, it shall and may be lawful for said inferior courts to employ some fit person or persons to transcribe such records into new books and such other papers as his excellency may think expedient, appertaining to their several offices, and have the said schedule filed and recorded in the executive office.

Infer'y courts may employ persons to transcribe the records.

And the said several officers shall annually at the end of each political year, make out a like schedule of the increase of the records and other documents belonging to their several offices, to the then executive officer, to be filed and recorded as above mentioned. [Resolution of Nov. 30, 1815, Vol. III. 1148.]

* The same duty enjoined by act of 1823. See County Officers, Sec. 39. And with the view (as expressed in the preamble) of providing for cases of uncommon intricacy; and also it is presumed for cases of default in the clerk, the resolution of 27th Nov. 1802, directs the judge of the superior court to appoint three commissioners in any county where, from the presentments of the grand jury, the accounts of a substantial nature; and such records, when so transcribed, and approved by said inferior court upon their inspection, or upon the examination of any person or persons whom they shall appoint for the purpose, shall have all the validity and authenticity of the original records.

Or may have them brought up when incomplete.

9. Sec. II. Whenever it shall appear to the inferior courts aforesaid that the clerks of the said courts hereinbefore mentioned have failed or neglected to copy into a book of record all the proceedings in all civil cases in said courts respectively, or that the said proceedings have been partially and imperfectly copied, it shall and may be lawful for the said inferior courts to employ some fit and competent person or persons to copy the said proceedings into a book or books of record; and the said books of record shall, when approved by said inferior court, or by the person or persons by them to be appointed for the purpose of examination, have the same force, validity, and authenticity as if the said proceedings had been fully copied by the clerks aforesaid, within the time prescribed in the 34th section of the act of the general assembly, passed on the 16th day of Feb. 1799.*

Shall offer them to the lowest bidder.

Bond to be given.

10. Sec. III. The said inferior court, in the employment of a person or persons to transcribe the records, and to copy the proceedings as hereinbefore directed, shall offer the same to the lowest bidder, due regard being had to the competency of the several persons proposing, and shall require bond with approved security, payable to the justices of the inferior court of the county, and their successors in office, in a penalty to be fixed by them, or any three of them, for the completion of the contract at such time or times as shall be stipulated, and for the safe keeping and return of the books, documents, and papers that may be intrusted to him or them for the purposes aforesaid.

Suits against defaulting clerks.

Damages.

11. Sec. IV. The inferior courts shall be authorized to institute a suit or suits in the superior court upon the bond or bonds of any clerk, who has failed or neglected to copy into a book of record all the proceedings in all civil cases in said courts respectively, according to the true intent and meaning of the said 34th section of the act aforesaid, or who shall hereafter fail or neglect to record the proceedings of said courts as hereinafter required; and shall recover damages for the neglect or failure of such clerk in manner aforesaid, according to the rates for recording said proceedings, in all the cases which such clerks shall have failed, or shall fail to record, or which he shall have imperfectly recorded, or shall imperfectly record; and in case there be no valid bond of said clerk, it shall and may be lawful for said superior court to cause said clerk, by a rule or order of said court, to pay into the hands of the county treasurer such sum or sums of money as it shall appear to said court that such clerk has received, or shall receive, as fees for recording of proceedings in cases which he has or shall fail or neglect to record, or has or shall imperfectly record, and to enforce such order by process of attachment; Provided, when it shall appear that said clerk has not received the recording fees in any case or cases, the amount of such fees shall not be included in the damages

Or may be ruled.

Provide.

appear to be in an unsettled state. These commissioners are empowered to call for such documents and other testimony as in their judgment may tend to explain and elucidate the accounts; and shall make a full report to the next term of the superior court, which shall be laid before the grand jury for their decision thereon. The commissioners shall be reasonably compensated by the inferior court out of the county funds. And any vacancies in these appointments to be filled by the judge. And (3d resolution) the inferior courts shall annually lay before the grand jury a statement of the receipts and expenditures of the county money. [Vol. II. 676—7.]

* See title Judiciary, Sec. 31.

herein required to be collected, nor in the sum herein directed to be paid.

12. Sec. V. The proceedings in all cases, criminal as well as civil, hereafter determined in the several courts of law and equity in this State, shall be fully and fairly copied by the clerks of such courts respectively into record books of a substantial nature, previous to the next term of such courts, after the adjournment of the court in which such cases shall be determined.

All judicial proceedings to be fairly copied.

13. Sec. VI. It shall be the duty of the grand juries in the several counties in this State, from term to term of the superior court, to inspect and examine the offices, papers, and records in the superior and inferior courts of their counties; and if the said proceedings shall not have been copied into a book or books of record according to the true intent and meaning of this act, they shall cause the clerk or clerks who shall have failed or neglected to do his duty as required by this act, to be presented for non-performance of official duty; and the said superior court shall order the bond of such clerk to be prosecuted, and recovery shall be had thereon as directed in the aforesaid third section of this act; and if there be no bond, said court shall proceed against such clerk as in such case is therein directed.

Grand Juries to inspect the records, offices, &c.

Grand Jury to present delinquent clerks.

Sec. VII. All laws or parts of laws militating against this act are hereby repealed.

Repealing clause.

An Act to compel all County Officers holding public monies to keep books of record of the receipts and expenditures of the same.—
Approved Dec. 26, 1831. Pam. 90.

14. Sec. I. As the public money is the property of the people, they have a right at all times to know how it is expended:

Be it therefore enacted, That from and after the passing of this act, all county officers in each county in this State, in whose hands any money belonging to the county or State shall come, shall prepare and keep a fair, good and substantial leather bound book, in which they and each of them shall enter in a regular and distinct manner, all monies, by them received on account of the State or county, or from any other public source, in such a way, as may be seen how much and at what time the said money was received, and in like manner how the same has been expended or disbursed, with the items of each expenditure, and at the expiration of every three months, the debit and credit side of such account shall be struck, so that the state of the account may be known.

County officers shall keep a record book of all receipts and payments.

15. Sec. II. It shall be the duty of the county treasurer, or if none has been appointed, then the clerks of the superior or inferior courts, acting as such, shall at every second term in each county, lay before the grand jury a fair abstract from said book.

And annually lay an abstract before the G. Jury.

16. Sec. III. In case of neglect or failure of any of the aforesaid persons to perform the duties hereby assigned them, then and in such case, they shall be liable to a fine of $20 for each offence, to be recovered in any court of record having competent jurisdiction: the whole penalty to go to the person prosecuting the party offending.

On pain of $20.

17. Sec. IV. During the legal office hours, all persons shall have access to and a right to inspect the aforementioned books, and to take extracts therefrom, and the person keeping the same shall be entitled to receive twenty-five cents for each inspection: and should any of the aforesaid officers refuse any citizen an inspection of said books, such officer so offending, shall be liable to the penalty and prosecution as prescribed in the above named section.

Books open to public inspection.

COUNTY OFFICERS.

An Act for the appointment of County Officers.—Approved Feb. 16, 1799. Vol. I. 201.

Sec. I. and II. [Repealed. See Sec. 9, and amendment of the constitution, Vol. II. 515.]

How removed from office.

1. Sec. III. On the representation of two-thirds of the justices of the inferior court, and of the county, or by sentence of impeachment, his excellency the governor be and he is hereby authorized to remove any of the aforesaid sheriffs from office; and he shall and may remove from office any coroner or county surveyor, on like representation of two-thirds of the justices of the inferior court and of the county; the governor shall and may also remove any of the aforesaid clerks,* county surveyors, or coroners from office on conviction of the offender or offenders, for mal-practice in office.

An Act supplementary to the foregoing.—Approved Dec. 4, 1799. Vol. I. 202.

Elections of county officers to be by the free citizens.

2. Sec. II. In future, all elections for county officers, to wit, the clerks of the superior and inferior courts, sheriffs, coroners, and county surveyors, shall be by the citizens of the respective counties, who are entitled by law to vote at elections for representatives, or members of the legislature of this State; and shall be opened, conducted, and closed in the same manner, that elections are for members of the legislature of this State.

Vacancies how filled.

3. Sec. III. If a vacancy should take place in one of the aforesaid offices, it shall be the duty of the justices of the inferior court, or any two or more of them, to give notice in one or more of the public gazettes, or at the court house, and three or more of the most public places in the county within which such vacancy may happen, twenty days previous to the election for filling up the said vacancy: and the person so chosen shall continue in office no longer than his predecessor would have done.† And where any two or more candidates for any county office shall have the highest and an equal number of votes, the presiding justices shall certify the same to his excellency the governor, who shall be, and he is hereby authorized to appoint one of the persons so having an equality of votes.‡

Continuance in office.

In cases of tie, the governor shall appoint.

An Act to amend the Judicial Act.—Approved May 11, 1803. Vol. II. 112.

Whereas doubts have arisen respecting the proper persons authorized, or intended by law to take the bonds or obligations of the sheriffs of this State: for remedy whereof,

Judges of the superior, and justices of the inferior court, to take sheriffs' bonds.

4. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That every judge of the superior, or a majority of the justices of the inferior courts, of the respective counties throughout this State, is and are, and by intendment of law,

* "Clerks," &c. "of the respective counties," are the words in the first section here referred to.

† But see Sec. 7.

‡ But as to filling vacancies in the office of sheriff, clerk of the superior and inferior court, see Sec. 21.

ought to have been taken, held, deemed, and considered as competent in law, to take the bonds or obligations of sheriffs, and to qualify them as by law directed.

An Act to compel the Clerks to keep their offices at the Court House of their respective Counties, or within one mile thereof.—Approved Dec. 7, 1807.* Vol. II. 404.

Whereas great inconvenience has hitherto been experienced by the citizens of this State from the great distance at which many of the clerks keep their offices from the court-house, many records and other papers being frequently necessary to the fair investigation of a cause in court, that are lodged in the office, and their absence necessarily delaying justice, and sometimes utterly defeating it; for remedy whereof,

5. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That from and after the first day of June next, it shall be the duty of the clerks of the superior and inferior courts, and the clerks of the court of ordinary, to keep their offices, books, and papers, at the court-house of their respective counties, or within one mile thereof, except the counties of Glynn, Effingham, Bryan, and Bulloch, and except the county of Wilkinson, until the public buildings be made permanent.

Clerks to keep their offices within one mile of the court-house.

Exception.

6. Sec. II. Each and every of the said clerks, except as before excepted, shall forfeit and pay the sum of $30 for every month they, or either of them, shall fail to comply with the requisitions of this act, to be recovered in the superior court, on motion of the attorney or solicitor general, by attachment as for contempt, and to be considered as a part of the county funds.

Penalty for neglect of this act.

An Act to authorize the Clerks of the Superior and Inferior Courts, Clerks of the Courts of Ordinary, Sheriffs, Coroners, and Surveyors, to hold their offices during the intervention between the election and commissioning of their successors, and to regulate the transfer of papers and moneys.—Approved Dec. 13, 1809. Vol. II. 541.

Whereas considerable evils may result from the suspension of duties incumbent upon the clerks of the superior and inferior courts, clerks of the courts of ordinary, sheriffs, coroners, and county surveyors; for remedy whereof,

7. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That the aforesaid officers shall perform all the duties of their respective offices during the time intervening between the election and commissioning of their successors, with all the responsibilities to which they were liable, previous to the said election.

County officers to officiate ad interim.

Sec. II. [Repealed, and see Sec. III. superseded. See Sec. XIII. For Sec. IV. and VI. see Records.]

8. Sec. V. It shall be the duty of the officers elected, as aforesaid, to make application to the executive for their respective commissions, within twenty days after their having been elected to either of the said offices.†

Shall apply for their commissions within 20 days.

* So many counties have been exempted totally or partially from the operation of this act, that it can now hardly be regarded as a general law.

† And see Sec. 11.

An Act to alter the time of holding the Elections for County Officers in this State, &c.—Approved Dec. 16, 1811. Vol. III. 138.

Elections for county officers to be on the first Monday in January biennially.

9. Sec. I. The elections for sheriffs, clerks of the superior and inferior courts, county surveyors, and coroners of the respective counties within this State, shall be held on the first Monday in January 1814, and on the first Monday in January every second year thereafter, in each and every of the said counties respectively.

An Act to regulate the appointment of Jailers, and to alter and explain another act. [See Judiciary, 61.]—Approved Dec. 16, 1811. Vol. III. 140.

Jailers shall give security.

10. Sec. I. In future all sheriffs, on appointing a keeper of the jail, to require sufficient security of him or them; and such person appointed shall, before he enters on the duties of his or their office, take and subscribe the following oath before some one of the justices of the inferior court of said county; to wit: "I, A. B. do solemnly swear or affirm (as the case may be), that I will well and truly do and perform all and singular the duties of jailer for the county of ———; and that I will humanely treat all criminals who may be brought to jail, of which I am the keeper, and not suffer them to escape by any negligence or inattention of mine: So help me God." [For the other section, see Judiciary, Sec. 85.]

Jailer's oath.

An Act to compel the [Officers named in the Act] to take the oath, and give the security required by law, within the time therein specified.—Approved Dec. 16, 1811. Vol. III. 141.

Whereas by the laws now in force in this State, some inconvenience has, and may again happen with respect to the time which ought to be given to the clerks elect, [and other officers named in the act,] to qualify; for remedy whereof,

County officers shall qualify in ten days.

11. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That from and immediately after the passing of this act, the said clerks of the superior and inferior courts, sheriffs, county surveyors, coroners, collectors, and receivers of tax returns, shall be bound in ten days after they are notified of the arrival of their commission, to take the oath, and give the security required by law.*

Sec. II. [Superseded by act of 1823. See Sec. 37 of this title.]

An Act to repeal the 2d and 3d sections of an Act, [For the title, see Sec. 7.]—Approved Dec. 6, 1813. Vol. III. 149.

Sheriffs, coroners, and clerks, shall be subject to the order of court after they are out of office.

13. Sec. III. All sheriffs, coroners, and clerks of any of the courts of this State, shall at any and all times be subject to the order and rule of said courts, after they have retired from their respective offices, in such cases and in like manner as they would have been had they remained in office.

An Act to compel the Clerks of the Courts of Ordinary to give Bond and Security for the faithful performance of their duty.—Approved Dec. 8, 1815. Vol. III. 150.

14. Sec. I. From and after the 1st day of January next, it shall not be lawful for any clerk of the court of ordinary to exercise the duty of that office until they shall have respectively given bond and sufficient security to the justices of the inferior courts of each county respectively, made payable to his excellency the governor, for the time being, and his successors in office, in the sum of $2,000, for the faithful performance of their duty respectively.

* Or the office shall be considered vacant. See Sec. 37.

Clerks of the court of ordinary shall give bond and security in $2,000.

15. Sec. II. It shall be the duty of the justices of the inferior courts of each county in this State respectively, or any two or more of them, to take such bond and security, according to the provisions of the foregoing section, conditioned well and truly to perform the duties required of them by law.

Two or more of the justices of the inferior court to take such bond. The condition thereof. Recoverable as the bonds of other clerks.

16. Sec. III. The said bonds, so taken as aforesaid, shall be liable to suit and recovery in the same way, and under the same provisions and restrictions as are pointed out by law, for recovery upon bonds given by clerks of the superior and inferior courts for the performance of their duty as clerks.

Act of Dec. 18, 1816. Vol. III. 155. [For title, see Evidence, Sec. 16.]

17. Sec. III. All officers, civil and military, in this State, shall take an oath to support the constitution of this State, and of the United States; and the form of said oath, so to be taken and subscribed, shall be forwarded with the dedimus to qualify the said officer, or be taken and subscribed at the time of receiving said commission.*

Oath to support the constitution to be taken by all officers, civil and military.

Sec. IV. [Repeals the former act on this subject. Vol. I. 377.]

An Act to vest the appointment of Commissioners of Academies, Vendue Masters, Notaries Public, and Lumber Measurers, in certain persons therein mentioned.—Approved Dec. 18, 1816. Vol. III. 1072.

Whereas the present mode of appointing the aforesaid officers is very inconvenient, and occasions an unnecessary consumption of the time of the legislature;

18. Be it enacted, &c. That from and after the passing of this act, the appointment of commissioners of academies in this State, shall be and is hereby vested in the commissioners of the respective academies; the appointment of vendue masters, notaries public, and lumber measurers, shall be and is hereby vested in the commissioners of the respective incorporated towns, or the persons in said towns in whom the corporate powers are vested; and where there is no corporation or commissioners, the appointment of the said vendue masters, notaries public, and lumber measurers, shall be made by the inferior courts of the respective counties, whenever such officers are deemed necessary and authorized by law.†

Commissioners of academies.

Vendue masters, notaries public, and lumber measurers, by whom to be appointed.

19. Sec. II. Nothing contained in this act shall authorize the appointment of an additional number of any of the said officers than is at present allowed by law; nor shall any thing contained in this act vacate any appointments which have been heretofore made, or which may be made during the present session of the legislature.

Proviso.

An Act to allow Clerks to appoint Deputies.—Approved Dec. 19, 1817. Vol. III. 159.

Whereas considerable inconvenience arises to the good citizens of this State, in consequence of the non-appointment of deputies by the clerks of the superior, inferior, and corporation courts, and the courts of ordinary of this State; for remedy whereof,

* See note to Evidence, Sec. 16.

† And see Sec. 38, 43, 44.

Clerks may, like sheriffs, appoint deputies.

20. Be it enacted, &c. That immediately from and after the passing of this act, the said clerks shall be allowed to appoint a deputy or deputies, in the same manner and under the same rules and regulations as deputies of sheriffs are now by law appointed, who may continue in office during the term of his or their said principal or principals, unless specially removed: Provided always, that in case of the death, resignation, or disability of the said principal clerk or clerks, the power and authority of the said deputy or deputies shall cease and determine: And that the said several principal clerks shall, in all cases, be responsible for the acts of each and every of their said deputies and agents.*

Whose power shall cease with that of the principal.

An Act to alter and amend the 47th section of the Judiciary System of this State, and pointing out the manner of filling vacancies in the offices of Clerk of the Superior and Inferior Courts.—Approved Dec. 19, 1817. Vol. III. 161.

Vacancies of clerks and sheriffs may be filled by the justices of the inferior court.

21. Sec. I. When the sheriff's, clerk of the superior court, or clerk of the inferior court's office in any county shall be vacated by death, resignation, or otherwise, the justices of the inferior court, or a majority of them, shall immediately meet at the court-house in the county where such vacancy may happen, and proceed to fill said vacancy by appointing a fit and proper person, who shall give bond and security in the usual amount, and in the usual form, and take the usual oath, and such person shall be liable for the duties of sheriff in the county for which he was appointed; and such person shall continue in office, unless otherwise specially removed, until a successor is elected and qualified.†

Continuance in office.

An Act to carry into effect the 4th and 5th sections of the 3d article of the Constitution of the State of Georgia.—Approved December 21, 1819. Vol. III. 393.

Justices of the inferior court elective by the people every four years.

22. Sec. I. There shall be five justices of the inferior court in and for each county in this State, who shall be elected on the 3d Tuesday in October, in the year of our Lord 1821, who shall be commissioned, and hold their respective offices until the 1st Monday in January, in the year of our Lord 1825, and until their successors shall be elected and qualified; on which said first Monday in January, 1825, the justices of the inferior courts shall be again elected, and from thence on the first Monday in January in every fourth year thereafter, by the electors entitled to vote for members of the general assembly; which elections shall be held and conducted in the same manner as pointed out by law for the election of clerks and sheriffs; and the persons so elected shall be commissioned by the governor, and continue in office for the term of four years, and until their successors are elected and qualified, unless removed by impeachment for malpractice in office, or by the governor on the address of two-thirds of both branches of the general assembly; and when any vacancy shall happen, by death, resignation, or otherwise, of any of the justices of the inferior court, it shall be the duty of two or more of the justices of the inferior court, or justices of the peace, of the county in which such vacancy or vacancies shall happen, to give at least twenty days' notice, by advertisement at three or more public places in such county, previous to the election, to

How removable.

Vacancies filled in the same manner.

* Acts of minor deputies up to Dec. 20, 1824 legalized. See Sec. 42.

† For the 2d section, see Executors and Administrators, 76.

fill such vacancy or vacancies; which election shall be held and conducted in the same manner as by this act expressed.

23. Sec. II. There shall be two justices of the peace in each captain's district in the several counties of this State, who shall be elected on the first Saturday in January, 1821, and on the first Saturday in January every fourth year thereafter, by the citizens of the district to which they respectively belong entitled to vote for members of the general assembly; which elections shall be superintended by three freeholders of the district, whose duty it shall be to take the following oath, to be administered by the captain or commanding officer of said district, or any magistrate of the county, (to wit:) "I, A. B. do solemnly swear, that I will, to the best of my abilities, superintend the election of justices of the peace for this district: So help me God." And said freeholders shall transmit a return of said election, within twenty days, to his excellency the governor, who is hereby authorized to commission the person or persons so elected accordingly; and the said justices of the peace shall hold their appointments during the term of four years, and until their successors are elected and qualified, unless they shall be removed by conviction on indictment in the superior court for malpractice in office, or for any felonious or infamous crime, or by the governor on the address of two-thirds of each branch of the general assembly; and when any vacancy or vacancies shall happen, by death, resignation, or otherwise, of any justice or justices of the peace, it shall be the duty of one justice of the peace, and two freeholders, which said freeholders, previous to holding said election, shall take the oath above prescribed, to advertise in three of the most public places in the district where such vacancy or vacancies may happen, the time of holding an election for the purpose of filling such vacancy or vacancies, and give at least fifteen days' notice of the time and place when such election shall be held; and it shall be the duty of the said justice and freeholders to superintend such election, and certify the same under their hands to his excellency the governor, who shall, within ten days after receiving the same, commission the person or persons having the highest number of votes: Provided the election is not contested.

Justices of the peace shall be elected by the voters of the district.

Election, how superintended.

Term of office, 4 years.

How removable.

Vacancies filled by election.

Proviso.

Where elections of each kind shall be held.

24. Sec. III. All elections for justices of the inferior court shall be holden at the place of holding the superior courts in the respective counties; and all elections for justices of the peace shall be holden at the usual place of holding the justice's courts in the respective company districts.

25. Sec. IV. Where any person or persons shall be elected to fill the vacancy of any justice of the inferior court, or justice of the peace, the person so elected and commissioned shall continue in office only for the time for which their predecessors were elected.

Vacancies filled only until the end of the term.

An Act to compel Clerks of the Inferior Courts, that now are or hereafter may be in office, to give receipts for all sums of money by them received for county purposes; to compel county officers to take receipts for any sum or sums by them received and paid for county purposes, and return or deliver over such receipt or receipts to the clerk of the Superior Courts of the several counties within a certain time; and to require the several clerks of the Superior Courts of this State to keep a fair and regular file and entry of the same, to be laid before their several grand juries whenever called for.—Approved Dec. 18, 1820. Vol. IV. 201.

26. Sec. I. From and after the 25th day of December, 1820, that it shall be the duty of all clerks of the inferior courts of any county of a substantial nature; and such records, when so transcribed, and approved by said inferior court upon their inspection, or upon the examination of any person or persons whom they shall appoint for the purpose, shall have all the validity and authenticity of the original records.

Clerks to give receipts.

Or may have them brought up when incomplete.

9. Sec. II. Whenever it shall appear to the inferior courts aforesaid that the clerks of the said courts hereinbefore mentioned have failed or neglected to copy into a book of record all the proceedings in all civil cases in said courts respectively, or that the said proceedings have been partially and imperfectly copied, it shall and may be lawful for the said inferior courts to employ some fit and competent person or persons to copy the said proceedings into a book or books of record; and the said books of record shall, when approved by said inferior court, or by the person or persons by them to be appointed for the purpose of examination, have the same force, validity, and authenticity as if the said proceedings had been fully copied by the clerks aforesaid, within the time prescribed in the 34th section of the act of the general assembly, passed on the 16th day of Feb. 1799.*

Shall offer them to the lowest bidder.

Bond to be given.

10. Sec. III. The said inferior court, in the employment of a person or persons to transcribe the records, and to copy the proceedings as hereinbefore directed, shall offer the same to the lowest bidder, due regard being had to the competency of the several persons proposing, and shall require bond with approved security, payable to the justices of the inferior court of the county, and their successors in office, in a penalty to be fixed by them, or any three of them, for the completion of the contract at such time or times as shall be stipulated, and for the safe keeping and return of the books, documents, and papers that may be intrusted to him or them for the purposes aforesaid.

Suits against defaulting clerks.

Damages.

Or may be ruled.

Provide.

11. Sec. IV. The inferior courts shall be authorized to institute a suit or suits in the superior court upon the bond or bonds of any clerk, who has failed or neglected to copy into a book of record all the proceedings in all civil cases in said courts respectively, according to the true intent and meaning of the said 34th section of the act aforesaid, or who shall hereafter fail or neglect to record the proceedings of said courts as hereinafter required; and shall recover damages for the neglect or failure of such clerk in manner aforesaid, according to the rates for recording said proceedings, in all the cases which such clerks shall have failed, or shall fail to record, or which he shall have imperfectly recorded, or shall imperfectly record; and in case there be no valid bond of said clerk, it shall and may be lawful for said superior court to cause said clerk, by a rule or order of said court, to pay into the hands of the county treasurer such sum or sums of money as it shall appear to said court that such clerk has received, or shall receive, as fees for recording of proceedings in cases which he has or shall fail or neglect to record, or has or shall imperfectly record, and to enforce such order by process of attachment; Provided, when it shall appear that said clerk has not received the recording fees in any case or cases, the amount of such fees shall not be included in the damages appear to be in an unsettled state. These commissioners are empowered to call for such documents and other testimony as in their judgment may tend to explain and elucidate the accounts; and shall make a full report to the next term of the superior court, which shall be laid before the grand jury for their decision thereon. The commissioners shall be reasonably compensated by the inferior court out of the county funds. And any vacancies in these appointments to be filled by the judge. And (3d resolution) the inferior courts shall annually lay before the grand jury a statement of the receipts and expenditures of the county money. [Vol. II. 676—7.]

* See title Judiciary, Sec. 31.

herein required to be collected, nor in the sum herein directed to be paid.

12. Sec. V. The proceedings in all cases, criminal as well as civil, hereafter determined in the several courts of law and equity in this State, shall be fully and fairly copied by the clerks of such courts respectively into record books of a substantial nature, previous to the next term of such courts, after the adjournment of the court in which such cases shall be determined.

All judicial proceedings to be fairly copied.

13. Sec. VI. It shall be the duty of the grand juries in the several counties in this State, from term to term of the superior court, to inspect and examine the offices, papers, and records in the superior and inferior courts of their counties; and if the said proceedings shall not have been copied into a book or books of record according to the true intent and meaning of this act, they shall cause the clerk or clerks who shall have failed or neglected to do his duty as required by this act, to be presented for non-performance of official duty; and the said superior court shall order the bond of such clerk to be prosecuted, and recovery shall be had thereon as directed in the aforesaid third section of this act; and if there be no bond, said court shall proceed against such clerk as in such case is therein directed.

Grand Juries to inspect the records, offices, &c.

Grand Jury to present delinquent clerks.

Sec. VII. All laws or parts of laws militating against this act are hereby repealed.

Repealing clause.

An Act to compel all County Officers holding public monies to keep books of record of the receipts and expenditures of the same.—
Approved Dec. 26, 1831. Pam. 90.

14. Sec. I. As the public money is the property of the people, they have a right at all times to know how it is expended:

Be it therefore enacted, That from and after the passing of this act, all county officers in each county in this State, in whose hands any money belonging to the county or State shall come, shall prepare and keep a fair, good and substantial leather bound book, in which they and each of them shall enter in a regular and distinct manner, all monies, by them received on account of the State or county, or from any other public source, in such a way, as may be seen how much and at what time the said money was received, and in like manner how the same has been expended or disbursed, with the items of each expenditure, and at the expiration of every three months, the debit and credit side of such account shall be struck, so that the state of the account may be known.

County officers shall keep a record book of all receipts and payments.

15. Sec. II. It shall be the duty of the county treasurer, or if none has been appointed, then the clerks of the superior or inferior courts, acting as such, shall at every second term in each county, lay before the grand jury a fair abstract from said book.

And annually lay an abstract before the G. Jury.

16. Sec. III. In case of neglect or failure of any of the aforesaid persons to perform the duties hereby assigned them, then and in such case, they shall be liable to a fine of $20 for each offence, to be recovered in any court of record having competent jurisdiction: the whole penalty to go to the person prosecuting the party offending.

On pain of $20.

17. Sec. IV. During the legal office hours, all persons shall have access to and a right to inspect the aforementioned books, and to take extracts therefrom, and the person keeping the same shall be entitled to receive twenty-five cents for each inspection: and should any of the aforesaid officers refuse any citizen an inspection of said books, such officer so offending, shall be liable to the penalty and prosecution as prescribed in the above named section.

Books open to public inspection.

COUNTY OFFICERS.

An Act for the appointment of County Officers.—Approved Feb. 16, 1799. Vol. I. 201.

Sec. I. and II. [Repealed. See Sec. 9, and amendment of the constitution, Vol. II. 515.]

How removed from office.

1. Sec. III. On the representation of two-thirds of the justices of the inferior court, and of the county, or by sentence of impeachment, his excellency the governor be and he is hereby authorized to remove any of the aforesaid sheriffs from office; and he shall and may remove from office any coroner or county surveyor, on like representation of two-thirds of the justices of the inferior court and of the county; the governor shall and may also remove any of the aforesaid clerks,* county surveyors, or coroners from office on conviction of the offender or offenders, for mal-practice in office.

An Act supplementary to the foregoing.—Approved Dec. 4, 1799. Vol. I. 202.

Elections of county officers to be by the free citizens.

2. Sec. II. In future, all elections for county officers, to wit, the clerks of the superior and inferior courts, sheriffs, coroners, and county surveyors, shall be by the citizens of the respective counties, who are entitled by law to vote at elections for representatives, or members of the legislature of this State; and shall be opened, conducted, and closed in the same manner, that elections are for members of the legislature of this State.

Vacancies how filled.

3. Sec. III. If a vacancy should take place in one of the aforesaid offices, it shall be the duty of the justices of the inferior court, or any two or more of them, to give notice in one or more of the public gazettes, or at the court house, and three or more of the most public places in the county within which such vacancy may happen, twenty days previous to the election for filling up the said vacancy: and the person so chosen shall continue in office no longer than his predecessor would have done.† And where any two or more candidates for any county office shall have the highest and an equal number of votes, the presiding justices shall certify the same to his excellency the governor, who shall be, and he is hereby authorized to appoint one of the persons so having an equality of votes.‡

Continuance in office.

In cases of tie, the governor shall appoint.

An Act to amend the Judicial Act.—Approved May 11, 1803. Vol. II. 112.

Whereas doubts have arisen respecting the proper persons authorized, or intended by law to take the bonds or obligations of the sheriffs of this State: for remedy whereof,

Judges of the superior, and justices of the inferior court, to take sheriffs' bonds.

4. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That every judge of the superior, or a majority of the justices of the inferior courts, of the respective counties throughout this State, is and are, and by intendment of law,

* "Clerks," &c. "of the respective counties," are the words in the first section here referred to.

† But see Sec. 7.

‡ But as to filling vacancies in the office of sheriff, clerk of the superior and inferior court, see Sec. 21.

ought to have been taken, held, deemed, and considered as competent in law, to take the bonds or obligations of sheriffs, and to qualify them as by law directed.

An Act to compel the Clerks to keep their offices at the Court House of their respective Counties, or within one mile thereof.—Approved Dec. 7, 1807.* Vol. II. 404.

Whereas great inconvenience has hitherto been experienced by the citizens of this State from the great distance at which many of the clerks keep their offices from the court-house, many records and other papers being frequently necessary to the fair investigation of a cause in court, that are lodged in the office, and their absence necessarily delaying justice, and sometimes utterly defeating it; for remedy whereof,

5. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That from and after the first day of June next, it shall be the duty of the clerks of the superior and inferior courts, and the clerks of the court of ordinary, to keep their offices, books, and papers, at the court-house of their respective counties, or within one mile thereof, except the counties of Glynn, Effingham, Bryan, and Bulloch, and except the county of Wilkinson, until the public buildings be made permanent.

Clerks to keep their offices within one mile of the court-house.

Exception.

6. Sec. II. Each and every of the said clerks, except as before excepted, shall forfeit and pay the sum of $30 for every month they, or either of them, shall fail to comply with the requisitions of this act, to be recovered in the superior court, on motion of the attorney or solicitor general, by attachment as for contempt, and to be considered as a part of the county funds.

Penalty for neglect of this act.

An Act to authorize the Clerks of the Superior and Inferior Courts, Clerks of the Courts of Ordinary, Sheriffs, Coroners, and Surveyors, to hold their offices during the intervention between the election and commissioning of their successors, and to regulate the transfer of papers and moneys.—Approved Dec. 13, 1809. Vol. II. 541.

Whereas considerable evils may result from the suspension of duties incumbent upon the clerks of the superior and inferior courts, clerks of the courts of ordinary, sheriffs, coroners, and county surveyors; for remedy whereof,

7. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That the aforesaid officers shall perform all the duties of their respective offices during the time intervening between the election and commissioning of their successors, with all the responsibilities to which they were liable, previous to the said election.

County officers to officiate ad interim.

Sec. II. [Repealed, and see Sec. III. superseded. See Sec. XIII. For Sec. IV. and VI. see Records.]

8. Sec. V. It shall be the duty of the officers elected, as aforesaid, to make application to the executive for their respective commissions, within twenty days after their having been elected to either of the said offices.†

Shall apply for their commissions within 20 days.

* So many counties have been exempted totally or partially from the operation of this act, that it can now hardly be regarded as a general law.

† And see Sec. 11.

An Act to alter the time of holding the Elections for County Officers in this State, &c.—Approved Dec. 16, 1811. Vol. III. 138.

Elections for county officers to be on the first Monday in January biennially.

9. Sec. I. The elections for sheriffs, clerks of the superior and inferior courts, county surveyors, and coroners of the respective counties within this State, shall be held on the first Monday in January 1814, and on the first Monday in January every second year thereafter, in each and every of the said counties respectively.

An Act to regulate the appointment of Jailers, and to alter and explain another act. [See Judiciary, 61.]—Approved Dec. 16, 1811. Vol. III. 140.

Jailers shall give security.

Jailer's oath.

10. Sec. I. In future all sheriffs, on appointing a keeper of the jail, to require sufficient security of him or them; and such person appointed shall, before he enters on the duties of his or their office, take and subscribe the following oath before some one of the justices of the inferior court of said county; to wit: "I, A. B. do solemnly swear or affirm (as the case may be), that I will well and truly do and perform all and singular the duties of jailer for the county of ———; and that I will humanely treat all criminals who may be brought to jail, of which I am the keeper, and not suffer them to escape by any negligence or inattention of mine: So help me God." [For the other section, see Judiciary, Sec. 85.]

An Act to compel the [Officers named in the Act] to take the oath, and give the security required by law, within the time therein specified.—Approved Dec. 16, 1811. Vol. III. 141.

Whereas by the laws now in force in this State, some inconvenience has, and may again happen with respect to the time which ought to be given to the clerks elect, [and other officers named in the act,] to qualify; for remedy whereof,

County officers shall qualify in ten days.

11. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That from and immediately after the passing of this act, the said clerks of the superior and inferior courts, sheriffs, county surveyors, coroners, collectors, and receivers of tax returns, shall be bound in ten days after they are notified of the arrival of their commission, to take the oath, and give the security required by law.*

Sec. II. [Superseded by act of 1823. See Sec. 37 of this title.]

An Act to repeal the 2d and 3d sections of an Act, [For the title, see Sec. 7.]—Approved Dec. 6, 1813. Vol. III. 149.

Sheriffs, coroners, and clerks, shall be subject to the order of court after they are out of office.

13. Sec. III. All sheriffs, coroners, and clerks of any of the courts of this State, shall at any and all times be subject to the order and rule of said courts, after they have retired from their respective offices, in such cases and in like manner as they would have been had they remained in office.

An Act to compel the Clerks of the Courts of Ordinary to give Bond and Security for the faithful performance of their duty.—Approved Dec. 8, 1815. Vol. III. 150.

14. Sec. I. From and after the 1st day of January next, it shall not be lawful for any clerk of the court of ordinary to exercise the duty of that office until they shall have respectively given bond and sufficient security to the justices of the inferior courts of each county respectively, made payable to his excellency the governor, for the time being, and his successors in office, in the sum of $2,000, for the faithful performance of their duty respectively.

* Or the office shall be considered vacant. See Sec. 37.

Clerks of the court of ordinary shall give bond and security in $2,000.

15. Sec. II. It shall be the duty of the justices of the inferior courts of each county in this State respectively, or any two or more of them, to take such bond and security, according to the provisions of the foregoing section, conditioned well and truly to perform the duties required of them by law.

Two or more of the justices of the inferior court to take such bond. The condition thereof. Recoverable as the bonds of other clerks.

16. Sec. III. The said bonds, so taken as aforesaid, shall be liable to suit and recovery in the same way, and under the same provisions and restrictions as are pointed out by law, for recovery upon bonds given by clerks of the superior and inferior courts for the performance of their duty as clerks.

Act of Dec. 18, 1816. Vol. III. 155. [For title, see Evidence, Sec. 16.]

17. Sec. III. All officers, civil and military, in this State, shall take an oath to support the constitution of this State, and of the United States; and the form of said oath, so to be taken and subscribed, shall be forwarded with the dedimus to qualify the said officer, or be taken and subscribed at the time of receiving said commission.*

Oath to support the constitution to be taken by all officers, civil and military.

Sec. IV. [Repeals the former act on this subject. Vol. I. 377.]

An Act to vest the appointment of Commissioners of Academies, Vendue Masters, Notaries Public, and Lumber Measurers, in certain persons therein mentioned.—Approved Dec. 18, 1816. Vol. III. 1072.

Whereas the present mode of appointing the aforesaid officers is very inconvenient, and occasions an unnecessary consumption of the time of the legislature;

18. Be it enacted, &c. That from and after the passing of this act, the appointment of commissioners of academies in this State, shall be and is hereby vested in the commissioners of the respective academies; the appointment of vendue masters, notaries public, and lumber measurers, shall be and is hereby vested in the commissioners of the respective incorporated towns, or the persons in said towns in whom the corporate powers are vested; and where there is no corporation or commissioners, the appointment of the said vendue masters, notaries public, and lumber measurers, shall be made by the inferior courts of the respective counties, whenever such officers are deemed necessary and authorized by law.†

Commissioners of academies.

Vendue masters, notaries public, and lumber measurers, by whom to be appointed.

19. Sec. II. Nothing contained in this act shall authorize the appointment of an additional number of any of the said officers than is at present allowed by law; nor shall any thing contained in this act vacate any appointments which have been heretofore made, or which may be made during the present session of the legislature.

Proviso.

An Act to allow Clerks to appoint Deputies.—Approved Dec. 19, 1817. Vol. III. 159.

Whereas considerable inconvenience arises to the good citizens of this State, in consequence of the non-appointment of deputies by the clerks of the superior, inferior, and corporation courts, and the courts of ordinary of this State; for remedy whereof,

* See note to Evidence, Sec. 16.

† And see Sec. 38, 43, 44.

Clerks may, like sheriffs, appoint deputies.

Whose power shall cease with that of the principal.

20. Be it enacted, &c. That immediately from and after the passing of this act, the said clerks shall be allowed to appoint a deputy or deputies, in the same manner and under the same rules and regulations as deputies of sheriffs are now by law appointed, who may continue in office during the term of his or their said principal or principals, unless specially removed: Provided always, that in case of the death, resignation, or disability of the said principal clerk or clerks, the power and authority of the said deputy or deputies shall cease and determine: And that the said several principal clerks shall, in all cases, be responsible for the acts of each and every of their said deputies and agents.*

An Act to alter and amend the 47th section of the Judiciary System of this State, and pointing out the manner of filling vacancies in the offices of Clerk of the Superior and Inferior Courts.—Approved Dec. 19, 1817. Vol. III. 161.

Vacancies of clerks and sheriffs may be filled by the justices of the inferior court.

Continuance in office.

21. Sec. I. When the sheriff's, clerk of the superior court, or clerk of the inferior court's office in any county shall be vacated by death, resignation, or otherwise, the justices of the inferior court, or a majority of them, shall immediately meet at the court-house in the county where such vacancy may happen, and proceed to fill said vacancy by appointing a fit and proper person, who shall give bond and security in the usual amount, and in the usual form, and take the usual oath, and such person shall be liable for the duties of sheriff in the county for which he was appointed; and such person shall continue in office, unless otherwise specially removed, until a successor is elected and qualified.†

An Act to carry into effect the 4th and 5th sections of the 3d article of the Constitution of the State of Georgia.—Approved December 21, 1819. Vol. III. 393.

Justices of the inferior court elective by the people every four years.

How removable.

Vacancies filled in the same manner.

22. Sec. I. There shall be five justices of the inferior court in and for each county in this State, who shall be elected on the 3d Tuesday in October, in the year of our Lord 1821, who shall be commissioned, and hold their respective offices until the 1st Monday in January, in the year of our Lord 1825, and until their successors shall be elected and qualified; on which said first Monday in January, 1825, the justices of the inferior courts shall be again elected, and from thence on the first Monday in January in every fourth year thereafter, by the electors entitled to vote for members of the general assembly; which elections shall be held and conducted in the same manner as pointed out by law for the election of clerks and sheriffs; and the persons so elected shall be commissioned by the governor, and continue in office for the term of four years, and until their successors are elected and qualified, unless removed by impeachment for malpractice in office, or by the governor on the address of two-thirds of both branches of the general assembly; and when any vacancy shall happen, by death, resignation, or otherwise, of any of the justices of the inferior court, it shall be the duty of two or more of the justices of the inferior court, or justices of the peace, of the county in which such vacancy or vacancies shall happen, to give at least twenty days' notice, by advertisement at three or more public places in such county, previous to the election, to fill such vacancy or vacancies; which election shall be held and conducted in the same manner as by this act expressed.

* Acts of minor deputies up to Dec. 20, 1824 legalized. See Sec. 42.

† For the 2d section, see Executors and Administrators, 76.

23. Sec. II. There shall be two justices of the peace in each captain's district in the several counties of this State, who shall be elected on the first Saturday in January, 1821, and on the first Saturday in January every fourth year thereafter, by the citizens of the district to which they respectively belong entitled to vote for members of the general assembly; which elections shall be superintended by three freeholders of the district, whose duty it shall be to take the following oath, to be administered by the captain or commanding officer of said district, or any magistrate of the county, (to wit:) "I, A. B. do solemnly swear, that I will, to the best of my abilities, superintend the election of justices of the peace for this district: So help me God." And said freeholders shall transmit a return of said election, within twenty days, to his excellency the governor, who is hereby authorized to commission the person or persons so elected accordingly; and the said justices of the peace shall hold their appointments during the term of four years, and until their successors are elected and qualified, unless they shall be removed by conviction on indictment in the superior court for malpractice in office, or for any felonious or infamous crime, or by the governor on the address of two-thirds of each branch of the general assembly; and when any vacancy or vacancies shall happen, by death, resignation, or otherwise, of any justice or justices of the peace, it shall be the duty of one justice of the peace, and two freeholders, which said freeholders, previous to holding said election, shall take the oath above prescribed, to advertise in three of the most public places in the district where such vacancy or vacancies may happen, the time of holding an election for the purpose of filling such vacancy or vacancies, and give at least fifteen days' notice of the time and place when such election shall be held; and it shall be the duty of the said justice and freeholders to superintend such election, and certify the same under their hands to his excellency the governor, who shall, within ten days after receiving the same, commission the person or persons having the highest number of votes: Provided the election is not contested.

Justices of the peace shall be elected by the voters of the district.

Election, how superintended.

Term of office, 4 years.

How removable.

Vacancies filled by election.

Proviso.

Where elections of each kind shall be held.

24. Sec. III. All elections for justices of the inferior court shall be holden at the place of holding the superior courts in the respective counties; and all elections for justices of the peace shall be holden at the usual place of holding the justice's courts in the respective company districts.

25. Sec. IV. Where any person or persons shall be elected to fill the vacancy of any justice of the inferior court, or justice of the peace, the person so elected and commissioned shall continue in office only for the time for which their predecessors were elected.

Vacancies filled only until the end of the term.

An Act to compel Clerks of the Inferior Courts, that now are or hereafter may be in office, to give receipts for all sums of money by them received for county purposes; to compel county officers to take receipts for any sum or sums by them received and paid for county purposes, and return or deliver over such receipt or receipts to the clerk of the Superior Courts of the several counties within a certain time; and to require the several clerks of the Superior Courts of this State to keep a fair and regular file and entry of the same, to be laid before their several grand juries whenever called for.—Approved Dec. 18, 1820. Vol. IV. 201.

26. Sec. I. From and after the 25th day of December, 1820, that Clerks to it shall be the duty of all clerks of the inferior courts of any county give receipts.

within this State, to give a receipt or receipts for any sum or sums of money by them received of and from any officer, or other person whatsoever, for county purposes, or for moneys on any account belonging to the county.

All county funds to be paid to clerk of inferior court.

27. Sec. II. It shall be the duty of all county officers, or any other person or persons who may receive any sum or sums of money arising from the sale or sales of estrays (or other means, when such money belongs to any county), shall pay the same over to the clerk of the inferior court of such county,* and shall take a receipt or receipts from the clerk of the inferior court of the several and respective counties, which receipt, the officer or other person paying the money is hereby directed to demand, and the said clerk required to give; and the officer or person paying the money and taking the receipt or receipts, shall return the same to the clerk of the superior court of the county where the money was paid, within twenty days from the payment of the same.

His receipt to be returned to superior court.

The clerks shall file and enter them for G. Jury.

28. Sec. III. It shall be the duty of the clerks of the superior courts within this State, to receive and keep a regular and fair file in office, and entry in a book, to be kept by them for that purpose, all such receipts by them received, to be laid before their several grand juries whenever called for by said grand juries; any law or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

His fees.

29. Sec. IV. For each receipt received, filed, and entered upon such book, the clerk of the superior court of any county who may receive the same, shall receive the sum of twelve and one-half cents out of the county funds of such county where such receipt may be filed and entered in said book, and shall be allowed the same on presenting a statement of his account to the inferior court; and when passed by such court the same shall be entered in the books of account kept by the clerk of the inferior court.

Penalty from $100 to $500.

30. Sec. V. For each and every neglect or violation of the foregoing act, the party neglecting or violating the same shall upon conviction be fined in a sum of not less than one hundred dollars, nor more than five hundred dollars.

An Act to establish an office for recording the births of the citizens of this State, in each county of the said State.—Approved Dec. 19th, 1823. Vol. IV. 113.

Whereas, much inconvenience has been experienced in this State from the difficulty of obtaining testimony of the ages of persons interested in questions of rights before our courts; and whereas, embarrassing difficulties frequently impede the correct administration of justice on this subject; for remedy whereof,

Births to be registered.

31. Be it enacted, That from and immediately after the passing of this act, it shall be the duty of the clerks of the courts of ordinary, in each county respectively, to enter and register in a book, to be kept for that purpose, the names of all persons who may report themselves to him, or who may be reported by their parents or guardians, as well as all those who may be hereafter born within the said county, and who may be reported as aforesaid, upon due proof being made by affidavit or oath to the said clerk of the said birth; and that the said clerk shall be entitled to take and receive for each registry which he shall be called on to make, the sum of twenty-five cents.

Clerk's fee.

Right of the parent, guardian, &c.

32. Sec. II. The parents or guardians of children now in life, or who may be hereafter born, may, upon application to the clerk of the court of ordinary aforesaid, and upon payment of the aforesaid sum to the said clerk, require him to enter the name of the said child, with the time and place of his or her birth.

* Or County Treasurer, see Sec. 45, &c.

33. Sec. III. The said clerk shall forfeit and pay the sum of five dollars for each and every refusal to enter the said births as aforesaid, upon such application as aforesaid being made. $5 penalty on the clerk for refusal.

34. Sec. IV. The said entry so as aforesaid made, shall be received and held as evidence of the birth and age of such person or persons as it purports to represent, in any court of law or equity in this State, by the production either of the original book of entry, or of the certificate of the same, under the hand and seal of the said clerk ; and for which certificate the said clerk shall receive twenty-five cents. Such registry evidence in any court in this State.

An Act to carry into effect the sixth section of the fourth article of the Constitution.—Approved 20th Dec. 1823. Vol. IV. 296.

35. No collector, sheriff, coroner, clerk of the superior court, clerk of the inferior court, or any other person who is or may be a holder of public moneys, and elected to any office, shall be commissioned by the governor, or be qualified by any judge, justice of the inferior court, or justice of the peace, until he shall produce to his excellency the governor, and also the judge or justice of the inferior court, or justice of the peace before whom he appears to be qualified, a certificate from the treasurer of the State, countersigned by the comptroller general, certifying that he has accounted for and paid into the treasury all sums for which he is accountable and liable ; which certificate shall in each and every case accompany the dedimus potestatem. No holder of public moneys to be commissioned to any office while in default.

And whereas, various persons are holders of public moneys, where no evidence exists in the treasurer's or comptroller's office of such fact ;

36. Sec. II. In addition to the oath of office, the person elect shall swear that he is not the holder of any public moneys unaccounted for. Oath on this point.

37. Sec. III. All collectors and other officers hereafter elected shall apply for and obtain their commissions and certificates, and qualify, within the time and in the manner heretofore pointed out by law, or their offices shall be considered as vacant, and shall be filled in such manner as is now prescribed by law ; and the person who has failed to obtain his commission and certificate aforesaid, within the time prescribed by law, shall not be considered as entitled to be a candidate for the office ; Provided, that this act shall not be construed to affect the election of any collector who may be in arrears for the amount of his insolvent list only, and who have not had an opportunity of having such list allowed from the failure of any court. Persons not applying for commissions, lose the office—and ineligible to the vacancy.

An Act to amend and explain an act, entitled an Act to vest the appointment of commissioners of academies, vendue masters, notaries public, and lumber measurers, in certain persons therein mentioned, passed the 18th December, 1816.—Approved Dec. 22d, 1823. Vol. IV. 14.

38. From and after the passing of this act, the inferior courts, corporations, and commissioners, respectively, as mentioned in the above recited act, shall have the exclusive power of appointing any number of the officers therein mentioned, that they may deem expedient in their respective counties and towns where the number is not defined or limited by law. And also the exclusive power of filling all vacancies which may occur among such of said officers whose numbers are limited by law. County and town authorities to make appointments and fill vacancies.

power to issue execution against such county treasurer and his securities for the amount in his hands, on his failing to pay or account therefor within ten days after written notice from such justices to that effect.

This act not to abrogate the office of Trustee of the P. School Fund.

51. Sec. VII. Nothing in this act shall be so construed as to abrogate the office of trustees of the poor school fund, created by the act approved the 22d of December, 1823, or to interfere with the academy funds of the county.

Compensation.

52. Sec. VIII. The inferior court shall pay to the said treasurer such sum for his services as may appear to them to be reasonable and just, so as not to exceed two and a half per cent. on any moneys received by him, neither shall he exceed that amount for disbursing the same.

An Act to alter the mode of filling the vacancies of sheriffs, clerks of the superior and inferior courts, and tax collectors; and provide for filling the vacancy of receiver of tax returns.—Approved 26th Dec. 1826. Vol. IV. 297.

Any vacancy in the office of Sheriff, Clerk, &c. shall be filled by election.

53. From and immediately after the passage of this act, when any office of sheriff, clerk of the superior or inferior court, tax collector, or receiver of tax returns in any of the counties of this State, may become vacant by death, resignation, or otherwise, it shall be the duty of the justices of the inferior court, or any two or more of them, to give notice at the door of the court house and at three or more of the most public places of said county within which such vacancy may happen, twenty days previous to said election, for filling said vacancy; which said vacancy shall be filled by persons entitled to vote for members of the legislature of said county; and the person so elected shall be commissioned by the governor, in conformity with the laws now in force in this State on that subject; and the person so chosen shall continue in office no longer than his predecessor would have done.

By persons entitled to vote for members of the legislature.

In cases of tie, justices of inf. court to order a new election.

54. Sec. II. When any two or more candidates for any of the aforesaid offices may have the highest and an equal number of votes, the presiding justices or superintendents at said elections shall certify the same to the justices of the inferior court of the county where such election may be held; whose duty it shall be forthwith to advertise another election, giving notice as prescribed in the first section of this act.

Inferior court may fill the vacancy when necessary.

55. Sec. III. In the interim from the time said vacancy may happen up to the time a successor may be elected and qualified, according to the foregoing provisions (in cases where it may be necessary), the justices of the inferior court of the county where said vacancy may happen is hereby authorized to attend at the court house of said county, and appoint some fit and proper person to discharge the duties of said office, until such vacancy may be filled according to the foregoing provisions, who shall be compelled to give bond and security and take the usual oath.

Repealing clause.

Sec. IV. All laws and parts of laws militating against this act are hereby repealed.

An Act, to change the election of tax collectors in the several counties of this State, so far as to provide for said officers to be elected, and qualified to collect the taxes due for the year preceding their appointment.—Approved Dec. 2d, 1830. Pam. 113.

56. It may and shall be lawful for the superintendents at the elections to be held in the several counties of this State, on the 1st Monday in January, 1831, for county officers, &c. to omit to hold an election for tax collector of said year, nor shall any such election be had until the 1st Monday in January, 1832, when at that time, and on the first Monday in each and every year thereafter, there shall be elections held in the several counties throughout this State, under the same rules and regulations as heretofore with this exception, viz:—They shall be elected for the purpose of collecting the taxes due for the year preceding their appointments.

Collectors to be elected to collect the tax of the previous, not the current year.

57. Sec. II. His excellency the governor be, and he is hereby authorized and required to commission the persons so elected, and to require their qualification to be in accordance with this act; any law to the contrary notwithstanding.

DIVORCES.

An Act to carry into effect the ninth section of the third article of the constitution.—Approved December 1, 1802. Vol. II. 98.

Whereas marriage being among the most solemn and important contracts in society, has been regulated in all civilized nations by positive systems: and whereas, circumstances may require a dissolution of contracts, founded on the most binding and sacred obligations which the human mind has been capable of devising, and such circumstances may combine to render necessary the dissolution of the contract of marriage, which dissolution ought not to be dependent on private will, but should require legislative interposition, inasmuch as the republic is deeply interested in the private happiness of its citizens: and whereas, the constitution of this State declares,—[reciting the ninth section of the third article.*] And doubts being entertained by the judges of the superior courts of this State, with respect to their powers of deciding upon applications for divorce, before the general assembly have legislated upon the said section of the third article of the constitution: For the purpose of obviating said doubts, and of carrying into effect the said section of the constitution, therefore,

Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. [Directs that all divorces shall be a vinculo matrimonii.—Repealed, see Sec. 6.]

1. Sec. II. The proceedings on divorce shall be by petition to the court, which petition shall plainly and fully state the cause or causes of the application for such divorce, to which petition the clerk shall annex a citation signed by such clerk, and bearing test in the name of the judge having cognizance of the case, directed to the sheriff, citing or Manner of commencing a suit for divorce.

* The section here originally recited, required an act of the legislature to the completion of a divorce. But the amendment proposed in 1832, and passed the next year, makes two concurring special jury verdicts final and conclusive, (see Art. III. Sec. 9, as inserted in this edition). These words, "final and conclusive," in the amendment, were obviously intended, not to abolish the divorce a mensa et thoro, as authorized by the act of 1806, (see Sec. 6, &c. of this title,) but to render the two verdicts, whether for the one or the other kind of divorce, final and complete without any legislative act. The statute of 1806 is therefore retained.

The number of persons divorced by the legislature since the date of the present constitution up to the close of the annual session of 1835, is 291,—averaging from 1800 to 1810, about 4; from 1810 to 1820, 8; from 1820 to 1830, 18; and since that time, 28 per annum.

requiring the defendant to appear at the court to which the same is made returnable, thirty days before the sitting of the court, by serving a copy of such petition and citation on the defendant, or by leaving a copy at his or her most notorious place of abode.

Manner of defending it.

2. Sec. III. The following proceeding shall be observed by the defendant, to wit: The defendant shall appear at the court to which the petition and citation are made returnable, and on or before the last day of the court, shall make his or her answer or defensive allegation in writing, signed by the party making the same, or his or her attorney, which may extenuate, deny, or contain as much matter, or as many circumstances, in his or her defence, as the said defendant may think necessary and proper therein.

Judgment by default.

3. Sec. IV. Where the said defendant shall fail to appear as aforesaid, the court shall proceed to give judgment by default, which shall be inquired of as the law directs, and has heretofore been the custom and practice of courts as in cases of default.

Form of the verdict.

4. Sec. V. The verdict of the jury, which by the aforesaid section of the constitution must in its nature be interlocutory, not definitive, shall be in the form and words following, to wit: "We find that sufficient proofs have been referred to our consideration to authorize a total divorce, that is to say, a divorce a vinculo matrimonii upon legal principles between the parties in this case;"* a certified copy of which verdict, signed by the clerk of the court at which the said verdict shall have been obtained, together with the records appertaining to the same, shall be and is hereby considered as a full compliance with the aforesaid section of the third article of the constitution.

What to be done where the defendant resides out of the State.

5. Sec. VI. When any person shall be out of the limits of this State, that have complaint alleged against them by virtue of this act, the judge presiding may make a rule of court to compel their attendance, or proceed to trial in case of default.

An Act to amend the foregoing.—Approved Dec. 5, 1806. Vol. II.
-312.

Divorces to be absolute or conditional.

6. Sec. I. The divorces recognized by this act shall be absolute, and totally dissolve the marriage contract, or conditional, and only separate the parties from bed and board, and provide for separate maintenance and support of the parties, and their issue.

The special jury to inquire into the situation of the parties before marriage in conditional divorces.

7. Sec. II. All cases of divorce which shall come before the superior court, shall be tried by a special jury, who shall inquire into the situation of the parties before their intermarriage, and also at the time of trial, and in all cases where they shall determine in favor of a conditional divorce, they shall by their verdict or decree, make provision out of the property of which the husband may be possessed, for the separate maintenance and support of the wife and the issue of such marriage, which verdict or decree, the said court shall cause to be carried into effect according to the rules of law, or according to the practice of chancery, as the nature of the case may require.

Their further duty in such cases.

In cases of absolute divorce, the offending party not permitted to marry again, during the life of the other.
Proviso.

8. Sec. III. In all cases where the verdict shall be for an absolute divorce, the party whose improper or criminal conduct shall authorize such divorce, shall not be permitted to marry again during the life of the other party, and in case of such second marriage, the party so offending shall be subject to the pains and penalties enacted against bigamy. Provided always, that where the marriage is declared void for such causes existing before such intermarriage as are recognized by the ecclesiastical courts, the said parties may marry again, any thing herein contained to the contrary notwithstanding.

* But see Sec. 6 and 7.

9. Sec. IV. In all cases where the special jury shall have brought in a verdict for an absolute divorce, and the general assembly shall refuse* to pass a law to carry the same into complete effect, it shall be lawful for either party to apply to the superior court of said county, after giving thirty days' notice in writing, of such application to the adverse party, if within the State, and if out of the State, three months' notice, in one of the public gazettes—and it shall be the duty of such court to appoint three commissioners, who shall inquire into the situation of the parties before their intermarriage, and also at the time of such inquiry; and shall determine upon the support or provision which may be necessary for the separate maintenance of the wife, having due regard to her situation before marriage, and also the situation of the husband at the time of such inquiry—and the said three commissioners before they proceed to make the inquiry, shall take and subscribe before one of the justices of the inferior court, or justices of the peace of the county, the following oath or affirmation, viz.—I, A. B. do solemnly swear, or affirm, that I will, without prejudice or partiality, faithfully inquire, and justly decide upon the case now submitted to me, and that I will make my report or decree thereon according to the principles of justice and equity, to the best of my skill and understanding, so help me God. And it shall be the duty of such commissioners to report their decision or decree in the premises to the next superior court of the county aforesaid; which shall cause the same to be entered as the judgment of said court, subject nevertheless to be altered or modified by the said court. Provided, application be made to the next superior court of said county for that purpose, stating the grounds upon which such application is founded, and in such case it shall be the duty of the said superior court to refer the said decree, or report to the same commissioners, with two additional commissioners, who shall take the oath hereinbefore prescribed, and shall proceed to re-examine the said decree, and report their decision or decree in the premises, to the next superior court of said county; which shall be entered as the judgment or decree of said court.

When the legislature will not sanction a divorce by law, in what manner the parties may be relieved so far as respects a separation.

Court shall appoint three commissioners to adjust the terms of separation.

Oath of the commissioners.

Their report to be made the judgment of the court, under the modification of the court. Proviso.

Another hearing.

10. Sec. V. All commissioners appointed under and by virtue of this act, shall have power to compel the attendance of such witnesses, as may be deemed necessary by the parties before them, at such time and place as they may appoint for their meeting; and shall also have competent power and authority to administer an oath to such witnesses, and shall take down the testimony of such witnesses in writing, which shall be annexed to their decree, and deposited in the clerk's office.

Further of the duties of the commissioners.

11. Sec. VI. In all cases where provision is made for the separate maintenance of the wife according to the provisions of this act, the husband shall not be subject to any contract made thereafter by such wife, but in all and every such case, the wife shall be subject to the payment of her own debts, out of her separate maintenance, during the time that such separation, and separate maintenance shall continue.

After such separation, the husband not subject to the debts of the wife.

12. Sec. VII. In all cases of divorce, the issue of such marriage shall not be bastardized, but shall be capable of taking by descent or distribution from either of their said parents.

The issue not to be bastardized.

13. Sec. VIII. In all cases of application for a divorce, the party applying shall render a schedule on oath, of the property owned or possessed by said parties at the time of such application, or, if the Applicant shall furnish a schedule of property.

* The concurring verdicts of two special juries made conclusive by the constitution, Art. III. Sec. 9, as amended in 1833.

How disposed of.

parties have separated, at the time of such separation, which shall be filed of record by the clerk of the superior court, and after all just debts shall be paid, shall be subject to a division or equal distribution between the children of such parties, except the jury before whom the same may be tried, shall think proper to allow either party a part thereof.

Sec. IX. [Repeals so much of said act as is repugnant to this.]

An Act to prescribe the oath of the special jury in cases of divorce.—
Approved December 13, 1810. Vol. II. 630.

Whereas some doubts have been entertained in the superior courts of this State with regard to the proper oath to be administered to the special jury in cases of divorce,

Oath of the jury.

14. Be it enacted, &c. That the oath to be administered to the special jury in all cases of divorce, shall be in the words following, viz. "You shall well and truly try the cause depending between A. B. plaintiff, and C. D. defendant, and a true verdict give according to equity, and the opinion you entertain of the evidence produced to you, to the best of your skill and knowledge, so help you God."

ELECTIONS.

An Act to regulate the General Elections in this State, and to appoint the time of the meeting of the General Assembly.—Approved Feb. 11, 1799. Vol. I. 190.

Elections for members to the legislature and congress to be held at the court-house in each county. Presiding justices. Sheriff to attend.

Elections when to be held.

Fraudulent returns, or undue means to obtain or influence votes, how prosecuted and punished.

1. Sec. I. All elections for members to represent this State in the general assembly thereof, and for representatives in congress, shall be held at the court-house or place appointed for holding the superior courts in the respective counties, and the electors thereat shall vote viva voce.* It shall be the duty of any three or more of the magistrates of each county, not being candidates,† to preside at, and make returns of all elections for senators and representatives in the general assembly, and representatives in congress; and the sheriff of each county, or his deputy,‡ is required to attend at such elections, for the purpose of enforcing the orders of the presiding magistrates, and preserving good order. That the general elections shall be held annually, on the first Monday in October. [The rest of this section, respecting the oaths of voters and the hours of opening and closing the polls, re-enacted with alterations.]

2. Sec. II. If the superintending magistrates or officers at such elections shall make a fraudulent return, or they or either of them, while superintending at such election, or any candidate, shall influence, or endeavor to influence or persuade any voter not to vote as he first designed or intended, or shall take any undue means to obtain a vote, he or they shall forfeit for the first offence, $100, to be recovered by information in any court having jurisdiction thereof; and if a justice, shall be forever disqualified from serving in the commission of

* By ballot. See Sec. 4.

† Or one magistrate and two freeholders. Sec. 13.

‡ Or any constable or other person appointed by the superintendents. See Sec. 19.

the peace; and if a candidate, shall be thereby incapacitated from serving in the post or place for which he may be elected. That if any person or persons whatsoever, shall, on any day appointed for holding such elections, presume to violate the freedom of such election by any arrest, menace, or threat, or attempt to overawe, affright, or force any person qualified to vote, or offer any bribe to induce him to vote contrary to his inclination; or shall, after said election is over, menace or despitely use, abuse, or insult any person, because he hath not voted as he or they might have wished him, every such person so offending, upon sufficient proof of such violence or abuse, menacing, or threatening, before any justice of the peace, shall be bound over to the superior court, himself in $100, and two securities in $50 each, to be of good behavior and abide the sentence of said court, where, if the offender or offenders are convicted of such offence as aforesaid, then he or they shall respectively for each offence, forfeit a sum not exceeding $100, and be committed to jail without bail or mainprize, until the same be paid, which said fine so imposed shall be recovered by writ of feri facias or ca. sa. issued and signed by the clerk of said court under and by virtue of the sentence of the same; and the sheriff of the county is hereby required to levy such writ forthwith.* That no civil officer shall execute any writ or civil process whatsoever, upon the body of any person qualified to vote at any election as aforesaid, either in his journey to, or return from, or during his stay there upon that account, under a penalty not exceeding $500: Provided, he shall not be more than four days on his journey going to, returning from, and stay at the place for holding said election, to be recovered of and from the officer who shall serve any process or arrest as aforesaid, after such manner and form, and to be disposed of as hereinbefore directed; and all such writs or civil process executed on the body of any person either going to, returning from, or being at the place, where such election is appointed within the time before limited, he being qualified to vote thereat, are hereby declared null and void; that at the general election which shall be held for members of the general assembly on the first Monday in October, 1800, and at every second general election thereafter, the electors at such election shall vote for members to represent this State in the house of representatives of the United States. That no person shall be elected a representative in congress, who has not been an inhabitant of this State three years next preceding his election, and paid his tax regularly during that time; nor shall he hold any office of profit under this State or the United States, during the time for which he may be elected a representative. That the names of the several candidates be kept on separate papers, and the number and the names of the voters shall be sealed up together with an accurate state of the poll under the hands of the presiding magistrates, and transmitted by express to his excellency the governor, within twenty days after closing the poll at such election, who is empowered to draw on the treasury for the payment of such express, not exceeding $2 per day. That the governor or commander-in-chief, for the time being, shall, within five days after the expiration of the said twenty days hereinbefore allowed for making returns, count up the votes from the several counties, or such of them as may have made returns for each person, and immediately thereafter issue his proclamation declaring the persons having the highest number of votes and qualified as aforesaid, to be duly elected to represent this

Any person who shall arrest, menace, or bribe any voter on the day of election, or shall afterwards abuse a voter for his vote, shall be bound over to the superior court.

And on conviction, fined $100, and stand committed till paid.

Voters not to be arrested on pain of $500.

Members of congress to be elected biennially.

Their qualification.

The returns, when and how to be made.

The governor to count up the votes and make proclamation as to members of congress,

* Penalties for voting out of the proper county, or more than once at the same election, or for buying or selling votes. See Penal Laws, Sec. 260, 261.

and grant certificates thereof.
Provido.

In cases of tie, the governor shall order a new election.

Time within which acceptance must be signified.

Writs of election to fill vacancies, to whom directed.
Justices' duty therein.

Three clerks.

Three rolls.

Legislature to meet on the first Monday in November.

State in the house of representatives of the United States, and to grant a certificate thereof under the great seal of the State to each of them : Provided, no certificate or commission shall issue to or for any such person so elected, until satisfactory proof is produced that the tax of such person has been regularly paid as above mentioned, and that he has actually had the residence herein prescribed. That where any two or more persons have an equal and the highest number of votes, other than those duly elected in the general poll; then, and in that case, the governor shall issue his proclamation directing a new election. That in case any person duly elected, being in this State and notified thereof in manner herein directed, shall not within twenty days, and if out of this State within forty days after such notification, signify his acceptance, or shall depart this life, the governor or commander-in-chief, shall order a new election to be held in like manner as hereinbefore pointed out. That all writs of elections to fill vacancies that may happen for members of the general assembly of this State, or house of representatives of the United States, shall be directed to the justices of the inferior courts of the respective counties, who are hereby required to give public notice thereof, and cause the same to be held in manner and form as hereinbefore pointed out agreeably to such writ. That the presiding magistrates at any election for members of the general assembly of this State, or representatives in congress, are hereby empowered and required to appoint three clerks to attend the said elections, whose duty it shall be to keep three rolls.

3. Sec. III. The general assembly of this State shall, from and after the passing of this act, meet on the first Monday in November annually.

An Act supplementary to the foregoing.—Approved Dec. 4, 1799. Vol. I. 202.

All elections to be by ballot.

4. Sec. I. In future, all elections shall be by ballot. [The rest of this section, directing at what hours the polls shall be opened and closed, superseded by Sec. 23. For the other sections of this act, see County Officers, Sec. 2 and 3.]

An Act to prescribe the mode of choosing the Electors of President and Vice-President of the United States, to which this State is entitled by the Constitution of the United States.—Approved Dec. 18, 1824. Vol. IV. 159.

How and when the electors of President and Vice President of the United States shall be elected.

5. On the first Monday in November, 1828, and on the first Monday in November of every fourth year thereafter, an election shall be held throughout this State, at the several places of holding elections for senators and representatives in the general assembly, for the purpose of choosing electors of president and vice-president of the United States; which elections shall be opened and closed at the same hour and in the same manner, and shall be superintended and conducted by the same magistrates and officers, as by law shall be authorized to superintend and conduct the general elections of this State.

Who shall be entitled to vote.

6. Sec. II. At the said elections, every person entitled to vote for members of the general assembly, or representatives to congress, may vote for a number of persons equal to the whole number of representatives and senators to which this State may be entitled in the congress of the United States; and that it shall be the duty of the justices or magistrates, presiding at the elections to be held under the authority and according to the provisions of this act, to make immediate returns to the governor of the State of the result of said elections; which returns shall clearly exhibit the number of persons voting for electors, the number of votes given in, the names of persons voted for, and the number of votes which each may have received.

How and by whom the returns of the election shall be made.

7. Sec. III. In counties where by law the votes for members of the general assembly shall be given at different places, it shall be the duty of the persons presiding at the different district elections to meet and consolidate the returns of the district elections, as by law required to be done at the general elections; which consolidated returns, exhibiting the result of the elections, as required by the second section of this act, they shall immediately forward to the governor of this State.

How, when there are election districts in a county.

8. Sec. IV. It shall be the duty of the governor, on the 18th day after the said elections shall have taken place, to lay before both branches of the general assembly a consolidated return of the number of persons voting for electors, the names of the persons voted for, and the number of votes received by each, and immediately to notify those persons who may have received a number of votes amounting to a majority of the persons who shall have voted for electors, of their election, and require their attendance at the time and place required by law, to vote for a president and vice-president of the United States.

The governor to lay the returns before the legislature.

Electors to attend, on being notified.

9. Sec. V. In the event of none of the persons voted for having received a majority as aforesaid, the general assembly shall proceed by joint ballot to the election of electors of president and vice-president; and in the event of a majority of the votes of the persons voting for electors not having been given to a number of the persons voted for, equal to the whole number of electors of president and vice-president to which this State shall be entitled, that number shall be supplied by the general assembly, who shall proceed to elect by joint ballot a number of electors, who, with those having received a majority of votes, shall be equal to the whole number of presidential electors to which this State may be entitled.

Some of the electors not having a majority, general assembly to elect.

10. Sec. VI. In case of the death of any of those who may be elected under the provisions of this act, or in case of their declining to accept the appointment, or if from any other cause such electors, or any or them, should not attend to vote as provided by the constitution of the United States, and that if any of the persons so elected should not be at the seat of government by twelve o'clock on the Monday preceding the first Wednesday in December, it shall be considered that they have refused the acceptance of the appointment, and the legislature will proceed by joint ballot to fill the vacancy.

In case of death, non-acceptance or non-attendance, the legislature to appoint.

An Act for the payment of such person or persons as may be employed by the Superintendents of the Elections of Electors of President and Vice-President of the United States, of Governor of this State, and Members of Congress, in the several Counties of this State, to take the same to the Seat of Government.—Approved Dec. 22, 1828. Vol. IV. 178.

11. From and after the passage of this act, it shall be the duty of the officers who may superintend the election of electors of president and vice-president of the United States, of governor of this State, and members of congress in the several counties of this State, to transmit

The persons employed to take to the seat of government the election returns of President and V. President of the U. States.

Note. The pay of Electors of President and vice-President directed to be $8 per day and mileage. Reso. of 1836, pam. 29 of Res.

by mail to his excellency the governor the result of said elections, as soon thereafter as practicable; and in those counties where no mail passes within seven days after the elections are determined, to the seat of government, it shall be the duty of the aforesaid superintendents of said elections to transmit the same to his excellency the governor, by a special messenger, to be by them employed for that purpose.

shall be paid at discretion of the executive.

12. Sec. II. Such person or persons as may be employed by the officers superintending the elections aforesaid, according to the provisions of this act, shall receive for the service by them so rendered such sum as may be deemed by his excellency the governor just and proper, and that the same be paid out of the contingent fund.

An Act to prescribe the manner of holding elections at the several election Districts, in the several Counties of this State, and to punish those who may defeat, or violate the election laws of force in this State.—Approved Dec. 23, 1830. Pam. 105.

Who shall superintend general elections in each district.

13. From and after the first day of June next, one justice of the inferior court, or one justice of the peace, and two freeholders, or two of the aforesaid justices, and one freeholder, shall superintend the elections, in each and every election district, which now is, or which hereafter may be established in any of the counties of this State, for the election of governor, members of congress, members of the general assembly, electors of president and vice-president, or county officers.

Oath of the superintendents.

14. Sec. II. The freeholders aforesaid, shall not be competent to superintend the elections aforesaid, until they, and each of them, shall first have taken the following oath, viz :—"I, A. B. do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I am a freeholder, resident in this county of , that I will faithfully superintend this day's election, and make a just and true return thereof, according to law, and to the best of my ability, so help me God."

Shall receive and count the votes; keep a statement of the polls, &c.

15. Sec. III. The superintendents, or a majority of them, of the district elections in the several counties of this State shall, and they are hereby required, on the day of the elections by them held, in the respective districts, and at the places designated by law, for holding such elections, to receive and count out the votes by them taken in, keep a fair statement of the polls, and conduct the elections in all respects, according to the election law of this State, now in force, 11th February, 1799, so far as said law is now in force.

Shall meet at the court-house to add together the returns, and send them to the governor.

16. Sec. IV. It shall be the duty of one, or more of the superintendents of the district elections, in the several counties of this State, to meet at the court-house, of their respective counties, on the day after the election, and then and there, together with the superintendents of the election held at the court-house, or a majority of them, and count, compare, and add together, the returns to them, produced by the superintendents of the district elections of the county, and return and certify to the governor, the result of the elections for that county, agreeably to the election law of force in this State, passed the 11th day of February, in the year 1799.

Freeholders to sign returns.

17. Sec. V. All returns of district elections, made by freeholders in their several counties, according to the provisions of this act, shall be signed by them as such.

Further oath in doubtful cases.

18. Sec. VI. When any doubt shall be suggested, as to the legality of any vote offered at any election, held in any election district, in any of the counties of this State, it shall be the duty of the superintendents of such election, before receiving such vote, to administer to the person offering it, together with the oath now prescribed by law, the following oath, viz :—"I, A. B. do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I have not this day voted at any election, held at any place, in this State, for governor, members of congress, electors of president and vice-president, members of the legislature, or county officers, so help me God."* And it shall be the duty of the superintendents of such elections, to return to the clerk of the inferior court, a list containing the names of all voters, who have taken the oath prescribed by this section, of this act, which list shall be filed in the office of said clerk.

List of all those thus sworn to be returned to clerk.

19. Sec. VII. The duties of sheriff, as pointed out by law, at the district elections in this State, shall be performed by any constable, or any other person appointed by the superintendents, and that said election shall in all respects, except those herein recited, be conducted in the manner, and with the solemnities, and at the places prescribed by the laws now in force in this State, regulating general and county elections.

Constable or other appointed person may act in place of sheriff.

20. Sec. VIII. If any person shall vote at more than one place, of holding elections in any county of this State, at any election for governor, members of congress, electors of president and vice-president, members of the legislature, or county officers,* or if any justice as aforesaid, or freeholder presiding at any election in any of the districts of any county of this State, shall in manner fail to perform the duties herein required of him, or shall violate the trust herein confided to him; such person, justice of the peace, or freeholder, shall be deemed guilty of a high misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, before the superior court, or any of them, of this State, shall be punished according to an act, passed in the year 1799, regulating general elections, and the penalties therein prescribed for the violations of the said law, by the magistrate, or superintendents, is hereby extended to persons voting contrary to the provisions of this act.

Penalty on persons misbehaving.

21. Sec. IX. Any and every person, who shall be convicted of voting at any election, who shall not have been authorized to do so, in accordance with the constitution of this State, shall be punished by a fine, of not less than $30, or by imprisonment, at the discretion of the court, in the common jail of the county.*

Punishment of persons voting illegally.

22. Sec. X. The magistrate, or freeholder, who shall carry the district election returns to the court-house, according to the provisions of this act, shall in all the counties of the eastern circuit, except the county of Bullock, be allowed the sum of three dollars, to be paid out of the county treasury of the respective counties of said district, as aforesaid.

$3 to superintendent for carrying returns to court-house.

23. Sec. XI. The elections held at the several election districts in this State shall be opened between the hours of seven and ten in the morning, and shall be closed at the hour of six in the evening.

Hours of opening and closing polls.

24. Sec. XII. It shall be the duty of the two justices of the peace, in their respective districts, where precinct, or district elections are held, to carry this law into effect.

The justices of peace to carry this law into effect.

Sec. XIII. All laws and parts of laws, militating against this act, are hereby repealed.

An Act to regulate the future Elections of Members of Congress in this State.—Approved Dec. 23, 1831. Pam. 124.

25. So soon as his excellency the governor shall obtain the law of congress, fixing the ratio of representatives to be elected for the national legislature, agreeably to the late census, it shall be his duty to Governor to proclaim the number of cong. rep's.

* And see Sec. 33, 34.

of a substantial nature; and such records, when so transcribed, and approved by said inferior court upon their inspection, or upon the examination of any person or persons whom they shall appoint for the purpose, shall have all the validity and authenticity of the original records.

Or may have them brought up when incomplete.

9. Sec. II. Whenever it shall appear to the inferior courts aforesaid that the clerks of the said courts hereinbefore mentioned have failed or neglected to copy into a book of record all the proceedings in all civil cases in said courts respectively, or that the said proceedings have been partially and imperfectly copied, it shall and may be lawful for the said inferior courts to employ some fit and competent person or persons to copy the said proceedings into a book or books of record; and the said books of record shall, when approved by said inferior court, or by the person or persons by them to be appointed for the purpose of examination, have the same force, validity, and authenticity as if the said proceedings had been fully copied by the clerks aforesaid, within the time prescribed in the 34th section of the act of the general assembly, passed on the 16th day of Feb. 1799.*

Shall offer them to the lowest bidder.

Bond to be given.

10. Sec. III. The said inferior court, in the employment of a person or persons to transcribe the records, and to copy the proceedings as hereinbefore directed, shall offer the same to the lowest bidder, due regard being had to the competency of the several persons proposing, and shall require bond with approved security, payable to the justices of the inferior court of the county, and their successors in office, in a penalty to be fixed by them, or any three of them, for the completion of the contract at such time or times as shall be stipulated, and for the safe keeping and return of the books, documents, and papers that may be intrusted to him or them for the purposes aforesaid.

Suits against defaulting clerks.

Damages.

Or may be ruled.

Provide.

11. Sec. IV. The inferior courts shall be authorized to institute a suit or suits in the superior court upon the bond or bonds of any clerk, who has failed or neglected to copy into a book of record all the proceedings in all civil cases in said courts respectively, according to the true intent and meaning of the said 34th section of the act aforesaid, or who shall hereafter fail or neglect to record the proceedings of said courts as hereinafter required; and shall recover damages for the neglect or failure of such clerk in manner aforesaid, according to the rates for recording said proceedings, in all the cases which such clerks shall have failed, or shall fail to record, or which he shall have imperfectly recorded, or shall imperfectly record; and in case there be no valid bond of said clerk, it shall and may be lawful for said superior court to cause said clerk, by a rule or order of said court, to pay into the hands of the county treasurer such sum or sums of money as it shall appear to said court that such clerk has received, or shall receive, as fees for recording of proceedings in cases which he has or shall fail or neglect to record, or has or shall imperfectly record, and to enforce such order by process of attachment; Provided, when it shall appear that said clerk has not received the recording fees in any case or cases, the amount of such fees shall not be included in the damages appear to be in an unsettled state. These commissioners are empowered to call for such documents and other testimony as in their judgment may tend to explain and elucidate the accounts; and shall make a full report to the next term of the superior court, which shall be laid before the grand jury for their decision thereon. The commissioners shall be reasonably compensated by the inferior court out of the county funds. And any vacancies in these appointments to be filled by the judge. And (3d resolution) the inferior courts shall annually lay before the grand jury a statement of the receipts and expenditures of the county money. [Vol. II. 676—7.]

* See title Judiciary, Sec. 31.

herein required to be collected, nor in the sum herein directed to be paid.

12. Sec. V. The proceedings in all cases, criminal as well as civil, hereafter determined in the several courts of law and equity in this State, shall be fully and fairly copied by the clerks of such courts respectively into record books of a substantial nature, previous to the next term of such courts, after the adjournment of the court in which such cases shall be determined.

All judicial proceedings to be fairly copied.

13. Sec. VI. It shall be the duty of the grand juries in the several counties in this State, from term to term of the superior court, to inspect and examine the offices, papers, and records in the superior and inferior courts of their counties; and if the said proceedings shall not have been copied into a book or books of record according to the true intent and meaning of this act, they shall cause the clerk or clerks who shall have failed or neglected to do his duty as required by this act, to be presented for non-performance of official duty; and the said superior court shall order the bond of such clerk to be prosecuted, and recovery shall be had thereon as directed in the aforesaid third section of this act; and if there be no bond, said court shall proceed against such clerk as in such case is therein directed.

Grand Juries to inspect the records, offices, &c.

Grand Jury to present delinquent clerks.

Sec. VII. All laws or parts of laws militating against this act are hereby repealed.

Repealing clause.

An Act to compel all County Officers holding public monies to keep books of record of the receipts and expenditures of the same.—
Approved Dec. 26, 1831. Pam. 90.

14. Sec. I. As the public money is the property of the people, they have a right at all times to know how it is expended:

Be it therefore enacted, That from and after the passing of this act, all county officers in each county in this State, in whose hands any money belonging to the county or State shall come, shall prepare and keep a fair, good and substantial leather bound book, in which they and each of them shall enter in a regular and distinct manner, all monies, by them received on account of the State or county, or from any other public source, in such a way, as may be seen how much and at what time the said money was received, and in like manner how the same has been expended or disbursed, with the items of each expenditure, and at the expiration of every three months, the debit and credit side of such account shall be struck, so that the state of the account may be known.

County officers shall keep a record book of all receipts and payments.

15. Sec. II. It shall be the duty of the county treasurer, or if none has been appointed, then the clerks of the superior or inferior courts, acting as such, shall at every second term in each county, lay before the grand jury a fair abstract from said book.

And annually lay an abstract before the G. Jury.

16. Sec. III. In case of neglect or failure of any of the aforesaid persons to perform the duties hereby assigned them, then and in such case, they shall be liable to a fine of $20 for each offence, to be recovered in any court of record having competent jurisdiction: the whole penalty to go to the person prosecuting the party offending.

On pain of $20.

17. Sec. IV. During the legal office hours, all persons shall have access to and a right to inspect the aforementioned books, and to take extracts therefrom, and the person keeping the same shall be entitled to receive twenty-five cents for each inspection: and should any of the aforesaid officers refuse any citizen an inspection of said books, such officer so offending, shall be liable to the penalty and prosecution as prescribed in the above named section.

Books open to public inspection.

COUNTY OFFICERS.

An Act for the appointment of County Officers.—Approved Feb. 16, 1799. Vol. I. 201.

Sec. I. and II. [Repealed. See Sec. 9, and amendment of the constitution, Vol. II. 515.]

How removed from office.

1. Sec. III. On the representation of two-thirds of the justices of the inferior court, and of the county, or by sentence of impeachment, his excellency the governor be and he is hereby authorized to remove any of the aforesaid sheriffs from office; and he shall and may remove from office any coroner or county surveyor, on like representation of two-thirds of the justices of the inferior court and of the county; the governor shall and may also remove any of the aforesaid clerks,* county surveyors, or coroners from office on conviction of the offender or offenders, for mal-practice in office.

An Act supplementary to the foregoing.—Approved Dec. 4, 1799. Vol. I. 202.

Elections of county officers to be by the free citizens.

2. Sec. II. In future, all elections for county officers, to wit, the clerks of the superior and inferior courts, sheriffs, coroners, and county surveyors, shall be by the citizens of the respective counties, who are entitled by law to vote at elections for representatives, or members of the legislature of this State; and shall be opened, conducted, and closed in the same manner, that elections are for members of the legislature of this State.

Vacancies how filled.

3. Sec. III. If a vacancy should take place in one of the aforesaid offices, it shall be the duty of the justices of the inferior court, or any two or more of them, to give notice in one or more of the public gazettes, or at the court house, and three or more of the most public places in the county within which such vacancy may happen, twenty days previous to the election for filling up the said vacancy: and the person so chosen shall continue in office no longer than his predecessor would have done.† And where any two or more candidates for any county office shall have the highest and an equal number of votes, the presiding justices shall certify the same to his excellency the governor, who shall be, and he is hereby authorized to appoint one of the persons so having an equality of votes.‡

Continuance in office.

In cases of tie, the governor shall appoint.

An Act to amend the Judicial Act.—Approved May 11, 1803. Vol. II. 112.

Whereas doubts have arisen respecting the proper persons authorized, or intended by law to take the bonds or obligations of the sheriffs of this State: for remedy whereof,

Judges of the superior, and justices of the inferior court, to take sheriffs' bonds.

4. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That every judge of the superior, or a majority of the justices of the inferior courts, of the respective counties throughout this State, is and are, and by intendment of law,

* "Clerks," &c. "of the respective counties," are the words in the first section here referred to.

† But see Sec. 7.

‡ But as to filling vacancies in the office of sheriff, clerk of the superior and inferior court, see Sec. 21.

ought to have been taken, held, deemed, and considered as competent in law, to take the bonds or obligations of sheriffs, and to qualify them as by law directed.

An Act to compel the Clerks to keep their offices at the Court House of their respective Counties, or within one mile thereof.—Approved Dec. 7, 1807.* Vol. II. 404.

Whereas great inconvenience has hitherto been experienced by the citizens of this State from the great distance at which many of the clerks keep their offices from the court-house, many records and other papers being frequently necessary to the fair investigation of a cause in court, that are lodged in the office, and their absence necessarily delaying justice, and sometimes utterly defeating it; for remedy whereof,

5. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That from and after the first day of June next, it shall be the duty of the clerks of the superior and inferior courts, and the clerks of the court of ordinary, to keep their offices, books, and papers, at the court-house of their respective counties, or within one mile thereof, except the counties of Glynn, Effingham, Bryan, and Bulloch, and except the county of Wilkinson, until the public buildings be made permanent.

Clerks to keep their offices within one mile of the court-house.

Exception.

6. Sec. II. Each and every of the said clerks, except as before excepted, shall forfeit and pay the sum of $30 for every month they, or either of them, shall fail to comply with the requisitions of this act, to be recovered in the superior court, on motion of the attorney or solicitor general, by attachment as for contempt, and to be considered as a part of the county funds.

Penalty for neglect of this act.

An Act to authorize the Clerks of the Superior and Inferior Courts, Clerks of the Courts of Ordinary, Sheriffs, Coroners, and Surveyors, to hold their offices during the intervention between the election and commissioning of their successors, and to regulate the transfer of papers and moneys.—Approved Dec. 13, 1809. Vol. II. 541.

Whereas considerable evils may result from the suspension of duties incumbent upon the clerks of the superior and inferior courts, clerks of the courts of ordinary, sheriffs, coroners, and county surveyors; for remedy whereof,

7. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That the aforesaid officers shall perform all the duties of their respective offices during the time intervening between the election and commissioning of their successors, with all the responsibilities to which they were liable, previous to the said election.

County officers to officiate ad interim.

Sec. II. [Repealed, and see Sec. III. superseded. See Sec. XIII. For Sec. IV. and VI. see Records.]

8. Sec. V. It shall be the duty of the officers elected, as aforesaid, to make application to the executive for their respective commissions, within twenty days after their having been elected to either of the said offices.†

Shall apply for their commissions within 20 days.

* So many counties have been exempted totally or partially from the operation of this act, that it can now hardly be regarded as a general law.

† And see Sec. 11.

An Act to alter the time of holding the Elections for County Officers in this State, &c.—Approved Dec. 16, 1811. Vol. III. 138.

Elections for county officers to be on the first Monday in January biennially.

9. Sec. I. The elections for sheriffs, clerks of the superior and inferior courts, county surveyors, and coroners of the respective counties within this State, shall be held on the first Monday in January 1814, and on the first Monday in January every second year thereafter, in each and every of the said counties respectively.

An Act to regulate the appointment of Jailers, and to alter and explain another act. [See Judiciary, 61.]—Approved Dec. 16, 1811. Vol. III. 140.

Jailers shall give security.

Jailer's oath.

10. Sec. I. In future all sheriffs, on appointing a keeper of the jail, to require sufficient security of him or them; and such person appointed shall, before he enters on the duties of his or their office, take and subscribe the following oath before some one of the justices of the inferior court of said county; to wit: "I, A. B. do solemnly swear or affirm (as the case may be), that I will well and truly do and perform all and singular the duties of jailer for the county of ———; and that I will humanely treat all criminals who may be brought to jail, of which I am the keeper, and not suffer them to escape by any negligence or inattention of mine: So help me God." [For the other section, see Judiciary, Sec. 85.]

An Act to compel the [Officers named in the Act] to take the oath, and give the security required by law, within the time therein specified.—Approved Dec. 16, 1811. Vol. III. 141.

Whereas by the laws now in force in this State, some inconvenience has, and may again happen with respect to the time which ought to be given to the clerks elect, [and other officers named in the act,] to qualify; for remedy whereof,

County officers shall qualify in ten days.

11. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That from and immediately after the passing of this act, the said clerks of the superior and inferior courts, sheriffs, county surveyors, coroners, collectors, and receivers of tax returns, shall be bound in ten days after they are notified of the arrival of their commission, to take the oath, and give the security required by law.*

Sec. II. [Superseded by act of 1823. See Sec. 37 of this title.]

An Act to repeal the 2d and 3d sections of an Act, [For the title, see Sec. 7.]—Approved Dec. 6, 1813. Vol. III. 149.

Sheriffs, coroners, and clerks, shall be subject to the order of court after they are out of office.

13. Sec. III. All sheriffs, coroners, and clerks of any of the courts of this State, shall at any and all times be subject to the order and rule of said courts, after they have retired from their respective offices, in such cases and in like manner as they would have been had they remained in office.

An Act to compel the Clerks of the Courts of Ordinary to give Bond and Security for the faithful performance of their duty.—Approved Dec. 8, 1815. Vol. III. 150.

14. Sec. I. From and after the 1st day of January next, it shall

* Or the office shall be considered vacant. See Sec. 37.

not be lawful for any clerk of the court of ordinary to exercise the duty of that office until they shall have respectively given bond and sufficient security to the justices of the inferior courts of each county respectively, made payable to his excellency the governor, for the time being, and his successors in office, in the sum of $2,000, for the faithful performance of their duty respectively.

Clerks of the court of ordinary shall give bond and security in $2,000.

15. Sec. II. It shall be the duty of the justices of the inferior courts of each county in this State respectively, or any two or more of them, to take such bond and security, according to the provisions of the foregoing section, conditioned well and truly to perform the duties required of them by law.

Two or more of the justices of the inferior court to take such bond. The condition thereof. Recoverable as the bonds of other clerks.

16. Sec. III. The said bonds, so taken as aforesaid, shall be liable to suit and recovery in the same way, and under the same provisions and restrictions as are pointed out by law, for recovery upon bonds given by clerks of the superior and inferior courts for the performance of their duty as clerks.

Act of Dec. 18, 1816. Vol. III. 155. [For title, see Evidence, Sec. 16.]

17. Sec. III. All officers, civil and military, in this State, shall take an oath to support the constitution of this State, and of the United States; and the form of said oath, so to be taken and subscribed, shall be forwarded with the dedimus to qualify the said officer, or be taken and subscribed at the time of receiving said commission.*

Oath to support the constitution to be taken by all officers, civil and military.

Sec. IV. [Repeals the former act on this subject. Vol. I. 377.]

An Act to vest the appointment of Commissioners of Academies, Vendue Masters, Notaries Public, and Lumber Measurers, in certain persons therein mentioned.—Approved Dec. 18, 1816. Vol. III. 1072.

Whereas the present mode of appointing the aforesaid officers is very inconvenient, and occasions an unnecessary consumption of the time of the legislature;

18. Be it enacted, &c. That from and after the passing of this act, the appointment of commissioners of academies in this State, shall be and is hereby vested in the commissioners of the respective academies; the appointment of vendue masters, notaries public, and lumber measurers, shall be and is hereby vested in the commissioners of the respective incorporated towns, or the persons in said towns in whom the corporate powers are vested; and where there is no corporation or commissioners, the appointment of the said vendue masters, notaries public, and lumber measurers, shall be made by the inferior courts of the respective counties, whenever such officers are deemed necessary and authorized by law.†

Commissioners of academies.

Vendue masters, notaries public, and lumber measurers, by whom to be appointed.

19. Sec. II. Nothing contained in this act shall authorize the appointment of an additional number of any of the said officers than is at present allowed by law; nor shall any thing contained in this act vacate any appointments which have been heretofore made, or which may be made during the present session of the legislature.

Proviso.

An Act to allow Clerks to appoint Deputies.—Approved Dec. 19, 1817. Vol. III. 159.

Whereas considerable inconvenience arises to the good citizens of this State, in consequence of the non-appointment of deputies by the clerks of the superior, inferior, and corporation courts, and the courts of ordinary of this State; for remedy whereof,

* See note to Evidence, Sec. 16.

† And see Sec. 38, 43, 44.

Clerks may, like sheriffs, appoint deputies.

20. Be it enacted, &c. That immediately from and after the passing of this act, the said clerks shall be allowed to appoint a deputy or deputies, in the same manner and under the same rules and regulations as deputies of sheriffs are now by law appointed, who may continue in office during the term of his or their said principal or principals, unless specially removed: Provided always, that in case of the death, resignation, or disability of the said principal clerk or clerks, the power and authority of the said deputy or deputies shall cease and determine: And that the said several principal clerks shall, in all cases, be responsible for the acts of each and every of their said deputies and agents.*

Whose power shall cease with that of the principal.

An Act to alter and amend the 47th section of the Judiciary System of this State, and pointing out the manner of filling vacancies in the offices of Clerk of the Superior and Inferior Courts.—Approved Dec. 19, 1817. Vol. III. 161.

Vacancies of clerks and sheriffs may be filled by the justices of the inferior court.

21. Sec. I. When the sheriff's, clerk of the superior court, or clerk of the inferior court's office in any county shall be vacated by death, resignation, or otherwise, the justices of the inferior court, or a majority of them, shall immediately meet at the court-house in the county where such vacancy may happen, and proceed to fill said vacancy by appointing a fit and proper person, who shall give bond and security in the usual amount, and in the usual form, and take the usual oath, and such person shall be liable for the duties of sheriff in the county for which he was appointed; and such person shall continue in office, unless otherwise specially removed, until a successor is elected and qualified.†

Continuance in office.

An Act to carry into effect the 4th and 5th sections of the 3d article of the Constitution of the State of Georgia.—Approved December 21, 1819. Vol. III. 393.

Justices of the inferior court elective by the people every four years.

22. Sec. I. There shall be five justices of the inferior court in and for each county in this State, who shall be elected on the 3d Tuesday in October, in the year of our Lord 1821, who shall be commissioned, and hold their respective offices until the 1st Monday in January, in the year of our Lord 1825, and until their successors shall be elected and qualified; on which said first Monday in January, 1825, the justices of the inferior courts shall be again elected, and from thence on the first Monday in January in every fourth year thereafter, by the electors entitled to vote for members of the general assembly; which elections shall be held and conducted in the same manner as pointed out by law for the election of clerks and sheriffs; and the persons so elected shall be commissioned by the governor, and continue in office for the term of four years, and until their successors are elected and qualified, unless removed by impeachment for malpractice in office, or by the governor on the address of two-thirds of both branches of the general assembly; and when any vacancy shall happen, by death, resignation, or otherwise, of any of the justices of the inferior court, it shall be the duty of two or more of the justices of the inferior court, or justices of the peace, of the county in which such vacancy or vacancies shall happen, to give at least twenty days' notice, by advertisement at three or more public places in such county, previous to the election, to

How removable.

Vacancies filled in the same manner.

* Acts of minor deputies up to Dec. 20, 1824 legalized. See Sec. 42.

† For the 2d section, see Executors and Administrators, 76.

fill such vacancy or vacancies; which election shall be held and conducted in the same manner as by this act expressed.

23. Sec. II. There shall be two justices of the peace in each captain's district in the several counties of this State, who shall be elected on the first Saturday in January, 1821, and on the first Saturday in January every fourth year thereafter, by the citizens of the district to which they respectively belong entitled to vote for members of the general assembly; which elections shall be superintended by three freeholders of the district, whose duty it shall be to take the following oath, to be administered by the captain or commanding officer of said district, or any magistrate of the county, (to wit:) "I, A. B. do solemnly swear, that I will, to the best of my abilities, superintend the election of justices of the peace for this district: So help me God." And said freeholders shall transmit a return of said election, within twenty days, to his excellency the governor, who is hereby authorized to commission the person or persons so elected accordingly; and the said justices of the peace shall hold their appointments during the term of four years, and until their successors are elected and qualified, unless they shall be removed by conviction on indictment in the superior court for malpractice in office, or for any felonious or infamous crime, or by the governor on the address of two-thirds of each branch of the general assembly; and when any vacancy or vacancies shall happen, by death, resignation, or otherwise, of any justice or justices of the peace, it shall be the duty of one justice of the peace, and two freeholders, which said freeholders, previous to holding said election, shall take the oath above prescribed, to advertise in three of the most public places in the district where such vacancy or vacancies may happen, the time of holding an election for the purpose of filling such vacancy or vacancies, and give at least fifteen days' notice of the time and place when such election shall be held; and it shall be the duty of the said justice and freeholders to superintend such election, and certify the same under their hands to his excellency the governor, who shall, within ten days after receiving the same, commission the person or persons having the highest number of votes: Provided the election is not contested.

Justices of the peace shall be elected by the voters of the district.

Election, how superintended.

Term of office, 4 years.

How removable.

Vacancies filled by election.

Proviso.

Where elections of each kind shall be held.

Vacancies filled only until the end of the term.

24. Sec. III. All elections for justices of the inferior court shall be holden at the place of holding the superior courts in the respective counties; and all elections for justices of the peace shall be holden at the usual place of holding the justice's courts in the respective company districts.

25. Sec. IV. Where any person or persons shall be elected to fill the vacancy of any justice of the inferior court, or justice of the peace, the person so elected and commissioned shall continue in office only for the time for which their predecessors were elected.

An Act to compel Clerks of the Inferior Courts, that now are or hereafter may be in office, to give receipts for all sums of money by them received for county purposes; to compel county officers to take receipts for any sum or sums by them received and paid for county purposes, and return or deliver over such receipt or receipts to the clerk of the Superior Courts of the several counties within a certain time; and to require the several clerks of the Superior Courts of this State to keep a fair and regular file and entry of the same, to be laid before their several grand juries whenever called for.—Approved Dec. 18, 1820. Vol. IV. 201.

26. Sec. I. From and after the 25th day of December, 1820, that it shall be the duty of all clerks of the inferior courts of any county within this State, to give a receipt or receipts for any sum or sums of money by them received of and from any officer, or other person whatsoever, for county purposes, or for moneys on any account belonging to the county.

Clerks to give receipts.

All county funds to be paid to clerk of inferior court.

27. Sec. II. It shall be the duty of all county officers, or any other person or persons who may receive any sum or sums of money arising from the sale or sales of estrays (or other means, when such money belongs to any county), shall pay the same over to the clerk of the inferior court of such county,* and shall take a receipt or receipts from the clerk of the inferior court of the several and respective counties, which receipt, the officer or other person paying the money is hereby directed to demand, and the said clerk required to give; and the officer or person paying the money and taking the receipt or receipts, shall return the same to the clerk of the superior court of the county where the money was paid, within twenty days from the payment of the same.

His receipt to be returned to superior court.

The clerks shall file and enter them for G. Jury.

28. Sec. III. It shall be the duty of the clerks of the superior courts within this State, to receive and keep a regular and fair file in office, and entry in a book, to be kept by them for that purpose, all such receipts by them received, to be laid before their several grand juries whenever called for by said grand juries; any law or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

His fees.

29. Sec. IV. For each receipt received, filed, and entered upon such book, the clerk of the superior court of any county who may receive the same, shall receive the sum of twelve and one-half cents out of the county funds of such county where such receipt may be filed and entered in said book, and shall be allowed the same on presenting a statement of his account to the inferior court; and when passed by such court the same shall be entered in the books of account kept by the clerk of the inferior court.

Penalty from $100 to $500.

30. Sec. V. For each and every neglect or violation of the foregoing act, the party neglecting or violating the same shall upon conviction be fined in a sum of not less than one hundred dollars, nor more than five hundred dollars.

An Act to establish an office for recording the births of the citizens of this State, in each county of the said State.—Approved Dec. 19th, 1823. Vol. IV. 113.

Whereas, much inconvenience has been experienced in this State from the difficulty of obtaining testimony of the ages of persons interested in questions of rights before our courts; and whereas, embarrassing difficulties frequently impede the correct administration of justice on this subject; for remedy whereof,

Births to be registered.

31. Be it enacted, That from and immediately after the passing of this act, it shall be the duty of the clerks of the courts of ordinary, in each county respectively, to enter and register in a book, to be kept for that purpose, the names of all persons who may report themselves to him, or who may be reported by their parents or guardians, as well as all those who may be hereafter born within the said county, and who may be reported as aforesaid, upon due proof being made by affidavit or oath to the said clerk of the said birth; and that the said clerk shall be entitled to take and receive for each registry which he shall be called on to make, the sum of twenty-five cents.

Clerk's fee.

Right of the parent, guardian, &c.

32. Sec. II. The parents or guardians of children now in life, or who may be hereafter born, may, upon application to the clerk of the court of ordinary aforesaid, and upon payment of the aforesaid sum to the said clerk, require him to enter the name of the said child, with the time and place of his or her birth.

* Or County Treasurer, see Sec. 45, &c.

33. Sec. III. The said clerk shall forfeit and pay the sum of five dollars for each and every refusal to enter the said births as aforesaid, upon such application as aforesaid being made. $5 penalty on the clerk for refusal.

34. Sec. IV. The said entry so as aforesaid made, shall be received and held as evidence of the birth and age of such person or persons as it purports to represent, in any court of law or equity in this State, by the production either of the original book of entry, or of the certificate of the same, under the hand and seal of the said clerk ; and for which certificate the said clerk shall receive twenty-five cents. Such registry evidence in any court in this State.

An Act to carry into effect the sixth section of the fourth article of the Constitution.—Approved 20th Dec. 1823. Vol. IV. 296.

35. No collector, sheriff, coroner, clerk of the superior court, clerk of the inferior court, or any other person who is or may be a holder of public moneys, and elected to any office, shall be commissioned by the governor, or be qualified by any judge, justice of the inferior court, or justice of the peace, until he shall produce to his excellency the governor, and also the judge or justice of the inferior court, or justice of the peace before whom he appears to be qualified, a certificate from the treasurer of the State, countersigned by the comptroller-general, certifying that he has accounted for and paid into the treasury all sums for which he is accountable and liable ; which certificate shall in each and every case accompany the dedimus potestatem. No holder of public moneys to be commissioned to any office while in default.

And whereas, various persons are holders of public moneys, where no evidence exists in the treasurer's or comptroller's office of such fact ;

36. Sec. II. In addition to the oath of office, the person elect shall swear that he is not the holder of any public moneys unaccounted for. Oath on this point.

37. Sec. III. All collectors and other officers hereafter elected shall apply for and obtain their commissions and certificates, and qualify, within the time and in the manner heretofore pointed out by law, or their offices shall be considered as vacant, and shall be filled in such manner as is now prescribed by law ; and the person who has failed to obtain his commission and certificate aforesaid, within the time prescribed by law, shall not be considered as entitled to be a candidate for the office ; Provided, that this act shall not be construed to affect the election of any collector who may be in arrears for the amount of his insolvent list only, and who have not had an opportunity of having such list allowed from the failure of any court. Persons not applying for commissions, lose the office—and ineligible to the vacancy.

An Act to amend and explain an act, entitled an Act to vest the appointment of commissioners of academies, vendue masters, notaries public, and lumber measurers, in certain persons therein mentioned, passed the 18th December, 1816.—Approved Dec. 22d, 1823. Vol. IV. 14.

38. From and after the passing of this act, the inferior courts, corporations, and commissioners, respectively, as mentioned in the above recited act, shall have the exclusive power of appointing any number of the officers therein mentioned, that they may deem expedient in their respective counties and towns where the number is not defined or limited by law. And also the exclusive power of filling all vacancies which may occur among such of said officers whose numbers are limited by law. County and town authorities to make appointments and fill vacancies.

Horses, mules, &c. shall be brought after 12 months to the clerk, who shall sell them for ready money subject to county purposes.

Penalty on the taker up for failure.

No owner appearing, the estrays to be sold.

The money subject to county purposes.

Unless claimed within two years.

Justice's fees.

Taker up may put the estray to labor, or may receive other compensation for his keeping.

And be compensated for his trouble.

required to bring to the court-house in the county wherein he resides, and deliver to the clerk of the Inferior court of said county, every estrayed horse, mare, colt, filly, ass, or mule, on the first sheriff's sale day that shall happen after the expiration of twelve months from the time of entering such estray as aforesaid with the justice; and it shall be the duty of the clerk to proceed to sell such estray or estrays as aforesaid, on the day aforesaid, between the usual hours, for ready money, to the highest bidder, which money shall in the hands of the said clerk be subject to the order of the Inferior court, for county purposes, after defraying the charges or fees hereinafter directed. And every taker up who shall neglect or refuse to comply with these requisitions, shall be liable for double the amount of the appraisement, to be collected by execution under the hand and seal of the presiding justice of the Inferior court; unless sufficient cause to the contrary be shown the court at the next term thereafter; and the said forfeiture when collected shall be applied to the use of the county, after deducting the legal fees.

9. Sec. VII. In case any person shall take up as aforesaid any neat cattle, sheep, goats, or hogs, and no person or persons shall appear and make satisfactory proof within three months,* that the said estrays are his or their property, the justice having given twenty days' notice by advertisement in two of the most public places in the captain's district wherein he resides, shall proceed to sell the said estrays† by his constable, upon one of his court days, between the usual hours, for ready money, to the highest bidder, and it shall be the duty of the justices in the several counties, and they are hereby required to pay to the clerk of the Inferior court in their respective counties, at each term of said court, all moneys in their hands that have arisen from the sales of estrays as aforesaid, deducting five per centum for commissions, and such other charges as are allowed by law, and all moneys so paid shall be subject to the order of the Inferior court for county purposes.

10. Sec. VIII. If any person or persons shall, within the term of two years from the time of such sale, prove to the satisfaction of the court, that the property so sold was his or their own, or that of his or their employers, (as the case may be,) in that case the court shall, after deducting the fees and charges hereinafter described, pay the balance of the money arising from such sales to the claimant of such property.

11. Sec. IX. The justice for his services as above, shall receive from the taker up, at the time such estray or estrays shall be brought before him, or description or valuation thereof presented to him as above, the sum of seventy-five cents for each horse, mare, colt, filly, ass, or mule, and the sum of six and one-fourth cents for each head of neat cattle, sheep, goats, or hogs.

12. Sec. X. The taker up of such estrays shall, as a compensation for maintaining and keeping of the same, put them to immediate labor, if capable of service, and if incapable, or he should prefer it, receive from the owner if claimed, or from the court if sold, a reasonable satisfaction, to be adjudged by the clerk and a justice of the peace for the county, according to the circumstances of the case:—Provided nevertheless, that in case of putting such estray to labor, he shall be bound to produce such estray to the owner if claimed, or to the clerk if sold, (casualties excepted,) in as good condition as when appraised.

13. Sec. XI. Upon the delivery of any such estray to the legal owner, or in the case of sale, upon the sale thereof, the taker up shall receive from the owner or clerk, as the case may be, the sum of one dollar for each horse, mare, colt, filly, ass, mule, or ox, in addition to the sum by him paid to the justice, and the sum of twelve and a half cents for each head of neat cattle, sheep, goats, or hogs, in addition to the sums above mentioned for the keeping and maintenance of the same.*

* Six months, by act of 1823. See Sec. 24.

† But as to neat cattle, see Sec. 18.

14. Sec. XII. The clerk of the said court shall, for the receiving, entering, and publishing every certificate as above directed, receive the sum of fifty cents, to be paid by the owner upon claiming the property, or deducted out of the money arising from such property in case of sale, and the further sum of five per centum upon the balance of such money, as a compensation for selling, collecting, and paying.* Clerk's fees.

15. Sec. XIII. It shall be the duty of the clerk of said court, to render to the said Inferior court, at every term thereof, a true statement of all moneys arising from the sales of estrays, as aforesaid, accompanied with the proper vouchers, and exhibit a correct statement as aforesaid, to the grand jury of the county at every fall term of the Superior court, and oftener if required. Clerk must account with the inf. court and G. Jury for the moneys arising from the sale of estrays.

16. Sec. XIV. Any person taking up any estray as aforesaid, and failing or neglecting to comply with, and fulfil the true intent and meaning of this act, and being thereof duly convicted before the Inferior court, shall for every such offence, forfeit and pay a sum equal to double the value of such estray, so neglected to be tolled and advertised as aforesaid, to be recovered by suit or action at law, the informer to be the plaintiff in the action; one half of the sum so recovered to the use of the informer, the other half to the use of the county. Delinquent takers up, to forfeit double the amount of the estray.

17. Sec. XV. If any justice or clerk shall refuse or neglect to perform the duties required by this act, each justice or clerk neglecting or refusing, shall for every such neglect or refusal forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, one moiety to be paid to the party informing, and the other moiety to the use of the county where such offence shall be committed, to be recovered by action of debt, in any court having cognizance of the same, and shall moreover be liable to an action of damages to the party injured, and upon conviction pay double costs. Penalty on the justices and clerks for failure of duty.

Sec. XVI. [Directing the clerks of the Superior courts to pay and deliver to the clerks of the Inferior courts the money and books then in their hands.—Temporary]

Sec. XVII. [Repeals all laws on the subject, repugnant to this.]

An Act to amend the 7th and 11th sections of the foregoing act.—
Approved December 7, 1803. Vol. II. 123.

18. Sec. I. From and after the passing of this act, no neat cattle taken up as estrays, shall be sold under twelve months† from the time of being tolled: and it shall be the duty of the clerks of the Inferior courts, previous to the advertisement and sale of such estrays by the justice before whom they may have been tolled, to advertise at the door of the court-house all such estrays, on the first day of every succeeding term of the superior and inferior courts, which may happen in the county within the said term of twelve months. No neat cattle to be sold under twelve months.

19. Sec. II. The respective clerks of the inferior courts shall be entitled to receive as full compensation for each estray so advertised, twenty-five cents; and the persons taking up such estrays, shall be Fees of the clerk.
Of the taker up.

* See Sec. 19.

† May be sold in six months. See Sec. 2A.

allowed a reasonable compensation for their trouble, to be adjudged by the justices of the district where such estray may be tolled, or any two justices of the county, any thing contained in the before-recited act, to the contrary thereof notwithstanding.

Justice's fees. Sec. III. The justice for his services, exclusive of commissions, shall receive the sum of twenty-five cents.

An Act to alter and amend the several Estray Laws now in force in this State.—Approved December 4, 1816. Vol. III. 280.

Horses, mules, &c. shall be advertised in certain newspapers by the clerk,

20. Sec. I. From and after the first day of March next, it shall be the duty of the clerks of the Inferior courts of this State respectively, within ten days after they or either of them may have received from any justice of the peace (of the county for which he is the clerk), before whom any estray horse, mare, colt, gelding, filly, ass, or mule, may have been posted, in conformity with the estray law now in force in this State, a description of such estrayed horse, mare, colt, gelding, filly, ass, or mule, to advertise such estray or estrays according to the description thereof, which he may have received as aforesaid, in the Georgia Journal, Augusta Chronicle, or Savannah Republican,* and the proprietors of said papers shall receive as compensation for the publication of each such estray, the sum of one dollar and fifty cents.

who shall be reimbursed.

21. Sec. II. The said clerks respectively, shall be authorized to pay out of the moneys arising from the sales of estrays, the expense incurred for such advertisement or advertisements, unless it should so happen that the owner, or owners of such estray or estrays, may prove them or either of them away previous to sale—then and in that case, it shall be the duty of such clerk to demand and receive of the owner or owners, of such estray or estrays, the full amount of the expenses incurred for such advertisement or advertisements, previous to the delivery of such estray or estrays.

Clerk's fee for sending the advertisement.

22. Sec. III. The clerks of the Inferior courts aforesaid, shall be entitled to the sum of fifty cents for transmitting the description of said estrays, from the owners if proven away, or from the proceeds of the sale of such estray, if sold.

Clerks shall pay any expense of advertising, and shall keep a book of expenditures.

23. Sec. IV. In all cases where expenses have been incurred, arising under this act, by advertising such estray or estrays, it shall be the duty of the said clerks respectively, to remunerate such expense out of the money arising from the sale of such estrays; and it shall be the duty of all such clerks to keep a fair and regular book of entry of all such expenditures, to exhibit to the Inferior courts of their counties respectively, upon application.

An Act to amend the Estray Laws of this State, so far as relates to the time of advertising and lotting horned cattle, sheep, goats, or hogs, before they are sold.—Approved Dec. 20, 1823. Vol. IV. 187.

Horned cattle, sheep, goats, and hogs, may be sold in six months.

24. From and after the passage of this act, all horned cattle, sheep, goats, and hogs, that may be tolled in conformity with the estray laws now in force in this State, may be sold at the expiration of six months from the time they are tolled; any law to the contrary notwithstanding.

* Various alterations have been subsequently made as to the advertisements from particular counties.

An Act to compel the Clerks of the Inferior Courts of the different counties in this State to claim estrays when levied on by execution.—
Approved Dec. 26, 1831. Pam. 86.

25. Whereas, there is a practice prevailing in many of the counties in this State, with plaintiffs in execution, to hunt out estrayed property, and have their executions levied on the same; and, whereas, there is no provision by law for any person to claim said property for the benefit of the county where the same may occur—for remedy whereof

Sec. I. Be it enacted, That from and immediately after the passage of this act, it shall be the duty of the justices of the peace and constable or constables, of each captain's district in every county in this State, to notify the clerk of the Inferior court of the county wherein they reside, whenever it comes within their knowledge, or when they have any reason to believe, that any execution has been levied on estrayed property. Notice to be given to clerk of inf. court of levies on estrays.

26. Sec. II. In all cases where the clerks of the Inferior courts of the different counties in this State, shall receive the information aforesaid, and also, where the fact may come within their own knowledge, for them to hand a written notice to the constable or sheriff, as the case may be, (who may have levied on any estrayed property,) stating that he claims the said property for the benefit of the county as an estray; which said notice shall be sufficient to compel the constable or sheriff, as the case may be, to return the said fi fa or fi fas, and notice, to the next justice's court of the district wherein the levy may have been made, if the said fi fas issued from a justice's court, or if the same issued from an Inferior or Superior court, then and in that event to the next Inferior or Superior court, of the county wherein the levy may have been made. Clerk shall claim them for the county. Claim shall be returned.

27. Sec. III. When any notice with the execution as aforesaid shall be returned to any of the courts aforesaid, it shall be the duty of the court, to cause an issue to be made up, between the said clerk of the Inferior court and the plaintiff in execution, which shall be tried in the same manner as all other claim cases, the burden of proof resting on the plaintiff in execution. Issue to be made up.

28. Sec. IV. In all cases where the issue shall be determined against the clerk, the county shall pay the cost. Costs.

EVIDENCE.

An Act for pointing out the method of compelling persons residing in this State, to give evidence in causes pending in another.—Approved Dec. 16, 1794. Vol. I. 212.

Whereas much inconvenience has arisen to individuals from no compulsory process having been adopted in the different States, to oblige the citizens or residents thereof, to give evidence in suits pending in other States; for remedy whereof, as far as it might be occasioned by persons residing within the State of Georgia, Preamble.

1. Sec. I. Be it enacted, That if the testimony of any persons residing within the said State shall be required in any suit pending in any court of record in either of the United States, and he, she, or they shall refuse to appear before commissioners appointed to take his or her examination, under a commission properly issued and authenticated agreeably to the laws and rules of the courts of the State from which it shall be sent, or appearing, shall refuse to answer to such legal interrogatories as shall be annexed to the said commission, and exhibited to him, her, or them, it shall be lawful for either of the said commissioners, or the party upon whose application the said commission was issued, to apply to any judge of the superior courts of this State, or justice of the inferior court of the county within which such person whose testimony is required may reside, and upon producing before him such commission, and his being satisfied of its regularity, and on affidavit being made of such refusal, he shall issue a subpoena in the usual form, directed to such person or persons as aforesaid, requiring him, her, or them, to be and appear before the said commissioners at a certain time and place, to answer to such legal interrogatories as may be annexed to the said commission, and then exhibited to him: Provided, that he shall not be required to attend such examination, and give answer to the said interrogatories, within less than two days after the service of the said subpoena, neither shall he be obliged to attend for such examination out of the county where he resides, nor more than ten miles from the place of his residence; and upon due service of the said subpoena upon such person or persons, the same shall be returned to the commissioners on or before the time appointed for the examination and the service of such subpoena, proven by the return of the proper officer; and on the refusal or neglect of such person or persons to comply with its mandate, endorsed on or annexed to the said subpoena, and returned to the superior or inferior court, as the case may require, of the county in which such person or persons reside, he, she, or they shall be subject for such neglect or refusal to all the pains and penalties to which such person or persons would have been subject for a similar default in any cases pending in the courts of this State.

Persons residing in this State compelled to give testimony in cases pending in other States.

Proviso.

Or on proof of default,

subject to be punished as for a contempt.

Entitled to the fees of witnesses.

2. Sec. II. The person or persons whose evidence shall be required as aforesaid, shall, if they or any of them shall require the same, be entitled to the same fees or pay as persons summoned to give evidence in the superior or inferior courts of this State.

An Act supplementary to the judiciary act.—Approved Nov. 26, 1802.
Vol. II. 56.

Document law. No written evidence of title to be withheld from the jury, unless barred by stat. lim.

3. The judges of the superior courts, shall not, in any case whatever, withhold any grant, deed, or other document from the jury under which any party in a cause may claim title, except such evidence of title as may be barred by the act of limitation.

An Act to legalize and make valid certain acts of sheriffs and clerks, and to regulate the admission of evidence in the several courts of law and equity in this State, so far as relates to certain papers.—Approved Dec. 15, 1810. Vol. II. 643.

Preamble.

Whereas considerable doubts have arisen in the courts of this State, relative to the official returns of sheriffs and deputy sheriffs, whose bonds and oaths have not been entered on the minutes of the court before which such officers may have qualified,

And whereas doubts have also arisen in said courts as to the propriety of admitting deeds to go as evidence before a jury, which a deputy clerk may have certified as to the enrolment; for remedy whereof,

4. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That the official returns of all sheriffs and deputy sheriffs, shall be, and the same are hereby legalized and made valid to all intents and purposes, as if made by a sheriff or deputy, who had been qualified according to law. Sheriffs. Their official acts made valid.

5. Sec. II. All deeds, mortgages, conveyances, and other writings enrolled by any deputy clerk in the proper court, and certified by him as such, the same shall be received and admitted as evidence in any court of this State, in like manner as if the same had been recorded by the chief clerk. Acts of deputy clerks made valid.

6. Sec. III. All grants, copy-grants, testimonials, or any other document or paper whatsoever, heretofore issued out of the secretary of state's office, purporting to be signed by a deputy secretary of state, shall be held and taken as legal, provided the said paper shall be ascertained to be genuine; Provided nothing contained in this act shall be so construed as to admit any grant obtained on the south side of the Oconee and Appalachian rivers, previous to the late land lotteries as evidence in any court within this State. Deputy secretary of State. His acts to be valid. Proviso.

7. Sec. IV. In all cases brought by any endorsee or endorsees, assignee or assignees, on any bill, bond, or note, before any court of law and equity in this State, the assignment or endorsement, without regard to the form thereof, shall be sufficient evidence of the transfer thereof, and the said bond, bill, or note, shall be admitted as evidence, without the necessity of proving the handwriting of the assignor or assignors, endorser or endorsers; any law, usage, or custom to the contrary thereof notwithstanding. Endorsements need not be proved.

An Act to legalize and make valid two manuscript books of the old records of the executive department.—Approved December 16, 1811. Vol. III. 289.

8. From and after the passing of this act, the two manuscript books A. and B. in the executive department, containing the records of said department from the year 1777, to the year 1784 inclusive, that have been transcribed in pursuance of a resolution of the tenth day of December last past be, and the same are hereby legalized and made valid, and shall henceforth become a part of the records of said department. [Certain copies of old plats added to the surveyor general's office, see Land, Sec. 88.] Two books in the executive department made valid.

An Act to alter and amend the XXIII^d section of the judiciary law of this State, passed February 16, 1799.—This act approved Dec. 16, 1811. Vol. III. 380.

Whereas the judiciary law of this State does not fully embrace the mode necessary to procure testimony by interrogatories, as justice in its fullest extent requires;

9. Be it enacted, &c. That after the passing of this act, it shall and may be lawful where any witness resides out of the State or out of the county, or where any witness resides within the same, and being a seaman, patroon of a boat, stage driver, mail carrier, aged or infirm person, and in all other cases where the evidence of any witness cannot be duly obtained in which his or her testimony may be required in any case, it shall be lawful for either party on giving at least ten days' notice to the adverse party, or his, her or their attorney, accompanied with a copy of the interrogatories intended to be exhibited, to obtain Interrogatories may be exhibited to witnesses in certain situations. Persons residing out of the State or county, seamen, patroons, stage drivers, mail carriers, &c.

firm persons.
All other cases where,
&c.

a commission from the clerk of the court in which the same may be required, directed to certain commissioners, to examine all and every such witness or witnesses, on such interrogatories as the parties may exhibit, and such examination shall be read on the trial, on the motion of either party, any rule, order, or law to the contrary notwithstanding.

An Act to amend and explain an act, entitled—[For the title see Sec. 4.]—This act approved Dec. 10, 1812. Vol. III. 292.

Whereas the before-recited act does not sufficiently provide for all the cases for which it was intended; and whereas, there is of record in this State, a number of deeds of conveyance which are only attested by one witness, and who has subscribed the same as a justice of the peace, and also a great number which have been proven before a clerk of the superior court, who has subscribed himself as justice ex officio, or as clerk in his official capacity in the recess of the court. And whereas, doubts have been entertained as to the propriety of admitting such deeds as evidence in the several courts of law and equity in this State;

Deeds attested by one witness or by a clerk made valid.

10. Be it enacted, &c. That where any deed of conveyance has been attested by one justice of the peace or a clerk of the superior court, and recorded in the time prescribed by law, the same shall be admitted as evidence in any of the courts of law or equity in this State, and as such submitted to the jury, any law, usage, or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

An Act to admit grand jurors to give evidence.—Approved Dec. 10, 1812. Vol. III. 397.

Whereas doubts do exist as to the propriety of admitting grand jurors to give evidence against persons who may have been sworn before them, when in session as a grand jury, on account of that part of the oath which requires them to keep secret the State's counsel, their own, and their fellows', which secrecy ought not to exist longer than the term, or after the bill is publicly read in court; for remedy whereof,

Grand jurors are competent witnesses.

11. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That all grand jurors shall be competent witnesses in any court of record in this State where it may be necessary, on account of any thing that may be given in evidence before them, as a body of grand jurors; any law to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. II. [Oath altered accordingly. See Judiciary, Sec. 89.]

An Act to legalize and make valid the acts and proceedings of sheriffs and clerks in this State in certain cases therein expressed.—Approved Dec. 6, 1813. Vol. III. 145.

Whereas the XLVIth section of the judiciary law of this State, passed in the year 1799, requires that before any sheriff shall enter upon the duties of his appointment and being commissioned by the governor, he shall be bound for the faithful performance of his duty by himself and deputies before any of the said judges, to the governor of the State for the time being, and to his successors in office, jointly and severally, with two good and sufficient securities, inhabitants and freeholders of the county, to be approved of by the justices of the inferior court, or any three of them, in the sum of twenty thousand dollars.

And whereas a custom has heretofore prevailed with the executive department of this State in issuing the dedimus potestatem to qualify the sheriff, to direct the same only to two or more justices of the inferior courts of the several counties, in consequence of which the bond in many cases given by the sheriffs and their securities do not appear to have been attested by, or approved by more than two justices of the inferior courts; and as doubts and difficulties may, and probably will at some future day, arise respecting the legality of the acts and proceedings of sheriffs, when their bonds do not appear to have been approved by more than two justices as aforesaid, and the proceedings of the courts in the several counties may be called into question; for remedy whereof,

12. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That in all cases where persons have been elected sheriffs in the several counties in this State, and have been commissioned by the governor, taken the oath of office and have given bond and security which has been approved by any one or more of the justices of the inferior courts in the county in which such person shall have been elected and commissioned, and the person so commissioned and qualified has acted as sheriff, that then and in that case, all official acts done and performed by him or his deputies, and all judicial proceedings in the courts in the several counties during the time such person acted as sheriff shall be taken, held, and deemed as legal and valid as if the aforesaid act of 1799 had been fully complied with in taking the bond and otherwise qualifying the sheriffs aforesaid; any law, usage, or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

Certain informalities in sheriffs' qualifications cured, and their acts made valid.

And whereas some doubts exist with regard to the legality of the official acts of the several clerks and sheriffs of the different counties in this State, which have been transacted since the 18th day of October last;

13. Sec. II. Be it therefore enacted, That all official acts of any and all sheriffs and clerks in this State since the aforesaid 18th day of October last, shall be deemed, held, and considered as legal and valid in law, as if such doubts had not, or did not exist; and they shall continue to act in their several official capacities until their successors are elected, commissioned and qualified.

Acts of sheriffs and clerks from Oct. 18, 1813, until their successors were qualified, made valid.

An Act to legalize a certain description of grants which have heretofore or may hereafter be issued by the proper authority in this State.
—Approved Dec. 6, 1813. Vol. III. 408.

Whereas it has so happened in the course of Divine providence, that a number of persons after having performed valuable services to the State, and were entitled to bounties of lands for their services, have departed this life before grants were issued for the same; and whereas several persons since drawing lands in the late land lottery, have died before the issuing of grants for the land; and whereas a number of grants have been issued by the governor of this State, to persons after death, and as doubts exist as to the validity of such grants;

14. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That all grants which have or may be issued by the governor of this State to persons who have been or may be dead before the issuing or signing of the same, shall be deemed, held, and considered as valid and legal in law, as if the said grantee or grantees had been alive at the time of the issuing and signing of said grant or grants, and as such submitted to the jury; any law, usage, or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

Grants may issue after the grantee is dead, or has intermarried.

15. Sec. II. All grants which have been or may be issued by the governor of this State to females who have intermarried, or may hereafter intermarry previous to the issuing and signing of the same, shall be deemed, held, and considered as valid and legal in law, as if the said grantee or grantees had remained unmarried at the time of issuing and signing said grant or grants, and as such submitted to the jury, any law to the contrary notwithstanding;* Provided, nothing in this act contained, shall be so construed as to authorise the admission of any grant or grants in courts issued for lands on the south side of the Oconee river prior to the late land lotteries.

An Act to legalize the proceedings of the superior and inferior courts of the respective counties of this State, and to render valid the acts of the public officers of the same.—Approved Dec. 18, 1816. Vol. III. 154.

Not having taken the oath to the constitution not to invalidate any official acts heretofore.

16. Sec. I. The judicial proceedings of the superior and inferior courts, of the several counties in this State, as well as the acts of the sheriffs, clerks, and other public officers of the said several courts, shall be and they are hereby declared to be efficient, legal, valid, and binding; notwithstanding any judge of the said superior courts, justice or justices of the inferior courts, sheriff or sheriffs, clerk or clerks of any of the said several counties, hath or have not taken and subscribed the oath directed to be taken and subscribed in the act, entitled an act to compel all officers, civil and military within this State, to take and subscribe an oath to support the constitution thereof, passed the 16th day of February, 1799.†

This omission is not to invalidate any of their future acts.

17. Sec. II. This act shall extend to, and have the effect of legalizing and rendering valid all past proceedings and acts of said courts and officers, as well as all other proceedings and acts of said courts and officers, which may take place, and be had, from and after the passing of this act.

An Act to provide for the taking and recording of the evidence given in on all trials for capital offences, and also in all other cases where the party convicted may be sentenced to confinement in the penitentiary for one or more years.—Approved Dec. 9, 1819. Vol. III. 299.

Evidence in certain criminal cases to be taken down, and in case of conviction, shall be recorded,

18. Sec. I. From and after the passage of this act, it shall be the duty of the judges of the superior courts, presiding in any of the cases aforesaid, to take, or cause to be taken down in writing, a memorandum of the testimony of all witnesses who may testify in said cases, which said memorandum taken as aforesaid, in the event of conviction and sentence of the party charged, shall be approved by the court, and ordered to be recorded.

and be sent with petitions for pardon or reprieve.

19. Sec. II. In all cases of application for pardon or reprieve, a certified copy of such evidence shall accompany such application.

* As to grants without plats, and plats not recorded, see Land, Sec. 89, 90. And grants signed by Simon Whitaker, or by Thomas H. Crawford, Evidence, Sec. 23.

† The 14th section of this act repeals the law of 1799; and the 11th supplies its place with another of nearly a similar import [see County Officers, Sec. 17.] The several acts healing omissions and giving further time to take the oath under the old law [Vol. I. 378, 379. Vol. II. 673. Vol. III. 153.] being all superseded by this and the next section, are of course omitted.

An Act to regulate the admission of evidence in certain cases in the several courts of law and equity in this State, and to provide for the recording of conveyances of personal property.—Approved Dec. 21, 1819. Vol. III. 300.

20. Sec. I. All laws and resolutions, as published by authority, shall be held, deemed, and considered public laws and resolutions; and the several courts of law and equity of this State, shall take notice thereof as such, any law, usage, or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

All laws and resolutions, published by authority, shall be public laws, so far as to be noticed by the courts.

21. Sec. II. The certificate or attestation of any public officer, either of the State, or of any county thereof, shall give sufficient validity or authenticity to any copy or transcript of any record, document, or paper of file, in the respective offices under their control or management, or to which they may be lawfully attached, to admit the same as evidence, before any court of law or equity in this State: Provided nevertheless, that nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to prevent any of the judges of the superior or inferior courts to require the original, or that it be accounted for.*

The attestation of any officer in the State to the copy of any paper of record, or of file, shall make it evidence: Provided the original is accounted for.

22. Sec. III. All conveyances of personal property duly executed, and bearing date after the passage of this act, may be recorded, and shall be admitted as evidence, under the same rules and regulations as govern in cases of real property.

Conveyances of personal property may be recorded.

An Act to regulate the mode of taking testimony by commission and de bene esse within this State; and to alter and amend the several laws relating thereto.—Approved 20th Dec. 1823. Vol. IV. 212.

24. The act entitled "An Act the more effectually to ensure the testimony of witnesses going beyond seas, or removing without the jurisdiction of the State, and aged and infirm persons," passed the 8th day of December, 1806, be, and the same is hereby re-enacted, and declared to be operative and effectual in all cases pending, or which may be brought in the several courts of this State.

The act of 1806 declared to be in full force.

25. Sec. II. In all cases which are or shall be pending in any of the courts of this State, when any one person is the only witness to any material fact in any case, it shall and may be lawful to examine such witness de bene esse, on complying with the provisions of the aforesaid act, in so far as the same are applicable to such case; and that the examination so taken shall be read in evidence in such cause, on the terms and under the restrictions specified in the said act.

When but one witness to any material fact, he may be examined de bene esse.

Sec. III. All laws and parts of laws militating against this act are hereby repealed.

Repealing clause.

An Act amendatory of an act, assented to the 21st Dec. 1820,† authorizing the certificates and acts of notaries public, to be received in evidence in certain cases.—This act approved Dec. 26, 1836. Pam. 170.

26. Sec. I. From and after the passage of this act, the certificates,

* The act of 1830, on the same subject, (see Sec. 39,) provides for the same object in words somewhat different. As it may perhaps be sometimes questioned whether that act supercedes this, or to what precise extent, they are both presented as in other cases, for the convenience of the bench and bar.

† Not 1820, but 1822, see Vol. IV. 209. This act is a re-enactment of that, omitting the words in the former, which limit its application to cases "where such certificates, protests or other acts are required by law," and superadding in this, the proviso which allows the court to grant further time for filing the notarial certificate.

Certificates, protests, and other acts of public notaries made evidence.

protests, and other acts of notaries public, under the hand and seal of such notary, in relation to the non-acceptance of any bill of exchange, draft, or other order, made for the payment of money, or other thing, and also in relation to the non-payment of any bill of exchange, draft, order, bond or note, for the payment of money, or other thing, shall be deemed and received by the several courts of law and equity in this State, as sufficient prima facie or presumptive evidence of the facts therein stated, without any other, or further proof; Provided always, that nothing in this act, shall prevent either party, plaintiff or defendant, from having the benefit of the testimony of such notary, should they deem it necessary: and provided also, that the party relying on such notarial act, shall, at the first term, file in the court, either a copy, or the original of such protest or other acts.—And provided further, that whenever a plaintiff, relying upon such notarial act, shall fail to file the same as is herein provided, the court may grant such further time as it shall deem to be reasonable, in which it must be filed in order to be operative as evidence.

Sec. II. [Repeals all conflicting acts.]

An Act, the more effectually to ensure the testimony of witnesses going beyond seas, or removing without the jurisdiction of the State, and aged and infirm persons.—Approved December 8, 1806. Vol. II. 323.

Preamble.

26. Whereas no provision is made by the laws of this State for taking the examination of witnesses going beyond seas, or removing without the jurisdiction of this State, or who from infirmity may be unable to attend the court, in suits or actions, there pending, by which serious injuries result to the citizens thereof,

Witnesses going beyond seas, or the limits of the State, or who are infirm, to be examined by order of the court.

27. Be it enacted, That in case either plaintiff or defendant, may deem any witness or witnesses material, on any cause or causes pending in any of the courts of law in this State, and who are going beyond seas, removing without the jurisdiction of the State aforesaid, or from age or other bodily infirmity, may be unable, personally to attend the said court, application by petition to the judge of the superior court, if the action is there pending, or in his absence to one, or more justices of the inferior court, stating the grounds for such application, to which petition the party so applying shall annex an affidavit, stating the materiality of the witness or witnesses, that he, she, or they, are removing without the jurisdiction of the State aforesaid, or going beyond seas, or from age, or bodily infirmity, are unable to attend court; and that he cannot with safety proceed to trial without such testimony. And it shall be the duty of the judge, justice or justices to grant the prayer of the petitioner, and fix a day on which he or they will attend to receive and take the examination of such witness or witnesses, and when he or they shall have so taken and received the testimony aforesaid, the same shall be sealed up, and directed to the clerk of that court, in which the suit or action may be then pending:—Provided always, the adverse party have at least three days' notice, for every twenty miles, he, she, or they may reside from the place of taking such examination.—And provided also, That in case the person or persons, whose testimony shall have been taken, return or be able to attend such court, that then and in that case such written testimony shall not be received or read.

In what manner to be taken.

Sealed up and directed to the clerk. The adverse party to have 3 days' notice for every 20 miles. Evidence not to be used if the witness can attend the court personally.

An Act authorizing all grants under the signature of Simon Whitaker, as secretary of state, to be held, read, and received as evidence in any court of justice in this State; and also the acts of Thomas H. Crawford, deputy secretary, or for Abner Hammond, secretary of state.—Approved 19th Dec. 1823. Vol. IV. 251.

28. From and immediately after the passage of this act, that all grants held by any person or persons, which grant was registered and signed under the signature of Simon Whitaker, as secretary of state, and also all grants signed by Thomas H. Crawford, as deputy secretary, or Thomas H. Crawford for Abner Hammond, secretary of state, shall be received as evidence in any court of justice in this State; any law to the contrary notwithstanding.

Grants signed by S. Whitaker, and by T. H. Crawford for A. Hammond, evidence.

An Act to authorize the admission of certain documents therein mentioned, as evidence in the several courts of this State.—Approved 20th Dec. 1823. Vol. IV. 213.

29. From and after the passing of this act, all deeds of conveyance, mortgages, and other instruments of writing heretofore proved by a subscribing witness or witnesses to the same, before any judge of the superior court, assistant justice, justice of the inferior court, or justice of the peace, shall, if the witness or witnesses proving the same has not subscribed his, her, or their name or names to the probate or affidavit made before such judge of the superior court, assistant justice, justices of the inferior court, or justice of the peace, of the execution of the deed of conveyance, mortgage, or other instrument of writing, and which shall have been duly recorded, be held, deemed, and considered as legal and valid to all intents and purposes, and admitted in evidence in any court of law and equity in this State, as if the said probate and affidavit had been subscribed by the witness or witnesses proving the same; any law, custom, or usage to the contrary notwithstanding; Provided, that nothing in this act shall be construed to divest, or in any manner to affect any right which may have been vested or accrued by the passage of this act.

All instruments of writing heretofore proved and recorded, and the affidavits not signed by the witness, shall be evidence.

Provided.

An Act declaring certified copies of official bonds testimony in certain cases.—Approved 20th Dec. 1823. Vol. IV. 213.

30. In all causes now pending, or which may hereafter be instituted, in any of the courts of law or equity in this State against the principal and securities or either of them, on any official bond given by any executor, administrator, or guardian, or any other public officer of this State, it shall be lawful for the said courts to receive as evidence of the fact of the due execution of such bond, a certified copy thereof, made by the proper officer, when such bond is of file or recorded, which copy shall be sufficient testimony in the cause, unless the same shall be denied on oath.

Certified copies of bonds given by any public officer, shall be evidence, except denied under oath.

An Act to admit certain deeds to record, and to authorize the same, or copies thereof, to be read in evidence, and also the copies of certain other deeds.—Approved 23d Dec. 1826. Vol. IV. 217.

31. From and after the passing of this act, all deeds for lands which may have been recorded upon the lawful affidavits of two or more subscribing witnesses, or by being subscribed and witnessed by one or Deeds for lands recorded, though not within the time prescribed by law, evidence.

Copies may be read.

more witnesses and a notary public, judge of the superior court, justice of the inferior court, or justice of the peace, but not recorded within the time prescribed by the laws of this State, shall be admitted in evidence without further proof; and when the originals are lost or destroyed, and that being made judicially known to the court, copies of the same may be introduced and read in evidence on any trial before any court of law or equity in this State.

Deeds not yet recorded,
may be recorded within 12 months.

32. Sec. II. All deeds executed and proved according to the laws of this State, but not yet recorded, may nevertheless be recorded within twelve months from the passage of this act, upon the usual proof [of] their execution; and when so recorded, the same, or copies thereof, may be read in evidence without further proof.*

Repealing
clause.

Sec. III. All laws and parts of laws militating against this act are hereby repealed.

An Act to provide a more easy and convenient mode of proving open accounts, so as to make them evidence in justices' courts.—Approved 26th Dec. 1827. Vol. IV. 221.

Preamble.

33. Whereas, the practice now pursued by the different justices' courts in this State, of requiring open accounts to be proven in open court in order to make them evidence, is found in many instances to be highly inconvenient; for remedy whereof,

Open accounts in suit in justice's court out of the county may be proven by affidavit.

Be it enacted, That from and immediately after the passage of this act, in any suit which may be instituted in a justice's court within this State, upon an open account against any party who may have removed without the jurisdictional limits of the county in which such account was contracted, or who may reside without the county in which the account was contracted, the said account may be proven by a written affidavit before any officer authorized to administer an oath; and when so proven, shall be received in evidence upon the trial of said suit, as though the same had been proven in open court; Provided, however, that if the defendant will make an affidavit in writing, denying the justice and fairness of the whole or any part of the said account, the said court shall not give judgment for so much thereof as may be so traversed or controverted, unless supported by other proof.

Proviso.

Repealing
clause.

Sec. II. All laws and parts of laws militating against this act are hereby repealed.

An Act to enable parties litigant in the superior and inferior courts of this State to compel the production of written testimony, when the same may be in the possession of persons not parties to the cause, and residing without the county where such cause is pending; and for other purposes.—Approved 19th Dec. 1829. Vol. IV. 226.

Preamble.

34. Whereas, parties litigant in the courts of this State frequently suffer great inconvenience, and sometimes gross injustice, by reason of the difficulty of procuring written testimony which may be necessary to the successful prosecution or defence of his cause, where the same happens to be in the possession of persons not parties to the cause, and residing without the county in which the cause is pending; for remedy whereof,

Subpoena
duces tecum may go, for papers in the hands of persons not parties living out of the county.

Be it enacted, That from and after the passing of this act, when any deed, bond, note, or other writing which it may be necessary to use as testimony in any cause which now is, or may be hereafter pending in any of the superior or inferior courts of this State, may be in the possession of any person not a party to said cause, and not resident within the county in which said cause is pending, the clerk of the court in which said cause is pending, shall, upon the application of the party or his attorney desirous of procuring such testimony, issue a subpoena duces tecum, directed to the person having such deed, bond, note, or other writing in his possession, and requiring him to be and appear at the next term of said court, and to bring with him into said court the paper desired to be used as testimony, which said subpoena duces tecum shall be served thirty days before the court to which it is made returnable, by a sheriff, constable, or some private person; and the return of the sheriff, constable, of such service, or the affidavit of such private person, shall be sufficient evidence that the subpoena was duly served.

* The operation of this Act extended to 20th Dec. 1835, see Sec. 42.

35. Sec. II. When a subpoena shall be issued and served in terms of the first section of this act, and the person whose attendance is hereby required shall fail to comply with the requisitions thereof, it shall be the duty of the court, on motion, to issue an attachment against such defaulting witness, returnable to the next term of said court, and shall fine such witness in a sum not exceeding three hundred dollars, unless he or she shall make a sufficient excuse for such failure, which shall be judged of by the court, but shall nevertheless be subject to the action of the person at whose suit such witness shall have been summoned, for any damage which he, she, or they may have sustained by reason of such failure; Provided nevertheless, that if the person so subpoenaed shall, within ten days after the service of such subpoena, deliver to the party at whose instance the subpoena was sued out, or his attorney, or file in the office of clerk of the court from which such subpoena issued, the paper, the production of which is required by such subpoena, or shall deliver to the said party or his attorney, or shall file in the said office, his affidavit that the said paper is not in his power, custody, possession, or control, nor was it at the time of serving said subpoena; then, and in that case, such delivery or filing of the paper so sought as aforesaid, or of such affidavit, shall be considered in full and complete compliance with the requisitions of such subpoena duces tecum.

Persons failing to attend on such subpoena, liable to attachment and fine.

And subject to action for damages.

Proviso.

Persons may file the instrument or send an affidavit, &c.

36. Sec. III. In any cause now pending, or which may hereafter be pending, in the superior or inferior courts of this State, where any party shall pursue the course hereinbefore pointed out, but who is unable thereby to procure such written instrument, such party shall be permitted to go into parol evidence of the contents of such written instrument.

Failing to procure the paper, may give evidence of contents.

Sec. IV. All laws and parts of laws militating against this act are hereby repealed.

Repealing clause.

An Act to point out and regulate the manner of taking the Testimony of Females, in certain Cases.—Approved Dec. 19, 1829. Vol. IV. 226.

37. From and after the passage of this act, when the testimony of any female shall or may be required in any of the Superior or Inferior courts which may be held in this State, criminal cases only excepted, it shall and may be lawful for either party, on giving at least ten days' notice to the adverse party, or his, her, or their attorney, accompanied with a copy of the interrogatories intended to be exhibited, to obtain a commission from the clerk of the court in which the same may be required, directed to certain commissioners, to examine all and every such witness or witnesses on such interrogatories as the parties may exhibit; and such examination shall be read at the trial on motion of either party.

Interrogatories may issue to take the testimony of females, criminal cases excepted.

Persons refusing to answer, to be proceeded against.

38. Sec. II. If any person as above recited shall refuse to appear before commissioners appointed to take her or their examination, or appearing, shall refuse to answer such legal interrogatories as shall be annexed to said commission, and exhibited to her or them, it shall be lawful for either of said commissioners, or the party upon whose application the said commission was issued, to proceed in conformity to the laws now in force pointing out the mode of proceeding in cases of failure or refusal to attend, or answer interrogatories in other cases.

Repealing clause.

Sec. III. All laws or parts of laws militating against the above-recited act are hereby repealed.

An Act, to amend an act, entitled an act, to regulate the admission of evidence, in certain cases, in the several Courts of law and equity in this State, and to provide for the recording of conveyances of personal property.—Approved Dec. 21, 1830. Pam. 121.

All attestations properly official, are evidence, provided the original is accounted for.

39. The certificate of any public officer, under his hand, and seal, of office, if one is attached thereto, either of this State, or any county thereof, in relation to any matter or thing, pertaining to their respective offices, or which by presumption of law, properly pertains thereunto, shall be admitted as evidence, before any court of law, or equity in this State: Provided nevertheless, That nothing in this act contained, shall be so construed, as to prevent any court to require the production of the original to which said certificate may appertain, or that it may be accounted for.*

All laws, and parts of laws, militating against this act are hereby repealed.

An Act to make valid certain deeds, &c.—Approved Dec. 23, 1833. Pam. 81.

Sec. I. [Private.]

Sales and deeds by Academy Commissioners, declared valid.

40. Sec. II. All sales made by the commissioners of the several county Academies in this State, shall be held, deemed, declared and considered valid, and that all deed or deeds, made and executed by a majority of said commissioners, conveying a title to any tract or tracts, parcel or parcels of land, by them sold to a bona fide purchaser, which said commissioners or their agents may have heretofore purchased at the sales of confiscated property, shall be held, deemed, declared and considered valid to all intents and purposes, and that the same shall be read in evidence in any court of law and equity in this State, any law, usage or custom, to the contrary notwithstanding.

An Act to revive and continue in force "An Act to admit certain deeds to record, and to authorize the same, or copies thereof, to be read in evidence, and also the copies of certain other deeds, assented to the 23d of December, 1826."†—This act approved Dec. 20, 1834. Pam. 94.

41. From and after the passing of this act the act above recited be, and the same is hereby revived.

42. Sec. II. All deeds executed in the manner pointed out by the foregoing recited act between the limitation of the same and the passage of this act, shall be on the same footing as those therein recited; and that the aforesaid act, so revived, shall be and remain in full force and virtue for twelve months from the passage of this act.

* Former act on this subject, Sec. 21.

† For the act, see this title, Sec. 31, 32.

Unrecorded deeds may be recorded till
Dec. 31, 1835.

Act of Congress of May 26, 1790. 1 Gray. Digest, 272.

Sec. I. The acts of the legislatures of the several States shall be authenticated by having the seal of their respective States affixed thereto: The records and judicial proceedings of the courts of any State, shall be proved or admitted in any other court within the United States, by the attestation of the clerk, and the seal of the court annexed, if there be a seal, together with a certificate of the judge, chief justice, or presiding magistrate, as the case may be, that the said attestation is in due form. And the said records and judicial proceedings, authenticated as aforesaid, shall have such faith and credit given to them in every court within the United States, as they have by law or usage in the courts of the State from whence the said records are, or shall be taken.

Act of Congress of March 27, 1804. Sec. 2 Gray. Digest, 180.

Sec. I. From and after the passage of this act, all records and exemplifications of office books, which are or may be kept in any public office of any State, not appertaining to a court, shall be proved or admitted in any other court or office in any other State, by the attestation of the keeper of the said records or books, and the seal of his office thereunto annexed, if there be a seal, together with a certificate of the presiding justice of the court of the county or district, as the case may be, in which such office is or may be kept; or of the governor, the secretary of state, the chancellor or the keeper of the great seal of the State, that the said attestation is in due form, and by the proper officer; and the said certificate, if given by the presiding justice of a court, shall be further authenticated by the clerk or prothonotary, of the said court, who shall certify under his hand and the seal of his office, that the said presiding justice is duly commissioned and qualified; or if the said certificate be given by the governor, the secretary of state, the chancellor or keeper of the great seal, it shall be under the great seal of the State in which the said certificate is made. And the same records and exemplifications, authenticated as aforesaid, shall have such faith and credit given to them in every court and office within the United States, as they have by law or usage in the courts or offices of the State from whence the same are or shall be taken.

EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS, COURTS OF ORDINARY, GUARDIANS, ORPHANS, POOR, MARRIAGE LICENSES, IDIOTS, LUNATICS, &c.

An Act to direct Executors and Administrators, in the manner and method of returning Inventories and Accounts of their Testators and Intestates' Estates, and for allowing them and all other persons who shall or may be intrusted with the care and management of Minors, and other estates, to charge commissions thereon.—Approved February 29, 1764. Vol. I. 213.

Whereas, for preventing any fraudulent disposition or embezzlement of the estates of persons deceased, it is highly expedient that executors and administrators should be obliged to render true and perfect inventories and appraisements of the estates and effects of their testators and intestates come to their hands and possession: And whereas, it is also fit and reasonable, that, as well executors and administrators, as all guardians and trustees, shall have an allowance for their trouble and care in the management of the estates committed to their trust:

Duty of executors and administrators.

Shall produce all the goods of the deceased.

To be appraised within 60 days.

Inventory:
money, debts,
books of account,

made chargeable with the value of the goods and debts collected.

1. Sec. I. Be it enacted, That from and after the passing of this act, all and every executor and administrator, who shall before the ordinary* of this province, for the time being, or such person as he shall depute or appoint, qualify him, her, or themselves, for the administration of the estate and effects of his, her, or their testator or intestate, shall, upon oath, be bound to produce and show to the appraisers that shall be appointed by the ordinary for that purpose, or any three or more of them, all and singular the goods and chattels of his, her, or their testator or intestate, as have or shall come into his, her, or their, or either of their hands, possession, or knowledge; and within sixty days after such his, her, or their qualification, shall cause to be made a true and just appraisement, upon oath, of all and singular the goods and chattels aforesaid, and exhibit, or cause to be exhibited the said appraisement, certified under the hands of any three or more of the appraisers aforesaid, within fourt months after such his, her, or their qualification, together with a full and perfect inventory of all and singular the rights and credits of the said testator or intestate, whether the same be in ready money, judgments, bonds, or other specialties, or notes of hand, together with a list or schedule of the books of account of such testator, to which books all parties concerned shall, upon request, and at convenient times, have free access; and every such executor and administrator shall be, and they are hereby made chargeable with the real value of the goods and chattels in the said inventory contained, and with so much of the credits only as he, she, or they, after due care and proper diligence, shall recover and receive, in like manner as executors and administrators are made chargeable by the common and statute law of England.

2. [The oaths of executors and administrators are afterwards prescribed more concisely in the act of 1792, and this section is therefore omitted. The oath to be taken for the execution of a will, whether by an executor named therein, or by an administrator with the will annexed, will be found in Sec. 20; and the oath of administrators, where there is no will, in Sec. 22. It may, however, not be improper to call the attention of executors and administrators to the following passages containing a succinct outline of their duties; although they are not now to be sworn to the performance of them.

“And that you will produce to, show, and inform the appraisers, that shall be appointed by the ordinary, all and singular the goods and chattels of the deceased as already have, or shall before the day of making the appraisement, come to your hands, possession, or knowledge.”

And directing them to make a true and perfect inventory, “whether the same be in ready money, judgments, bonds, or other specialties, or notes of hand, together with a list or schedule of the books of account of such testator and intestate person, and exhibit, or cause to be exhibited the said inventory and schedule, together with the appraisement of the said deceased's goods and chattels, certified under the hands of three or more of the appraisers aforesaid.”]

And whereas a custom hath prevailed among executors and administrators of taking estates, or some part thereof, at the appraisement,

* The ordinary here mentioned was in the place of bishops or other ecclesiastical judges, [See Stat. 22 and 23, Ch. II. chap. 10.] who under the British government had cognizance of these matters, as well in this province as in England. Under the constitution of 1777 [Vol. I. 12.] this jurisdiction was given to the register of probates; and by the act of 1799 [See Sec. 31.] to the inferior court, who have since discharged the duties which in England appertain to the court of the ordinary.

† Three months. See Sec. 17.

when such appraisement hath often been under the real value; for prevention whereof for the future,

3. Sec. III. Be it enacted, &c. That no executor or administrator shall hereafter be permitted to take any estate, or any part thereof, at the appraisement, and that no appraisement to be made as aforesaid shall be binding or conclusive,* either upon the creditors, legatees, next of kin, or other person interested in such estate, or upon the executors or administrators, but all and every such executor and administrator shall be chargeable and accountable for the true value of such estate, any practice to the contrary notwithstanding.

Not allowed to take estates at the appraised value; but must account for the true value thereof.

4. Sec. IV. All intended sales of goods and chattels, belonging to testators or intestates, shall be published in two or more public places in the parish [county] where such effects are to be sold, and in the gazette, at least forty days before the day of such intended sale.†

Sales to be advertised 40 days.

5. Sec. V. In case any person in the province shall hereafter happen by his will to appoint his debtor to be his executor, such appointment shall not, in law or equity, be construed or deemed to be a release or extinguishment of any debt due to the testator, unless the testator shall in his will expressly declare his intention to devise, bequeath, or release such debt, any law, usage, or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

Debtors made executors, not released from debts unless expressly released in the will.

6. Sec. VI. No appraisers, that shall hereafter be appointed to appraise any testator's or intestate's goods and chattels, shall enter upon that office before they shall have taken the following oath before one of his majesty's justices of the peace of this province, who is hereby empowered to administer the same: "You, A. B. C. D. E. F. do swear, that you will make a just and true appraisement of all and singular the goods and chattels (ready money only excepted,) of G. H. deceased, as shall be produced by I. K. the executor or administrator of the estate of the said G. H. deceased, and that you will return the same, certified under your hands, unto the said I. K. executor or administrator, within the time prescribed by law."

Appraisers to be sworn.

Their oath.

Sec. VII. [Directing administrators to give bond—re-enacted, see Sec. 23.]

7. Sec. VIII. No letters of administration shall hereafter be granted by the ordinary of this province to any person or persons whomsoever, as principal creditor or creditors to any intestate, but upon special trust and confidence, and for the benefit of all and singular the rest of the creditors; and that all debts‡ of an equal nature shall be discharged by such administrator or administrators in average and proportion, as far as the assets of the intestate shall extend, and that no preference shall be given amongst the creditors in equal degree;§ and that every such administrator and administrators shall be obliged to sue for such debts which he or they may reasonably expect to recover, or at the request and proper charges of any of the creditors of the intestate, assign and empower them, or any of them, to sue for the debts outstanding to the estate of such intestate, any law, usage, or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

Letters of administration may be granted to a principal creditor in trust for the other creditors. Debts of equal degree to be discharged in average as far as assets. May sue, or authorize the creditors to sue.

And, that no creditor or creditors, to be appointed administrator or administrators in trust, as hereinbefore mentioned, may retain, in his or their hands, the moneys he or they shall receive by virtue of such administration, longer than necessary.

8. Sec. IX. Be it enacted, that every such administrator or admin-

* See also Sec. 17.

† See Sec. 44, 46.

‡ Sec. 25 prescribes the order in which debts shall be paid.

§ But see Sec. 41.

Intestates' estates to be distributed in 12 months.

Second division to be made in two years.

After assets, in 3 months after they are got in.

Executors and administrators neglecting their duty, made executors in their own wrong.

Commissions of executors, &c.
Two and a half per cent. on money received, and two and a half per cent. on money paid away.

Exceptions.

Ten per cent. on the am't of interest made on money loaned.

Proviso.

istrators, shall within twelve months after the death of his or their intestate, or after his or their obtaining administration thereon, make a dividend of the moneys arising from such intestate's estate and effects, to and among the several creditors in like proportion as aforementioned: and in case such estate and effects shall not then be wholly divided, a second dividend thereof shall be made within two years from the death of the intestate, which second dividend shall be final, unless any suit shall be then depending, or any part of the intestate's estate standing out, or unless some future estate of the intestate shall afterwards come to the hands of such administrator or administrators, in which case he or they shall, as soon as may be, convert such future estate into money, and shall within three months after, divide the same, to which effect it shall be inserted in the condition of the bond to be given as afore-mentioned, on obtaining letters of administration.*

9. Sec. X. Every executor and administrator who shall not within the time aforesaid, or within such further or other reasonable time as the ordinary shall think fit to give, make and return into the secretary's office† aforesaid such inventory and appraisement as is hereinbefore directed to be made and returned, and who shall make default in mentioning or inserting therein all or any of the credits or effects of his, her, or their testator, or intestate as aforesaid, which shall come into their hands to be administered, every such executor or administrator shall be, and they, and each of them, are hereby made chargeable with and subject to the payment of all and singular the said testator's and intestate's debts, legacies, and bequests, in the same manner as executors of their own wrong are subjected and made chargeable by the common or statute law of England.

10. Sec. XI. It shall and may be lawful to and for all and every executor and administrator, guardian and trustee, for his, her, and their care, trouble and attendance, in the execution of their or either of their several duties and trusts, to take, receive, or retain, in his or their hands, a sum not exceeding fifty shillings for every hundred pounds which he, she, or they, shall hereafter receive, except on the appraised value of any estate that shall come into their hands; and the like sum of fifty shillings for every hundred pounds which he, she, or they, shall pay away in debts, legacies, or otherwise, (excepting also the delivering up any such estate to the person or persons entitled to the same, during the course and continuation of their, or either of their management or administration,) and so in proportion for any sum less than one hundred pounds; Provided nevertheless, that no executors or administrators, guardian or trustee, shall, where they have power so to do, for his, her, or their trouble, in letting out and lending any sum or sums of money upon interest, and again receiving the moneys so lent and let out, be entitled to receive, take, or retain, any sum exceeding the sum of twenty shillings for every ten pounds for all sums arising by moneys lent to interest, so to be by them received, and in like proportion for a larger or lesser sum: and provided also, that no executor, administrator, guardian, or trustee, who is or may be creditors of any testator or intestate, or to whom is or may be left or bequeathed any sum or sums of money, or other estate or effects, shall be entitled to any reward or commissions for the payment or retaining to themselves any such debts or legacies, any law, usage, or custom, to the contrary notwithstanding.

* May be compelled by the Court of Ordinary to make distribution. Sec. 69.

† Office of the clerk of the Court of Ordinary.

But, as it may be very difficult to ascertain the proper and adequate allowance to be made in all cases, and as the sums herein before allowed may not be sufficient compensation for the care, trouble, and pains which executors, administrators, guardians, or trustees, may take in the management of their respective trusts, in some particular cases—

11. Sec. XII. Be it enacted, &c. That if any executors, administrators, guardians, or trustees, who shall have had extraordinary trouble in the management of the estates under their care, and shall not be satisfied with the sums herein before mentioned, such executors, administrators, guardians, or trustees, shall and may be at liberty to bring an action in the general court of pleas for their services, and the verdict of the jury, and judgment of the court thereupon, shall be final and conclusive in such cases; Provided always, that no verdict shall be given for more than fifty shillings per cent. over and above the sums allowed by this act.

Executors, administrators, &c. may bring suit in the superior court for additional compensation, and may recover not exceeding two and a half per cent. more.

12. Sec. XIII. The commissions given by this act shall be divided among executors, administrators, guardians, and trustees, according to the proportion of the services by them respectively performed, to be rated and settled by the chief justice and two of the justices of the general court of pleas, in case the executors, administrators, guardians, and trustees, cannot agree among themselves concerning the same.

Commissions to be divided among them according to their services.

13. Sec. XIV. This act shall be and continue in force for the term of seven years, and from thence to the end of the next session of assembly, and no longer.*

An Act to carry into effect the sixth section of the fourth article of the Constitution, touching the distribution of Intestates' Estates, directing the manner of granting letters of administration, letters testamentary, and marriage licenses.—Approved Dec. 23, 1789. Vol. I. 216.

Sec. I. [Rules of descent.—Re-enacted with amendments in 1804. See Sec. 42.]

14. Sec. II. The same rules shall obtain in regard to the granting letters of administration on intestates' estates, as are before mentioned for the distribution thereof:† and should any case arise, which is not expressly provided for by this act, respecting intestates' estates, the same shall be referred to and determined by the common law of this land, as it hath stood since the first settlement of this State, except only, that real and personal estate shall always be considered in respect to such distribution as being precisely on the same footing: and in cases of intermarriage, since the 22d day of February, 1785, the real estate belonging to the wife shall become vested in and pass to the husband, in the same manner as personal property doth; and in cases of the death of the husband thereafter, intestate and without will, the said estate shall descend and become subject to distribution, in the same manner as personal property.‡

Rules of granting letters of administration the same as that of distribution.

On marriage, the real estate of the wife vests in the husband like personal.¹⁷

Sec. III. [Defining the duties of the register of probates. Repealed, see Sec. 31, 32.]

Sec. IV. [Giving original jurisdiction to the Superior court in cases of caveat. Repealed, see Sec. 31, 32, 36. Appeals, Sec. 52.]

15. Sec. V. Where the register of probates applies for letters of

* See Sec. 26.

† By the register of probates mentioned in this and the next act, is now intended the court of ordinary, see Sec. 31, 60.

‡ See Sec. 42.

§ But see Sec. 117.

Clerk of the county to grant letters to the register.

administration or letters testamentary, the same shall, in such cases only, be granted by the clerk of the county, under the regulations herein contained; Provided always, that a record of such proceedings shall nevertheless be made in the office of such register after the proceedings are completed.

Sec. VI. [Directing the register to grant marriage licenses. See Sec. 33.]

An Act, to be entitled an act to protect the estates of Orphans, and to make permanent provision for the Poor.—Approved December 18, 1792. Vol. I. 220.

Whereas there is no law in this State which sufficiently points out the manner in which the estates of deceased persons shall be ascertained, and the duty of executors and administrators prescribed, whereby orphans and others are injured in their just rights: for remedy whereof,

16. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That every executor and administrator shall annually, whilst the estate shall remain in his or their care or custody, on the first day of January, or within ten days thereafter, render to the register of probates in the county in which they obtained probates of will, or letters of administration, a just and true account, upon oath, of the receipts and expenditures of such estates the preceding year,* which, when examined and approved, shall be deposited with the inventory and appraisement, or other papers belonging to such estate, in said office, there to be kept for the inspection of such persons as may be interested in the said estate; and that no charge shall be made for such search and inspection by persons interested; and if any executor or administrator shall neglect to render such annual accounts, he shall not be entitled to any commissions for his trouble in the management of the said estate, and shall moreover be liable to be sued for damages by any person or persons interested in the said estate. [Here follows a passage directing executors and administrators already appointed, to render an account within twelve months—Temporary.] And in cases where any person shall die intestate, and appoint an executor or executors to his will, against which executor or executors there shall be any charge of neglect or malpractice, by any devisee, legatee, or creditor, that the Superior court shall hear and determine such charge and complaints, and if the judge of such court shall determine in favor of the application, then and in such case the judge of the court shall order and direct that the executor so complained of, shall give security, in the discretion of the court, for the faithful execution of the trust.†

Accounts rendered, to be deposited in the office for inspection without charge.

Executors and administrators shall forfeit their commissions for neglect.

Superior court may on complaint compel executors to give security.

Estate to be inventoried and appraised in 3 months.

Appraisement not to be conclusive evidence of the value.

17. Sec. II. When any will shall be proved, or application is made for administration of the estate of any person dying intestate, the register shall direct the executors or administrators, to make out an exact inventory of the personal estate of the deceased, and shall appoint three or more reputable freeholders, who shall appraise the same on oath, which inventory and appraisement shall be returned within three months into the register's [now the clerk of ordinary's] office; and every appraisement made as aforesaid, may be given in evidence in any action against such executors or administrators, to prove the value of the estate, but shall not be conclusive, if it shall appear on the trial of the cause that the estate was really worth or bona fide sold for more or less than such appraisement.‡

* This section thus far is substantially re-enacted in Sec. 39 and 63.

† See Sec. 23.

‡ See Sec. 3.

18. Sec. III. When any person shall make a will in writing without appointing any executor or administrator therein, or such executor or executors shall refuse to qualify,* the register of probates of the county wherein such will shall be proved, shall on application, grant letters of administration, with the will annexed, to such person or persons as would have been entitled thereto, if the deceased had died intestate. And if any person shall die intestate, the register of the county wherein the will of such person (had he or she left one) would have been proved, shall grant letters of administration to them who would have been entitled thereto.

Administration with the will annexed in what cases to be granted.

19. Sec. IV. If any person having in possession the will of a deceased person, shall neglect to produce the same to be proved, upon application to the Superior court of the county where such will ought to be proved, process as for contempt shall issue, and the person shall be fined and imprisoned until the will shall be delivered.

Persons detaining a will liable to fine and imprisonment.

20. Sec. V. Every executor, or administrator with the will annexed, at the time of proving the will, or granting administration, shall take the following oath: "I do solemnly swear, that this writing contains the true last will of the within named A. B. deceased, so far as I know or believe; and that I will well and truly execute the same, by paying first the debts, and then the legacies contained in the said will, as far as his goods and chattels will thereunto extend, and the law charge me; and that I will make a true and perfect inventory of all such goods and chattels, so help me God."

Oath to execute a will.

21. Sec. VI. And the administrator with the will annexed, shall enter into bond, with good and sufficient security, in a sum equal to the value of the estate at least, the condition of which bond shall be in the form following, to wit. "The condition of this obligation is such, that if the above bound C. D. administrator (with the will annexed) of the goods, chattels, and credits of E. F. deceased, do make, or cause to be made, a true and perfect inventory of all and singular the goods, chattels, and credits of the said deceased, which have or shall come to the hands, or possession, or knowledge of the said C. D. or into the possession of any other person for him; and the same so made, do exhibit to the Superior court of the county, or to the register of probates thereof, at such time as he shall be thereunto required by the said court or register, and the same goods, chattels, and credits do well and truly administer according to law, and make a just and true account of his actings and doings, when by law required; and further do well and truly pay and deliver all the legacies contained and specified in the said will, as far as the said goods, chattels, and credits will extend, or the law require, then this obligation to be void, else to remain in full force." Which bond shall be made payable to the register of probates for the county and his successors in office, and recorded in the clerk's office of the Superior court, and may be sued for from time to time† by any person injured by the breach thereof, until the whole penalty be recovered, and damage sustained being assessed on such suit by the verdict of a jury, may be levied by execution, and paid to the party for whom they were assessed.

Bond of an administrator with the will annexed.

To whom such bonds shall be made payable.

How sued on.

22. Sec. VII. Every administrator when letters are granted to him, shall take the following oath or affirmation, as the case may be, before the register of probates: "I do solemnly swear, or affirm, that A. B. deceased, died without any will, as far as I know or believe,

Oath of an administrator. There being no will.

* As to the period within which executors must qualify, see Sec. 61.

† The principal and security in any executor's, administrator's, or guardian's bond made since 13th December, 1820, may be sued in the same action. See Judiciary, Sec. 111, 112, 113.

and that I will well and truly administer on all and singular the goods and chattels, rights and credits of the said deceased, and pay all his just debts, as far as the same will extend, and the law requires me; and that I will make a true and perfect inventory of all and singular the goods and chattels, rights and credits, and a just return thereof, when thereunto required, so help me God."

Form of an administrator's bond. There being no will.

23. Sec. VIII. And such administrator shall also enter into bond with good security, to be appointed by the register, in a sum equal to the full value of the estate, with a condition following, to wit. "The condition of the above obligation is such, that if the above bound A. B. administrator of the goods, chattels, and credits of C. D. deceased, do make a true and perfect inventory of all and singular the goods, chattels, and credits of the said deceased, which have or shall come to the hands, possession, or knowledge of the said A. B. or into the hands or possession of any other person or persons for him; and the same so made, do exhibit into the said court of —, when he shall be thereunto required; and such goods, chattels, and credits do well and truly administer according to law, and do make a just and true account of his actings and doings thereon, when required by the superior court or register of probates for the county. And all the rest of the goods, chattels, and credits, which shall be found remaining upon the account of the said administration, the same being first allowed by the said court, shall deliver and pay to such persons respectively, as are entitled to the same by law, and if it shall hereafter appear, that any last will and testament, was made by the said deceased, and the same be proved before the court, and the executors obtain a certificate of the probate thereof, and the said A. B. do in such case, if required, render and deliver up the said letters of administration, then this obligation to be void, else remain in full force."

How made payable and recorded.

If the register takes insufficient security, he is liable to damages. Sureties of administrators may be relieved.

Which bond shall be made payable to the register of probates for the county in which the same shall be given, and to his successors in office, and recorded in the clerk's office of the superior court, and may be sued in like manner as is prescribed in the preceding clause of this act, in the case of bonds given by executors with the will annexed; and in case the register shall fail to take bond with sufficient security as aforesaid, such register shall be liable to be sued for all the damages arising from such neglect, by any person or persons interested in the estate. If the sureties for administrators conceive themselves in danger of being injured by such suretiship, they may petition the superior court of the county wherein they stand bound, for relief; which court shall summon the administrator to appear, and thereupon make such order or decree as shall be sufficient to give relief to the petitioner.*

If a widow who is administratrix shall marry again, what may be done.

24. Sec. IX. If any widow, after having obtained letters of administration, shall marry again, it shall be in the discretion of the judge of the superior court, to revoke the administration to her granted, or join one or more of the next of kin to the intestate, in the administration with her.†

Debts in what order to be paid.

25. Sec. X. The debts due by any testator or intestate, shall be paid by executors and administrators in the order following, viz. funeral and other expenses of the last sickness; charges of probate and will, or of the letters of administration; next debts due to the public; next judgments, mortgages, and executions; the eldest first; next rent; then bonds or other obligations; and lastly, debts due on open accounts; but no preference whatever shall be given to creditors in equal degree, where there is deficiency in assets, except in cases of judgments, mortgages that shall be recorded, from the time of recording, and executions lodged in the sheriff's office, the eldest of which shall be first paid; or in those cases where a creditor may have a lien on any part of the estate. Every executor or administrator shall give six weeks' notice by advertisement in one of the public gazettes in this State, or at three different places of the most public resort in the county, for creditors to render an account of their demands; and they shall be allowed twelve months to ascertain the debts due to and from the deceased, to be computed from the probate of the will or granting letters of administration. And creditors neglecting to give in a state of their debts within the time aforesaid, the executors or administrators shall not be liable to make good the same, nor shall any action be commenced against any executor or administrator for the recovery of the debts due by the testator, or intestate, until twelve months after such testator or intestate's death.

* It may be a question whether the jurisdiction given to the superior court in this, and the 16th section is ousted by the subsequent statutes, see Sec. 31, 60, or is retained concurrently with that expressly given to the courts of ordinary in Sec. 33, 47, 48, and 67.

† And so of letters testamentary or of guardianship. See Sec. 112.

Six weeks' notice to be given to creditors.

Creditors must make demand in 12 months, or the ex'r or adm'r not liable out of his own estate.

26. Sec. XI. All and every the executors and administrators of any person or persons, who as executor or executors in his or their own wrong, or administrators, shall waste or convert any goods, chattels, estate, or assets of any person deceased to their own use, shall be liable and chargeable in the same manner as their testator or intestate would have been if they had been living.*

Estates of executors in their own wrong, liable.

Sec. XII. [Authorizing the sale of real estates; re-enacted in 1811, and again in 1816, see Sec. 74.]

Sec. XIII. [Declaring the acts of 1764, (see Sec. 1, &c.) and the act of 1789, (Sec. 14, &c.) to be in force where they apply and are not repugnant to this act.]

And to the end that permanent provision be made for the poor,

27. Sec. XIV. Be it enacted, &c. That the inferior courts in the several counties in this State shall have power to inquire into the circumstances of the poor, bind out orphans, and appoint guardians, in the manner pointed out by law, and appoint overseers over the poor; Provided, that no justice of the inferior court shall be appointed an overseer of the poor. And the said justices and overseers of the poor, shall have power to levy annually a tax, and assess all taxable property returned in their respective counties, not exceeding one fourteenth part of the general tax of such county annually, which shall be collected by the tax-collector of the county, who shall be allowed at and after the rate of five per centum on the net amount of such collection, and who shall at the first inferior court, after the first Monday in May annually, make to the justices of the inferior court a true return of the state of the collection of such tax, and a report in writing of his proceedings, and shall therein fairly state the amount of his collection; and that the tax-collector's statements and collections so made up, shall be filed of record in the clerk's office, open to the inspection of any person interested therein. And in case any person or persons shall refuse or neglect to pay such tax, it shall and may be lawful for the sheriff of the county to distrain for the same, in like manner as the collectors are authorized to distrain for the general tax, and shall have the like commissions therefor, and the money arising from the said tax shall be paid into the hands of the said overseers, for the relief of the poor; and the said overseers shall, once in every year, make up Justices of the inferior court are to provide for poor, bind out orphans, appoint guardians, overseers, &c. May levy a poor tax.

Collectors to receive five per cent. Shall make his returns to the inferior court.

Mode of collection.

* And see Sec. 41.

† But see Sec. 84.

their accounts and lay the same before the justices of the said court, who shall express their approbation or disapprobation of the same on the back of the said accounts so to be produced.

An Act to authorize and empower Executors and Administrators to make Titles to Land in certain cases.—Approved Feb. 15, 1799. Vol. I. 218.

Where the contracting vendor of land dies, the court of ordinary may direct his executors or administrators to execute titles. Application to the court.

Advertisement three months.

Titles may be made under the direction of the court.

If the heirs dissent, an action must be brought.

Description of the land, and the bond must be filed in the clerk's office of the said court.

29. Sec. I. Where it shall clearly and indisputably appear, that any person or persons hath, or have entered into any bond, obligation, or other agreement in writing, whereby they were bound to make titles to any lands, tenements, or hereditaments, and shall die without having performed the same, or making provision therefor by will, the person or persons to whom such bond, obligation, or other agreement in writing as aforesaid was given, shall petition the court of ordinary of the county in which the executors or administrators reside, and annex a copy of such bond, obligation, or other agreement thereto, praying the court to direct the executors of such testator, or administrator of such intestate, to make titles for the lands, tenements, or hereditaments, expressed in the said bond, obligation, or other agreement; whereupon the said court shall give at least three months' notice, in one of the public gazettes, and in the public places of the county, of such application; and that the executors or administrators will be directed, at the court to be held at the next term, to make titles agreeably to such bond, obligation, or agreement; and if no objection shall be made thereto during the said next term, it shall and may be lawful for the executors of such testator, or the administrators of such intestate, on application made to him or them for that purpose; and upon its being made known to his, her, or their satisfaction, that the contract hath been carried fairly into effect, on the part of the person or persons to whom such bond, obligation, or other agreement in writing was made, or their legal representatives, and the amount of the purchase money, or the consideration for which the said contract was entered into shall be fully paid or performed, with the concurrence of the court of ordinary of the county in which the intestate died or resided at the time of his or her decease; to make and execute titles in fee simple for such lands or tenements, and fully and completely perform the contract and agreement of the deceased, as perfectly and effectually, to all intents and purposes, as the party having made the said contract might or could have done when in life, any law to the contrary notwithstanding: Provided always nevertheless, and be it further enacted, that if any of the heirs or legal representatives of the deceased shall oppose or dissent to the making of such titles by the executor or administrator, such executor or administrator shall withhold and forbear to make such title or titles, until a suit shall be instituted against him or them, and a verdict of a jury, or judgment of the court, shall pass against him for that purpose.

30. Sec. II. It shall be the duty of such executor or executors, administrator or administrators, in all cases where titles to lands are made in virtue of this act, to make a fair statement thereof, describing the boundaries and situation of the land, and return the same, together with the bond, obligation, or other agreement in writing, which may have been taken up upon making such titles, to the court of ordinary, to be filed in the clerk's office of that court, subject to the inspection of all persons interested.*

* As to cases where the obligee, and where both parties are dead, see Sec. 49, 50.

An Act to carry into effect the sixth section of the third article of the Constitution, and to amend an Act, entitled, &c. [The Act of 1789, see Sec. 14.] and to prevent Entails.—Approved Feb. 16, 1799. Vol. I. 219.

31. Sec. I. From and after the passing of this act, the inferior courts in each county shall have jurisdiction and authority to hear and determine all causes, matters, suits, and controversies, testamentary, which shall be brought before them, touching the proof of wills; and shall examine and take the proof of wills, grant probate thereof, and shall hear and determine the right of administration of estates of persons dying intestate, and to do all other things touching the granting letters testamentary, and letters of administration, according to law and right; and shall appoint its own clerk, who shall be commissioned by the governor, and before he enters on the duties of his office, shall take an oath well and truly to perform the duties required of him as clerk of the court of ordinary, to be administered by one of the judges thereof.*

Jurisdiction of the court of ordinary.

The court shall appoint a clerk.

32. Sec. II. All applications for letters of administration shall be made to the clerk of such court of ordinary, who shall give notice thereof in one of the public gazettes of this State, and by advertisement at the court-house of such county, at least thirty days before the sitting of the said court of ordinary; and such clerk may at his discretion grant letters to collect and take care of the effects of the deceased, until the meeting of such court; and the said court shall also grant such letters in all cases where there shall be an appeal† from the determination thereof to the superior court, and in either case, the person obtaining such temporary letters of administration, shall give bond and security for the faithful performance of the trust reposed in such person or persons.

Application for letters of administration must be made to the clerk, who shall give notice thereof 30 days before the sitting of the court.

The clerk may grant letters ad collendum, &c.

The court may grant letters pendente lite. Such clerk may grant marriage licenses, or banns may be published.

33. Sec. III. The clerks of the courts of ordinary, in the several counties, shall grant marriage licenses, directed to any judge, justice of the inferior court, justice of the peace, or minister of the gospel,‡ to join persons of lawful age, and authorized by the Levitical degrees to be joined together in matrimony; and where such persons intending to marry shall have the banns of marriage published three times in some public place of worship, it shall be lawful for such judge, justice of the inferior court, justice of the peace, or minister of the gospel, being duly certified thereof, to marry the persons whose banns have been so published; and any person marrying any couple without such license or publication of such banns, shall forfeit $500, to be recovered for the use of the academy of the county, by action of debt in any court having cognizance thereof, in the name of the commissioners of such academy.

$500 forfeiture for any person to marry a couple without license or publication of banns. Clerk's fees.

34. Sec. IV. The fees of the clerk of the court of ordinary shall be the same as the fees heretofore allowed to registers of probates.

35. Sec. V. Estates shall not be entailed.

No entails.

36. Sec. VI. So much of the said recited act as comes within the purview of this, shall be, and the same is hereby repealed.

An Act for the better protection and security of Orphans, and their Estates.—Approved Feb. 18, 1799. Vol. I. 225.

37. Sec. I. From and after the passing of this act, it shall be the

* See Sec. 60, further defining the court, and its jurisdiction.

† See Sec. 52.

‡ Who must make return thereon to the clerk, Sec. 51.

Clerks to enter the names of all executors, administrators, and guardians, and of their securities.

duty of the clerks of the courts of ordinary, in the respective counties, to enter into a book to be kept for that purpose, the names of all the executors, administrators, and guardians, which may have been, or shall in future be appointed in the several counties, together with the names of their securities, which book shall at all times be subject to the examination of the inferior court, and of such other person or persons as may be interested therein.

All such persons shall, at the first court in every year, return an account on oath of such estate, which shall be entered by the clerk in a book kept for that purpose. Waste of such estates by guardians and administrators, how prevented.

38. Sec. II. All guardians, executors, and administrators, heretofore appointed, and which shall hereafter be appointed, shall at the next inferior court, after the expiration of nine months, in the respective counties after the passing of this act, exhibit an account on oath of all the estate of such orphan or deceased person, which he or they shall have received, to be entered by the clerk of the court of ordinary, in a book to be kept for that purpose only;* and when such court shall know or be informed that any such guardian, executors,† or administrators, shall waste, or in any manner mismanage the estate of such orphan or deceased person, or does not take due care of the education and maintenance of such orphan, according to his, her, or their circumstances, or where such guardian, executor, or administrator, or his, her, or their securities are likely to become insolvent, such court may make such order for the better managing and securing such estate and educating and maintaining such orphan, as they shall think fit.

Process to issue against those who do not make their returns.

The court may inquire into abuses and correct them.

Proviso.

39. Sec. III. It shall be the duty of all such guardians, executors, and administrators, to render a full and correct account of the state and condition of such estates as they may severally have in their possession, to the first term of the inferior court in the respective counties, in which they shall severally be appointed in every year, which account shall contain a statement of the transactions of the estate to the last day of December preceding such court; and the said courts shall yearly at the court aforesaid, examine the accounts of such guardians, executors, and administrators, so to be exhibited,‡ and shall direct process to issue returnable to the next court against all guardians, executors, and administrators then failing to appear, and render such account whether he, she, or they be resident in the same or any other county; and shall also inquire into the abuses or mismanagements of all guardians, executors, and administrators; and whether they or their securities are likely to become insolvent or not, and thereupon to proceed according to the powers hereinbefore given by this act: Provided that nothing herein contained shall be construed to restrain the said inferior courts from inquiring, as often as they shall think proper, into the abuses and mismanagement of guardians, executors, and administrators, but they may exercise such powers at any time when it shall appear necessary.§

Guardians to be allowed reasonable disbursements and expenses. Court may bind out poor orphans.

40. Sec. IV. All guardians shall be allowed, in their account, to charge all reasonable disbursements and expenses, suitable to the circumstances of the orphan committed to his care. And where it shall appear to the said court that the annual profits of the estate of any orphan is not sufficient for the education and maintenance of such orphan, it shall be the duty of such court forthwith to bind out the said orphan for the whole or such part of the time of such orphan's minority as to them shall seem best; and the person to whom such orphan shall be bound, shall undertake to clothe and maintain such

* Thus far re-enacted with amendments, in Sec. 63.

† Waste by executors is provided against in Sec. 48.

‡ Thus far re-enacted in Sec. 63.

§ And see Sec. 109, 110, 113.

apprentice in such manner as the said court may direct, and shall cause such apprentice to be taught to read and write the English language, and the usual rules of arithmetic. And in all cases where it shall appear to the court, that any person to whom any orphan shall be bound in manner aforesaid, shall misuse or ill treat such orphan, or shall fail to comply with the condition on which such orphan was bound, it shall be the duty of the said court, on due notice and proof thereof, to take the said orphan out of the possession of such person, and bind him or her to some other person.

In case of misbehavior of the guardian, the court may bind the orphan to some other person.

41. Sec. V. When any guardian, executor, or administrator, chargeable with the estate of any orphan or deceased persons, to him, her, or them committed, shall die so chargeable, his, her, or their executors or administrators shall be compellable to pay out of his, her, or their estate, so much as shall appear to be due to the estate of such orphan or deceased person, before any other debt of such testator or intestate.

If any guardian, executor, or administrator, shall die chargeable as such, their estate shall be liable for the same before any other debt.

An Act to amend an Act, entitled, &c. [Act of 1789, see Sec. 14.]—
Approved Dec. 12, 1804. Vol. II. 193.

42. Sec. I. When any person holding real or personal estate shall depart this life intestate, the said estate, real and personal, shall be considered as altogether of the same nature, and upon the same footing, so that in case of there being a widow and child, or children, they shall draw equal shares thereof, unless the widow shall prefer her dower,* in which event she shall have nothing further out of the real estate, than such dower; but shall nevertheless receive a child's part or share out of the personal estate. And in case any of the children shall die before the intestate, their lineal descendants shall stand in their place and stead: In case of there being a widow and no child, or children, or representative of children, then the widow shall draw a moiety of the estate, and the other moiety shall go to the next of kin, in equal degree, and their representatives: If no widow, the whole shall go to the child, or children.† If neither widow, child, or children, or legal representative of the children, the whole shall be distributed among the next of kin, in equal degree, and their representatives; but no representation shall be admitted among collaterals, further than the child or children of the intestate's brothers and sisters. If the father or mother be alive, and a child dies intestate, and without issue, such father, or mother, in case the father be dead, and not otherwise, shall come in on the same footing as a brother or sister would do: Provided, that such mother, after having intermarried, shall not be entitled to any part or proportion of the estate of a child who shall die intestate, and without issue, but the estate of such child shall go to, and be vested in the next of kin, on the side of the father: And provided also, that on the death of the last child intestate, and without issue, the mother shall take no part of his or her estate, but the same shall go to, and be vested in like manner in the next of kin on the father's side. And in case a person dying without issue, leaving brothers or sisters, of the whole and half blood, then the brothers and sisters of the whole and the half blood, in the paternal line only, shall inherit equally; but if there shall be no brother or sister, or issue of brother or sister of the whole or half blood in the paternal line, then those of the half blood, and their issue in the maternal line, shall

The manner of distributing intestates' estates.
Widows and children.

Next of kin.

Representation.

Parents.

Widow intermarrying.

Death of the last child.

Whole and half blood.

* As to when she shall make her election, see Sec. 57.

† As to advancements, see Sec. 92.

Degrees of consanguinity.

inherit.* The next of kin shall be investigated by the following rules of consanguinity: viz. Children shall be nearest; parents, brothers, and sisters, shall be equal in respect to distribution; and cousins shall be next to them.†

43. Sec II. So much of the above-recited act, as is repugnant to this act, shall be, and is hereby repealed.

An Act to regulate sales made by executors and administrators.—
Approved Dec. 12, 1804. Vol. II. 207.

Sales to be between 10 and 4 o'clock, and not from day to day, unless so advertised, and made known on the first day within sale hours.

44. Immediately from and after the passing of this act, no sale made by executors or administrators shall commence before the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, or be continued after the hour of four o'clock in the afternoon; nor shall any such sale be continued from day to day, unless the advertisement shall be so expressed, and the same be publicly made known by the hour of four o'clock in the afternoon of the day on which the said sale shall commence.

An Act to alter and amend an act, entitled an act to carry into effect the sixth section of the third article of the constitution, and to amend an act, entitled an act to carry into effect, &c. [Act of 16th Feb. 1799, see Sec. 31.]—Approved Dec. 6, 1805. Vol. II. 259.

Sec. I. [Fixing the terms of the court of ordinary—re-enacted with amendments, Sec. 66.]

Slaves not to be sold, unless the other personality will not satisfy debts, or where an equal division cannot otherwise be made.
Provided.

45. Sec. II. No administrator shall be allowed to sell any slave or slaves belonging to the estate of his intestate; but where the other personal estate, together with the hire of such slave or slaves for twelve months, shall be insufficient to discharge the debts due by the estate, or where one or more slaves shall be subject to distribution, and an equal division thereof cannot be made in kind, it shall be lawful for the court of ordinary, by which administration was granted, to direct the sale of such slave or slaves: Provided always, that each

* As to illegitimate children, see escheats, sec. 15.

† It will be seen by the table (which goes no further than the statute has provided), that the widow and children, or other lineal descendants of the intestate, stand in the first degree.

Brothers and sisters of the whole blood, and brothers and sisters of the paternal half blood (that is, such as the father may have had by a former wife), and their children, are in the second degree.

Brothers and sisters of the maternal half blood, and their children in the third.

[The father of the intestate if alive; or if he is dead, the mother (if still unmarried) to take with those of the second or third degree as the case may happen.]

And the first consins of the intestate stand in the fourth degree.

For the degrees of consanguinity beyond the fourth, we follow the English, [see sec. 14.] which adopts the canonical mode of computation. This will give us, within a range of three generations above, and as many below, that of the intestate, the following result:

5th degree, grandfathers, and uncles.*

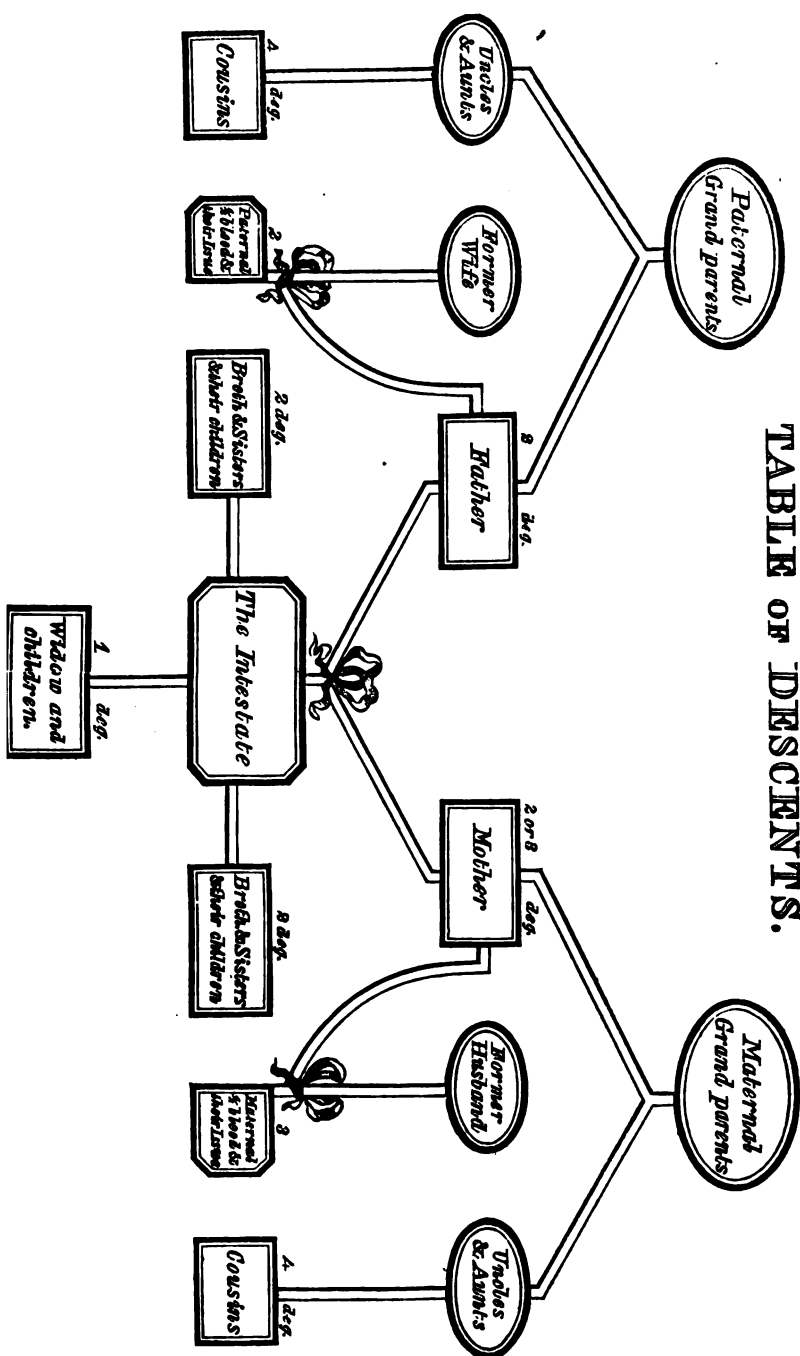

6th degree, great grandfathers; great uncles; the children and grandchildren of great uncles; the children of first cousins; and the grandchildren of the intestate's brothers.

7th degree. The brothers of great grandfathers; the children, grandchildren and great grandchildren of such brother; the grandchildren of the father's first cousin; the grandchildren of the intestate's first cousin; and the great grandchildren of the intestate's brothers.

8th degree. The great grandfather's first cousin; the children, grandchildren, and great grandchildren of such cousin; the great grandchildren of the grandfather's first cousin; the great grandchildren of the father's first cousin; and the great grandchildren of the intestate's first cousin. And so on.

* For conciseness, one sex only is mentioned, but the other must in all cases be understood as intended. The classes in italics are those of the generation cotemporary with the intestate.

TABLE OF DESCENTS.

distributee, or his, her, or their guardian shall receive twenty days' notice, in writing, previous to the granting of such order, to show cause, if any he or they can, against such sale.

46. Sec. III. From and after the passing of this act, it shall be the duty of all administrators, of sales to be made by them, to put up the property to be sold in such manner and quantity as shall be deemed most advantageous to said estate.

Property to be put up to sale to the best advantage.

Sec. IV. [Directing the division of estates by order of court—re-enacted with amendments in 1812. See Sec. 69.]

47. Sec. V. Whenever securities for executors, administrators, or guardians,* conceive themselves in danger of suffering thereby, and petition the court of ordinary for relief, the said court shall cause the executor, administrator, or guardian, to be summoned to appear before them at the next sitting thereof, and shall make such order, and give such relief in the case, by counter security or otherwise, as to the said court shall seem just and equitable.

Securities of executors, how to be relieved.

48. Sec. VI. When it shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of the court of ordinary, that any executor or executors of an estate are in insolvent circumstances, and that the estate is likely to be wasted by the improper conduct of such executor or executors, it shall be the duty of said court, by order, to compel such executor or executors to give bond, with approved security, for the faithful execution of the trust reposed in him, her, or them, by the said will; and in case of failure to comply with such order, to grant letters of administration, with the will annexed,† to such person as would be entitled thereto if no such executor had been appointed.

The waste of estates by executors, how to be prevented.

49. Sec. VII. Where there has been a contract or contracts in writing for the sale of land, and the party to whom titles are to be made dies before such titles are executed, it shall and may be lawful for the court of ordinary to order the title or titles to be made to the heirs general of the party deceased.

Where the contracting vendee or land dies, how titles are to be made, and where the contracting venter and vendee both die.

50. Sec. VIII. Where any person or persons shall depart this life after having entered into any written agreement for the conveyance of any real estate, and the obligee shall also have departed this life, the executors of the obligor shall in like manner make and execute a conveyance or conveyances to the heirs of the obligee.

51. Sec. IX. It shall be the duty of all ministers of the gospel, judges, justices of the inferior courts, or justices of the peace, who shall hereafter join together any person in the bonds of matrimony, to make a return on the marriage license of the actual intermarriage of the parties, and the day on which the same was solemnized, to the clerk of the court of ordinary, whose duty it shall be to enter the same in a book to be kept by him for that purpose, for which he shall be entitled to ask and receive the sum of twenty-five cents, which shall be paid when such license shall be granted; which register, or a certified copy thereof, shall be admitted as evidence of such marriage in any court where the solemnization of such marriage shall be called in question.

Clergymen and others to make return on the marriage license of the date of the solemnization, which shall be recorded. Clerk's fee for recording.

The return shall be evidence of the marriage.

Sec. X. This act shall not affect or operate on any administration heretofore granted.

This act to be prospective.

An Act to amend an act to carry into effect the sixth section of the third article of the constitution of this State.—Approved Dec. 7, 1805. Vol. II. 265.

Whereas the constitution of this State, in the said sixth section of

* The securities of administrators and guardians are provided for in Sec. 67.

† Sec. 67 directs how suits are to progress in such cases.

distributee, or his, her, or their guardian shall receive twenty days' notice, in writing, previous to the granting of such order, to show cause, if any he or they can, against such sale.

46. Sec. III. From and after the passing of this act, it shall be the duty of all administrators, of sales to be made by them, to put up the property to be sold in such manner and quantity as shall be deemed most advantageous to said estate.

Property to be put up to sale to the best advantage.

Sec. IV. [Directing the division of estates by order of court—re-enacted with amendments in 1812. See Sec. 69.]

47. Sec. V. Whenever securities for executors, administrators, or guardians,* conceive themselves in danger of suffering thereby, and petition the court of ordinary for relief, the said court shall cause the executor, administrator, or guardian, to be summoned to appear before them at the next sitting thereof, and shall make such order, and give such relief in the case, by counter security or otherwise, as to the said court shall seem just and equitable.

Sureties of executors, how to be relieved.

48. Sec. VI. When it shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of the court of ordinary, that any executor or executors of an estate are in insolvent circumstances, and that the estate is likely to be wasted by the improper conduct of such executor or executors, it shall be the duty of said court, by order, to compel such executor or executors to give bond, with approved security, for the faithful execution of the trust reposed in him, her, or them, by the said will; and in case of failure to comply with such order, to grant letters of administration, with the will annexed,† to such person as would be entitled thereto if no such executor had been appointed.

The waste of estates by executors, how to be prevented.

49. Sec. VII. Where there has been a contract or contracts in writing for the sale of land, and the party to whom titles are to be made dies before such titles are executed, it shall and may be lawful for the court of ordinary to order the title or titles to be made to the heirs general of the party deceased.

Where the contracting vendee of land dies, how titles are to be made, and where the contracting vendor and vendee both die.

50. Sec. VIII. Where any person or persons shall depart this life after having entered into any written agreement for the conveyance of any real estate, and the obligee shall also have departed this life, the executors of the obligor shall in like manner make and execute a conveyance or conveyances to the heirs of the obligee.

51. Sec. IX. It shall be the duty of all ministers of the gospel, judges, justices of the inferior courts, or justices of the peace, who shall hereafter join together any person in the bonds of matrimony, to make a return on the marriage license of the actual intermarriage of the parties, and the day on which the same was solemnized, to the clerk of the court of ordinary, whose duty it shall be to enter the same in a book to be kept by him for that purpose, for which he shall be entitled to ask and receive the sum of twenty-five cents, which shall be paid when such license shall be granted; which register, or a certified copy thereof, shall be admitted as evidence of such marriage in any court where the solemnization of such marriage shall be called in question.

Clergymen and others to make return on the marriage license of the date of the solemnization, which shall be recorded. Clerk's fee for recording.

The return shall be evidence of the marriage.

Sec. X. This act shall not affect or operate on any administration heretofore granted.

This act to be prospective.

An Act to amend an act to carry into effect the sixth section of the third article of the constitution of this State.—Approved Dec. 7, 1805. Vol. II. 266.

Whereas the constitution of this State, in the said sixth section of

* The sureties of administrators and guardians are provided for in Sec. 61.

† Sec. 67 directs how suits are to progress in such cases.

Any executor may qualify within 12 months from the death of a preceding qualified executor.

Executors or administrators, how to obtain letters dismissory.

To make yearly returns.

Subject to the control of the court.

Repealing clause.

"

Clerks in commission to hold their offices.

Terms of the court every two months. May hold adjourned courts.

Wills, how proved in vacation.

the testator to qualify under the said will at any time; Provided the qualification of one or more takes place within twelve months after the decease of the testator. Provided also, that the executor and executors who do not qualify within twelve months from and after the decease of the testator, one of whom shall do so within twelve months after the decease of the only qualified executor.

62. Sec. III. It shall be lawful for any executor or executors, administrator or administrators, who may have fully discharged the duties assigned to him or them, to petition the ordinary court for a discharge from his or their executorship or administration, upon which petition the said court shall order a citation to be issued, requiring all persons concerned to show cause, (if any they have,) why the said executor or executors, administrator or administrators, on the day therein to be named, should not be discharged; which citation shall be published in one or more gazettes of this State, for the space of six months, and if no cause is shown to the contrary, and it shall also appear from an examination into the situation of the testator's affairs and estates, that the said petitioning executor or executors, administrator or administrators have faithfully and honestly discharged the trust and confidence reposed in him or them, that he or they shall be forthwith dismissed and released from his or their liability, as executor or executors, administrator or administrators.*

63. Sec. IV. It shall be the duty of all guardians, executors, and administrators, to render a full and correct account of the estate and condition of all such estates as they may severally have in their possession, to the inferior court while sitting for ordinary purposes, in the county for which they may have been appointed, once in each and every year,† which account shall contain a statement on oath of the transactions of the estate to the last day of December preceding such return, together with the necessary vouchers relating thereto; and it shall be the duty of said court after examining the same, to approbate or reject such accounts, and it shall be the duty of such court to order the clerk of such court to record all such settlements in a bound book, to be provided by the inferior court for that purpose; and the said clerk shall receive for his fees for such recording, the sum of fifty cents for each settlement so recorded.

64. Sec. V. The third section of an act entitled "An Act for the more effectually securing the probate of wills," &c. Passed the 10th day of December, 1807, be, and the same is hereby repealed.

65. Sec. VI. Nothing herein contained shall operate to vacate the commission of any clerk of any court of ordinary, who shall heretofore have been commissioned as such.

66. Sec. VII. The said inferior court shall meet for ordinary purposes on the first Monday in January next, and on the first Monday in every other month thereafter; provided, that when the business of the court shall require it, the justices may by adjournment hold meetings at any other time, or at any other day than those before appointed for their meetings.‡ And provided also, that two or more of the said justices of the inferior court, shall be authorized in vacation time, to admit any executor of a will to prove the same before them; but there shall be a court, and at a regular and legal time of meeting thereof, before the same shall be admitted to record.

* Guardians may also obtain letters dismissory by act of 1806, see Sec. 100, 101, 102.

† Or may be removed, see Sec. 88.

‡ As to what officers may open and attend such courts, see Sec. 76. One justice and the clerk may adjourn, Judiciary, Sec. 143.

67. Sec. VIII. The said court shall have power and authority upon complaint made and cause shown by any security of any administrator or guardian, that his principal is mismanaging his estate upon which he is the administrator or guardian, to pass an order requiring such administrator or guardian to show cause, if any they have, at the next term, why such security should not be discharged from his securityship, and such administrator or guardian compelled to give new security, or their administration or guardianship revoked, as to the said court shall seem expedient, and upon the revocation of such administration, or upon the revocation of any letters testamentary as provided by law, and granting administration de bonis non, suits brought by or against the former administrator, shall not for this cause be abated,* but the removal of such administrator or executor being suggested on record, a sci. fa. may issue to make such administrator de bonis non, a party at any time after the granting of such letters de bonis non.

Security of administrators and guardians may be recalled.

Scire facies to make new parties.

An Act for the election of the clerk or other person in whom the care of the records and other proceedings of the court of ordinary is vested.—Approved Dec. 13, 1811. Vol. III. 137.

68. The justices of the inferior court in the several counties throughout this State, at the usual place of holding their courts on the first Monday in January, in the year 1813, and on the first Monday in January in every second year thereafter, shall proceed by ballot to the choice of clerks of the courts of ordinary, who shall hold their office for and during the term of two years, unless sooner removed for malpractice in office, and until a successor is in manner aforesaid elected. And it is hereby provided, that the clerk in manner aforesaid elected, shall be eligible to re-election.

Appointment of the clerk of ordinary.

Term of office 2 years.

Re-eligible.

An Act to alter and amend an act, for the more effectually securing the probate of wills, limiting the time for executors to qualify, and widows to make their election, and for other purposes therein mentioned.—Approved Dec. 10, 1812. Vol. III. 283.

69. Sec. I. The courts of ordinary upon application made by any administrator, administratrix, guardian, or distributees of any estates, shall appoint three or more freeholders of the county in which such application shall be made, whose duty it shall be to divide the said estate subject to distribution, into as many parts or shares as there are distributees, and assign, by lot or otherwise, as to them shall seem proper, one of the said parts or shares to each distributee, or his, her, or their guardian or legal representative; the said distributee, or his, her, or their guardian or legal representative, first giving bond and approved security to the said administrator to refund his or her proportionable part of any debt which may be afterwards established against the said estate, and the costs attending the recovery of such debt. Provided always, the party so applying shall give to all the parties in interest within the State written notice thereof twenty days, and those without the State, ninety days before the meeting of the court, at which the said application is made. And provided also, that the persons so making distribution shall be previously sworn to make the same according to justice and equity without favor or affection to any of the parties, to the best of their skill and understanding.

Distribution of estates by order of court.

Refunding bonds.

Notice in writing 20 days.

Ninety days.

The persons appointed are to be sworn.

70. Sec. II. Any executors, executrix, administrators, administra-

* And see Sec. 86.

Executors, administrators or guardians removing to another county. On removing the record and giving new security, may make their returns where they then reside.

trix, or guardian, whose residence shall be changed from one county to another, either by the creation of a new county, removal or otherwise, shall have the privilege of making the annual returns required of them by this act, to the court of ordinary of the county in which they reside, by having previously obtained a copy of all the records concerning the estates for which they are bound as executors, executrix, administrators, administratrix, or guardians, and having had the same recorded in the proper office in the county in which they then reside, and having given new bond and security as the law directs, for the performance of their duty.

An Act to authorise the several courts of ordinary in this State to appoint their clerks administrators de bonis non in certain cases.—
Approved Dec. 16, 1815. Vol. III. 284.

Whereas, there is no provision by law for the administration of the estates of deceased intestates in cases where the administrator or administrators die, and administration de bonis non cannot be granted from the incapacity of the persons applying to give the security required by law, or when the persons appointed refuse to give such security, for remedy whereof,

Where administrator de bonis non will not, or cannot give security, the clerk of ordinary shall act.

71. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That when the administrator, administrators, or administratrix of the estate of any intestate, shall die before he has fully administered upon the estate, and the person or persons, whom the court of ordinary shall appoint administrators or administratrix de bonis non upon such unadministered estate shall refuse to give the security required by law; or when the applicant or applicants for letters of administration de bonis non, upon unadministered estates, shall be incapable of giving the security required by law, it shall be the duty of the court of ordinary in the county where any such case shall happen, by special order of court, to vest the final administration of such estates in the clerk of the court of ordinary of said county, or such other person as the court may appoint; and such clerk, or other person as aforesaid, when such special order shall have passed, shall immediately proceed finally to administer on such unadministered estate, as soon as possible, under the direction of said court; for which purpose the said clerk or other person as aforesaid, shall have full power and authority to commence and defend suits at law, as the legal representative of such unadministered estate. Provided, that in all such suits at law, no other evidence shall be required of the said clerk, or other person as aforesaid, being the legal representative of any such unadministered estate, than an exemplified copy of the aforesaid special order of the court of ordinary.

Evidence of his office.

The representatives of the deceased administrator, &c. shall account with such clerk.

72. Sec. II. Whenever the administration of an estate shall be vested in the clerk of the court of ordinary, or other person as aforesaid, according to the provisions of this act, the executor, executors, executrix, administrator, administrators, or administratrix of the deceased administrator or administrators, shall be bound to pay into the clerk's hands, or other person as aforesaid, all moneys, and also to deliver to him all bonds, notes, accounts, and other papers, and all the property belonging to such unadministered estate, and fully to account of and concerning the acts of his, her, or their deceased testator or intestate, upon such unadministered estate.*

Such clerk's compensation.

73. Sec. III. Such clerks, or other person as aforesaid, when invested with the administration of an estate, according to the provisions of this act, shall be allowed such compensation for their services as is allowed to all other executors and administrators by the laws of this State.

* And see Sec. 41.

An Act to alter and amend an act, entitled "An act to alter and amend the twelfth section of an act to protect the estates of orphans, and to make permanent provision for the poor."—Passed Dec. 16, 1811.—This act passed Dec. 18, 1816. Vol. III. 285.

Whereas difficulties have arisen from the above-recited act, for remedy,

74. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That it shall and may be lawful for the inferior courts in the several counties of this State, when sitting for ordinary purposes,* to order a sale, which shall be at public auction, and on the first Tuesday in the month, at the place of public sales in the said county, first giving sixty days' notice thereof in one of the gazettes, and at the door of the court-house in the county where such application shall be made, of such part or the whole of the real estate of every testator or intestate, on application of the executor, or executors, or executrix, administrator, or administrators, or administratrix, guardian or guardians, where it is made fully and plainly appear, that the same will be for the benefit of the heirs and creditors of such estate. Provided, that a notice of such application for sale be first made known in one of the gazettes in this State at least nine months† before any order absolute shall be made thereupon.

Courts of ordinary may order the sale of real estates.

Sixty days' notice of the sale.

Nine months' notice of the application.

75. Sec. II. All laws and parts of laws militating against this act, be and the same are hereby repealed.

Act of 1817. Vol. III. 161. [For the title and first section, see County Officers, 21.]

76. Sec. II. In the absence of the sheriff or his deputy, it shall and may be lawful for the judges of the court of ordinary, to direct said court to be opened and attended by the coroner, or any constable of the county; and they may make a reasonable compensation to the said coroner or constable for his services.

A coroner or constable may act at court in the absence of the sheriff.

An Act for the better management of the Persons and Estates of Idiots, Lunatics, and persons insane.—Approved December 19, 1818. Vol. III. 286.

77. Sec. I. The inferior courts of said State, sitting as courts of ordinary, shall have full power to appoint guardians for the persons and estates of all idiots, lunatics, and persons insane; and it is hereby made the duty of said courts, to require bond and good security from all guardians appointed in pursuance of this act, for the faithful discharge of their duties; and said courts are hereby vested with full power to remove any guardian who shall fail or refuse to manage the person or property of such idiot, lunatic, or person insane, in a proper manner.

Court of ordinary may appoint guardians for idiots and lunatics.

And may remove them for misconduct.

78. Sec. II. All guardians appointed by this act, shall be compelled within three months after their appointment, to make an inventory of the estate of their ward, and cause the same to be appraised, as the Duty of such guardians.

* This section is a transcript of the act of 1811, with the addition in this, of the words in italics, (see Vol. III. 282,) and re-enacted, with some alterations, in 1826, see Sec. 95.

† Four months, see Sec. 95.

law directs in cases of deceased persons' estates, and return the same on oath to said court.

The court may order a sale of their property if necessary.

79. Sec. III. When it shall appear to said court, that a sale of all or some part of the estate of such idiot, lunatic, or insane person, is necessary for their support, or the payment of debts, it shall be the duty of said court to order such sales, and to authorize and compel said guardian or guardians to make titles to said property.

Wife entitled to the guardianship.

80. Sec. IV. The wife of such idiot, lunatic, or insane person, (if he be married,) shall be entitled to the guardianship of her husband's person and property; provided, she comply with the requisitions of this act, (reserving to said court the right of joining other persons with her in said guardianship at their discretion.)

Guardians shall make annual returns.

81. Sec. V. All guardians who may be appointed under and by virtue of this act, shall be bound to make to said court, annual returns of their actings and doings, with person and property of their wards.

The wife's bond in such cases valid.

82. Sec. VI. Where a married woman under this law, shall receive the guardianship of her husband's person, goods and effects, the bond so given by her as guardian, shall be good and valid in law, to all intents and purposes.

Repealing clause.

83. Sec. VII. All laws or parts of laws, militating against this act, be, and the same are hereby repealed.

An Act to alter and amend the Fourteenth Section of an act, entitled "An Act to protect the Estate of Orphans, and to make permanent provision for the Poor."—Approved Nov. 24, 1818. Vol. III. 919.

Whereas it is found by experience that the provision made for the poor, in the above-recited act, is insufficient for their support—

Infer'r courts may levy a poor tax of one-eighth of the general tax.

84. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That the justices of the inferior courts of the different counties in this State, are hereby authorized and empowered to levy a tax, and assess all taxable property returned in their respective counties, not to exceed one eighth part of the general tax of such county, annually, and that it be collected in the same manner, and under the same restrictions, as prescribed in the above-recited act.

Repealing clause.

Sec. II. So much of the before recited act as militates against this act, is hereby repealed.

An Act supplementary to, and amendatory of, the several Laws passed in this State for the protection of the estates of orphans, idiots, lunatics, and persons insane; to provide for filling vacancies in the office of the Clerk of the Court of Ordinary, and to regulate their fees in certain cases.—Approved 22d Dec. 1820. Vol. IV. 204.

Guardians to take an oath.

85. All guardians which may be appointed in this State after the passage of this act, shall, before they enter upon the duties of their appointment, take before the court by whom they are appointed the following oath or affirmation, to wit: "I, A. B., do solemnly swear, or affirm (as the case may be), that I will do and perform the duties required of me as guardian for C. D., orphan of E. F., deceased, or G. H., idiot, lunatic, or person insane (as the case may be), according to the laws of this State, to the best of my abilities and understanding; so help me God:" and shall in addition thereto give bond and sufficient security in a sum double the amount of their wards' estate, in conformity with the laws now in force in this State; and the bond so taken shall be so attested by the clerk of the Court of Ordinary, or his deputy, whose duty it shall be to have the bond so taken recorded

The oath.

To give bond and security.

in the clerk's office of the Superior Court, in the county in which it may be taken, and filed in the clerk's office of the Court of Ordinary; and it shall be lawful for the clerk of the Court of Ordinary to ask and receive from such guardian the same fees that the clerk of the Superior Court is entitled to for recording deeds, &c. for having such bond recorded.

Bonds to be recorded in the office of the superior court. Clerk's fees, for recording.

86. Sec. II. When any vacancy shall happen in the office of clerk of the Court of Ordinary, by death, resignation, or otherwise, it shall and may be lawful, and it is hereby made the duty of the justices of the Inferior Courts, or a majority of them, in the county where such vacancy may happen, to proceed without delay to appoint some fit and proper person to fill such vacancy, administer to the person so appointed the same oaths, and take like bond and security as heretofore required by law of the clerks of the Courts of Ordinary of this State, and transmit the same to his excellency the governor; and the person so appointed shall be deemed, held, and considered as duly qualified to discharge all the duties required of the clerk of the Court of Ordinary of the county for which he may be appointed, and shall be entitled to the same fees, and be subject to the same pains and penalties for misconduct in office, as if such person had been duly elected and commissioned by his excellency the governor, and continue in office for and during the term for which his predecessor was elected, and until a successor shall be duly elected, commissioned, and qualified.

Vacancies in the office of the clerk of the court of ordinary, how filled.

Continuance in office.

87. Sec. III. All executors, administrators, and guardians shall, from and after the passing of this act, exhibit their accounts and vouchers to the clerk of the Court of Ordinary, at any time when the said court is not in session; and it shall be the duty of such clerk to qualify any executor, administrator, or guardian, to the correctness of said account, and to examine such accounts and vouchers, and make a special report to the next Court of Ordinary of the correctness and reasonableness of such accounts; upon which report the said court shall either pass or reject such accounts, or any part thereof; and the said clerk is authorized to demand and receive for each account so examined by him the sum of fifty cents, which sum shall be paid by the executor, administrator, or guardian exhibiting such accounts for examination.

Ex. adm. and guard. may exhibit their accounts to the clerk in vacation, which shall be reported to the next court.

Clerk's fees for examining the account.

Sec. IV. All laws and parts of laws heretofore passed which militate against this act are hereby repealed.

Repealing clause.

An Act for the better protection of the Estate of Orphans, and amendatory and explanatory of the second section of an act passed February 18, 1799, and an act passed December 15, 1810, entitled "An act for the more effectually securing the Probate of Wills, limiting the time for Executors to qualify, and Widows to make their election;" and for other purposes therein mentioned.—Approved December 21, 1821. Vol. IV. 205.

88. Whereas, doubts have arisen in the construction of the before-recited acts as to the power of Courts of Ordinary to remove executors, administrators, and guardians from their respective trusts, where the authority has not been expressly given, to the injury of the estates of orphans and the delay of justice; for remedy whereof,

Preamble.

Sec. I. Be it enacted, That from and after the passage of this act, when such court shall know or be informed that any such guardian, executor, or administrator shall waste or in any manner mismanage the estate of such orphan or deceased person, or does not take due care of the education and maintenance of such orphan or deceased person, Guardians, executors, or administrators who waste or mismanage any estate, &c. to be served with a rule.

Trust confided to them
may be revoked.

Suits not to abate by such revocation, scire facias
to make successor a party.

Docket to be kept of the names of persons liable to make returns.

Penalty on the clerk for failing.

according to his, her, or their circumstances; or where such guardian, executor, or administrator, or his, her, or their securities, are likely to become insolvent; or where such executor, administrator, or guardian shall fail to make returns within the terms prescribed by law, particularly where no inventory and appraisement shall have been made and returned in terms of the law; said court are hereby required to order a rule to be served on such guardian, executor, or administrator, so in default, returnable to the next regular term of said court after the passing of the same; and upon the return of said rule being served, the court shall proceed to investigate all the actings and doings of said guardian, executor, or administrator (as the case may be), and may and are hereby authorized and empowered to revoke the trust confided to him, her, or them, or pass such other or further order as said court may think expedient and fit for the better managing and securing such estate, and educating and maintaining such orphan; and upon the revocation of such letters testamentary, letters of administration or guardianship, suits by or against either shall not for this cause abate; but the removal being suggested of record, a scire facias may issue to make the successor of such removed person a party at any time after the appointment and qualification.

89. Sec. II. It shall be the duty of, and the several clerks of the Court of Ordinary of this State, from and after the first of January next, are hereby required to keep a regular docket in bound books of the names of such persons as are liable to make returns to said respective courts, and the justices thereof are hereby required to call the same regularly, and to make their entries therein, as is practised by the judges of the Superior Courts.

90. Sec. III. For each and every term, after the time aforesaid, the said clerks shall fail to comply with this act, they and each of them shall forfeit and pay the sum of thirty dollars, the one half for the use of the county academy where such forfeiture may occur, and the other to the informers.

An Act explanatory of the 5th section of an act passed the 16th Feb. 1799, entitled "An Act to carry into effect the sixth section of the third article of the Constitution; and to amend an act to carry into effect the sixth section of the fourth article of the Constitution, touching the distribution of intestates' Estates, directing the manner of granting Letters of Administration, Letters Testamentary, and Marriage Licenses, and to prevent entails;" and to alter the rules for construing conveyances generally.—Approved Dec. 21, 1821. Vol. IV. 206.

Preamble.

91. Whereas, doubts have arisen as to the true and proper construction of the fifth section of the above-recited act, it having been held by some that all conveyances in fee tail are rendered absolutely void by said section, and by others that such conveyances vest a fee-simple estate in the person or persons to whom they are executed, and again by others that they vest only a fee conditional in common law; and whereas, it is proper that all doubts upon the subject should be immediately removed; and whereas, the intention of parties to contracts and conveyances is often defeated, and great injustice done by construing the same according to the rules that now prevail; for remedy whereof,

Gifts, grants, bequests, &c.
in tail to vest
a fee-simple estate.

Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That all gifts, grants, bequests, devises, and conveyances of every kind whatsoever, whether of real or personal property, made in this State, and executed in such manner, or expressed in such terms, as that the same would have passed an estate tail in real property by the statute of Westminster second (commonly called the statute de donis conditionalibus), be held and construed to vest in the person or persons to whom the same may be made or executed an absolute unconditional fee-simple estate.

92. Sec. II. All gifts, grants, feoffments, bequests, devises, and conveyances of every kind whatsoever, of real or personal property, hereafter made or executed within this State, shall be held and construed to vest in the person or persons to whom the same are made or executed an absolute unconditional fee-simple estate, unless it be otherwise expressed, and a less estate mentioned and limited in such gift, grant, feoffment, bequest, devise, or conveyance.

Sec. III. All laws or parts of laws, militating against this act are hereby repealed.

Repealing clause.

An Act to be entitled an act to amend and explain an act, passed the 12th December, 1804, entitled "An Act to amend an act, entitled 'An Act to carry into effect the sixth Section of the fourth article of the Constitution, touching the distribution of Intestates' Estates, directing the manner of granting Letters of Administration, Letters Testamentary, and Marriage Licenses, passed 23d December, 1789,' " as respects Advancements to Children in the lifetime of the Intestate.—Approved Dec. 25, 1821. Vol. IV. 206.

When any person holding real or personal estate shall depart this life intestate, the said estate, real and personal, shall be considered altogether of the same nature, and upon the same footing as to distribution, which shall take place agreeably to the provisions of the before recited act; but whenever there shall be a child or children of an intestate, who shall have any estate by settlement of the intestate, or shall be advanced by the intestate in his or her lifetime, by portion or portions, equal to the share which shall by such distribution be allotted to the other children to whom such distribution is to be made, he, she, or they, in that case shall receive no further distribution of the said intestates' estates. And whenever any child shall have an estate by settlement from the said intestate, or shall be advanced by the intestate in his or her lifetime by portion, not equal to the share which may be due to the other children by distribution as now established; then, so much of the surplusage of the estate of such intestate as shall make the estate of all the children of such intestate to be equal, as near as can be estimated: Provided such advancements, when brought into hotch-pot, shall be estimated according to the value of the property at the time such advancement was made, and no interest allowed thereon.

Intestates' estates to be on the same footing as to distribution.

Advancements made to children in the lifetime of intestate, to be taken into the computation.

How to be estimated.

No interest.

Sec. II. [Giving to husbands the administration on the estates of their wives—Re-enacted in 1827. See Sec. 107.]

Sec. III. [Repeals all conflicting laws.]

An Act more effectually to secure the Property of Minors against the Mismanagement of their natural Guardians, by requiring Bond and Security, as in other cases of Guardianship, of such Guardian.—Approved Dec. 22, 1823. Vol. IV. 212.

93. From and immediately after the passage of this act, whenever any property shall descend to any child or children, whose father or mother shall be in life, either by virtue of the act of distribution, or of any will, deed, or gift, such child or children shall be considered

Natural guardians to give bond and security when any property shall be acquired by the child.

On failure, the court to appoint some one else.

orphans, so far as to authorize the court of ordinary, executor, or administrator, or trustee, as the case may be, to withhold such property from such natural guardian until a reasonable security be given, to be judged of by the court of ordinary, for the faithful performance of said trust; and provided further, that if such natural guardian shall fail or refuse to give such bond and security, then and in that case said court may appoint some other fit and suitable person to act as such, first compelling such person to give good and substantial security, as is now required in other cases of guardianship.

An Act to make valid, binding, and legal, all Bonds given in this State by Administrators and Guardians, payable to the Court of Ordinary, members of the Inferior Court, Judges of the Inferior Court, Justices of the Court of Ordinary, and Justices of the Inferior Court sitting for ordinary purposes, in any County in this State.—Approved Dec. 17, 1825. Vol. IV. 215.

Bonds in various forms to court of ordinary held valid.

94. All bonds or other instruments in writing, heretofore given in order to secure the faithful administration of any testate or intestate's estate, or executors or the guardianship of the person and property, or the person or property of any minor or minors, or insane person or persons, orphan or orphans, made payable to the court of ordinary, justices of the court of ordinary, members of the court of ordinary, members of the inferior court, judges of the court of ordinary, judges of the inferior court, or justices of the inferior court, sitting for ordinary purposes in any county in this State, not heretofore the subjects of adjudication, or not now under adjudication before any judicial tribunal having competent authority, be, and the said bonds and instruments so given as aforesaid, are declared binding, legal, and valid, in any court of law and equity in this State having cognizance of the same, against such administrator or administrators, or executors, guardian or guardians, and his or their security or securities; and that in all cases not adjudicated as aforesaid, the said courts, justices, members, or judges, shall be held, deemed, and considered legal obligees to such bonds.

An Act to alter and amend the first Section of an act, entitled an act to alter and amend the twelfth Section of an act, to protect the Estates of Orphans, and to make permanent provision for the Poor, assented to the 18th of December, 1816.—Approved Dec. 23, 1826. Vol. IV. 216.

Courts of ordinary may order the sale of real estates.

Sixty days' notice of the sale.

Four months' notice of the application.

95. It shall and may be lawful for the inferior courts in the several counties of this State, when sitting for ordinary purposes, to order a sale of such part or the whole of the real estate of every testator or intestate, on application of the executor, executors, executrix, administrator, administrators or administratrix, guardian or guardians, which shall be at public auction; and on the first Tuesday of the month, between the usual hours of sale at the place of public sales in the county where such real estate may lie, first giving sixty days' notice thereof in one of the gazettes of this State, and at the door of the court-house in the county where such sales are to be held, where it is made fully and plainly appear that the same will be for the benefit of the heirs and creditors of such estate; Provided, that a notice of such application for sale be first made known in one of the gazettes of this State, at least four months before any order absolute shall be made thereupon.

96. Sec. II. All laws or parts of laws militating against this act, Repealing clause. are hereby repealed.

Whereas, doubts have arisen whether an administrator can manage Preamble to the third section.
an estate by keeping the property together, and working the same for the interest of said estate, and the administrators are under the law compelled to rent or hire out the property ; for remedy whereof, 97. Sec. III. Be it enacted, That from and after the passing of Intestate estates may be managed at the discretion of the administrator.

this act, that intestates' estates may be so managed, as shall in the discretion of the administrator, under the direction of the inferior court sitting for ordinary purposes, be deemed most advantageous for said estate ; and that in all cases where any of the parties in interest shall make known to the court that the administrator is mismanaging any estate, said court shall immediately appoint three or more proper persons, who shall inquire into the situation of said estate, and report their decision to the next court, who shall make such order thereon as shall be deemed most to the interest of said estate. In case of mismanagement, what to be done.

An Act to amend an act, entitled an act to enable Feme Coverts to convey their Estates, and for confirming and making valid all Conveyances and Acknowledgments heretofore made by Feme Coverts, passed the 24th of April, 1760, so far as the same relates to Feme Coverts conveying their Dower.—Approved — 23, 1826. Vol. IV. 217.

98. Whereas, the before-recited act, in order to enable the husband to convey the entire interest which he has in lands and tenements, requires that the wife, by her own free consent, become a party in the deed of conveyance with her husband, and make, sign, seal, and deliver a formal relinquishment of her interest [of] dower in and to the premises herein described ; for remedy whereof, Preamble.

Be it enacted, That from and immediately after the passing of this act, all conveyances of lands and tenements made by the husband alone during the coverture shall be legal and valid, and effectually convey the entire premises therein described, except such lands as the husband may have become possessed of by his intermarriage with said feme covert ; any law, usage, custom, or rule of court to the contrary notwithstanding ; Provided, that nothing herein contained shall prevent the widow from her right to dower in all lands of which her husband may have died seized and possessed. Widows not entitled to dower in lands of their husbands conveyed during coverture. Exception. Proviso.

99. Sec. II. [Re-enacted. See Sec. 117.]

Sec. III. So much of the above-recited act as militates against this is hereby repealed.

An Act to amend an act for the better Protection and Security of Orphans and their Estates, passed on the 18th day of February, 1799.
Approved — 20, 1826. Vol. IV. 217.

100. From and after the passage of this act, if any guardian heretofore appointed, or hereafter to be appointed to any minor or minors, insane person or lunatic, should be desirous of obtaining letters dismisory from such guardianship, it shall and may be lawful for such guardian to apply to the court of ordinary whence his letter issued, and obtain an order nisi, requiring all persons concerned to appear at the next term of said court, to show cause why he, she, or they should not be dismissed from said guardianship. Guardians of minors, insane persons, &c. how to obtain letters dismisory.

101. Sec. II. It shall be the duty of any guardian, so obtaining such order nisi, to publish the same for forty days in one or more of Rule nisi to be published for forty days.

the public gazettes of this State, having the most extensive circulation in the county where the application is made; and when it shall be shown to the court that such publication has been made, it shall be the duty of said court strictly to examine the returns, accounts, and vouchers of such guardian, and take such further order, or grant letters dismissory, as the circumstances of the case may require.

What to be done with the property, &c. of the ward in the hands of the guardian.

102. Sec. III. Whenever it shall be found that any guardian applying to be dismissed under the provisions of this act, shall have in his or her hands any money, property, or effects belonging to his or her ward or wards, the same shall be delivered to the court of ordinary, who, by their clerk, or such other person as the court may deem proper, willing to accept the same, shall take charge thereof, and manage the same for the benefit of such minor, lunatic, or insane person, until the appointment of another guardian.

The clerk, if guardian, to give bond.

103. Sec. IV. Whenever it shall become necessary for any clerk of the court of ordinary to take upon himself the duty of guardian as aforesaid, he shall give bond and security for the faithful discharge of his duty as in ordinary cases of guardianship.

Guardian's bonds to be in double the value of property.

104. Sec. V. After the passing of this act, it shall be the duty of the court of ordinary to require of all guardians good and sufficient security for the faithful discharge of their duty as guardians, in a sum double the supposed value of the property belonging to said ward or wards, payable to the inferior court sitting as a court of ordinary.

An Act to authorize the Court of Ordinary in the different Counties in this State to grant and issue Letters of Guardianship upon the Persons and Property of Illegitimate Children.—Approved Dec. 18, 1827. Vol. IV. 219.

Guardianship of illegitimate children.

105. From and immediately after the passage of this act, illegitimate children shall be placed upon the same footing with orphans, so far as to authorize and empower the different courts of ordinary within this State to confide the management of their persons and property to guardians, in all cases where the said courts may deem it necessary; any law, usage, or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

An Act to alter and amend an act, entitled an act to alter and amend an act to alter and amend the twelfth Section of an act to protect the Estates of Orphans, and to make permanent Provision for the Poor, passed December 16, 1811.—Approved Dec. 21, 1827. Vol. IV. 219.

Preamble.

106. Whereas, by the above-recited acts the power is vested in the inferior courts of the several counties of this State (when sitting for ordinary purposes) to order the sale of the real estate of testators or intestates, upon application of executors, guardians, or administrators, for the benefit of the heirs and creditors, no power is given to said courts to order the sale of any real estate belonging to orphans other than such as is acquired by them from their testator or intestate, by reason of which frequent and manifest injury is sustained by orphans and others holding real estate other than such as is acquired by descent; for remedy whereof,

Courts of ordinary may order the sale of real estates of orphans, idiots, lunatics, &c.

Be it enacted, That from and after the passing of this act, the justices of the inferior courts in the several counties in this State when sitting for ordinary purposes shall be authorized to order a sale of any part, or the whole of the real estate of any orphan or orphans, lunatic or idiot, illegitimate or illegitimates, upon application of the executor or executors, or executrix, administrator or administrators, or administratrix, guardian or guardians, where it is fully and plainly appear that the same will be for the benefit of such orphan or orphans, idiot or lunatic, illegitimate or illegitimates, under the same rules and restrictions as are by law pointed out for the sale of real estates of testators and intestates.

Sec. II. All laws militating against this act are hereby repealed.

Repealing clause.

An Act declaring and making certain the law regulating the rights of husbands in and to the property of their deceased wives, and for other purposes.—Approved 26th Dec. 1827. Vol. IV. 220.

107. Whereas the legislature of this State did, on the 25th of Dec. 1821, pass an act, entitled "An act to amend and explain an act, passed the 12th Dec. 1804, entitled An Act to amend an act, entitled An Act to carry into effect the sixth section of the fourth article of the constitution, touching the distribution of intestates' estates, directing the manner of granting letters of administration, letters testamentary, and marriage licenses, passed 23d Dec. 1789, as respects advancements to children in the lifetime of the intestate," by the second section of which act it is provided, "that in case of a feme-covert dying intestate, the husband may demand and have administration of their rights and credits, and other real and personal estates, and recover and enjoy the same, without being subject to distribution;" and whereas, the constitutionality of said second section is doubted, by reason of its departure from the title of said bill; for remedy whereof,

Be it enacted, That in every case where a feme-covert has died within this State intestate since the said 25th of Dec. 1821, or may hereafter die intestate, the husband shall and may demand and have administration of their rights and credits, and of other real and personal estates, and recover and enjoy the same without being subject to distribution; any law, usage, or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

Husband sole heir of his intestate wife.

An Act to authorize and require administrators de bonis non on the estates of deceased administrators to be brought in by scire facias and made defendants: also to prescribe the mode of effecting service of orders of court taken against executors, administrators, or guardians who are alleged to be mismanaging the estates they respectively represent.—Approved 20th Dec. 1828. Vol. IV. 223.

108. From and after the passing of this act, it shall and may be lawful in all suits either in law or equity, brought against a former administrator on whose decease letters of administration de bonis non may be granted, to issue a scire facias to make such administrator a party at any time after the granting of such letters of administration de bonis non.

Administrators, "de bonis non," to be made parties by scire facias.

109. Sec. II. In all cases where an executor, administrator, or guardian is alleged to be mismanaging the estate which they may respectively represent, and the court shall pass an order requiring such executor, administrator, or guardian to show cause why such executor, administrator, or guardian should not be compelled to give security for such executorship, administration, or guardianship revoked, it shall and may be lawful for the sheriff of the county to effect service of a copy of such order personally on said executor, administrator, or guardian, as the case may be, at least twenty days before the sitting of the court at which it is made returnable.

Service of rules on ex's, adm's, or guard's for mismanagement.

How, when the party has removed or absconded.

110. Sec. III. In all such cases above alluded to, when the party against whom the said order shall be taken, shall remove out of the limits of the county or State, or absconds or conceals himself, or stands in defiance of a peace officer, it shall and may be lawful on the return of the fact by the sheriff, to cause a publication of said order of court to appear in some one of the public gazettes of this State at least three times, and such publication shall be deemed an equivalent to such personal service.*

Repealing
clause.

Sec. IV. All laws or parts of laws militating against this act are hereby repealed.

An Act to amend an act, entitled an act for the better protection of orphans and their estates, passed on the 18th day of Feb. 1799.—
Approved 22d Dec. 1828. Vol. IV. 223.

Preamble.

111. Whereas, doubts have been entertained whether an executor is entitled to any beneficial interest in his testator's estate other than the commissions now allowed by law for his care and trouble in the management of said estate; wherefore,

Ex's to have no beneficial int't under a will, not expressly mentioned, except his commissions.

Be it enacted, That no executor or executors in this State shall, either at law or in equity, be entitled to any beneficial interest under and by virtue of the will or testament of their testator, except not therein expressly mentioned, except their commissions as now allowed by law, but they shall hold their residuum or undivided real or personal estate as a trustee for the distributees or next of kin of their deceased testator or testatrix.

Letters of a female ex'r,
&c. abate on her marriage.

112. Sec. II. If any widow or femme sole, after obtaining letters testamentary of administration or of guardianship, shall marry, the letters so granted shall abate during the coverture, but the husband may be entitled to such letters upon his giving bond and security and taking the oath required by law, or the court of ordinary may in their discretion grant the same to any other person entitled thereto, according to the laws of this State.

Service of rules on ex'r, adm'r's or guardians.

113. Sec. III. When the justices of the inferior court or courts of ordinary, shall or may issue a rule nisi against executors, administrators, or guardians, a personal service by the sheriff or his deputy, or a copy of the rule shall be left by him at the executor's, administrator's, or guardian's notorious place of abode, which shall be deemed a legal service; and the justices of the inferior court or court of ordinary shall proceed to decide the cause as if a personal service had been effected; and in case the party should have removed without the jurisdiction of the court, then a publication in one of the newspapers nearest his former place of residence, once a week for three weeks shall be deemed a sufficient and legal notice.†

*An Act to require the clerks of the court of ordinary of the several counties of this State, to record in their offices all guardians' and administrators' bonds.—*Approved 18th Dec. 1829. Vol. IV. 115.

Guard'ns and adm'r's bonds to be recorded.

114. From and after the passage of this act, it shall be the duty of the clerks of the court of ordinary of the several counties of this State to record, in a book to be kept for that purpose, all guardians' and administrators' bonds taken before the court of ordinary of their several counties, within six days after the same is executed.

* See Sec. 113 for a provision on the same subject two days later.
† And see Sec. 110.

Sec. II. All laws and parts of laws militating against this act are hereby repealed. Repealing clause.

An Act in addition to the acts concerning the guardianship of minors.

Approved Dec. 19th, 1829. Vol. IV. 229.

115. Whereas, injury sometimes results to slaves and plantations belonging to minors, from the practice of hiring and renting them indiscriminately to the highest bidder; and whereas, it may sometimes be desirable to keep such slaves together, and have them worked for the benefit of said minors; Preamble.

Be it therefore enacted, That guardians may exercise, under an order of the inferior court sitting for ordinary purposes, a sound discretion in hiring slaves under their control, either publicly or privately, as may be most conducive to the safety and comfort of the slaves, and the permanent interest of the owners. Guard'ns may hire out slaves pub. or privately.

116. Sec. II. In cases in which it may manifestly comport with the safety and comfort of the slaves and the interest of the minors, the guardians may keep them together, and have them employed in such agricultural or other operations as said guardians may deem manifestly expedient, under a like order of said court. Or may keep them together.

117. Sec. III. When it may be manifestly expedient, guardians may cause plantations, or any part of them, belonging to minors, to be managed and cultivated for their benefit; and when minors may not be possessed of lands for cultivation, their guardians may apply such portion of their disposable funds as may properly be applied to that purpose, to the purchase of such reasonable portion of land as may be necessary for the purposes of this act, or they may, if expedient, rent lands for the same purpose, under a like order of said court. And may cultivate or purchase or rent land, with leave of court.

118. Sec. IV. Guardians shall keep regular accounts of receipts and expenditures in the discharge of their duties under this act, and make regular returns to the justices of the inferior courts sitting for ordinary purposes, as required by the laws which now are or hereafter may be in force for the government of guardians. Guard'ns to keep and return regular accounts.

An Act to amend the act of the 23d Dec. 1826, to amend the act to enable feme coverts to convey their estates, and for confirming and making valid all conveyances and acknowledgments heretofore made by feme coverts, passed the 24th of April, 1760, so far as the same relates to feme coverts conveying their dower; and also to enable the wife to inherit the whole estate of her deceased husband.*—Approved Dec. 21st, 1829. Vol. IV. 225.

117. Whereas it is provided in the second section of the act of the 23d of Dec. 1826, "That whenever it shall so happen that any person shall die intestate and without issue, his wife shall inherit the whole estate, both real and personal, of her deceased husband, after paying his just debts;" and whereas, doubts are entertained of the constitutional validity of said enactment, on account of a want of conformity between the title and the body of the act; Widows inherit all the personality of intestates without issue.

Be it therefore enacted, That the said recited second section of the act of 1826 shall be, and it is hereby declared to be in full force and effect after the passage of this act, so far as the same may affect any case or cases that may hereafter arise.

* For that act, see Conveyances, Sec. 4.

An Act to authorize the inferior courts of this State, when sitting for ordinary purposes, to order the sale of any slave or slaves belonging to the estates of testators, or intestates, or wards.—Approved Dec. 21, 1829. Vol. IV. 227.

The courts of ordinary may order the sale of slaves.

Which shall be on the first Tuesday in the month.

To be advertised 60 days.

Four months' notice of application for sale of, to be given.

118. It shall and may be lawful for the inferior courts of the several counties in this State, when sitting for ordinary purposes, to order the sale of any slave or slaves belonging to the estate of any testator, or intestate, or ward, on the application of the executor or executors, or executrix, administrator, administrators, or administratrix, or guardian or guardians, which shall be at public auction, and on the first Tuesday of the month, between the usual hours of sale, at the place of public sales in the county where the letters testamentary of administration or guardianship may have been granted, giving sixty days' notice thereof in one of the gazettes of this State, and at the door of the courthouse of the county where such sales are to be held, when it is made fully and plainly appear that the same will be for the benefit of the heirs and creditors of such estate, or of the ward of such guardian or guardians; Provided, that a notice of such application for leave to sell be first made known in one of the public gazettes of this State, at least four months before any order absolute shall be made thereupon.

An Act to require the justices of the inferior courts of this State, while sitting for ordinary purposes, to declare an intestacy in certain cases.—Approved 19th Dec. 1834. Pam. 88.

Marriage or birth of child, is a revocation of a will.

119. In all cases when a person, after having made a will, shall marry or have born a child or children, and no provision shall be made in said will for the wife after married, or child or children after born, and shall depart this life without revoking said will, or altering it subsequent to said after-marriage, or subsequent to the birth of said after-born child or children, the justices of the inferior court of the county, while sitting as a court of ordinary, having jurisdiction of the case, shall pass an order declaring that such person died intestate; and his estate shall be distributed under the laws of this State regulating the distribution of intestates' estates: Provided, nevertheless, that either party, being dissatisfied with the decision of the said court, may enter an appeal to the superior court, as in other cases.

An Act to authorize the courts of ordinary of the different counties of this State to issue commissions of lunacy, and to regulate the proceedings thereon.—Approved 22d Dec. 1834. Pam. 86.

Commission of Lunacy.

Return.

Guardian.

120. From and after the passing of this act the courts of ordinary of the different counties of this State shall, upon the petition of any person, supported by his or her affidavit, setting forth that any other person is an idiot, lunatic, or insane person, and incapable of managing his or her affairs, issue a commission, directed to any twelve discreet and proper persons, requiring them to examine, by inspection, the person alleged to be an idiot, lunatic, or insane person, and to hear and examine witnesses upon oath, if necessary, as to his or her state of mind, and to make return to the court of ordinary whether or not the said person be an idiot, lunatic, or insane person; and if the said persons, so appointed, shall return the said person to be an idiot, lunatic, or insane person, the court of ordinary shall appoint a guardian for such person in time of the law now of force: Provided, always, that the commissioners appointed by the court, as aforesaid, shall take an oath before they enter upon the discharge of the duty enjoined upon them before some proper magistrate of this State, or of the State where the examination may take place, "well and truly to execute the said commission to the best of their skill and ability:" and provided, also, that one of the commissioners acting under the said commission shall be a physician.

121. Sec. II. The person applying for said commission shall give at least ten days' notice in writing of his or her intended application to the nearest adult relative or relations of the person alleged to be an idiot, lunatic, or insane person, not exceeding three in number, before the court shall issue said commission; but if there be no relative of such person within this State, the court may issue such commission without such notice being given.

Ten days' notice of application for commission.

122. Sec. III. In case the person making the application aforesaid, or any relation or friend of the person alleged to be an idiot, lunatic, or insane person shall be dissatisfied with the report made by the said commissioners, such person may, upon paying all costs, and giving security for all future costs, within four days after such report is acted upon by the court of ordinary, enter an appeal to the superior court of the county, where the sanity or insanity of the person shall be tried by a special jury, selected as in other cases; but the guardian appointed by the court of ordinary shall act as such till the matter is determined in the superior court.

Appeal from the report of commissioners to Sup. court.

Guardian Pendent lite.

123. Sec. IV. If the commissioners shall report the person an idiot, lunatic, or insane person, the costs of the proceeding shall be fixed by the court of ordinary in their discretion, and shall be paid out of the estate of such person; but if the commissioners report that the person is neither an idiot, lunatic, nor insane person, the costs shall be borne by the person who applied for said commission.

Costs.

Sec. V. All laws and parts of laws militating against this are hereby repealed.

An Act to authorize executors, administrators, and guardians to have recorded all receipts showing a final settlement with all or either of the heirs and distributees of the estates they may represent, and to regulate their admission in evidence.—Approved 22d Dec. 1834. Pam. 95.

124. From and after the passage of this act it shall be the duty of the clerks of the superior courts of the respective counties in this State to record all receipts showing a final settlement between any executor, administrator, or guardian, and the heirs, wards, or distributees of the estate the said executor, administrator, or guardian may represent: provided, said receipt has been attested by two witnesses, one of whom must be a justice of the peace, a judge of the inferior or superior court in this State; and such receipt, so recorded, shall be received in evidence, without further proof, in any of the courts in this State.

Receipts on final settlement of Ex. Ad. or Guard. to be recorded.

125. Sec. II. Whenever any executor, administrator, or guardian shall make it appear that said original receipt is lost or destroyed, and that the same is not in his, her, or their power, custody, or control, then a copy of said receipt, certified to by the clerk where the original was recorded, shall be admissible as testimony in any of the courts of law or equity in this State.

Copy, evidence, if original lost.

126. Sec. III. Nothing in the provision of this act shall be so construed as to prevent any executor, administrator, or guardian from giving in testimony any receipt, after legal proof of its execution, though the same may not have been recorded.

Other receipts not excluded.

Clerk's fee. Sec. IV. The clerk shall receive as a fee for the recording of said receipt the sum of fifty cents.

An Act to alter the law in relation to lapsed legacies.—Approved Dec. 23d, 1836. Pam. 160.

Legacies not to lapse if any issue of the legatee are living. 127. From and after the passage of this act, where any person named as legatee in the will of any other person, shall die before the testator, leaving issue, that shall be alive at the death of such testator, the legacy: Provided, the same be absolute and without remainder, or limitation, shall not lapse as heretofore, but shall vest in such issue.

FENCES.

An Act for the better regulating Fences in the Province of Georgia.—Approved March 27, 1759. Vol. I. 235.

Whereas an act passed the 7th day of March, 1755, in the first session of the first general assembly of this province, entitled “An Act to regulate Fences in the province of Georgia,” has been found very ineffectual for the purposes thereby intended: And whereas, the fixing and establishing fit and proper dimensions for all fences and enclosures to be erected, and made in and about the several plantations and settlements of this province, would not only prevent the several owners and occupiers thereof, so fenced and enclosed, from receiving any damage from the irruption, straying, or breaking in of cattle, horses, sheep, goats, or swine, but would likewise obviate any doubts or disputes happening or arising as to the strength and sufficiency of such fences and enclosures, in case of any irruption or trespass to be committed within the same,

What fences shall be lawful. Worm fences.

Paling.

Ditch.

Owners of cattle not liable for any damage for breaking through unlawful fences.

1. Sec. I. Be it enacted, That from and after the 29th day of March, 1759, all fences or enclosures, commonly called worm fences, that shall be erected and made around or about any garden, orchard, rice ground, indigo field, plantation, or settlement, in this province, shall be six feet high when staked and ridged, and from the ground to the height of three feet of every such fence or enclosure, the rails thereof shall not be more than four inches distant from each other; and that all fences or enclosures that shall consist of paling, shall likewise be five feet high from the ground, and the pales thereof not more than two inches asunder: Provided always, that where any fence or enclosure shall be made with a ditch or trench, the same shall be four feet wide, and in that case the fence shall be six feet high from the bottom of the ditch.

2. Sec. II. If any trespass or damage shall be committed in any garden, orchard, rice ground, indigo field, plantation, or settlement, not being fenced and enclosed in manner as hereinbefore is directed, by the irruption, breaking in, or straying of any cattle, horses, sheep, goats, or swine, the owner of such cattle, horses, sheep, goats, or swine, shall not be liable to answer for such trespass, or to make good or satisfy any damage or injury that shall happen or be committed by reason thereof; and in case any person or persons shall kill, maim, hurt, or destroy, or cause to be killed, maimed, hurt, or destroyed, any cattle, horses, sheep, goats, or swine, so trespassing, straying, or breaking into any garden, orchard, rice ground, indigo field, plantation, or settlement, not fenced and enclosed in manner as by this act is directed, all and every such person and persons shall answer and make good to the owner or owners thereof all such injury and damages as he or they shall sustain thereby, the same to be recovered on due proof thereof, before any two justices of the peace for the district where the offence shall be committed, and to be levied by warrant of distress and sale of the offender's goods.*

Sec. III. and IV. [Direct justices of the peace to appoint three freeholders to assess the damages, which the justices are to levy by distress and sale. These two sections, as well as such parts of this and all other acts as give the justices power to assess damages, are repealed by the present constitution, and the judicial act of 1799.]

3. Sec. V. No planter or other person, not having a lawful fence, shall fix in any of his enclosures, any canes, or stakes, or any thing that shall, or may kill, maim, hurt, or destroy, any cattle, horses, sheep, goats, or swine, under the forfeiture of twenty shillings sterling for every such offence, on being convicted thereof before any justice of the peace of the district or place where such offender shall dwell, upon confession of such offender, or proof by any one or more credible witness or witnesses upon oath, one-half thereof to be paid to the informer, and the other half to the poor of the said district, the same to be levied by distress and sale of the offender's goods, by warrant of the justice, before whom such offender shall be convicted, returning to the owner the overplus, if any, after all charges deducted.†

4. Sec. VI. Provided always, and be it further enacted, That in all trials to be had before one or more justices of the peace by virtue of this act, the right of the party to the lands on which the trespass or damage shall be said to be done, shall not be brought into question, but the same shall be taken for granted to all intents and purposes whatsoever.

Sec. VII. [Repeals the act of 1755.]

* All criminal jurisdiction was confined exclusively to the Superior courts, by the constitution of 1798: but was, as to some matters, restored to inferior jurisdictions by the amendment of 1811; and was conferred as to some other matters, on the corporation courts of certain sea-port towns, by the amendment of 1818. [See Art. III. Sec. 1. as amended, Appendix, Sec. 136.]

The compiler has been induced for several reasons to retain in most instances, those passages in the old laws which relate to the exercise of this jurisdiction by inferior magistrates. For in the first place, they are often so blended with those parts which still remain in force, that to expunge the one, would render the other less intelligible; besides garbling and deforming the structure of the statutes; which he has in all cases sought as far as possible to avoid.

A second and still stronger reason for this course, has arisen from a reference to several enactments since the constitution of 1798, and prior to the amendment of 1811. These have left him uncertain how far the legislature understood justices to be ousted by the reservation "exclusive and final jurisdiction in all criminal cases" to the Superior courts. [See 'Cotton Seed,' Sec. 5; Health, Sec. 12, 13; Slaves, Patrols, &c. Sec. 51; and many others.]

† For other acts of malicious mischief done to land-marks, woods, stacks, fences, dams, cattle, roads, &c. see Penal Laws, 275 to 282.

Stakes, &c. not to be fixed in enclosures, under 20 shillings penalty.

Title to lands not to be brought in question.

FEES.

An Act to revise and amend "An Act for ascertaining the Fees of the Public Officers of this State."—Approved Dec. 18, 1792. Vol. I. 226.*

1. Sec. I. The fees of the different public officers hereinafter mentioned, may be by them respectively received, as follows :

GOVERNOR'S FEES.

Governor's fees.	2. For signing a grant for 500 acres or under,†	1 00
	For signing a grant above 500 acres, and not exceeding 1000 acres,	2 00
	On all grants above 1000 acres, at and after the rate of two dollars for every 1000 acres therein contained.
	Ordering the great seal of the State to any paper of a private nature,	1 00
	Which sums shall be paid into the treasury for the public use, before any such grant or other paper is signed by the governor.

SECRETARY OF STATE'S FEES.

Secretary of state.	3. For a grant of land, and preparing and affixing the seal thereto, if 500 acres or under,	1 00
	If above 500 acres,	2 00
	For registering a grant,	50
	For a bond,	50
	For a testimonial with the great seal,	1 50
	For every search,	12½
	For every militia commission, to be paid by the public,	50
	Preparing and countersigning a dedimus potestatem,	50
	Entering satisfaction on every mortgage,	25
	Drawing and engrossing a proclamation,	1 00
	Fixing the great seal of the State to any other paper,	1 00
	For a certified copy of a grant or other paper, per copy sheet,	6½

SURVEYOR GENERAL'S FEES.

Surveyor general.	4. For examining a plat,	50
	For recording a plat not exceeding 500 acres,	75
	If exceeding 500 acres,	1 50
	If exceeding 1000 acres,	3 00
	Recording a plan of a town, township, or village,	10 00
	Transmitting a caveat to the governor, and attending thereon,	1 00
	A certified copy of an original record,	75
	A certified copy of an original warrant,	50
	A search,	12½
	Recording and issuing a certificate of a town lot,	50

COUNTY SURVEYOR'S FEES.‡

5. Surveying a town lot, and returning a certificate thereof to the surveyor general's office,	1 00
--	------

* The act here referred to, does not appear unless it is that of the 23d December, 1789, which is said (Watk. 389) to be obsolete. Perhaps rendered so by this act.

† The sums mentioned in the statute are reduced to federal currency at the rate of four and eight pence to the dollar.

‡ Twenty-five per cent. to be added to the fees of county surveyors, clerks of the superior and inferior courts, clerks of the court of ordinary, sheriffs, receivers of tax returns, constables, justices of the peace, jailers, coroners, and tax collectors. See State Officers, Sec. 2.

Surveying a tract of land, of or under 100 acres, . . .	2	68 $\frac{3}{4}$
Each hundred acres after the first, 2s. 6d.		53 $\frac{1}{4}$
Making a plat, recording, advertising, and transmitting the same to the surveyor general's office,	1	00
Entering a caveat, advertising and giving a certified copy thereof,	1	50
Attending the trial of the same,		75
Each postponement, to be paid by the person postponing the same,		50
Recording judgment, and giving a certified copy thereof,		50
Entering an appeal, and giving a certified copy thereof,	1	00
For a re-survey of land by order of court, of or under 100 acres; 12 shillings and sixpence for the first 100 acres,	2	68 $\frac{3}{4}$
For every hundred acres after the first,		53 $\frac{1}{4}$
For making and certifying a plat thereof, and transmitting the same,	1	00
And for any other re-survey, the same as aforesaid.

SHERIFF'S FEES. In civil cases.

6. For serving a copy of a process and returning the original,	1	50	Sheriff in civil cases.
If more than one defendant, for each additional copy served,		50
Levying an execution on the body or property,	1	50
Summoning each witness,		50
On all sums where the execution does not exceed 64 dollars and 28 cents, (15 l.) five per centum, on the amount of property sold; on all sums above 64 dollars and 28 cents, and where the execution does not exceed 428 dollars and 56 cents, (100 l.) two and a half per centum; on all sums where the execution exceeds 428 dollars and 56 cents, one per centum; and that no commission shall be demanded where the property is not actually sold.
Making out and signing a bill of sale of other property,	1	00
Provided , That fees shall be allowed only for one bill of sale, where the same will be sufficient to convey the property sold to one person or joint purchasers; unless the purchaser or purchasers shall choose more than one.
Conducting a debtor under confinement before a judge or court,		1	00
Summoning a jury to try a caveat, and attendance,		1	00
Summoning a special jury, and all other services, attending trial of an appeal,		1	00
For a bail bond,		1	00
Making out and executing titles to land,		3	00
If wrote by the purchaser,		1	00

SHERIFF'S FEES. In criminal cases.

7. For recommitting any person, when a habeas corpus is brought to his relief,	1	00	Sheriff in criminal cases.
Summoning a jury,	1	00
On every copy of a mittimus,		25
For every mile a prisoner shall be removed on a habeas corpus,		25
For removing a prisoner by habeas corpus, when no mileage is paid, per day,		1 00
Executing a criminal,		8 00
Attending a person taken by a warrant, to the judge's chambers,		75
Conducting a prisoner before a judge or court to and from jail,	1	00

Executing a warrant of escape,	75
Each mile to serve the same, (two pence,)	3½
Executing and returning a bench warrant,	1 00
Each mile to serve the same, (two pence,)	3½
Putting a person in the stocks,	50
For whipping, cropping or branding a criminal,	1 00
Apprehending a person suspected, if committed or held to bail,	1 00
For each person not exceeding two, who may be employed to guard a prisoner to jail, per day,	1 00

JAILER'S FEES.

Jailer.	8. Receiving a prisoner or debtor,	50
	Turning the key or discharging a prisoner in virtue of a habeas corpus, or by order of the court, judge, or justice,	50
	Dieting a prisoner per day, allowing two pounds of bread, one and a half pound of beef, or one pound of pork, with a sufficiency of water, all wholesome provisions,	37½
	Turning the key on commitment of any person,	50
	Dieting negroes, allowing one quart of rice or corn meal per day,	12½

NOTARY PUBLIC'S FEES.

Notary public.	9. For every protest and oath included, not exceeding sixteen copy sheets of ninety words,	2 00
	Administering an oath in any other case,	25
	For each attendance on any person, to prove any matter or thing as notary public, and certifying the same,	50
	Every other certificate,	25
	Noting a protest,	1 00
	Registering a protest, per copy sheet,	6½
	Copy of a protest, per copy sheet,	6½

CORONER'S FEES.

Coroner.	10. For summoning an inquest on a dead body, and returning the inquisition,	10 00
	For providing a coffin, and burial expenses,	3 00
	In all other cases the same as the sheriff.

REGISTER OF PROBATE'S FEES.*

Clerk of the court of ordinary.	11. Receiving application and granting citation,	1 00
	Signing a warrant of appraisement,	50
	Signing the probate of a will,	1 00
	Recording a will or other paper, per copy sheet,	6½
	A certified copy of a will or other paper, per copy sheet,	6½
	Receiving an appraisement, and recording the same. If under 100 dollars,	50
	If above 100 dollars,	1 00
	Receiving an application, and granting letters dismissory,	1 00
	Granting citation to show cause why administration should not be repealed or set aside,	2 00
	For granting letters of administration, or letters testamentary,	2 00
	For entering a caveat against administration being granted, or will proven,	1 00
	For every marriage license,†	1 00
	Attending judges for determining a caveat, per day,	1 00

* Clerk of the court of ordinary; and for some other of his fees, see Sec. 18, 36, 37.

† And see Executors and Administrators, 51.

FEES OF THE GOVERNOR'S SECRETARIES.

12. A copy of any paper, not exceeding two copy sheets,	25	Governor's secretaries.
A copy of any paper, exceeding two copy sheets, per copy sheet,	12½
Administering an oath of office to any person, where the profits thereof amounts to upwards of 107 dollars and 14 cents (25 l.) per annum, and giving a certificate thereof,	1 00
Certifying a copy or extract,	25
For entering a testimonial,	25

FEES OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL.*

13. Drawing a capias against a person indicted, and not bound over, or against a person presented by a grand jury,	25	Attorneys and solicitors general.
Drawing a capias against a defaulting juror,	50
Drawing an indictment against a person presented by the grand jury, and bound over,	1 00
Entering a noli prosequi ,	12½
Attending at judge's chambers, to take the affidavit of any person, in criminal cases,	1 00
Drawing an affidavit, or any other instrument of writing, per copy sheet,	6¼
For a subpoena in criminal cases,	25
Retaining fee against persons indicted,	3 00

TREASURER'S FEES.

14. For every search,	12½	Treasurer.
An extract,	50

ATTORNEYS' FEES.

15. On each cause commenced and tried in the superior or inferior courts,	4 00	Attorneys.
On each appeal prosecuted to judgment, except appeals from a justice's court,	4 00
Where the defendant prevails, to receive the fee in lieu of the plaintiff's attorney.

JURORS AND WITNESSES' FEES. In civil cases.

16. To the petit jury for each cause tried, to be paid by the plaintiff, and taxed in the bill of costs,	1 00	Jurors and witnesses.
Special jury for each appeal tried, to be paid by the appellant, and taxed in the bill of costs,	1 00
To each witness per day, for his or her attendance, for coming and returning, allowing 30 miles for a day, not allowing for more than three witnesses, to be paid by the person summoning the same, and taxed in the bill of costs,	75
The witnesses to have the same allowance in criminal cases, where the person prosecuted is found guilty.

CLERKS' FEES. In criminal cases.

17. Every writ and seal,	25	Clerk, in criminal cases.
Every pannel of a jury,	25
Order for fine on a juror, (unless excuse be made,) and entering the same,	25
Ordering a fine peremptory, entering and reading,	25
Copying the same for the attorney general,	25
Fee on a writ of capias and seal,	25

* And solicitors general.

The clerk's attendance in hearing a motion in arrest of judgment, or at the judge's chambers on a petition preferred, or a habeas corpus, or to take the examination or information of any person,	75
Taking an examination, information, or affidavit, per copy sheet,	6½
Drawing a warrant,	25
A commitment or liberate,	25
Taking an acknowledgment of bail before the judge, or in court, and drawing recognizance thereof,	50
Every subpoena ticket,	12½
Every indictment, if the criminal be found guilty,	50
Every arraignment, or charging a defendant with indictment, if found guilty,	25
Entering a plea,	12½
Calling a jury,	12½
Clerk's attendance on every case tried,	25
Every sentence or judgment, and entering the same,	25
Copy of every indictment, or other paper, (four pence,)	7½
Copy of judgment to the sheriff, and order thereon,	25
Calling a traverse, or discharging a recognizance,	25
Recording the proceedings of a cause, per copy sheet,	6½
Every person acquitted by proclamation,	25
Every search,	12½
A writ of dedimus potestatem,	1 00
Renewal of capias,	25

FEES OF THE CLERK IN THE SUPERIOR COURT. In civil cases.

In civil cases. 18. Every suit commenced therein, if settled before judgment, and each nonsuit,	1 50
For each copy of a writ, where there are more than one defendant, after the first copy,	50
Every suit so commenced and prosecuted to judgment, including every service to entering up satisfaction,	3 00
For each appeal, if settled before verdict,	1 00
For each appeal prosecuted to judgment, including every service to entering up satisfaction,	2 00
For every writ of subpoena and ticket,	12½
For a writ of partition of land,	3 00
For issuing a commission to examine witnesses,	1 00
For making out letters of guardianship, and taking security,	1 00
For every order for the sale of land, and copy thereof,	50
Recording any instrument of writing, per copy sheet,	6½
Each search,	12½
A certified copy of any record, per copy sheet,	6½
For every foreclosure of any mortgage, and recording proceedings,	1 00
Every inquiry of title respecting property levied on by the sheriff, and claimed by a third person,	1 00
For every tavern license, including every service therein,	1 00

CLERK OF THE INFERIOR COURT.

Clerk of the inferior court. 19. For each cause settled before judgment, and each appeal to the superior court,	1 50
For each copy of a writ, where there are more than one defendant, after the first copy,	50
Each cause commenced therein and prosecuted to judgment, not appealed from, including every service to entering up satisfaction,	3 00

For subpoena tickets, commissions, and letters of guardianship, and inquiries respecting property claimed, nonsuits, and any other service performed, the same fees as allowed to the clerk of the superior court.

Each appeal prosecuted to judgment from a justice's court, 1 00
If settled by the parties, 50
Including every service to entering satisfaction.

FEES OF THE CLERK OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, AND THE SECRETARY OF THE SENATE.

20. For every extract of a private nature, per copy sheet, 6½
For certifying an extract of a private nature, 25
For an act passed for the benefit of an individual, or to incorporate a private society, 2 00

Clerk of house of representatives, and secretary of senate.

FEES OF A CONSTABLE.

21. Serving a warrant, summons, or attachment, in civil cases, 25
Summoning every witness,* 25
For attending a grand jury, for each bill found, to be paid by the delinquent, 25
Serving a warrant, in criminal cases, 1 00
For carrying a prisoner to jail, per mile, two pence, 3½
For keeping and maintaining a prisoner before examination, not exceeding twenty-four hours, 37½

FEES OF THE POWDER RECEIVER.

22. Every barrel of powder of 100 pounds weight lodged in the public magazine, and delivered out, to be paid by the owner, 37½
And in proportion for any other quantity.

Powder receiver.

23. Sec. II. None of the fees hereinbefore set down or expressed, shall in any case (jailer's fees for dieting prisoners, and coroner's fees for summoning an inquest, and returning an inquisition, and providing a coffin, and burial expenses of a person found dead, and the sheriff's fees for executing a criminal, excepted) be charged to the public, for or on account of any inability in the person who ought to have paid the same.†

In what cases the public to be accountable for fees.

24. Sec. III. Every public officer and person herein mentioned, or their deputy, or agent, and every person acting as such, shall, if thereunto required, be obliged to give a statement of the fees demanded, and a receipt for the same, to any person paying any lawful or pretended fee or fees of office, claimed by, and paid to any such public officer, or person hereinbefore mentioned, his deputy, or agent, or person acting as such, under pain that every public officer, or person hereinbefore mentioned, his deputy, or agent, or person acting as such, shall, for every neglect or refusal, forfeit the sum of 25 shillings, with costs of suit, to be sued for, recovered, and applied in manner herein-after directed: Provided always nevertheless, that all suits and actions which shall be brought or commenced by virtue of this act, shall be instituted before the end of twelve months; and not otherwise.

Public officers to give a statement of, and receipt for their fees.

Penalty.

Proviso.

25. Sec. IV. If at any time after the passing of this act, any public officer or person herein mentioned, or his deputy, or agent, or any person acting as such, shall, under pretence of any matter or thing done, transacted, or performed by any such public officer, or person, or his

To forfeit fourfold for over charges.

* For a constable's other fees in civil cases, see Justices of the Peace, 26.

† How the property of the delinquent is to be secured to satisfy the fees, see Penal Laws, Sec. 9, 10—Judiciary, 118, 202.

deputy, or agent, or any person acting as such, demand any other or greater fee than is set down in the table hereunto annexed, every such person so offending shall, for every such offence, forfeit and pay fourfold to the party aggrieved, for the sum so unjustly demanded or taken, to be recovered with costs of suit, before any justice of the peace: Provided the sum does not exceed his jurisdiction, or in any court of record within this State.

Tables of fees to be set up in public offices, on pain of 50 cents per day forfeiture.

26. Sec. V. Every public officer, or person, herein named, and every deputy, agent, or person acting as such, shall within ninety days after the passing of this act, cause a true and exact copy of the table or docket of his fees, as the same is established by this act, such table or docket to be in fair words and figures, without any abbreviation, except sums, to be placed up, and to be constantly kept in a conspicuous part of the room or place where he shall usually execute the business of his office or employment, under pain of forfeiting fifty cents for each day's neglect of fixing up the same.

Officers may recover double costs.

27. Sec. VI. In case any public officer, or any person hereinbefore mentioned, shall be sued or prosecuted for, or by reason of any fee of office whatever, and verdict shall be given for such public officer, or other person; or if the plaintiff or prosecutor shall discontinue such suit or prosecution, or shall be nonsuited, then such public officer, or other person, shall recover double costs.

How the fines, &c. are to be recovered and applied.

28. Sec. VII. All fines, penalties, and forfeitures, incurred under and by virtue of this act, shall be recovered by action in the superior or inferior courts, without any delay; and shall be applied, one moiety to the use of the State, and the other to the person or persons carrying on the prosecution to the conviction of the offender; (except such as come within the jurisdiction of a justice of the peace, and except also those forfeitures, which are declared payable to the party aggrieved.)

Officers may be dismissed for overcharging.

29. Sec. VIII. Any public officer who shall charge or take fees not allowed by this act, shall on conviction thereof be dismissed from office.

State fees to be paid in paper medium.

30. Sec. IX. The State fees in the executive department may be paid in the paper medium of this State.

Clerks to account for State fees heretofore collected.

31. Sec. X. The clerks of the courts respectively shall make a return, on oath, of the fees collected on behalf of the State, designating the paper medium from the specie, received by them previous to the passing of this act, and shall settle with the treasurer agreeably thereto.

Officers charging for services not performed to forfeit fourfold and be dismissed.

32. Sec. XI. Any public officer who shall presume, on any pretence whatever, to charge, demand, or receive fees for services not done or performed, every such person so offending, shall forfeit and pay to the party aggrieved, fourfold the sum so illegally charged, demanded, or received, and shall be immediately dismissed from office.

Witnesses to have no costs in justices' courts.

33. Sec. XII. No justice or justices of the peace, shall tax any costs for the attendance of witnesses in any cause tried before him or them.*

An Act more effectually to provide for the payment of sheriffs', jailers' and coroners' fees, which may be now due, or which may hereafter become due; and for vesting power in the inferior courts of this State for the purpose of carrying this act into full effect.—Approved Dec. 5, 1801. Vol. II. 39.

Tax to be levied to pay sheriffs', jailers', and coroners' fees.

35. Sec. I. From and after the passing of this act, the justices of the inferior courts are hereby required to levy annually, a county tax, equal to all fees which are due or may become due to the respective sheriffs, jailers, and coroners, within the several counties in this State, from the insolvency of prisoners, or for the maintenance of criminals, or in the case of coroners, for the payment of all fees which have or may become due such coroners for holding inquests on the bodies of persons found dead, and whose estate shall prove insufficient to discharge the legal fees: Provided, That all fees for holding inquests on the body of slaves, shall be paid by the owner of such slave or slaves; and it shall be the duty of the collector of the general tax, to collect and pay into the hands of the clerk of such courts, the amount of taxes so assessed and collected, by order of the justices aforesaid; which said amount shall be applied to the payment of such fees as may or have become due to such sheriffs, jailers, and coroners, as aforesaid; and the collector shall be allowed the same commissions and fees for such collection as is allowed by law for the collection of the general tax, and shall be liable to the same fines and forfeitures for any default, neglect, or improper conduct, which said fines and forfeitures may be imposed by the justices of the inferior courts at their discretion.

* Unless they reside out of the district. See Justices of the Peace, Sec. 11.

The owners to pay coroners's fees on negroes. Tax, how collected and applied.

Sec. II. [Repeals the act of 1796, (Vol. I. 234.) and all other repugnant acts.]

An Act to regulate the fees of clerks of the courts of ordinary, in certain cases.—Approved Dec. 20, 1824. Vol. IV. 113.

36. From and after the passing of this act, the clerks of the courts of ordinary in this State shall be, and they are hereby entitled to demand and receive the fees hereinafter stated;

Fees of the Clerk in certain cases prescribed.

Issuing letters of guardianship	$1 00
Taking a bond for guardian	0 50
Making out and signing indenture of apprenticeship	1 00
Rule nisi, in each case	0 50
Rule absolute, in each case	0 50
Issuing process against persons charged with mismanagement, in each case	0 50
For each additional copy	0 25
Issuing process against persons in default, for not making returns, in each case	0 50
For each additional copy	0 25
For each subpoena	0 12½
For entering an appeal and transmitting the proceedings to the superior court	2 00

37. Sec. II. In all other cases, where services are required to be performed by the several clerks of the court of ordinary in this State, and no fees are given by law, the said clerks shall be entitled to and receive the same fees as clerks of the superior and inferior courts are allowed for similar services; any law to the contrary notwithstanding.

In certain cases to receive same fees as Clerks of Superior Courts.

An Act to alter the jury's and attorney's fees in this State.—Approved Dec. 21, 1830. Pam. 123.

38. In each civil case, tried in the several courts of record of this State, the jury fee shall be three dollars, and the attorney's fee shall be two dollars.

Jury fee $3. Atto's, $2.

An Act to be entitled an act, the more effectually to compensate jurors and to explain an act assented to, the 21st day of Dec. 1830, entitled "an act to alter the jury's and attorney's fees in this State."—Approved Dec. 24, 1832. Pam. 114.

39. On all actions hereafter to be commenced in the superior or Jury $1 on confession.

inferior courts of this State, the fee of the jury shall be three dollars on all verdicts which may be signed, and that on all judgments which may be confessed in said courts, the jury fee shall be one dollar, to be paid by the party taking such verdict or judgment, to be taxed in the bill of costs.

Atto's fee never more than $2.

40. Sec. II. No part of the above recited act, or any existing law in relation to attorney's tax fees, shall be so construed as to entitle any attorney to a greater tax fee than two dollars in any one case.

Sec. III. All laws and parts of laws repugnant to this act are hereby repealed.

An Act to prescribe and point out the mode of collecting coroners' fees in the several counties of this State.—Approved Dec. 22d, 1835. Pam. 90.

Whereas, the laws of this State defining the duties of coroners in taking inquests on the body of a dead person, and also defining their fees, have not pointed out any mode for the collection of those fees; for remedy whereof—

May issue execution for his fees.

41. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That from and after the passage of this act, it shall and may be lawful for the coroners in this State to issue executions against the property of the person or estate, who by the existing laws are liable, in case of inquisition, for the amount of his fees in said case; which shall be directed to, and levied by a constable of the county, under the same rules and regulations as prevail in justices' courts in this State.

Sec. II. The coroner shall be entitled to thirty-one and a fourth cents for issuing said execution.

Sec. III. [Repeals all repugnant acts.]

An Act to compensate magistrates and constables for services required of them, which are unprovided for by law, and have no property to seize upon for the payment of costs.—Approved Dec. 26, 1835. Pam. 143.

Criminal examinations.

Trial of slaves.

Forcible entry and detrainer.

Rent cases.
Constable's
fee.

42. Sec. I. From and after the passage of this act, magistrates and constables, for the county or State, shall, in addition to the fees already allowed, receive the following fees for services hereinafter mentioned, that is to say: justices of the peace taking examinations of persons charged with criminal offences and witnesses, twenty-five cents each; issuing summons to magistrates to attend on the trial of slaves or free persons of color, twenty-five cents each; magistrates for attending said trial, provided the court consist of not more than three, to be charged seventy-five cents each; presiding with a jury to the offence of forcible entry and detainer under the fifteenth section of the ninth division of the penal code, seventy-five cents; for issuing summons to the party defendant, twenty-five cents; drawing jury and making out venire, fifty cents; for issuing process under the act to amend the rent laws of this State, passed December, 1827, one dollar; constables attending at a magistrate's office during the examination of a person charged with a criminal offence, seventy-five cents; serving summons on magistrates to attend trials of slaves or free persons of color, twenty-five cents each; bringing up prisoner from jail for trial or examination, fifty cents; attending on the superior or inferior court while in session, for each day's attendance, not exceeding four constables on one day, one dollar each; summoning jury under the fifteenth section of the ninth division of the penal code, one dollar.

Sec. II. [Repeals all conflicting acts.]

FOREIGNERS.

An Act for ascertaining the rights of Aliens, and pointing out a mode for the admission of Citizens.—Approved Feb. 7, 1785. Vol. I. 38.

Whereas the many advantages and peculiar blessings which this State enjoys may induce foreigners to apply for a participation thereof; And whereas, it is the intention of the legislature to confer those benefits on all such as may apply and do merit the same :

1. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That all free white persons, being aliens, or subjects of any foreign state or kingdom at peace with the United States of America, who shall register or enrol their names in the office of the clerk of the superior court of the county where such aliens purpose to reside, may be, and they are hereby vested with the rights and privileges of acquiring, possessing, or holding, and selling, devising, or otherwise disposing of all kinds of personal property, and renting houses or lands from year to year, and shall have the right of suing for all such debts, demands, or damages, other than for real estate,* as may arise or have arisen since the 12th day of July, 1782, either personally, or by attorney, or otherwise, and in case of death, by his, her, or their executors or administrators.

Rights of aliens, how secured.

May acquire and enjoy personal property, and may sue for debts that have arisen since 12th July, 1782.

Sec. II. [Prescribes the mode of naturalization—superseded by the constitution of the United States, Art. I. Sec. 8.]

2. Sec. III. Provided always, and be it enacted, That no such person shall be a member of the general assembly, or of the executive council, or hold any office of trust or profit, or vote for members of the general assembly for the term of seven years, and until the legislature shall, by a special act for that purpose, enable such person so to do : And provided also, that all such aliens or persons aforesaid, shall be subject and liable to pay such alien duties, as have been heretofore or may hereafter be imposed by the legislature.

Privileges and disabilities of such persons.

3. Sec. IV. No persons on any act of confiscation and banishment in this or either of the States,† nor any persons who have borne arms against this or the United States, that were citizens of this or either of the said States, during the war, shall avail him or themselves of any of the rights, privileges, or immunities intended to be given or conferred by this act, except such persons as may have availed themselves of coming in during the late war, under certain proclamations issued, and that may have been adopted and sanctioned by the legislature : Provided likewise, that this act shall in nowise extend, or be construed to extend to oblige such persons who may have applied to become citizens of this State, to undergo the probation herein set down or contained.

Persons on the bill of confiscation and banishment not to avail themselves of the rights granted to aliens.

4. Sec. V. If any person or persons under the age of sixteen years, shall, after the passing of this act, be sent abroad without the limits of the United States, and reside there three years, for the purpose of receiving an education under a foreign power, such person or persons, after their return to this State, shall for three years be considered and Disabilities of persons educated in foreign countries.

* But as to British subjects, see the 9th article of the treaty of amity, commerce, and navigation, with that power, dated 19th November, 1794. And as to Spanish subjects, see the 11th article of the treaty of 20th October, 1795, 1 Gray. App. 25, 53. And see further as to aliens, Tucker's Blackstone, Vol. I. Part 2d, Note L.

† Such persons are also excluded with others from the naturalization act of congress (sec. 4.) of April 14, 1802. See 1 Grayd. 311.

treated as aliens, in so far as not to be eligible to a seat in the legislature or executive authority, or to hold any office, civil or military, in the State for that term, and so in proportion for any greater number of years as he or they shall be absent as aforesaid, but shall not be injured or disqualified in any other respect.

An Act for the security of Foreigners, who may lend money at interest, on real estates.—Approved Feb. 21, 1785. Vol. I. 243.

Whereas the borrowing of money on interest from foreigners may benefit this State, and it is but reasonable, that any foreigner lending money should be secured on real estates by way of mortgage, and at liberty to institute suits for the recovery of all sums, as well principal as interest, so loaned :

Foreigners authorized to take mortgages of land for security of money loaned, and to foreclose the same.

5. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That it shall and may be lawful for every and all persons, being aliens, to lend money at an annual interest of seven per centum on freehold or leasehold security, by way of mortgage, on any estate within this State, and such money, whether the kingdom or state of which such money-lender is a subject or alien, shall be at peace or in war with the United States, to recover, sue for, by attorneys, or otherwise in the courts of this State, and where judgment is obtained, execution shall be awarded for the sale of such mortgaged premises, for payment of the debt and interest due thereon, with costs of suit, as is common with the citizens of this State, (except such foreigner be entitled to the right of entry or actual possession of any such mortgaged premises by purchase, or by any process for foreclosing any equity of redemption, by order of any court whatever,) any law or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. II. [Declaring this a public act—see Evidence 20, making all acts public if published by authority.]

An Act to enable the subjects of his Most Christian Majesty, to transfer and settle such of their Estates and Property as is or shall happen to fall within this State; and also to perfect the Grant of 20,000 acres of land in this State, to the Vice-Admiral the Count D'Estaing, and to encourage the settlement thereof.—Approved Feb. 22, 1785. Vol. I. 243.

Whereas the congress of the United States of America on the 14th day of January, 1780, did resolve, That it be recommended to the legislatures of the aforesaid United States, to make provision, where not already made, for conferring on the aforesaid subjects of his most christian majesty, the privilege of disposing and settling their estates agreeably to the form and spirit of the 13th article of the treaty of amity and commerce between his most christian majesty and the United States of America.

French subjects enabled to dispose of their estates, which are made descendable according to the laws of France. And such subjects entitled to all the rights specified in the treaty.

6. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That the subjects of his most christian majesty shall be, and they are hereby empowered to transfer and dispose of such of their estates and property as shall happen to be within the limits of this State, and that the estates and property of such of said subjects as are or may be deceased, and who were not citizens of this State, being within the State, shall descend to, and become the estate of the heirs and legal representatives of such deceased person, according to the laws, usage and custom of the kingdom of France relative thereto, and such estate so descending shall and may be settled agreeably to the laws that are or shall be made relative thereto, without being obliged to obtain letters of naturalization; and that the aforesaid subjects of his most christian majesty shall have, hold, and enjoy, on their part, within this State, the privileges and immunities mentioned in said articles of treaty, according to the form and spirit thereof.

And whereas the general assembly of this State resolved, that grants of 20,000 acres of land should issue to the vice-admiral, the count D'Estaing, in testimony of their respect for his meritorious services,

7. Sec. II. Be it enacted, &c. That the vice-admiral the count D'Estaing be, and he is hereby empowered and qualified to receive and hold the grants of land aforesaid, and he is hereby admitted to all the privileges, liberties, and immunities of a free citizen of this State, agreeably to the constitution.

20,000 acres of land granted to count D'Estaing, and he admitted to the rights of a citizen.

And, (to encourage and promote the settlement of the said land,)

8. Sec. III. Be it enacted, &c. That any person or persons, being a subject of his most christian majesty, who is properly introduced with a design to become an inhabitant of this State, such person or persons shall, after three years' residence, or in case of intermarriage with a citizen of this State, or either of the United States, after one year's residence and taking the oath of allegiance and fidelity, be admitted to all the liberties, privileges, and immunities of natural born citizens of this State, any law, usage, or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.*

How French subjects may become citizens of this State.

An Act to prevent Felons, transports from other States, coming into or residing in this.—Approved Feb. 10, 1787. Vol. I. 234.

9. In order to prevent the dangerous evils arising from the communication with felons, transported from other states or nations, whereby the morals of many, who would otherwise be good citizens, may be corrupted, That from and immediately after the passing of this act, no person or persons, felons from other countries or states, transported or banished from the same for any crime or charge whatever, shall be eligible to any post or office of trust or profit, or be otherwise entitled to any of the privileges, immunities, or liberties of a freeman or freemen of this State; and on proof of the same by one legal evidence, or by the authentic certificate, under seal of any state, nation, corporation, or court, from whence he, she, or they may be banished or transported, such felon or felons shall be, by warrant and mittimus, under the hand of the chief justice of the State, or one of the justices of the court where such proof shall be established, committed to the common jail of the county, without bail or mainprize, there to remain until a convenient opportunity may be procured by the honorable the executive, to ship or otherwise send off such felon or felons, from and without the limits of this State, never thereafter to return. And in case such felon or felons should, after such shipping or sending off, return within the limits of the same, he, she, or they shall, on conviction, suffer death without benefit of clergy: Provided nevertheless, on such first proof of transportation, such offender or offenders charged as felons as aforesaid, shall not be debarred the right of trial by jury, and shall be allowed every right of evidence to counteract such proof.

Felons transported from other governments ineligible to any office, or privilege of a freeman of this State.

To be committed to jail, and shipped or sent off.

To suffer death on returning. But have in the first instance the right of jury trial.

An Act to exempt from Military Duty, certain individuals not Citizens of the United States.—Approved Dec. 19, 1818. Vol. III. 43.

Whereas it is deemed grievous and oppressive, that individuals, not

* The power of legislating on this subject is now vested in congress, by the constitution of U. S. See Appendix, sec. 29.

citizens of the United States, and who are subjects of a foreign government, and only temporary residents in this State, for commercial and other purposes, and who do not intend to settle or reside in this State, or become citizens thereof, should be considered liable to such military drafts, as may from time to time be made upon the militia of this State, and particularly where such subjects belong to governments whose laws do not recognize such military liability, or exact such military duties from the citizens of the United States ;

Foreigners not liable to general,

but only to local military duty.

Proviso: to be no more than reciprocal.

10. Be it enacted, &c. That such individuals, subjects as aforesaid, of a foreign government, shall be, and they are hereby declared to be, exempted from all military duty in the militia of this State, and from all military drafts which may hereafter be made, any law to the contrary notwithstanding. Provided however, that this law shall not be so construed or operate, as to extend to their liability to perform certain local duties within the several counties in which they reside, such as the repelling of local invasions, extinguishing conflagrations, putting down insurrections, and the like : And provided also, That it shall not extend to such individuals, who are subjects or citizens of a foreign government or state, the laws of which said government or state, do not extend a similar and co-extensive exemption to the citizens of the United States.

HEALTH.

An Act to oblige Vessels and Persons, coming from places infected with Epidemical Distempers, to perform Quarantine, and to prevent the bringing in and spreading malignant and contagious Disorders in this State.—Approved Dec. 14, 1793. Vol. I. 392.*

Whereas it is highly necessary, to preserve the health of the inhabitants of this State, that vessels, persons, or merchandize, coming from places infected with malignant or epidemical distempers, should perform quarantine, and means adopted to prevent the spreading of such disorders :

Quarantine,
when and how to be performed

1. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That when any country shall be infected with the plague, or other malignant distemper, all vessels, boats, persons, and goods, shall be subject to, and be liable to perform quarantine, as in this act directed ; and during such quarantine, no person or persons coming, or goods imported in any such ship, vessel, or boat, shall come on shore, or go on board any other ship, or vessel, or boat, or be landed or put into any other ship, or vessel, or boat, in any place within this State, other than such place as shall be appointed for that purpose ; nor shall any person go on board any such ship, or vessel, or boat, without license first had and obtained, in writing, under the hand of such person or persons who shall be appointed to see quarantine performed ; and the said ships, or vessels, or boats, and the persons and goods coming and imported in, or going on board the same, during the time of quarantine ; and all ships, vessels, boats, and persons, receiving any persons or goods under quarantine, shall be subject to such orders, rules, and directions, touching quarantine, as shall be made by the authority directing the same.

* Act of 1767, directing land to be purchased on Tybee Island for a Lazaretto See Vol. I. 344.

2. Sec. II. If any commander, or master, or other person taking the charge of any ship, or vessel, or boat, coming from any place infected as aforesaid, shall go himself, or permit, or suffer any seaman or passenger to go on shore, or on board any ship, or vessel, or boat whatsoever, during the quarantine, or until such ship, or vessel, or boat, shall be discharged from quarantine, without such license as aforesaid : And if any person or persons whatsoever, who shall arrive in any port or place within this State, in any ship, or vessel, or boat, which shall, by reason of his coming from any country or place infected with any contagious distemper, be obliged to keep quarantine, shall quit such ship, or vessel, or boat, by coming on shore, or going on board any other ship, or vessel, or boat, before or while under quarantine, it shall and may be lawful for the person or persons appointed to see such quarantine duly performed, and they are hereby required, to compel such person or persons to return on board of such ship, or vessel, or boat, and there to remain during the time of quarantine. [For the penalties, see Sec. 12 and 13.]

All persons not complying with this act, to be punished.

3. Sec. III. If any person or persons whatsoever shall presume to go on board, and return from such ship, or vessel, or boat, required to perform quarantine, before or during the time of quarantine, without a license as aforesaid, every such offender shall be compelled ; and in case of resistance, by force and violence, be compelled by the person or persons appointed as aforesaid, to return on board such ship, or vessel, or boat, and there to remain during the time of her quarantine, and shall afterwards be liable to a fine or imprisonment, as hereinbefore directed, in case of persons quitting a ship, or vessel, or boat, performing quarantine, and to be disposed of as in that case provided ; and the master of such ship, or vessel, or boat, is hereby obliged to receive and maintain such person on board accordingly.

Persons going on board such vessel, without license, compelled to remain there.

4. Sec. IV. It shall and may be lawful for any officer of the customs, or such as shall be appointed to take care that such quarantine be duly performed, to seize any boat or skiff belonging to such ship or vessel, or which shall therewith be found, and to detain the same until the quarantine shall be performed ; and in case any officer, or other person instructed as aforesaid, shall voluntarily suffer any seaman belonging to such ship, or vessel, or boat, or any passenger therein, to quit such ship, or vessel, or boat, while under quarantine, every such offender — [For penalties, see Sec. 12 and 13.]

Boats, &c. may be seized.

Collusion in quarantine officers.

5. Sec. V. After the quarantine shall have been duly performed according to the directions of this act, and upon proof to be made by oath of the master or other person having charge of said ship or vessel, or boat, and two of the persons belonging to the ship, or vessel, or boat, before any one of the justices of the peace of this State, that such ship, or vessel, or boat, and all and every person therein, have duly performed the quarantine as aforesaid, and that the ship, or vessel, or boat, and all the persons on board, are free from any infectious distemper ; then, in such case, such justice is hereby required to give a certificate (gratis) thereof, and thereupon such ship, or vessel, or boat, and all and every person therein, shall not be liable to any further restraint, by reason of any matter or thing contained in this act.

To be relieved, after due performance.

Sec. VI. Provided nevertheless, and be it further enacted, That the goods imported in such ships, or vessels, or boats, shall, after such quarantine performed, be opened and aired, in such places and for such time as shall be directed concerning the same.

Goods brought in such vessels to be aired.

6. Sec. VII. Whenever the governor or commander-in-chief for the time being shall find it necessary to give any orders or directions for preventing any contagious distemper being brought into this State,

Measures to prevent the spreading of contagious disorders.

or from any part of this State infected therewith, into any uninfected part of this State, by persons travelling by land or by water, it shall and may be lawful for the said governor or commander-in-chief, by proclamation for that purpose to be issued, to prohibit all and every person or persons coming from such infected places, to enter into or come within such bounds, limits, or lines as shall be in such proclamation described, for and during such time as shall be therein mentioned, and to appoint boats and sentinels to put the same in due execution; and the persons appointed, and every of them, shall have the same power to compel any person attempting to pass through or within such bounds, limits, or lines, to return, as is by this act given to the persons to be appointed for seeing quarantine duly performed, and shall be liable to the same penalties for suffering persons wilfully to pass through or within the same; and all and every person or persons wilfully passing through or within the said bounds, limits, or lines, shall be liable to the fine or imprisonment hereinbefore directed in case of any person's quitting any ship, vessel, or boat performing quarantine, and to be disposed of as in that case provided. [And see Penal Laws, Sec. 188.]

Pilots shall inquire into the health of crews.

7. Sec. VIII. From and after the passing of this act, the pilot or pilots belonging to the several ports of this State, do before his or their entering on board any ship or vessel designed for this State, make strict inquiry of every master or commander of the same, whether the plague, small-pox, malignant fever, or any other contagious distemper, be in such ships or vessels; and every such master or commander is hereby strictly enjoined, without equivocation or reserve, to give just and true answers to all such inquiries of the said pilot or pilots, under the penalties hereinafter mentioned and expressed; and in case the said pilot or pilots shall, upon inquiry as aforesaid, find that the plague, small-pox, malignant fever, or any other contagious distemper, be in such ship or vessel, such pilot or pilots, are hereby strictly forbidden and prohibited from entering therein, on any pretence whatever. [The rest of this, and the whole of the next section is abrogated by Sec. 12 and 13.]

The governor to enforce quarantine by proclamation.

8. Sec. X. On the notification of such corporation, justices, or others herein empowered, after notifying to the people of the district they live in, of the necessity of ordering quarantine to be performed, forthwith to transmit by express or post, an exact account and statement thereof to the governor and commander-in-chief for the time being, who is directed to publish the same by proclamation, enjoining and requiring a due obedience to the rules adopted for the preventing contagious distempers being spread in this State, and a due obedience of the duties required of such regulations accordingly.

Fees of the health officer.

9. Sec. XI. The health officer of the port of Savannah, and the visiting physicians of any other port, that shall visit any vessel or vessels, and grant a certificate of the health of the crew and passengers on board, or visit the same, if directed so to do, under this law, shall be entitled to have and receive the following fees from the captain or owner of such vessel, before such vessel shall be permitted to enter: for every ship, snow, brig, or bilander, two dollars: for every schooner, sloop, perriager, or boat, one dollar; coasting vessels coming from one inlet in the State to another inlet in the same, excepted.*

* For the fees of harbor-master and health-officer of Savannah and St. Mary, see Vol. II. 214. Vol. III. 319. For the resolutions requesting the sanction of Congress, see Vol. III. 1105, 1132, 1184; and for the only act of Congress on the subject which I can find, see Pamph. of first sess. 15 Cong. p. 14.

Sec. XII. and XIII. [Directing how and where to land negroes—obsolete.]

10. Sec. XIV. And it is hereby enacted and an appropriation made of all moneys that shall be expended by any of the powers or constituted authorities, that shall arise from enforcing this act, and the same shall be defrayed by the governor of this State, and charged to the contingent fund thereof; all former laws respecting performing quarantine, and to prevent the spreading of contagious distempers, so far as relates thereto, are hereby repealed.

Expenses under this act how paid.

An Act to amend the foregoing, and to give further authority to the Mayor and Aldermen of the city of Savannah, the better to enable them to carry the said act into effect.—Approved Dec. 10, 1803. Vol. II. 151.

Whereas the high fines and penalties inflicted by the act aforesaid, and the difficulties attending the conviction of offenders, together with the want of sufficient power in the corporation of the city of Savannah to enforce the same, tend to render the said act ineffectual, and to defeat the salutary purposes intended thereby:

11. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That from and after the passing of this act, the jurisdiction of the corporation of the said city of Savannah, shall in cases of quarantine, extend to all ships and vessels which shall enter any port or inlet from Ossabaw Sound to Tybee, including all inlets, rivers, and creeks within those limits.

Jurisdiction of Savannah in cases of quarantine, to extend from Ossabaw to Tybee.

12. Sec. II. It shall and may be lawful to and for the mayor and aldermen of the said city, and they are hereby vested with full power and authority to take cognizance of, and inquire into all violations of the said act, committed within the limits aforesaid; and upon such inquiry the said mayor and aldermen shall and may, as they shall think proper, according to the nature and degree of the offence, either bind the offender or offenders over to appear at the next superior court, to answer to any indictment that may be preferred against him, her, or them, in terms of the said act; or they may proceed against such offender or offenders in a summary manner, as is usual and customary with the said corporation in other cases, and inflict and levy such fine or fines on the offender or offenders, not exceeding $50, for each and every offence, as they in their judgment shall think fit and necessary, to deter others from offending in like manner; and in case no goods or chattels shall be found, whereon to levy such fine or fines as aforesaid, then it shall be lawful to, and for the said mayor and aldermen to commit the offender or offenders to the common jail, there to remain without bail or mainprize, for a term not exceeding one month, or until the said fine or fines, together with the costs and charges of prosecution, shall be fully paid and satisfied; any thing in the said act contained to the contrary hereof in any case notwithstanding. [And see Sec. 15.]

The powers of the mayor and aldermen of Savannah in carrying into effect this and the former act.

13. Sec. III. With respect to the other rivers and inlets of this State, the same powers which are hereby vested in the corporation of Savannah, is, and are hereby given to and vested in the justices of the county, or commissioners of the town adjacent to such inlets or rivers, or the commissioners of pilotage of the port, as it may happen; and they are hereby authorized to proceed in the same manner as is hereinbefore mentioned, with respect to the mayor and aldermen of Savannah.

The same powers given to the justices of the peace and commrs of towns adjacent to rivers and inlets not included above. Corporation of Sav. may remove infected persons.

14. Sec. IV. It shall and may be lawful to, and for the said mayor and aldermen, to remove from the said city, any person or persons who may be infected with the small-pox, or other contagious disorder, to such place or places without the limits thereof as they may appoint for that purpose.

An Act to amend an act passed the 14th day of December, 1793, and an act passed the 10th day of December, 1803, regulating Quarantine in the Port of Savannah, and other places within the limits of the said City of Savannah.*—Approved Dec. 2, 1805. Vol. II. 242.

Whereas it is highly expedient that the corporation of the city of Savannah should exercise the power of compelling vessels coming from ports or places, suspected to be infected with contagious or malignant diseases, to perform quarantine; And whereas doubts have arisen whether the said corporation is invested with such power under existing laws, for the removal of which doubts, Corporation of Savannah may stop infected vessels or persons until searched and purified.

15. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That from and after the passing of this act, it shall be lawful for the corporation of the city of Savannah, whenever they shall have reason to suspect that any vessel or vessels, person or persons, has or have sailed, or come from any port or place infected, or supposed to be infected with any malignant or contagious disorder, by resolution or order to require and compel the said vessel or vessels, so arriving, or person or persons, to come to anchor, or stop at any place by the said resolution or order pointed out, until an examination is made by the health officer as to the state and condition of the said vessel or vessels, person or persons, and until sufficient purification shall have taken place, and a certificate of the health officer obtained to that effect.

16. Sec. II. All and every part or parts of the above-recited acts, not repugnant to this act, shall be, and is and are hereby declared to be in full force.†

An Act to prevent the introduction of Passengers, who are Aliens, into the Port of Savannah during the months of July, August, September, and October.—Approved Dec. 22, 1819. Vol. III. 44.

Whereas it has been the practice of masters of vessels to bring numbers of passengers, natives of foreign countries, into the port of Savannah, during the sickly months, thereby exposing to almost certain death individuals whose constitutions are but illy adapted to the insalubrious climate of that city, and thereby subjects the community to an onerous expense:

Masters of vessels arriving in the sickly months shall report their passengers to the mayor,

17. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That any master or commander of any ship or vessel arriving between the first of July and the last day of October, inclusive, from a foreign country, or from any other part of the United States, who shall enter his vessel at the custom-house in the city of Savannah, shall within twenty-four hours after such entry make a report in writing on oath to the mayor of said city, of the age, name, and occupation of every person, who shall have been brought as passenger in such ship or vessel on her last voyage, upon pain of forfeiting for every neglect or omission to make such report, the sum of $75, for every alien neglected to be so reported aforesaid.

and give security for their maintenance six months.

18. Sec. II. It shall be lawful for the said mayor, or in his sickness or absence, any person legally authorized to act in his place, to require every such master of such ship or vessel, to be bound with two sufficient sureties to the mayor and aldermen of the city of Savannah, in such sums as the mayor or such person so legally authorized as aforesaid, may think proper, not exceeding $300 for each passenger, to indemnify and save harmless the said mayor and aldermen, and the commissioners of the poor-house and hospital, and their successors, from all and every expense and charge which shall or may be incurred for the maintenance and support of any such person so introduced, and for the maintenance and support of the child or children of any such person which may be born after such importation, in case such person so imported, or any such child or children, shall at any time within six months after the said importation become chargeable to said city; and if such person so brought as aforesaid, and not being a citizen of the United States, shall be permitted or suffered to land within the said city from any such ship or vessel, before such bond shall have been given, and without a permission in writing from the said mayor, or person so legally authorized as aforesaid, the master or commander of such ship or vessel shall be subject to the penalty of $300 for every person so suffered or permitted to land as aforesaid.

* This is the proper date: the 17th is by mistake the day mentioned.

† See further as to contagious diseases, Penal Laws from 246 to 252 inclusive.

Penalty for failure.

19. Sec. III. If any person who may have been a passenger in any such ship or vessel, and not being a citizen of the United States, shall be suffered to land from such ship or vessel at any place within the distance of fifty miles from the said city, with intent to proceed to the said city, otherwise than in the said ship or vessel, the master or commander thereof shall be liable to the like penalty of $300 for every such person so suffered or permitted to land.

Penalty for landing them to evade this act.

20. Sec. IV. If any householder in said city shall knowingly entertain in his house or family, any alien so landed as aforesaid, and shall not report such alien to the said mayor, or in case of his sickness or absence, any person legally authorized to officiate in his place, within the twenty-four hours after such entertainment commences, he or she shall forfeit and pay the sum of $50 for every such alien so entertained.

Report must be made by householders of any in their houses.

21. Sec. V. All and singular the said penalties and forfeitures arising in said city, shall and may be sued for and be recovered with full costs of suit by action of debt, in the superior court of this State, in the name of the said mayor and aldermen, and when recovered by them shall be applied towards the support of the poor of the said city, and the defendant in every such suit shall be held to special bail, and upon every such trial for any penalty or forfeiture supposed to be incurred by the landing of any such persons as aforesaid within the said city, the same landing shall be presumed unless the defendant shall prove that the said person was taken or sent to some foreign country without having been suffered to land as aforesaid.

Penalties, how recovered and applied.

Burthen of proof.

22. Sec. VI. It shall be lawful for the said mayor and aldermen to compound for the said penalties and forfeitures, or any of them, either before or after suing for the same, upon such terms as the circumstances of the defendant or of the case may in their judgment require.

Penalties may be compounded.

23. Sec. VII. Every ship or vessel from which such aliens shall have been so landed without permission in writing from the said mayor or person so legally authorized as aforesaid in his place, shall be liable for the said penalties, and may be proceeded against by attachment or any other mode in similar cases allowed by law, unless the owner thereof or their agents shall give bond with sufficient sureties to the sheriff or his deputy, in the name of the mayor and aldermen, for the payment of the said penalties and every of them which may have been incurred during or since the last voyage of the said ship or vessel, or for paying the value of such ship or vessel towards the satisfaction of such penalties as may have been so incurred by suffering any alien to land as aforesaid, and such value shall be ascertained by the wardens of the port of Savannah, or any two of them.

The ship or vessel liable for penalties.

Sec. VIII. [Advertising the act before it goes into operation.—Temporary.]

An Act to extend to the city and port of Darien, all the Health and Quarantine laws now in force, relating, and applicable to the city of Savannah.—Approved Dec. 14, 1830. Pam. 209.

All health laws for Savannah extended to Darien.

24. From and after the passing of this act, all acts and parts of acts, and laws of this State, which have been passed, to regulate the quarantine and other health laws, in, to, or for the city of Savannah, shall, and they are hereby declared to be in full force and effect, in the city and port of Darien, and the waters attached thereto, as much as if the same were expressly named herein. And the most full and ample references shall be made to them, to and for the use of the city of Darien, and to protect its health, under the direction and supervision of the mayor and aldermen of the said city of Darien, agreeable to any ordinance that they may pass: Provided, the same does not contravene, or impugn the constitution of this State.

An Act to authorize the punishment of persons, concealing the existence of Small Pox, or certain other contagious diseases.—Approved Dec. 22, 1830. Pam. 158.

Physicians in Savannah concealing small pox, &c. may be fined and imprisoned.

25. From and immediately after the passage of this act, any physician or other person or persons, who shall be knowing to the existence of any case of plague, small pox, varioloid, and their modifications, within the city of Savannah, or in its vicinity, and so knowing shall wilfully conceal the same, or who shall not immediately and promptly give information thereof to the health officer of said city, or to the chairman of the board of health, he, she or they shall be indicted for the same, and upon conviction, shall be subject to imprisonment not exceeding twelve months, in the common jail, and a fine of not exceeding $500, both at the discretion of the court.

Sec. II. [Repeals all repugnant laws.]

An Act to empower the Mayor and Aldermen of the City of Savannah and hamlets thereof, to purchase land for the erection of a Lazaretto, and give them jurisdiction over the same.—Approved Dec. 26, 1831. Pam. 245.

Preamble.

26. Whereas, the preventing the propagation and spreading of small-pox and other contagious diseases, is a subject of deep interest to the State generally, and that any expense incurred, should be borne by the citizens at large; and whereas, the said disease and others of a contagious character are more liable to occur in the principal seaport of the State, than in any other section, whereby the commerce and intercourse with other sections thereof, may be greatly impaired, and soon destroyed, to the injury and detriment of the citizens, and the revenue of the State: for remedy whereof,

Corporation of Savannah may purchase land for a lazaretto.

Be it enacted, &c. That from and after the passing of this act, it shall and may be lawful for the mayor and aldermen of the city of Savannah, and the hamlets thereof, to purchase for the use of said city, as much land in the county of Chatham as may be deemed by them necessary for the erection of a Lazaretto, or suitable building, wherein persons infected with, or laboring under small-pox or any contagious disease, shall be detained and kept, in pursuance of the quarantine laws of this State, until relieved or permitted to leave the same by the mayor and aldermen aforesaid—and that the said mayor and aldermen shall have the same powers and like jurisdiction over the land so purchased, as they now have within the jurisdictional limits of the city of Savannah, as at present limited, so long as the same shall be used for the purposes herein contemplated.

[For the act authorizing the appointment of a health officer of Savannah, see Shipping and Pilotage.]

An Act, for the relief of the Counties of Muscogee and Talbot, and the City of Columbus, and to amend and explain an act entitled an act, to oblige vessels and persons coming from places infected with epidemical diseases, to perform quarantine, and to prevent bringing in, and spreading malignant and contagious disorders in this State, passed 14th Dec. 1793.—Approved Dec. 29, 1836. Pam. 181.

27. Sec. I. The justices of the inferior court of any county, or the corporate authorities of any city in this State, within the limits of which any infectious disease may appear, are, and they are hereby authorized and empowered to provide a suitable temporary hospital for the afflicted, to furnish them with subsistence, medicine and nurses, and they are hereby further authorized, to provide a guard to prevent the communication with others of the sick, and their attendants, and to order the destruction of infected clothing, and also the interment of the dead.

Inferior courts and corporations authorized to provide for the sick, and prevent the spreading of infection.

28. Sec. II. His excellency the governor, be, and he is hereby authorized and requested to pay all accounts of reasonable expenses incurred by the several counties and cities in this State, in carrying into effect, the provisions of the foregoing section: Provided, that such accounts be certified by a majority of the justices of the inferior court of the county or corporate authorities of any city or town in which said expenses may have been incurred, to be reasonable and correct.

The governor to pay all reasonable accounts for those objects.

Sec. III. [Repeals all acts militating with this.]

The report of a committee, adopted the 4th, and approved the 6th of Dec. 1834, [Pam. 302.] recognizes the obligation on the part of the State to defray the expenses incident to excluding, or arresting the spread of contagious diseases. The sum of $1,511 is allowed for reimbursing to Savannah certain expenses of enforcing the quarantine laws, and $15,000 for the erection of a Lazaretto at that place: the governor is requested to cause to be distributed vaccine matter among the physicians of Coweta county where the small-pox had lately been carried from Savannah, and

Resolved, That the justices of the inferior court of Coweta, and also of any other county in which the disease may appear, be, and they are hereby authorized and empowered to provide a temporary hospital, to which to remove all who have been or may be infected by small-pox, and to employ suitable attendants and a guard to prevent the communication of the sick and their attendants with others, the expense of which shall be paid from the treasury of the State on the warrant of the governor.

Resolved, That should the aforesaid disease make its appearance in an adjoining State, immediately on or near the line of any county in this State, the inferior court of said county is hereby authorized to employ a suitable guard, and to take such precautionary measures as they may deem best calculated to prevent its extension into this State.

Appropriation of $12,177 among various towns and counties for expenses incurred in preventing the small-pox contagion, 1836, pam. 29, 30.

INDIANS.

An Act to protect the frontier settlements of this State from the intrusion of the Indians of the Creek nation.—Approved Dec. 20th, 1828. Vol. IV. 197. [Entirely superseded by the more general provisions of the Act of 1835. See Sec. 26, &c.]

An Act to add the territory lying within the limits of this State, and occupied by the Cherokee Indians, to the counties of Carroll, De Kalb, Guinneth, Hall, and Habersham; and to extend the laws of this State over the same; and for other purposes.—Approved Dec. 20, 1828. Vol. IV. 198. [Re-enacted with amendments, by the next in order.]

An Act to add the territory lying within the chartered limits of Georgia, and now in the occupancy of the Cherokee Indians, to the counties of Carroll, De Kalb, Guinneth, Hall, and Habersham; and to extend the laws of this State over the same; and to annul all laws and ordinances made by the Cherokee Nation of Indians; and to provide for the compensation of officers serving legal process in said territory; and to regulate the testimony of Indians; and to repeal the ninth section of the Act of 1828 upon this subject.—Approved Dec. 19, 1829. Vol. IV. 198.

[Sec. I. to VI. inclusive, annexing that territory to the adjoining counties, and Sec. XIV. superseded by the organization of that territory. Sec. VII. abrogating the Indian laws, is more fully carried out by the Act of 1830.]

Unlawful to prevent by threats, or other means, any Indian from enrolling as an emigrant, &c.

1. Sec. VIII. It shall not be lawful for any person or body of persons, by arbitrary power, or by virtue of any pretended rule, ordinance, law, or custom of said Cherokee nation, to prevent by threats, menaces, or other means, to endeavor to prevent any Indian of said nation, residing within the chartered limits of this State, from enrolling as an emigrant, or actually emigrating or removing from said nation; nor shall it be lawful for any person or body of persons, by arbitrary power, or by virtue of any pretended rule, ordinance, law, or custom of said nation, to punish in any manner, or to molest either the person or property, or to abridge the rights and privileges of any Indian, for enrolling his or her name as an emigrant, or for emigrating or intending to emigrate from said nation.

Persons offending, guilty of a high misdemeanor.

2. Sec. IX. Any person or body of persons offending against the provisions of the foregoing section shall be guilty of a high misdemeanor, subject to indictment, and, on conviction, shall be punished by confinement in the common jail of any county of this State, or by confinement at hard labor in the penitentiary, for a term not exceeding four years, at the discretion of the court.

Not lawful to prevent any Indian head man from ceding the territory, &c.

3. Sec. X. It shall not be lawful for any person or body of persons, by arbitrary power, or under color of any pretended rule, ordinance, law, or custom of said nation, to prevent, or offer to prevent or deter any Indian, head man, chief, or warrior of said nation, residing within the chartered limits of this State, from selling or ceding to the United States, for the use of Georgia, the whole or any part of said territory, or to prevent, or offer to prevent any Indian, head man, chief, or warrior of said nation, residing as aforesaid, from meeting in council or treaty any commissioner or commissioners on the part of the United States, for any purpose whatever.

4. Sec. XI. Any person or body of persons offending against the provisions of the foregoing section, shall be guilty of a high misdemeanor, subject to indictment, and, on conviction, shall be confined at hard labor in the penitentiary for not less than four, nor longer than six years, at the discretion of the court.

Penitentiary
confinement.

5. Sec. XII. It shall not be lawful for any person or body of persons, by arbitrary force, or under color of any pretended rules, ordinances, law, or custom of said nation, to take the life of any Indian residing as aforesaid for enlisting as an emigrant, attempting to emigrate, ceding, or attempting to cede, as aforesaid, the whole or any part of said territory, or meeting, or attempting to meet in treaty or in council as aforesaid any commissioner or commissioners as aforesaid; and any person, or body of persons, offending against the provisions of this section, shall be guilty of murder, subject to indictment, and, on conviction, shall suffer death by hanging.

Not lawful to prevent emigration.

Punishment.

6. Sec. XIII. Should any of the foregoing offences be committed under color of any pretended rules, ordinance, custom, or law of said nation, all persons acting therein, either as individuals or as pretended executive, ministerial, or judicial officers, shall be deemed and considered as principals, and subject to the pains and penalties hereinbefore prescribed.

All persons liable as principals.

7. Sec. XV. No Indian, or descendant of any Indian, residing within the Creek or Cherokee nations of Indians, shall be deemed a competent witness in any court of this State to which a white person may be a party, except such white person resides within the said nation.

No Indian deemed a competent witness, &c.

An Act to prevent the exercise of assumed and arbitrary power, by all persons under pretext of authority from the Cherokee Indians, and their laws, and to prevent white persons from residing within that part of the chartered limits of Georgia, occupied by the Cherokee Indians, and to provide a guard for the protection of the gold mines, and to enforce the laws of the State within the aforesaid territory.—Approved Dec. 22d, 1830. Pam. 114.

8. After the first day of February, 1831, it shall not be lawful for any person, or persons, under color or pretence, of authority from said Cherokee tribe, or as head men, chiefs, or warriors of said tribe, to cause or procure by any means the assembling of any council, or other pretended legislative body of the said Indians, or others living among them, for the purpose of legislating, (or for any other purpose whatever.) And persons offending against the provisions of this section, shall be guilty of a high misdemeanor, and subject to indictment therefor, and on conviction, shall be punished by confinement at hard labor in the penitentiary for the space of four years.

Chiefs shall not convene Cherokee
council.

9. Sec. II. After the time aforesaid, it shall not be lawful for any person or persons under pretext of authority from the Cherokee tribe, or as representatives, chiefs, head men, or warriors of said tribe, to meet, or assemble as a council, assembly, convention, or in any other capacity, for the purpose of making laws, orders or regulations for said tribe. And all persons offending against the provisions of this section, shall be guilty of a high misdemeanor and subject to an indictment, and on conviction thereof, shall undergo an imprisonment in the penitentiary at hard labor for the space of four years.

People shall not assemble.

10. Sec. III. After the time aforesaid, it shall not be lawful for any person or persons, under color, or by authority, of the Cherokee tribe, or any of its laws or regulations, to hold any court or tribunal whatever, for the purpose of hearing and determining causes, either

Cherokee courts shall not sit.

civil or criminal; or to give any judgment in such causes, or to issue, or cause to issue any process against the person or property of any of said tribe. And all persons offending against the provisions of this section, shall be guilty of a high misdemeanor, and subject to indictment, and on conviction thereof shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary at hard labor for the space of four years.

Their precepts or processes shall not be executed.

11. Sec. IV. After the time aforesaid, it shall not be lawful for any person or persons, as a ministerial officer, or in any other capacity, to execute any precept, command, or process, issued by any court or tribunal in the Cherokee tribe, on the persons or property of any of said tribe. And all persons offending against the provisions of this section, shall be guilty of a trespass and subject to indictment, and on conviction thereof, shall be punished by fine and imprisonment in the jail or in the penitentiary not longer than four years, at the discretion of the court.

No forfeiture for enrolling for emigration.

12. Sec. V. After the time aforesaid, it shall not be lawful for any person, or persons, to confiscate, or attempt to confiscate, or otherwise to cause a forfeiture of the property or estate of any Indian of said tribe, in consequence of his enrolling himself and family for emigration, or offering to enrol for emigration, or any other act of said Indian in furtherance of his intention to emigrate. And persons offending against the provisions of this section, shall be guilty of high misdemeanor, and on conviction, shall undergo an imprisonment in the penitentiary at hard labor for the space of four years.

But they may meet the agents, &c. of this State or the U. S.

13. Sec. VI. None of the provisions of this act, shall be so construed as to prevent said tribe, its head men, chiefs, or other representatives from meeting any agent or commissioner, on the part of this State or the United States, for any purpose whatever.

[Sec. VII. VIII. and IX. respecting residents under State license, repealed in 1832, Pam. 107. Sec. X. forbids the collection of tolls under the Cherokee laws, which are abrogated. Sec. XI. XII. and XIII. relate to a guard, which is disbanded, see Pam. of 1832, p. 106, and of 1835, p. 336.]

An Act to declare void all contracts hereafter made with the Cherokee Indians, so far as the Indians are concerned.—Approved Dec. 23d, 1830. Pam. 118. [Modified by Act of 1833. See Sec. 21 of this title.]

An Act to protect the Cherokee Indians in the peaceable and quiet possession of the lands secured to them by the existing laws of the State; and also to secure their property and persons from illegal violations; and to provide for bringing to trial of the trespassers upon the lots or fractions of land belonging to the State in the Cherokee country, and prescribing the punishment to which they shall be subjected upon conviction, &c.—Approved Dec. 24, 1832. Pam. 102.

Preamble.

Whereas under the provisions of the existing laws of this State, the right of occupancy and peaceable and quiet possession of their lands, has been secured to the Cherokee Indians, who still remain in this State, so long as they continue to occupy the same: and whereas the unoccupied lands, which surround their present abodes, are about to be granted to and settled by the inhabitants of this State; and whereas that country in a short time will be regularly organized into counties and districts, to further the administration of public justice; and whereas, doubts exist that the remnant of Indians remaining in said territory, may be liable to the depredations of lawless and dissolute white men,

[Sec. I. II. and III. authorize the guard which was disbanded in 1834, and not re-organized, see Report and Res. of 1835, Pam. 336. Sec. IV. and V. direct the appointment by the superior courts of an agent or guardian of the Indians in each county. Those appointments seem to be superseded by the agencies subsequently authorized. See an act providing for their payment in 1833, Pam. 119.]

14. Sec. VI. Be it enacted, That the justices of the inferior court, justices of the peace, sheriffs, constables, and all military officers, in each of the several counties aforesaid, are hereby enjoined to see impartial justice done to said Indians, and to aid in sustaining their just rights. State officers shall see justice done.

15. Sec. VII. To secure the personal property of said Indians; any person or persons, who shall actually dispossess them of it or attempt to do so; shall be considered as having been guilty of a misdemeanor; and shall be subject to be prosecuted criminally, and the fact being established, he shall be subject to a fine of fourfold the value of the property so taken or attempted to be taken, besides such other fine not exceeding two hundred dollars as the said court may deem fit. Penalty for injuring the Indians.

Sec. VIII. [See Sec. 24.]

16. Sec. IX. Though the oaths of the Indians, are not admitted in our courts of law, for the purpose of protecting their persons, property, and lands, their rights shall be recognized for these special purposes, and be considered as standing on the same footing with free white citizens of the State; though all prosecutions and sentences be and shall be carried on in the name of the State, and on the criminal side of the superior court; and the laws shall be so construed as to carry the spirit and intent of this law into effect. Their rights on the same footing with those of the whites.

17. Sec. X. All persons who shall attempt, or actually dig gold on any fraction belonging to the State,* or on any lot or lots of lands belonging to persons who have drawn or actually own the same, and who have not actually taken possession of the same, in the territory lately organized in the Cherokee country, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and subject the offender to a confinement in the penitentiary, for a term of years not less than four years nor more than eight years. Illegal gold digging.

Sec. XI. [See Sec. 24.]

18. Sec. XII. It shall not be lawful from and after this time, for any inferior court in this State, whilst sitting as a court of ordinary, to grant letters of administration to any person or persons on the estate either real or personal, of any deceased Cherokee Indian, or the descendant of a Cherokee Indian. No administration to be granted on the estate of an Indian.

An Act more effectually to provide for the government and protection of the Cherokee Indians, residing within the limits of Georgia, and to prescribe the bounds of their occupant claims; and also, to authorize grants to issue for lots drawn in the late land and gold lotteries in certain cases, and to provide for the appointment of an agent to carry certain parts thereof into execution; and to fix the salary of such agent, and to punish those persons who may deter Indians from enrolling for emigration.—Approved Dec. 20, 1833. Pam. 114.

19. Sec. III. If any Indian or descendant of an Indian, or white man the head of an Indian family, claiming the privileges of an Indian, shall employ any white man or slave belonging to a white man, or person of color other than the descendant of an Indian, as a tenant, cropper or assistant in agriculture, or as a miller or millwright, they shall for such offence, upon the same being established, by the testi- Indians shall not employ white men or slaves, &c.

* As to illegal mining on private lands, see Penal Laws, Sec. 158.

mony of two respectable witnesses, forfeit all right and title that they may have to any reservation or occupancy within the limits of this State, and that upon the certificate of the agent to be hereafter appointed, grants may issue for the same as though such improvements had never been occupied by such Indian, descendant of an Indian, or white man having an Indian family.

Emigrants shall not be detained by Indian claims.

20. Sec. VI. No Indian, or others having the privileges of an Indian, shall under any pretence whatever, set up any claim or demand against any member of the same tribe, after such member shall have enrolled his or her name for emigration, so as to detain such emigrant from removing at the time stipulated, and where the claim shall be preferred against any property which may be in the possession of the individual emigrating, the agent as aforesaid, shall be competent to decide on the merits of the claim: Provided, That nothing herein contained, shall be so construed as to prevent the claimant from prosecuting his claim hereafter, and in the country to which such Indian, or person having the privileges of an Indian shall emigrate.

Contracts with Indians void unless two witnesses.

21. Sec. VII. No contract, either verbal or written, alleged to have been made between a white man and an Indian, shall be binding, except the same can be established by the testimony of at least two respectable witnesses.

Preventing emigration by threats, &c.

22. Sec. XIV. If any person shall, by threats, menaces, or otherwise, deter or prevent any Indian or Indians, from enrolling for emigration, he or they shall be held and deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof, shall be fined in a sum not less than one hundred dollars, nor more than five hundred dollars, or undergo an imprisonment in the penitentiary at the discretion of the court.

[The rest of this statute is considered as superseded or repealed in effect by the subsequent acts.]

An Act to amend an act entitled an act more effectually to provide for the government and protection of the Cherokee Indians residing within the limits of Georgia, and to prescribe the bounds of their occupant claims; and also to authorize grants to issue for lots drawn in the late land and gold lotteries, in certain cases, and to provide for the appointment of an agent to carry certain parts thereof into execution, and to fix the salary of such agent; and to punish those persons who may deter Indians from enrolling for emigration; passed 20th Dec. 1833.—Approved Dec. 20, 1834. Pam. 152.

[This whole act relates to the occupant rights of the Indians, which are considered as giving place to those of the white men on and after the 25th Nov. 1836. See Sec. 25.]

An Act to authorize the Cherokee Indians to sell and dispose of their improvements for public purposes.—Approved Dec. 20th, 1834. Pam. 156.

[This act is omitted for the same reason as the last.]

An Act to authorize the issuing of grants by the State of Georgia to the fortunate drawers of all lots of land situate in the counties of Cherokee, Cass, Cobb, Forsyth, Floyd, Gilmer, Lumpkin, Murray, Paulding, Union and Walker, which were drawn in the late land and gold lotteries; and to repeal all laws repugnant to the same.—Approved Dec. 21, 1835. Pam. 105.

Preamble.

Whereas, the legislature of Georgia, while it has hitherto been directed to promote the general good of its citizens, has at the same time kept constantly in view the Indian tribes settled within its chartered limits; and whereas time and experience have clearly demonstrated that the habits and principles of the red man are adverse to the progressive and enlightened character of the present day, and the longer he is kept in the neighborhood, and the oftener he is brought into contact with civilized man, that he rapidly sinks into a corresponding state of degradation; and whereas the present executive of the United States has, for years past, used the most untiring efforts to transfer the remaining remnant of the Cherokee Indians to a climate and soil beyond the Mississippi, far more eligible for them than that they at present occupy, with an offer of protection and ample support during their removal and early settlement: they would have been surrounded with comforts which are withheld from the yeomanry of our country who emigrate to the west—to a country to which other Indian tribes have voluntarily gone, and in which the national character and habits of the Cherokees would remain unchanged. It is assumed with confidence that the great mass of these Indians would long ago have acceded to these humane and benevolent offers, but for the intriguing and selfish motives of their chiefs, in whom, by old custom, they have hitherto confided their destinies. And whereas a crisis has arrived when necessity demands that the past policy of the State, in relation to this tribe of Indians should be carried out, to wit, securing to these aborigines a distant establishment, where they can enjoy their old and established habits and peculiar modes of government, and thereby keep up their identity as a separate people; to place our citizens in the possession of undisturbed lands, which have long been withheld from them, the occupation and cultivation of which would strengthen the State and add to the sum of human happiness. And whereas recent and melancholy experience has proven beyond doubt that a white population, and a dense Indian one, cannot with safety intermingle in the same region of country, especially in the Cherokee counties, in many of which the Indians predominate, whose minds are uninformed or uninfluenced by moral principles, and whose habits and ferocious customs make them insensible to the effects of penal sanctions; thereby placing our citizens, their wives and children, and all that is dear to them, at the mercy of the savage, stimulated by his vindictive passions. And whereas, from a knowledge of the Indian character, and from the present feelings of these Indians, it is confidently believed that the right of occupancy of the lands in their possession should be withdrawn, that it would be a strong inducement to them to treat with the general government and consent to a removal to the west. And whereas the present legislature openly avow that their primary object in the measures intended to be pursued are founded on real humanity to these Indians, and with a view in a distant region to perpetuate them with their old identity of character, under the paternal care of the government of the United States, at the same time frankly disavowing any selfish or sinister motives towards them in their present legislation—

24. Sec. I. Be it enacted, That immediately from and after the passage of this act, it shall be the duty of his excellency the governor, to cause grants to issue for all lots that have been drawn in the late land and gold lotteries, now situate in the counties of Cherokee, Cass, Cobb, Forsyth, Floyd, Gilmer, Lumpkin, Murray, Paulding, Union and Walker, in the name of the fortunate drawers thereof, upon his, her or their application, and upon the payment of the fees now established by law into the treasury of this State.

Grants to issue for all Cherokee lands.

25. Sec. II. If any Indian, descendant of an Indian, or other per-Present Indian occupations respected till May 25, 1838.

son entitled to the privileges of an Indian, shall be in the possession or occupancy of any lot or lots of land which may be hereafter granted according to the provisions of this act, or any part thereof, it shall not be lawful for such grantee, or any person claiming under him, her or them, to dispossess, molest, or in any way disturb the possession of such Indian occupant, (provided such Indian, or person entitled to the privileges of an Indian is entitled to the possession under any of the laws now in force in this State,) until the 25th day of Nov. 1836;* and not then, if a future legislature shall deem it necessary to give such Indians further time to remove from the lands within the limits of Georgia; and such occupant shall be protected in his possession and occupancy of such lot or lots of land in the same manner as is now prescribed by law, until the time as pointed out in this act.

Sec. III. [Repeals all conflicting laws.]

An Act to amend an act entitled an act to protect the frontier settlements of this State from the intrusion of the Indians of the Creek nation, passed the 20th of Dec. 1823.—Approved Dec. 24th, 1835. Pam. 135.

Indians shall cross only at Columbus and on particular lawful business.

26. Sec. I. From and after the first day of February next, it shall be unlawful for any Indian of the Creek nation to come within the limits of this State, excepting the city of Columbus; and that whenever such Indian shall come within the limits of this State it shall be the duty of each and every civil and military officer in this State having knowledge or being informed of the fact, to arrest such Indian and lodge him in jail; there to remain until he shall be relieved therefrom by due course of law, and on payment of all expenses incurred; and that each and every such Indians offending against the foregoing provisions of this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor; and on conviction thereof, according to law, shall be punished by imprisonment at hard labor in the penitentiary for any time not less than four months nor more than eight months for the first offence; and the second offence not less than one year nor longer than three years; or imprisonment in the common jail of the county at the discretion of the presiding judge: Provided, that this act shall not be so construed as to prevent any Indian or Indians of the Creek nation from coming into this State unarmed and without any offensive weapon, bona fide, to collect any debt or debts due or owing such Indian or Indians by any person or persons being or residing within this State, or to prosecute or defend any suit or suits at law or in equity in any of the courts in this State, in which such Indian or Indians shall be a party or have a valuable interest; or to give evidence against any Indian or Indians in any of the courts in this State: Provided, such Indian or Indians shall be accompanied by some white person of known good character and responsibility.

Shall not be traded with or hired to labor in the State.

27. Sec. II. Any white person or persons who shall trade or deal with, or hire for work or labor the said Indians within the limits of this State, he, she or they shall be indicted for a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars for the first offence, and for the second offence the sum of five hundred dollars, and imprisonment in the common jail of the county at the discretion of the court; one half of said fine to go to the informer, and the other half for county purposes.

Allowed to fish in the Chattahoochee.

28. Sec. III. The said Indians shall be permitted to fish in the Chattahoochee river; and that if any of the said Indians shall be found

* Time extended to 25th of May, 1838, by act of 1836, Pam. 145.

fishing in said river it shall not be deemed a violation of this act until otherwise provided by law; and that any delegations of Indians from said nation on business with the general government bona fide, shall be permitted to pass through any of the counties aforesaid, without being subject to arrest: Provided, they can produce satisfactory evidence of their being such delegation, appointed according to the common usages of said nation.

Delegations to the fed.
gov. may pass through.

RESOLUTIONS.

Indian Territory—Treaties—Reserves—Improvements—Citizens—Claims, &c.

Resolutions, memorials, and remonstrances of the legislature urging Congress to the extinguishment of Indian title, 1821, Vol. IV. 10, ib. 11, 16; 1822, ib. 22; 1823, ib. 28, 30; 1824, ib. 45. A strong paper on the old and new treaty, 1825, ib. 58; 1826, ib. 75. Propose to allow reserves not to exceed one sixth, 1826, ib. 66. An exposition of the subject at large, requesting Congress to make one more and last effort at negotiation with the Cherokees, asserting the right in Georgia, and intimating the intention of taking the lands by force if not to be obtained without, 1827, ib. 75. Old and new treaty, and on the answer of the Georgia executive to the menace of force by the president, and on the resignation of Mr. Habersham, 1827, ib. 103. As to certain lands claimed by the Cherokees as having been ceded to them by the Creeks, 1828, ib. 126, and 1829, ib. 144; 1829, ib. 147; 1832, pam. 215; 1834, pam. 298.

Respecting citizens' claims, 1821, Vol. IV. 8, ib. 16; 1823, ib. 33; 1824, ib. 39.

Reserves and improvements, 1821, Vol. IV. 15; 1829, ib. 144; 1832, pam. 256.

Conflicts of jurisdiction, agents and other officers and friendly Indians, June, 1825, Vol. IV. 50; Dec. 1825, ib. 58; 1826, ib. 71, 74.

Protection of the white settlers and friendly Indians.—Creeks, 1825, Vol. IV. 53; 1826, ib. 78;—Southern frontier, 1826, ib. 76; 1835, pam. 332;—Seminoles or Lower Creeks, 1826, Vol. IV. 77.—Cherokee guard, 1832, pam. 218; 1834, pam. 335; 1835, pam. 336. Execution of convicts, 1834, pam. 293.

Missionaries, 1831, pam. 266.

INDIGO WEED.

An Act to oblige the Planters of Indigo, after steeping the weed, to bury or destroy it within a limited time.—Approved March 12, 1774. Vol. I. 270.

Whereas it has been represented by several persons concerned in planting and making indigo, that many pernicious effects arise from the number of flies which are engendered by leaving the weed, after having been steeped, to rot above ground,

1. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That immediately from and after the passing of this act, all persons who may be concerned in the planting and making of indigo, shall after the weed has been steeped and taken out of any vat or vats, cause the same to be buried at least two inches under the surface of the earth, or otherwise effectually destroyed, within forty-eight hours after such weed shall be taken out of any vat or vats as aforesaid.

To be buried within forty-eight hours after being steeped.

2. Sec. II. If any person or persons planting or making indigo, shall neglect to cause the weed, after being steeped, to be buried or otherwise effectually destroyed, within forty-eight hours after the same has been taken out of any vat or vats as aforesaid, such person or persons so offending shall forfeit and pay for every such offence, the sum of five pounds sterling. [The rest of the section obsolete.]

Under a penalty of five pounds.

3. Sec. III. One half of such forfeiture shall be paid to the person or persons who shall sue for the same, and the remaining half to the poor of the parish where any such offence shall be committed.

Half to the informor, the other to the poor.

Continuation of the act.

4. Sec. IV. This act shall be and continue in force for two years from the passing thereof, and from thence to the end of the next session of the general assembly, and no longer. [See Laws, Sec. 2.]

INSOLVENT DEBTORS.

An Act to carry into effect the Seventh Section of the Fourth Article of the Constitution.—Approved December 5, 1801. Vol. II. 21.*

Whereas in and by the said seventh section it is declared, that—[Reciting it in full.] And whereas the manner of delivering up such estate has not been heretofore regulated by law, in conformity to the said seventh section,

Notice to creditors.

In the State.

Out of the State.

Schedule.

The oath.

Discharge.

1. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. [The first part of the section re-enacted with amendments, see Sec. 9.] And the several creditors at whose suit he, she, or they, are charged or imprisoned, as aforesaid, and also all those to whom the said debtor or debtors shall or may be then indebted, to be summoned to appear personally, or by their attorney, at a day to be appointed for that purpose, upon which day the debtor shall produce his books of account, if any he kept, which summons or notice shall be served on each of the said creditors, or left at their notorious places of abode, if they reside within this State—or if they reside without the State, then upon their attorney; and if no attorney, then to be published in one of the gazettes of Augusta or Savannah, at least two months before the day appointed for such appearance, and upon such, if any of the creditors summoned refuse or neglect to appear, upon affidavit of the due service of such rule or order, the court shall, in a summary way, examine the matter of such petition, and the suggestions of fraud, if any, and if upon such examination it shall appear to the court, that the debtor is really and bona fide insolvent, then such person shall deliver to the court a schedule of all his real and personal estate, debts, credits or effects, and shall take and subscribe the following oath, viz. “I, A. B. do solemnly swear, (or affirm as the case may be,) in the presence of Almighty God, that I am not possessed of any real or personal estate, debts, credits or effects, securities or contracts whatsoever, my wearing apparel, bedding for myself and family, and the working tools or implements of my trade or calling, together with the necessary equipments for a militia soldier excepted, other than are contained in the schedule now delivered, and that I have not, directly or indirectly, since my imprisonment, or before, sold, leased, assigned, or otherwise disposed of, or made over in trust for myself or otherwise, any part of my lands, estates, goods, stock, money, debts, securities or contracts, whereby any money may hereafter become payable, or any real or personal estate, whereby to have or expect any benefit or profit to myself, my wife or my heirs”—so help me God. And upon the said debtor having taken and subscribed the aforesaid oath, the court shall order the sheriff or jailer to discharge the said debtor from confinement on account of the matter contained in his petition, and such order shall be a sufficient warrant to the sheriff, jailer, or keeper of such debtor, to discharge the said debtor, if detained for the causes mentioned in his or her petition, and no other; and he is hereby required to discharge and set him or her at liberty forthwith, the debtor paying his or her fees; nor shall the sheriff, jailer, or keeper of said debtor, be liable to any action of escape, or other suit or information upon that account.

* For the former act for the relief of insolvent debtors, now obsolete, see Vol. I. 182.

† Thirty days, see Sec. 9.

Jail fees.

Provided, That no person shall be permitted or entitled to take any benefit or advantage of this act, who has within twelve calendar months, lost at any one time, by any species of gaming, the sum of one hundred dollars, or at different times, the amount of three hundred dollars.

Gambling.

Provided also, and be it further enacted, that if any such person who shall take such oath as aforesaid, shall, upon any indictment for perjury, in any matter or particular contained in the said oath, be convicted by his or her own confession, or by verdict of twelve men, as he or she may be by force of this act, the person so convicted shall stand in the pillory for the space of two hours, be imprisoned at the discretion of the court, not exceeding twelve months, and shall never after have the benefit of this act, and shall be forever after incapable of being a witness in any court of justice, or serving as a juror.*

Perjury in taking the oath, how punished.

2. Sec. II. Each and every debtor so discharged as aforesaid, shall never thereafter be arrested or imprisoned, by virtue of any execution founded upon any judgment obtained, or hereafter to be obtained, upon any debt or contract before that time entered into by the said debtor or debtors, to any creditor so notified as aforesaid; neither shall any debtor so discharged as aforesaid, be arrested or held to bail in mesne process for or on account of any debt or contract entered into prior to their discharge as aforesaid; and any creditor so notified as aforesaid, who shall cause the person of any debtor so discharged as aforesaid, to be arrested, knowing of such discharge, shall forfeit and pay the sum of five hundred dollars, to be recovered by bill, plaint, or information, in any court having cognizance thereof, one half to the use of the other creditors of the said debtor, and the other moiety to the sole use of the said debtor, of which his creditors shall have no part or benefit; Provided that nothing herein contained shall prevent any creditor to have execution at any future time against the property both real and personal of such debtor or debtors.

The property of the debtor always, but his person never thereafter liable,

3. Sec. III. If any person shall discover and give information of any property embezzled or concealed by any debtor as aforesaid, previous to his discharge, or not included in the schedule so delivered in as aforesaid, such person shall be entitled to one half of the value of such property, upon its being established that the same was the property of the said debtor, and embezzled, secreted, or not included in the schedule as aforesaid.

Property concealed, how to be disposed of.

4. Sec. IV. The property contained in the said schedule, presented to the court by such debtor or debtors, shall be delivered into the hands of the sheriff of the county in which such debtor or debtors may have been confined, who shall make sale thereof, agreeably to the law regulating sheriffs' sales within this State; and if any part of the property so given up shall consist of judgments, bonds, notes, contracts, securities, mortgages, liquidated demands or open accounts, the court shall order the same to be assigned over by said debtor or debtors, to some fit and proper person or persons, whom a majority of the creditors shall nominate to the use of, and in trust for such judgment creditors, which when collected by the said trustee or trustees, together with the money which may be in the hands of the sheriff, arising from the sale of any property of such debtor or debtors, shall be subject to the further order of, and after the payment of the costs and charges, shall be distributed by the said court agreeably to the laws within this State for the payment of judgments and executions.

Disposition of the property and debts surrendered.

Trustees.
Their duty,

5. Sec. V. The said trustee or trustees shall proceed, without delay, to collect all the debts, &c. so transferred as aforesaid, either by suit or otherwise, which, when collected, shall be paid by the said trustee or trustees into the clerk's office of the said court; and the said trustee or trustees shall have and receive five per centum on all moneys so collected by him or them, as a compensation for his or their trouble and expenses in collecting the same. And any trustee or trustees, who shall fail to pay into court any money by him or them collected as aforesaid, shall be subject to the same punishment for contempt, and to the same mode for the recovery of the said money, as sheriffs are liable to by the laws of this State.

and accountability.

Prison fees.

6. Sec. VI. When any person or persons, who now are, or hereafter shall be committed for any debt or damage whatsoever, and shall not be able to satisfy and pay his ordinary prison fees, such fees shall be paid by the person at whose instance such insolvent person may be confined.

An Act to authorize the Justices of the Inferior Courts of this State to discharge Insolvent Debtors, confined by process from any Court of this State whatever.—Approved Dec. 10, 1803. Vol. II. 147.

Sec. I. [Superseded by the act of 1809. See Sec. 9.]

And whereas it often happens that prisoners, debtors, and criminals, are committed and sent to jails in other counties than those to which they belong, and in which they ought of right to be confined, to the great injury of the county to which they are so committed, as the criminals in particular are frequently left there without prosecution,

Bond to prosecute in criminal cases.

7. Sec. II. Be it therefore enacted, That from and after the passing of this act, it shall not be lawful for any magistrate to commit a criminal to jail for any offence against the State, without first compelling the prosecutor to give bond and security to prosecute, according to law.

Security for the maintenance and jail fees of debtors,

And in all cases where debtors shall be committed under any execution or mesne process, at the suit of any person residing out of the county or State, the agent or attorney of the plaintiff shall give like security for the maintenance and jail fees of the defendant, the maintenance to be paid weekly; and in failure thereof, the defendant shall be discharged on application to the justices of the inferior court; and in like manner, when seamen are committed at the instance of their captains, who frequently leave them in jail, security shall be given to the jailer, before he shall receive such seamen, for their maintenance and jail fees.*

and seamen.

Repealing
clause.

8. Sec. III. The said act to carry into effect the 7th section of the 4th article of the constitution, so far as the same militates against this act, be, and the same is hereby repealed.

An Act to amend the foregoing.—Approved Dec. 13, 1809. Vol. II. 549.

Whereas the mode pointed out by the said act for the relief of insolvent debtors is so speedy, and the process so summary, as to work great injury in many cases to creditors of such debtors; for remedy whereof,

* Act of 1820 authorizing prisoners arrested on civil process to be carried to jails of other counties, see Judiciary, Sec. 116, 117.

9. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That from and after the passing of this act, it shall and may be lawful for the judges of the superior, or justices of the inferior courts,* and they are hereby required, on the petition of any person or persons confined for debt, whether charged in execution or otherwise, and whether the process by virtue of which such person or persons is, or are confined, be issued from the superior court, or other court of inferior jurisdiction, setting forth, that he, she, or they are so confined, and are unable to satisfy the debt or demand for which he, she, or they are so confined, or to give bail for his, her, or their appearance, to answer to the action under which he, she, or they is, or are confined, but are willing to deliver up the whole of his, her, or their estate and effects for the benefit of his, her, or their creditors, by rule or order of court to cause such debtor to be brought up; and being brought up, the said judge or justices shall proceed with such debtor in the manner directed by an act, entitled “An Act to carry into effect the 7th section of the 4th article of the Constitution.”

Duty of judges of superior, and justices of inferior courts, in discharging insolvent debtors.

[Sec Sec. I.] Provided that the notice required by the said act to be given to the creditors of such debtor, if the same be by notice served upon the said creditors or their attorneys, shall be given at least thirty days previously to the time appointed for bringing up such debtor.

Notice, 30 days.

And provided also, that if, upon bringing up such debtor, any one or more of the creditors shall suggest to the said judge or justice, that the said debtor is not fairly insolvent, or that he has been guilty of any fraudulent practices, that then, and in that case, it shall be the duty of the said judge or justices forthwith to cause an issue to be made up between the said creditor or creditors, and the said debtor, fraud or not fraud.†

Suggestions of fraud, when and by whom to be made.

Issue made up.

10. Sec II. Upon such issue being made up, the said judge or justices shall cause to be drawn and summoned, in the manner pointed out by law, a jury of twelve persons to attend at the court-house, at a particular day to be specified for that purpose, to try the said issue; and if the jury shall find that there has been fraud on the part of such debtor, then he or she shall be remanded to prison; and if they shall find that there has been no fraud, then the said debtor shall be forthwith discharged in the manner pointed out by the said act, entitled “An Act to carry into effect the seventh section of the 4th article of the Constitution.”

A jury to be summoned, who shall try the issue.

11. Sec. III. The sheriff shall be allowed for summoning each jury the sum of five dollars, to be paid by the creditors, who shall require such issue to be made up.

Sheriff's fee for summoning the jury.

Sec. IV. [Repeals all repugnant laws.]

[“An act for the relief of insolvent debtors, who may be confined in jail, and are unable to support themselves during such their confinement.” Vol. I. 182. Repealed by constitution and subsequent acts.]

An Act to extend to all persons imprisoned for Debt the privilege of Prison bounds.—Approved Dec. 22, 1820. Vol. IV. 203.

12. Within six months from the passing of this act, the sheriffs of the several counties of this State, shall, under the direction of the Sheriffs to lay off ten acres around the jail as prison bounds.

* One or more justices of the inferior courts are competent to officiate in Chatham between the 1st of June and 1st of November. Vol. III. 249.

† This clause re-enacted in 1823. See Sec. 21.

Inferior courts of the counties where jails are built, lay off or cause to be laid off around the jails, in such manner as they may deem most convenient and proper, ten acres; and in the counties where no jails are yet built, it shall be the duty of the sheriff, under the direction of the Inferior court in those respective counties, within three months after a jail is erected in the same and received, to lay off the same number of acres as is provided for in this act, which limits, when so laid off in each case, shall be held and considered as prison bounds.

Prisoners may have the bounds on tendering a bond.

Conditions of the bond.

Proceedings for violating the same.

Proviso.

Penalty for refusing to receive the bond, or taking insufficient security.

When the arrest is made by a coroner.

13. Sec. II. So soon as prison bounds are ascertained in the manner hereinbefore pointed out, and any person shall be arrested and committed to jail by an officer upon civil process, and the person so arrested and committed to jail shall tender to the officer committing the said person to jail, a bond with good and sufficient security in a sum of double the amount of the debt or demand for which he, she, or they are committed to jail; which bond the said officer so arresting are hereby authorized and required to take, with condition that if the person or persons so arrested and committed to jail do at any time, without being legally discharged, pass or leave the boundaries so laid off and defined as prison bounds, such passage or departure of said bounds shall be taken and considered as an escape and forfeiture of said bond; and the sheriff or other officer taking such bond and security shall be bound, on the application of the plaintiff in such case, his attorney at law or in fact, to assign the same to the plaintiff, who may upon such bond and assignment commence an action for the breach of the same, against the principal or principals, and his, her, or their security or securities at the same time, and shall recover against the principal or principals in said bond, and his, her, or their security or securities, the amount of debt or demand, with interest and costs, for which the person or persons was or were arrested and committed to jail; Provided, nevertheless, no person [so] arrested and committed to jail, shall have the benefit of such bounds for a longer term than six calendar months, at the instance of the same plaintiff.

14. Sec. III. In case any sheriff or other officer so arresting, and committing a person or persons to jail, upon any civil process, shall refuse to receive such bond as is hereinbefore set forth, the officer so refusing shall be subject to indictment for malepractice in office; and in case the officer shall take insufficient security, he shall be held liable to the plaintiff in the several modes pointed out in the laws heretofore passed, prescribing the liability of sheriffs and other officers; and in case the arrest should be made by a coroner, he shall be held to all the liabilities that a sheriff would be, were the arrest made by him.

An Act to alter and amend an act, entitled "An Act to extend to all Persons imprisoned for Debt the privilege of Prison Bounds," passed the 22d of December, 1820.—Approved Dec. 24, 1821. Vol. IV. 308.

Preamble.

Prison bounds to be laid off in every county.

Whereas, the time limited by the above-recited act for sheriffs in the different counties in this State to lay off prison bounds under the direction of the Inferior courts was limited to six months in counties having jails; and whereas, certain counties in that situation have neglected to lay off jail bounds within the time prescribed; and whereas, their authority to do so now is doubted;

15. Be it therefore enacted, That in every county in this State, having a jail, where no jail boundaries have been laid off agreeable to the above-recited act, it shall be the duty of the sheriffs under the direction of the Inferior courts to lay off, or cause to be laid off, jail boundaries agreeable to the above-recited act, at any time within six months from the passage of this act, any law to the contrary notwithstanding.

An Act to exempt from sale for debts contracted after a given time certain Articles chiefly necessary for the subsistence of the debtor's family.—Approved Dec. 23, 1822. Vol. IV. 313.

16. Whereas, it does not comport with justice or expediency to deprive innocent and helpless women and children of the means of subsistence; Preamble.

Be it therefore enacted, That from and after the first day of March next the following articles be exempt from levy and sale on account of any debt contracted after that day, to wit: two beds and bedding, common bedsteads, a spinning-wheel, and two pair of cards, a loom, and cow and calf, common tools of his trade, and ordinary cooking utensils, and ten dollars' worth of provisions. Certain articles exempt from levy and sale for debts.

17. Sec. II. In all cases where any debtor shall have the benefit of the above-recited act extended to him, it shall be the duty of the officer levying the execution to make out a schedule of the articles so exempted from seizure and sale, and return the same to the clerk of the Inferior court of said county, whose duty it shall be to record the same in a book kept by him for that purpose; then the above property shall be alienated and vested in the Inferior court, to be appropriated to the benefit and use of said family so long as the defendant shall remain insolvent. Schedule of the articles so exempted to be returned to the clerk of the Inf'r Court.

Sec. III. All laws and parts of laws so far as they militate with this act are hereby repealed.

An Act for the Relief of honest Debtors.—Approved Dec. 19, 1823. Vol IV. 316.

18. From and immediately after the passage of this act, when any debtor or debtors shall be taken upon any capias ad satisfaciendum, and shall be desirous of taking the benefit of the oath prescribed for the relief of insolvent debtors, or of rendering a full and fair schedule of his property, it shall and may be lawful for such debtor or debtors to tender to the sheriff of the county, his lawful deputy, or any constable, marshal, or other officer by whom he, she, or they may have been taken, a bond or bonds payable to the party at whose instance the arrest was made, with good and sufficient securities in twice the amount of the debt, conditioned for his appearance at the next term of the Superior or Inferior court, or any court of Oyer and Terminer and Corporation court, in which said capias ad satisfaciendum was obtained (and if the same issued from a justice's court, then to the Inferior court next to be held in and for said county), then and there to stand to and abide by such proceedings as may be had by the court in relation to his, her, or their taking the benefit of this act; and in case of failure to appear, judgment shall be entered up instanter upon said bond against the principal, and his securities to be discharged upon the payment of the debt and cost. And when an execution issues thereon, the defendant in the capias ad satisfaciendum shall not be entitled to the benefit of this act; Provided, that if either of the parties to the said bond shall be desirous to have an issue made up and submitted to a jury, a jury shall be immediately empannelled to try such issue, and the plea of non est factum shall only be received upon Debtors when taken on a ca. sa. may tender a bond in twice the amount of the debt for his appearance at the court.
On failure to appear, judgment against principal and securities.
Issue how tried.

- Case of sickness. the party making oath to its verity; And provided further, that if it shall be made appear satisfactorily to said court that said debtor or debtors are prevented from attending court by sickness, or other sufficient cause to be judged of by the court, the case shall be continued over to the next court, at which time the same proceedings shall be had as if he had appeared at the first time; And provided further, That if such debtor or debtors shall die in the mean time, it shall be an absolute discharge of such bond or bonds: Provided, nevertheless, That when any debtor or debtors shall be taken as aforesaid, within twenty days before the sitting of said court, said bond shall be conditioned for his, her, or their appearance at the succeeding term of the court aforesaid.
- Death.
- Proviso.
- Debtor to be released. 19. Sec. II. Upon such debtor or debtors tendering such bond or bonds, it shall be the duty of such sheriff, deputy, or constable, as the case may be, to release him, her, or them from confinement or custody; any law, usage, or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.
- Power of securities over their principal. 20. Sec. III. To enable the honest debtor the more easily to obtain the security required in the first section of this act it shall be lawful for the said security, at the court to which the principal is bound to appear, to surrender in open court said principal in discharge of the security; and for the purpose of making the surrender, the security is hereby authorized to exercise all the power which by law special bail have over their principal.
- Debtor to take oath and swear to schedule of property previously filed with the clerk. 21. Sec. IV. Upon the appearance of such debtor or debtors at the court to which he is bound to appear it shall be lawful for him, her, or them, either in person or by attorney, to move the court to be admitted to take the oath prescribed for the relief of insolvent debtors, or to swear to the schedule previously filed with the clerk of said court agreeably to the provisions of this act hereinafter contained; and it shall be the duty of said court, upon such debtor or debtors making it appear to them that at least ten days' notice has been given in writing to his, her, or their creditors of the intention to avail him, her, or themselves of the benefit of this act, to administer the oath prescribed for the benefit of insolvent debtors, or to swear him, her, or them to the schedule as aforesaid, as the case may be, and to direct the clerk to make an entry of the same upon his minutes, which shall exempt the body or bodies of such debtor or debtors from imprisonment for debt in all cases where notice may have been given to the creditors, which notices shall be filed with the clerk of said court; Provided, nevertheless, that if any creditor or creditors shall suggest any fraud or concealment of any property, money, or effects, it shall be the duty of the court to direct an issue to be made up and tried by a jury at the first term before such debtor or debtors are sworn; Provided further, that if either of the parties shall be unprepared for the trial of such issue, the court may continue the same under the same rules and regulations by which suits at law are now continued; and if the said jury shall find that there is any fraud or concealment, or if said debtor or debtors shall fail or refuse to answer upon oath, or if said debtor or debtors shall fail to make it appear to the court that he, she, or they have given the necessary notice to the creditor or creditors at whose instance he, she, or they may have been arrested, then and in that case the said debtor or debtors shall be deemed in the custody of the sheriff, and the court shall adjudge that he, she, or they be imprisoned until a full and fair disclosure of all the property, money, or effects be made by said debtor or debtors, and until he, she, or they have given the necessary notice as aforesaid, to be judged of by said court.
- Ten days' notice to be given creditors.
- Suggestion of fraud, &c. to be tried by a jury.
- In case of concealment or failure to answer, &c., debtor to be imprisoned till a full disclosure is made, &c.

22. Sec. V. When any debtor or debtors taken upon any capias ad satisfaciendum as aforesaid shall be desirous to render a full and fair schedule of his, her, or their property and effects, he, she, or they shall file the same with the clerk of the court at which he is bound to appear, at least ten days before the sitting of the court, at the sitting of which he proposes to avail himself of the benefit of this act; and that upon his being admitted to swear to the said schedule, the same proceedings shall be had thereon as may be now had on schedules filed under the law now in force.

Schedule to be filed with the clerk ten days before court.

23. Sec. VI. No person shall be imprisoned for debt upon any capias ad satisfaciendum who will comply with the requisites of this act, except in cases of fraud or concealment hereinbefore mentioned; any law, usage, or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

No person complying with these requisites to be imprisoned.

Sec. VII. [Repeals all conflicting laws.]

An Act to amend an act to exempt from sale for debts contracted after a given time certain articles, chiefly necessary for the subsistence of the debtor's family.—Approved Dec. 22, 1834. Pam. 222.

24. From and after the passage of this bill, in addition to the articles exempt from sale in the above-recited act shall be added the family Bible of all debtors who may be entitled to the benefits of the said act.

Family Bible exempted from sale.

Sec. II. [Repeals all repugnant laws.]

An Act to alter and amend "An act entitled an act passed the 23d of December 1822, to exempt from sale for debts contracted after a given time, certain articles, chiefly necessary for the subsistence of the debtor's family," so far as to extend the same privileges, and benefits to widows and their families during their widowhood, as are extended to debtors' families in said before recited act.—Approved Dec. 22, 1835. Pam. 80.

From and after the passage of this act, the privileges and benefits extended to debtors' families in the above-recited act shall be, and they are hereby extended to all widows, and their families, during their widowhood, under the same rules, regulations and restrictions, as govern the articles exempted for the use of debtors' families, in the before recited act.

Benefit of debtors' acts, extended to widows.

Sec. II. [Repeals all laws conflicting with this.]

By Resolution of 22d Dec., 1821, the Legislature after considerable discussion and deliberation say, that "notwithstanding the many arguments which are suggested for the wisdom for abolishing imprisonment for debt, they deem it unadvisable now to adopt the measure." Vol. IV. 12 of Res.

INTEREST.

An Act for reducing the Interest of Money in this Province.—Approved March 27, 1759. Vol. I. 270.

Whereas the high rate of interest in this province of Georgia is a great discouragement to planters and others from improving their landed estates therein, by reason that the profits arising from such improvements do not equal the sum paid for money so laid out and employed. And whereas many planters, and others, by failure of crops, and other misfortunes, do become unavoidably indebted, and are therefore made chargeable with the said high rate of interest, to the detriment of the said planters, and others, and to the great hinderance of the improvement and settlement of the said province; for remedy whereof, and for preventing the like mischief for the future :

Lawful interest to be eight per cent. per annum.

Bonds, notes, &c. on which greater interest is reserved, declared void.

All persons making any contract to evade this act shall forfeit treble the value.

1. Be it enacted, That no person or persons whatsoever, from and after the 29th day of March, in the year of our Lord 1759, upon any contract that shall be made from and after the said 25th day of March, shall take directly or indirectly, for loan of any moneys, wares, merchandise, or other commodities whatsoever, above the value of eight pounds for the forbearance of 100 pounds for a year, and so after that rate for a greater or lesser sum, or for a longer or shorter time; and that all bonds, contracts, and assurances whatsoever made after the time aforesaid, for the payment of any principal or money, to be lent, covenanted, to be performed upon, or for any usury, whereupon or whereby there shall be reserved or taken above the rate of eight pounds in the hundred as aforesaid, shall be utterly void; and that all and every person or persons whosoever, who shall, after the time aforesaid, upon any contract to be made after the said 29th day of March, take, accept, and receive, by way or means of any corrupt bargain, loan, exchange, chevisance, shift, or interest of any wares, merchandise, or other thing or things whatsoever; or by any deceitful way or means, or by any covin, engine, or deceitful conveyance, for the forbearing or giving day of payment for one whole year, of and for their money, or other thing, above the sum of eight pounds, for the forbearing of 100 pounds, for a year, and so after that rate for a greater or lesser sum, or for a longer or shorter term, shall forfeit and lose, for every such offence, the treble value of the moneys, wares, and merchandises, and other things, so lent, bargained, exchanged, or shifted, any law, usage, or custom to the contrary thereof in any wise notwithstanding.*

An Act to establish an uniform mode of calculating Interest in this State,† and to prevent the collection of Compound Interest.—Approved November 23, 1814. Vol. III. 336.

Whereas it is just and equitable, that there shall be an uniform and definite mode practised throughout the State for calculating interest, Payments to be applied first to the discharge of interest due.

If any interest remains unpaid, it shall not carry interest.

2. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That in future the mode of calculating interest in this State shall be at and after the rate of eight per cent. per annum; and whenever any payment shall be made on any note, bond, or other instrument, demand, execution, or judgment, where any interest has accrued on any such note, bond, or other instrument, execution, or judgment, such payment shall, in the first place, be applied to the discharge of interest due, and no part of the principal shall be considered as discharged until the interest shall have been first extinguished. Provided nevertheless, that in all cases where the payment made shall not be sufficient to discharge all the interest due at the time of the payment, no interest shall at any future payment be calculated on the balance of interest which was left unpaid.

3. Sec. II. In all cases where judgments may hereafter be obtained,

* But see Sec. 4, 5.

† By the act of 1808, to alleviate the condition of debtors, "all open accounts where the party refuses to liquidate the same, shall bear interest during the continuation of that act," which was enacted 23d May, and repealed 20th December, 1808. Vol. II. 427, 448.

all such judgments shall be entered up for the principal sum due with the interest, but no part of such judgment shall bear interest, except the principal which may be due on the original debt, any law, usage, custom, or practice to the contrary notwithstanding.

Principal and interest kept separate in the entry of judgments.

An Act to alter and amend an act, entitled An Act for reducing the Interest of Money in this Province, passed March 27, 1759, so far as relates to Usurious Contracts.—Approved Dec. 23, 1822. Vol. IV. 488.

4. All contracts, bonds, notes, and assurances whatsoever, made after the passage of this act, for the payment of any principal or money, goods, wares, or merchandise, or other commodities whatsoever, to be lent, covenanted, to be performed upon, or for any usury, whereupon or whereby there shall be reserved or taken above the rate of eight per centum per annum, shall not be void, but the principal due thereon shall be recoverable at law and no more.

What shall be the effect of taking more than the lawful interest.

5. Sec. II. No forfeiture shall be incurred by any person who hereafter may reserve or take more than eight per cent. per annum upon any contract, as contemplated in the first section of this act; any law, usage, or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

No forfeiture created.

The following are the rates of legal interest in the several States.

Maine ⁽²⁾ six per cent.	South Carolina ⁽²⁾ seven per cent.
New Hampshire ⁽¹⁾ six per cent.	Tennessee ⁽¹⁾ six per cent.
Rhode Island ⁽²⁾ six per cent.	Kentucky ⁽⁴⁾ six per cent.
Connecticut ⁽²⁾ six per cent.	Ohio ⁽⁴⁾ six per cent.
Massachusetts ⁽⁶⁾ six per cent.	Indiana ⁽⁷⁾ six per cent.
Vermont ⁽⁷⁾ six per cent.	Illinois ⁽¹⁰⁾ six per cent.
New York ⁽⁷⁾ seven per cent.	Alabama ⁽¹¹⁾ eight per cent.
New Jersey ⁽⁷⁾ six per cent.	Missouri ⁽⁹⁾ six per cent.
Pennsylvania ⁽¹⁾ six per cent.	Arkansas ⁽⁸⁾ six per cent.
Delaware ⁽⁴⁾ six per cent.	Michigan ⁽¹²⁾ six per cent.
Maryland ⁽⁸⁾ six per cent.	Louisiana ⁽¹²⁾
Virginia ⁽⁸⁾ six per cent.	Mississippi ⁽¹⁴⁾ eight per cent.
North Carolina ⁽⁸⁾ six per cent.	Florida ⁽¹⁵⁾ eight per cent.

⁽¹⁾ Contract good for principal and lawful interest, but the lender liable to a penalty.

⁽²⁾ Contract good for principal and lawful interest, but the lender liable to a penalty equal to the excess.

⁽³⁾ Contract good for principal, but void as to all interest.

⁽⁴⁾ Contract good for principal and lawful interest, but void for the excess.

⁽⁵⁾ Usurious contracts void, and the lender liable to a penalty.

⁽⁶⁾ Contracts good for principal, but forfeiture of three times the whole interest.

⁽⁷⁾ Usurious contracts void.

⁽⁸⁾ Usurious contracts void. Eight per cent. allowed on tobacco contracts.

⁽⁹⁾ Contracts good as far as ten per cent. Beyond that void.

⁽¹⁰⁾ May contract for twelve per cent. Beyond that void.

⁽¹¹⁾ Contracts good for principal only. Usury indictable.

⁽¹²⁾ This is usual. No certain rate is established by law. Any rate contracted for can be enforced.

⁽¹³⁾ In Louisiana there are three sorts of interest. Legal interest, where there is no stipulation, is five per cent. per annum. Bank interest is six per cent. and Conventional interest is ten per cent. That is to say, the parties may agree for any rate as far as ten per cent. but any contract beyond that rate is void.

⁽¹⁴⁾ This in ordinary contracts: ten per cent. permitted on loans of money.

⁽¹⁵⁾ But contracts for other rates may be enforced.

INTERNAL TRANSPORTATION,

(INCLUDING RAIL-ROADS, STEAM-BOATS, CANALS AND TURNPIKES.)

An Act for the incorporation of the Steam Boat Company of Georgia.

Approved Dec. 19, 1817. Vol. III. 510.

Preamble.

Whereas, by an act of the general assembly of this State, passed on the 18th day of November, 1814, certain privileges were granted to Samuel Howard of Savannah, and his associates: And whereas sundry persons have become the associates thus contemplated: to give complete effect to said act, and for other purposes,

Members of the steamboat company nominated and incorporated.

1. Be it enacted, That the following persons, viz. Albert Brux, William Cumming, John McKinne, Samuel Hale, Andrew Erwin, Henry Shultz, Benjamin Simis, Sheldon C. Dunning, William Scarborough, Jonathan Meigs, John Gurnin, Samuel Howard, Robert Isaac, Abraham Twiggs, Augustin Slaughter, Oliver Sturgess, William Hart, William Taylor, Charles Labuzan, Benjamin Burroughs, William Sims, Samuel P. P. Fay, Jared Groce, Elias Reid, Samuel Lark, Charles Howard, Basil Lamar, Barna McKinne, Joseph Grant, James Erwin, James G. O. Wilkinson, Thomas Tallmage, Walter Crenshaw, Augustus Brux and David McKinney, and their successors and assigns, be, and they are hereby created and made a corporation and body politic, by the name and style of "The President, Directors and Company of the Steam Boat Company of Georgia;" and by that name and style shall be, and are hereby made able and capable in law to have, purchase, receive, possess, enjoy and retain to them and their successors, lands, rents, tenements, hereditaments, goods, chattels and effects of what kind, nature or quality soever, to an amount not exceeding the capital of said corporation at the time of holding such property, and the same to sell, grant, demise, alien or dispose of; to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, answer and be answered unto, defend and be defended in courts of record, or any place whatsoever; and also to make, have and use a common seal, and the same to break, alter and renew at their pleasure; and also to ordain, establish and put in execution such by-laws, ordinances and regulations as shall seem necessary and convenient for the government of said corporation: Provided nevertheless, that such by-laws, rules and regulations be not contrary to the constitution and laws of the State, or of the United States; and generally to do and execute all and singular such acts, matters and things, as to them may or shall appertain to do; subject, nevertheless, to the rules and limitations hereinafter prescribed.

Their style and corporate
powers.

Capital stock.

2. Sec. II. The capital stock of the above-mentioned corporation shall be $200,000, but may be increased to any sum not exceeding $800,000, whenever it is deemed expedient by a majority of the stockholders, holding two-thirds of the existing stock.

Thirteen Directors to be elected annually.

Votes apportioned.

3. Sec. III. To manage the affairs of said corporation, the stockholders shall annually, by a majority of votes, elect thirteen directors, who shall choose a president from their own body. All voting by the stockholders shall be according to the following scale, viz; one share shall give one vote; any number of shares, from two to five inclusive, shall give two votes; and every five shares above five, shall give one vote; but no share or shares shall confer the right of a vote or votes, unless transferred to the holder on the books of the corporation, at least three months previously to the time of voting.

4. Sec. IV. The above-mentioned corporation shall possess, for twenty years next following the date of this act, the exclusive privilege of navigating the rivers and other waters of this State, with boats or vessels propelled by steam, whether employed alone, or for the purpose of warping, towing, or in any manner impelling other boats and vessels, rafts, floats or arks. And if any person or persons, other than said corporation, shall, during said term of twenty years, navigate or cause to be navigated, any river or water of this State with a boat or boats, vessel or vessels propelled by steam, either employed alone, or for the purpose of towing, warping, or in any manner impelling other boat or boats, vessel or vessels, raft or rafts, float or floats, ark or arks, such person or persons so offending, shall forfeit every boat or vessel thus employed, steam-boat or other, together with the machinery thereof, and shall also forfeit and pay for every such offence the sum of $1,000; and said double forfeiture shall be recovered by the process of law in such cases, in any court having competent jurisdiction; and when recovered, shall go in equal portions to the State and to the prosecutor.

Invested with the exclusive privilege of navigating the waters of this State with steam boats or vessels for 20 years. Persons violating said privilege, liable to certain penalties.

5. Sec. V. Said corporation shall forfeit its right to the exclusive navigation above-mentioned, of each and every river in which it shall not have at least one steam-boat in operation within seven years from the date of this act; and provided also, that even after the expiration of said seven years, said corporation shall forfeit its exclusive right above-mentioned, to the navigation of each and every river, on which, for twelve months together, it shall employ no steam-boat.

What shall occasion a forfeiture of said right on any river

6. Sec. VI. The said corporation shall be liable for all losses caused by fire and steam, if occasioned by their own negligence or that of their agents or servants, but not otherwise: Provided, that the law governing carriers, now in force, shall be in no wise innovated by this section.

When liable for losses.

7. Sec. VII. The said corporation shall be authorized to insure all property shipped in their boats against risks for which they are not legally liable; and shall also be authorized to enjoy the exclusive use of its own wharf or wharves; but it shall not hold any other than may be necessary for the convenient transaction of its own business.

May insure property shipped in their boats. May have exclusive wharves.

8. Sec. VIII. This act shall continue in force for twenty years from its date; but nothing herein contained shall divest said corporation of any benefit which might be enjoyed by the said Samuel Howard, under the act, entitled, "An Act to encourage an improved mode of transporting merchandize upon the waters of the State of Georgia," passed on the 18th day of November, 1814;—on the contrary, the said corporation shall enjoy all rights, privileges and exemptions, granted to said Samuel Howard, by said act, in as full and complete a manner as if the same were granted directly to said corporation, with power and capacity of suing and being sued under the said act in any court of law or equity: Provided nevertheless, that nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to authorize the aforesaid company to issue any bills, commonly called bank bills or bills of credit.

Duration of this act.

To enjoy all the rights, &c. which were granted to S. Howard, by the former act.

Proviso.

An Act to authorize the President, Directors and Company of the Steam-boat Company of Georgia to run a Canal or Rail-road from the City of Augusta to some point on the Savannah river, so as to avoid the shoals and other obstructions to the navigation of said river.—Approved Dec. 20, 1833. Pam. 252.

Whereas, the shoals and other obstructions in the Savannah river frequently impede the navigation thereof, and hinder the transportation of merchandize and produce : And whereas, a line of rail-road or canal communication between Augusta and a point below these shoals and obstructions would greatly facilitate the export of the products of this State, and the import of the necessary supplies of merchandize :

Preamble.

May construct a rail-road or canal around the shoals, &c. below Augusta.

Be it enacted, &c. That the president, directors and company of the steam-boat company of Georgia, be and are hereby authorized and empowered to run a rail-road or canal of suitable width, depth and dimensions, in such course as shall be determined on, from the city of Augusta to such point on the Savannah river as may be selected by them, to avoid the shoals and other obstructions lying below Augusta, paying to the owners of land through which the same may pass a just indemnity, to be ascertained as hereinafter provided for, and for three hundred feet on each side of the same, and of its artificial feeders ; for the procurement of timber, earth, stones, and other materials, and for the construction thereon of basins, toll-houses, slips, locks, docks, and other necessary and proper works and purposes. And whenever a person shall own land on both sides of the canal or rail-road, at any point, the company shall be bound to construct, for his or her convenience, such bridge or road as may be necessary to prevent inconvenience to said owner or owners, on or along the said rail-road or canal : but no person shall be at liberty to ford such canal or to cross such rail-road, except by such bridge, without the express permission of the directors of the steam-boat company, or its proper officer.

Bridges, &c.

Allowed to appropriate his funds.

Sec. II. The said company, for the accomplishment of the said work, be and it is hereby authorized and empowered to appropriate to this purpose such part of the capital stock of said company, and such other means of said company, as shall be necessary, or be deemed fit by the board of directors.

Right of way.

Sec. III. When any person shall feel himself aggrieved or injured by the said canal or rail-road, or by reason of any of the feeders, wasteways, or outlets of such canal being cut or carried through his land, or by any other works of the said company, or when the said company cannot agree with any person through or over whose land the said rail-road or canal, or appendages, shall be conducted, as to the damages sustained, the amount of such damage or injury shall be ascertained and determined by the written award of three sworn appraisers, to be chosen one by the company, one by such owner if he shall think proper, and one by the inferior court of the county where such land lies ; but if such owner shall decline to appoint an appraiser, then two appraisers to be appointed by the inferior court aforesaid, and one by the company, the award of whom shall operate as a judgment for the amount against said company, and shall be enforced by an execution from the inferior court, with the right of appeal to either party, to be tried by a special jury at the next term thereafter of the superior court of said county ; and the decision shall vest in the company the fee simple of the land in question, and in the other party a judgment for its value, thus ascertained, which may be enforced by the ordinary process of said court.

Assessment of damages.

Bridges for public roads.

Sec. IV. Whenever the said canal or rail-road shall intersect any public road, the company shall be bound to build a safe and substantial bridge, to be afterwards maintained by the public ; and any public or private bridges may, at any time, be built across the said canal or rail-road, provided such bridges shall not obstruct or incommode the use or navigation of said rail-road or canal.

Willful obstructions or other injuries.

Sec. V. Any person injuring the property of said company, or who shall throw earth, stones, trees, rubbish, logs, or any other matter or thing whatsoever into or upon said canal or rail-road, or its appurtenances, shall be punished by indictment as for a misdemeanor, and on conviction may be fined and imprisoned, at the discretion of the court; and shall also be liable for such damages as may be occasioned thereby, to be recovered by action at the suit of said company, or of any person aggrieved, in any court having jurisdiction.

Sec. VI. The said company shall be, and it is hereby authorized, Tolls. to fix, settle and determine on the rates of toll to be assessed on all boats, arks, rafts, and every other water craft or thing which may pass the canal; or any thing or any vehicle of whatever character or denomination, and on all merchandize and produce, and all other things which by the regulation of said company shall or may be allowed to pass on the said rail-road, and the same to alter at its discretion: and that for the collection of said tolls, the said company, or its proper officer, may stop and detain all boats, vessels, craft, or rafts, or vehicles, or produce or merchandize using the same, until the toll due thereon be paid; and if any person, in charge of any boat, craft or vehicle subject to toll, shall pass by any place appointed for receiving tolls, without making payment thereof, the person so offending shall forfeit and pay for each offence the sum of $25, to be sued for and recovered by action of debt in any court having jurisdiction thereof.

Sec. VII. After the route of such canal or rail-road shall have been accurately surveyed and adopted, and a plat thereof deposited in the department of state, it shall not be lawful for any other canal or rail-road to be built, cut, or constructed, in any way or manner, or by any authority whatsoever, within ten miles of the route so adopted, unless by the said company, or with the consent of the board of directors for the time being. Exclusive privilege.

Sec. VIII. At the expiration of twenty-five years from the completion of said rail-road or canal, the State shall be authorized to buy at par value the said rail-road or canal, and then continue the use thereof as the legislature shall determine. But from the completion of said rail-road or canal to the expiration of the twenty-five years thereafter, the president, directors and company of the steam-boat company of Georgia, their agents or assigns, shall have and enjoy all the right, title, and interest in said rail-road or canal, and the profits arising therefrom; and at the expiration of the aforesaid mentioned period, should the State not deem it advisable to purchase the said rail-road or canal, together with all the appurtenances thereunto belonging, then the privileges of this charter shall be extended to the said company, its agents or assigns, forever. After 25 years, the State may purchase the stock at par, or the charter to be perpetual.

Sec. IX. The said company shall have full power and authority to carry such rail-road or canal over and along any rivers, creeks, waters, or water courses, that may be in the route thereof, or any branch thereof, by any suitable bridges, or other proper modes.* Crossing rivers, creeks, &c.

An Act to extend an act heretofore passed entitled "An Act for the incorporation of the Steam-boat Company of Georgia."—Approved Dec. 20, 1834. Pam. 134.

9. The act of the general assembly of this State, passed on the 19th day of December, 1817, entitled "An Act for the incorporation of the Steam-boat Company of Georgia," be, and the same is hereby extended to, for, and during the full end and term of twenty years from and after the 19th day of December, 1837; to have vested in the Charter of Dec. 1817 extended to 1857.

* Time for commencing limited to two, and for finishing, to ten years from Jan. 1, 1837. See Sec. 280.

said corporation, and to receive, possess, and enjoy, during such term of twenty years, all and singular the advantages, profits, and emoluments, with power and authority to hold, possess, and enjoy real and personal estate, and to be fully subject to all the conditions, limitations, and restrictions contained in the said act: Provided, that the exclusive privileges contained in the fourth section of the said act, and the pains, penalties, and forfeitures therein prescribed, shall not, after the said 19th December, 1837, obtain or be in force, and that the said fourth section of said act shall be thereafter repealed and of no effect.

An Act to incorporate the Central Rail-Road and Canal Company of Georgia.—Approved Dec. 20, 1833. Pam. 246.

- Incorporated. 10. For the purpose of opening a canal or rail-road communication from the city of Savannah to the interior of the State, the corporations of the cities of Savannah and Macon, and such other corporation and individuals as those corporations shall associate with them and their assigns, shall hereafter be a body corporate, by the name and style of
- Name. "The Central Rail-Road and Canal Company of Georgia," and by
- Powers. said corporate name shall be capable in law to buy, hold, and sell real and personal estate, make contracts, sue and be sued, to make by-laws, and to do all lawful acts properly incident to a corporation, and necessary and proper to the transaction of the business for which it is incorporated, and to have and use a common seal, and the same to alter and destroy at its pleasure.
- Capital. 11. Sec. II. The capital stock of said company shall be $1,500,000, divided into shares of $100 each, but may be increased to a sum not exceeding $3,000,000, whenever it may be deemed expedient by a majority of the board of directors of said corporation for the time being.
- May construct a rail-road or canal from Savannah to Macon. 12. Sec. III. The said corporation be, and it is hereby authorized and empowered to make, construct, and maintain a canal or rail-road, for the transportage of produce, merchandize, and passengers, of suitable width, depth, and dimensions, in the most cheap, proper and practicable course from the city of Savannah to the city of Macon, paying to the owners of land through which the same may pass, a just indemnity, to be ascertained as hereinafter provided for, for the value of the land covered by the railway or canal, and for three hundred feet on each side of the same, and of its navigable artificial feeders, for the procurement therefrom of timber, earth, stones, and other materials, and for the construction thereon of basins, toll houses, slips, locks, docks, and other necessary and proper works and purposes; and whenever a person shall own land on both sides the canal or rail-road at any point, the company shall be bound to suffer such owner to construct for his own convenience, such road or bridge across the canal or rail-road as may not obstruct or incommode the navigation or passage on or along the said canal or rail-road—But no person shall be at liberty to ford such canal or to cross such rail-road, except by such bridge, without the express permission of such corporation: Provided, nothing herein contained shall prohibit a future legislature from passing laws authorizing the construction of rail-roads, canals, or other works of internal improvement, from tide water on the Atlantic coast to the mountains, across the route which may be selected for the construction of the road herein authorized.
- Proviso. Route may be crossed.
- Right of way. 13. Sec. IV. When any person shall feel himself aggrieved or injured by the said canal or rail-road, or by reason of any of the feeders, waste ways or outlets of such canal being cut or carried through his land, or by any other works of the said company, or when the said company cannot agree with any person, through or on whose land the said rail way or canal or appendages shall be conducted as to the damage sustained, the amount of such damage or injury shall be ascertained and determined by the written award of three sworn appraisers, to be chosen one by the company, one by such owner if he shall think proper, and one by the inferior court of the county where such land lies; but if such owner shall decline to appoint an appraiser, then two appraisers to be appointed by the inferior court as aforesaid, and one by the said company, the award of whom shall operate as a judgment for the amount against the company, and shall be enforced by an execution from the inferior court, with the right of appeal to either party, to be tried by a special jury at the next term thereafter, of the superior court of said county, and the decision shall vest in the company the fee simple of the land in question, and in the other party a judgment for its value thus ascertained, which may be enforced by the ordinary process of said court.

Damages,
how assessed.

14. Sec. V. Whenever the said canal or rail-road shall intersect any public road, the company shall be bound to build a safe and substantial bridge, to be afterwards maintained by the company, and any public or private bridges may at any time be built across the said canal or rail-road: Provided, such bridges shall not obstruct or incommode the use or navigation of the said rail-way or canal.

Crossings.

15. Sec. VI. The directors for the time being, shall have power to employ artists, managers and laborers, and appoint such officers as shall be necessary for executing the business of the company, and to allow them reasonable compensation for their services, and shall be capable of exercising all such other powers and authorities for the well governing and ordering the affairs of said company, as to them shall seem fit for the interests of said company.

Artists and officers.

16. Sec. VII. The said canal or rail-way, and the appurtenances of the same, shall not be subjected to be taxed higher than an half per cent. upon its annual net income.

Taxation.

17. Sec. VIII. Any person injuring the property of said company, or who shall throw earth, stones, trees, rubbish, logs, or any other matter or thing whatsoever, into or upon the said canal or rail-road, or its appurtenances, shall be punished by indictment as for a misdemeanor, and on conviction may be fined and imprisoned at the discretion of the court, and shall also be liable for such damages as may be occasioned thereby; to be recovered by action at the suit of the said company, or of any person aggrieved, in any court having jurisdiction.

Injuries to the railway,
&c.

18. Sec. IX. The said company shall be entitled to the exclusive use of the said canal or rail-road, with their boats, cars, or other modes of conveyance; and if the said company shall permit or suffer others to use the same, the said company shall be entitled and empowered to receive and collect tolls on all vessels, rafts, boats, and all and every other water craft or thing which may pass the canal, or any part thereof, or any vehicle of whatsoever character or denomination, and all other things which by the regulations of said company shall or may be allowed to pass on the said rail-road; and that for the collection of tolls, the said company or its proper officers may stop and detain all boats, vessels, craft or rafts, vehicles, or produce or merchandize using the said rail-road, until the owners or carriers thereof shall pay the toll which shall be fixed by the said company. And if any owner, skipper, supercargo, carrier, or other person in charge of any boat, ark, craft or raft, or vehicle, or car, shall pass by any place appointed use.

Exclusive

Tolls,

how collected.

for receiving tolls, without making payment thereof, he, she or they so offending, shall forfeit and pay for each offence, the sum of $25, to be sued for and recovered by action of debt in the manner, and subject to the same rules and regulations as debts under $30 are now recovered, and costs of suit.

No other canal or rail-way to be located within 20 miles of the route.

19. Sec. X. After the route of such canal or rail-way shall have been accurately surveyed and adopted, and a plat thereof deposited in the department of state, it shall not be lawful for any other canal or rail-road to be built, cut, or constructed in any way or manner, or by any authority whatsoever, running laterally within twenty miles of the route so adopted, unless by the said company, or with the consent of the board of directors thereof for the time being.

Books to be opened by corp. of Sav. and Macon.

20. Sec. XI. The said corporations of Savannah and Macon shall be, and they are hereby authorized, to open books for subscription for the stock of the said company, at such times and in such places as the said two corporations shall agree and determine, and to require the payment in the first instance of such sum per share, or subscription, as those two corporations shall agree on and determine.

5 Directors of Savannah, and 2 of Macon.

21. Sec. XII. It shall be the duty of the said two corporations of Savannah and Macon, as soon as the sum of seventy-five thousand shares shall have been paid in by the stockholders, to cause to be elected by the stockholders, in the manner hereinafter pointed out, from among the stockholders, seven directors, of whom not more than five shall be residents of the city of Savannah, who shall hold their seats until the first Monday in January thereafter; and after such first term of office seven directors, of whom not more than five shall be residents of Savannah, shall be annually elected on the first Monday in January.—The directors at their first meeting after such election, shall choose one of their number as president, who shall hold his office one year, and may receive such compensation as the directors shall deem reasonable.—In case of his death, resignation, removal from the State, or other vacancy, the board of directors shall fill his place for the balance of the time by another election.

Quorum.

22. Sec. XIII. A majority of the directors shall constitute a board for the transaction of business, of whom the president shall always be one, save in cases of sickness or necessary absence, in which cases his place may be supplied by any director appointed by the president.

Calls of instalments.

The said board of directors may call for further instalments on each share when necessary for the interest of the company, not to exceed $100 on each share in the whole, giving at least sixty days' notice in the public gazettes of Savannah and Macon of such call, and any and all stockholders failing to pay any instalment so called for, for ten days after the time designated by such call, shall forever forfeit his stock in the said company, and all payments which he may have heretofore made, and the stock so forfeited, shall vest in and become the property of the said company, to be disposed of as the board of directors thereof shall determine.

One vote for each share held three months.

23. Sec. XIV. The number of votes of each stockholder shall be according to the number of shares he shall hold—each share to be entitled to one vote; and in all cases the stockholders shall be allowed to vote in person or by proxy: Provided, that after the first election no share or shares shall confer a right of suffrage which shall not have been holden for three calendar months previous to the day of election, and the transfer on the books of the company shall be the only evidence of such holding.

Transfer of shares.

24. Sec. XV. Certificates of stock shall be issued to the stockholders on the payment of the sum required at the time of subscription, which shall be transferable on the books of the company only, and by personal entry of the stockholder or his legal attorney or representative only authorized for that purpose.

25. Sec. XVI. The directors shall keep fair and regular entries of their proceedings in a book provided for that purpose; and on every question, when any one director shall require it, the yeas and nays of the directors voting shall be duly entered on the minutes, and those minutes shall at all times, on demand, be produced to the stockholders, when at a meeting thereof they shall be required.

26. Sec. XVII. Any number of stockholders, who together shall be proprietors of one thousand shares, shall have the power at any time to call a meeting of the stockholders of said company, for purposes relating to the company; and of all meetings of stockholders, at least sixty days' previous notice shall be given in the gazettes of Savannah and Macon, specifying therein the object of the meeting.

27. Sec. XVIII. The principal office of the said company shall be located at Savannah, with subordinate offices or agencies at Macon, and such other places as the board of directors shall determine—with power nevertheless to the stockholders, at any meeting at which a majority of the whole shall be present or represented, to remove such principal office to Macon, or any other point of said rail-road or canal: that all elections and meetings of stockholders shall be held at such principal office only.

28. Sec. XIX. At all elections or meetings of the stockholders, the corporations of the cities of Savannah and Macon, and such other corporations as shall become members of the said Company, shall vote and be represented by proxies, or a proxy, respectively elected by the mayor and aldermen thereof, or other corporate body.

29. Sec. XX. The said company shall have full power and authority to carry such rail-road or canal over and across all or any rivers, creeks, waters or water courses, that may be in the route thereof, or any branch thereof by any suitable bridges, or other proper means: Provided, that when such rail-road or canal shall cross any navigable water course, that the same shall not be so constructed as to impede the navigation thereof.

30. Sec. XXI. The rail-road or canal authorized by this act, shall be commenced within two years after the passage of this act, and shall be finished within six years after the term aforesaid; and on failure thereof, the charter hereby granted shall be forfeited.

31. Sec. XXII. The exclusive right granted by this act to the Central Rail-road and Canal Company of Georgia, to construct, keep up, and use a rail-road and canal, or a rail-road or canal, between the city of Savannah and the city of Macon, shall be and continue for and during the term of thirty-six years, to be computed from the time fixed by this act for the completion of the works authorized by this act; and after the expiration of said term of thirty-six years, the legislature may authorize the construction of other rail-roads and canals between said cities: Provided nevertheless, the said Central Rail-road and Canal Company of Georgia shall, after the lapse of said thirty-six years, be and remain incorporate and vested as to their own works with all the estate, rights, powers and privileges by this act granted and secured, except the exclusive right aforesaid; but the legislature may renew and extend that exclusive right, upon such terms as may be prescribed by law, and be accepted by said incorporated company Book of minutes.

Yeas and nays.

1,000 shares may call a meeting.

Pr. office at Savannah. Agencies. Removal.

Proxies of corporations.

May cross rivers, &c.

Commenced within two years.

Incorporated till 1877.

An Act to incorporate the Georgia Rail Road Company, with powers to construct a Rail or Turnpike Road from the city of Augusta, with branches extending to the towns of Eatonton, Madison, in Morgan county, and Athens, to be carried beyond those places, at the discretion of said company, to punish those who may wilfully injure the same, to confer all corporate powers necessary to effect said object, and to repeal an act entitled "An Act to authorize the formation of a company for constructing a Rail Road or Turnpike from the city of Augusta to Eatonton, and thence westward to the Chattahoochee river, with branches thereto, and to punish those who may injure the same," passed the 27th December, 1831.—Approved Dec. 21, 1833. Pam. 256.

Union road.

32. The company provided for in this act, and hereinafter more especially incorporated and authorized, shall and may direct and confine their first efforts and enterprise to the formation and completion of a rail-road communication between the city of Augusta and some point in the interior of the State, to be agreed upon by the stockholders, which road shall be called the Union Rail-road;—and the same being completed, the company shall have power to construct three branch rail-roads, beginning at the point agreed upon as the termination of the Union road, or such point for the middle road as the stockholders may select: one running to Athens—one to Eatonton—and the third to Madison, in Morgan county; which branches shall be erected simultaneously: Provided, the amount of stock subscribed will warrant the completion of all at the same time: and if the stock subscribed will not warrant the completion of all of said branches at one and the same time, then that branch shall be first completed which the stockholders may by vote designate. The company shall have the further power to continue the Athens branch towards any point which may be agreed upon, on the Tennessee river—all of which shall be done at such time and in such manner as the stockholders may direct.

Three branches to Athens, &c.

Exclusive right of 20 miles each side.

33. Sec. II. The company shall have the exclusive privilege of constructing rail-roads from any point in this State within twenty miles of the road herein designated as the Union road and its branches, leading to Eatonton, Athens and Madison, continuously to the city of Augusta, for and during the term of thirty-six years.

Capital, $1,500,000.

34. Sec. III. The stock of the company authorized and incorporated by this act, shall consist of fifteen thousand shares, of $100 each share, and the said company to be formed on that capital; but the said company shall be at liberty to enlarge their capital, as in the progress of their undertaking, they may find necessary; and that, either by additional assessments on the original shares, not to exceed in the whole the sum of twenty dollars in addition to each original share, or by opening books for enlarging their capital by new subscriptions in shares of not more than $100, so as to make their capital adequate to the works they may undertake, and also to prescribe the terms and conditions of the new subscriptions. And it shall be lawful for the company, from time to time, to invest so much, or such parts of their capital, or of their profits, as may not be required for immediate use, and until it may be so required, in public stock of the United States, or of this State, or of any incorporated bank, or lend out the same at interest, on good security, and draw and apply the dividends, and when, and as they shall see fit, sell and transfer any parts or portions

May be enlarged.

May invest idle capital in stocks, &c.

thereof: Provided, that nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to authorize said company to issue bills of credit, or to loan out any monies at a greater rate of interest than eight per cent. but may not issue bills.

Sec. IV. and V. [Temporary.]

35. Sec. VI. For the organization of the company, the commissioners at Athens shall appoint a convenient time and place for the meeting of the stockholders, which they shall cause to be advertized in one or more of the gazettes aforesaid, for three weeks in succession, previously to the day; at which time and place the subscribers may attend in person, or be represented and vote by proxy; and no one but a stockholder shall be capable of being a proxy, and the appointment shall be in writing, signed by the appointing member, and duly authenticated by the oath of a subscribing witness endorsed thereon, or annexed thereto by a lawful magistrate; and the meeting being assembled, the proxies examined and admitted, and a proper registry made of all subscribing members, by person or by proxy, who may be present, the Athens commissioners, or a majority of them attending, shall present a balloting box, in which the subscribers may vote for officers by ballot; and the presiding commissioners shall count the ballots, enter the same, and declare the result of the election, of which they shall make and deliver proper certificate or certificates under their hands. The officers to be elected shall consist of a President and twelve directors, for the first year, and thereafter such number of directors as may be established by the by-laws, to serve for one year, and until a new election be made. Elections. Proxies. Officers.

36. Sec. VII. In the said election for president and directors, the votes shall be taken by the following rule. Each subscriber shall be entitled to a number of votes equal to the number of shares he may hold in the stock of said company. And on all future elections of president and directors, in the making, altering or repealing of by-laws, in determining on measures involving the general interests of the company, at any stated or occasional corporate meeting, the votes shall be governed by the above stated rule. Each share one vote.

37. Sec. VIII. The election of president and directors shall be made annually, according to a by-law to be made for that purpose: and in case any vacancy occur in the board between two periods of general election, the board of directors, or a majority of them, at any stated and regular meeting of the board, may elect by ballot, from among the stockholders, a person to fill the vacancy so occurred, until the next general election of directors. But if it should so happen that the day of annual election of president and directors shall pass without an election being effected, or any of them, the corporation shall not thereby be dissolved or deemed to be discontinued; but it may be lawful on any other day, to hold and make such election, in such manner as may be prescribed by the by-laws of the corporation, subject always to the rule prescribed in the seventh section of this act. President and Directors elected annually, or at other times.

38. Sec. IX. The aforesaid company, to be organized as aforesaid, shall be called "The Georgia Rail Road Company," and shall have perpetual succession of members, may make and have a common seal, and break or alter it at pleasure; and by their corporate name aforesaid, may sue and be sued, answer and be answered unto, in all courts of law and equity, or judicial tribunals of this State; and shall at all times be capable of making and establishing, altering and revoking all such regulations, rules and by-laws for the government of the company and its direction, as they may find necessary and proper for the effecting of the ends and purposes intended by the association and contemplated in this act: Provided, such rules and regulations, Corporate name. Organized.

and by-laws, shall not be repugnant to the laws and constitution of this State.

May hold real estate for all necessary purposes.

39. Sec. X. The said Georgia Rail Road Company shall have power and capacity to purchase, and have and hold, in fee simple, or for years, to them and their successors, any lands, tenements or hereditaments, that they may find necessary for the site, on and along which, to locate, run, and establish the aforesaid rail-road and rail-roads, or any branches thereof; or to vary or alter the plan or plans, and of such breadth and dimensions through the whole course of the road and roads, as they may see fit; and also, in like manner, to purchase any lands contiguous, or in the vicinity of the rail-road and rail-roads, hereby authorized, that they may find necessary for the procuring, and from time to time, readily obtaining all necessary or proper materials, of what kind soever, for the constructing, repairing, and adequately guarding and sustaining the said rail-road or rail-roads, and in like manner, to purchase all rights of way on land, and all necessary privileges in waters or water-courses, that may lie on or across the route, which the said rail-road or rail-roads may pass; and also all lands contiguous thereto, that may be found necessary for the erecting of toll-houses, store-houses, workshops, barns, stables, residences, and accommodations for servants or agents or mechanics, and for the stationing and sustaining all animals of labor. And the said company shall have power, if need be, to conduct the rail-road across any public road, and by suitable bridges, over and across all or any rivers, creeks, waters, or water-courses, that may be in the route; or if they should deem it more convenient and suitable, may pass carriages using the road, by convenient boats, across the same: Provided, that the said company shall so construct their rail-road across all public roads, as not to obstruct or injure the same.

May cross public roads, rivers, &c.

Sec. XI. [Relates to the right of way. Repealed by the act of 1836, (see Sec. 276,) and the 15th section of the Central Rail-road act substituted. For this last, see Sec. 145 of this title.]

Exclusive use of the road.

Rates of freight.

May farm out their right of carriage.

Common carriers.

May use a part before the whole is completed.

Storage.

41. Sec. XII. The said Georgia Rail Road Company shall at all times have the exclusive right of transportation or conveyance of persons, merchandize, and produce, over the rail-road and rail-roads to be by them constructed, while they see fit to exercise the exclusive right: Provided, that the charge of transportation or conveyance shall not exceed fifty cents per hundred pounds on heavy articles, and ten cents per cubic foot on articles of measurement, for every one hundred miles; and five cents per mile for every passenger: Provided always, that the said company may, when they see fit, rent or farm out all or any part of their said exclusive right of transportation or conveyance of persons on the rail-road or rail-roads, with the privilege to any individual or individuals, or other company, and for such term as may be agreed upon, subject to the rates above mentioned. And the said company, in the exercise of their right of carriage or transportation of persons or property, or the persons so taking from the company the right of transportation or conveyance, shall, so far as they act on the same, be regarded as common carriers. And it shall be lawful for the said company to use or employ any section of their intended rail-road, subject to the rates before mentioned, before the whole shall be completed; and in any part thereof, which may afford accommodation for the conveyance of persons, merchandize or produce. And the said company shall have power to take, at the store-houses they may establish on or annexed to their rail-road, all goods, wares, merchandize, and produce, intended for transportation or conveyance; prescribe the rules of priority; and charge such just and reasonable terms and compensation for storage and labor, as they may by rules establish, (which they shall cause to be published,) or as may be fixed by agreement with the owners; which compensation shall and may be distinct from the aforesaid rates of transportation.

42. Sec. XIII. If any person or persons shall intrude upon the said rail-road or rail-roads, or any part thereof, by any manner of use thereof, or of the rights or privileges connected therewith, without permission, or contrary to the will of the said company, he or they shall forthwith forfeit to the company all the vehicles and animals that may be so intrusively introduced and used thereon, and the same may be seized by the company or its agents, or recovered by suit at law: And moreover, the person or persons so intruding, shall and may be indicted as for a misdemeanor, and upon conviction fined or imprisoned, or both, at the discretion of the court of the county. And if any person shall wilfully and maliciously destroy, or in any manner hurt, damage, injure or obstruct, or shall wilfully and maliciously cause, or aid and assist, or counsel or advise, any other person or persons to destroy, or in any manner to hurt, damage or injure, or obstruct the said rail-road, or any branch thereof, or any bridge connected therewith, or any vehicle, edifice, right or privilege granted by this act, and constructed for use, under the authority thereof, such person so offending shall be liable to be indicted, and, on conviction thereof, shall be imprisoned at hard labor in the penitentiary, at the discretion of the court, not less than four years, and shall be further liable to pay all the expenses of repairing the same. The one half of all the fines that may be imposed by the court, under this act, shall be paid to the informer, and the other half to the said company.

Intrusions.

Wilful damage or injury.

Penitentiary 4 years and expense of repairs.

43. Sec. XIV. Whenever the company aforesaid shall see fit to farm out as aforesaid, to any person or persons, or body corporate, any part of their exclusive right of conveyance and transportation, or shall deem it expedient to open the said road or any part thereof, to public use, they shall and may adopt and enforce all necessary rules and regulations, and have power to prescribe the construction and size or burthen of all carriages and vehicles, and the materials of which such shall be made, that shall be permitted to be used or pass on the said rail-road, and the locomotive power that shall be used with them.

In farming out the road, the company may prescribe regulations.

44. Sec. XV. The exclusive right to make, keep up, and use the rail-roads and transportations authorized by this act, shall be for and during the term of thirty-six years, to be computed from the time when the said road from Augusta to either of the points hereinbefore designated, shall be completed for transportation: Provided, that the subscription of stock or shares of said company to the amount of at least five thousand shares, as aforesaid, be filled up within six months from the passing of this act, and the work from, or between Augusta and either of the places hereinbefore first mentioned, be commenced within two years, and be completed within six years after the five thousand shares shall be subscribed. And after said term of thirty-six years shall have elapsed, though the legislature may authorize the construction of other rail-roads, for the trade and intercourse contemplated herein: Nevertheless, the Georgia Rail-road Company shall remain and be incorporate, and vested with all the estate, powers and privileges as to their own works herein granted and secured, except the exclusive right to make, keep up, and use rail-roads over and through such parts of the country, that shall so have expired by the foregoing limitation; but the legislature may renew and extend that exclusive right, upon such terms as may be prescribed by law, and be accepted by the said incorporated company: The stock of the said company

Term of the charter, 36 years.

Proviso.

Completed within 6 years.

Subsequent rights of the legislature and of the company.

- Taxation. and its branches shall be exempt from taxation for and during the term of seven years from and after the completion of the said rail-roads or any one of them: and after that, shall be subject to a tax not exceeding one half per cent. per annum on the net proceeds of their investments.
- Secretary, Treasurer, &c and their qualification. 45. Sec. XVI. After the president and directors shall be elected as aforesaid, it shall always be in the power of the said president and directors, at a meeting of the board, a majority being present, to nominate and appoint a secretary, a treasurer, and all other officers, agents and servants, that they may deem necessary, or as may be prescribed in the by-laws of said company, removable at the pleasure of the board of directors; and also require and take from all officers, agents, and servants, such bond or bonds and security as the board or by-laws may prescribe, for securing the fidelity, obedience, accountability and correct conduct of the officers, agents or servants so appointed, and their punctually surrendering up all monies and property on their being removed or displaced, or the term of their appointment expiring.
- President may check for deposits. 46. Sec. XVII. The president and directors, by an order signed by the president, shall have power to draw from the Central Bank of Georgia, or other banks of deposite, all such monies as may have been received by the different sets of commissioners, for the first payments by subscribers on their subscriptions of stock as before provided.
- Instalments, when and how called in. 47. Sec. XVIII. Every person who shall be a subscriber to, or holder of stock in the said company, shall pay to the company the instalment of fifteen dollars on each and every share, in such periods of not less than six months, as shall be prescribed and called for by the directors, after which the directors may call for the further moiety of each share, in payments not exceeding fifteen dollars per share, in periods of not less than six months, of which periods of payment by instalment on the shares, and the sums required, the board of directors shall cause public notice to be given for at least four weeks previously to the day of payment, by advertising the same in one or more of the gazettes of Milledgeville and Augusta. And failure to pay up any one of the instalments so called for as aforesaid, shall induce a forfeiture of the share and shares on which default shall be so made and all past payments thereon, and the same shall vest in and belong to the company, and may be appropriated as they shall see fit. It shall be the duty of the company, as soon as may be, after they are organized, or of the board of directors, to issue scrip to each subscriber for the shares he holds, and deliver the same at the time of the second payment; on which, if convenient and practicable, receipts for the instalments paid and that may successively be paid, may be endorsed, and the scrip issued may be made assignable and transferable in person or by attorney, at the office and on the books of the company; and the said corporation shall and may, in and by their by-laws, rules and regulations, prescribe the mode of issuing the evidences of shares of stock and the terms and conditions, as also the times and manner in which shares in the company may be transferred.
- Advertise-ment.
- Forfeiture.
- Scrip to issue,
- and be trans-ferable.
- May be reg-ulated by the corporation.
- Assessments how to be called in. 48. Sec. XIX. Whensoever the said company shall find occasion to increase their capital by additional assessments on the original shares, as before mentioned, in the third section of this act, within the limits therein mentioned, the said further sum on each share shall not be called for in less than two instalments at similar periods, and like notices as are mentioned and provided in the immediately preceding section; and failure to pay up such additional assessments, shall in like manner, as therein provided, induce a forfeiture to the company of the share or shares of stock on which default should so be made.

49. Sec. XX. The president and directors shall be styled "The Direction of the Corporation," and shall make all contracts and agreements in behalf thereof, and have power to call for all instalments, declare all dividends of profits, and to do and perform all other acts and deeds which by the by-laws of the corporation, they may be empowered or required to do and perform; and the acts of the direction, or their contracts, authenticated by the signatures of the president and secretary, shall be binding on the corporation without seal. Regular minutes shall be kept for all meetings of the direction, and of the acts there done: and the direction shall not exceed in their contracts the amount of the capital of the corporation; and in case they shall do so, the president and directors who are present at the meeting at which such contract or contracts so exceeding the capital, shall be made, shall be jointly and severally liable for the amount of the excess both to the contractor or contractors and to the corporation: Provided, that any one may discharge himself from such liability by voting against such contract or contracts, and causing such vote to be recorded in the minutes of the direction, and giving such notice thereof to the next general meeting of the stockholders.

Style and powers of the direction.

Minutes.

Contracts not to exceed the amount of capital.

Negatives exempted.

50. Sec. XXI. The direction shall, once in every year at least, make a full report on the state of the corporation, and of its affairs, to a general meeting of the stockholders, and oftener, if so directed by the by-laws; and shall have power to call a general meeting of the stockholders, when the direction shall deem it expedient; and the corporation may provide, in their by-laws, for occasional meetings being called, and prescribe the mode thereof.

Directors shall report and may call meetings.

51. Sec. XXII. If the company, instead of constructing the rail-roads herein specified, should deem it preferable to construct common roads, and use steam carriages thereon, they shall have power to do so, under the same regulations, and with the same privileges in all respects, as are herein prescribed in relation to rail-roads.

May substitute common roads.

52. Sec. XXIII. The act entitled "An Act to authorize the formation of a company for constructing a rail-road or turnpike from the city of Augusta to Eatonton, and thence westward to the Chattahoochee river, with branches thereto, and to punish those who may injure the same," passed the 27th Dec. 1831,* is hereby repealed, in every clause and section thereof; and this act of incorporation, shall be deemed and taken to be a public act, and shall be judicially taken notice of as such, without special pleading.

Act of Dec. 1831, repealed.

53. Sec. XXIV. Whensoever a number of stockholders in interest amounting to three thousand shares, shall unite, for the furtherance, construction and completion of either of said branches of said road, they shall have power to terminate said union road, and may at such time and place as they may choose and designate, determine for themselves the point or place of diverging with such branch of said road as they may then and there point out and ascertain to be identified with their interest, as stockholders: Provided, the said stockholders, so electing, shall have given, to said union company, their agents or attorney, ten days' previous notice of such their choice, of their respective names and their respective amounts of stock, and of the point or place of their intended disunion. That said stockholders so electing and determining as aforesaid, shall and may then and there be and exist as a separate body corporate, and shall then and there, and thenceforward have, use and exercise all the rights, privileges, immunities and enjoyments, hereby given, granted and secured to said union company, to attach, be held,

3,000 shares may terminate the Union road, and become thence a separate corporation, similar to this company, and construct their branch road.

* Pamph. of 1831, p. 187.

used, and exercised by said stockholders so electing as aforesaid, of, for, on account of, and to the particular road to which they may then and there direct and apply themselves. That their powers as a corporate body shall be similar, and their rights, privileges, and immunities, in regard to said road, so diverging, shall be the same, and subject to the same restrictions, as herein and hereby provided, imposed and granted to, upon, and for the said union company. They shall not be called on by said union company, from and after the day of their said election and determining said point of diverging, for any other or further payment on stock, but may proceed as a distinct company to construct a branch of said road to and through the respective points, Eatonton, Greensborough and Madison, or Athens, respectively, according to circumstances, as they may choose—and said stockholders so electing and determining as aforesaid, shall be known, according to the branch to which they shall respectively attach themselves by the corporate name and style of the Eatonton Rail-road, the Greensborough and Madison Rail-road, or the Athens Rail-road. And said branch companies, so named, shall and may apply the residue of their stock, unpaid and unapplied at said time of diverging, to the separate and sole use and construction of the branch to which each may be attached, and shall and may have, use and enjoy, all the rents, issues, and profits of said branch, to which they may be attached, to the sole use, benefit and behoof of themselves, their heirs and assigns, for the time heretofore limited to said union company, and according to the provisions of this act. They shall in no way be liable to each other as separate companies, for the expenses or repairs of their respective roads, nor in any way responsible for each other's acts, from and after the time and place of disunion or diverging, designated aforesaid, so long as they may remain and exist as separate companies. The stockholders in the union road, to the point of diverging, shall nevertheless, exist as one corporate body, and be liable as such that far, and receive the benefits of said union road to said point, according to the provisions herein before contained: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall prevent said branch companies from uniting their interests and efforts, as circumstances mutually moving them may suggest.

Neither company afterwards subject to the acts of the other.

Bridges by land owners on both sides.

54. Sec. XXV. Whenever any person shall own land on both sides of said rail-road, at any point, the company shall be bound to suffer such owner to construct for his own convenience, such roads or bridges across the said rail-road or its branches, as may not obstruct or incommode the passage on or along the rail-road.

An Act to authorize and empower the city council of Augusta and the trustees of Richmond County Academy to convey to the Athens Rail Road Company,* in fee simple, ten acres of the town common lots of Augusta.*—Approved Dec. 22d, 1834. Pam. 218.

Conveyance of a lot by the corp. of Augusta.

55. From and after the passing of this act, the city council of Augusta and the trustees of Richmond County Academy are hereby fully authorized and empowered to convey to the Athens Rail Road Company, in fee simple, ten acres of the town common lots of the city of Augusta, to be located and fixed upon by the said city council and trustees of the academy, or a majority of each.

* The parties are not rightly named, but the error is healed by the act of the ensuing year. [See Pam. of 1835, p. 186.]

An Act to amend an act entitled "an act to incorporate the Georgia Rail Road Company, with powers to construct a rail-road, or turn-pike-road from the city of Augusta, with branches extending to the towns of Eatonton, Madison in Morgan county, and Athens—to be carried beyond those places, at the discretion of said company, to punish those who may wilfully injure the same, to confer all corporate powers necessary to effect said object, and to repeal an act entitled 'an act to authorize the formation of a company for constructing a rail-road or turnpike from the city of Augusta to Eatonton, and thence westward to the Chattahoochee river, with branches thereto, and to punish those who may injure the same';" passed the 21st day of Dec. 1833—to alter and change the name of said company and to give to the said company banking powers and privileges.—Approved 18th Dec. 1835. Pam. 180.

Whereas the people of the west have in contemplation to make a communication between the city of Cincinnati and the Southern Atlantic coast by means of a rail-road: and whereas the best route for said communication is believed to be through the State of Georgia; and whereas the building of the Georgia Rail Road is now in progress, and will be an important link in the line of said communication.

56. Sec. I. Be it therefore enacted, &c. That the stockholders of the Georgia Rail Road Company, and such other persons as shall take stock under this act, and their successors and assigns, shall hereafter be a body corporate by the name and style of the Georgia Rail Road and Banking Company, and by the said corporate name shall be, and are hereby made able and capable in law to have, purchase, receive, possess, enjoy, and retain, to them and their successors, lands, rents, tenements, hereditaments, goods, chattels, and effects of whatsoever kind, nature or quality the same may be, sufficient for the construction of banking houses, and the erection of the rail-road only, and the same to sell, grant, demise, alien, or dispose of:—to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, answer and be answered unto, defend and be defended in courts of record, and also to make and have a common seal, and the same to break, alter or renew, at their pleasure, and also by and through the board of directors, to ordain, establish, and put in execution, such by-laws, rules and regulations as shall be necessary and convenient for the governing of said corporation, as to them may or shall appertain; Provided, that such by-laws, rules and regulations shall not be contrary to the laws and constitution of this State or of the United States, nor to the rules, regulations, restrictions, and limitations prescribed in this act.

57. Sec. II. The stock of said company shall consist of two millions of dollars, one fourth of which, applied to banking purposes, shall be gold or silver coin, in shares of one hundred dollars each; of which capital, one half may be used for banking purposes, and not more until the completion of the road to Athens, and one of the southern branches through Greensboro', to be designated by a vote of the stockholders; at which time any capital stock unemployed may be used for banking purposes; provided, however, that the continuation of said road beyond Athens, so as to connect with the Cincinnati road, shall be steadily prosecuted so soon as the company shall have satisfactory evidence that the said connection can be formed.

58. Sec. III. The directors of the Georgia Rail Road Company for the time being, shall have power at their discretion to open books of subscription at such times and places as they may think proper, Style changed to Geo. R. Road and Banking Company.

Powers and privileges.

Capital $2,000,000.

Half may be used in banking.

Connection with Cincinnati.

Books may be opened.

giving such notice in one or more of the public gazettes of this State as they may deem necessary for additional subscriptions to the capital stock of said Georgia Rail Road and Banking Company; on which subscriptions there shall be required to be paid at the time of subscribing, the amount per share, that may be prescribed by the directors aforesaid; and that the president and directors of the Georgia Rail Road Company for the time being, shall be the president and directors of the new corporation until the time fixed for the annual election next thereafter.

Agencies and branches with consent of the towns.

59. Sec. IV. The board of directors of the said corporation shall have power in its discretion to establish agencies for carrying on said work, and may have branches of its banking powers, not exceeding three, and at such times as to them may seem expedient; Provided, that no branch for banking purposes shall be established or located in any incorporated town without the consent of the corporate authorities thereof first obtained for that purpose.

Books may be opened from time to time. Further calls.

60. Sec. V. The directors aforesaid shall have power to open books for the subscription of stock from time to time until the capital stock shall be filled up; and that all further instalments, on the stock herein provided to be subscribed for, shall be called for and paid in, according to the provisions of the act of which this is an amendment, and shall be under the same liabilities in case of failure to pay.

Bills and other contracts how authenticated.

61. Sec. VI. The bills obligatory and of credit, notes, and other contracts whatsoever, in behalf of the said corporation, shall be binding and obligatory on the said corporation; Provided the same be signed by the president, and countersigned by the cashier of the said company; and the funds of the corporation shall in no case be held liable for any contract or engagement whatsoever, unless the same shall be so signed and countersigned, as aforesaid, except for such checks or bills of exchange as shall be made or endorsed by the cashier or president thereof, in the course of the business of said company, and except for such contracts as shall be made under the authority of the board for work done on the road; and the funds of the corporation shall at all times be subject to the inspection of the board of directors and stockholders, when convened, according to the provisions of this act, and of the act of which this is an amendment.

Funds always subject to inspection.

Failing to pay bills, &c. liable to 18 per cent. interest.

62. Sec. VII. The said corporation shall not at any time suspend or refuse payment in gold or silver coin, or any of the notes, bills, or obligations, and if the said corporation shall at any time refuse or neglect to pay, on demand, any bill, note or obligation, issued by the corporation according to the contract, promise or undertaking therein expressed, to the person or persons entitled to receive the same, then, and in every such case, the holder of such note, bill, or obligation shall respectively be entitled to receive and recover interest on the same, until the same shall be fully paid and satisfied, at the rate of ten per cent. per annum, together with the lawful interest thereon, from the time of such demand as aforesaid.

63. Sec. VIII. The following rules, regulations, limitations and provisions, shall form and be the fundamental articles of the said corporation:

A vote to each share.

Rule 1st. The number of votes to which each stockholder shall be entitled, shall be according to the provisions of the 7th section of the act of which this is an amendment.

Officers to give bond and security.

2d. The cashier and other officers of the banking department of said corporation, (the president excepted,) shall, before they enter upon the duties of their offices respectively, give bond for the faithful performance of their duties, with such security as may be required by the board of directors.

3d. The total amount of debts which the said corporation shall at any time owe, whether by bill, bond, note or other contract, shall not exceed three times the amount of capital stock actually paid in, and set apart for banking purposes. Never to owe more than treble their capital

4th. Dividends of the net profits of the stock used in banking purposes, or of so much thereof as may be prudent, shall be declared and paid half yearly, if the condition of the company warrant it, until the road shall yield a profit, when and in which case, that profit may also in like manner be divided; and such dividend shall from time to time be determined by a majority of directors, at a meeting to be held for that purpose, and shall in no case exceed the amount of the net profits actually acquired by the corporation, so that the capital stock thereof shall never be impaired. Dividends.

5th. The directors shall cause to be kept fair and regular entries in a book to be provided for that purpose, of their proceedings; and on any question when any one director shall require it, the yeas and nays of the directors voting shall be recorded in such book, and the minutes be at all times on demand produced to the stockholders, at their general meeting. Minutes. Yeas and nays.

6th. So soon as fifty per cent. of the stock already subscribed, and of the stock which may hereafter be taken in the said company, shall have been paid in, the company shall have the power and privilege, and not till then, of commencing banking operations, and for that purpose shall have the power to prepare and issue notes, signed by the president and countersigned by the cashier, as in the usual course of banks in such cases: Provided, That of the sum so received, one half shall be set apart for their said banking operations, and the other half to the building of the road, and so on in the like ratio as to all further instalments which may thereafter be called in. When 50 per cent is paid in, may commence banking. Provido.

7th. That portion of the capital stock herein before provided for and set apart for the purpose of building the road, shall in no wise be diverted from that object, except as provided for in the second section of this act. R. road capital not to be diverted.

64. Sec. IX. The president and directors of the company shall be elected annually, as provided for in the act to which this is an amendment; and the board of directors of the said corporation shall have power to appoint a cashier and such other officers as may be necessary for the transaction of the banking business herein provided for, and to allow them reasonable compensation for their services; and shall be capable of exercising all such other powers and authorities for the well governing and ordering of the affairs of said corporation as to them shall seem best calculated to promote the best interest of the company. President and Directors elected annually.

65. Sec. X. The principal offices of said company shall be located at Athens, and all elections and meetings of the stockholders shall be held at such principal office, except when otherwise ordered by the directors on special occasions. Authority of the Directors. Principal office located and all elections held at Athens.

66. Sec. XI. The Union Rail Road, as authorised by the first section of the act to which this is an amendment, shall be completed within four years from the passage of this act; and the branch to Athens, and one of the southern branches through Greensborough, which shall be designated by a vote of the stockholders, shall be completed within six years after the passage of this act; and on failure thereof, the banking privileges hereby granted shall be thenceforth forfeited, and all banking operations shall thenceforward in such event be made to cease and determine. Union road to be finished in 4 years, and the Athens and one other branch in 6 years giving such notice in one or more of the public gazettes of this State as they may deem necessary for additional subscriptions to the capital stock of said Georgia Rail Road and Banking Company; on which subscriptions there shall be required to be paid at the time of subscribing, the amount per share, that may be prescribed by the directors aforesaid; and that the president and directors of the Georgia Rail Road Company for the time being, shall be the president and directors of the new corporation until the time fixed for the annual election next thereafter.

Agencies and branches with consent of the towns.

59. Sec. IV. The board of directors of the said corporation shall have power, at its discretion to establish agencies for carrying on said work, and may have branches of its banking powers, not exceeding three, and at such times as to them may seem expedient; Provided, that no branch for banking purposes shall be established or located in any incorporated town without the consent of the corporate authorities thereof first obtained for that purpose.

Books may be opened from time to time. Further calls.

60. Sec. V. The directors aforesaid shall have power to open books for the subscription of stock from time to time until the capital stock shall be filled up; and that all further instalments, on the stock herein provided to be subscribed for, shall be called for and paid in, according to the provisions of the act of which this is an amendment, and shall be under the same liabilities in case of failure to pay.

Bills and other contracts how authenticated.

61. Sec. VI. The bills obligatory and of credit, notes, and other contracts whatsoever, in behalf of the said corporation, shall be binding and obligatory on the said corporation; Provided the same be signed by the president, and countersigned by the cashier of the said company; and the funds of the corporation shall in no case be held liable for any contract or engagement whatsoever, unless the same shall be so signed and countersigned, as aforesaid, except for such checks or bills of exchange as shall be made or endorsed by the cashier or president thereof, in the course of the business of said company, and except for such contracts as shall be made under the authority of the board for work done on the road; and the funds of the corporation shall at all times be subject to the inspection of the board of directors and stockholders, when convened, according to the provisions of this act, and of the act of which this is an amendment.

Funds always subject to inspection.

Failing to pay bills, &c. liable to 18 per cent. interest.

62. Sec. VII. The said corporation shall not at any time suspend or refuse payment in gold or silver coin, or any of the notes, bills, or obligations, and if the said corporation shall at any time refuse or neglect to pay, on demand, any bill, note or obligation, issued by the corporation according to the contract, promise or undertaking therein expressed, to the person or persons entitled to receive the same, then, and in every such case, the holder of such note, bill, or obligation shall respectively be entitled to receive and recover interest on the same, until the same shall be fully paid and satisfied, at the rate of ten per cent. per annum, together with the lawful interest thereon, from the time of such demand as aforesaid.

63. Sec. VIII. The following rules, regulations, limitations and provisions, shall form and be the fundamental articles of the said corporation:

A vote to each share.

Rule 1st. The number of votes to which each stockholder shall be entitled, shall be according to the provisions of the 7th section of the act of which this is an amendment.

Officers to give bond and security.

2d. The cashier and other officers of the banking department of said corporation, (the president excepted,) shall, before they enter upon the duties of their offices respectively, give bond for the faithful performance of their duties, with such security as may be required by the board of directors.

3d. The total amount of debts which the said corporation shall at any time owe, whether by bill, bond, note or other contract, shall not exceed three times the amount of capital stock actually paid in, and set apart for banking purposes. Never to owe more than treble their capital

4th. Dividends of the net profits of the stock used in banking purposes, or of so much thereof as may be prudent, shall be declared and paid half yearly, if the condition of the company warrant it, until the road shall yield a profit, when and in which case, that profit may also in like manner be divided; and such dividend shall from time to time be determined by a majority of directors, at a meeting to be held for that purpose, and shall in no case exceed the amount of the net profits actually acquired by the corporation, so that the capital stock thereof shall never be impaired. Dividends.

5th. The directors shall cause to be kept fair and regular entries in a book to be provided for that purpose, of their proceedings; and on any question when any one director shall require it, the yeas and nays of the directors voting shall be recorded in such book, and the minutes be at all times on demand produced to the stockholders, at their general meeting. Minutes. Yeas and nays.

6th. So soon as fifty per cent. of the stock already subscribed, and of the stock which may hereafter be taken in the said company, shall have been paid in, the company shall have the power and privilege, and not till then, of commencing banking operations, and for that purpose shall have the power to prepare and issue notes, signed by the president and countersigned by the cashier, as in the usual course of banks in such cases: Provided, That of the sum so received, one half shall be set apart for their said banking operations, and the other half to the building of the road, and so on in the like ratio as to all further instalments which may thereafter be called in. When 50 per cent. is paid in, may commence banking. Proviso.

7th. That portion of the capital stock herein before provided for and set apart for the purpose of building the road, shall in no wise be diverted from that object, except as provided for in the second section of this act. R. road capital not to be diverted.

64. Sec. IX. The president and directors of the company shall be elected annually, as provided for in the act to which this is an amendment; and the board of directors of the said corporation shall have power to appoint a cashier and such other officers as may be necessary for the transaction of the banking business herein provided for, and to allow them reasonable compensation for their services; and shall be capable of exercising all such other powers and authorities for the well governing and ordering of the affairs of said corporation as to them shall seem best calculated to promote the best interest of the company. President and Directors elected annually.

65. Sec. X. The principal offices of said company shall be located at Athens, and all elections and meetings of the stockholders shall be held at such principal office, except when otherwise ordered by the directors on special occasions. Authority of the Directors. Principal office located and all elections held at Athens.

66. Sec. XI. The Union Rail Road, as authorised by the first section of the act to which this is an amendment, shall be completed within four years from the passage of this act: and the branch to Athens, and one of the southern branches through Greensborough, which shall be designated by a vote of the stockholders, shall be completed within six years after the passage of this act; and on failure thereof, the banking privileges hereby granted shall be thenceforth forfeited, and all banking operations shall thenceforward in such event be made to cease and determine. Union road to be finished in 4 years, and the Athens and one other branch in 6 years

Banking privileges 25 years.

67. Sec. XII. The banking privileges hereby granted, shall be and continue for and during the term of twenty-five years, to be computed from the time fixed by this act for the completion of the Union road.

Parts of the former act not conflicting with this, still in force. Rights and duties of the former company devolve on this.

68. Sec. XIII. The act to which this is an amendment, shall be and remain in full force and effect, in every section and clause thereof, except where it conflicts with the provisions of this act.

69. Sec. XIV. All the acts done and contracts made by the Georgia Rail Road Company, are hereby declared to be of binding efficacy on the Georgia Rail Road and Banking Company; and all the rights to property acquired by the Georgia Rail Road Company, of whatever nature or kind the same may be, shall pass to and be vested in the Georgia Rail Road and Banking Company as fully and completely as they were vested in the said Georgia Rail Road Company.

Property of stockholders bound proportionably,

70. Sec. XV. The persons and property of the stockholders for the time being, of the said Georgia Rail Road and Banking Company, shall be pledged and bound in proportion to the amount of shares held by each, for the ultimate redemption of the bills or notes issued by and from said company, in the same manner as in common commercial cases or simple actions of debt.

Exclusive privilege terminate at Eatonton, Madison, and Athens.

71. Sec. XVI. No exclusive privilege or right of road, extended to the corporation by the act of which this is amendatory, shall prevent the State from granting a charter to any company that may hereafter apply for a rail-road to run from Macon to the Tennessee State line, and from granting any charter or charters to construct any road to cross said road, at any point west of Eatonton, or Madison, or Athens.

Foreigners may not own stock.

72. Sec. XVII. No foreigner, either directly or indirectly, shall own stock in the said rail-road or bank, and if any foreigner shall own stock in any wise, the same shall be forfeited to the State.

An Act to be entitled an act to amend an act entitled—[Reciting the whole title of the Georgia Rail Road charter, see Sec. 32.]—Approved Dec. 22d, 1835. Pam. 199.

Branch from Warrenton.

73. The said Georgia Rail-road Company be, and it is hereby authorised to construct, build and erect a branch of said rail-road from said rail-road to Warrenton, in Warren county, Georgia, and thence to Sparta, or any part thereof, as soon as it can be done, without the delay contemplated by the first section of the act aforesaid; or may authorise the same to be done by others in such manner as to form a junction with the aforesaid Georgia Rail-road.

An Act to incorporate the Monroe Rail Road Company, for the purpose of constructing a rail-road from Macon to the town of Forsyth, in Monroe county.—Approved Dec. 23d, 1833. Pam. 238.

Monroe Rail Road Com'y incorporated.

74. For the purpose of constructing and keeping up a rail-road communication from the city of Macon in the county of Bibb, to the town of Forsyth in the county of Monroe, the subscribers for the capital stock hereinafter mentioned and their assigns, shall for ever hereafter be a body politic and corporate by the name and style of "The Monroe Rail Road Company," and by said corporate name shall be capable in law to purchase, accept, hold and sell, and convey real and personal estate, make contracts, sue and be sued, to make by-laws, and to do all lawful acts properly incident to a corporation, and necessary and proper for the transaction of the business and construction of the work, for which it is incorporated, and to have and use a common seal, and the same to alter and destroy at its pleasure.

75. Sec. II. The capital stock of said company shall be two hundred thousand dollars, divided into shares of one hundred dollars each, but may be increased from time to time, as it may be deemed expedient by the majority of the board of directors of such corporation for the time being, and by such sum or sums as said board of directors may order and determine: Provided, That said capital stock, when so increased, shall not in the whole, exceed the sum of five hundred thousand dollars. And it is also enacted, that the board of directors for the time being, shall be authorised to prescribe the terms and conditions of subscriptions for such additional stock as may from time to time be required.

Capital
$200,000, and may be increased to $500,000.

Sec. III. and IV. [Temporary.]

76. Sec. V. Each of said sets of commissioners shall as soon as practicable after the expiration of the ten days of subscription mentioned in the next preceding section, deposit in the Central Bank of Georgia, all the money by them respectively received on account of subscriptions for stock, said money so deposited to be subject to the draft or order of the said company, by its president and board of directors, after said company shall be organized. And the commissioners at Forsyth shall also, in like manner, deposit in said bank such money as they may receive on account of subscriptions of stock as well after as before the said ten days—subject to the like draft or order of the company by its president and board of directors, after the company is organized.

Subscription money to be deposited.

77. Sec. VI. For the organization of the company, so soon as the requisite amount of stock has been subscribed, the commissioners at Forsyth shall appoint a convenient time and place for the meeting of the stockholders, which they shall cause to be advertised in the Macon gazettes and such others as they please, for three weeks in succession, previously to the day of meeting; at which time and place the subscribers may attend in person, or be represented and vote by proxy, and no one but a subscriber shall be capable of being a proxy, and the appointment shall be in writing, signed by the appointing member, and duly authenticated by the oath of a subscribing witness endorsed thereon or annexed thereto, by a lawful magistrate, and the meeting being assembled, the proxies examined and admitted, and a proper registry made of all the subscribing members who may be present in person, or by proxy, the commissioners at Forsyth, or a majority of them shall present a ballot box, in which the subscribers may vote for officers by ballot; and the presiding commissioners shall count the ballots, enter the same, and declare the result of the election, of which they shall make and deliver to the persons elected a proper certificate or certificates under their hands. The officers to be elected shall consist of a president and eight directors, for the first year, and thereafter such number of directors as may be established by the by-laws, to serve for one year, and until a new election be made. And be it further enacted, that the president shall always be one of the board of directors, and shall have a voice and vote as such.

Organization
of the com'y.

Proxies.

President.
Eight Directors.

78. Sec. VII. In said election of president and directors the votes shall be taken by the following rule: each subscriber shall be entitled to a number of votes equal to the number of shares he or she may hold in the stock of the said company; and at all future elections of president and directors, at all votings whatever by the stockholders at any stated or occasional corporate meetings, the above-stated rule shall be observed.

Each share
one vote.

79. Sec. VIII. The election of president and directors shall be had annually, according to a by-law to be made for that purpose; and in

Elections to be annual.

Vacancies. case any vacancy occur in the board between the stated periods of election, the board of directors or a majority of them, at any regular or stated meeting of the board, may elect by ballot from among the stockholders a person to fill the vacancy until the next general election of directors: But if it should so happen that the day of the annual election of president and directors should pass without an election being made, in whole or in part, the corporation shall not thereby be dissolved or deemed to be discontinued, but it may be lawful on any other day to hold and make such election, in such manner as may be prescribed by the by-laws of the corporation, subject always to the rule prescribed in the seventh section of this act.

Lapsed elections.

May hold necessary real estate.

And may cross public roads or streams.

Right of way.

Assessment of damages.

Exclusive right of transportation.

80. Sec. IX. The said Monroe Rail Road Company shall have power and capacity to purchase, have and hold, in fee simple or for years, to them and their successors, any lands, tenements or hereditaments that they may find necessary for the site on and along which to locate, run, and establish the aforesaid rail-road, or to vary or alter the plan or plans, and of such breadth and dimensions through the whole course of said road as they may see fit; and also in like manner to purchase and hold any lands contiguous to, or in the vicinity of said rail-road, that they may find necessary, for the purpose of procuring all necessary or proper materials for constructing, repairing, and adequately guarding and sustaining said rail-road; and in like manner to purchase all rights of way on land and all necessary privileges on waters or water-courses, that may lie on or across the route of said road; and also, all lands contiguous thereto, that may be found necessary for the erecting of toll-houses, store-houses, and other buildings or accommodations that may be necessary or useful to said road, or to the business thereof: and said company shall have power, if need be, to conduct the rail-road across any public road or highway, and across any streams or water-courses that may lie across the route: Provided, said company shall so construct their rail-road across all public roads, as not to obstruct or injure the same.

81. Sec. X. In all or any case or cases where land or private rights of way may be required by said company for the uses aforesaid, and the same cannot, for want of agreement between the parties as to price, or for any other cause, be purchased from the owner or owners thereof, the same may be taken at a valuation to be made by commissioners, or a majority of them, to be appointed by the superior court of the county where the land or right of way may be situated: and the said commissioners, before they act, shall severally take an oath before some justice of the peace faithfully and impartially to discharge the duties assigned them: In making said valuation, the said commissioners shall take into consideration the loss or damage which may occur to the owner or owners, in consequence of the land being taken, or the right of way obstructed; and also, the benefit and advantage that he, she or they may receive from the establishment of said rail-road, and shall state particularly the nature and amount of each; and the excess of loss or damage over and above the benefit and advantage, shall form the measure of valuation of the said land or right of way: The proceedings of said commissioners, accompanied with a full description and plat of said land, shall be returned under the hands and seals of said commissioners, or a majority of them, to the court whence said commission issued, there to remain of record. And the lands or right of way shall vest in said company, in fee simple, as soon as the valuation thereof may be paid, or, when refused, may be tendered.

82. Sec. XI. The said Monroe Rail Road Company shall have the exclusive right of transportation and conveyance of persons, produce, merchandise, and all other things over the rail-road to be by them constructed, as long as they shall see fit to exercise such exclusive right: Provided, that the charges for transportation or conveyance shall not exceed the rate of three-fourths of a cent per hundred pounds on heavy articles per mile, and four cents per cubic foot for every twenty-five miles, and five cents per mile for every passenger: And provided also, that said company may, when they see fit, rent or farm out, any part or the whole of their said exclusive right of transportation on said rail-road with the privileges thereof, to any individual or individuals or other company, subject to the rates above mentioned. And the said company in the exercise of their said right of carriage and transportation, or the persons so taking such right by contract from said company, shall, so far as they act on the same, be regarded as common carriers, and said company shall be at liberty to use or employ any sections or parts of said road, before the whole is completed, subject to the rates above mentioned. And said company shall be authorized to make all by-laws and regulations touching said road, and the uses and business which may be deemed fit and expedient: Provided, the same be not repugnant to the laws and constitution of this State or of the United States.

Rates of freight.

May farm out their privileges.

Common carriers.

83. Sec. XII. If any person or persons shall intrude on said road or any part thereof, by any manner of use thereof, or of the rights or privileges connected therewith, without the permission or contrary to the will of said company, the person or persons so intruding shall and may be indicted, as for a misdemeanor, and on conviction, fined and imprisoned by sentence of the Superior court of the county. And if any person shall wilfully and maliciously destroy, or in any manner hurt, damage, injure or obstruct, or shall wilfully and maliciously cause, or aid and assist, or counsel and advise any other person or persons to destroy, or in any manner to hurt, damage, or injure, or obstruct, the said rail-road, or any bridge, vehicle, edifice, right, or privilege connected therewith, such person so offending, shall be liable to damages on the civil side of the court, and shall also be liable to be indicted, and on conviction thereof, shall be imprisoned at hard labor in the Penitentiary, for a term not less than four years; the one half of all fines to be imposed by the court under this act, shall go to the company and the other half to the prosecutor.

Intrusions.

Wilful injuries to the road, &c.

Civil damages, and penitentiary 4 years.

84. Sec. XIII. The exclusive right to make, keep up, and use a rail-road, between Macon and Forsyth, shall be vested in said company, for and during the term of thirty-six years, to be computed from the time when said rail-road shall be completed and ready for the purposes of transportation through the whole distance from Macon to Forsyth: Provided, that one thousand shares of said stock shall be subscribed and taken, before the meeting of the next general assembly of this State, and the said rail-road be commenced within one year thereafter, and completed within five years after the passage of this act. And, after the said term of thirty-six years shall have expired, although the Legislature may authorize the construction of other rail-roads between the said towns of Macon and Forsyth; nevertheless, the Monroe Rail-Road Company, incorporated by this act, shall remain incorporate and continue to be vested with all the estate, rights, powers and privileges, as to their own works herein granted and secured, except the exclusive right to make, keep up, and use a rail-road between said two towns, but the legislature may renew and extend said exclusive right on such terms as may be prescribed by law and accepted by said company.

Exclusive right of making road for 36 years.

Proviso.

Legislative and company rights afterwards.

85. Sec. XIV. The power of making the by-laws and of appointing Power of president and directors.

such officers, agents and servants as the business of the company may require, and of controlling generally its affairs, and of entering into contracts in its behalf, shall be exercised by the president and directors of said company.

What rail-roads may be connected with it.

86. Sec. XV. The State of Georgia, or any company authorized by said State, shall have the right of connecting other rail-roads with the one contemplated by this act, and continuing the rail-roads so conducted in any direction except between Macon and the said town of Forsyth: Provided, such rail-roads shall not cross the Ocmulgee river.

Call of instalments.

87. Sec. XVI. After the company chartered by this act, shall be organized and formed, the president and directors thereof shall be authorized from time to time, to call on the stockholders for the payment of such instalments on the shares subscribed, as they may deem necessary and expedient for the prosecution and completion of the said works, until the whole of the stock subscribed shall be paid in.

Ninety days' notice.

And said president and directors shall give ninety days' previous notice in the Macon gazettes, of the amount of the instalments so required to be paid, and of the time of payment. And a failure on the part of any stockholder to pay up any one of the instalments so called for as aforesaid, shall induce a forfeiture of the share or shares on which such default is made, and all past payments thereon, and the same shall vest in and belong to said company, and may be appropriated as they shall see fit to the purposes for which said company is chartered.

Forfeiture of shares.

Scip assignable.

88. Sec. XVII. It shall be the duty of the company, as soon as practicable, after it shall have been organized by the election of a president and directors, to issue to each subscriber, scrip or certificates of the stock held by him and of the amount paid thereon; and the shares of said stock held by any person, shall be assignable and transferable in law; and the said corporation shall and may by their by-laws and regulations, prescribe the mode of issuing evidences of shares of stock, and the terms and conditions, and also, the times and manner in which shares in the company shall be transferred.

Subsequent evidences of stock.

An Act to amend and consolidate the acts granting chartered rights and privileges to William B. Davis, Urbanus Dart, and their associates, to establish a company to construct a canal or rail-road, or both, from the Altamaha to Turtle river, in Glynn county, or to Brunswick, passed 20th of December, 1826, and the 14th of December, 1830.—Approved Dec. 20, 1834. Pam. 213.

Brunswick Canal and R. Road Com'y incorporated.

89. Thomas Butler King, Stephen C. King, and William W. Hazard, and their associates and successors, be, and they are hereby incorporated, with vested powers, rights, and privileges as a body politic, by the name and style of the "Brunswick Canal and Rail Road Company."

May create of stock, $200,000 or more.

90. Sec. II. It shall and may be lawful for the said company to create a stock to the amount of $200,000, to be increased, if necessary, one-third, for the purpose of carrying the said canal and rail-road into full effect; that is to say, they are authorized and empowered to cause books of subscription to be opened at such places and in such manner as they may deem most conducive to the obtainment of the stock required.

In shares of $100.

91. Sec. III. The capital stock of the said company shall consist of two thousand shares, of 100 dollars each,—but the number of shares may be increased one-third; and that upon subscribing to the aforesaid stock the subscribers shall pay the sum of five dollars upon each share.

92. Sec. IV. All amounts paid in by the stockholders shall be deposited in one of the incorporated banks in the city of Savannah; and before the State or the officers of the Central Bank of Georgia shall pay any amount on the stock authorized to be subscribed for by any existing law of this State, or any law which may hereafter be passed, the certificate of the cashier of the bank in which the same shall be deposited shall be produced to them, that the same amount on each share has been paid and deposited in said bank by the individual stockholders as is demanded of the State or Central Bank.

The State not to pay till the individual stockholders have paid.

93. Sec. V. The individual property of the said company shall stand pledged to the State for the amount which shall be subscribed and paid in by the State (should the State authorize any subscription), and that all amounts subscribed and paid in by the State and said stockholders shall be applied to the objects contemplated by this act: Provided, that nothing in this section shall be so construed as to hold the individual property of any stockholder or director liable for the application of any part of said fund which was or may be paid in at a time that he was not a stockholder or director.

Individual property pledged to the State.

94. Sec. VI. The said company, by the name and style aforesaid, shall be capable in law as a body politic, and as such may sue and be sued, answer and be answered unto, defend and be defended, in all courts of the State of Georgia, or any place whatsoever having competent jurisdiction over any matter, dispute, or transaction touching the business-affairs or well-being of the said company; and that the stockholders may appoint or elect five members annually, who shall constitute and form a Board under the name and style of the "President and Directors of the Brunswick Canal and Rail Road Company," who shall be competent to make all necessary by-laws, rules, and regulations they may deem most conducive to the good order, faith, and harmonious government of the said company: Provided, such by-laws, rules, and regulations be not repugnant to the Constitution and laws of this State or of the United States.

Powers of the corporation.

Five Directors. Style and powers of the direction.

95. Sec. VII. The aforesaid company shall be allowed seven years, from and after the twentieth day of December, 1837, in addition to the time allowed by the above last recited act, to complete their canal or rail-road, or both; and the said company shall be entitled, and they are hereby empowered, to demand and collect, by way of freight or toll, on all goods, wares, merchandise, and productions of the country, or upon all rafts of lumber, logs, or ranging timber, steam or other boats, and cars or vehicles of any description, conveyed through said canal, or over and upon said rail-road, such rates of toll or freight as the Board of Directors of the said company may find necessary to adopt from time to time in their regulations of toll: Provided, that during any twelve months together the net amount shall not exceed twenty-five per cent. per annum upon the aggregate amount of money they shall have actually expended in making, constructing, and keeping in good repair the said canal or rail-road, or both; to ascertain which, the aforesaid Board shall cause two accurate sets of books to be kept, one for the canal, and the other for the rail-road, showing the amount of stock paid in for each, and also all the expenditures and cost of each, together with all the repairs and income of tolls or freight of each; which books shall always be liable to the inspection of a committee appointed by the Legislature, to the end that the said company shall not abuse the remunerating privilege of this act.

Allowed till 1844 to complete their works.

Entitled to toll

Profits not to be more than 25 per cent.

Books to be kept subject to inspection by the legislature.

- Strips of land. 96. Sec. VIII. The Board of Directors of the aforesaid company shall have power to select and take, or receive as donation, such strip or strips of land from the Altamaha to Turtle river, or their branches, and of such width and shape as they may deem necessary for the construction, accommodation, and protection of their canal or rail-road, or both; and in case of disagreement between the owner or owners and the Board of Directors of the aforesaid company, in regard to the damages or price of the necessary strip or strips of land required for the purposes aforesaid, it may and shall be lawful for the company to appoint two competent and disinterested freeholders, and the owner or owners of such land shall appoint two competent and disinterested freeholders, all of whom shall be sworn by a magistrate, or one of the justices of the Inferior court, to do equal justice between the parties; and they shall then proceed upon the premises as a committee of arbitration and appraisement; and they shall make their award of valuation of damages in writing, to be approved and signed by them, or a majority of them, which amount the said company shall pay unto the owner or owners of such strip or strips of land in lawful money, and the fee-simple right thereof shall vest in the said company forever; and the award shall be recorded in the office of the clerk of the Superior and Inferior courts of Glynn county, in the same manner as deeds.
- Assessment of damages by arbitration
- and umpirage. In case the committee aforesaid cannot agree upon the amount of damage and valuation, they shall choose a fifth man, who shall be sworn as aforesaid, and be added to said committee; and in case either party be dissatisfied with the award of said committee of arbitration, they shall have the right of appeal to a special jury, to be tried at the term of the Superior court of Glynn county next thereafter held in said county; and the decision, in which way soever finally thus made by the said jury, shall vest in the Brunswick Canal and Rail Road Company the fee-simple of the strip or strips of land in question; and in the other party a judgment for the value thereof thus ascertained and determined.
- Appeal to a jury.
- Verdict final.
- Exclusive right. 97. Sec. IX. No canal or rail-road shall be permitted hereafter to be cut or constructed between the Altamaha and Turtle rivers, or their branches, and Brunswick, within twenty miles of the route or routes the aforesaid company may select, without their consent.
- Shall build bridges. 98. Sec. X. The said company shall build good substantial bridges across their canal or rail-road wherever they may cross a public road or way; and the stock of the aforesaid company shall be exempt from all taxes, duties, and impositions whatever, unless it be such a tax and no more as is now imposed on bank stock in this State.
- Taxation.
- Qualification of Director. 99. Sec. XI. No stockholder of the said company shall be eligible as a director unless he shall hold at least ten shares of the stock in his own right, or as administrator, executor, or guardian: the Board shall be competent at all times to call an extra meeting of the stockholders, when by them deemed necessary; and the directors shall choose one of their own body as president, who, together with the directors, shall be entitled to and receive such compensation for their services as may be allowed by the owners and lawful representatives of a majority of shares of the capital stock of the institution, to be determined by ballot or otherwise at the annual regular meeting of the stockholders; and in all cases the stockholders shall be allowed to vote either in person or by proxy,—that is to say, any stockholder who may be absent at any meeting as aforesaid may authorize, by power of attorney under seal, any other person to vote for him, her, or them.
- Extra meetings of stockholders President and his pay.
- Proxies.

100. Sec. XII. The number of votes of each stockholder, administrator, executor, or guardian shall be according to the number of shares he, she, or they shall hold—that is to say, each share to be entitled to one vote. The Board to be competent to appoint and fix the salaries of a secretary and treasurer, and as many clerks, agents, engineers, and laborers as they may deem necessary and expedient to despatch the business of the said company.

A vote to each share.

Officers and salaries.

101. Sec. XIII. The Board of Directors shall have power to call in such ratio, from time to time, of the subscription of stock upon the books of said company, by way of instalments, as they may deem necessary for the prompt progress and execution of the work; first giving notice to the stockholders respectively sixty days previous to the time required for the payment of such instalment; and in case any stockholder should refuse to pay his, her, or their instalments when called on in manner aforesaid, it shall be lawful for the board to declare such shares of stock forfeited to the use and benefit of the company; but the defaulting party shall have the right of appeal to the stockholders at their next regular meeting thereafter, and by the consent of the owners and representatives of two-thirds of the capital stock of the institution the previous instalments which may have been paid upon the shares so forfeited may be refunded, and the said shares offered by the board for re-subscription, as if the same had never been subscribed for.

Calls at discretion of the direction.

Forfeiture for default.

Appeal.

102. Sec. XIV. If any person or persons shall wilfully and maliciously damage, injure, or obstruct, or in any manner destroy, or shall wilfully and maliciously cause, or aid and assist, or counsel or advise, any other person or persons to destroy, or in any manner to hurt, damage, injure, or obstruct the aforesaid canal or rail-road, or any bridge or other appurtenance connected therewith, or any vehicle, edifice, right, or privilege granted by this act, and constructed for use under the authority thereof, such person or persons so offending shall be liable to be indicted; and, on conviction thereof, shall be imprisoned at hard labor in the penitentiary, at the discretion of the court, not less than four years, and shall be further liable to pay all damage and expenses of rebuilding or repairing the same, the one half of which shall be paid by the company to the informer.

Wilful damage or obstructions.

Penitentiary 4 years, and expenses of repairs.

103. Sec. XV. The shares of stock of the aforesaid Brunswick Canal and Rail Road Company shall be taken, considered, and held in law as real estate, and may be sold and transferred upon the books of the company by scrip, or assigned and bequeathed by the proprietors thereof as such.

Shares to be real estate, and transferable on the books.

104. Sec. XVI. Any subscriber of stock in the aforesaid company shall have the right to subscribe for shares in the rail-road or the canal separately and distinctly, or conjointly in both, as he, she, or they may choose at the time of subscribing; and their certificates and scrips of stock shall be issued and entered upon the books of the company, and kept accordingly; and the dividends shall be declared by the Board of Directors upon the net income of the rail-road and the canal also separately and distinctly from the two sets of books, as directed by the fifth section of this act.

Rail-road and canal to be kept separate in subscriptions, certificates and dividends.

105. Sec. XVII. With the consent and petition of the grantees William B. Davis, Urbanus Dart, and their associates, the two recited acts in the preamble of this act be, and the same are hereby repealed.

An Act to establish a turnpike road commencing at that point on the Tennessee State line where the old Federal road intersects it, thence running on to the eastern bank of the Hightower river, and to vest the rights and emoluments in a company incorporated by this act.—
 Approved Dec. 22, 1834. Pam. 204.

Preamble.

Whereas, it is highly important to the people of Georgia to have a good road communicating with the State of Tennessee over which heavy articles may be transported without difficulty; and whereas, in a sparsely populated and mountainous country, the roads cannot be kept in good repair by the application to them of all the labor now required by the road laws of this State—

Western Turnpike Company incorporated
till 1838.

Be it enacted, That Robert S. Brashears, Greene K. Cessna, and Charles H. Nelson be, and they are hereby incorporated and enacted a body politic, by the name and style of "The Western Turnpike Company;" and they and their successors and assigns are authorized to have and use a common seal, and in their corporate name to contract and be contracted with, sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, in the several courts of law and equity in this State, and shall fill all vacancies which may occur in said company; and that said company shall be, and they are hereby vested with the exclusive privilege for the term of thirty years from the time the road hereinafter named and described shall be completed, of keeping the said road in repair, and of demanding the tolls authorized by this act.

Route of the road.

106. Sec. II. The said company shall, within four months from the passage of this act, proceed to lay out and work upon a road to commence on the Tennessee line where the old Federal road intersects the same at or near McNair's, and pursue the said Federal road in its present course and direction as nearly as practicable to high-water mark on the eastern bank of the Hightower river, at or near the point where the said Federal road crosses the same; the said road to be opened to the width of twenty feet, and at no place to be of an elevation of more than eight degrees.

How it shall be made.

107. Sec. III. Said company shall remove or cause to be removed from said road all trees, stumps, grubs, roots, rocks, and other obstructions, and shall complete the said road in three years from the time the same is required to be commenced by this act; and shall moreover erect good and substantial bridges over all water-courses, over which a bridge shall be necessary in the opinion of the commissioners or their successors appointed by this act.

Company liable for damages.

108. Sec. IV. The said company shall be liable to pay all damages which may be occasioned to travellers or other persons by the said road or any bridge on said road being out of repair, and for all delays and hindrances occasioned in the same way; and any person aggrieved may, after notifying in writing any member of said board or company of his or her intention to apply to a magistrate for that purpose, go before a justice of the peace and make affidavit of the delay he or she has suffered, and the expense in repairs he or she may have been at; and the said justice shall issue an execution thereon for the amount, unless the said member of the company shall controvert on oath the facts stated in the applicant's affidavit, in which case the said justice shall order to be summoned forthwith a jury of five persons to try the said cause; and if the jury shall find in favor of the plaintiff, they shall increase their verdict by the amount of compensation to which they may believe the party to be entitled by reason of the additional delay occasioned by such jury trial; and in all cases the officers shall be entitled to the same fees that are allowed on trials in a justice's court.

How recovered.Appeal.

109. Sec. V. Any execution issued against said company may be served on said road, and the privileges granted under and by virtue of this act, or such portion of it as may be within the county where such levy shall be made; and if made by a constable, he shall return the same to the sheriff, who shall advertise and sell as in cases of the sale of real estate; and the private property of the members of said company shall be, and the same is hereby declared to be subject to the payment of all debts contracted or liabilities incurred while they were so members. Individual liability of the company.

110. Sec. VI. The said company in laying out said road shall do it with the least possible injury to individual property; and when any person's enclosed land shall be injured thereby, the said company shall pay to such person before the said road shall be opened such damages as the said person may be entitled to, to be ascertained as hereinafter directed. Right of way.

111. Sec. VII. His excellency the governor be, and he is hereby authorized to appoint five fit and proper persons as commissioners, to hold their appointment until the expiration of the charter hereby granted; whose duty it shall be to supervise said road, and to declare when the same shall be complete under this act, and to hear all complaints of injuries to enclosed land by the said company, and to cause a jury of five disinterested freeholders of the county where the lands injured shall lie to be summoned and sworn to assess the damages; which damages so assessed shall be paid as provided for by the foregoing section. Supervising commission. Its duty.

112. Sec. VIII. The said company shall be authorized to erect on said road four toll gates, at such places as the commissioners authorized to be appointed by this act shall designate, and as soon as the road shall be completed from the place pointed out for the first gate to the place for the second, one gate shall be erected and toll collected thereat, and so on till the whole road is completed: Provided, nevertheless, it shall not be lawful for the said company to collect tolls at any gate unless the work on said road shall be continued in good faith, and for the purpose of completing said road. Toll gates.

113. Sec. IX. Whenever the supervising commissioners, or a majority of them, shall declare the said road or any of the bridges to be out of repair, and after ten days' notice thereof to the said company, unless the said road shall be immediately repaired, it shall not be lawful to collect tolls at any of the gates on said road. When road out of repair, no tolls to be received.

114. Sec. X. If any of said commissioners should die, resign, or fail or refuse to discharge the duties required of them by this act, the governor shall appoint some fit and proper person to fill the vacancy; and for each day's service of said commissioners, not exceeding ten days in each year, each of them shall receive two dollars, to be paid by the said company. Vacancies in the commission.

115. Sec. XI. Each of said commissioners, before he shall enter upon the duties required of him, shall take the following oath.—“I, A. B., do solemnly swear or affirm (as the case may be), that I will faithfully and impartially discharge all the duties required of me by law as commissioner of the road of ‘the Western Turnpike Company’: so help me God.” Commissioners' oath.

116. Sec. XII. Said company shall be authorized to collect at each of the gates authorized to be established by this act the following tolls, to wit:—For each six horse wagon, $1; four horse wagon, 75 Rates of toll.

cents; ox team wagon, 75 cents; ox cart, 25 cents; horse cart, 25 cents; four-wheel pleasure carriage drawn by two horses, $1; four-wheel pleasure carriage drawn by one horse, 50 cents; two-wheel pleasure carriage, 37½ cents; two horse wagon, 50 cents; one horse wagon, 37½ cents; rider and horse, 12½ cents; loose horse, 6½ cents; cattle and hogs, each, one cent; foot passengers free.

Timber.

117. Sec. XIII. The said company are authorized to use any timber on said road for the erection of bridges and other necessary purposes, upon paying a fair value therefor to the owner.

Illegal toll.

118. Sec. XIV. If the members of said company, their servants or agents, shall collect any tolls beyond what are authorized to be collected by this act, they shall be subject to indictment, and on conviction shall be fined in a sum not less than ten nor more than fifty dollars; one half to be paid to the informer.

Indictment,
&c.

119. Sec. XV. The persons herein incorporated shall, by the first day of April next, notify to his excellency the governor their acceptance of this charter; and on their failure, any persons to the number herein mentioned may file their names in the executive department, and succeed to all the privileges and liabilities granted by this act: Provided, they shall within one month thereafter proceed with said work.

An Act to grant to Thomas Spalding and his associates the right of constructing a Rail-road of wood, or digging a Canal from the Ocmulgee to the Flint River, with certain privileges.—Approved Dec. 22, 1827. Vol. IV. 393.

Canal or railroad from the Ocmulgee to Flint river.

120. Thomas Spalding and such persons as he may associate with himself, being citizens of the United States, be authorized to cut a canal or construct a rail-road of wood from the Ocmulgee to the Flint river, from and to such points as they may deem most proper and fit.

May purchase lands in fee-simple, and in case of disagreement how the price or value is to be determined.

121. Sec. II. The said Thomas Spalding and his associates shall have power to purchase in fee-simple such land as may be necessary for the constructing and completing the said rail-road or canal; and in case of disagreement as to the price of the land so taken between the owner or owners thereof and the said Thomas Spalding and his associates, such disagreement is to be determined by the award of three sworn appraisers, to be chosen, one by the said land owner, one by the said Thomas Spalding and his associates, and one who shall be appointed by the Inferior court of the county, with the right of appeal to either party to be tried by a special jury at the term of the Superior court next thereafter held in that county; and the decision, in whatever way finally made, shall vest in the said Thomas Spalding and his associates the fee-simple of the land in question, and in the other party a judgment for its value thus ascertained.

The right of said canal or rail-road vested in them for ninety-nine years.
Proviso.

122. Sec. III. That the said Thomas Spalding and his associates shall have the exclusive control and benefits resulting from the said rail-road or canal for the term of ninety-nine years from its completion, at the expiration of which time the said rail-road or canal shall revert to the State; Provided, that the State may at any time within two years take an interest in the said rail-road or canal, not exceeding one half, after paying to the said Thomas Spalding and his associates, his, or their assigns, a sum equal to the same portion of the capital which may satisfactorily be shown has been expended upon the work and expenses attending the same, and eight per cent. interest thereon from the time the said work shall have been commenced until it shall have been completed.

123. Sec. IV. The said Thomas Spalding and his associates shall have authority to impose and exact such reasonable toll as may be proper and sufficient for the purpose of remunerating them for the labor and expenditure of the undertaking, and to enable them to keep the same in repair.

May exact reasonable toll.

124. Sec. V. The said Thomas Spalding and his associates be, and they are hereby incorporated as a company, entitled "The Ocmulgee and Flint Rail-road or Canal Company," for the purposes aforesaid, and are declared capable of suing and being sued, impleading and being impleaded, and of using all necessary legal measures for prosecuting or defending the rights, privileges, and immunities hereby granted to the said Thomas Spalding and his associates.

Said Spalding, &c. incorporated. Their title.

May sue and be sued.

125. Sec. VI. The term of five years be allowed to the said Thomas Spalding and his associates to complete the said rail-road, or ten years to complete the canal, from the passage of this act; and if at the expiration of the time herein specified the said work shall not have been completed, then and in such case this charter of incorporation and all the rights, privileges, and immunities hereby granted shall cease and be void to all intents and purposes.

Five years allowed to complete the rail-road, or ten years for the canal.

126. Sec. VII. No person or persons, nor any company nor association, shall have the right or privilege of cutting a canal or constructing a rail-road between the Ocmulgee and Flint rivers within twenty-five miles above, or twenty-five miles below, the contemplated rail-road or canal now granted to Thomas Spalding and his associates; Provided, that the said Thomas Spalding and his associates, his, or their assigns shall, within two years from the passage of this act, deposit in the office of the executive of this State a plan or chart of the contemplated work, showing its course and direction.

Exclusive right within twenty-five miles above or below.

Proviso.

An Act supplementary to and amendatory of "An Act to grant to Thomas Spalding and his associates the right of constructing a rail-road of wood, or digging a canal, from the Ocmulgee to the Flint river, with certain privileges;" assented to December 22d, 1827.—Approved Dec. 22, 1834. Pam. 219.

127. Thomas Spalding, and such persons as he may now associate with himself, being citizens of the United States, be authorized to construct a rail-road of wood, or such other road deemed by themselves best adapted for the running or passage of locomotive steam-engines, from the Ocmulgee to the Flint river, from and to such points on said rivers as they may deem most proper and fit, under the same provisions and restrictions (excepting such of them as shall be by this act altered or amended) granted to the said Thomas Spalding and his associates by act of the general assembly assented to December 22d, 1827.

Authorized to construct a road as provided by the act of 1827.

128. Sec. II. The term of ten years (to commence from the passage of this act) be allowed to the said Thomas Spalding and his associates to complete said road; and if at the expiration of the time thus specified the said work shall not have been completed, then and in such case this charter of incorporation, and all the rights, privileges, and immunities hereby granted to the said Thomas Spalding and his associates shall cease and be void, to all intents and purposes.

Must be completed in ten years.

129. Sec. III. So much of the above recited act of the 22d December, 1827, incorporating the said Thomas Spalding and his associates as the "Ocmulgee and Flint Rail-road and Canal Company," be made and held to embrace the amendments contained in this act, as if the same were specially and literally embraced in said title of incorporation.

This act to be considered as part of the act of 1827.

State right of subscription limited.

Reservations of routes by the State.

130. Sec. IV. So much of the third section of said recited act as provides that the State may at any time within two years take an interest in the said rail-road or canal, not exceeding one half, shall not be held or deemed as accruing to the State from any rail-road or road for the running of locomotive steam-engines which the said Thomas Spalding and his associates are by this act authorized to construct: Provided, nothing contained in this charter shall deprive the State of the power to grant a charter from any point on the Ocmulgee river to the town of Columbus, on the Chatahoochee river, for a canal or rail-road, or both, or from the city of Macon to Flint river.

Sec. V. All laws or parts of laws militating against the spirit and intention of this act are hereby repealed.

An Act to be entitled an act to amend an act entitled an act to incorporate the Central Rail-road and Canal Company, of Georgia, to alter and change the name of said Company, and to give to the said company banking powers and privileges.—Approved Dec. 14th, 1835. Pam. 217.

Incorporated.

Style.

Powers and
privileges.

May hold necessary
real estate.

Capital,
$3,000,000,
half for banking.

Specie.

Books to be opened.

131. For the purpose of laying, building and making a rail-road communication from the city of Savannah to the interior of the State, the subscribers to the Central Rail-road and Canal Company of Georgia, and such other persons as shall take stock under this act, and their assigns, shall hereafter be a body corporate, by the name and style of the Central Rail-road and Banking Company of Georgia, and by the said corporate name shall be, and are hereby made capable and able in law to have, purchase, receive, possess, enjoy and retain to them and their successors, lands, rents, tenements, hereditaments, goods, chattels and effects, of whatsoever kind, nature or quality the same may be, and the same to sell, grant, demise, alien or dispose of, to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, answer and be answered unto, defend and be defended in courts of record, and also to make and have a common seal, and the same to break, alter or renew at their pleasure; and also by and through their board of directors, to ordain, establish and put in execution such by-laws, rules and regulations as shall be necessary and convenient for the governing of the said corporation as to them may or shall appertain: provided, that such by-laws, rules and regulations shall not be contrary to the laws and constitution of this State or of the United States, nor to the rules, regulations, restrictions and limitations herein prescribed: provided, that said incorporation shall not purchase and hold more real estate than may be necessary and proper for the purpose of laying, building and sustaining said rail-road, and such as shall have been bona fide mortgaged to it as security, or conveyed to it in satisfaction of debts previously contracted in the course of its dealings, or purchased at sales, upon judgments which shall have been obtained for such debts.

132. Sec. II. The stock of the company shall consist of three millions of dollars, in shares of one hundred dollars each, and that the said company be formed on that capital; of which capital one half may be used for banking purposes, and not more, except as is hereinafter provided by the fifth and eighth sections of this act, before the completion of the work, when any capital stock unemployed may be used in addition for banking purposes: provided, that twenty-five per centum of each instalment, to be used for banking purposes, be paid in specie.

133. Sec. III. Books of subscription to the stock of said company shall again be opened at such time and places as shall be appointed by the corporation of Savannah, and shall remain open at each place for the space of two days, giving at least thirty days' notice in the gazettes of Savannah, Macon and Milledgeville. And on the opening of such books the commissioners shall require from those who have already subscribed for stock in the said company, the payment of the further sum of twenty dollars on each share so subscribed, and on the failure of any such subscriber to pay the said instalment on said stock so required, the right of such subscriber to be considered a stockholder shall be forfeited, and such subscriber shall be entitled to receive back from the company the instalment of five dollars already paid. And the said commissioners shall be authorized to receive further subscriptions to the capital stock of said company, and to require the payment on each share of such new subscription, of the sum of twenty-five dollars. And on the closing of the books of subscription, the commissioners for places other than Savannah, shall forthwith transmit the books of subscription and the money by them respectively received to the commissioners at Savannah, who shall consolidate all the subscriptions; and if on consolidation a greater number of shares than thirty thousand shall have been subscribed for, it shall be the duty of the said commissioners to scale down said subscriptions from the new subscriptions, leaving to those who are at the time of the passage of this act already subscribers, and who shall have paid up the additional sum of twenty dollars per share, the full amount of stock subscribed for by them at this time, and reducing the new subscriptions from the largest of such subscriptions: provided, that such reduction shall be made in such manner as that no subscription shall be reduced in amount while any one new subscription remains larger.

20 per cent.
to be paid.

Forfeiture and reimbursement on old stock.

Payments on new stock.

Supposed overplus.

Scaling.

Old, never to be less than the new stock.

134. Sec. IV. For the well ordering the affairs of the said corporation, there shall be nine directors,* to be chosen by the stockholders or proprietors of the capital stock of said company, at a time and place to be designated by the commissioners at Savannah, after they shall have received twenty-five per cent. on the amount subscribed, and after thirty days' notice of such election shall have been given in the gazettes of Savannah, Macon and Milledgeville, when a plurality of votes given in shall be necessary to make a choice; and those who shall be chosen shall be capable of serving as directors until the first Monday of January next ensuing the time of such election; when and on which day in every ensuing year thereafter, a like election for directors shall be had and held. And the said directors, at their first meeting after such election, shall choose, by a vote of at least a majority of the board of directors, one of their number as president; and in case of his death, resignation or permanent removal from the State, or from the board of directors, the said directors shall proceed in like manner to fill the vacancy by a new election for the remainder of the term for which he shall have been so elected; and if from any cause it should happen that an election of directors should not be made on the day when, pursuant to this act, it ought to have been made, the same may be lawfully made on another day, to be provided for by the by-laws of said corporation; and in case of the death or resignation of a director, or vacancy in the board from any other cause, such vacancy shall and may be filled up by an election to be had at the first meeting of the board after the occurrence of such vacancy by the remaining directors. And if from any cause or casualty the board of directors shall be reduced to a number less than five, it shall and may be lawful for the remaining directors to order an election to be had after thirty days'

9 directors

annually to be chosen.

President.

Vacancy.

Lapsed elections.

Vacancies at the board.

* Of which three may form a quorum in the months of July, August, September, and October. See Sec. 279.

notice, by the stockholders, to supply such vacancy, and make up a full board for the remainder of the term.

Commencement of the rail-road. 135. Sec. V. The directors who shall in manner aforesaid be first elected, shall, so soon as the board shall have been organized, receive from the said commissioners the money received by them from the stockholders as aforesaid, and shall immediately thereafter prepare, and in good faith proceed to lay, build and erect a rail-road communication from the city of Savannah to Macon, and shall appropriate and apply to this purpose, of the money so received on subscription, at least the sum of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars, and shall commence banking operations, and may apply and appropriate to that purpose the remainder of the money so received on subscription, and also such money as may be paid by the stockholders in advance of a call: provided, nothing contained in this act shall be so construed as to authorize said company to apply more than one-half of their stock to banking purposes, until the completion of said road.

Apportionment of the means. 136. Sec. VI. The directors for the time being shall have power to choose and appoint a subordinate board of directors, to be called the board of works, to conduct the work on the said rail-road, and to supervise the accounts thereof, and to vest in such board such powers as may be necessary to enable it to accomplish the purposes of its appointment; and shall have further power to appoint a cashier and such other servants as shall be necessary for executing the business of the said corporation, and to allow to them and to the president (and if deemed advisable to the members of the board of works aforesaid) such compensation for their services respectively as shall be reasonable. And the said principal board of directors shall be capable of exercising such other powers and authority for the well governing and ordering the affairs of the said corporation, as to them shall appear conducive to the interest of the same.

Board of works. 137. Sec. VII. The board of directors may in its discretion establish branches of its banking powers, not exceeding three, one of which shall be at Macon, at such place and at such times as may to it seem expedient: provided, that such other branches shall not be placed within any incorporate town or city contrary to the wishes of a majority of its citizens.

Cashier and other officers. 138. Sec. VIII. The said board of directors shall have power to call in such further and other instalments on the capital stock subscribed as it shall think proper; and the failure of any stockholder to pay any instalment so called in, within the time appointed for the payment thereof, shall operate a forfeiture of the share or shares on which such failure to pay shall have been incurred; which share or shares so forfeited, and all payments theretofore made, shall accrue to the benefit of the said corporation, to be disposed of as the directors shall order and provide: provided, that sixty days' previous notice shall be given, and that not more than ten dollars on each share shall be called in at any one time, and that not more than one instalment shall be called in within any three months, and that no call shall be made for any such instalment to be paid between the first day of July and the first day of November of any year; and it shall be lawful for the said board of directors at any time to receive in advance of a call, from any stockholder desirous to pay, either instalments or full payment of the subscription therefor; and when any instalment shall be so paid in advance the same may be used in banking purposes until the same shall be due on any call for instalments; and whilst so used in banking purposes, the same shall be deemed a part of the capital stock of said company used for banking purposes, and shall entitle the proprietor

General powers of the direction.

Banking branches.

Proviso.

Calla.

Forfeiture.

Notice, times, and amounts.

Payments in advance.

thereof to dividends thereon as such, according to the provisions of the seventh rule hereinafter established.

139. Sec. IX. Certificates of stock, signed by the president and countersigned by the cashier, shall be issued to the stockholders, which shall be transferable on the books of the corporation only, by personal entry of the stockholder, his or her legal representative or assigns duly authorized for that purpose. Certificates, transferable.

140. Sec. X. The bills obligatory and of credit, notes and other contracts whatever on behalf of the said corporation, shall be binding and obligatory on the said corporation: provided the same be signed by the president and countersigned by the cashier of the said company; and the funds of the corporation shall in no case be held liable for any contract or engagement whatever, unless the same shall be so signed and countersigned as aforesaid, except for such checks or bills of exchange as shall be made or endorsed by the cashier or president thereof, in the course of the business of said company, and except for such contracts as shall be made by the board of works or other agents duly appointed, under such rules and regulations as shall be prescribed by the by-laws of the same; and the books, papers and correspondence, and the funds of the corporation shall at all times be subject to the inspection of the board of directors and stockholders when convened, according to the provisions of this act. Bills and other contracts, how to be executed. Books, &c subject to inspection.

141. Sec. XI. The said corporation shall not at any time suspend or refuse payment in gold and silver of any of its notes, bills or obligations; and if the said corporation shall at any time refuse or neglect to pay, on demand, any bill, note or obligation issued by the corporation, according to the contract, promise or undertaking therein expressed, to the person or persons entitled to receive the same, then and in every such case, the holder of any such note, bill or obligation shall respectively be entitled to receive and recover interest on the same until the same shall be fully paid and satisfied, at the rate of ten per cent. per annum, from the time of such demand as aforesaid. Default of payment incurs ten per cent. per ann.

142. Sec. XII. Whenever a demand shall be made on this bank or its branches, by any bank or branch bank, by itself or its agent, the bank shall have the right of redeeming the bills thus demanded with the bills of the bank, or its branches, making the demand. Other banks may be paid in their own bills.

143. Sec. XIII. The following rules, regulations, limitations and provisions shall form the fundamental articles of the constitution of the said corporation. Rules.

Rule 1. The number of votes to which each stockholder shall be entitled, shall be according to the number of shares he shall hold, in the following proportion, viz. for one share one vote; for two shares, and not exceeding five, two votes; for every five shares above five, one vote: provided, that no person or body politic shall be entitled in his, her or their own right to more than sixty votes; and after the first election no share shall confer a right of suffrage which shall not have been holden according to the rules of the company three calendar months previous to the day of election. Scale of suffrage. On shares held three months.

Rule 2. None but a stockholder, in his own right of twenty shares, and being a resident of this State, and not being a director of any other bank, shall be eligible as a director; and if any one of the directors, after being elected, shall at any time during the time for which he shall have been chosen, cease to be a stockholder in that number of shares, his seat shall thereupon become vacated. Qualifications of directors.

Rule 3. Not less than five directors shall constitute a board for the transaction of business, of whom the president shall always be one, except in case of sickness or necessary absence, in which case his seat Quorum of five.

shall be supplied by any director appointed by the board present for that purpose: provided, that the bill or exchange business of the bank may be transacted by a committee of directors not less than three, of whom the president shall always be one, except in case of sickness or necessary absence, in which case the president or the committee may nominate a director to supply his place in such committee. And all business done by such bill or exchange committee, shall be by the unanimous vote of such committee, and shall be entered on the minutes of said company by the cashier, and by him reported to the next regular meeting of the board of directors.

Rule 4. A number of stockholders not less than thirty, who together shall be proprietors of one thousand shares or more, shall have power at any time to call a meeting of stockholders for purposes relative to the institution, giving at least thirty days' notice in one or more of the gazettes of Savannah, specifying in such notice the object of such meeting.

Rule 5. The cashier, other officers and servants of the said company, before they enter on the duties of their respective offices, shall give bond with two or more securities, to the satisfaction of the board of directors, in such sums as shall be required by the board, with condition for good behavior and the faithful discharge of their respective duties, and all other duties required of them.

Rule 6. The total amount of debts which the said corporation shall at any time owe, either by bill, bond, note, contract or otherwise, shall not exceed three times the amount of the capital stock actually paid in, and by this act authorized to be used and appropriated to banking purposes; and any special deposit which shall be received by the said company for safe keeping, whether of specie or other thing, shall be held for the use of the depositor at his risk, and shall, under no circumstances, be used by the said bank without authority from the depositor.

Rule 7. Dividends of the profits of the capital stock used in banking purposes, or of so much as may be prudent, shall be declared and paid half yearly, if the condition of the company warrant it, until the road shall yield a profit, when and in which case, that profit may also in like manner be divided; and such dividend shall from time to time be determined by a majority of directors at a meeting to be held for that purpose, and shall in no case exceed the amount of the net profits actually acquired by the corporation, so that the capital stock thereof shall never be impaired.

Rule 8. The directors shall cause to be kept fair and regular entries, in a book to be provided for that purpose, of their proceedings; and on any question, when one director shall require it, the yeas and nays of the directors voting shall be recorded in such book, and those minutes be at all times on demand produced to the stockholders at their general meetings.

Rule 9. After the said company shall have been organized, measures shall immediately be taken to accomplish the purpose of a railroad communication between Savannah and Macon, and no further instalments shall be called in to be used for banking purposes until there shall have been called in, used and applied on the said road, instalments amounting to eight and one-third dollars per share, in addition to the sum of $250,000 hereinbefore appropriated to that purpose, amounting together to the sum of $500,000 for the purposes of the road; but the said company may use for banking whatever sums may be voluntarily advanced by the stockholders, until instalments are called in; and all instalments thereafter called in shall be appropriated in the ratio of at least one half to the uses of the said road, and the remainder

Committee of exchange.

Must be unanimous.

1,000 shares may call meetings of stockholders.

Officers to give bond.

Never to owe more than treble the banking stock paid in.

Special deposits.

Dividends.

Minutes.

Yeas and nays.

$500,000 must be used on the road, before more banking cap. called in.

Voluntary advances.

may be, in the discretion of the board of directors, appropriated to banking purposes.

Rule 10. The said company shall appropriate and apply the sum of $250,000 of the sum paid in at the time of subscription to the running a rail-road communication as hereinbefore provided, and shall also apply all sums or instalments thereafter called in to the same purpose, until the amount of $500,000 shall have been applied and appropriated on said road. And after the application as aforesaid of the sum of $500,000 there shall be applied and appropriated to the purposes of the said road at least one half of the amount of all further instalments called in until the road shall be complete from Savannah to Macon, and the necessary engines, cars, &c. are procured.

Afterwards, at least half.

Rule 11. The undertaking of the said company to erect the said road, and to put it in complete order for the transportation of merchandise and passengers, and to supply it with all necessary cars, engines and all necessary apparatus, conveniences and services, shall be all times, until the same shall be complete in good faith, in a state of progress, and the funds of the said company shall not be diverted from this purpose except in so far as is allowed for banking purposes by this act.

Company shall act in good faith, and not illegally divert the funds.

Rule 12. Until the completion of the said road from Savannah to Macon the funds of the said company appropriated to the said work shall on no account be used for banking purposes, nor shall that appropriated to banking purposes be used for the road, unless the directors shall be of opinion that it would be more for the interest of the company so to use it than in banking purposes.

Railway funds shall not be applied to banking.
Vice versa,
at discretion
of directors.

144. Sec. XIV. The said corporation be, and it is hereby authorized and empowered to make, construct and maintain a rail-road for the transportation of produce, merchandize and passengers, of suitable width, depth and dimensions, in the most cheap, proper and practicable course, from the city of Savannah to the city of Macon, paying to owners of land through which the same may pass, a just indemnity, to be ascertained as hereinafter provided for, for the value of the land covered by the railway, and for three hundred feet on each side of the same (or so much of that quantity as the said corporation may require), for the procurement therefrom of timber, earth, stones and other materials, and for the construction thereon of toll-houses, slips, depots, wells, cisterns, pumps and other necessary and proper works and purposes; and whenever a person shall own land on both sides the rail-road at any point, the company shall be bound to suffer such owner to construct, for his own convenience, such road or bridge across said rail-road as may not obstruct or incommode the passage or free travel on or along the said rail-road: but no person shall be at liberty to cross said rail-road except by such bridge, without the express permission of such corporation.

Authority to construct the road.

Indemnities
for way.

Materials.
Fixtures.

Crossings by land owners.

145. Sec. XV. When any person shall feel himself aggrieved or injured by the said rail-road being cut or carried through his land, or by the use of lumber or other materials from any lands in the neighborhood of said road, or by any other works of the company, or when the said company cannot agree with any person through or on whose land the said railway or appendages shall be conducted, or from whose lands timber or other materials shall be taken for the use of the said road, as to the damage sustained, the amount of such damage or injury shall be ascertained and determined by the written award of three sworn appraisers, all of whom shall be disinterested freeholders of the county where the land in dispute lies; to be chosen, one by the company, one by such owner, if he shall think proper, and one by the inferior court

Disagreements as to indemnity.

Assessments of injury by appraisers.

	of the county where such land lies, or by any three of the justices of said court in vacation ; but if such owner shall decline to appoint an appraiser, then two to be appointed by the inferior court, or three justices thereof in vacation as aforesaid, and one by the said company, the
Award.	award of whom, in writing, shall operate as a judgment for the amount against the company, and shall be enforced by an execution from the
Appeal.	inferior court, with the right of appeal to either party to be tried by especial jury at the next term thereafter of the superior court of said county, and the decision shall vest in the company the fee simple of the land in question, and in the other party a judgment for its value thus ascertained which may be enforced by the ordinary process of said court.
Rules of judging.	In making the said valuation the appraisers, and in case of appeal the court of appeal, shall take into consideration the loss or damage which may occur to the owner or owners in consequence of the land being taken, or the right of way obstructed, and also the benefit and advantage he, she or they may receive from the erection and establishment of the rail-road or works, and shall state particularly the nature and amount of each, and the excess of loss and damage over and above the benefit and advantage, shall form the measure of valuation of the said land or right of way : Provided , that no difference or disagreement between the company and any landholder shall operate by injunction or otherwise to suspend the progress of said work, but the same shall in all cases be continued without interruption, on adequate security being given by said company to the landholder to pay such damages as shall be assessed in manner aforesaid : And provided also , that it do not interfere with the house, mill or other building, or yard enclosure of individuals : Provided , that nothing in the above section shall be so construed as to authorize the appraisers to make any estimate or valuation by which the landholder shall become indebted to the incorporation : provided , five days' notice shall be given to the owner of such land of the time and place of trial.*
Proviso. Work not to be retarded.
Mills, houses, &c.
Not to bring the land owner in debt. Notice.
Bridges at intersections of public roads.	146. Sec. XVI. Whenever the said rail-road shall intersect any public road, the company shall be bound to build a safe and substantial bridge or other means of crossing, to be afterwards maintained by the company, and any public or private bridges may at any time be built across the said rail-road : Provided , such bridges shall not obstruct or incommode the use of the said rail-road or subject the said company to any damage or expense.
Artists, laborers, &c.	147. Sec. XVII. The directors for the time being shall have power to employ artists, managers and laborers, and appoint such officers as shall be necessary for executing the business of the company, and to allow them reasonable compensation for their services, and shall be capable of exercising all such other powers and authorities for the well governing and ordering the affairs of said company, as to them shall seem fit for the interests of said company.
General powers of directors.
Taxation by the State, and by corporations.	148. Sec. XVIII. The said rail-road and the appurtenances of the same shall not be subjected to be taxed higher than one half of one per centum upon its annual net income, and no municipal or other corporation shall have power to tax the stock of said company, but may tax any property, real or personal, of the said company, within the jurisdiction of said corporation in the ratio of taxation of like property.
Willful injuries to the works.	149. Sec. XIX. Any person injuring the property of said company, or who shall throw earth, stones, trees, rubbish, logs or any other matter or thing whatsoever in or upon the rail-road or its appurtenances, shall be punished by indictment, as for a misdemeanor, and on conviction may be fined and imprisoned at the discretion of the court, and shall also be liable for such damages as may be occasioned thereby, and which damages when so ascertained shall on application be by the court doubled, to be recovered by action, at the suit of the said company, or of any person aggrieved, in any court having jurisdiction.

* This section is made to apply to the Georgia Rail-road. See Sec. 276.

Imprisonment, fine and double damages.

150. Sec. XX. The said company shall be entitled to the exclusive use of the said rail-road, with their cars or other modes of conveyance; and if the said company shall permit or suffer others to use the same, the said company shall be entitled and empowered to receive and collect tolls on all and every vehicle of whatsoever character or denomination, and all other things which by the regulations of said company, shall or may be allowed to pass on the said rail-road; and that for the collection of tolls, the said company or its proper officers may stop and detain all vehicles, or produce, or merchandise using the said rail-road, until the owners or carriers thereof shall pay the toll that shall be fixed by the said company; and also shall have power to regulate the form, weight, and all particulars of any and all such vehicles or cars so allowed to be used thereon; and any vehicles or cars used on such road without license from said company, or having such license and not conforming to the regulations of the company, may be seized and shall be forfeited to the said company. And if any owner, skipper, supercargo, carrier or other person in charge of any vehicle or car shall pass by any place appointed for receiving tolls without making payment thereof, he, she or they so offending shall forfeit and pay for each offence the sum of twenty-five dollars, to be sued for and recovered by action of debt in the manner, and subject to the same rules and regulations as debts under thirty dollars are now recovered, and costs of suit.

Exclusive use of the rail-road. Tolls, &c.

May make regulations as to cars, &c.

151. Sec. XXI. The principal office of the said company shall be located at Savannah, with subordinate offices or agencies at Macon and such other places as the board of directors shall determine, and all elections and meetings of stockholders shall be held at such principal office only.

Principal office at Sav. Branches and agencies.

152. Sec. XXII. The said company shall have full power and authority to carry such rail-road over and across all or any rivers, creeks, waters or water-courses that may be in the route thereof, or any branch thereof, by any suitable bridges or other means: Provided, that when such rail-road shall cross any navigable water-course, that the same shall not be so constructed as to impede the navigation thereof.

Privileges in crossing waters.

Provido.

153. Sec. XXIII. The rail-road authorized by this act, and the act of which this is an amendment, shall be commenced within two years after the passage of this act, and shall be finished within eight years after the passage of this act, and on failure thereof, the charter hereby granted shall be forfeited.

To be commenced within two, and finished within eight years.

154. Sec. XXIV. The exclusive right granted by this act, and the act of which this is an amendment, to the Central Rail-road and Banking Company of Georgia, to construct, keep up and use a rail-road between the city of Savannah and the city of Macon, and the banking privileges hereby granted, shall be, and continue for and during the term of twenty-five years, to be computed from the time fixed by this act for the completion of the works authorized by this act; and after the expiration of said term of twenty-five years, the legislature may authorize the construction of other rail-roads and canals between said cities: Provided, nevertheless, that the Central Rail-road and Banking Company of Georgia shall, after the lapse of said twenty-five years, be, and remain incorporate and vested, as to their own works, with all the estates, rights, powers and privileges by this act granted and secured, except the exclusive right aforesaid, and except the banking privileges hereby Exclusive right till 1868;

but the corporation to continue afterwards, cause books for the subscription of stock to be opened, at such times and places as they may deem most conducive to the attainment of the stock required.

Capital,
$2,000,000, and more if necessary.

$5 to be paid at subscription.

Calls.

Commencement of operations, election of officers, by-laws,
&c.

Shall pay for
right of way,
materials,
sites, &c.

Bridges for land owners.

Indemnities
how to be assessed by appraisers, and how on-forced.

May take out grants for vacant land, subject for 2 years to the rights of the drawer.

167. Sec. X. The capital stock of said company shall be two millions of dollars, to be divided into shares of one hundred dollars each, with the privilege of enlarging the capital in such sum as may be necessary for the completion of the works of the company, and at such times and in such manner as the company may think fit. And when stock is taken, the subscribers for the same shall pay at the time of subscription the sum of five dollars for each share taken, and shall receive a certificate therefor from any member of the board, or their president. And the company, or their directors that may be chosen, shall call in such per-centage upon each share as they may from time to time deem expedient and proper.

168. Sec. XI. When in the opinion of the board a sufficient quantity of stock shall have been taken to warrant the commencement of operations, the company or stockholders shall assemble, or a majority of them, and adopt such by-laws for their election of officers as they may think proper—in which by-laws they may designate the number and description of their own officers, their powers, duties and liabilities, and their terms of office; and the officers thus designated and elected, shall be subject to such legal responsibilities as said by-laws may impose.

169. Sec. XII. The said company, after selecting their route, may run their rail-road along the same, paying to the owners of land over which the same may pass such indemnity as is herein provided for, for the value of the land covered by the road, and for three hundred feet on each side thereof for the procurement of timber, earth, stone, and other materials, and for the erection thereon of such buildings or other improvements as may be necessary; and when any person shall own land on both sides of said railway, he shall be allowed to make a road or bridge across the same, so as not to obstruct the free passage along the same; but no person shall be allowed to cross the same, except over such road or bridge, without the special assent of the company: Provided, that the said company shall construct the bridge or bridges aforesaid at their own expense.

170. Sec. XIII. Any dispute which may arise between the said company and the owner of any land over which, or along which, the said rail-road may pass, shall be determined by sworn appraisers, two to be selected by the company, two by the landholder, and a fifth by the four thus chosen, whose award shall operate as a judgment for the amount against the company, and shall be enforced by execution issued by the clerk and attested by one of the justices of the inferior court of the county where the land lies, where the said award shall be recorded as other records or judgments in said inferior courts; from which decision either party dissatisfied may appeal to the superior court, as in other cases of appeal from the inferior court, and the value be tried by a special jury; and the final determination of the controversy in either case shall vest in the company a fee simple to the land, and in the owner of the land a right to issue execution and collect the same by the sheriff, as in ordinary judgments.

171. Sec. XIV. If the route of any road or roads contemplated and authorized to be constructed by this act, shall cross any tract or tracts of land which have not been granted, the said corporation shall be, and they are hereby authorized and empowered, to take out the grant or grants for any such tract or tracts of land, and lay and construct their works thereon; and in case the drawer or purchaser of any such tract or tracts of land as aforesaid, shall not come forward within two years from the taking out the grant thereof, then the title to said tract or tracts of land shall vest in said corporation; but if the drawer or drawers, purchaser or purchasers, shall come forward within the space of two years from the date of the grant or grants of the said tract or tracts of land, then, and in that case the said corporation shall only hold such portion or portions of said tract or tracts of land, as shall be necessary for the prosecution of their undertaking, and on the same terms as provided for by the thirteenth section of this act: Provided, that nothing in this section shall debar the right of orphans.

Proviso—orphans.

172. Sec. XV. Whenever the said road shall intersect any public road, the company shall be bound to construct and keep in repair a safe and substantial bridge or way across the said rail-road, and any public bridge or road, which shall not obstruct said rail-road, may be built across the same by the public authority. The said rail-road may also pass and cross all canals, rivers and water-courses, so as not to obstruct the navigation, and other rail-roads, so as not to usurp their chartered rights or injure or obstruct a free passage along them.

Crossings of roads and rivers.

173. Sec. XVI. Any person who may wilfully trespass upon the chartered rights and immunities of said corporation, or who may injure the property of said company, or who shall throw earth, stones, logs, trees, rubbish, or any other matter or thing whatsoever on or upon said rail-road, or who shall in any manner injure said road or its appurtenances, shall be indicted before the superior court for a misdemeanor, and on conviction, shall be punished by fine and imprisonment at the discretion of the court; and shall moreover be liable to an action for civil damages in trespass or case to the said company or any individual whose property or person may be injured thereby. And the said company shall be considered as common carriers, and any person whose goods, wares or merchandize, or other article or thing conveyed by such company, or in their custody for conveyance, or whose person shall be injured by the misfeasance, malfeasance, neglect or mismanagement of said company, its officers, or servants, or agents, shall be entitled to recover damages by suit against said company.

Wilful injuries to the works.

Fine, imprisonment and civil damages.

Common carriers.

174. Sec. XVII. Said company, or its directors when chosen, shall have authority and right to settle, determine, and at pleasure to alter all rates of toll, freight or passage of things and persons, or either, that may be conveyed upon the rail-road; and for the collection thereof, the said company or its proper officers shall be at liberty to detain all things conveyed on said road, and all baggage, for the security of freight or passage money till the same be paid, at any time before the said things or baggage go out of the possession of the company or its officers; and if the freight or passage money be not paid within fifteen days after the detention of said articles, the company may expose so much thereof to public sale and outcry as may pay the amount due.

Tolls and freight.

175. Sec. XVIII. The stock of said company may be transferred in such way as they may direct in their by-laws.

Stock transferable.

176. Sec. XIX. Nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to prevent the State of Georgia, or any other company that may now be incorporated, or may hereafter be incorporated, from crossing the rail-road herein granted and contemplated, or uniting or falling in with the same, whose object may be to carry produce or other things to any place within the State of Georgia; and the State of Georgia may, at any time, take any amount of stock not already subscribed for in said company, and become a joint stockholder, subject to such restrictions and conditions as may be arranged between the State and the company.

May be crossed by other rail-roads.

State may subscribe for stock.

An Act to be entitled an act to incorporate the Brunswick and Florida Rail-road Company.—Approved Dec. 22, 1835. Pam. 187.

- Incorporated. 177. Sec. I. For the purpose of encouraging the construction and opening of a rail-road communication between Brunswick and the Territory of Florida, Thomas Butler King, Stephen C. King, and Isaac Abrahams, and their associates, successors and assigns be, and they are hereby created a corporate body politic, by the name and style of the "Brunswick and Florida Rail-road Company," with vested rights and privileges; and by said corporate name and style shall be capable, in law, to purchase, accept, hold, and sell and convey real and personal estate, make contracts, sue and be sued, to make by-laws, and to do all lawful acts, properly incident and connected with the object of the said corporation, and necessary for the government and transaction of its business, and the construction of the said rail-road; and to make and use a common seal, and the same to alter and destroy at their pleasure: Provided, that their by-laws be not repugnant to the laws and constitution of this State, or of the United States.
- Name.
- Powers.
- Capital $2,000,000 or more. 178. Sec. II. The capital stock of the said company shall be $2,000,000, to be divided into shares of $100 each, but may be increased one-third, should it be found necessary, to complete the said rail-road, with all its necessary appendages; and the board of directors shall prescribe the mode and conditions of the subscription for such additional stock, should it be required.
- Company may be established on the subscription of $1,000,000. 179. Sec. III. It shall and may be lawful for the said Thomas Butler King, Stephen C. King, and Isaac Abrahams, and they are hereby authorized and empowered to create the original stock of $2,000,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary to establish the aforesaid company, upon the subscriptions of $1,000,000, by causing books of subscription to be opened, at such places and in such manner as they may deem most conducive to the obtainment of the stock required to establish the said company, and commence the work: after which, the board of directors shall have power to pursue such mode for the obtainment of the other $1,000,000 of stock as they may deem best: and upon all subscriptions of the said stock, the subscribers shall pay five per cent. upon each share at the time of subscribing.
- 5 per cent. on subscription.
- If no organization within 3 years, the 5 per cent. to be returned. 180. Sec. IV. All moneys received for the first instalment, of five dollars per share, on the subscriptions of the capital stock aforesaid, shall be deposited, for safe keeping, in one of the banks in the city of Savannah, until the board of directors shall be elected and the said company organized, when the books of subscription, and the moneys deposited as aforesaid, shall be turned over to the said board of directors by the commissioners aforesaid; and in case the said board should not be elected, and the company organized, within three years from the passage of this act, then the aforesaid commissioners shall refund the aforesaid five dollars per share, which they may have received from each subscriber as aforesaid.
- Organization. 181. Sec. V. For the organization of the said company, so soon as the requisite amount of $1,000,000 of the capital stock shall have been subscribed, the said Thomas Butler King, Stephen C. King and Isaac Abrahams, shall appoint a convenient time and place for the meeting of the stockholders in Brunswick, of which they shall give due and timely notice to each stockholder; at which time and place, they shall proceed to the election of seven directors, who shall form and constitute a board of directors; one of whom they shall elect as
- Ann election of 7 directors and pres't.

president of the said board, and he shall be entitled to vote upon all questions before the same, and shall hold his office for one year, as shall also the directors; and it shall be the duty of the said board, previous to the expiration of the year for which they shall have been elected, to call a meeting of the stockholders annually, on such day as may be fixed upon in their by-laws, giving each due and timely notice thereof, for the purpose of examining the affairs of the said company and electing directors for the year ensuing, to be determined by ballot or otherwise at each regular meeting; and in all cases the stockholders shall be allowed to vote in person or by proxy, that is to say—any stockholder, being absent at any general meeting of the stockholders of said company, may authorize, by power of attorney, any other person, to vote for her, him or them.

Ann. meeting
of stockholders.

Proxies.

182. Sec. VI. The number of votes to which each stockholder shall be entitled shall be according to the number of shares he, she or they shall hold, in the following proportion: for one share, one vote; for two shares and not exceeding five shares, two votes; and for every ten shares above five, one vote. No stockholder shall be eligible as a director unless he shall hold twenty shares of the stock in his own right, or as executor, administrator or guardian; and no share or shares (after the first election) shall confer a right of suffrage which shall not have been holden by the person in whose name they may appear three months previous to the day of election. In case of death, resignation or removal from the board of the president or any of the directors, the remaining directors shall have power to fill such vacancy until the regular annual meeting of the stockholders, who shall, at such meetings, fix upon and determine, by ballot or otherwise, the amount of salary per annum, from time to time, of the president and directors, and all other standing and regular officers of the corporation, as they, the majority of the stockholders, may deem just and reasonable. Not less than five directors shall constitute a board for the transaction of business, of whom the president shall always be one, except in case of sickness or necessary absence, in which case his place may be supplied by any director, to be elected president pro tem. by a majority of the board present.

Scale of suffrage.

Qualifications of directors.

Shares must be held three months.

Vacancies.

Salaries.

Quorum of
directors.

183. Sec. VII. The said board of directors shall have power to call in such ratio of per cent. of the subscriptions of stock upon the books of the said company, from time to time, as they may deem necessary to meet their arrangements and contracts for the prompt progress and execution of the work of the said rail-road; first giving notice to each stockholder, by written or printed circulars, through the mail, sixty days previous to the time required for each payment of the instalments to be paid in: and in case any stockholder should refuse to pay his, her or their instalments when called on in manner aforesaid, it shall be lawful for the said board of directors to declare by resolution, to be entered in their book of minutes, such share or shares of stock forfeited to the use and benefit of the said corporation, and to offer the same for re-subscription, as if they had never been subscribed for. The affidavit of the secretary of the board of the delivery of the said circulars to the postmaster or his deputy shall, in all cases in relation to the stockholders of the institution, be taken and held as legal notice of all calls for instalments or other business appertaining to the said company. And it shall be the further duty of the said board to publish such notice in one or more of the public gazettes nearest to the residence of the respective stockholders.

Calling in of the instalments.

Forfeitures.

Evidence of notice.

Advertisement.

184. Sec. VIII. The board of directors shall have power to issue to the stockholders their certificates of stock; and no transfer of stock,

Certificates of stock and transfers.

in the said company, shall be considered as binding upon the corporation, unless entered in a book or books to be kept for that purpose, by the personal entry of the stockholder, or by his, her or their legal representative or attorney, duly authorized by special power for that purpose.

Engineers, agents, &c.

185. Sec. IX. The board of directors shall have power to make all contracts, in their official capacity, which shall be binding upon the said company, and to appoint engineers, agents, a secretary and treasurer, and employ as many clerks and laborers, and at such compensation, respectively, for their services, as they may deem necessary and expedient for the despatch of the business and work of the said corporation.

May receive donations of necessary
strips of land.

186. Sec. X. The said board of directors shall have power to select and take or receive as a donation, such strip or strips of land between Brunswick and any point on the Florida line as they may deem necessary for the construction, convenience and protection of their rail-road;

In cases of disagreement, the assessment to be made by appraisers.

and in case of disagreement between the owner or owners and the said board of directors in regard to the damages or price of any part of such necessary strip or strips of land, it may and shall be lawful for the said board of directors to appoint one disinterested freeholder as an appraiser, and for the owner or owners of such strip or strips of land, to appoint another disinterested freeholder, if he, she or they should think proper; and the judges of the inferior court of the county in which such strip or strips of land shall lie, shall appoint another disinterested freeholder; but if such owner or owners shall decline to appoint an appraiser on their part, then two appraisers shall be appointed by the judges of the inferior court aforesaid, all of whom shall be sworn by one of the judges of the said court, to make and return to said court a just and impartial valuation of the damages or value of the said strip or strips of land thus required by the said company for a continuation of their rail-road, and for its appendages, and their award

Award.

shall be in writing and signed by at least a majority of the said appraisers, and accompanied with a full description and plat of the said land, which shall be taken and held as a judgment for the amount against the said company, and shall be enforced by an execution from the said inferior court; and the said plat and award shall be recorded in the said county in the same manner as deeds, and shall vest the right of fee simple to the said strip or strips of land in the said rail-road company so soon as the valuation thereof shall be made as aforesaid and paid for, or when refused, the money may be tendered: Provided, if either party shall think proper, he, she or they may appeal to the superior court of the county having jurisdiction, and have the damages ascertained by the verdict of a special jury, and their decision shall be final.*

Appeal.

Exclusive privilege to the Florida line, for 25 years—but the line may be crossed.

187. Sec. XI. No rail-road shall be permitted hereafter to be constructed between Brunswick and the Florida line, within twenty-five years, or within twenty miles of where said rail-road may be located, from the time of the completion of the one contemplated and provided for by this act of incorporation, nor within twenty miles of the same, without the consent of the aforesaid company: and Provided, that any future legislature shall have the power to grant to another rail-road company the right of crossing the rail-road herein named.

Shares considered as real estate,
and may be

188. Sec. XII. The shares of stock of the said Brunswick and Florida rail-road shall be taken, considered and held in law as real estate, and may be sold and transferred upon the books of the company

* And as to vacant lands, see Sec. 230.

by scrip, or assigned and bequeathed by the proprietors thereof as such. The capital stock of the said rail-road shall not be taxed by the State higher than one half per cent. upon its net income, and not to commence until the expiration of ten years after its completion.

transferred on the books or bequeathed as such.
Taxation.

189. Sec. XIII. The said company shall build good and substantial bridges, or ways of passage across their rail-road, wherever it may cross a public road; and if any person or persons shall wilfully or maliciously destroy, or in any manner hurt, damage, injure, or obstruct, or shall wilfully and maliciously cause, or aid and assist, or counsel or advise any other person or persons to destroy, or in any manner to hurt, damage or injure, or obstruct the said rail-road, or any bridge connected therewith, or any vehicle, edifice, right or privilege granted by this act, and constructed for use under the authority thereof, such person or persons so offending shall be liable to be indicted, and on conviction thereof shall be imprisoned at hard labor in the penitentiary, at the discretion of the court, not less than four years; and shall be further liable to pay all expenses of repairing or rebuilding the same; the one half of which shall be paid by the said company to the informer: Provided, that the company shall commence the work in two years, and complete the road in ten years after the passage of this act.

Bridges, &c. at public crossings.
Wilful injuries.

Penitentiary
4 years and expenses of repairs.

Work to be commenced in two, and finished in ten years.

An Act to incorporate the Chattahoochee Rail-road Company.—Approved Dec. 21, 1835. Pam. 193.

190. Sec. I. For the purpose of constructing or opening a rail-road communication from Macon to Columbus, and thence to West Point, the corporation of the town of Columbus and such other corporation and individuals as that corporation shall associate with it, and their assigns, shall hereafter be a body corporate, by the name and style of "the Chattahoochee Rail-road Company;" and by said corporate name shall be capable in law to buy, hold and sell real and personal estate, make contracts, sue and be sued, to make by-laws, and do all lawful acts properly incident to a corporation, and necessary and proper to the transaction of the business for which it is incorporated, and to have and use a common seal, and the same to alter and destroy at its pleasure.

"Chattahoochee R. Road Company"
incorporated.

Privileges.

191. Sec. II. The capital stock of said company shall be $1,500,000, divided into shares of $100 each, but may be increased to a sum not exceeding $3,000,000, whenever it may be deemed expedient, by a majority of the board of directors of said corporation, for the time being.

Capital,
$1,500,000,
may be increased to $3,000,000.

192. Sec. III. The said corporation be, and it is hereby authorized and empowered to make, construct, and maintain a rail-road for the transportation of produce, merchandize and passengers, of suitable width and dimensions, in the most cheap, proper and practicable course, from Macon to Columbus, and thence to West Point, paying to the owners of land through which the same may pass a just indemnity, to be ascertained as hereinafter provided for, for the value of the land covered by the railway, and for three hundred feet on each side of the same; and whenever a person shall own land on both sides of the rail-road, at any point, the company shall be bound to construct for his convenience, such bridge across the rail-road as may not obstruct or incommode the passage on or along said rail-road. But no person shall be at liberty to cross such rail-road, except by such bridge or road, without the express permission of such corporation: Provided, nothing herein contained shall prohibit a future legislature from passing laws authorizing the construction of rail-roads or other works of

May construct a railroad from Macon to Columbus, thence to West Point.
Indemnifying
land owners.

Bridges at private crossings.

May be crossed by future chartern.

internal improvement across the route which may be selected for the construction of the road herein authorized.

Controversies as to indemnities, to be settled by appraisers.

193. Sec. IV. When any person shall feel himself aggrieved or injured by the said rail-road, or when the said company cannot agree with any person, through or on whose land the said rail-road shall be conducted, as to the damages sustained, the amount of such damage or injury shall be ascertained and determined by the written award of three sworn appraisers, to be chosen, one by the company, one by such owner, if he shall think proper, and one by the inferior court of the county where such land lies; but if such owner shall decline to appoint an appraiser, then two appraisers to be appointed by the inferior court, as aforesaid, and one by the said company, the award of whom shall operate as a judgment for the amount against the company, and shall be enforced by an execution from the inferior court, with the right of appeal by either party, to be tried by a special jury at the next term thereafter of the superior court of said county, and the decision shall vest in the company the fee-simple of the land in question; and in the other party, a judgment for its value thus ascertained, which may be enforced by the ordinary process of said court.

Appeals.

Bridges at public crossings.

194. Sec. V. Whenever the said rail-road shall intersect any public road, the company shall be bound to build a safe and substantial bridge, to be afterwards maintained by the company. And any public or private bridges may at any time be built across said rail-road: Provided, such bridges shall not obstruct or incommode the use of the said rail-road.

May appoint and employ officers, managers, laborers, &c. Gen. powers of directors.

195. Sec. VI. The directors for the time being shall have power to employ managers and laborers, and appoint such officers as shall be necessary for executing the business of the company, and to allow them reasonable compensation for their services; and shall be capable of exercising all such other powers and authorities for the well governing and ordering the affairs of said company, as to them shall seem fit for the interest of said company.

Taxation.

196. Sec. VII. The said rail-road, and the appurtenances of the same, shall not be subjected to be taxed higher than one-half per cent. upon its annual net income.

Wanton injuries.

197. Sec. VIII. Any person injuring the property of said company, or who shall throw earth, stones, trees, rubbish, logs or any other matter or thing whatsoever upon the said rail-road, or its appurtenances, shall be punished by indictment as for a misdemeanor, and on conviction may be fined and imprisoned at the discretion of the court; and shall also be liable for such damages as may be occasioned thereby, to be recovered by action at the suit of said company or of any person aggrieved, in any court having jurisdiction.

Fine, imprisonment, and civil action for damages.

Exclusive use of the rail-road, or tolls from others.

198. Sec. IX. The said company shall be entitled to the exclusive use of said rail-road, with their cars or other modes of conveyance. And if the said company shall permit or suffer others to use the same, the said company shall be entitled and empowered to receive and collect tolls on all vehicles of whatever character or denomination, and all other things which by the regulations of said company shall or may be allowed to pass on said rail-road; and that for the collection of tolls the said company, or its proper officers, may stop and detain all vehicles or produce or merchandize using the said rail-road, until the owners or carriers thereof shall pay the toll which shall be fixed by the said company. And if any owner, carrier or other persons in charge of any vehicle or car shall pass by any place appointed for receiving tolls without making payment thereof, he, she or they so offending shall forfeit and pay for each offence the sum of $25, to be sued for and recovered by action of debt, in the manner, and subject to the same rules and regulations as debts under $30 are now recovered, and costs of suit.

Enforcement of tolls.

199. Sec. X. After the route of such railway shall have been accurately surveyed and a plot thereof deposited in the department of state, it shall not be lawful for any other rail-road to be built or constructed in any way or manner, or by any authority whatsoever, running parallel within twenty miles of the route so adopted, unless by the said company or with the consent of the board of directors thereof for the time being.

200. Sec. XI. The said corporation of the town of Columbus shall be, and they are hereby authorized to open books for subscription for the stock of said company, at such times and in such places as the said corporation shall determine, and to require the payment in the first instance of such sum per share or subscription as that corporation shall determine.

201. Sec. XII. It shall be the duty of said corporation of Columbus, as soon as the sum of 75,000 shares shall have been paid in by the stockholders, to cause to be elected by the stockholders in the manner hereinafter pointed out, from among the stockholders, seven directors, who shall hold their seats until the first Monday in January thereafter. The directors, at their first meeting after such election, shall choose one of their number as president, who shall hold his office for one year, and may receive such compensation as the directors shall deem reasonable. In case of his death, resignation, removal from the State, or other vacancy, the board of directors shall fill his place for the balance of the time by another election.

202. Sec. XIII. A majority of the directors shall constitute a board for the transaction of business, of whom the president shall always be one, save in case of sickness or necessary absence, in which cases his place may be supplied by any director appointed by the president. The said boards of directors may call for further instalments on each share, when necessary for the interest of the company, not to exceed $100 on each share in the whole, giving at least sixty days' notice in the public gazettes of Columbus of such call, and any and all stockholders failing to pay any instalments so called for, for ten days after the time designated by such call, shall for ever forfeit his stock in the said company; and all payments which he may have heretofore made, and the stock so forfeited, shall vest in and become the property of the said company, to be disposed of as the board of directors thereof shall determine.

203. Sec. XIV. The number of votes of each stockholder shall be according to the number of shares he shall hold, each share to be entitled to one vote; and in all cases the stockholders shall be allowed to vote in person or by proxy: Provided, that after the first election no share or shares shall confer a right of suffrage which shall not have been holden for three calendar months previous to the day of election; and the transfer on the books of the company shall be the only evidence of such holding.

204. Sec. XV. Certificates of stock shall be issued to the stockholders on the payment of the sum required at the time of subscription, which shall be transferable on the book of the company only, and by personal entry of the stockholder, his legal attorney or representative only, authorized for that purpose.

205. Sec. XVI. The directors shall keep fair and regular entries of their proceeding in a book provided for that purpose, and on every question, when any one director shall require it, the yeas and nays of Exclusive right to 20 miles on each side.

Corporation of Columbus may open books.

On subscription of $75,000, stockholders may elect 7 directors.

President.

Quorum for business.

Calls of instalments.

Forfeitures.

Each share, one vote.

Proxies.

Shares must have been held three months.

Certificates, stock transferable on the books.

Minutes.

Yeas and nays.

the directors voting shall be duly entered on the minutes, and those minutes shall at all times on demand be produced to the stockholders, when at a meeting thereof they shall be required.

1,000 shares may call a meeting of stockholders.

206. Sec. XVII. Any number of stockholders, who together shall be proprietors of one thousand shares, shall have the power at any time to call a meeting of the stockholders of said company, for purposes relating to the company, and of all meetings of stockholders, at least sixty days' previous notice shall be given in the Gazette of Columbus, specifying therein the object of the meeting.

Principal office at Columbus, &c.

207. Sec. XVIII. The principal office of the said company shall be located at Columbus, and such other places as the board of directors shall determine, with power nevertheless to the stockholders, at any meeting at which a majority of the whole shall be present or represented, that all elections and meetings of the stockholders shall be held at Columbus.

Stock to be represented.

208. Sec. XIX. At all elections or meetings the stockholders shall vote and be represented by proxies or a proxy.

May cross all waters, but not impede navigation.

209. Sec. XX. The said company shall have full power and authority to carry such rail-road over and across all or any rivers, creeks, waters or water-courses, that may be in the route thereof, by any suitable bridges or other proper means: Provided, that when such rail-road shall cross any navigable water-course, the same shall not be so constructed as to impede the navigation thereof.

Shall be commenced within 2 and finished within 8 years.

210. Sec. XXI. The rail-road authorized by this act shall be commenced within two years after the passage of this act, and shall be finished within six years after the term aforesaid, and on failure thereof, the charter hereby granted shall be forfeited.

Exclusive right to the route till 1868.

211. Sec. XXII. The exclusive right granted by this act to the Chattahoochie Rail-road Company, to construct, keep up and use a rail-road from Macon to Columbus, and thence to West Point, shall be, and continue for and during the term of twenty-five years, to be computed from the time fixed by this act for the completion of the works authorized by this act, and after the expiration of said term of thirty-six years, the legislature may authorize the construction of other rail-roads between said places: Provided, nevertheless, the said Chattahoochie Rail-road Company shall, after the lapse of said twenty-five years, be and remain incorporate, and vested, as to their own works, with all the estates, rights, powers and privileges by this act granted and secured, except the exclusive right aforesaid; but the legislature may renew and extend that exclusive right, upon such terms as may be prescribed by law, and be accepted by said incorporated company.

Subsequent privileges.

An Act to aid and facilitate Thomas Spalding, Esquire, in the execution of his Rail-road from the Ocmulgee river to Flint river; and to extend similar aid and facilities to the Brunswick and Florida Rail-road Company, and to the Great Western Rail-road Company.—Approved Dec. 23, 1835. Pam. 216.

T. Spalding may take out grants on his route, free of costs.

212. Sec. I. It shall and may be lawful for Thomas Spalding, Esquire, who is the sole undertaker, owner and proprietor of a contemplated rail-road authorized to be constructed from the Ocmulgee to the Flint river by an act of the last general assembly, to grant or take out the grants, free of the grant-fees for the same, of all lots, tracts or squares of land, now ungranted, over and through which his said contemplated rail-road will pass, as appears and is represented by the plan of a survey of said road made for and returned to the late governor, by said Thomas Spalding.

213. Sec. II. The lots, tracts or squares of land so authorized to be granted or taken out, shall be granted in the name of the persons who drew the same, subject to their claim, title and possession : Provided, the same be made on or before the day of the expiration of the time now allowed for granting such lots: and in case the drawer or drawers of any one or all of said lots, tracts or squares of land, shall within such time claim or desire to have possession of the lot or lots drawn and so granted to his or their names, then and in that event it shall and may be lawful and competent for the said Thomas Spalding to proceed as directed and authorized by the terms of the act granting the privilege to construct said rail-road.

Subject to the existing rights of drawers.

How indemnities are to be adjusted on claimed lots.

214. Sec. III. Should said lots of land not be claimed, as herein provided, the said Spalding shall be entitled to hold in fee-simple such parts of the same as said road may be located upon, and one hundred yards on each side thereof: Provided, said rail-road be completed according to the charter, and not otherwise.

Entitled to right of way over unclaimed lots.

215. Sec. IV. All the benefits and privileges granted by the provisions of this act shall extend to the Brunswick and Florida Rail-road Company, and to the Great Western Rail-road Company.

These provisions to extend to Brunswick and Florida company.

Sec. V. [Repeals all conflicting acts.]

An Act to be entitled an act to amend and revive an act passed on the 23d day of December, 1833, entitled an act to incorporate the Monroe Rail-road Company for the purpose of constructing a Rail-road from Macon to the town of Forsyth in Monroe county.—Approved Dec. 26, 1835. Pam. 200.

Whereas by the thirteenth section of the above-mentioned act, the exclusive right granted to the Monroe Rail-road Company to make, keep up and use a rail-road between Macon and Forsyth, is qualified by the proviso, that 1,000 shares of the stock of said company should be subscribed and taken before the meeting of the next general assembly of this State after the passage of the said act, and that said rail-road should be commenced within one year after such next meeting of the general assembly, and should be completed within five years after the passage of said act; and whereas by the failure to subscribe and take up the said 1,000 shares of stock, and to commence said rail-road within the periods of time limited and prescribed by said act, the exclusive right granted to said company by said thirteenth section of said act, to make, keep up and use a rail-road between Macon and Forsyth, has become forfeit, and lost to said company; and whereas within a very recent period, the whole capital stock of said company, amounting to $200,000, has been subscribed and taken up, and $5 on every share of $100 paid and deposited in the Central Bank of Georgia—

216. Sec. I. Be it enacted, That all rights and privileges whatever secured to said Monroe Rail-road Company, by the aforesaid charter of incorporation, and which may have become forfeited in the manner hereinbefore set forth, or in any otherwise, be, and they are hereby restored and granted to said company, in as ample a manner as if no such forfeiture had happened, and as if the 1,000 shares of stock had been subscribed and taken, and the building of said rail-road commenced within the periods specified by the aforesaid act of incorporation: Provided, said rail-road shall be completed within five years after the passage of this act.

217. Sec. II. In all cases where, by the tenth section of said act, of which this act is amendatory, a valuation may have been made, or shall hereafter be made, of land through which the rail-road passes, by the commissioners, that either party may have the right of appeal to a special jury, at the ensuing term of the superior court: Provided, that the progress of said road shall not be arrested by said appeal; and provided further, that said company shall give security to the party for the payment of all damages that may be assessed by the special jury.

An Act to be entitled an act to incorporate a Rail-road Company, to be called the Western Rail-road Company, for the purpose of constructing a Rail-road from the town of Forsyth, in Monroe county, to the town of West Point, in Troup county, or to some convenient place in the neighborhood of the said town of West Point.—Approved Dec. 26, 1835. Pam. 202.

"Western R.
R. Company"
incorporated.

Powers and
privileges.

Capital $800,000, or more.

Opening the books Nov.
21, 1836.

218. Sec. I. For the purpose of constructing, keeping up and using a rail-road communication from the town of Forsyth, in Monroe county, to the town of West Point, in Troup county, by way of Zebulon, in Pike county, Greeneville, in Merriwether county, and La Grange, in Troup county, or some convenient place in the neighborhood of the said town of West Point, the subscribers for the capital stock hereinafter mentioned and their assigns shall be a body politic and corporate, by the name and style of "The Western Rail-road Company," and by said corporate name shall be capable in law to purchase, accept, hold and convey real and personal estate, make contracts, sue and be sued, to make by-laws, and to do all lawful acts properly incident to a corporation, and necessary and proper for the construction of the works and transaction of the business for which said company is incorporated, and to have and use a common seal, and the same to alter and destroy at pleasure.

219. Sec. II. The capital stock of said company shall be $800,000, divided into shares of $100 each, but shall be liable to be increased from time to time, and by such sum or sums as may be deemed expedient by the majority of the board of directors of said company for the time being: Provided, that said capital stock shall not be so increased as to exceed in the whole the sum of $1,200,000: And it is also enacted, that the board of directors for the time being shall be authorized to prescribe the terms and conditions of subscriptions for such additional capital stock as may be from time to time required.

220. Sec. III. For the original capital stock of $800,000, books of subscription shall be opened, as follows: In the city of Macon for the sum of $300,000, under the direction of James Rea, Levi Eckly and Jeremiah Cowles. At Forsyth, in Monroe county, for the sum of $150,000, under the direction of Henry H. Lumpkin, Elbridge G. Cabbings and Daniel Sanford. At Zebulon, in Pike county, for the sum of $100,000, under the direction of James Neal, John B. Reid and John Blackburne. At Greeneville, in Merriwether county, for the sum of $100,000, under the direction of William D. Alexander, Hiram Warner and Benjamin Johnson. At La Grange, in Troup county, for the sum of $150,000, under the direction of Rufus Brown, Willie Wilson and Nicholas Lewis, Sen. The books of subscription shall be opened at each of the aforesaid places on the third Monday of November next, and a majority of the commissioners at each place shall be competent to do all acts incident to their office; and if any of the commissioners above named shall decline acting, the governor, on being duly informed thereof, shall be authorized to appoint other commissioners in the stead of him or them so declining to act. The several sets of commissioners at the above named places shall give two weeks' notice in the Macon gazettes of the time and place of opening their respective books of subscription. Upon the books being opened as aforesaid, the commissioners shall receive from individuals, companies and corporations, subscriptions for any number of shares of stock not exceeding 200 shares to any one individual, company or corporation, until two days have elapsed; after which, the shares not previously taken, or any number thereof, may be subscribed for and taken by any individual, company or corporation, banking companies excepted. And no subscription shall be received and allowed unless there shall be paid to the commissioners, at the time of subscribing, the sum of $5 on each share subscribed, for which the commissioners shall give to the subscriber a certificate setting forth the number of shares taken by such subscriber, and amount per share paid thereon.

$5 per share to be paid on subscribing.

221. Sec. IV. The books shall be kept open for subscriptions at each of the above named places for the space of sixty days, and being closed on the last day, each of the other sets of commissioners shall transmit their subscription books, certified and signed, to the commissioners at the city of Macon; and the commissioners at Macon, shall thereupon make out a general list, setting forth the names of the subscribers, the number of shares taken by each subscriber and the sum paid thereon, and if, on summing up all the subscriptions, the same shall appear to amount to the sum of $400,000, the said company may be organized and go into operation thereon, and after the organization of the company, all future subscriptions for stock shall be received by the board of directors of the company; and in case the whole amount of stock subscribed within sixty days after the opening of the books of subscription, as above prescribed, shall fall short of the sum of $400,000, then subscriptions for the amount of stock necessary to make up said sum of $400,000 shall be received, after the lapse of said sixty days, only at Macon, Forsyth and La Grange, and in equal proportions at each of said places; and as soon as the subscriptions shall in all amount to the said sum of $400,000, the commissioners at Forsyth and La Grange shall transmit their books to the commissioners at Macon, and these latter shall make out and prepare a general list as above pointed out, and the said commissioners shall at once proceed to take measures as hereinafter prescribed for the organization of the company.

If $400,000 are thus subscribed, the company may go into operation;

if not, then the books to be re-opened only at Macon, Forsyth, and La Grange.

222. Sec. V. Each of the aforesaid sets of commissioners shall deposit in the Central Bank of Georgia or in the branch of the Bank of the State of Georgia, at Macon, all the money by them respectively received on account of subscriptions for stock, said money so deposited to be subject to the order of the said company or of its president and board of directors, after the organization of the company.

Money received, to be deposited in bank.

223. Sec. VI. In order to the organization of said company, so soon as the amount of subscriptions of stock shall equal or exceed the sum of $400,000, the commissioners at Macon and Forsyth, or any three or more of them shall give notice thereof in the public gazettes of Macon, and advertise in said gazettes for three weeks, a meeting of the stockholders to be held at some convenient time and place; at which time and place the stockholders shall attend in person or by proxies duly constituted by writing, sealed and attested, and shall proceed to the election by ballot of nine directors of said company. And in the election of directors, and in all other matters of said company, in which the votes of stockholders have to be taken, each stockholder shall have a number of votes equal to the number of shares of which he is proprietor at the time of voting. At the election of the first board of directors, the commissioners at Macon and Forsyth, or any three or more of them, shall preside and conduct the election, and shall make a record of the proceedings in said election under their hands and seals, and shall deliver to each of the directors chosen a certificate of his election.

Organization.

Each share one vote.

President.

224. Sec. VII. The board of directors shall choose one of their own number as president of the board, whose term of office shall be one year; and the election of directors shall be held annually according to such by-law as may be made for that purpose, and in case of a vacancy occurring in the board between the stated periods of election, the directors, or a majority of them, may elect from among the stockholders a person to fill such vacancy; and in case it should so happen that the day of the annual election of directors should pass without an election being made in whole or in part, it shall and may be lawful on any other day to make such election in such manner as may be prescribed by the by-laws of the corporation, subject always to the rule hereinbefore prescribed as to the number of votes to which each stockholder shall be entitled.

Lapsed elections.

May purchase and hold necessary real estate,

225. Sec. VIII. The said rail-road company shall have power and capacity to purchase, have and hold in fee-simple or for years, to them and their successors, any lands, tenements or hereditaments that they may find necessary for the site on and along which to locate, run and establish said rail-road; and also, to purchase and hold any lands contiguous to or in the vicinity of said rail-road that they may find necessary for the purpose of procuring all proper materials for constructing, repairing and adequately guarding and sustaining said rail-road; and also, all lands contiguous thereto that may be found necessary for the erecting of toll-houses, store-houses and other buildings or accommodations that may be found necessary or useful to said rail-road or the business thereof; and also, all rights of way on land, and all necessary privileges on water-courses that may lie on or across the route of said road; and the said company shall have power to conduct said rail-road across any public road or highway that may be on the route of said rail-road: Provided, the said company shall so construct said rail-road across all public roads as not to injure or obstruct the same.

and rights of way,

and may cross public roads

Indemnities if not agreed on, may be settled by appraisers.

226. Sec. IX. In all cases where lands or rights of way may be required by said company for the purposes aforesaid, and the same cannot by want of agreement between the parties as to price or for any other cause be purchased by the company from the owners thereof, the same may be taken at a valuation to be made by three commissioners, or a majority of them, to be appointed by the judge of the superior court of the county where the land or right of way may be situated: Provided, that if the judge for the time being shall be a stockholder, then the arbitrators shall be one selected by the corporation, one by the party at issue, and the third by the inferior court of the county; and the said commissioners before they act shall severally take an oath before some justice of the peace or other judicial magistrate, faithfully and impartially to discharge the duties assigned them. In making said valuation said commissioners, or a majority of them, shall take into consideration the loss or damage which may occur to the owner or owners in consequence of the land being taken or the right of way obstructed; and also, the benefit and advantage that such owner or owners may receive from the establishment of said road, and the excess of loss or damage over and above the benefit and advantage shall form the measure of damages. The proceedings of said commissioners, accompanied with a description and plat of said land, shall be returned under the hands and seals of said commissioners to the court whence the commission issued, there to remain of record; and the lands or rights of way shall vest in said company in fee-simple upon payment or tender of the amount of the valuation ; and in case the said rail-road company, or the owners of the soil or right of way shall be dissatisfied, an appeal may be taken to the superior court of the county where the land lies, or the right of way exists, and the award of damages may be traversed before a special jury, and their finding shall be final and conclusive between the parties.

Measure of damages.

Return.

227. Sec X. The said Western Rail-road Company shall have the sole and exclusive right of transportation and conveyance of persons, produce, merchandise and all other things over and along said rail-road, to be by them constructed, as long as they shall see fit to exercise such sole and exclusive right. And the said company, in the exercise of their right of carriage and transportation shall be regarded as common carriers, and be liable as such ; and said company shall be authorized to fix, by by-laws, the charges and rates of transportation and carriage on said rail-road : Provided, said rates shall not exceed the sum of three-fourths of a cent per mile for every hundred pounds on heavy articles, and four cents per cubic foot for every twenty-five miles on other articles, and five cents per mile for every passenger. And said rail-road company shall be authorized to make all by-laws and regulations touching said road and the uses and business thereof, which may be deemed expedient : Provided, the same be not repugnant to the provisions of this charter, nor to the laws and constitution of this State or of the United States.

228. Sec XI. Said rail-road company shall construct the rail-road authorized by this act, beginning at the town of Forsyth, in Monroe county, at or near the point at which the rail-road authorized by an act of the general assembly of 1833, between Macon and Forsyth, shall terminate. Thence running by the best and most eligible route to the town of West Point, on the Chattahoochie river, in Troup county, by way of Zebulon in Pike county, Greeneville in Merriwether county and La Grange in Troup county, or to some convenient place in the neighborhood of West Point, and as far as the boundary line between Georgia and Alabama, if it shall be found expedient to carry it to said boundary line : and the sole and exclusive right to make, keep up and use a rail-road along the route, and between the points above indicated, shall be vested in said company for and during the term of forty years, to be computed from the time when said rail-road shall be completed through the whole distance from Forsyth to West Point. But after the expiration of said forty years, although the exclusive right above granted shall then cease, yet said company shall continue incorporate and entitled to keep up and use said road by them to be built, for the transportation of persons and things for hire and gain, and the legislature may renew and extend said exclusive right on such terms as may be prescribed by law and accepted by said company : Provided, that this or any future legislature shall have the right, by any act of legislation, to authorize the crossing the aforesaid rail-road, at any place or places that may be selected for the erection of other rail-roads : Provided, nothing contained in this act shall be so construed as to prevent the construction of a rail-road from Columbus to, or near, West Point.

229. Sec. XII. In case $400,000 of the stock of said company shall not be taken within two years after the passage of this act, and the work be commenced within one year thereafter and completed within three years thereafter, then the privileges and rights granted by this act are to be forfeit and lost to said company.

230. Sec. XIII. All trespasses and intrusions on said road of an Appeal.

Exclusive right of transportation.

Common carriers.

Maximum of rates.

By-laws and regulations.

Route of the road.

Exclusive right for 40 years from its completion.

Subsequent rights.

$400,000 of the stock must be taken within 2 yrs, and the road com. within 1 and finished within 3 yrs. thereafter.

Intrusions—fine and imprisonment.
Willful and malicious destruction or damage,

Penitentiary
4 years and
civ. damages.

General powers of the direction.

Calls for instalments.

Forfeiture.

Scrip.

Certificates.
Stock transferable.

No one person to take more than 100 shares.
Not to prevent the construction of common roads.

injurious intent or tendency, shall be a misdemeanor, and on conviction in the superior court, shall be punishable by fine or imprisonment in the common jail of the county. And if any person shall wilfully and maliciously destroy, or in any manner hurt, damage or obstruct, or shall wilfully and maliciously cause, or aid and assist, or counsel and advise any other person or persons to destroy, or in any manner hurt, damage or obstruct the said rail-road, or any bridge, vehicle, edifice, right or privilege connected therewith, such person so offending, shall be liable to damages on the civil side of the court, and shall also be liable to be indicted, and on conviction, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary for a term not less than four years; the one half of the fines imposed by the court under this act shall go to the prosecutor, and the other half to the company.

231. Sec. XIV. The power of making the by-laws, and of appointing such officers, agents and servants as the business of the company may require, and of entering into contracts in its behalf and controlling generally its affairs, shall be exercised by the president and directors of said company.

Sec. XV. After the company chartered by this act shall be organized, the president and directors thereof shall be authorized from time to time to call on the stockholders for the payment of such instalments on the shares subscribed as they may deem necessary and expedient for the prosecution and completion of the aforesaid rail-road and the works therewith connected, until the whole of the stock subscribed shall be paid in. And the board of directors shall give ninety days' notice in the Macon gazettes, by publication once a month, of the amount of the instalments so required to be paid, and the time of payment. And a failure on the part of any stockholder to pay up any one of the instalments so required to be paid as aforesaid, shall induce a forfeiture of the share or shares on which such default is made, and of all past payments thereon; and the same shall rest in and belong to said company, and may be appropriated, as they shall see fit, to the purposes for which the company is chartered.

232. Sec. XVI. It shall be the duty of the president and directors, as soon as may be after the organization of the company, to issue to each subscriber scrip, or certificates of the stock held by him, and of the amount paid thereon; and the shares of said stock, held by any person, shall be assignable and transferable in law; and the board of directors shall and may by by-law regulate the mode of issuing certificates and making transfers of stock: provided, that no one person or company shall be allowed to subscribe for more than one hundred shares: provided, that nothing contained in the foregoing charter shall be so construed as to prevent the construction of all such roads as shall be ordered by the inferior courts of the counties through which said rail-road shall pass.

An Act to be entitled an act to incorporate the Iron Steam-boat Company with powers of Insurance.—Approved December 22, 1835. Pam. 271.

Whereas certain individuals, residing in the cities of Augusta and Savannah, have associated for the purpose of conducting a carrying trade by steam and other boats, and to enable them more advantageously to transact said business, have applied to this general assembly for an act of incorporation; and whereas similar incorporations heretofore granted for like purposes have been found useful to the public—

233. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That Amory Sibley, Gasaway B.

Lamar, John Bones, Moses Roff, Charles Lippitt, John M. Adams, David W. St. John, James Hubbard, William P. Rathbone, Samuel D. Corbitt, David L. Adams, and their associates, now connected in the business aforesaid, and their successors, shall be, and they are hereby constituted a body politic and corporate, by the name and style of "The Iron Steam-boat Company;" and by that name and style may sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, in any court of law or equity; may have and use a common seal, and break, alter or renew the same at pleasure; may make such by-laws, rules and regulations as the stockholders and directors may deem necessary or expedient: provided, the same be not contrary to the constitution or laws of this State or of the United States; and may hold, purchase, receive, retain, enjoy, sell and transfer real and personal property, of such description as the necessity of their business may require: provided, that the law regulating common carriers, now in force, shall apply to said corporation.

Powers.

May buy, hold, and sell necessary property. Shall be common carriers.

Capital $100,000.

234. Sec. II. The capital stock of said company shall consist of one thousand shares of one hundred dollars each, which shall be held by the present members of the company, and their assigns, in the respective proportions already fixed among themselves, and for which the proper officers of said company shall issue certificates, in the manner to be provided by their by-laws.

235. Sec. III. By a vote of the holders of two-thirds of the whole capital stock, at any meeting regularly called for the purpose, the stock of said company may, from time to time, be increased, by the creation of new stock, of one hundred dollars per share, as said stockholders may find it expedient: provided, that the whole amount of capital stock shall never exceed four hundred thousand dollars.

May be increased to $400,000.

236. Sec. IV. The said company shall be authorized, by steam-boats of any description, and by other boats or vessels, as they may find it convenient, to navigate, for the transportation of freight or passengers, or both, any of the waters of Georgia, in common with other companies and private individuals; and they shall also be authorized to insure against loss or damage by fire, or by any and all risks whatever, by seas or in inland navigation, of such goods, wares and merchandize, as may be shipped on said boats or vessels.

May navigate the waters of the State, and insure goods.

237. Sec. V. The business of said company shall be conducted and managed by twelve directors, of whom seven shall be resident in Augusta, and five in Savannah; to be elected annually, on the first Monday in February, by the stockholders, under the restrictions and according to the scale of voting hereinafter provided. Said directors shall serve till the next annual election, and if from any cause such election shall not be holden on the day appointed, it may be holden on any subsequent day, on notice being given for at least twenty days in one or more of the public gazettes of both Augusta and Savannah; and until such election is holden, and the new directors accept their appointment, the former board shall continue in office.

Twelve directors elected annually.

Lapsed elections.

238. Sec. VI. In the election of directors no person shall vote as the holder of any shares of stock except such as he has held for three calendar months previous to the election, and the scale of voting shall be as follows:

Shares must be held three months before the election.

For each share of stock, under five, one vote; for every two shares, from five to nineteen, one vote; for every five shares, above nineteen, one vote. And any stockholder may, by written authority, empower any other stockholder to vote in any election as his proxy: provided, that such power shall avail for one election only, and that one for which it is expressly given.

Scale of voting.

Proxies.

239. Sec. VII. No person shall be a director of said company who

Qualification of directors.	is not the holder, in his own right individually, or as member of a mercantile firm, of ten shares of capital stock ; and no person shall be a director who is concerned, directly or indirectly, in any other boating or freighting business, on the same waters with said company.
President.	240. Sec. VIII. The directors of said company, at their first meeting after each annual election, shall appoint a president from their own number, who shall be president of said company until the first regular meeting of the board of directors next afterwards elected ; and if the president or any director shall cease to be such, the board shall fill the vacancy from the stockholders till the next regular election. The chief management and control of the affairs of the company shall be vested, till otherwise ordered by the stockholders, in the board at Augusta ; but all the directors shall be authorized to sit and vote at any meeting of said board, and in the election of all officers, the directors residing in Savannah may vote by proxy ; and the board sitting at Augusta, may appoint all such officers and regulate their duties and compensation as to them may seem expedient for the interests of the company. The business of the company at Savannah shall be managed by the directors resident there.
Vacancies.
Chief management to be in Augusta.
Proxies of Savannah directors.
Business at Savannah.
Weekly meetings of directors. Minutes. Yeas and nays. Quorum.	241. Sec. IX. The directors at each place shall meet weekly or oftener, and cause regular minutes of their proceedings to be entered in a book kept for that purpose ; and upon the requisition of any member, the yeas and nays of the board, on any question taken there, shall be entered on said minutes ; not less than a majority of the board resident at either place shall constitute a quorum for business.
Meetings of stockholders in Augusta.	242. Sec. X. A majority of the whole board of directors may call a meeting of the stockholders by giving fifteen days' notice thereof in one or more of the public gazettes in each of the cities of Augusta and Savannah ; and any number of stockholders representing two hundred or more shares of the capital stock, shall have the same authority. The officers of the company shall attend said meetings with their books and papers, and give all necessary explanations and information as to the transactions thereof. Such meetings shall be held in Augusta till otherwise ordered by the stockholders ; and in all meetings of stockholders the scale of voting adopted for the election of directors shall prevail, except on the question of increasing the capital, hereinbefore specially provided for.
Scale of voting.
Transfers of stock.	243. Sec. XI. The stock of the company may be transferred on the books of the corporation, and in no other mode whatever, by the stockholders and their legal representatives, in such manner as the regulations of the board of directors may point out.
Semi-annual dividends.	244. Sec. XII. The directors shall, on the first Monday in January and July in each year, make such dividends to the stockholders from the profits of their business as to them may seem expedient : Provided , that they shall in no case encroach upon the capital of said company to make any dividend whatever.
First direction.	245. Sec. XIII. Until the first annual election in February next, the persons now acting as directors of the association shall be the directors of the corporation, with full power to transact all the business and control all the affairs and property thereof.
Stockholders how far individually liable.	246. Sec. XIV. The property of the stockholders shall be bound for all contracts or liabilities made or incurred by said company in proportion to the amount of their stock : and all transfers of stock which may be made within six months previous to the failure of said company, shall not release the property of such stockholder so transferring the same from any liabilities or contracts which were incurred by said company during the time which he, she or they were stockholders.

247. Sec. XV. Said company shall not be entitled to the right of insuring, as herein provided, nor shall said company commence business as insurers until one hundred thousand dollars of the capital stock shall have been paid in. When to commence insuring.

An Act to be entitled an act to incorporate the Macon Steam Boat Company.—Approved Dec. 26, 1835. Pam. 276.

248. Whereas, it is of vast importance to the mercantile and planting interest of this State to encourage the introduction and use of steam-boats on our navigable waters; and whereas, there is now a company formed for navigating the Ocmulgee and Alatomaha rivers, under the name and style of the Macon Steam Boat Company; and whereas, the persons so associated are desirous of being incorporated, Preamble.

Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That James Goddard, Jeremy Stone, Joseph Washburn, George A. Lewis, Don. C. Hawes, Alexander Mitchel, George Collins, Loami Baldwin, Elijah Hendrickson, Charles Campbell, Lebbens Ensworth and John M. Way, with all such persons as now, or may hereafter become associated as stockholders in said company, be, and they are hereby incorporated and made a body politic by the name and style of the "Macon Steam Boat Company," and by that name shall be, and are hereby made able and capable in law to have, purchase and receive, and retain to them and their successors, lands, rents, tenements and hereditaments, goods, chattels and effects of what kind soever, and the same to sell, grant, demise, alien or dispose of; to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, answer and be answered, defend and be defended, in courts of record or any other place whatsoever; to make, have and use a common seal, and the same to break, alter and renew at their pleasure; and also, by such person or persons as a majority of the said stockholders shall appoint for the management of the concerns and business of the said company, to ordain, establish and put in execution such by-laws and regulations as shall seem convenient for the government of said corporation, and to select and appoint all such agents, officers and servants as may be necessary for the discharge of the business of said company, and to fix the compensation and salary of such agents, officers and servants: Provided, said company shall hold no more real estate than is necessary for the purposes herein intended. Macon Steam-boat Company incorporated. Capabilities as to owning property. By-laws. Proviso.

249. Sec. II. If the said corporation shall at any time hereafter deem it advisable to increase their number of steam-boats or tow-boats, for the transportation of merchandize and produce to and from Macon to Darien and Savannah, they shall have power and authority to increase the number of said boats to any extent, and to charge, ask and receive of and from any and all such person or persons as they may carry merchandize or produce for, such fees and compensation therefor as the said corporation or its agents or officers may deem fit, or as may be specified in the bill of lading. May increase the number of their boats and regulate their charges at pleasure.

250. Sec. III. If any person or persons for whom said corporation shall transport merchandize or produce shall refuse to pay such freight or compensation as may be specified in the said bill of lading, (upon said merchandize or produce being tendered to the owner or consignee,) then the said corporation, or its duly authorized agent or officer, shall have full power and authority to retain possession of said merchandize or produce, and after publicly advertising the same for such time as is required by law, may proceed to sell at auction a sufficient quantity of said merchandize or produce to pay the freight due for carrying the amount the bill of lading calls for, and all expenses incurred by adver- Lien on merchandize for freight and charges.

tising and selling, and the balance of the merchandize or produce shall then be delivered to the owner or consignee.

May define their own liability.

251. Sec. IV. Said corporation shall have full power and authority to define and restrain their liability as common carriers for any loss or damage that may be sustained by any merchandize or produce on their boats, by any course whatever, and also to impose such restraints and restrictions as said corporation may deem advisable: Provided, that said corporation shall embody in their bill of lading or receipt such restraints and restrictions as they may impose.

Legislature
may alter or repeal this act.

Rules and by-laws to be put up conspicuously.

252. Sec. V. Any future session of the legislature may alter, modify or repeal this act, as to them may seem fit and proper, and that a copy of this act, and all by-laws, rules and regulations made, ordained or passed in pursuance of this act, shall always be kept in a conspicuous part of every room used and occupied as an agency by the Macon Steam Boat Navigation Company, and on each steam-boat plying by virtue hereof, and upon failure thereof, this charter, and all the privileges herein granted, shall become forfeited.

An Act to incorporate the Ocmulgee Steam Boat Company.—Approved Dec. 26, 1835. Pam. 278.

Ocmulgee
Steam-boat Company incorporated.

Capacity of owning property.

By-laws.

Capital $41,000, may be increased to $100,000.

Stockholders
to appoint either directors or an agent.

Scale of voting.

253. Sec. I. Samuel Palmer, Henry Yonge, Jacob Rokimbaugh, William Frazer, George T. Rogers, Alexander M'Carty, Patrick Gibson, George Hall, William Patterson, Messrs. Winchope, Smith, Rogers & Co., George Jewitt & Co., Rae & Cotton, David Ralston, James C. Morgan, W. B. Parker, David Flanders, Cooke and Cowles, Myrick Napier and Freeman, Z. T. Conner and H. K. Carter, and their successors and assigns be, and they are hereby created and made a body corporate and politic by the name and style of the Ocmulgee Steam Boat Company, and by that name and style are hereby made capable to have, purchase, receive, possess and enjoy lands, tenements, hereditaments, goods, chattels and effects, of what quality, nature and kind soever, to an amount not exceeding the capital stock of said corporation at the time of holding such property, and the same to sell, grant and dispose of, to sue and be sued, implead and be impleaded, answer and defend in all courts and places whatsoever, to make, have and use a common seal, and the same at pleasure to change or alter, and to make all such by-laws, rules and regulations as shall seem necessary for the government of said corporation, or the management of its affairs, not inconsistent with the constitution and laws of this State or of the United States.

254. Sec. II. The capital stock of the said corporation shall be forty-one thousand dollars, with liberty to increase the same to one hundred thousand dollars whenever it shall be deemed expedient by the owners of two-thirds of the stock of said corporation; but no one of the existing stockholders shall be compelled to take any part of the increased stock, but the same may be disposed of as the majority of the stockholders shall determine, each stockholder to be entitled to one vote for every one thousand dollars of stock he, she or they may own, such ownership to be evidenced only by the books of the company.

255. Sec. III. The affairs of said company shall be managed either by six directors, to be chosen by the stockholders at such time and place, and in such manner as the said stockholders may by their by-laws determine, or by an agent or agents to be appointed by the stockholders by vote or resolution, each stockholder being entitled to one vote for each amount of one thousand dollars of said stock held by him, her or them.

256. Sec. IV. The said corporation may enjoy the exclusive use of ^{Wharves.} its own wharf or wharves; but shall not hold any other than may be necessary for the convenient transaction of their own business.

257. Sec. V. The said corporation be authorized to appoint such ^{Officers.} officers, and make them such compensation as they may deem necessary.

258. Sec. VI. The said corporation shall be liable for all losses ^{Liabie for losses.} caused by fire and steam, if occasioned by their own negligence or that of their agents or servants, but not otherwise: provided, that the law ^{Common carriers.} governing carriers, now in force, shall in no wise be altered by this section.

259. Sec. VII. The said corporation shall be authorized to insure ^{May insure.} all property shipped in their boats against risks for which they are not legally liable.

An Act, to authorize the construction of a Rail-Road communication from the Tennessee line, near the Tennessee river, to the point on the Southeastern bank of the Chattahoochee river, most eligible for the running of branch roads, thence to Athens, Madison, Milledgeville, Forsyth, and Columbus; and to appropriate monies therefor.—
Approved Dec. 21, 1836. Pam. 214.

260. Sec. I. A rail-road communication as a State work, and with the funds of the State, shall be made from some point on the Tennessee line,* near the Tennessee river, commencing at or near Rossville, in the most direct and practicable route, to some point on the Southeastern bank of the Chattahoochee river, which shall be most eligible for the extension of branch rail-roads, thence to Athens, Madison, Milledgeville, Forsyth, and Columbus, and to any other points which may be designated by the engineer or engineers, surveying the same, as most proper and practicable, and on which, the legislature may hereafter determine: Provided, that no greater sum than $350,000, shall be appropriated, annually, to the work contemplated by this act, unless ^{$350,000 appropriated annually.} a future legislature shall otherwise direct.

261. Sec. II. A competent engineer shall be forthwith appointed ^{Engineer.} by the governor, whose duty it shall be to make an accurate and instrumental examination, survey, and location of said road, and an estimate of the probable cost, which said engineer shall be authorized and empowered, under the control and direction of the governor, to employ such assistants, surveyors and attendants, as shall be necessary, speedily and effectually to accomplish such survey, and location, and an estimate of the expenses thereof; and the salaries and expenses shall be paid out of the Treasury of this State, for which purpose, the sum of $60,000, be, and the same is hereby appropriated and set apart. ^{Survey and location.}

262. Sec. III. So soon as a report of such survey and location, ^{Superintendent.} and estimate shall have been made by the said engineer, to the executive, if the same shall show the work to be practicable at a reasonable expense, a superintendent shall be appointed by the executive, whose ^{Contracts.} duty it shall be, to advertise for proposals for the construction of said road, or such parts thereof, as shall be determined by said superintendent, under the advice of said engineer, to be first built. And on the receipt of satisfactory proposals, the said superintendent shall accept such of them as shall be most advantageous to the State, and shall ensure the construction thereof, within a time to be allowed by the

* Resolution directing the Governor to ascertain from the Executive of Tennessee on what terms it can be extended to the River, 1836, 3 of Rea.

- superintendent, and shall have authority to require such securities as shall be deemed necessary, to ensure the faithful performance of the contracts : Provided, that the width of the tract of said rail-road, shall be five feet, from the inner edge of one rail, to the inner edge of the other. And be it further enacted, That the sum of $290,000, be, and the same is hereby set apart and appropriated for the year 1837, for the accomplishment of the work contemplated by this act.
- Width of the road. 263. Sec. IV. When funds shall be needed to defray the expenses and cost of the work on said road, or for materials, or for the fulfilment of contracts, the same shall be applied for to the executive, on the certificate of the superintendent, and on the production of said certificate, it shall be the duty of the executive to make a requisition on said fund, for the amount of such certificate.
- Appropriation for 1837.
- Money how to be drawn. 264. Sec. V. It shall be the duty of the said engineer and superintendent, to make quarterly, to the comptroller general, a return of the full amount of their respective disbursements, and to produce their vouchers therefor, and it shall be the duty of said comptroller, to audit such accounts, and to make a full and detailed report thereof at the end of the session.
- Accounting and auditing.
- Right of way. 265. Sec. VI. The engineer and superintendent of the State, shall have full power and authority to treat with any owner of land, or any executor, administrator, or guardian, having the legal custody and management thereof, through which said rail-road may be cut or constructed, or from which, any timber or other material may be taken for the construction of said rail-road, and to fix and agree upon a compensation for the same. And when said engineer and superintendent cannot agree with such owner, so aggrieved, (and in all cases where an executor, administrator or guardian is concerned,) the amount of injury or damage sustained, shall be, in writing submitted to, and shall be adjudged and determined by three arbitrators, sworn to do justice between the State of Georgia and the party so aggrieved, one of whom, shall be chosen by the said engineer and superintendent, one by the other party, and a third, by the two so chosen, or in the event of their disagreement in such choice, by any three or more of the justices of the Inferior court of the county in which such land may lie, either in term time, or vacation ; all which submission, choice, or appointment and award, shall be reduced to writing, and no act, bona fide of any executor, administrator, or guardian, and in conformity with this act, shall in any manner prejudice his, her, or their interest, but shall be binding on the heirs at law, legatees or orphans, with whom he, she, or they may have to account ; and it shall and may be lawful, for the said engineer or superintendent, for, and on behalf of the State, or for the other party, to the award of said arbitrators, to present to them, a written declaration of dissatisfaction therewith, and desire to appeal therefrom, who shall thereupon, transmit forthwith, to the clerk of the Superior court of the county wherein said land may lie, all previous proceedings in the case, together with such appeal, to be tried by a special jury, as in other cases of appeal, without formal pleadings or issue ; which said appeal shall be prosecuted on behalf of the State by the attorney or solicitor general officiating in such court ; and upon presentation to the governor, of any such agreement or award, attested by a justice of the Inferior court of the county, wherein said land may lie, or of a verdict of a special jury in any such Superior court, certified by the clerk thereof, whereby the payment of a sum of money has been accorded, awarded, found, or adjudged, to any individual in the manner herein pointed out, together with a relinquishment of the land, if any were in dispute, it shall be his duty to make a requisition upon the
- Arbitration.
- Appeal.
- Payment of the award.

fund herein before appropriated, in satisfaction of the claim so adjusted. In making the said valuation, the appraisers or the court, (in case of appeal,) shall take into consideration, the loss or damage which may accrue to the owners in consequence of the land being taken, or the right of way, being obstructed: Provided, that no difference or disagreement between the State and any land-holder shall operate by injunction or otherwise, to suspend the progress of said work; but the same shall in all cases be continued without interruption, if such submission to said award shall be tendered by said superintendent, and agent as aforesaid: And provided further, that it do not interfere with the house, mill, or other building, or yard, or grave-yard inclosure, of individuals or churches.

Principles of assessment.

Work not to be enjoined.

Proviso.

266. Sec. VII. Whenever the said rail-road shall intersect any public road, the State shall build a safe and substantial bridge or other means of crossing, to be afterwards maintained by the State, and any public or private bridges may afterwards be built across the said rail-road: Provided, such bridges shall not interrupt the use of the rail-road.

Bridges.

267. Sec. VIII. Any person injuring the property of the State, or who shall unlawfully throw earth, stones, rubbish, logs, trees, or any other matter, in or upon the rail-road, shall be punished by indictment for a misdemeanor, and on conviction may be fined and imprisoned, or fined or imprisoned, at the discretion of the court; and shall also be liable for such damages as may be occasioned thereby, to be recovered by action, at the suit of the State, or of any person aggrieved, in any court having jurisdiction.

Willful injuries of the road.

268. Sec. IX. Said rail-road shall be known and distinguished as the Western and Atlantic Rail Road of the State of Georgia.

Name of the road.

269. Sec. X. And for the encouragement of the construction of branch rail-roads from the terminus of the said State Rail Road on the Chattahoochee, to the several towns of Athens, Madison, Milledgeville, Forsyth and Columbus. Be it further enacted, That so soon as charters shall have been obtained for the construction of said branch rail-roads, or any of them, and one half of the stock shall have been subscribed for, in all or either, it shall be the duty of the governor, to subscribe in the name of the State, for one-fourth of the capital stock, of such company or companies: Provided, that said subscription shall not exceed $200,000 to any one branch: And provided also, that the State shall not be required to pay any part of said subscription, until the whole capital stock of any such companies shall have been subscribed for: Provided also, that nothing in this act shall be so construed, as to prevent the State from authorizing any company, now, or hereafter to be incorporated, to intersect or cross said main trunk, or any branches, with any other road: And further provided, that the tracts of all branch roads, by this act contemplated, shall correspond in width, with that of the main trunk.

State to aid the branches by taking $200,000 of stock.

Main trunk or branches may be crossed.

270. Sec. XI. The said rail-road, shall cross the Chattahoochee river, at some point between Campbellton, in Campbell county, and Wynn's ferry, in Hall county.

Where to cross the Chattahoochee.

271. Sec. XII. The engineer shall, from time to time, at least every three months, report to the governor, the progress of said work, and that he cause the same to be immediately published in the several gazettes of Milledgeville.

Engineer to report his progress.

An Act, to authorize and empower the Brunswick and Florida Rail Road Company, to construct a branch from the said road, from any point on said road, to any point on the Flint or Chattahoochee rivers.—Approved Dec. 24, 1836. Pam. 182.

272. Sec. I. The Brunswick and Florida Rail Road Company shall be, and they are hereby authorized and empowered to construct a rail-road from any point on the Brunswick and Florida Rail Road, to any point on the Flint or Chattahoochee rivers.

273. Sec. II. All the rights, powers, privileges and immunities, secured by law, to the Brunswick and Florida Rail Road Company, shall be, and the same are hereby granted and secured to the branch of said road, thereby authorized to be constructed.

274. Sec. III. For the purpose of completing the Brunswick and Florida Rail Road, and the branch, hereby authorized to be constructed, the capital stock of said company, may be increased to any sum not exceeding five million of dollars.

An Act, to increase the capital stock of Brunswick Canal and Rail Road Company.—Approved Dec. 24, 1836. Pam. 219.

275. From and immediately after the passage of this act, the Brunswick Canal and Rail Road Company, be authorized to increase the amount of the capital stock of said company, to $600,000, under the same rules and regulations, as are prescribed in the act granting chartered rights and privileges to Thomas B. King, Stephen C. King, and William W. Hazzard, and their associates, passed the 20th day of December, 1834.

An Act, to amend the acts incorporating the Georgia Rail Road and Banking Company, and the Central Rail Road and Banking Company of Georgia.—Approved Dec. 26, 1836. Pam. 197.

11th sec. of the act of 1833 repealed; and the 15th sec. of the Central R. Road act of 1835 substituted.

276. Sec. I. From and after the passing of this act, the eleventh section of an act approved the 21st day of December, 1833, to incorporate the Georgia Rail Road Company &c. be, and the same is hereby repealed, and that in all cases in which disagreement may exist, or may hereafter arise between individuals or incorporations, and the Georgia Rail Road and Banking Company, as to the right of way or damages to property, the disagreement shall be settled as prescribed in the fifteenth section of an act, to amend the act incorporating the Central Rail Road and Canal Company of Georgia, approved the 14th day of December, 1835.*

No transfers by those indebted to the Geo R. R. Com'y but by consent of the directors.

277. Sec. II. No stockholder of the Georgia Rail Road and Banking Company, indebted to the bank, shall transfer his or her stock, except to the said company, until all debts due said bank by such stockholders, shall be paid unless by consent of the directors, entered upon their minutes.

Books and officers of the Geo R. R. Com'y not to be subpoenaed into court.

278. Sec. III. In no suit or action in any court of this State, in which the Rail Road and Banking Company may be a party, it shall be lawful for the other party or parties, to require said Rail Road and Banking Company to produce the books of said bank into court as evidence, nor shall it be lawful for such party or parties, to require, by subpoena or otherwise, the attendance of any officer of the said bank in court, on the trial of such case, but whenever in any such suit, it may become necessary for the allowment of justice, that evidence contained in such books, or the testimony of such officer should be had, it shall and may be lawful for either party in such cause, requiring such evidence or testimony, to take out a commission in the usual manner, to examine the officers of the said bank as to the contents of the said books, or as to their own knowledge of the facts, notwithstanding such officer may reside in the county in which said suit may be pending.

* See Sec. 145 of this title.

279. Sec. IV. Nothing in the 4th section of an act, passed on the 14th December, 1835,* to amend an act to incorporate the Central Rail Road and Canal Company of Georgia, shall be so construed as to prevent three directors from constituting a quorum for the transaction of business, during the months of July, August, September and October, in each year: Provided, such members shall constitute a majority of the directors in the city of Savannah, at the time of the meeting of the board, during any of the said months: Provided, that the companies whose charters are amended by this act, shall assent to such alterations.

Three directors of the Cen. R. R. may form a quorum in July, August, Sept. and Oct. Provided.

An Act, to amend an act, entitled an act, to authorize the President, Directors and Company, of the Steam Boat Company of Georgia, to run a Canal or Rail Road, from the city of Augusta, to some point on the Savannah river, so as to avoid the shoals and other obstructions to the navigation of said river, assented to, on the 20th day of December, 1833.—Approved Dec. 28, 1836. Pam. 219.

280. Sec. I. The said president, directors and company, of the Steam Boat Company of Georgia, shall commence to make a canal or rail-road, as authorized by an act passed on the 20th day of December, in the year 1833, the title whereof, is recited in the title of this act, within two years, from and after the first day of January in the year 1837, and shall fully complete and finish the same, within ten years from and after the first day of January, 1837.

Shall commence their work by Jan. 1, 1839, and finish it in 10 years.

281. Sec. II. If the said president, directors and company, shall fail to comply with the requisitions of the first section of this act, or any of them, they shall forfeit all the rights, privileges, and immunities of the act hereby amended.

Or their charter be forfeited.

282. Sec. III. All laws, and parts of laws, militating against this act, are hereby repealed.

An Act, to alter and amend an act, entitled "an act to incorporate the Chattahoochee Rail Road Company," passed the 21st day of December, 1835, and to give to said Company, banking powers and privileges.—Approved Dec. 29, 1836. Pam. 183.

283. Sec. I. For the purpose of constructing, or opening a rail-road communication from Columbus, up and along the course of the river Chattahoochee, as near as conveniently may be, to West Point, and from thence, up and along the course of said river as nearly as may conveniently be, to where the said rail-road shall intersect the main rail-road, expected to be constructed by the State of Georgia, from the Tennessee line at or near Rossville, to said river Chattahoochee, the corporation of the town of Columbus, and such other corporations, and individuals, as that corporation shall associate with it, or such persons who may hereafter become subscribers for stock under the provisions Object of the company.

* Sec. 134.

Incorporated. of this act, and their assigns, shall hereafter be a body corporate, by Style. the name and style of the "Chattahoochee Rail Road and Banking Powers. Company of Georgia;" by the said corporate name, shall be, and are hereby made capable and able in law, to have, purchase, receive, possess, enjoy, and retain, to them and their successors, lands, rents, tenements, hereditaments, goods, chattels, and effects, of whatsoever kind, nature, or quality the same may be, and the same to sell, grant, alien, demise, or dispose of; to sue and be sued; plead and be impleaded; answer and be answered unto; defend and be defended, in courts of record; and also, to make and have a common seal, and the same to break, alter or renew at their pleasure; and also, by and through their board of directors to ordain, establish, and put in execution, such by-laws, rules and regulations, as shall be necessary and convenient for the governing of the said corporation, as to them may, or shall appertain: Provided, such by-laws, rules and regulations, shall not be contrary to the laws and constitution of this State, or of the United States, nor to the rules, regulations, restrictions, and limitations herein prescribed. Provided, that said incorporation shall not purchase and hold more real estate than may be necessary and proper for the purpose of laying, building, and sustaining said rail-road, and such as shall have been bona fide mortgaged to it as security, or conveyed to it, in satisfaction of debts previously contracted in the course of its dealings, or purchased at sales, upon judgments which shall have been obtained for such debts.

Capacity of holding property.

Capital
$2,000,000;

one-fourth reserved to the State.

Half to be applied to banking, and 25 per cent. of that to be in specie.

Opening books.

Consolidating the subscriptions.

284. Sec. II. The stock of the company shall consist of $2,000,000, in shares of $100 each; and that the said company be formed on that capital, whereof one-fourth part shall be reserved for the State of Georgia, which may be subscribed for by the governor under the direction of the legislature, at any time within six months from the passage of this act; of the whole capital, one half may be used for banking purposes, not more, except as is hereinafter provided by the fifth and seventh sections of this act, before the completion of the work, when any capital stock employed may be used in addition for banking purposes: Provided, that twenty-five per centum of each instalment, to be used for banking purposes, be paid in specie.

285. Sec. III. Books of subscription to the stock of said company, shall be opened at such time and places as shall be appointed by the corporation of Columbus, and shall remain open at each place, for the space of two days, giving at least thirty days' notice in the three public gazettes of Columbus; and, on the opening of said books, the commissioners to be appointed for that purpose, by said corporation of Columbus, shall require, under seal, the sum of twenty-five dollars for each share to be subscribed; and on closing the books of subscription, the commissioners for places other than Columbus, shall forthwith transmit the books of subscription and money by them respectively received, to the commissioners at Columbus, who shall consolidate all the subscriptions; and if, on consolidation, a greater number of shares than twenty-two thousand seven hundred and fifty shall have been subscribed for, it shall be the duty of the said commissioners to scale down from the subscribers having the greatest number of shares, until the number left, shall be precisely twenty-two thousand seven hundred and fifty. And should the one-fourth part of said stock reserved, not be taken by the State, within the time stipulated, the same may be disposed of at any time thereafter, in such manner as a majority of the directors for the time being may order and direct.

286. Sec. IV. For the well ordering the affairs of the said corporation, there shall be seven directors, to be chosen by the stockholders or proprietors of the capital stock of the said company, at a time and place to be designated by the commissioners at Columbus, after they shall have received twenty-five per centum on the amount subscribed, and after thirty days' notice of such election shall have been given in the gazettes of Columbus, when a majority of all the votes given in, shall be necessary to make a choice; and those who shall be chosen be capable of serving as directors, until the first Monday of January next ensuing the time of such election; when, and on which day in every ensuing year, thereafter, a like election for directors shall be had and held, and the said directors, at their first meeting after such election, shall choose by a vote, of at least a majority of the board of directors, one of their number as president: in case of his death, resignation, or permanent removal from this State, or from the board of directors, the said directors, shall proceed in like manner to fill the vacancy by a new election for the remainder of the term for which he shall have been elected; and if, from any cause, it should so happen, that an election of directors should not be made on the day, when, pursuant to this act, it ought to have been made, the same may be lawfully made on any other day, to be provided for by the by-laws of said corporation; and in case of the death or resignation of a director, or vacancy in the board from any other cause, such vacancy shall, and may be filled up by an election to be had at the first meeting of the board, after the occurrence of such vacancy, by the remaining directors. And if from any cause or casualty the board of directors shall be reduced to a number less than four, it shall and may be lawful, for the remaining directors to order an election to be had after thirty days' notice by the stockholders, to supply such vacancy, and make up the full board for the remainder of the term; and in case the State shall subscribe for the stock so as aforesaid reserved, then there shall be an additional number of four directors, who shall be annually appointed in such manner as the legislature shall order and direct.

287. Sec. V. That the directors who shall, in manner aforesaid, be first elected, shall so soon as the board shall have been organized, receive from the said commissioners, the money received by them from the stockholders as aforesaid, and shall immediately thereafter, prepare and in good faith, proceed to lay, build, and erect a rail-road communication from the city of Columbus, up and along the course of the river Chattahoochee, as near as conveniently may be to West Point, and from thence up and along the course of said river, or as near as may be convenient, until it shall intersect the main rail-road contemplated to be erected by the State, from the Tennessee line, at or near Rossville to said river Chattahoochee; and should said main rail-road not be erected, then the said company shall have the right to terminate their said rail-road at such a point, on or near said river, as they may deem best, not south of West Point; and for this purpose, the said directors shall appropriate and apply, of the money so received on subscription, at least the sum of $200,000, and shall commence banking operations, and may apply and appropriate to that purpose, the remainder of the money so received on subscription, and also such money as may be paid by the stockholders in advance of a call: Provided, nothing contained in this act, shall be so construed, as to authorize said company to apply more than one half of their stock, to banking purposes, until the completion of the rail-road.

288. Sec. VI. The directors for the time being, shall have power to choose and appoint a subordinate board of directors to be called the board of works to conduct the work on said rail-road, and to supervise the accounts thereof, and to vest in such board, such persons [powers]

Seven directors to be ann. chosen after 30 days' notice.

President.

Vacancy of president.

Lapsed elections.

Vacancy in the direction.

Four State directors.

Shall proceed to construct the road.

If the State road should not be made, this road may terminate at West Point.

Application of moneys.

Board of works.

Cashier and other officers.
Compensation.

General powers of the direction.

Calling in of instalments.

Forfeiture for default.

Sixty days' notice.
Not more than $10 per share quarter yearly, and not between July and November.
Payments in advance.

Issue and transfer of stock.

Authentication of contracts.

Books and papers to be open to inspection.

Ten per cent. interest on failure to meet its contracts.

as may be necessary to enable it to accomplish the purpose of its appointment; and shall have further power to appoint a cashier and such other officers as shall be necessary for executing the business of the said corporation, and to allow to them and to the president, and if deemed advisable, to the members of the board of works appointed, such compensation for their services respectively, as shall be reasonable, and the said principal board of directors, shall be capable of exercising such powers and authority for the well governing and ordering the affairs of the said corporation, as to them shall appear conducive to the interest of the same.

289. Sec. VII. The board of directors shall have power to call in such further and other instalments on the capital stock subscribed, as it shall think proper; and on failure of any stockholder to pay any instalment so called in, within the time appointed for the payment thereof, shall operate a forfeiture of the share or shares on which such failure to pay shall have been incurred; the share or shares, so forfeited, and all payments theretofore made, shall accrue to the benefit of the said corporation, to be disposed of as the said directors shall order and provide: Provided, that sixty days' previous notice shall be given, and that not more than ten dollars on each share shall be called in at any one time, and that not more than one instalment shall be called in, within any three months, and that no call shall be made for any such instalment to be paid between the first day of July and the first day of November of any year; and it shall be lawful for the said board of directors at any time, to receive in advance of a call, from any stockholder desirous to pay either instalments, or full payment of subscriptions therefor; and when any instalment shall be so paid in advance, the same may be used in banking purposes until the same shall be due on any call for instalments, and whilst so used in banking purposes, the same shall be deemed a part of the capital stock of said company and for banking purposes, and shall entitle the proprietor thereof to dividends as such, accorded by the provisions of the seventh rule hereinafter established.

290. Sec. VIII. Certificates of stock shall be issued signed by the cashier, and may be transferred in such manner as the directors may, by their by-laws, order and direct.

291. Sec. IX. The bills obligatory and of credit, notes and other contracts whatever, on behalf of said corporation, shall be binding and obligatory on said corporation: Provided, the same be signed by the president, and countersigned by the cashier of said company; and funds of the corporation shall in no case be held liable for any contract or engagement whatever, unless the same shall be so signed and countersigned as aforesaid, (except for such checks or bills of exchange as shall be made or endorsed,) by the cashier or president thereof, in course of the business of said company, and except for such contracts as shall be made by the board of works or other agents duly appointed under such rules and regulations as shall be prescribed by the by-laws of the same; and the books, papers and correspondence, and the funds of the corporation shall at all times be subject to the inspection of the board of directors and stockholders when convened according to the provisions of this act.

292. Sec. X. The said corporation shall not at any time, suspend or refuse payment in gold or silver, of any of its notes, bills, or obligations; and if the said corporation shall at any time refuse or neglect to pay on demand, any bill, note or obligation issued by the corporation, according to the contract, promise or undertaking therein expressed, to the person or persons entitled to receive the same, then, and in any such case, the holder of any such note, bill or obligation, shall respectively be entitled to receive and recover interest on the same, until the same shall be fully paid and satisfied, at the rate of ten per cent. per annum, from the time of such demand as aforesaid.

293. Sec. XI. Whenever a demand shall be made on this bank, by any bank or branch bank, the bank shall have the right of redeeming the bills thus demanded, with the bills of the bank, or its branches, making the demand. Other banks may be paid in their own bills.

294. Sec. XII. The following rules, regulations, limitations, and provisions, shall form the fundamental articles of the constitution of the said corporation : Rules.

Rule 1. The number of votes, to which each stockholder shall be entitled, shall be according to the number of shares he shall hold, in the following proportion, viz. : For one share, one vote; for two shares, and not exceeding five, two votes; for every five shares, above five, one vote : Provided, that no person or body politic, shall be entitled in his, her, or their own right, to more than sixty votes, and after the first election, no share shall confer a right of suffrage, which shall not have been holden according to the rules of the company, three calendar months previous to the day of election. Scale of votes. Maximum, 60 votes. Stock must be held three months.

Rule 2. None but a stockholder, in his own right, of twenty shares and being a resident of this State, and not being a director of any other bank, shall be eligible as a director; and if any one of the directors, after being elected, shall at any time during the term for which he shall have been chosen, cease to be a stockholder in that number of shares, his seat shall thereupon become vacated. Qualification of directors.

Rule 3. Not less than four, and in case of the appointment of directors on the part of the State, not less than six directors shall constitute a board for the transaction of business, of whom the president shall always be one, except in case of sickness or necessary absence, in which case, his seat shall be supplied by any director appointed by the board present for that purpose : Provided, that the bill or exchange business of the bank, may be transacted by a committee of directors, not less than three, of whom the president shall always be one, except in case of sickness or necessary absence, in which case, the president or the committee may nominate a director to supply his place in such committee, and all business done by such bill or exchange committee, shall be by the unanimous vote of such committee, and shall be entered on the minutes of said company by the cashier, and by him reported to the next regular meeting of the board of directors. Quorum of directors. President pro tem. Exchange committee.

Rule 4. A number of stockholders not less than thirty, who together shall be proprietors of one thousand shares or more, shall have power at any time to call a meeting of stockholders for purposes relative to the institution, giving at least thirty days' notice in one or more of the gazettes of Columbus, specifying in such notice, the object of such meeting. 1,000 shares may call a meeting of stockholders.

Rule 5. The cashier and other officers of said company, before they enter upon the duties of their respective offices, shall give bond with two or more securities, to the satisfaction of the board of directors, in such sums as shall be required by the board, with condition for good behavior, and the faithful discharge of their respective duties, and all other duties required of them. Official bonds.

Rule 6. The total amount of debts which the said corporation shall at any time owe, either by bill, bond, note, contract or otherwise, shall not exceed three times the amount of capital stock actually paid in, and by this act authorized to be used and appropriated to banking purposes, and any special deposit which shall be received by the said May owe three times the amount paid in.

company for safe keeping, whether of specie or other things shall be held for the use of the depositor at his risk.

Dividends.

Rule 7. Dividends of the profits of the capital stock used in banking purposes, or of so much as may be prudent, shall be declared and paid half yearly, after the first six months, if the condition of the company warrant it, until the road shall yield a profit when, and in which case, that profit may also, in like manner, be divided, and such dividend shall from time to time be determined by a majority of the directors, at a meeting to be held for that purpose, and in no case shall exceed the amount of the net profits actually acquired by the corporation, so that the capital stock thereof, shall never be impaired.

Minutes.

Rule 8. The directors shall cause to be kept, fair and regular entries, in a book to be provided for that purpose, of their proceedings, and on any question, when one director shall require it, the yeas and nays of the directors voting, shall be recorded in such book, and those minutes be at all times, on demand produced to the stockholders at their general meetings.

Yeas and nays.

Instalments, how in future

Rule 9. After the said company shall have been organized, measures shall immediately be taken to accomplish the purpose of the railroad aforesaid; and no further instalments shall be called in, to be used for banking purposes, until there shall have been called in, used, and applied on the said road instalments amounting, in addition to the two hundred thousand dollars aforesaid, to the sum of five hundred thousand dollars, for the purposes of the road; but the said company may use for banking, whatever sums may be voluntarily advanced by the stockholders, until instalments are called in; and all instalments thereafter called in, shall be appropriated in the ratio of at least one half to the uses of the said road, and the remainder may be, in the discretion of the board of directors, appropriated to banking purposes.

to be called in, and applied to the bank and the road respectively.

Rule 10. The said company shall appropriate and apply the sum of two hundred thousand dollars, of the sum paid in at the time of subscription, to the running a rail-road communication as hereinbefore provided, and shall also apply all sums or instalments thereafter called in, to the same purpose, until the amount of five hundred thousand dollars shall have been applied and appropriated on said road. And after the application as aforesaid, of the sum of five hundred thousand dollars, there shall be applied and appropriated to the purposes of the said road, at least one half of the amount of all further instalments called in, until the road shall be completed from Columbus, as aforesaid, and the necessary engines, cars, &c. are procured.

The enterprise to be steadily prosecuted in good faith.

Rule 11. The undertaking of the said company to erect the said road, and to put it in complete order for the transportation of merchandise, and passengers, and to supply it with all necessary cars, engines, and necessary apparatus, conveniences and services, shall be [at] all times, until the same shall be complete, in good faith, in a state of progress, and the funds of the said company shall not be diverted from this purpose except in so far as is allowed for banking purposes by this act.

Not more than two-thirds of the funds to be devoted to the rail-road.

Rule 12. Until the completion of said road from Columbus as aforesaid, the funds of said company appropriated to said work, shall on no account be used for banking purposes, nor shall that appropriated to banking purposes be used for the road, unless the directors shall be of opinion that it would be more for the interest of the company so to use it than in banking purposes: provided, that said company shall always reserve for banking purposes, an amount of capital, equal to one third, at the least, of the amount it may have in circulation.

295. Sec. XIII. The said corporation be, and it is hereby authorized and empowered to make, construct, and maintain, a rail-road for the transportation of produce, merchandize, and passengers, of suitable width, depth and dimensions, in the most cheap, proper, and practicable course, from the city of Columbus as aforesaid, paying to the owners of land through which the same may pass, a just indemnity, to be ascertained as hereinafter provided for, for the value of the land covered by the railway, and for three hundred feet on each side of the same, or so much of that quantity as the said corporation may require, for the procurement therefrom, of timber, earth, stones, and other materials, and for the construction thereon of toll houses, slips, depots, wells, cisterns, pumps and other necessary and proper works, and purposes; and whenever any person shall own land on both sides the rail-road at any point, the company shall be bound to suffer such owner to construct for his own convenience, such road or bridge across said rail-road as may not obstruct or incommode the passage or free travel on or along the said rail-road, except by such bridge without the express permission of such corporation.

Description of the road.Private bridges.

296. Sec. XIV. When any person shall feel himself aggrieved or injured by the said rail-road being carried through his land, or by the use of timber or other materials from any lands in the neighborhood of said road, or by any other works of the company, or when the said company cannot agree with any person through, or on whose land the said railway or appendages shall be conducted, or from whose lands, timber or other materials shall be taken for the use of the said road, as to the damage sustained, the amount of such damage or injury shall be ascertained and determined by the written award of three sworn appraisers, all of whom shall be disinterested freeholders of the county where the land in dispute lies, to be chosen, one by the company, one by such owner, if he shall think proper, and one by the inferior court of the county where the land lies, or by any three of the justices of said court in vacation; but if such owner shall decline to appoint an appraiser, then two to be appointed by the inferior court, or three justices thereof in vacation as aforesaid, and one by the said company, the award of a majority of whom, in writing, shall operate as a judgment for the amount against the company, and shall be enforced by an execution from the inferior court, with the right of appeal to either party to be tried by a special jury as other appeals, at the next term thereafter of the superior court of said county, and the decision in either case, shall vest in the company, the fee simple of the land in question, and in the other party a judgment for its value thus ascertained, which may be enforced by the ordinary process of said court, but the same shall in all cases be continued without interruption, on adequate security being required of, and given by said company: and provided also, that it do not interfere with the house, mill or other building, or yard inclosure of individuals: provided, that nothing in the above section shall so be construed as to authorize the appraisers to make any estimate or valuation, by which the landholder shall become indebted to the corporation: provided, five days' notice shall be given to the owner of such land, of the time and place of trial.

Right of way.

Arbitration.

Appeal.

Works to continue on security being given.
Provisions.

297. Sec. XV. Whenever the said rail-road shall intersect any public road, the company shall be bound to build a safe and substantial bridge or other means of crossing, to be afterwards maintained by the company, and any public or private bridges may at any time be built across the said rail-road: provided, such bridges shall not obstruct or incommode the use of the said rail-road, or subject the said company to any damage or expense.

Bridges at intersections of public roads.

298. Sec. XVI. The directors for the time being, shall have power

Employment of artists, &c.	to employ artists, managers and laborers, and appoint such officers as shall be necessary for executing the business of the company, and to allow them reasonable compensation for their services, and shall be capable of exercising all such other powers and authorities for the well governing and ordering the affairs of said company.
General powers of the direction.
Taxes.	299. Sec. XVII. The said rail-road and appurtenances of the same, shall not be subject to be taxed higher than one half of one per centum upon its annual net income, and no municipal or other corporation shall have power to tax the stock of said company, but may tax any property, real or personal, of the said company, within the jurisdiction of the said corporation in the ratio of taxation of like property.
Wanton injuries to the road or works.	300. Sec. XVIII. Any person injuring the property of said company, or who shall throw earth, stones, trees, rubbish, logs, or other matter or thing whatsoever, in or upon the rail-road or its appurtenances, shall be punished by indictment, as for a misdemeanor, and on conviction may be fined and imprisoned at the discretion of the court, and shall also be liable for such damages as may be occasioned thereby, to be recovered by action, at the suit of said company, or of any person aggrieved thereby, in any court having jurisdiction.
Tolls.	301. Sec. XIX. The said company shall be entitled to the exclusive use of the said rail-road, with their cars or other modes of conveyance, and if the said company shall permit or suffer others to use the same, the said company shall be entitled and empowered to receive and collect tolls on all and every vehicle of whatsoever character or denomination; and all other things which by the regulations of said company, shall, or may be allowed to pass on the said rail-road; and that for the collection of tolls, the said company, or its proper officers, may stop and detain all vehicles, or produce, or merchandize using said rail-road, until the owners or carriers thereof shall pay the toll that shall be fixed by the said company; and also, shall have power to regulate the form, weight, and all particulars of any and all such vehicles or cars so allowed to be used thereon; and any vehicles or cars used on such road without license from said company, or having such license and not conforming to the regulations of the company, may be seized and shall be forfeited to the said company, and if any owner, shipper, supercargo, carrier or other person in charge of any vehicle or car shall pass by any place appointed for receiving tolls, without making payment thereof, he, she, or they, so offending, shall forfeit and pay for each offence, the sum of twenty-five dollars, to be sued for and recovered by action of debt in the manner, and subject to the same rules and regulations as debts under thirty dollars are now recovered, and costs of suit.
Stoppage for payment.
Regulations.
Remedies of the com'y to compel obedience to the rules, &c.
Principal office and branches.	302. Sec. XX. The principal office and bank, shall be located in the city of Columbus, and that it may establish one, or more branches at such place or places, as a majority of the directors may determine.
May cross rivers, &c.	303. Sec. XXI. Said company shall have full power and authority to carry said rail-road over and across all or any rivers, creeks, waters or water-courses that may be in the route thereof, or any branch thereof, by any suitable bridges or other means: provided , that when such rail-road shall cross any navigable water-course, that the same shall not be so constructed as to impede the navigation thereof.
Shall be commenced within 2, and finished within 8 years.	304. Sec. XXII. The rail-road authorized by this act, and the act of which this is an amendment, shall be commenced within two years after the passage of this act, and shall be finished within eight years after the passage of this act, and on failure thereof, the charter hereby granted, shall be forfeited.
	305. Sec. XXIII. The exclusive right granted by this act, and the one of which this is an amendment, to the Chattahoochee Rail-road and Banking Company, to construct, keep up, and use a rail-road from the city of Columbus as aforesaid, and the banking privileges hereby granted, shall be, and continue for and during the term of twenty-five years, to be computed from the time fixed by this act for the completion of the works authorized by this act; and after the expiration of said term of twenty-five years, the legislature may authorize the construction of other rail-roads or canals along said route or any part thereof: provided nevertheless, that the Columbus Rail-road and Banking Company shall, after the lapse of said twenty-five years, be and remain incorporate and vested, as to their own works, with all the estates, rights, and privileges, and powers by this act granted and secured, except the exclusive right aforesaid, and except the banking privileges hereby granted; but the legislature may renew and extend that exclusive right, upon such terms as may be prescribed by law, and be accepted by said incorporated company.

Term of the exclusive right, 25 yrs.

Subsequent privileges.

306. Sec. XXIV. The said act of which this is an amendment, shall be in full force, except where it militates against this act.

Former act not conflicting, still in force. Stockholders individually liable in proportion to their shares.

307. Sec. XXV. The persons and property in the said Chattahoochee Rail-road and Banking Company, shall be pledged and bound in proportion to the amount of the value of shares that each individual or company may subscribe for or hold in said company, for the ultimate redemption of the bills or notes issued by and from the said company, in the same manner as common commercial cases, or simple actions of debt.

308. Sec. XXVI. No foreigner, by himself or agent, shall own, possess, or control, in any way, either directly or indirectly, any stock in said company; and in the event of any stock being thus owned, possessed or controlled as aforesaid, the same shall become forfeited to the State of Georgia.

No foreigner to own stock.

309. Sec. XXVII. The said rail-road, and every part of it, and all materials purchased for its construction, and all the locomotives of said company, and every species of property owned by the company, shall be pledged, in the first place, for the payment of their banking operations, on one half of the capital, set aside for banking purposes.

Rail-road pledged first for banking liabilities.

310. Sec. XXVIII. Nothing in this act shall be so construed, as to prevent any future legislature, from permitting any future company, now or hereafter to be incorporated, to join, or cross said road.

This road may be joined or crossed by others.

An Act, to grant Thomas Spaulding, Esq. Lewis A. Bond, Charles Day, James R. Butts and Alexander Shotwell, the right of constructing a rail-road from the Flint, to the Chattahoochee river, with certain privileges.—Approved Dec. 30th, 1836. Pam. 195.

311. Sec. I. Thomas Spaulding, Esq. Lewis A. Bond, Charles Day, James R. Butts, and Alexander Shotwell, be authorized to construct a rail-road from the Flint, to the Chattahoochee river, commencing at Flint river in the fourteenth district of Lee county, opposite the termination of the surveyed route of Thomas Spaulding's Rail-road from the Ocmulgee to Flint river, and extending to the town of Fort Gains, in Early county.

Commencement and termination of the road.

312. Sec. II. The said Thomas Spaulding, Lewis A. Bond, Charles Day, James R. Butts and Alexander Shotwell, shall have power to purchase in fee simple, such lands as may be necessary and proper for the constructing, completing, and use of said rail-road, and in case of disagreement as to the price of the lands so taken, between the drawer or owners thereof and the said Thomas Spaulding, Lewis A. Bond, Charles

May purchase or arbitrate the right of way.

- Appeal. Day, James R. Butts, and Alexander Shotwell, such disagreement is to be determined by the award of three sworn appraisers, to be chosen, one by the land owner, one by the said Thomas Spaulding, Lewis A. Bond, Charles Day, James R. Butts and Alexander Shotwell, and one shall be appointed by the inferior court of the county, with a right of appeal to either party, to be tried by a special jury at the term of the superior court next thereof, to be held in that county, and the decision in whatever way finally made, shall vest in said rail-road company, the fee simple of the land in question, and in the other party, a judgment for its value thus ascertained.
- Incorporated. 313. Sec. III. The said Thomas Spaulding, Lewis A. Bond, Charles Day, James R. Butts, and Alexander Shotwell, be, and they are hereby incorporated a company, entitled the Flint and Chattahoochee Rail-road Company, for the purposes herein mentioned, and are declared capable of suing and being sued; pleading and being impleaded; and of using all necessary and legal measures of procuring and defending the rights, privileges, and immunities, hereby granted to the said company.
- Style.
- Toll. 314. Sec. IV. The said company shall have authority to impose, demand and exact, such rates of charges for the transportation of passengers and freight, as shall be just and equitable, not exceeding the rates of toll charged by the Georgia Rail-road Company.
- To be completed in 10 years. 315. Sec. V. The term of ten years be allowed to the said company to complete the said rail-road, from the passage of this act, and if at the expiration of the time herein specified, the said work shall not have been completed, then, and in such case, this charter of incorporation and all the rights, privileges, and immunities hereby granted, shall cease and be void to all intents and purposes.
- Exclusive right to 30 miles on each side. 316. Sec. VI. There shall be no other rail-road granted or extended between the rivers Chattahoochee and Flint, nearer than twenty-five miles of the road granted by this charter: provided, any road may hereafter cross, or intersect said road.
- Continuance of the charter 30 years. 317. Sec. VII. This charter shall continue thirty years, at the expiration of which, it shall cease, but said company shall continue seized of all the rail-road and appurtenances belonging thereto.
- To be com. in 2, and fin. in 6 years. 318. Sec. VIII. The said rail-road shall be commenced within two years, and be finished within six years after the passing of this act.

An Act, to incorporate a rail-road company, to be called the Middle Branch Rail-road Company, for the purpose of constructing a rail-road, from Madison, in Morgan county, to the Chattahoochee river, by way of Covington, in Newton county.—Approved Dec. 30, 1836. Pam. 198.

- Mid. Branch R. R. Com'y incorporated. 319. Sec. I. John N. Williamson, Isaac P. Henderson, Carey Wood, Iverson L. Graves, William D. Conyers, Jesse L. Baker, Horace J. Bates, Charles H. Sanders, and Joseph S. Anderson, and their associates, successors, and assigns, be, and they are hereby created a body politic, by the name and style of the Middle Branch Rail-road Company, with vested rights and privileges, and by said corporate name and style, shall be capable in law, to purchase, accept, hold, and sell, and convey real and personal estate; make contracts; sue, and be sued; to make by-laws; and to do all lawful acts properly incident and connected with the object of the said corporation.
- Capital $1,500,000. 320. Sec. II. The capital stock of said company, shall be fifteen hundred thousand dollars, divided into shares of one hundred dollars each.

321. Sec. III. It shall and may be lawful for said John N. Williamson, Isaac P. Henderson, Carey Wood, Iverson L. Graves, William D. Conyers, Horace J. Bates, Jesse L. Baker, Charles H. Sanders, and Joseph L. Anderson, and they are hereby authorized and empowered to create the original stock of one and a half millions of dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary to establish the aforesaid company, upon the subscription of one million and a half of dollars, by causing books of subscription to be opened at such places, and in such manner as they may deem most conducive to the obtaining of the stock required to establish the said company, and commence the work.

May open books.

322. Sec. IV. For the organization of the said company so soon as the requisite amount of three thousand shares of the capital stock shall have been subscribed, the commissioners aforesaid, shall appoint a convenient time and place for the meeting of the stockholders in Covington, for the purpose of electing officers, and of doing all, and any necessary acts which may be deemed necessary for the organization and regulation of said company.

Initiatory proceedings.

323. Sec. V. Said company shall possess and enjoy all the rights, immunities, and privileges, which are had possessed, and enjoyed by the Georgia Rail-road and Banking Company, and shall be subject to all the pains, penalties, liabilities, restrictions, limitations, which are incident to, and binding upon the said Georgia Rail-road Company, except as relates to banking privileges. Provided, that if three thousand shares are taken within twelve months from the passing of this act, the charter hereby granted, shall not be forfeited.

Charter of the Geo. R. R. Co. adopted in other respects.

3,000 shares taken within 12 months, saves the charter.

An Act, to amend the charter of the Monroe Rail-road Company, incorporated for the purpose of constructing a rail-road from the city of Macon to the town of Forsyth, in Monroe county; to extend the route of said road in a north-western direction; to alter and change the name of said company; and to confer on said company, banking powers and privileges.—Approved December 10th, 1836. Pam. 200.

324. Sec. I. The stockholders of the Monroe Rail-road Company, and such other persons as shall take stock under the provisions of this act, and their successors and assigns, shall be a body politic and corporate by the name and style of the "Monroe Rail-road and Banking Company," and by said corporate name, shall be capable in law, of contracting and being contracted with; of suing and being sued; and of doing and being bound by all acts and things which said corporation may lawfully do, or be bound by, under this act, or that of which it is amendatory; and shall also, by said corporate name, be entitled to, and vested with all the rights, privileges, powers, and franchises, secured to the Monroe Rail-road Company by its existing charter, of which this act is an amendment, so far as the provisions of said charter shall not be altered or modified by this act, and shall further, by and under said corporate name, be entitled to possess and exercise banking powers and privileges, and carry on the banking business to such an extent and under such regulations and restrictions as are hereinafter prescribed.

Style changed to "Monroe Rail-road and Banking Company."

Powers and privileges.

Banking privilege.

325. Sec. II. The said Monroe Rail-road and Banking Company shall succeed to all rights required and to all liabilities incurred by the Monroe Rail-road Company, whether such rights and liabilities have originated by contract or any other manner, and particularly the said Monroe Rail-road Company shall discharge all the obligations into which the Monroe Rail-road Company have entered, in the same manner as the said last mentioned company would have been liable in law to have done, had this act never been passed; and shall also be fully vested in law and equity, with all the property, rights of ways and other easements and effects, belonging to the Monroe Rail-road Company, and shall be bound to prosecute and finish, within the time and in the manner prescribed by the existing charter, the rail-road which the Monroe Rail-road Company are now constructing, from the city of Macon to the town of Forsyth, in Monroe county.

Succeeds to all the rights and liabilities of the former company.

Capital
$500,000, including the former $300,000.

Half to be applied to the rail-road.

Books for $400,000
when and where to be opened.

326. Sec. III. The capital of the said Monroe Rail-road and Banking Company, shall be six hundred thousand dollars, and shall consist of the two hundred thousand dollars already subscribed as the stock of the Monroe Rail-road Company, on which twenty per cent. has been paid in, and of the further sum of four hundred thousand dollars to be raised by new subscriptions of stock under this act, it having been ascertained by the progress already made in the work, and by the estimate of the engineer of the company, that the entire cost of constructing and equipping said road from Macon to Forsyth, will amount to somewhat over three hundred thousand dollars. And be it further enacted, That one half of the entire capital of six hundred thousand dollars, shall be set apart and applied to the construction of the rail-road, and that the other half of said capital, may be employed in business of banking.

327. Sec. IV. After the passage of this act, the president and directors of the Monroe Rail-road Company, shall cause books of subscription for the aforementioned four hundred thousand dollars of stock to be opened in the following places, first giving twenty days' notice thereof, by the publication in the Macon gazettes; that is to say: in the city of Macon, books shall be opened for subscription of four hundred shares; in the town of Forsyth, for the subscription of five hundred shares; at Cullodensville, in Monroe county, for the subscription of one hundred shares; at Thomaston, for the subscription of two hundred shares; at Zebulon, for the subscription of two hundred shares; at Jackson, in Butts county, for the subscription of two hundred shares; at Covington, for the subscription of two hundred shares; at McDonough, for the subscription of two hundred shares; at Decatur, in De Kalb county, for the subscription of two hundred shares; at Fayetteville, for the subscription of two hundred shares; at Greenville, for the subscription of two hundred shares; at Newnan, for the subscription of two hundred shares; at Knoxville, for the subscription of one hundred shares; at Perry, for the subscription of two hundred shares; at Marion, in Twiggs county, for the subscription of two hundred shares; at Clinton, for the subscription of two hundred shares; at Monticello, for the subscription of two hundred shares; at Lumpkin, Stewart county, for the subscription of two hundred shares; at Sandersville, for the subscription of one hundred shares; at Campbellton, Campbell county, for the subscription of two hundred shares. The said president and directors shall not be bound to keep the books of subscription open at all the various places above mentioned, for a longer space of time than three days from the time specified in their advertisements for opening the books; all the stock not taken within said three days, may afterwards be offered at Macon, and at no other place.

50 per cent.
to be paid at time of subscribing.

328. Sec. V. The said stock shall be divided into shares of one hundred dollars, and no subscription for any share or shares, shall be received or regarded as valid, unless fifty dollars be paid in cash at the time of subscribing, on the share or shares subscribed. And it is also enacted, That the stockholders in the Monroe Rail-road Company, shall, at or before the closing of the books for the abovementioned subscriptions, be required, in addition to the twenty per cent. which they have heretofore paid, to pay such further amounts on their respective shares, as stockholders in the Monroe Rail-road Company, as will make the sum total of payments on said stock, equal to at least fifty dollars on every share thereof.

329. Sec. VI. So soon as the subscriptions of new stock hereinbefore authorized, shall, upon being added to the two hundred thousand dollars of the existing stock of the Monroe Rail-road Company, make the amount of four hundred thousand dollars, upon which fifty per cent. shall have been paid as hereinbefore subscribed, then, and not before, the subscribers for such new stock, and the stockholders of the present Monroe Rail-road and Banking Company may proceed to organize themselves as the Monroe Rail-road and Banking Company under this act, and may enter upon and carry on the business of banking.—And for the purpose of such organization, the president and directors of the Monroe Rail-road Company, shall give to the subscribers and stockholders, twenty days' notice by publication in the Macon gazettes, of the time and place at which the stockholders in the said Monroe Rail-road Company shall meet, to organize said institution and to elect the president and directors thereof; at which time and place, the stockholders voting by ballot, and in person, or by proxy duly authorized in writing, shall proceed to elect for the term of one year, a president and six directors of said company. The votes which each stockholder shall have in said election, and in all elections and votings by the stockholders, shall be equal in number to his shares in the stock of the company.

When sufficient stock shall have been taken and paid in, they may commence banking.

Organization as a banking company.

Each share one vote.

330. Sec. VII. The president of the company shall also be a director, and shall have a vote in the board of directors, and the election of president and directors shall be annual, and the president and directors elected for any one year, shall continue to act, until their successors are chosen, and shall have power to fill all vacancies which may occur, either in the office of president, or the board of directors. The president and directors shall have the appointment of the cashier and other officers of the banking department of said corporation, and of all other officers and agents of said corporation; and the cashier and other officers of the banking department, shall, before entering on their respective offices, give bond for the faithful performance of their duties, in such amount, and with such security as the board of directors may require.

Annual election of president and directors.

Vacancies.

Cashier and other officers.

Official bonds.

331. Sec. VIII. The bills obligatory, and of credit, notes, and all other contracts whatever, in behalf of said corporation, shall be binding and obligatory on said corporation: Provided, the same be signed by the president and countersigned by the cashier of the company; and the funds of said corporation shall in no case be liable for any contract or engagement, unless the same shall be so signed and countersigned as aforesaid, except for such checks or bills of exchange as shall be made or endorsed by the cashier or president in the course of the business of the company, and except for such contracts as shall be made under the authority of the board for work done on the road, and the funds of the corporation shall at all times be subject to the inspection of the stockholders when convened under the provisions of this, or of the act of which this is amendatory.

Authentication of written contracts.

332. Sec. IX. The said corporation shall not at any time suspend or refuse payment in gold or silver coin, of any of its notes, bills, or obligations, and if the said corporation shall at any time, so refuse or neglect to pay upon demand made, and the money being due, then, and in every such case, the holder of such bill, bond, note, or obligation, shall be entitled to interest on the same, at the rate of ten per cent. per annum, in addition to the ordinary legal interest.

Liable to 10 per cent. extra interest on failure to pay in specie, and according to contract.

May owe 3 times the am't of banking capital paid in.

R. R. and ap-portances, and stockholders in proportion to shares held, liable for the bills.

May issue
bills.

Book of minutes.
Yeas and nays.

Dividends,
semi-annually.

Annual meetings of the stockholders.
Ann. reports.

Special meetings on the call of 5,000 shares.

Calling in of instalments.
Gen. powers of the direction.

By-laws.

333. Sec. X. The total amount of debts which said corporation shall at any time owe, whether by bill, bond, note or other contract, shall not exceed three times the amount of capital stock actually paid in, and set apart for banking purposes.

334. Sec. XI. The rail-road to be built by said company from Macon to Forsyth, together with all the revenue arising therefrom, and all the property, equipments, and effects therewith connected, shall be pledged and bound for the redemption of the notes or bills issued by, or from said company, and for the redemption of the same, the private property and individual persons of the stockholders shall likewise be pledged and bound, in proportion to the number of shares held by each, in the same manner as in common commercial cases, or in actions of debt.

335. Sec. XII. So soon as the subscription and payment of stock as hereinbefore prescribed shall have taken place, and the company shall have been fully organized and in the manner directed by this act, then, and not before, the company shall have the right to commence the business of banking, and for that purpose may cause bills and notes to be issued, signed by the president and countersigned by the cashier, as is the usual course of banks in such cases: Provided, that the one half of the capital so paid shall be faithfully set apart and applied to building the road, and the other half, be employed in banking, and so on in like ratio, as to all further instalments that may be called in.

336. Sec. XIII. The directors shall cause fair and regular entries of their proceedings to be kept in a book provided for that purpose, and on any question, if any director shall so require, the yeas and nays of the directors voting, shall be recorded in such book, and those minutes shall at all times be produced on demand, to the stockholders at their general meetings.

337. Sec. XIV. Dividends of the net profits of the stock employed in banking, or so much thereof as may be prudent, shall be declared and paid, half yearly, if the condition of the company shall warrant it, until the road shall yield a profit, when, and in which case, that profit also, shall be divided, and such dividend shall from time to time, be determined by the board of directors, at a meeting to be held for that purpose, and shall in no case exceed the amount of the net profits actually acquired by the corporation, so that the capital stock shall remain unimpaired.

338. Sec. XV. An annual meeting of the stockholders shall be held for the election of president and directors of the company, at which time, the president and directors for the year then expiring, shall make a full report and exhibition to the stockholders, of the affairs of said company, during said year, and any matters and things touching the interests of the company, may be considered and decided on by the stockholders, and special meetings of the stockholders at other times, shall be called by the board of directors, on the application of twenty, or more stockholders, owning five hundred thousand dollars or more of stock.

339. Sec. XVI. The president and directors shall have the power to call in the stock by such instalments as they deem expedient, and to manage and control the business of the company, in all matters; said board itself however, being subject to the control of the stockholders, expressed in a meeting of the stockholders, duly held. The board shall also have power to pass all needful by-laws: Provided, the same be not in conflict with the charter of the company, nor with the laws of the land.

340. Sec. XVII. In case the rail-road from Macon to Forsyth shall not be completed in the space of two years after the passage of this act, then and in that case, their banking privileges granted by this act shall be forfeited, and shall thenceforth cease and determine, and in the event of the completion of said road, within said two years, then, and in that case, the banking privileges hereby granted, shall be, and continue to said company for and during the term of twenty-five years from the time fixed by this act, for the completion of said road.

Banking privilege granted 25 yrs., if the Forsyth R. R. is finished in 2 years.

341. Sec. XVIII. The said Monroe Rail-road and Banking Company, shall be, and they are hereby authorized to extend their aforesaid rail-road continuously from and beyond Forsyth, in a north-westward direction, to such point near, or on the Chattahoochee river, as shall hereafter be determined on as the southern termination of any rail-road to be constructed by, or under the authority of this State, from the Tennessee line, through the counties of the late Cherokee country, to or near the Chattahoochee, below the mountains, and shall be authorized and empowered, and shall be compelled and obliged to join their said rail-road to any rail-road that may be so hereafter built as aforesaid, so as to admit the continuous travel of cars and vehicles, from the one to the other road.

Road may be extended from Forsyth so as to join the State road.

342. Sec. XIX. For the purpose of constructing the aforesaid extension of said rail-road, from, and beyond Forsyth, in a north-western direction, the said Monroe Rail-road and Banking Company shall be, and they are hereby authorized to make within the time set by this act, for the completion of the road to Forsyth, the necessary enlargement of their capital, and in order to such further enlargement of capital, the president and directors of the Monroe Rail-road and Banking Company shall within the time aforesaid, cause books of subscription to be opened, for the additional subscription of stock, upon like terms with the subscriptions hereinbefore authorized for the new stock of the Monroe Rail-road and Banking Company: Provided, that such enlargement of stock, shall not, in proportion to the length of the extension of the road beyond Forsyth, exceed a rateable proportion to the amount of stock authorized by this act, for the road from Macon to Forsyth: and provided also, that said president and directors of the Monroe Rail-road and Banking Company, shall fix the amount to be paid at the time of subscription of the stock to be taken under this section, at not less than ten per cent. on the amount subscribed, shall afterwards call in payments of stock in such instalments as may be requisite for the speedy completion of such extended road: Provided, that such enlargement of the stock, shall not exceed the sum of one million two hundred thousand dollars: and provided, that when such extension of capital shall be made, the same shall in like manner be appropriated and applied, the one half to the extension of said road, the other half to banking purposes: and provided, that no payments of capital stock shall be received on such enlarged capital, nor instalments called for, unless requisite for the extension, construction, and expedition on said road; and any such payment called for or received, shall be faithfully applied, the one half to the construction of said extended road, the other half, to banking purposes.

And the stock of the company hereafter be proportionally enlarged, but not to exceed $1,200,000.

To be applied in like manner, half each to banking, and to the road.

343. Sec. XX. So soon as a sufficient amount of stock for such extended rail-road shall be subscribed for the construction of such extended road, the subscribers therefor shall become stockholders in the Monroe Rail-road and Banking Company, and said company shall proceed immediately to the construction of the road beyond Forsyth, and shall construct and finish the same in the space of six years, so as to furnish a continued transit of cars from Macon to the north-western termination of the road.

Sub's to be mem. of the present company, and shall proceed immediately to construct the extended road.

To be on the same footing as the present stockholders.

Reservation for the State.

Present charter to be applicable to the extended road.

All unconflicting parts of the old act to be in force.

No one person allowed to subscribe for more than 30 shares.

Other R. R. may cross this.

Branch road from Washington authorized.

Books allowed to be opened in Washington for 2,000 shares.

344. Sec. XXI. The subscribers for the stock, under the provisions of this act for the extension of the road beyond Forsyth, and the subscribers for the stock for the road to Forsyth, shall be placed on the same footing as to dividends, and in all other respects, so soon as the extension of the road beyond Forsyth is completed and put in operation: And it is further enacted, that the State shall be entitled to subscribe for one fourth part of the stock in the extended road, at any time before the subscriptions thereof shall be closed.

345. Sec. XXII. The several laws forming the charter of the Monroe Rail-road and Banking Company, shall be in force, and applicable to the road extended beyond Forsyth, in respect to banking privileges, and in all other respects, in the same manner as they are in force, and applicable as to the road from Forsyth to Macon.

346. Sec. XXIII. The existing charter of the Monroe Rail-road Company, shall continue in force in respect to the Monroe Rail-road and Banking Company, in all matters in which it does not conflict with the provisions of this act.

347. Sec. XXIV. No person shall be allowed to subscribe for more than thirty shares of the stock to be created by this act, until the expiration of ten days from the time the books are first opened for subscriptions; nor shall any person now owning stock in the above mentioned rail-road, be allowed to subscribe for more than will, with that he now holds, make him the owner of thirty shares; neither shall any person, now a stockholder, transfer the stock he now holds to another, so as to allow him to take of the new stock to be created, neither shall any new company be formed, or the name of any firm changed in any way, so as to allow the persons composing such company or firm, to subscribe for more stock than they would otherwise be allowed, nor shall any person subscribing for stock, be allowed to transfer the same in such a way that it shall not be made liable for the payment of his debts at any time within one year from the time of his having subscribed for the same.

348. Sec. XXV. Any other rail-road company, now, or hereafter to be incorporated, may be authorized by the legislature to cross the said rail-road at any point.

An Act, to amend an act, entitled an act, to amend an act, to incorporate the Georgia Rail Road Company, passed 18th December, 1835.
—Approved Dec. 30, 1836. Pam. 208.

349. Sec. I. The Georgia Rail Road and Banking Company, be, and it is hereby authorized to lay out, construct and build a branch of said rail-road from the town of Washington, Wilkes county, to some convenient point in Taliaferro county, (to be ascertained by actual survey,) so as to unite with, and become a part of said rail-road, to be commenced as soon as practicable after a sufficient amount of stock is subscribed for, and taken for that purpose, or the said company may authorize the same to be done by others, in such manner as they may direct, so as to form a junction with the rail-road as aforesaid.

350. Sec. II. The said Georgia Rail Road and Banking Company, are hereby authorized, for the purpose of constructing said branch rail-road, to cause books of subscription to be opened within six months after the passage of this act, in the town of Washington, Wilkes county, and at other places, if deemed necessary, for the purpose of creating an additional stock of $200,000, under the same rules and regulations as are established by the provisions of the said act of incorporation and the act to which this is an amendment.

351. Sec. III. The stockholders of the branch rail-road, as aforesaid, shall be entitled to, and enjoy all the privileges and advantages that are secured to the stockholders of said company, subject to the control and direction of the board of directors of the Georgia Rail Road and Banking Company.

New stock-holders to be part of the company.

An Act, to incorporate the Saint Marys and Columbus Rail Road Company.—Approved Dec. 30, 1836. Pam. 209.

Whereas, Archibald Clark, Duncan L. Clinch, Henry Bacon, Louis Dufour, Henry E. Turner, Samuel Clarke, Lemuel Church, Whipple Aldrich, Alfred Doolittle, John Stotesbury, John Rudolph, John Pottle, Horace J. Pratt, Henry E. W. Clark, B. Hopkins, and others, by their petition to this general assembly, have represented that the opening of a rail-road communication between the cities of St. Marys and Columbus, will be of utility to the community at large, and to the State in general; and viewing the scheme altogether practicable, they are disposed, if the undertaking should receive the sanction of the legislature, by incorporating said company with vested powers, rights and privileges, to make the necessary arrangements for carrying out the plan into complete effect.

352. Sec. I. Be it therefore enacted, That the above mentioned petitioners, associates and successors, be, and they are incorporated as a body politic, by the name and style of the "Saint Marys and Columbus Rail Road Company."

Incorporated.

353. Sec. II. It shall and may be lawful for the said company to create a stock to the amount of one million of dollars, to be increased if necessary, to such a sum as may be sufficient to carry fully into effect, the object of this incorporation; that is to say, they are hereby authorized to cause books of subscription to be opened, so soon after the passing of this act, as may be convenient, and in such places, and such manner, as they may deem most conducive to the attainment of the stock required, first giving notice thirty days of the time and places, in one of the gazettes, of the opening of said books.

May create a stock of $1,000,000.

354. Sec. III. The stock of said company shall consist of ten thousand shares, of one hundred dollars each, which number of shares may be increased, if necessary, to such an extent as may be required to carry into effect the objects of said company, and that upon subscribing for stock, the sum of five dollars shall be paid on each share.

Shares of $100 each.

355. Sec. IV. The said company, by the name and style aforesaid, shall be capable in law, as a body politic, and, as such, may sue and be sued; answer and be answered unto; defend and be defended in all the courts of law and equity of the State of Georgia, or any place whatsoever, having competent authority and jurisdiction over any matter, dispute, or transaction, touching the business affairs or well-being of said company; and that the stockholders may elect nine members, annually, who shall constitute and form a board, under the name and style of the "President and Directors of the Saint Marys and Columbus Rail Road Company," and shall be competent to make all necessary by-laws, rules and regulations, they may deem most conducive to the good order, faith and harmonious government of said company: Provided, such by-laws, rules and regulations, be not repugnant to the constitution of this State, or of the United States; and also, to make all contracts, or to cause the same to be done in behalf of said company, which shall be binding upon the same, and to appoint and elect artists, agents, and employ all necessary officers belonging thereto.

Corporate powers.

Style of the direction to be annually elected.

By-laws.

Contracts.

Agents, artists, &c.

356. Sec. V. When the said company shall have completed the

To be completed in 12 years.

Toll not to exceed 25 per cent. on the investment.

Accounts to be kept.

Books open to inspection.

May enforce payment of tolls.

May apply any future surplus to the benefit of the two towns.

May obtain the right of way.

Arbitration.

Appeal.

Work not to be delayed.

No other railway within 20 miles, except crossings or inter-sections.

Qualification of director.

Meetings of stockholders.

President.

Compensation.

aforesaid communication by rail-road, within twelve years after the passage of this act, or as much sooner as possible, they and their associates and successors shall be entitled and empowered to demand and receive, by way of toll, on all goods, wares, merchandize, or productions of the country, carried on said rail-road, such sums of money as they may think proper to impose in their regulations of toll, not exceeding, at any twelve months together, twenty-five per cent. per annum, upon the whole amount of money they have actually expended in making and keeping in repair the said railway; to ascertain which, the board, aforesaid, shall cause an accurate set of books to be kept, showing the amount of stock paid in, and also, of all expenditures for said railway, including repairs and income of tolls, which books shall always be liable to the inspection of a committee, appointed by the legislature, to the end that said company shall not abuse the remunerating privilege of this act.

357. Sec. VI. It shall be lawful for the board of directors aforesaid, or their authorized agents, to stop, or prosecute and recover, upon any goods, wares, merchandize or productions of the country, or any and every other article from passing through on said railway, until payment of such rates of toll as may be demanded aforesaid. And in case said company should hereafter accumulate a surplus fund, from the revenue and benefits of their institution, they may apply it in such manner as may seem most important to a majority thereof, under the chartered powers and privileges herein vested, in the commercial and mercantile prosperity of Saint Marys, as a seaport, and Columbus.

358. Sec. VII. The said company shall have power to select and purchase, or receive as donation, for themselves and successors, such strips of land, from the cities of Saint Marys and Columbus, as may be necessary for said railway, and in case of disagreement in regard to any part of the necessary land, which may be required for the object aforesaid, it shall be lawful for the company aforesaid, to appoint three disinterested freeholders, and the owner or owners of such land shall also appoint three disinterested freeholders, who shall proceed upon the premises, and award the amount of damage which said company shall pay unto such owner or owners in fee simple right to said land forever; and in cases of disagreement, the persons so appointed, may choose an umpire: Provided, that in case either party be dissatisfied with said award, he or they may appeal to the next superior court of the county in which said land lies, to be determined by a special jury, at such term: And provided further, that the progress of said work be not arrested or delayed by such appeal.

359. Sec. VIII. No railway shall hereafter be permitted to be constructed between Saint Marys and Columbus, within twenty miles of the route the company may select, in the direction as aforesaid, except where other railways cross or intersect the said road, and from the setting out and ending places: And provided further, that nothing contained in this act, shall be so construed as to prevent any future legislature from chartering any rail-road company, for the construction of a road, which shall cross the said contemplated road.

360. Sec. IX. No member of said company shall be eligible as a director, unless he shall hold, at least ten shares of the stock, in his own right, or as executor, administrator, or guardian. The board at all times, to be competent to call a public meeting of the stockholders, when necessary, who shall be competent to regulate the rule of voting for directors, by a special by-law; of whom the directors shall select one of said number to the office of president, with such remuneration, and to the other members of the board, as may be established by the bona fide owners and lawful representatives of at least two-thirds of the capital stock of the institution.

361. Sec. X. The board of directors shall have power to call such ratio of the subscription for stock, as, from time to time, they may deem necessary for the prompt progress and execution of the work, first giving public notice thereof, in two or more of the public gazettes of the State, at least sixty days previous to the time required for the payment of such instalment. Calling in instalments. Sixty days' notice.

362. Sec. XI. Any subscriber or stockholder, in said company, refusing to pay his, her, or their instalments when called on, in manner aforesaid, shall forfeit the same, to the use of the company, (if so decreed by two-thirds of the stockholders, at their meeting next thereafter,) which stock, so confiscated, may be offered by the president and directors, for re-subscription, as if it had never been subscribed for; all calls for instalments shall be general, and officially advertised by the president, with the concurrence of the board. Forfeiture of stock in default of payment.

363. Sec. XII. The shares of stock in the aforesaid company, shall be taken and considered, and held in law, as real estate, and may be sold, transferred, assigned, or bequeathed, by the proprietors thereof, as such: Provided, that the stock, shall not be transferred to any, other than a citizen of the United States. Shares to be considered as real estate. Not transferable to foreigners.

364. Sec. XIII. Any person who may wilfully trespass upon the chartered rights and immunities of said corporation, or who may injure the property of said company, or who shall throw earth, stones, logs, trees, rubbish, or any other matter or thing whatsoever, on or upon said rail-road, or who shall in any manner injure said road, or its appurtenances, shall be indicted before the superior court for a misdemeanor, and on conviction, shall be punished by fine and imprisonment at the discretion of the court; and shall moreover be liable, to an action for civil damages, in trespass or case, to the said company, or any individual whose property, or person may be injured thereby. And the said company shall be considered as common carriers, and any person whose goods, wares, or merchandize, or other article or thing conveyed by such company, or in their custody for conveyance, or whose person shall be injured by the misfeasance, malfeasance, neglect or mismanagement of said company, its officers, or servants, or agents, shall be entitled to recover damages by suit, against said company. Punishment for wilful injuries of the road. Company to be common carriers.

365. Sec. XIV. The exclusive privileges hereby granted, shall cease and determine at the expiration of twenty-five years, from the time that the contemplated work, shall be completed. Period of the charter.

366. Sec. XV. The said company, shall make out annually, and deliver to the executive of this State, full and plain returns of all their actings, transactions and business, having any manner of connection, with their said bill of incorporation; and on failure thereof, the legislature may repeal, and set aside their charter or act of incorporation. Com'y shall make ann. returns to the executive.

367. Sec. XVI. The owners of lands, over which the said road shall pass, shall, at his option, either receive the amount of damages, in money, or a certificate, of stock to the same amount: Provided, that said stock at the time, may not be above par, that they make stock at the par value at the time. Payment for the right of way.

An Act, to incorporate the Chattahoochee Steam Boat Company.—
Approved Dec. 23, 1836. Pam. 254.

368. Whereas, there is now a company formed for the purpose, and now engaged in navigating the Chattahoochee, Flint, and Apalachicola rivers by steam-boats of a construction new to those rivers, and first introduced on the waters of this State, by members of said company, and which are found successful in surmounting obstacles that heretofore have impeded the navigation of said rivers, during the greater part of every year; and whereas, the persons so associated, are desirous to be incorporated; and whereas, similar incorporations heretofore granted, have been found useful to the public.

Incorporated. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That James R. Butts, Charles Day, with their associates, and such persons as now are, or hereafter may become associated with them as stockholders in the premises, and their successors, be, and they are hereby constituted a body politic and corporate, by the name and style of the "Chattahoochee and Flint River Steam Boat Company," and by that name and style, may hold, purchase, receive, retain,* enjoy, sell and transfer, real and personal property; may sue and be sued; plead and be impleaded, in any court of law or equity; may have and use a common seal, and the same to break, alter and renew, at pleasure; may make such by-laws, rules and regulations, as the stockholders and persons appointed by them to manage the concerns of said company, may deem necessary and expedient: Provided, that the same, be not contrary to the constitution and laws of the State, or of the United States.

Style.
Powers.

Capital
$100,000 in shares of $100 each.

369. Sec. II. The capital stock of said company shall consist of one hundred shares of $1,000 each, which shall be held by the present members of the company, in the respective proportion already fixed among themselves, and for which the proper officers of said company shall issue certificates, in the manner to be provided by their by-laws; and said company may commence business, and enjoy the benefit of this act, when fifty per cent. of the capital stock shall have been paid in, and not before.

Stock may be increased to $300,000.

370. Sec. III. By a vote of the holders of two-thirds of the whole capital stock, at any meeting regularly called for the purpose, the stock of said company may, from time to time, be increased by the creation of new stock of $1,000 per each share, as said stockholders may find it expedient: Provided, that the whole capital stock, shall never exceed $300,000.

May regulate in their bills of lading, their own toll and the extent of their liabilities.

371. Sec. IV. The said company shall have power and authority to charge, ask, and receive of, and from all such persons as they may transport merchandize or produce for, or carry as passengers, such compensation therefor, as the said company or its agents or officers may deem fit, or as may be specified in the bill of lading; and said company may define, restrain, and limit their liability as carriers: Provided, such restraints or limits, be embodied in the receipts or bill of lading.

Directors, or agents, and other officers.

372. Sec. V. The affairs of said company shall be managed either by a board of directors, or an agent or agents, as the stockholders may determine; the same to be appointed by said stockholders; each share of stock to entitle the holder thereof to one vote for the same; and said stockholders, or the directors or agents selected by them for that purpose, may appoint all such officers and servants, and regulate their duties and compensation, as to them may seem expedient, for the interests of the company.

May insure property carried, or lives of slaves employed by them.

373. Sec. VI. The said company shall be authorized to insure against loss or damage by fire, or by any and all risks whatever, by seas or inland navigation, on such merchandize or produce as may be shipped by their boats or vessels, and also to insure on lives of slaves employed by them.

* This asterisk referred to in page 379.

374. Sec. VII. The persons and property of the stockholders for the time being, shall be responsible for the debts and liabilities of said company, incurred while they are stockholders, in proportion to the amount of stock held by them, and that the privileges granted by this act, shall continue for, and during the term of thirty years, and no longer. Manner of individual liability.
Chartered for 30 years.

An Act, to incorporate the "River Steam Boat Company."—Approved Dec. 23, 1836. Pam. 256.

375. Whereas, it is important to the agricultural and commercial interests of the State, to encourage the navigation of its waters by steam: and whereas, James R. Butts, and Charles Day of Macon, and their associates, having by their enterprise, successfully developed the fitness and immense value of certain streams, for that purpose, that previously had been considered unfit to be navigated by steam-boats to advantage, viz. the Ocmulgee and Flint rivers: and whereas, said persons are desirous of being incorporated: and whereas, similar incorporations heretofore granted have been found useful to the public. Preamble.

Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That James R. Butts, Charles Day, with their associates, and all such persons as now are, or hereafter may become associated with them as stockholders in the premises, and their successors, be, and they are hereby constituted a body politic and corporate, by the name and style of the "Pioneer Steam Boat Company," and by that name and style, may hold, purchase, receive, retain, &c. [The residue of the act is a transcript of the last preceding statute from the asterisk.] Incorporated.
Style.

An Act, for the incorporation of the Savannah and Augusta Steam Boat Company.—Approved Dec. 30, 1836. Pam. 258.

376. Sec. I. The following persons, viz.: Samuel B. Parkman, William Duncan, Henry Harper, J. & W. Harper, J. P. King, G. B. Cumming, Benj. Burroughs, Edward Padelford, Padelford Fay & Co., Adams & Burroughs, Saml. D. Corbitt, Daniel Kirkpatrick and John S. Combs and their successors and assigns, be, and they are hereby created and made a corporation and body politic, by the name and style of "The President, Directors and Company, of the Savannah and Augusta Steam Boat Company," and by that name and style, shall be, and are hereby made able and capable in law, to have, purchase, receive, possess, enjoy and retain to them and their successors, lands, rents, tenements, hereditaments, goods, chattels and effects of what kind, nature or quality soever, to an amount not exceeding the capital of said corporation at the time of holding such property, and the same to sell, grant, demise, alien, or dispose of; to sue and be sued; plead and be impleaded; answer and be answered unto; defend and be defended, in courts of record or any place whatsoever; and also, to make, have and use, a common seal, and the same to break, alter and renew at pleasure; and also, to ordain, establish and put in execution, such by-laws, ordinances and regulations, as shall seem necessary and convenient for the government of said corporation: Provided nevertheless, that such by-laws, rules and regulations, be not contrary to the constitution and laws of the State, or of the United States; and generally, to do and execute all and singular, such acts, matters and things, as to them may, or shall appertain to do, subject nevertheless to the limitations hereafter prescribed. Incorporated.
Style.
Powers.

377. Sec. II. The capital stock of the above mentioned corpora-

Capital,
$50,000, and may be increased to $150,000.
5 directors.

President.

Qualification of voters.

Privileges of navigation.

Liable as common carriers.

tion, shall be $80,000, but may be increased to any sum not exceeding $150,000, whenever it is deemed expedient by a majority of the stockholders, holding two-thirds of the existing stock.

378. Sec. III. To manage the affairs of said corporation, the stockholders shall annually, by a majority of votes, elect five directors, who shall choose a president from their own body. Each share of stock in such election shall be entitled to a vote, but no share shall confer the right of a vote, unless transferred to the holder on the books of the corporation, at least one month previously to the time of voting.

379. Sec. IV. The said corporation shall possess the privilege of navigating the rivers and other waters of this State, with boats or vessels propelled by steam, whether employed alone, or for the purpose of warping, towing, or in any manner impelling other boats and vessels, rafts, floats or arks.

380. Sec. V. The said corporation shall be liable for all losses caused by fire and steam, if occasioned by their own negligence, or that of their agents or servants, but not otherwise: Provided, that the law governing carriers now in force, shall be in no wise innovated by this section.

381. Sec. VI. The said corporation shall be authorized to enjoy the exclusive use of its own wharf or wharves, or such wharf or wharves as it may rent, lease or occupy, but it shall not hold any other than may be necessary for the convenient transaction of its own business.

An Act, to establish a company, under the name of the Savannah and Charleston Steam Packet Company.—Approved Dec. 30th, 1836. Pam. 260.

Incorporated.

Style.

Capital,
$125,000.
May be increased to $500,000.
Object of the company.

Corporate
privileges.

Votes.

Proxies.

Five directors named.
Their
powers.

382. Sec. I. George W. Anderson, Jeremy Store, Samuel B. Parkman, William Patterson, Richard R. Cozle, and such other persons as may become members thereof, be, and they are hereby declared a body corporate and politic, by the name and style of the Savannah and Charleston Steam Packet Company, with a capital of one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars, and the right to increase the same to five hundred thousand dollars, to be divided into shares of one thousand dollars each, for the purpose of conveying passengers, and transporting goods, wares, and merchandize, by steam-packets, between the city of Savannah, in the State of Georgia, and the city of Charleston, in the State of South Carolina, or between the said city of Savannah, and any other port on the Atlantic board, at the election from time to time, of the directors of the said company.

383. Sec. II. The said company shall have such number and succession of officers and members, as shall be ordained and chosen by the rules and by-laws, to be made for their government and direction, and shall have power and authority to make all rules and by-laws, not repugnant to the laws of the land; to have and keep a common seal, and the same to alter at will; to sue and be sued; plead and be impleaded in any court of law or equity in this State, and shall have and enjoy, all and every right and privilege incidental, and belonging to corporate bodies, according to the laws of this State.

384. Sec. III. In all elections, and upon any other subject or question, each stockholder shall be entitled to as many votes as he or she shall hold shares, one vote for every share, and stockholders absent from any meeting, shall be entitled to vote by proxy.

385. Sec. IV. The persons above-named, shall be, and they are hereby constituted directors of the said company, with power to appoint all agents and officers, and to do all other acts for the management of the concerns of the said company, until an election can take place under the charter; and they are further authorized to take up by subscription, in such manner as they may deem expedient, either the whole, or any part of the said capital; and the subscribers shall in no event, be bound for the payment of a larger sum than the amount of their subscription, and their private property shall be exempt from all liability on account of any claims against the company, beyond the amount of its corporate assets, and they are further authorized, so soon as seventy-five thousand shall have been subscribed, to call a general meeting of the stockholders, for the purpose of making by-laws and electing officers.

Stockholders' liability.

386. Sec. V. The said company shall have power and capacity to purchase, take, enjoy, sell and alien lands and tenements, hereditaments, goods, chattels, rights and credits, which may be connected with, or in any manner conducive to the purpose for which said company is established.

Capacity of owning property.

387. Sec. VI. This act shall be taken and deemed to be a public act, shall be and continue of force for the term of fourteen years, and shall not be construed to confer any exclusive privileges.

Chartered 14 years, but confers no exclusive privilege.

Resolution directing the State's stock in the Ogeechee and Alatomaha Canal Company to be sold at not less than $10,000. Pam. of 1836, p. 38 of Res.

Resolutions concerning Internal Improvement generally.

A view of the importance of internal communication by canals or otherwise to the State in reference to its own interests, or as a member of the Union, with a survey of our topographical advantages; referring to an accompanying bill creating the office of Civil and Topographical Engineer, [1820, vol. iv. p. 5 of Res.]—In reference to the act of Congress of April, 1824, authorizing the president to procure surveys, plans, estimates, &c., [1824, lb. 38.]—Authorizing the governor to engage the services of a Civil and Topographical Engineer; recommending an appropriation (which was made Vol. iv. 63 of the acts) of $10,000, with a view to the commencement of a system of internal improvements, [1824, lb. 49.]—Report of the standing committee of 1827 refers to the abortive attempts and little progress in the improvement of Rivers. "Contracts, hitherto made in this State with individuals," say the committee, "have uniformly been attended with disaster and defeat. It is now deemed almost a licentious use of the public treasury to place it in the hands of any contractor, unless he will submit to a constant and responsible supervision of his labor, which destroys the very object of all such engagements." Referring to the bill then in progress for the permanent establishment of a board of commissioners for internal improvements, they consider it, with other auxiliary measures, the best system which presents itself for the future prosperity of the State, [lb. 100.]—A review of our agricultural staples—the inadequacy of the previous local legislation—the impracticability of improving rivers and constructing common roads and keeping them in repair—the example of New York and Pennsylvania referred to—Recommending a loan on the credit of the State, "Resolved, that the times require, and the resources of the State authorize a scheme of internal improvement from the seaboard of this State to the interior by rail-road, on the faith and credit of the State, and as a great State work."—[1834, pam. 288.]

Resolutions relative to particular locations or companies.

Steam-boat Company, 1820, vol. iv. p. 3 of Res.—1823, lb. 32—1824, lb. 40.—Canal between the navigable waters of the St. Mary and Suwana, 1823, lb. 26.—Canal or other communication from Brunswick to the interior, 1823, lb. 32—1824, lb. 39—1825, lb. 55—1832, pam. 253.—Road from Alapaha to the Florida line, 1823, lb. 36.—Canal from the Alatomaha to Sapelo river, 1824, lb. 41.—Canal from Piney island to Catfish creek, 1825, lb. 49.—Canal or road to connect the waters of the Gulf of Mexico with those of the Atlantic, 1825, lb. 54.—Unacoi Turnpike Company, 1826, lb. 69.—Savannah and Ogeechee canal, 1829, lb. 133.—Communication between West Point and Columbus, 1832, pam. 220.—Rail-road from West Point to Columbus, 1833, pam. 389.—Rail-road communication between the valleys of the Ohio and Mississippi and the Southern Atlantic coast, 1836, pam. 314. Acts concerning a loan of $3,000 to the Unocoi Turnpike Company, vol. iv. 309. lb. 335. lb. 342.

Appropriation of $60,000 for the survey and location of a route from the Chatahoochee river to the Tennessee line, pam. of 1836, 26.

JOINT STOCK COMPANIES.

An Act to incorporate the Darien Eastern Steam Saw Mill Company.

Approved Dec. 13, 1820. Vol. IV. 187.

- Preamble. Whereas, it is necessary for the encouragement and promotion of useful machinery, that associations of persons or companies, formed for the purpose of establishing steam-engine and other valuable machines, should be made capable of holding, enjoying, and defending any property they have, or may acquire ;
- Incorporated. 1. Be it therefore enacted, &c. That John Kell, chairman, James H. Giekie and company, general agents, Charles McGregor, secretary, William Carnochan, and William Carnochan, and James H. Giekie, as executors of William Dunnett, deceased, proprietors of the Darien eastern steam saw mill, lately erected on the north branch of the river Altamaha, below the city of Darien, and their successors in office be, and they are hereby declared to be, a body corporate, by the name and style of the Darien Eastern Steam Saw Mill Company, and by the said name shall have perpetual succession of officers and members, or proprietors, with power to make, alter, change, and amend such by-laws as may be necessary and agreed upon by the said company ; provided, such laws be not repugnant to the constitution and laws of this State.
- Its style.
- May make by-laws, &c.
- Proviso.
- May sue and be sued. 2. Sec. II. The said Darien Eastern Steam Saw Mill Company, and their successors, shall be, and they are hereby made capable of suing and being sued, plead and be impleaded, and of using all necessary and lawful means for recovering or defending any property, debts, or demands, which they may claim in behalf of said company ; to hold real and personal property ; and generally, they shall and are hereby declared to be vested with all privileges, powers, advantages, rights, and immunities, of an association or company of people incorporated for lawful purposes.
- May hold real estate.

An Act to incorporate the Georgia Mutual Insurance Company, and to repeal the act heretofore passed for that purpose.—Approved Dec. 9, 1822. Vol. IV. 194.

- Geo. Mut. In. Comp. incorporated, and previous act repealed, &c. 3. Thomas Cumming, John Campbell, Hugh Nesbit, Anderson Watkins, William Micou, and Samuel Hale, or any three or more of them, be, and they are hereby constituted a board of commissioners, whose duty it shall be to open a book of subscription for shares in said company ; which book shall be opened on the first Monday in February next, and shall continue open for twenty days at such place, and for so many hours each day, as the said board of commissioners may determine on ; during which time, it shall be lawful for any person or persons, citizens of this State, to subscribe for any number of shares not exceeding one hundred ; and if the whole amount of capital hereinafter mentioned be not subscribed at the said expiration of twenty days, it shall then be lawful for any citizen or citizens aforesaid, or for any corporation or body politic within this State, to subscribe for any number of shares so remaining unsubscribed for.
- Number of shares limited.
- Notice to be given. 4. Sec. II. Said board of commissioners shall give notice in the public gazettes of Augusta, at least one week before the opening of said book of subscription, of the time and place of subscribing ; and that said commissioners may require from each subscriber a sum not exceeding one per cent. on the amount subscribed by him, her, or them, to be paid into the hands of said commissioners at the time of subscribing.

5. Sec. III. The stockholders in said institution shall be, and they are hereby declared to be, a body corporate and politic, under the name and style of "The Georgia Mutual Insurance Company ;" and by that name and style may sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, answer and be answered unto, in any court of law or equity in this State or elsewhere, having competent jurisdiction, and shall enjoy perpetual succession of officers and members, may have and use a common seal, may make, ordain, and establish such by-laws, rules, and regulations as they may deem expedient and necessary to carry into effect the objects of this institution ; Provided, such by-laws, rules, ordinances, and regulations be not repugnant to the laws or constitution of this State or of the United States.

The stockholders a body corporate. Its style.

By-laws, &c.

Proviso.

6. Sec. IV. The capital stock of said company shall not exceed $500,000, which shall be divided into shares of one hundred dollars ; but the company may commence business so soon as one hundred thousand dollars shall have been paid, according to such plan as they may adopt ; and that, upon the expiration of the said twenty days hereinbefore allowed for subscribing, it shall be the duty of the said commissioners to convene the stockholders, or subscribers, by giving ten days' notice in the public gazettes of Augusta of the time and place of meeting ; who may then, or at any time thereafter, proceed to the election of a board of directors, under such rules and regulations as they may adopt for that purpose.

Capital stock.

When they may commence business.

Board of directors to be elected.

7. Sec. V. The directors so appointed shall, at their first meeting thereafter, proceed to the appointment of a president from among their own body ; and the said president and directors may appoint such officers under them as they may deem necessary and expedient for carrying the said institution into effect.

President, when elected.

Other officers.

8. Sec. VI. The said company, when organized as aforesaid, shall have full power and authority to insure property and effects, of every nature and description, against losses by fire or water, and all other accidents, dangers, and casualties for which insurance companies are usually established, and also on lives.

May insure property against fire or water.

9. Sec. VII. Said company shall be bound to pay all losses on property, or other assurances made by them, within six months after the happening thereof ; and in all cases where the claimant shall be compelled to institute a suit for the recovery of such losses, the same shall stand in order for trial at the first term ; and the amount recovered shall be on interest from and after the expiration of the said six months ; and if the said company shall neglect or refuse to pay such losses within the said six months, where there is no dispute as to the amount claimed, or within ten days after final recovery against them in cases disputed, then, and in such event, this charter may be declared null and void.

To pay losses within six months. Suits tried first term.

Forfeiture of charter.

10. Sec. VIII. The said company shall have power to receive, hold, purchase, and possess any property, real or personal, for the use, benefit, or advantage of the said corporation, and to sell and dispose of the same ; and they are hereby declared to be vested with all powers, advantages, privileges, and emoluments of an association of persons incorporated for the intentions and purposes aforesaid ; Provided always, that nothing in this act contained shall be so construed as to authorize the said company to issue change bills, or printed or engraved notes, or bills of credit.

May hold property.

Proviso.

To continue
thirty years.

11. Sec. IX. The said corporation shall and may continue for and during the term of thirty years from the passage of this act, unless the same should be forfeited according to the provisions thereof.

Charter may be repealed.

12. Sec. X. The legislature shall be authorized to repeal or alter this charter, whenever it shall to them appear necessary for the public good.

Sec. XI. The act entitled An Act to incorporate the Georgia Mutual Insurance Company, passed the 21st December, 1821, is hereby repealed.

An Act to incorporate the Macon Insurance Company, and to define the powers and liabilities of said company.—Approved Dec. 23, 1830. Pam. 40.

Whereas, the establishment of an Insurance Company in the town of Macon is represented as being expedient and of great benefit, and that a sufficient capital can be raised, that will guarantee the most prompt and faithful indemnification for all losses which may be insured against by the said company.

Books may be opened and business
commenced.

13. Be it enacted, &c. That [certain persons may open books.]—And when such portion of the stock shall have been subscribed, as hereinafter mentioned, shall authorize the company to commence business, they shall give public notice thereof, requesting a meeting of the said stockholders for the election of directors to manage the affairs of the said company, whose duty it shall be to elect a president from their number.

Election of
directors.

14. Sec. II. An annual election of directors shall take place in Macon, in the month of December.

May appoint
sec'y, &c.

15. Sec. III. The directors shall have power to appoint a secretary and all other officers necessary for the management of the affairs of the company.

Incorporated.

16. Sec. IV. That the said president and directors, and their successors shall be, and they are hereby declared to be a body corporate, in name and deed and by the style and denomination of the "Macon Insurance Company," and by the same name and style, shall have succession of officers and members, for the term of twenty years; and a common seal to use; they shall have authority to make, alter, amend, and change such by-laws as may be agreed on by the president and directors: provided, such by-laws be not repugnant to the laws or constitution of the State of Georgia or the United States: and provided also, that the property of the stockholders shall be liable for any debt contracted by the company.

Style.

Powers.

Capital,
$50,000.

17. Sec. V. The capital of the said company shall consist of $150,000, to be divided into shares of $100 each, and the company may commence business whenever $50,000 shall be paid in and deposited.

May insure.

18. The said company shall have power and authority to insure property and effects of every nature and description, against all risks of navigation, fire and other casualties. Also, to assure lives of all and every description, and to do all acts for which insurance or assurance companies are usually established, organized and incorporated.

May sue and be sued.

19. Sec. VI. The said company shall have full power and authority, under the style and name of the "President and Directors of the Macon Insurance Company," to sue for and receive all such sum or sums of money, as may become due to the said company before any tribunal having jurisdiction thereof; and the rights and privileges of the said company in any court, or any tribunal whatever to defend, and also to take, receive, purchase, hold and possess, any property, real or personal, for the use, benefit or advantage of the said company; and to sell, make over and dispose of the same and the said company shall be, and are hereby declared to be, vested with all the powers and advantages, privileges and emoluments, of an association of persons incorporated for the intentions and purposes aforesaid: provided nothing in this act shall be so construed as to permit said company to use or exercise banking privileges.

May hold and transfer property.

An Act to incorporate a Cotton Manufacturing Company at the Flat Shoals on South river, in the county of DeKalb.—Approved Dec. 24, 1832. Pam. 82.

20. Sec. I. A cotton manufacturing company, be, and is hereby established in the county of DeKalb, and State of Georgia, at the Flat Shoals on South river, the capital stock of which shall be $30,000, to be divided into shares of fifty dollars each, with privilege of increasing the said capital at any time hereafter as a majority of the stockholders may desire, to the sum of fifty thousand dollars, to be delivered into shares of fifty dollars each, as aforesaid.

Capital, $30,000.

Sec. II. [Temporary.]

21. Sec. III. If there shall be a failure in the payment of any sum subscribed by any person, copartnership or body politic, when the same is required to be paid by this act, or when it shall be required to be paid by the directors, the share or shares upon which each failure shall happen or accrue, shall be for such failure, forfeited, and may be again sold or disposed of in such manner as the directors shall order or provide, and the proceeds from such sale together with the sum or sums which may have been paid thereon, shall revert to and for the benefit of said corporation.

Unpaid shares forfeited.

22. Sec. IV. All those persons who shall become subscribers to the said company, their successors and assigns, shall be, and they are hereby created and constituted a body politic, by the name and style of "DeKalb Manufacturing Company," and by that name shall be, and they are hereby made able and capable in law to have, purchase, receive, possess, enjoy and retain to them and their successors, lands, rents, tenements, hereditaments, goods, chattels, and effects of whatsoever kind, nature or quality, the same may be, and the same to sell, grant, deliver or dispose of, to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, answer and be answered, defend and be defended in courts of record, or any other place whatsoever, and also to make and have a common seal, and the same to break, alter and renew at their pleasure aforesaid, and also to ordain, establish and put in circulation, such by-laws, rules and regulations, as shall seem necessary and convenient for the government of the said corporation: Provided, that such by-laws, rules and regulations be not contrary to the constitution and laws of this State or the United States, and generally to do and perform all and singular, such acts, matters and things as to them shall or may appertain, for the purpose of carrying in.o effect the objects of the association; subject nevertheless, to the rules, regulations and provisions hereinafter expressed and prescribed.

Incorporated.

Powers and privileges.

23. Sec. V. For the well ordering-of the affairs of the said corporation, there shall be five directors, who shall be elected by the stockholders at any time after the stock of said company, or one half thereof at the least, shall have been subscribed for, and the sum of $5,000 or more paid into the hands of the commissioners hereinbefore named, which said election shall be held in the town of Deca-

Five directors elected

	tur, DeKalb county, at such place and time as shall be appointed by the said commissioners and of which they shall give at least ten days' notice, in one of the public gazettes of this State, at which said election and each and every subsequent election of directors, a plurality of the votes given in, shall be sufficient to make a choice, and the directors who may be chosen at the first election, shall hold their offices until the first Monday in October, in the year 1834, and until their successors are re-elected and qualified, and in each and every year annually.	thereafter, on the first Monday in October, the directors shall be chosen by the stockholders or proprietors of the capital stock of said corporation, and those who shall be duly chosen at any election, shall be capable of serving as directing, by virtue of such choice, until the end or expiration of the first Monday in October next ensuing the time of such election, and until their successors be elected and qualified—And the said directors at their first meeting after each election, shall choose one of their number as president, and in case of his death, resignation and removal from the State, or from the board of directors, the said directors shall proceed to fill his vacancy by a new election
President.	for the remainder of the year: Provided always, that in case it shall at any time happen that an election of directors should not be made upon any day when pursuant to this act, it ought to have been made; the said corporation shall not for that cause be deemed to be dissolved, but it shall be lawful on any other day to hold and make an election of directors in such manner as shall be ordained by the rules and by-laws of the said corporation: And provided, that in case of the death, resignation, absence from the State, or removal of a director, his place may be filled up by a new choice for the remainder of the year, by the remaining directors.
Proviso.
Proviso.
Other of- fices.	24. Sec. VI. The directors for the time being, shall have power to appoint such officers and clerks under them as shall be necessary for executing the business of the said corporation, and to allow them such compensation for their services respectively, as shall be reasonable, and shall be capable of exercising such other powers and authorities for the well governing and ordering the affairs of the said corporation as to them shall appear conducive to the interest of the same.
Rules.
Each share one vote.	25. Sec. VII. The following rules, regulations, limitations and provisions, shall form and be fundamental articles of the constitution of the said corporation. First. The number of votes to which each stockholder shall be entitled, shall be according to the number of shares he shall hold, each share to be entitled to one vote: Provided, that no share or shares shall confer a right of suffrage, which shall not have been held three calendar months previously to the day of election, and unless it be held by the person in whose name it appears absolutely and bona fide in his own right or in that of his wife, and for his and her sole use and benefit, or as executor, administrator or guardian, or in the right and use of some copartnership, corporation or society of which he or she may be a member, and not in trust for or to the use of any other person; any stockholder being absent, may authorize by power of attorney under seal, any other stockholder to vote for him, her or them. Secund. None but a stockholder entitled in his own right to ten shares, and being a citizen of the State, shall be eligible as a director, and if any one of the directors shall at any time during the term for which he shall have been elected, cease to be a stockholder, his seat shall therefore become vacated, and the remaining directors or a majority of them, shall at their next meeting pass an order declaring him no longer to be a director, and shall forthwith proceed to fill the vacancy. Third. The directors shall make such
Qualification of director.
President's pay.

compensation to the president for his services as shall appear to them reasonable. Fourth. Not less than three directors shall constitute a board for the transaction of business, of whom the president shall always be one, except in cases of sickness or necessary absence, in which case his place may be supplied by any director appointed by the board of directors present for that purpose. Fifth. A number of stockholders not less than ten, who together shall be proprietors of fifty shares or more, shall have power at any time to call a meeting of the stockholders for purposes relative the institution, giving at least thirty days' notice in one of the public gazettes of this State, specifying in such notice the object of such meeting. Sixth. The treasurer and agent of said company, before he enters on the duties of his office, shall give bond with two or more securities to the satisfaction of the directors in a sum not less than $10,000, with conditions for his good behavior and the faithful discharge of his duties. Seventh. The lands, tenements and hereditaments, which it shall be lawful for the said corporation to hold, shall be only such as shall be requisite for its immediate accommodation, in relation to the convenient transaction of business, and such as shall have been bona fide mortgaged to it as security, or conveyed to it in satisfaction of debts previously contracted in the course of its dealings, or purchased at sales upon judgments which shall have been obtained for such debts. Eighth. The directors shall have power to issue to the subscribers their certificates of stock, signed by the president and countersigned by the treasurer, which shall be transferable on the books of the corporation, only by personal entry of the stockholder, his legal representatives or attorney duly authorized by special power, under seal for that purpose. Ninth. The company shall in no case directly or indirectly be concerned in banking or insurance, or in any commercial business except in such articles as are or may be necessary for or manufactured by the said company, or such goods, wares, or merchandise, as shall be truly transferred, conveyed or pledged to them by way of security for debts due and owing, or growing due to the said corporation, or purchased by them to secure such debts so due to the said corporation, or to effect the insurance on the property belonging to the company, or that may be pledged to them for their security. Tenth. The bills obligatory and of credit, notes and other contracts whatever, on behalf of the said corporation, shall be binding and obligatory upon the said company: Provided, the same be signed by the president and countersigned or attested by the treasurer of the said corporation, and the funds of the said corporation shall in no case be held liable in law or equity, for any contract or engagement whatever, unless the same be so signed and countersigned or attested as aforesaid, and the books, papers and correspondence and the funds of the company, shall at all times be subject to the inspection of the board of directors and the stockholders when convened according to the provisions of this act. Eleventh. Dividends of the profits of the corporation or of so much thereof as shall be deemed expedient and proper, shall be declared and paid (yearly, the first half after the said factory shall have been in operation excepted) and the said directors shall from time to time be determined by a majority of directors at a meeting to be held for that purpose, and shall in no case exceed the amount of the next profits actually acquired by the corporation, so that the capital stock thereof, shall never be impaired. Twelfth. The directors shall keep fair and regular entries in a book to be provided for that purpose, of their proceedings, and on any question when any director shall require it, the yeas and nays of the directors voting, shall be duly inserted on their

Quorum.

Fifty shares may call a meeting.

Treasurer's bond.

May hold what real estate.

Shares transferable.

Not to be concerned in banking, insurance or commerce.

Obligations, how to be executed.

Dividends.

Books of entry.

Chartered
till 1850.

minutes, and those minutes be at all times, on demand, produced to the stockholders, when at a general meeting the same shall be required. Thirteenth. The corporation shall exist and continue until the first day of February, 1850: and immediately after the dissolution of the said corporation, effectual measures shall be taken by the directors last appointed and acting, for closing all the concerns of the company and for dividing the capital and profits which may remain then, among the stockholders, according to their respective interests.

26. Sec. VIII. So soon as the first directors are elected agreeable to the provisions of this act, and the board of directors organized by the appointment of president and treasurer, the said commissioners shall pay over to them all the monies by them received or collected from persons who have subscribed for the capital stock of said corporation.

Private property bound.

27. The private property of the stockholders shall be bound and held liable for all contracts made by said company, and that their individual property shall always be liable for any contract made by them whilst acting as stockholders after a transfer of the same.

An Act to incorporate the "Augusta Mining Company, the Habersham Mining Company, and the Nauchoochy Mining Company."—
Approved Dec. 24, 1832. Pam. 88.

Augusta
Mining Co.

Whereas, Peter Bennock, Samuel H. Peck, Franklin C. Heard, William B. Shelton, P. J. Murray, Edward Carey, James S. Park, John Banks, and W. H. Underwood, and Absolom Rhodes, in behalf of themselves and others, have purchased and acquired the right and title to certain valuable mines situated in this State, supposed to contain rich deposits of gold and other metals, and whereas, it is necessary that said individuals and those who now are, or hereafter may be associated with them, should be incorporated for the purpose of purchasing and selling mines, and working them, and also for the purpose of manufacturing minerals and metals, and also for the purpose of more effectually carrying into operation the objects of their association.

Incorporated.

28. Sec. I. Be it therefore enacted, That Peter Bennock, Samuel H. Peck, Franklin C. Heard, William B. Shelton, P. J. Murray, James S. Park, Edward Carey, John Banks, William H. Underwood, and Absolom Rhodes, and all such other persons as now are or hereafter may become stockholders in said company, and their successors and assigns shall be, and they are hereby created and constituted a corporation and body politic, by the name and style of "The Augusta Mining Company," and by that name shall be and they are hereby made able and capable in law, to have, hold, purchase, receive, work, enjoy and retain to them and their successors, lands, rents, tenements, mines of minerals and metals, hereditaments, goods, chattels and effects of whatsoever kind, nature or quality the same may be; and the same to work, sell, lease, grant, demise, alien or dispose of; to sue and be sued; plead and be impleaded; answer and be answered; defend and be defended in courts of record or any other place whatsoever; and also to make and have a common seal, and the same to break, alter and renew at their pleasure; and also to ordain and establish, and put in execution such by-laws, rules and regulations as shall to them seem necessary and convenient for the government of said corporation:

Privileges.

- Provided, that such by-laws, rules and regulations, be not contrary to the constitution and laws of this State or of the United States; and generally to do and perform all and singular such acts matters and things, as to them shall appertain for the purpose of carrying into full effect the objects and intentions of the association.

29. Sec. II. The said company shall be, and they are hereby invested with full power and authority to invest the capital stock thereof or any part or portion of the same, according to their discretion in mining operations, or in manufacturing metals, minerals, or other or both, as in their opinion may be most conducive to the interest and welfare of the said corporation. May make investments.

30. Sec. III. The capital stock of said company shall be $150,000, with the privilege of increasing it to double that amount if a majority of the stockholders should deem it expedient to do so; and the directors hereinafter appointed, or a majority of them, or the agent appointed by them and his successors in office, shall have power to open books for subscription to the capital stock of the said company, subject to such regulations, limitations and conditions, and at such times and places within the State of Georgia; as they may judge best, for the interests of said corporation, giving thirty days' previous notice of such times and places in at least two public gazettes of this State; and as soon as the capital stock, or so much thereof as the said directors shall deem necessary to commence business shall be subscribed, the said book or books of subscription shall be closed, and some public place within the State of Georgia shall be selected, where the business of the corporation shall be conducted, and the books of the company kept; and upon such books and at such place, all transfers of stock shall be made by the person or persons holding the same or by his, her or their attorney, properly constituted by a power under seal; and the directors or their agent, shall have power to issue to the subscribers their certificates of stock, specifying the number of shares of the capital stock to which said subscriber is entitled; and all dividends which may be declared by the directors, shall be paid to the bona fide owner or holder of such certificates, or to his duly authorized attorney. Capital, $150,000. May be increased. Books to be opened. Certificates.

31. Sec. IV. The private property both real and personal of the persons herein incorporated, or the persons who may hereafter constitute said companies, shall be bound and held liable for the payment of all the debts of the said companies. Private property bound.

32. Sec. V. If any failure shall happen in the payment of any sum subscribed by any person, copartnership, or body politic, when the same is required to be paid by the directors, the share or shares upon which such failure shall happen or accrue, shall be for such failure forfeited, and may be again sold and disposed of in such manner as the directors shall order and provide; and the proceeds of such sale together with the sum or sums which may have been paid thereon, shall accrue to the benefit of such corporation. Unpaid shares forfeited.

33. Sec. VI. For the well ordering of the affairs of the said corporation, there shall be five directors who shall be stockholders, and that Peter Bennock, Samuel H. Peck, Franklin C. Heard, William B. Shelton, and Edward Carey, be and they are hereby appointed the first directors under this act, who shall hold their offices until the first Monday in January, in the year of our Lord, 1834, on which said day and on the first Monday in each and every January thereafter, the directors shall be chosen by the stockholders, or proprietors of the capital stock of the said company, when a plurality of votes given in shall be sufficient to make a choice; and the said directors appointed by this act, and also those which shall hold their offices until their successors shall be elected and qualified pursuant to the directions of this act; and the said directors at their first meeting after the passage 5 directors annually.

- President. of this act, and after each election, shall choose one of their number as president; and in case of his death, resignation, or removal from the State, or from the board of directors, the said directors shall proceed to fill the vacancy by a new election for the remainder of the year: And provided always, that in case it should at any time appear, that an election of directors should not be made upon any day when pursuant to this act, it ought to have been made, the said corporation shall not for that cause be deemed to be dissolved; but it shall be lawful on any other day to hold and make an election of directors, in such manner as shall have been regulated by the rules and by-laws of said corporation: And provided also, that in case of the death, resignation, absence from the State, or removal of a director, his place may be filled up by a new choice for the remainder of the year by the remaining directors.
- Other officers. 34. Sec. VII. The directors for the time being, shall have power to appoint such officers, agents and clerks; and to employ such mechanics, laborers and operatives, and to purchase such machinery, tools and utensils, as they may deem necessary to carry on the works and operations of the said corporation; and to allow them such compensation for their services respectively, as shall be reasonable; and shall be capable of increasing such other powers and authorities for the well governing and ordering of the affairs of the corporation, as to them shall appear conducive to the interests of the institution.
- Each share, one vote. 35. Sec. VIII. The number of votes to which each stockholder shall be entitled, shall be according to the number of shares he shall hold, each share to be entitled to one vote: Provided, that no share or shares shall confer a right of suffrage, which shall not have been held three calendar months previously to the day of election; and any stockholder being absent, may authorize by power of attorney under seal, any other stockholder to vote for him, her, or them.
- Vacancy of directors. 36. Sec. IX. If any one of the directors after being elected, shall at any time during the term for which he shall have been elected, cease to be a stockholder, his seat shall thereupon become vacated, and the remaining directors, or a majority of them shall at their next meeting, pass an order declaring him no longer to be a director, and proceed immediately to elect a successor for the balance of the year.
- Quorum. 37. Sec. X. Not less than three directors shall constitute a board for the transaction of business, of whom the president shall always be one, except in cases of sickness or necessary absence, in which case his place shall be supplied by any director, appointed by the board of directors present for that purpose.
38. Sec. XI. The stockholders shall make such compensation to the president, for his services as shall appear to them reasonable.
- 200 shares may call a meeting. 39. Sec. XII. Any number of stockholders not less than twenty, who together shall be proprietors of 200 shares or more, shall have power at any time to call a meeting of the stockholders for purposes relative to the institution, giving at least sixty days' notice of such meeting, and the object thereof in a public gazette at Augusta, Savannah, Milledgeville and Columbus.
- Official bonds. 40. Sec. XIII. The agent and other officers of the corporation, which may be appointed by the board of directors, shall before they enter upon the duties of their respective offices, give bond and sufficient security, in such sum or sums, as may be fixed on and established by the by-laws of the company, with condition for his or their good behavior, and the faithful discharge of his or their duties.
- Contracts, how to be signed. 41. Sec. XIV. The funds of the corporation shall in no case [be] held or made liable for any contract or engagement whatever, unless the same shall be signed by the president, treasurer or agent of the said company; and the books, papers, and correspondence, and the funds of the company, shall at all times be subject to the inspection of the board of directors and stockholders, when convened, according to the provisions of this act.

42. Sec. XV. The directors shall keep fair and regular entries in a book, to be provided for that purpose of all their proceedings, and on any question, when any director shall require it, the yeas and nays of the directors voting shall be duly inserted on their minutes; and those minutes shall be at all times on demand, produced to the stockholders, when at a general meeting the same shall be required. Books of entry.

43. Sec. XVI. The directors shall have power from time to time, to call in such parts and proportions of the capital stock as the exigencies of the company may in their judgment require: Provided, that they give at least thirty days' public notice in at least two of the public gazettes of this State, of the time and place of paying the same, and of the amount required to be paid in. Calling in of capital.

44. Sec. XVII. Dividends of the profits of the corporation, or of so much thereof as shall be deemed expedient and proper, shall be declared and paid half yearly (the first half after the said company shall have commenced operations excepted), and the said dividend shall from time to time, be determined by a majority of the directors, at a meeting to be held for that purpose, and shall in no case exceed the amount of the net profits actually acquired by the company, so that the capital stock thereof shall never be impaired. Dividends.

45. Sec. XVIII. John C. McLemore, William Hume, Harvy Hill, John Lyon, Jehu Trammell, David Campbell and Richard G. Dunlap, and all such persons as now are, or hereafter may become stockholders, and their successors and assigns, shall be, and they are hereby created and constituted a corporation and body politic by the name and style of the "Habersham Mining Company," the stock whereof shall be $150,000, with the privilege of increasing the same to double that amount if a majority of the stockholders shall deem it expedient so to do. Habersham Mining Company.

46. Sec. XIX. The said Habersham Mining Company shall be governed in all things by the provisions and stipulations of this act, and be entitled to all the privileges, benefits and immunities in the same manner, and under the same conditions, privileges, immunities and liabilities as the said Augusta Mining Company are, or may be in and by the said act. Have same privileges, &c as the Augusta Company.

47. Sec. XX. John Humphries, W. A. Graham, T. W. A. Sumpter, Archibald McLaughlin, and all such persons as now are, or hereafter may become stockholders, and their successors and assigns shall be, and they are hereby created and constituted a corporation and body politic, by the name and style of the "Naucoochy Gold Mining Company," the capital stock whereof shall be $100,000, with the privilege of increasing the same to double that amount if a majority of the stockholders shall deem it expedient to do so. Naucoochy Company.

48. Sec. XXI. The said Naucoochy Gold Mining Company be governed in all things by the provisions and stipulations of this act, and entitled to all privileges, benefits and immunities of the same, in the same manner and under the same conditions, privileges, immunities and liabilities as the said Augusta Mining Company are, and may be in and by the said act. Same privileges, &c as the Augusta Company

49. Sec. XXII. The personal property of each and every stockholder shall be bound and liable for each and every debt contracted, due, or owing by said company. Individually liable.

Incorporated
till 1863.

50. Sec. XXIII. The corporation shall exist and continue until the first day of January, 1863—and immediately after the dissolution of said corporations, effectual measures shall be taken by the directors last appointed and acting, for closing all the concerns of the company—and for dividing the capital and profits which may then remain among the stockholders according to their respective interests.

An Act to incorporate a Woolen and Cotton Manufacturing Company in the county of Richmond.—Approved Dec. 24, 1832. Pam. 96.

Cap. $50,000.

51. Sec. I. A Woolen and Cotton Manufacturing Company be, and is hereby established in the county of Richmond and State of Georgia, the capital stock of which shall be $50,000—to be divided into shares of $50 each, with the privilege of increasing the said capital at any time hereafter, as a majority of the stockholders may desire, to the sum of $100,000—to be divided into shares of $50 each, as aforesaid.

Stock, how to be paid in.

52. Sec. II. The shares respectively subscribed for, shall be paid in manner following, viz: twenty per centum of the amount subscribed for shall be paid to the commissioners hereinbefore named at the time of subscribing, and the balance of eighty per cent. at such times and in such proportions as the same may be required by the directors, who shall or may be elected in conformity to the provisions of this act: Provided, that said directors shall give thirty days' notice of the time at which such payments is required to be made in one of the gazettes of the city of Augusta.

Forfeiture for non-payment.

53. Sec. III. If there shall be a failure in the payment of any sum subscribed by any person, copartnership, or body politic, when the same is required to be paid by this act—or when it shall be required to be paid by the directors, the share or shares upon which each failure shall happen or accrue, shall be, for such failure forfeited, and may be again sold or disposed of in such manner as the directors shall order or provide, and the proceeds from such sale together with the sum or sums which may have been paid thereon, shall revert to and for the benefit of the said corporation.

Incorporated.

54. Sec. IV. All those persons who shall become subscribers to the said company, their successors and assigns, shall be, and they are hereby created and constituted a body politic, by the name and style of "The Richmond Manufacturing Company"—and by that name shall be, and they are hereby made able and capable in law, to have, purchase, receive, possess, enjoy and retain to them and their successors, lands, rents, tenements, hereditaments, goods, chattels and effects of whatsoever kind, nature or quality the same may be; and the same to sell, grant, demise, alien or dispose of; to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, answer and be answered, defend and be defended in courts of record, or any other place whatsoever; and also to make and have a common seal and the same to break, alter and amend at their pleasure; and also to ordain, establish and put in execution such by-laws, rules and regulations as shall seem necessary, or be convenient for the government of the said corporation—Provided, that such by-laws, rules and regulations be not contrary to the constitution and laws of this State, or of the United States; and generally to do and perform all and singular, such acts, matters and things as to them shall or may appertain, for the purpose of carrying into effect the objects of the association—subject nevertheless, to the rules, regulations, limitations and provisions hereinafter expressed and provided.

Name.

Privileges.

55. Sec. V. For the well ordering of the affairs of the said corporation, there shall be five directors, who shall be elected by the stockholders at any time after the stock of the said company, or one half thereof at least, shall have been subscribed for, and the sum of $5,000 or more, paid into the hands of the commissioners hereinbefore named; which said election shall be held in the city of Augusta, at such place and time as shall be appointed by the said commissioners and of which they shall at least give ten days' notice in one of the public gazettes of the city—at which said election, and each and every subsequent election of directors, a plurality of the votes given in shall be sufficient to make a choice. And the directors who may be chosen at the first election, shall hold their offices until the first Monday in October in the year 1834, and until their successors are elected and qualified—and in each and every year thereafter, on the first Monday in October, the directors shall be chosen by the stockholders or proprietors of the capital stock of said corporation, and those who shall be duly chosen at any election, shall be capable of serving as directors by virtue of such choice until the end or expiration of the first Monday in October next ensuing, the time of such election, and until their successors shall be elected and qualified. And the said directors at their first meeting after each election shall choose one of their number as president; and in case of his death, resignation, or removal from the State, or from board of directors, the said directors shall proceed to fill the vacancy by a new election, for the remainder of the year—Provided, always that in case it should at any time happen that an election of directors should not be made upon any day when pursuant to this act it ought to have been made, the said corporation shall not for that cause be deemed to be dissolved; but it shall be lawful on any other day to hold and make an election of directors in such manner as shall be ordained by the rules and by-laws of the said corporation—And Provided, that in case of the death, resignation, absence from the State, or removal of a director, his place may be filled up by a new choice for the remainder of the year, by the remaining directors.

Directors to be elected, and how,

annually.

President.

Elections failing.

56. Sec. VI. The directors for the time being, shall have power to appoint such officers and clerks under them as shall be necessary for executing the business of the said corporation; and to allow them such compensation for their services respectively as shall be reasonable; and shall be capable of exercising such other powers and authorities for the well governing and ordering the affairs of the said corporation as to them shall appear conducive to the interests of the same.

Other officers.

57. Sec. VII. The following rules, regulations, limitations and provisions shall form and be fundamental articles of the constitution of the said corporation.

Rules.

1st. The number of votes to which each stockholder shall be entitled, shall be according to the number of shares he shall hold, each share to be entitled to one vote—Provided, that no share or shares shall confer a right of suffrage which shall not have been held three calendar months previously to the day of election, and unless it be held by the person in whose name it appears absolutely and bona fide in his own right or in that of his wife, and for his or her sole use and benefit; or as executor, administrator or guardian; or in the right and use of some copartnership, corporation or society of which he or she may be a member, and not in trust for, or to the use of any other person: any stockholder being absent may authorize by power of attorney under seal, any other stockholder to vote for him, her or them.

Every share, one vote. How held.

Qualification of director.

2d. None but a stockholder, entitled in his own right to ten shares, and being a citizen of this State, shall be eligible as a director; and if any one of the directors shall at any time during the time for which he shall have been elected, cease to be a stockholder, his seat shall thereafter become vacated, and the remaining directors, or a majority of them shall at their next meeting pass an order declaring him no longer to be a director, and shall forthwith proceed to fill the vacancy.

3d. The directors shall make such compensation to the president for his services as shall appear to them reasonable.

Three make a board.

4th. Not less than three directors shall constitute a board for the transaction of business of whom the president shall always be one, except in cases of sickness or necessary absence in which case his place may be supplied by any director appointed by the board of directors present for that purpose.

Ten stockholders and 50 shares may call a meeting.

5th. A number of stockholders not less than ten who, together shall be proprietors of fifty shares or more, shall have power at any time to call a meeting of the stockholders for purposes relative to the institution, giving at least thirty days' notice in one of the public gazettes of the city of Augusta, specifying in such notice the object of such meeting.

Treasurer's
bond.

6th. The treasurer and agent of said company before he enters on the duties of his office shall give bond with two or more securities to the satisfaction of the directors in a sum not less than ten thousand dollars, with conditions for his good behavior and the faithful discharge of his duties.

May hold what real estate.

7th. The lands tenements and hereditaments which it shall be lawful for the said corporation to hold, shall be only such as shall be requisite for its immediate accommodation in relation to the convenient transaction of business; and such as shall have been bona fide mortgaged to it as security, or conveyed to it in satisfaction of debts previously contracted in the course of its dealings, or purchased at sales upon judgments which shall have been obtained for such debts.

Certificates
of stock.

8th. The directors shall have power to issue to the subscribers their certificates of stock, signed by the president, and countersigned by the treasurer, which shall be transferable on the books of the corporation, only by personal entry of the stockholder, his legal representatives or attorney duly authorized by special power under seal for that purpose.

Shall not be concerned in banking, insurance or commerce.

9th. The company shall in no case directly or indirectly, be concerned in banking or insurance, or in any commercial business except in such articles as are or may be necessary for, or manufactured by the said company; or such goods, wares or merchandise, as shall be truly transferred, conveyed or pledged to them by way of security for debts due and owing, or growing due to the said corporation, or purchased by them to secure such debts so due to the said corporation—or to effect the insurance on the property belonging to the company, or may be pledged to them for their security.

Contracts
how authenticated.

10th. The bills obligatory and of credit, notes and other contracts whatever on behalf of the said corporation, shall be binding and obligatory upon the said corporation: Provided the same be signed by the president and countersigned or attested by the treasurer of said company; and the funds of the said corporation shall in no case be held liable in law or equity, for any contract or engagement whatever, unless the same shall be so signed and countersigned or attested as aforesaid; and the books, papers and correspondence, and all the funds of the company, shall at all times be subject to the inspection of the board of directors and the stockholders when convened according Books, &c. open to inspection.

to the provisions of this act.

11th. Dividends of the profits of the corporation or of so much thereof as shall be deemed expedient and proper, shall be declared and paid half yearly (the first half after the said factory shall have been in operation excepted), and the said dividends shall be from time to time determined by a majority, at a meeting to be held for that purpose, and shall in no case exceed the amount of the net profits actually acquired by the corporation, so that the capital stock thereof shall never be impaired. Dividends.

12th. The directors shall keep fair and regular entries in a book to be provided for that purpose, of their proceedings, and on any question, when any director shall require it, the yeas and nays of the directors voting shall be duly inserted on the minutes, and those minutes be [at] all times, on demand, produced to the stockholders, when at a general meeting the same shall be required. Book of entries.

13th. The corporation shall exist and continue until the first day of January 1860—and immediately after the dissolution of the said corporation, effectual measures shall be taken by the directors last appointed and acting, for closing all the concerns of the company, and for dividing the capital and profits among the stockholders, according to their respective interests. Chartered till 1860.

58. Sec. VIII. [Temporary.]

59. The private property of the stockholders shall be bound and held liable for all contracts made by said company, and their individual property shall always be liable for any contract made by them whilst acting as stockholder after a transfer of the same. Private property liable.

An Act to incorporate a Cotton and Woollen Manufacturing Company in the county of Upson.—Approved Dec. 23d, 1833. Pam. 104.

60. From and after the passage of this act, there shall be established in the county of Upson, a cotton and woollen manufactory, and said manufacturing company shall be a corporation, and known by the name and style of "the New Providence Factory." The capital stock of said company, shall be the sum of $50,000, and said corporation shall continue and be in existence, for, and during the term of thirty-six years. Name. Cap. $50,000.

61. Sec. II. Joseph B. Smith and James S. Wheaton, their successors and assigns, shall be, and they are hereby created and constituted that corporation, by the name and style of the New Providence Factory, and by that name they are, and hereafter shall be able and capable in law to have, purchase, receive, possess, enjoy and retain to them and their successors, goods, chattels, lands, tenements, and hereditaments of all kinds whatsoever, and to sell, grant, demise, alien, or dispose of the same, to sue and be sued, to plead and be impleaded, to answer and be answered, to defend and be defended, in courts of record or any other place whatever, and also, to have and use a common seal, and the same to break, alter or amend at their pleasure, and also to ordain, establish and put into execution, such by-laws, rules and regulations, as shall seem necessary, or be convenient for the government of said corporation: Provided, that such by-laws, rules and regulations, be not contrary to the constitution and laws of this State, or of the United States, and generally, to do and perform all, and singular such acts, matters and things, as to them shall or may appertain, for the purpose of carrying into effect the object of said corporation. Powers and privileges.

62. Sec. III. For the well ordering the affairs of said corporation, the owners of the stock may, from time to time, elect five directors, each hundred dollars' worth of said stock to be entitled to one vote; Directors. Each $100, one vote.

such election to take place at such time as the company, by its laws, may appoint, and said directors shall appoint from their number a president, and said directors and president shall hold their offices for one year, and until their successors are elected, and not less than three directors shall constitute a board; the said directors shall have power to employ such agents as they may deem necessary, to carry on the business of said company.

63. Sec. IV. The bills obligatory, and of credit, notes and other contracts whatever, on behalf of said corporation, shall not be binding and obligatory on said corporation, unless the same be signed by the president and countersigned or attested by the clerk of said company, and the funds of said corporation shall, in no case be held liable in law or in equity, for any contract or engagement whatever, unless the same shall be signed by the president and countersigned by the clerk as aforesaid, and the books, papers and correspondence, and all the funds of the company, shall, at all times, be subject to the inspection of the board of directors or to a majority of the stockholders, whenever they may demand it. The profits or dividends of said corporation, or so much thereof as the directors may deem expedient and proper, shall be declared and paid once in each year. The directors shall keep fair and regular entries in a book to be provided for that purpose of their proceedings, which books shall at all times be produced to the stockholders at a general meeting.

64. Sec. V. The private property of the stockholders, shall be bound and held liable for all contracts made by said company, during the time that the individual was a stockholder in said company, but when an individual ceases to be a stockholder, his liability shall cease as to contracts made thereafter by said company.

65. Sec. VI. The officers of said corporation shall consist of a president, a clerk and such other officers as the said five directors, shall, from time to time ordain and appoint; and the owners of the capital of said company, shall have full power to sell out their stock in shares of a hundred dollars each, and all persons purchasing stock so sold, shall, after complying with the terms of the sale, have and enjoy all the rights and privileges of stockholders, according to the number of shares they may own.

Sec. VII. All laws and parts of laws, militating against this act, are hereby repealed.

An Act to incorporate Franklin Factory in the county of Upson, and the Camak Manufacturing Company of Clark county.—Approved Dec. 21, 1833. Pam. 106.*

66. From and immediately after the passage of this act, Daniel Luther, Jackson Sprague, Willis Jonnigen and Dwight R. Perry, be, and they are hereby appointed commissioners of Franklin Factory in the county of Upson.

67. Sec. II. The commissioners aforesaid, or a majority of them, or their successors in office, shall have full power and authority to pass such by-laws or ordinances as they may deem necessary for the good order and government of said factory: Provided, the same be not repugnant to the constitution and laws of this State, and shall have full power and authority to appoint such other officers as they or a majority of them may deem necessary to carry the said by-laws into effect, and to remove the same from office for misconduct or neglect of duty.

* Name changed to that of Princeton Factory, see Sec. 73.

68. Sec. III. When any vacancy may happen by death, resignation or otherwise, of any of the commissioners or other officer appointed by virtue of this act, the board of commissioners, or a majority of them, shall fill such vacancy or vacancies in such manner as they may point out in their by-laws.

69. Sec. IV. James Camak, Thomas Mitchell, Elizur L. Newton, William Lumpkin, Daniel Grant, Thomas Grant, R. M. Orme, Hugh Craft, Asbury Hull and Edward R. Ware, be, and they are hereby constituted a body corporate, by the name and style of the Camak Manufacturing Company of Clark county, for the purpose of erecting a cotton and woollen factory on the middle fork of the Oconee river, in the county of Clark, and for the purpose of erecting and carrying on such other machineries as they may think most conducive to their interest. Princeton Factory
incorporated.

70. Sec. V. Said corporate body shall be liable and capable in law, to sue and be sued, implead and be impleaded, to use a common seal, and the same to alter and change at pleasure, to buy and sell, to have and to hold property both real and personal, and to have all and singular the rights, titles and privileges of a body corporate and politic, with power to appoint such officers, and to pass, alter and repeal, at such times as they may think proper, such by-laws and regulations for the government and interest of such corporation, as they may think most conducive to the welfare of such corporation: Provided, such by-laws and regulations be not repugnant to the constitution and laws of this State or of the United States. Powers.

71. Sec. VI. Each and every member of said corporate body, may at any time sell and convey their interest in the property of said corporation, both real and personal, under such regulations and rules as may be adopted by said corporation, and upon the death of any of the members of the corporation, their interest in the corporate property shall pass to the legal heirs of said member, and that such legal heir or heirs, or purchaser, shall have all the power and privileges as are hereby conveyed to the above named individuals. Stockholders may sell.

72. Sec. VII. The said commissioners or a majority of them respectively, shall have full power and authority to lay out and define the boundaries of said incorporations, in such way and manner as they may deem necessary and proper: Provided, the same shall not exceed ten acres of land, which shall include the factory edifice. Boundaries.

An Act to amend the fourth section of an act passed the 21st day of Dec. 1833, entitled "an act to incorporate Franklin Factory in the county of Upson, and the Camak Manufacturing Company of Clark county," so far as to change the name of the latter to that of Princeton Factory.—Approved Dec. 20, 1834. Pam. 140.

73. From and immediately after the passage of this act the corporate name and style of the Camak Manufacturing Company of Clark county be changed to that of "Princeton Factory;" and that all the corporate rights and powers granted to the corporation under its former name by the act to which this is amendatory, be, and the same are hereby declared to continue, attach, and belong to the same under its aforesaid latter name. Name changed.

Sec. II. All laws and parts of laws militating against this act are hereby repealed.

An Act to incorporate the Atlantic and New-Orleans Seaboard Line Company.—Approved Dec. 20, 1834. Pam. 135.

Whereas, Joseph Cumming, Samuel B. Parkman, George Hall, Robert Habersham, Anthony Porter, Ralph King, William Duncan, and others, have by their petition represented that, with a view to establish a shorter, more safe, and expeditious route from the Atlantic seaboard to New-Orleans than the one round the cape of Florida, they have formed themselves into an association, under the name and style of the Atlantic and New-Orleans Seaboard Line Company; and in order to ensure and establish their said association in a permanent and effectual manner, so that the attainment of their object may be more facilitated, have prayed the legislature to grant them an act of incorporation—

Incorporated.	74. Be it therefore enacted , That the said Joseph Cumming, Samuel B. Parkman, George Hall, Robert Habersham, Anthony Porter, Ralph King, William Duncan, and their associates, be, and they are hereby declared a body corporate, by the name and style of the Atlantic and New-Orleans Seaboard Line Company; and by the said name shall have perpetual succession of officers and members, with power by their said corporate name to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, and of using all necessary and lawful means for recovering or defending any property, debts, or demands which they may have or claim in behalf of said company; to hold real and personal estate, to have a common seal, and the same at pleasure to alter or change; and with power to make, alter, change, and amend such by-laws as may be necessary and agreed on by the said company; Provided , such laws be not repugnant to the constitution and laws of this State: and the said corporation are hereby invested with all the usual privileges, powers, advantages, and rights of incorporated companies.
Capital, $250,000.	75. Sec. II. The capital stock of said company shall be the sum of $250,000, to be divided into shares of five hundred dollars each, with liberty to increase the said capital stock to one million of dollars.
Stock, how paid in.	76. Sec. III. The sums subscribed for shall be payable in manner following, i. e. ten per cent. at the time of subscribing, and the balance of the sum so subscribed at such time or times as the directors of said company may require and direct: Provided , that sixty days' notice of the time at which payment be required to be made shall be given in one of the gazettes of Savannah.
Defaulters, forfeit.	77. Sec. IV. If there should be a failure in the payment of any sum subscribed when the same is or may be required to be paid as aforesaid, the share or shares on which such failure should happen shall be forfeited, and may be again sold and disposed of as the directors shall order and provide, and the sum which shall have been paid shall accrue to the benefit of said corporation.
Five direc- tors chosen	78. Sec. V. For the well ordering of the affairs of said corporation there shall be five directors elected by the stockholders of said company, under the superintendence of said commissioners at Savannah, so soon as ten per cent. of the capital stock of said company shall have been received on account of subscriptions of said stock; of which thirty days' notice shall be given by the above-named commissioners: and the persons duly chosen shall continue in office until the first Monday in February next ensuing the time of such election; and the same number of directors shall be elected annually at the city of Savannah on the said first Monday in February in each and every year thereafter by the stockholders; and the said directors at their first annually.

meeting after such election shall choose one of their number as president, and in case of his death, resignation, or removal from the State or from the board of direction, the said directors shall proceed to fill the vacancy by a new election for the remainder of the year: provided, that in case it should happen at any time that an election of directors should not be made at any day when pursuant to this act it ought to have been made, the said corporation shall not for that cause be deemed to be dissolved, but it shall and may be lawful to hold an election of directors on any other day in such manner as shall have been regulated by the by-laws or ordinances of said corporation.

79. Sec. VI. The directors for the time being shall have power to appoint such officers, clerks, and servants as they may deem necessary, and to allow them such compensation for their services respectively as they may deem reasonable.

80. Sec. VII. In the election for directors each stockholder shall be entitled to one vote for each share of the capital stock held by him or them; provided, that no stockholder shall be entitled to more than one hundred votes: that the stockholders may vote by proxy; but no person but a stockholder shall be eligible as a director.

81. Sec. VIII. A majority of the directors shall constitute a board for the transaction of business, of whom the president shall be one, except in cases of sickness or necessary absence, in which case his place may be supplied by any director, to be elected president pro tem. by a majority of the board present.

82. Sec. IX. The treasurer of said company shall give bond and security to the satisfaction of the directors, and for such amount as they may deem proper.

83. Sec. X. The directors shall have power to issue to the subscribers their certificates of stock, which shall be transferable on the books of the treasurer only by the personal entry of the stockholder, or his legal representative or attorney, duly authorized by special power for that purpose.

84. Sec. XI. No contract or engagement whatever shall be binding upon the said corporation, unless the same shall be signed by the president, and countersigned by the secretary of said corporation.

85. Sec. XII. Dividends of the profits of the corporation, or so much as shall be deemed expedient, shall be declared and paid half yearly, the amount of such dividends to be determined from time to time by a majority of the directors at a meeting to be held for that purpose, but shall in no case exceed the net profits actually acquired by said corporation; so that the capital stock shall never be impaired.

86. Sec. XIII. The directors shall keep fair and regular entries of their proceedings, which shall be produced at any meeting of the stockholders of said company, which meeting may be called at any time by the persons owning one-third of the capital stock of said company, giving sixty days' notice of the time and place of such meeting in one of the public gazettes of Savannah; and at any such meeting the persons owning a majority of the shares of the capital stock of said company may determine that the business of the said corporation shall be closed and its affairs wound up.

An Act to incorporate certain persons under the name and style of "The Richmond Factory."—Approved Dec. 19, 1834. Pam. 139.

Whereas, William Schley, Daniel Hook, Philip Thomas Schley, Daniel Hack, and George Schley, Jr. have formed themselves into a company by the name and style of "The Richmond Factory," for the purpose of manufacturing cotton and wool, and making the machinery necessary and proper for the manufacture of those articles; and whereas the said company have invested a large sum of money in prosecution of their design by purchasing a tract of land and water-power on Spirit creek, in the county of Richmond and State of Georgia, and the purchase of machinery which they now have in full operation; and whereas, for the more conveniently carrying on the operations of the said company, the said persons desire an act of incorporation—

Incorporated. 87. Be it therefore enacted, That the said William Schley, Daniel Hook, Philip Thomas Schley, Daniel Hack, and George Schley, Jr., and such persons as may hereafter become subscribers and stockholders in said company, and their successors and assigns, shall be, and they are hereby created and constituted a body politic and corporate, by the name and style of "The Richmond Factory," and by that name shall be, and they are hereby made able and capable in law to have, purchase, receive, possess, enjoy, and retain, to them and their successors and assigns, lands, rents, tenements, hereditaments, goods, chattels, and effects, of whatsoever kind, nature, or quality the same may be, and the same to sell, grant, demise, alien, and dispose of; to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, answer and be answered unto, defend and be defended, in any court of law or equity, or any other place whatsoever; and also to make and have a common seal, and the same to break, alter, or amend at their pleasure; and also to ordain, establish, and put in execution such by-laws, rules, and regulations as shall be necessary and proper for the government of said corporation, provided they be not repugnant to the laws and constitution of this State or the United States; and generally to do and perform all and singular such acts, matters, and things as corporations may legally do and perform for the purpose of carrying into effect the objects of the association.

Name.

Privileges.

An Act to incorporate the Skull-shoals Manufacturing Company in the county of Greene.—Approved Dec. 22, 1834. Pam. 141.

Incorporated. 88. Thos. N. Paullain, Stephens Thomas, Thomas Wray, Ephraim S. Hopping, and Albert G. Wray, with all such persons as may hereafter become interested in said company, be, and they are hereby incorporated and made a body politic, by the name and style of the "Skull-shoals Manufacturing Company;" and by that name shall be, and are hereby made able and capable in law to have, purchase, and receive, and retain, to them and their successors, lands, rents, tenements, goods, chattels, and effects of what kind soever, and the same to sell and dispose of; to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, answer and be answered, defend and be defended, in courts of record or any other place whatsoever, and to make, have, and use a common seal, and the same to alter at pleasure; the said company may also make such by-laws as they may deem necessary for their interest, provided they are not repugnant to the constitution or laws of this State; and to select and appoint all such agents, officers, or servants as may be necessary for the discharge of the business of said company.

Name.

Powers.

Company may contract, 89. Sec. II. Said company shall be, and they are hereby fully authorized to make all contracts which may be necessary for the benefit of said company, in their corporate name; and that all judgments which may be obtained against said corporation for any liability which they may incur may be enforced and collected out of the property belonging to said corporation, or the property of any or all of the individuals composing said company, as though the same had been obtained against every member of said company in their joint and several names as individuals.

and each individual liable.

90. Sec. III. Each and every member of said corporate body may at any time sell and convey their interest in the property of said corporation, both real and personal, under such rules and regulations as may be adopted by said corporation; and upon the death of any of the members of the corporation, their interest in the corporate property shall pass to the legal heirs of said member, or his legatee or legatees; and that such purchaser, legal heirs, or legatee or legatees, shall have all the power and privileges as are hereby conveyed to the above-named corporators.

Stockholders
may sell.

Rights of descent.

91. Sec. IV. In case of the death of any member of the said corporation, the survivors shall be authorized to continue and transact, and carry on the affairs of said corporation as though said death had not happened; and whoever shall be entitled to the interest of said deceased person shall, if he be administrator or executor, heir or legatee, hold the same in the same manner that said deceased did during life.

Surviving proprietors.

An Act to incorporate the Pigeon-roost Mining Company and the Belfast Mining Company of Lumpkin county.—Approved Dec. 20, 1834. Pam. 143.

Whereas, it is represented that Allen Matthews and others concerned with him are possessed of the following lots of land containing gold therein, to wit:—lots number seven hundred and twenty-seven, eight hundred and seventeen, and six hundred and sixty-two, in the twelfth district of the first section in Lumpkin county, and also lot number one hundred and sixty-three in the eleventh district of formerly Hall, but now Lumpkin county, together with mills, machinery, and other property connected with the mining business carried on in said mines; and whereas it is proposed by said company to enlarge the said business of said mining operations; therefore—

92. Be it enacted, That the said Allen Matthews and company, and such others as may hereafter be concerned with them, and their successors, heirs, and assigns, be, and they are hereby created a body politic, by the name and style of “The Pigeon-roost Mining Company of Lumpkin county;” and that as such they may be capable of suing and being sued, may plead and be impleaded, contract and be contracted with, and may establish and use a common seal.

Pigeon-roost,
incorporated.

Privileges.

93. Sec. II. As soon as practicable after the passage of this act, said company may and are hereby authorized to establish a constitution, prescribing the fundamental rules for their government and action; which constitution shall not be altered or varied at any time thereafter without the unanimous consent, in writing, signed by all the stockholders: and said company may appoint a competent number of directors for conducting said business, and prescribe their duty and authority; which said constitution, rules, laws, and regulations established by said company, or under their authority, shall be good, valid, and binding: Provided, that the same be not contrary to the constitution or laws of this State or of the United States.

Further
powers.

Directors.

94. Sec. III. In case said company wish to enlarge said business, they have full power and authority to open books of subscription for stock in the same, under such rules and regulations as they may establish.

May enlarge their stock.

95. Sec. IV. Should said company create or cause to be created any debt or debts, the private property of the shareholders therein, as well as the property of said corporation, shall be held and absolutely bound for the payment thereof.

Private property liable.

Belfast,
incorporated.

96. Sec. V. Alfred B. Holt, John Humphries, James P. Haynes, John Madden, Josiah Shaw, Richard S. Perssee, and John M'Leod, and their successors in office, be, and they are hereby incorporated, under the style of "The Belfast Mining Company;" and as such are vested with all the powers and privileges, and subject to all liabilities common to incorporated companies.

Books
opened.

97. Sec. VI. The said directors shall open books for subscription for stock in said company at such time and places as they may deem advisable: the capital stock of said company shall be $500,000, divided into 5,000 shares of $100 each.

Capital,
$500,000.

Directors
elected.
One vote for
each share.

98. Sec. VII. The directors of said company shall be elected annually, on the first Monday in August, by the stockholders, each share having one vote; elections of directors to be superintended by one justice of the peace and one freeholder, and to be held at Dahlenega, Lumpkin county: the directors shall elect one of their body president, and make all by-laws for their regulation: Provided, they be not repugnant to the laws and constitution of this State or the United States.

President.

Private property liable
again.

99. Sec. VIII. The individual property of the shareholders, as well as the property of the company, shall be bound and held liable for all debts contracted by said company.

An Act to incorporate the Auraria and Blue Ridge Turnpike Company, and the Union Turnpike Company, and to grant certain privileges to the same—Approved Dec. 22, 1834. Pam. 200.

Whereas, the construction of good roads by individual enterprize is laudable and ought to be encouraged, therefore—

Blue Ridge Turnpike Co.
incorporated.

100. Be it enacted, That for the purpose of constructing a turnpike-road from Auraria, in Lumpkin county, to some eligible point on the northern boundary of this State, in a direction towards Athens in the State of Tennessee, that Samuel King, Thomas King, and William I. King of M'Intosh county, and Reuben Hutchinson of Lumpkin county, and Woody Jackson of Oglethorpe county, and such other persons as they may associate with them, and their assigns, shall hereafter be a body corporate by the name and style of the Auraria and Blue Ridge Turnpike Company; and by said corporate name shall be capable in law to buy, hold, and sell real and personal estate, make contracts, sue and be sued, to make by-laws, and to do all lawful acts properly incident to a corporation, and necessary and proper to the transaction of the business for which it is incorporated; and to have and use a common seal, and the same to alter and destroy at its pleasure.

Powers.

May construct a turnpike.

101. Sec. II. Said corporation be, and it is hereby authorized and empowered to make, construct, and maintain a turnpike-road of suitable width in the most proper and practicable route from the village of Auraria in the county of Lumpkin to a point to be by them ascertained and selected on the northern boundary line of this State, in or near the direction towards Athens in the State of Tennessee: Provided, that in all and every case where land or timber or other materials necessary for the construction of said road or the repairs thereof, and the same cannot, for want of agreement of the parties as to price, or for any other cause, be purchased from the owner or owners thereof, the same may be taken at a valuation to be ascertained in the following manner, viz.—the corporation shall choose one person, the owner or owners of the land or materials one, and the inferior court of the county in which the property may be one; all of whom shall be free-

Land or materials may be taken at valuation.

How valued.

Appraisers to be chosen.

holders: and in case either the corporation or the owner of the land or other property shall fail or refuse to select a person, then the inferior court to make the selection; and said persons, when selected, shall be notified of the time when and the place where they are to meet, which place shall be at or upon the property in dispute; and said arbitrators, before entering upon the duties assigned them, shall take and subscribe the following oath:—"I, A. B., do solemnly swear that I will render a true verdict according to the circumstances of the case now submitted to me, taking into consideration the benefit arising to the owner or owners of the property by the construction of said road in his, her, or their neighborhood, as well as the damage done thereby." The award of whom shall operate as a judgment for the amount against the party cast by it, and shall be enforced by an execution from the inferior court: Provided, nevertheless, that either party shall have the right of appeal to be tried by a special jury at the next term thereafter of the superior court of the county, and the decision shall vest in the company the fee-simple, if it be land: Provided, that the company may abandon the right to the property condemned, at any time within twenty days after the final decision of the special jury, by filing a notice to that effect in the office of the clerk of the superior court, in which case the judgment shall be void, except as to costs.

Their oath.

Appeal.

Abandonment.

102. Sec. III. [Temporary.]

103. Sec. IV. The said company shall have full power and authority to carry said road across all rivers, creeks, waters, or water-courses that may lie in the route thereof, by bridges or other proper means: Provided, that if said road shall cross any navigable water-course, the same shall be so constructed as not to impede the navigation thereof.

May cross waters.

104. Sec. V. The said turnpike-road and the appurtenances thereto shall not be subject to be taxed higher than one per centum upon its annual net income.

Tax.

105. Sec. VI. Any person injuring the property of said company, or who shall throw earth, stones, trees, logs, rubbish, or any other matter or thing whatever, upon said road or its appurtenances, or shall dig up or in any manner destroy said road or any of its bridges, gates, houses, or other appendages of the same, shall be punished by indictment for a misdemeanor, and on conviction may be fined and imprisoned at the discretion of the court, and shall also be liable for such damages as may be occasioned thereby, to be recovered by action at the suit of said company, or of any person aggrieved, in any court having jurisdiction.

Persons injuring the road, may be punished.

106. Sec. VII. Said company shall have power to erect such a number of toll-gates upon said road and at such places as they may judge best and most convenient for the collection of toll upon said road, and may charge, demand, and collect the following rates of toll, viz.—For every wagon denominated a wheel-wagon drawn by four or more horses or oxen, two cents per mile; for every four-wheel carriage denominated a stage or pleasure-carriage, three cents per mile; for every Jersey wagon, or wagon drawn by two horses, and all pleasure-carriages having but two wheels, one and a half cents per mile; for every cart drawn by oxen, one cent per mile; for each man and horse, five mills per mile; for each horse, mule, or jack, led or driven, two and a half mills per mile; for each head of neat cattle, one and a half mill per mile; for each head of sheep or hogs, one mill per mile.

Toll-gates.

Rates of toll.

107. Sec. VIII. The turnpike-road authorized and granted by this act shall vest in said company, their heirs and assigns, in fee-simple.

Fee-simple inheritance.

Reservation
to the State.

Provided, however, that the State reserves the right to purchase said road at a fair valuation, after the lapse of twenty years from its completion; the valuation to be ascertained by agreement between the company or agents appointed by them, and agents or commissioners appointed on the part of the State for that purpose.

When to be begun and finished.

108. Sec. IX. The turnpike-road authorized and granted by this act shall be commenced within one year from the first day of January next, and shall be finished within three years after the aforesaid first day of January next; and on failure thereof this charter shall be forfeited.

Exclusive right for 15
years.

109. Sec. X. No other turnpike-road, rail-road, or canal, running laterally, and within ten miles of this turnpike-road, shall be granted during the term of fifteen years from its completion.

Union Turnpike Co.
Incorporated.

110. Sec. XI. John Lyon, Joel Dickinson, and company shall hereafter be a body corporate, by the name and style of the Union Turnpike Company, for the purpose of constructing a turnpike-road from Landsville, in Habersham county, through the Tesintee Gap on the Blue Ridge, by the way of Blairsville, to some eligible point on the northern boundary of this State, in a direction towards the Tellico Plains in the State of Tennessee.

In the same manner as the foregoing.

111. Sec. XII. The said Union Turnpike Company shall be governed in all things by the provisions and stipulations of this act, and be entitled to all the privileges, benefits, and immunities in the same manner and on the same conditions and liabilities as the said Auraria and Blue Ridge Turnpike Company are or may be in and by this act.

An Act to be entitled an act to incorporate the Eatonton Manufacturing Company in the county of Putnam, and to confer certain privileges on the same.—Approved Dec. 19, 1835. Pam. 127.

Incorporated.

112. Sec. I. Josiah Flournoy, James Whitfield, Joly Hudson, John G. Luinsden, Stephen B. Marshall and A. D. Gatewood be, and they are hereby constituted a body corporate, by the name and style of the Eatonton Manufacturing Company of the county of Putnam, for the purpose of erecting and carrying on a cotton and woollen factory on Little river in said county.

Powers.

113. Sec. II. Said corporate body shall be capable and liable in law to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, to use a common seal, and the same to alter and change at pleasure, to buy and sell, to have and to hold property both real and personal; with power to appoint such officers, and to pass, alter and repeal, at such times as they may think proper, such by-laws and regulations for the government and interest of such corporation as they may think most conducive to the welfare of such corporation: Provided, such by-laws and regulations be not repugnant to the constitution and laws of this State, or of the United States.

How the property shall be held, be transferred or descend.

114. Sec. III. Each and every member of said corporate body, may sell and convey their interest in the property of said corporation both real and personal, under such regulations and rules as may be adopted by said corporation; and upon the death of any of the members of the same, their interest in said corporate property shall pass to the legal heirs of said members, and that such legal heirs or purchasers shall have the same powers and privileges as are hereby conveyed to the above named individuals.

An Act to incorporate the Georgia Mining Company, the Chestatee Mining Company, and the Cherokee Mining Company.—Approved Dec. 21, 1835. Pam. 128.

Whereas, John P. Williamson, James Floyd, A. B. Fanning, Charles P. Gordon, and Richard Dennis, are possessed of sundry lots containing gold, in the counties of Hall, Habersham and Lumpkin; and whereas, it is desirable to the parties to extend their operations in the mining business; therefore—

115. Sec. I. Be it enacted, That the said John P. Williamson, James Floyd, A. B. Fanning, Charles P. Gordon, and Richard Dennis, and such others as may hereafter be concerned with them and their successors, heirs and assigns, be, and they are hereby created a body corporate and politic, by the name and style of the "Georgia Mining Company," and that as such, they may be capable of suing and being sued, may plead and be impleaded, contract and be contracted with, and may establish and use a common seal.

Preamble.

Geo. Min. Co.
incorporated.

Name.

116. Sec. II. Charles J. McDonald, Farish Carter, and Henry M. Clay, and all such persons as now are, or hereafter may become stockholders, and their successors and assigns shall be, and they are hereby created and constituted a corporation and body politic, by the name and style of the "Chestatee Mining Company;" the stock whereof shall be $100,000, with the privilege of increasing the same to $200,000, if a majority of the stockholders shall deem it expedient to do so.

Chestatee
Min. Com'y.
incorporated.

117. Sec. III. So soon as practicable after the passage of this act, said companies may be, and are hereby authorized to establish, each, a constitution, prescribing the fundamental rules for their government and actions; which constitution shall not be altered or varied at any time thereafter, without the consent, in writing, signed by two-thirds of the stockholders, or their legal representatives respectively; and said companies may each appoint a competent number of directors for conducting its concerns, and prescribe their duty and authority, which said constitution, rules, laws and regulations established by said company, or under their authority, shall be good, valid and binding; Provided, they be not contrary to the laws of this State or of the United States.

Their corporate powers.

118. Sec. IV. The said directors shall open books for subscription for stock in said companies, at such time and places as they may deem advisable. The capital stock of said Georgia Mining Company shall be $100,000, divided into shares of $100 each.

Opening books.

Capital,
$100,000.

119. Sec. V. Said companies shall be capable in law respectively of purchasing, holding and conveying any estate, real and personal, necessary for their mining purposes, and no other.

Both comp.
may hold real estate.

120. Sec. VI. The directors of said companies shall be elected annually, on the first Tuesday in December, commencing in the year 1836, each share of stock entitling its holder to one vote; elections of directors to be held at such time and place as may be designated by the directors for the time being, after thirty days' notice thereof being given in one or more public gazettes: to be superintended by two justices of the peace not stockholders.

Election of directors.

A vote to
each share.

121. Sec. VII. William B. Wofford, Thomas J. Park, John N. Rose, Richard S. Park and Wallace H. Park, and such others as may become associates with them, and their successors, heirs and assigns be, and they are hereby incorporated under the name and style of the Cherokee Mining Company, and as such are vested with all the powers

Cherokee
Mining Co.
incorporated with the usual powers.

and privileges, and subject to all the liabilities common to incorporated mining companies.

Opening books.

122. Sec. VIII. The said directors shall open books for the subscription for stock in said company, at such time and places as they may deem advisable: the capital stock of said company shall be $100,000, divided into shares of $100 each.

Capital, $100,000.

Election of directors. Each share one vote.

123. Sec. IX. The directors of said company shall be elected annually, on the first Monday in March, by the stockholders, each share having one vote: elections of directors to be superintended by one justice of the peace and one freeholder, and to be held at Dahlonega, Lumpkin county; and the directors shall elect one of their body president, and make all by-laws for their government and regulation: Provided, such by-laws be not repugnant to the laws and constitution of this State, or the United States.

May hold real estate.

124. Sec. X. Said company shall be capable in law of purchasing, holding and conveying any estate, real and personal, necessary for their mining purposes, and no other.

Stockholders individually liable pro rata.

125. Sec. XI. The persons and property of the stockholders shall be held and deemed liable for all debts or contracts due or owed by said companies respectively, to the amount of the value of each share or shares that each individual or company may subscribe for or hold in said companies.

These charters for 25 years.

126. Sec. XII. Said charters shall be and remain in full force for the space of twenty-five years from and after the passage of said act, and no longer; and that the said incorporation shall expire at the end of twenty-five years from the passage of this act.

An Act to incorporate the Central and Western Wharf Company, in Augusta.—Approved Dec. 21, 1835. Pam. 132.

Preamble.

Whereas, David F. Halsey, Pleasant Stovall, Jacob Moise, Samuel Clark, J. K. Kilburn, J. M. Adams, and others, have become proprietors of certain lots or parcels of ground on Savannah river, between Bay street and said river, and known as the Western and Central Wharves, and have built and are erecting thereon ranges of wharves, and have formed an association, called the Western and Central Wharf Company—

Incorporated.

127. Be it therefore enacted, That the several stock or shareholders in said wharves, and their successors, shall be, and they are hereby declared to be a body corporate, by the name and style of the "Central and Western Wharf Company in Augusta," and under that name and style may sue and be sued, defend and be defended, in any court of law or equity in this State, and shall moreover be entitled to all the privileges of a corporation or body politic: Provided, any rules or regulations they may make or establish, be not repugnant to the laws or constitution of this State or the United States: Provided, said company shall hold no property other than the wharves mentioned, and such as may be incidental to their business as a wharf company: and provided further, that the members of said corporation shall be individually liable in their persons and property for all debts and engagements of the company.

Power.

What real estate may be held.

Individual liability.

An Act to be entitled an act to incorporate the Columbus Wharf Company and to regulate the mode of collecting wharfage.—Approved Dec. 26, 1835. Pam. 133.

Incorporated.

128. Sec. I. From and after the passing of this act, the persons now known as the Columbus Wharf Company: viz. Daniel M'Dougald, Asa Bates, Alfred Iverson, Hampton S. Smith, Stewart and Fountain, James S. Calhoun and Co. and S. K. Hodges and Co., be, and they are hereby declared to be a body corporate, under the name and style of the Columbus Wharf Company, and they and their successors, heirs and assigns, shall have full power to act as a body corporate, and to pass such by-laws for the government of said company as they shall deem proper, not inconsistent with the laws and constitution of this State or the United States, the ordinances of said town and the fundamental articles of agreement made and entered into by and between the persons aforesaid; and that said persons shall have power to sue and be sued, &c. in their said corporate name and character in any court of law in this State.

Corporate
powers.

129. Sec. II. The said company shall have power to charge such wharfage upon all goods, wares or merchandize, cotton or other article, as established by the intendant and commissioners of said town of Columbus, which may be shipped from, or landed upon their wharves; and in any suit which may be instituted to recover the same, a sworn copy of the bill of lading or freight bill, attested by the regular officers of the boat or barge upon which the same may be shipped, shall be prima facie evidence in favor of the plaintiff's demand: Provided, that nothing shall be so construed as to prevent either party from a further and more formal legal examination of such witness, if he or they shall think fit.

May charge
wharfage.

Bill of lading,
prima facie
evidence.

130. Sec. III. When any person shall refuse to pay wharfage for any cotton, goods, wares or merchandize or other article shipped from or landed upon the wharves of the said company, the said company shall, upon oath being made to the correctness of the account for wharfage by the wharfinger or other officer of said company, be authorized and empowered to seize, hold and detain a quantity of the cotton, goods, wares, merchandize or other article of such person or persons so refusing to settle, as shall be sufficient to pay the amount due, and shall also have power to sell the same at auction, and appropriate the same to the purpose aforesaid: Provided, that due notice be given to the owner or owners thereof of such sale; and provided, that the person claiming the same shall have the right to replace the same by giving bond and security, as in cases of rent.

May detain goods to pay wharfage.

131. Sec. IV. In all cases the person or persons shipping cotton, goods, wares or merchandize or other article, from off the wharves of the said company, the person or persons to whom the like articles shall be consigned when the same are landed upon said wharves, shall be liable for the wharfage thereon.

Consignee liable.

132. Sec. V. Each and every steam-boat or barge shall pay to said company the sum of $50 for each time she may land at said wharf, which sum, said company shall have power to collect by attachment against such boat or barge in any court having competent jurisdiction in said State, and the said boat or barge shall be liable therefor: Provided, that said sum shall and may be discharged, by a delivery to the wharfinger or other agent of said company, of a certified copy from under the hand of the proper officer of such boat or barge, of the freight bills or manifest of such boat or barge, both of her freight up and freight down, so as to enable said company to ascertain and charge the wharfage to the person or persons liable for the same, as hereinbefore pointed out.

Steam-boat
fee $50.

To be discharged by handing over the bill of lading.

An Act to incorporate the Columbus Insurance Company, and to define the powers and liabilities of the said company.—Approved Dec. 26, 1835. Pam. 118.

Books to be opened for stock.

133. Sec. I. The following persons, to wit, Thomas Preston, Jun., John Schley, Jun., and E. L. Wittich, all of the town of Columbus, in this State, be and they are hereby constituted a board of commissioners, whose duty, or a majority thereof, it shall be, to convene in the town of Columbus, on the first Monday of January, 1836, and open a book to receive subscriptions of stock in the Columbus Insurance Company, to be established in said town; and when the whole of said stock shall have been subscribed, shall authorize said company to commence business, and shall give public notice thereof, requesting a meeting of said stockholders, for the election of directors to manage the affairs of said company.

Election of directors and president.

134. Sec. II. For the well ordering of the affairs of said company, there shall be five directors, who shall be elected by the stockholders of said company, and whose duty it shall be to elect a president from their number.

Incorporated.

135. Sec. III. The said president and directors, and their successors shall be, and they are hereby declared to be, a body corporate in name and deed, and by the style and denomination of the "Columbus Insurance Company," and by that name and style shall have succession of officers and members for the term of thirty years, and a common seal to use, break, alter and amend at their pleasure; and to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, answer and be answered unto in any court of law or equity, in this State or elsewhere, having competent jurisdiction; and may make, ordain and establish such by-laws, rules and regulations, as they may deem expedient and necessary to carry into effect the objects of said company, and the same to change, alter and amend, as they may deem necessary and proper: Provided, such by-laws, rules and regulations, be not repugnant to the constitution or laws of this State or the United States.

Corporate powers.

Officers.

136. Sec. IV. The said president and directors shall have power to appoint a secretary, and such other officers as may be necessary for the management of the affairs of said company.

Capital, $100,000.

137. Sec. V. The capital stock of said company shall consist of $100,000, with the privilege of increasing the same at any time the directors may deem it necessary to $300,000, to be divided into shares of $100 each; and the said company may commence business so soon as twenty per cent. of the capital stock shall have been paid in, five per cent. at the time of subscribing, and the balance of said stock at such times as may be required by the directors.

When to commence business.

Individual liability in proportion to stock held within 6 mos. or less.

138. Sec. VI. The property of the stockholders shall be bound for all contracts or liabilities made or incurred by said company, in proportion to their amount of stock. And all transfers of stock which may be made within six months previous to the failure of said company, shall not release the property of such stockholders so transferring the same, from any liabilities or contracts which were incurred by said company during the time which he, she or they were stockholders.

An Act to be entitled An Act to incorporate the Georgia Insurance and Trust Company, to be located in the city of Augusta.—Approved Dec. 26, 1835. Pam. 120.

Incorporated.

139. Sec. I. There shall be established in the city of Augusta, an Insurance and Trust Company to be called and known as "The Georgia Insurance and Trust Company;" and all such persons as may hereafter become stockholders in said company, shall be, and they are hereby declared to be a body corporate and politic under the name and style aforesaid; by which they shall sue and be sued, answer and be answered unto in any court of law or equity in this State or elsewhere, and shall have and use a common seal, with power to alter the same at pleasure.

Corporate powers.

140. Sec. II. The capital stock of said company shall be $500,000, with the privilege of increasing it to $1,000,000 when the holders of a majority of the stock shall so determine, in shares of $100 each; but the said company shall be allowed to commence business as soon as $100,000 are paid into the hands of the commissioners hereinafter named, in specie or bills of any of the specie paying banks of this State; the balance of the stock subscribed to be paid in or added from the profits of the company, in such manner as the stockholders may direct by their by-laws. And if any stockholder or stockholders shall fail to pay any instalment as required by the by-laws, his, her or their stock, as well as all and any sum or sums of money previously paid thereon, shall be forfeited to the company.

Capital, $500,000, and may be doubled. When to commence business.

Forfeitures.

Sec. III. and IV. [Respecting the opening of books —Temporary.]

141. Sec. V. So soon as five thousand shares are subscribed for, and twenty dollars per share paid, the commissioners, or a majority of them, shall call a public meeting of the stockholders, to be held in the city of Augusta, at such time and place as they may designate, of which thirty days' notice shall be given in three of the public gazettes of said city; at which meeting the stockholders shall proceed to elect by ballot, (each share entitling the holder to one vote,) not less than thirteen nor more than twenty-one directors to manage the affairs and business of said company, each of whom shall own, in his own right, or as one of a partnership in right of the firm, not less than ten shares of the capital stock of said company, which directors shall continue in office till their successors are elected, at such time as may be regulated by the stockholders; to which board of directors the commissioners shall deliver the money received by them from the subscribers to the stock.

Election of directors.

Each share, one vote.

Qualification of directors.

142. Sec. VI. At the meeting provided for in the preceding section of this act, the stockholders shall, before they proceed to the election of directors, make and adopt such by-laws as they may think necessary and proper, in relation to the board of directors, the transfer of stock and the transaction of the business of the company: Provided, that such by-laws shall not be contrary to the constitution of the United States, or the constitution or laws of this State.

By-laws.

143. Sec. VII. So soon as the board of directors is elected and organized according to the by-laws of said company, the said company shall have full power and authority (under their common seal or otherwise) to make insurance on lives; to make insurance on houses, buildings and vessels of every description, goods, wares, merchandise, freight, bottomry, respondentia and interest, against risks of every kind and description; to borrow and lend money upon such terms as may be agreed on, at not exceeding an interest of eight per cent. per annum; to buy, sell and grant annuities; and also to cause themselves to be reinsured upon any risks upon which they have made insurances, and upon the interest they may have in any vessels, goods or merchandise in virtue of any loans on bottomry and respondentia. But nothing in this act contained shall authorize the said company to issue bank bills or exercise the privilege of banking.

May make insurances, borrow and lend money,

deal in annuities, and may re-insure.

Prohibited from banking.

144. Sec. VIII. All losses by insurance shall be paid by said com-

Payment of losses.

- pany within ninety days after proof of the loss has been furnished in cases not disputed; and in disputed cases, within ten days after final decision, or this charter shall be forfeited; and in all cases the sum due shall bear interest after ninety days from the time of furnishing proof of loss; and where any action is brought against said company in any court of law in this State, having jurisdiction thereof, the same shall stand in order for trial at the first term.
- Litigation.
- President. 145. Sec. IX. It shall be the duty of the board of directors, at their first meeting after their election, to appoint one of their body president of said company; and in case of the death, resignation, removal from this State of the president or any director, or in case he shall cease to be a stockholder, (as is required in the fifth section of this act,) the remaining directors shall fill his vacancy.
- Vacancy.
- Pres. nor director to owe more than $5,000. Liens to double amt of loans. 146. Sec. X. Neither the president nor any director of said company shall, at any time, owe or be responsible to said company for more than $5,000; and that in any case where money is lent by said company, except to banking institutions, or where good personal security is given, a lien upon property shall be taken to secure the repayment, but in no case shall a loan be made of more than half the value of the property pledged or mortgaged.
- Dividends. 147. Sec. XI. The board of directors shall at least twice a year, at such times as may be fixed by the by-laws of the company, make a dividend of so much of the profits of said company as to them, or a majority of them, shall seem advisable; but no dividend shall be declared except the capital paid in be and remain unimpaired.
- May deal in stocks, and hold necessary real estate. 148. Sec. XII. The said company may purchase, have, receive, hold, sell, assign and transfer at pleasure any bank stock, rail-road stock or other stock; but shall own no real estate except such as may be requisite for the convenient transaction of business, or such as may have been conveyed to it as security or in satisfaction of debts due to it, or purchased at any public sale or sales under process in its favor; and the privileges hereby granted shall be and continue in force for twenty-five years from the date of this act, and no longer.
- Chartered 25 years. 149. Sec. XIII. The property of the stockholders shall be bound for all contracts or liabilities made by said company to the amount of their stock, so long as he, she or they shall continue a stockholder; and all transfers of stock six months previous to the failure of said company shall not release the person or persons so transferring the same from any contracts or liabilities which were incurred whilst they were stockholders.
- Ind. liability according to stock held within 6 mos. or less.

An Act, to incorporate the Flat Shoal Creek Manufacturing Company, in the county of Harris, and to incorporate the Columbus Canal and Water Company, in the city of Columbus.—Approved Dec. 24, 1836. Pam. 141.

Flat Shoal Creek Man's Company incorporated.

150. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That Alfred Iverson, Jacob M. Guerry, and such others as may be associated with them, be, and they are hereby incorporated and made a body politic, by the name and style of the Flat Shoal Creek Manufacturing Company, and by that name, shall be, and are hereby made able and capable in law, to have, purchase, and receive, and retain to them, and their successors, lands, rents, tenements, goods, chattels and effects of what kind soever, and the same to sell and dispose of; to sue and be sued; plead and be impleaded; answer and be answered; defend and be defended in courts of record, or any other place whatsoever; and to make, have and use a common seal, and the same to alter at pleasure; the said company may also make such by-laws as they may deem necessary for their interest: Provided, they are not repugnant to the constitution or laws of this State; and to select and appoint all such agents, officers or servants, as may be necessary for the discharge of the business of said company.

151. Sec. II. Said company shall be, and they are hereby fully authorized to make all contracts which may be necessary for the benefit of said company, in their corporate name, and that all judgments which may be obtained against said corporation for any liability which they may incur, may be enforced and collected out of the property belonging to said corporation, or the property of any, or all of the individuals composing said company, as though the same had been obtained against every member of said company, in their joint and several names as individuals. Stockholders to be individually liable.

152. Sec. III. Each and every member of said corporate body may, at any time, sell and convey their interest in the property of said corporation, both real and personal, under such rules and regulations as may be adopted by said corporation, and upon the death of any of the members of the corporation; their interests in the corporate property shall pass to the legal heirs of said member, and his legatee, or legatees, and that such purchaser, legal heirs, or legatee, or legatees, shall have all the power and privileges as are hereby conveyed to the above named corporators. Shares may be conveyed, and shall descend to heirs, &c.

153. Sec. IV. In case of the death of any member of the said corporation, the survivors shall be authorized to continue to transact and carry on the affairs of said corporation, as though said death had not happened; and whoever shall be entitled to the interest of said deceased person, shall, if he be administrator or executor, heir or legatee, hold the same, in the same manner that said deceased did during life. Surviving stockholders may carry on the business.

154. Sec. V. Whereas, the constant and plentiful supply of water, is conducive to the health of a city, and a security to property against the ravages of fire; and whereas, the position of Columbus is such, that both objects may be attained, and other important advantages derived by the incorporation of a company, with the powers specified in this act. Preamble.

Be it enacted, That John W. Campbell, Joseph Sturges, James S. Calhoun, Alfred Iverson, Charles L. Bass, John J. Borwell, Benjamin Fort, Isaac Mitchell, H. S. Smith and Edward Cary and their associates, and all such persons as shall hereafter become stockholders in said company, shall be, and hereby are declared to be a body corporate and politic, in fact and in name, by the style of the Columbus Canal and Water Company, and by that name, they and their successors, shall, and may have continual succession, and shall be capable in law, of suing and being sued; answering, and being answered unto, in all courts and places whatsoever; and they and their successors may have a common seal, and change and alter the same at their pleasure. Columbus Canal and Water Co. incorporated.

155. Sec. VI. Said company shall have full power and authority to cut and construct a canal or aqueduct, commencing at any point on the Chattahoochee river, opposite, or above the city of Columbus, where the town commons touches the same, or on their own land, immediately above, and continue the same, through any part or portion of the town commons, or along the bed or bank of said river, and with the consent of the corporate authorities thereof, to continue the same through the said city, along any street thereof, and through the said commons, to the river, and from the main trunk of said canal or aqueduct, to cut and construct viaducts along any of the streets of said town, and through any portion of the town commons, lying contiguous to the river. May cut a canal or aqueduct.

May construct a dam in the Chattahoochee.

156. Sec. VII. At the commencement or beginning point of said canal or aqueduct, said company may, and are authorized to construct a dam across the river Chattahoochee, having sufficient space for the free passage of fish, at all stages of the water: Provided, said dam shall not be so constructed, as to drown, or overflow the banks thereof.

May contract to supply lot owners with water.

157. Sec. VIII. Said company may have authority to contract with the owners of lots in said town, for the supply of pure good water, to be supplied by said company, on their premises, and the contract, so made, shall be permanent, and a charge upon said lots, whenever the same shall be occupied, collectable quarterly, before any court having jurisdiction thereof, and binding upon all, holding under said contractors, until the same be rescinded.

May use the canal for transportation.

158. Sec. IX. Said company are authorized to transport on said canal, goods, wares and merchandize, and land the same, at convenient and suitable points, in, and along the same, and receive therefor, such compensation, as may be reasonable and just.

Exclusive use of the canal, &c. except in cases of fire.

159. Sec. X. Said company shall have the exclusive use and control of said canal or aqueduct, and viaducts, leading therefrom, (except in cases of fire, when the water thereof, shall be free for the use of the city,) and also the exclusive use and control of fifty feet of the commons, on each side of the same, when the same may pass through the said commons: Provided, however, said company shall be compelled at all times and at their own expense, to make and keep in repair, such bridges and pass ways, as the corporate authorities may direct.

Shall support the bridges.

Same privileges for a rail-road.

160. Sec. XI. Said company may have the privilege of constructing a rail-road from any point of the river, on their own lands, or on the commons, and by, and with the consent of the corporate city authorities, continue the same, through and along any of the streets of said town, and the said rights of way or the commons as above granted, for the canal or aqueduct, are hereby also granted to the rail-road herein provided for.

Capital, $100,000.

161. Sec. XII. The capital of said company, shall be $100,000, with the privilege of increasing the same to such an amount as may be necessary, divided into shares of $100 each, which shall be assignable in such way, as the company may direct, and always subject to any claims of the company thereon, at the time of assignment. Said company may adopt such rules and regulations for the government, and elect such officers for its management, and at such times, as may by by-laws be ordained; and shall keep regular minutes of their proceedings, which shall at all times be subject to the inspection of the city authorities.

By-laws.

Minutes.

An Act, to incorporate the Savannah Insurance and Trust Company; and the Oglethorpe Insurance and Trust Company, in the city of Macon; and also, the Western Insurance and Trust Company of the city of Columbus.—Approved Dec. 23d, 1836. Pam. 146.

162. Sec. I. There shall be established in the city of Savannah, an insurance and trust company, to be entitled and known as,

Savannah Insurance and Trust Company incorporated.

“The Savannah Insurance and Trust Company,” and all such persons as may hereafter become stockholders in said company, shall be, and they are hereby declared to be a body corporate and politic, under the name and style aforesaid, by which they shall sue and be sued; answer and be answered unto, in any court of law or equity in this State, or elsewhere, and shall have and use a common seal, with power to alter the same at pleasure.

Capital, $500,000.

163. Sec. II. The capital stock of said company shall be five hundred thousand dollars, with the privilege of increasing it to one million of dollars, when the holders of a majority of the stock shall so determine, in shares of one hundred dollars each—but the said company shall be allowed to commence business as soon as one hundred and fifty thousand dollars are paid into the hands of the commissioners hereinafter named, in specie, or bills of any of the specie paying banks of this State; the balance of the stock subscribed, to be paid in, or added from the profits of the company, in such manner as the stockholders may direct by their by-laws; and if any stockholder or stockholders shall fail to pay any instalment as required by the by-laws, his, her, or their stock, as well as any sum or sums of money previously paid thereon, shall be forfeited to the company.

How to be paid in.

Forfeiture for non-payment.

164. Sec. III. Wm. B. Bulloch, John Cumming, Benjamin Burroughs, Joseph Cumming, Wm. Thorne Williams, R. King, S. B. Parkman, J. P. Henry and J. Washburn, be, and they are hereby appointed commissioners to superintend the subscription to stock in said company, which they, or any three of them are authorized to receive, at such times and places as a majority of said commissioners may determine, and under the following regulations and restrictions; that is to say—

Commissioners to receive subscriptions.

Not less than twenty days' notice, of the time and place of receiving subscriptions, shall be given, in at least four of the public gazettes of this State.

How rec'd.

The books of subscription shall be kept open for four days, from the hour of 10 A. M., to 3 P. M., each day.

No individual, corporation, or partnership, shall be permitted to subscribe, on any one day, for more than one hundred shares, unless five thousand shares shall not have been taken prior to the hour of 12, M. of the fourth day, in which case, any individual, corporation or partnership, may subscribe for the remaining shares after 12, M. on the fourth day.

No person shall be allowed to act as the attorney for subscription, of more than one person or partnership during the time the books remain open.

No partnership or firm, formed after the passing of this act, or for the purpose of subscribing for stock, shall be permitted by attorney, or otherwise, to subscribe for stock in said company.

165. Sec. IV. The commissioners receiving subscriptions to the said company, shall demand and receive at the time of subscription, the sum of thirty dollars per share, for each share subscribed, and if the subscription exceed five thousand shares, the stock shall be ratably apportioned by the commissioners, and they shall return to the subscribers, the amount paid by them over and above thirty dollars for each share allotted to them.

$30 per share to be advanced.

166. Sec. V. So soon as five thousand shares are subscribed for, as hereinbefore directed, the commissioners, or a majority of them, shall call a public meeting of the stockholders to be held in the city of Savannah, at such time and place as they may designate, of which twenty days' notice shall be given in each of the public gazettes of said city; at which meeting, the stockholders shall proceed to elect by ballot, (each share not exceeding two hundred, entitling the holder to one vote,) thirteen directors, citizens of the United States, and residents of the city of Savannah, to manage the affairs and business of said company, each of whom, shall own in his own right, or as one of a partnership in right of the firm, not less than ten shares of the capital stock of said company, which directors shall continue in office till their successors are elected, at such time as may be regulated by the stockholders, as Incipient organization.

and to which board of directors the commissioners shall deliver the money received by them from the subscribers to the stock.

By-laws.

167. Sec. VI. At the meeting provided for in the preceding section of this act, the stockholders shall, before they proceed to the election of directors, make and adopt such by-laws as they may think necessary and proper in relation to the board of directors, the transfer of stock, and the transaction of the business of the company: provided, that such by-laws shall not be contrary to the constitution of the United States, or the constitution or laws of this State.

What business the Co. may do.

168. Sec. VII. So soon as the board of directors is elected and organized according to the by-laws of said company, the said company shall have full power and authority (under their common seal, or otherwise), to make insurance on lives, to make insurance on ships or vessels, houses and buildings of every description, goods, wares, merchandize, freight, bottomry and respondentia and interest, against risks of every kind and description; to borrow and lend money upon such terms as may be agreed on, at not exceeding an interest of eight per cent. per annum; to buy, sell and grant annuities; and also, to cause themselves to be re-insured upon any risks upon which they may have made insurance, and upon the interest they may have in any vessels, goods or merchandize, in virtue of any loans on bottomry and respondentia, but nothing in this act contained, shall authorize the said company to issue bank bills, or exercise the privilege of banking.

Shall not exercise bank's privilege.

Losses, when to be paid.

169. Sec. VIII. All losses by insurance shall be paid by said company within sixty days after proof of the loss has been furnished in cases not disputed; and in disputed cases, within ten days after final decision, or this charter shall be forfeited; and in all cases, the sum due shall bear interest after sixty days from the time of furnishing proof of loss; and where any action is brought against said company, in any court of law in this State, having jurisdiction thereof, the same shall stand in order for trial at the first term.

Interest, when to commence running. Suits triable at the first term.

Office of president.

170. Sec. IX. It shall be the duty of the board of directors, at their first meeting after their election, to appoint one of their body president of said company; and in case of death, resignation or removal from this State, of the president or any director, or in case he shall cease to be a stockholder (as is required in the fifth section of this act) the remaining directors shall fill his vacancy.

What am't the pres't or director may owe the Co.

171. Sec. X. Neither the president nor any director of said company, shall at any time, owe or be responsible to said company for more than five thousand dollars, unless as drawer or endorser of bills of exchange, and that in any case, where money is lent by said company, except to banking institutions, or where good personal security is given, a lien upon property shall be taken to secure the payment, but in no case shall a loan be made of more than half the value of the property pledged or mortgaged.

Terms of security.

Dividends.

172. Sec. XI. The board of directors shall, at least twice a year, at such times as may be fixed by the by-laws of the company, make a dividend of so much of the profits of said company, as to them, or a majority of them shall seem advisable; but no dividend shall be declared except the capital paid in be and remain unimpaired.

What prop'ty the company may own.

173. Sec. XII. Said company may purchase, have, receive, hold, sell, assign and transfer at pleasure, any and every kind and species of personal property, but shall own no real estate, except such as may be required for the convenient transaction of business, or such as may have been conveyed to it as security, or in satisfaction of debts due to it, or purchased at any public sales under process in its favor; and the privilege hereby granted shall be, and continue in force for twenty-five years, from the date of this act, and no longer.

Privilege granted for 25 years.

174. Sec. XIII. The property of the stockholders shall be bound for all contracts or liabilities made by said company, to the amount of their stock, so long as he, she, or they shall continue a stockholder, and all transfers of stock, six months previous to the failure of said company, shall not release the persons so transferring the same, from any contract or liabilities which were incurred while they were stockholders.

Stockholders
how individually liable.

Effect of transfers.

175. Sec. XIV. No stock of said company shall be transferred within sixty days after the closing of the books of subscription, nor at any time by virtue of any power of attorney executed prior to the day of the organization of the said company by the election of directors.

Preconcerted
transfer.

176. Sec. XV. A majority of the whole board of directors, or any ten stockholders, holding at least fifteen hundred shares of the capital stock, may call a meeting at the office of said company, at any time they may deem expedient, giving thirty days' notice thereof, in the public gazettes of the city of Savannah, and at such meetings, and in all other meetings, and at all elections, in which stockholders are entitled to vote, their legal proxies shall be received, and each share shall give the right of one vote, but no stockholder, whatever may be the number of his shares, shall on any occasion, have more than two hundred votes.

The direction or 1,500 sh's may call a meet'g of stockholders.

Proxies.

177. Sec. XVI. James Goddard, Alexander R. Ralston, Jeremiah Cowles, James Rea, Thomas Hardeman, David Flanders, Charles Cotton, Charles Campbell, William B. Parker, Thomas Taylor, Carlton B. Cole, Francis H. Williman, William Solomon, Ossian Gregory, William Melrose, Edwin B. Weed, David Ralston, William Redish, Edmund Russell, William J. Rice, John L. Jones and Erastus Graves, and such others as may be hereafter associated with them, and their assigns, be, and they are hereby declared a body corporate and politic, under the name and style of the "Oglethorpe Insurance and Trust Company of the city of Macon," by which name, they shall sue and be sued; answer and be answered unto, in any court of law or equity in this State, or elsewhere; and shall have and use a common seal, with power to alter the same at pleasure.

"Oglethorpe
Insurance and Trust Co. of Macon"
incorporated.

178. Sec. XVII. The capital stock of said company shall be one hundred thousand dollars, with the privilege of increasing it to five hundred thousand dollars, when the holders of a majority of the stock shall determine, in shares of one hundred dollars each; and the said company shall be allowed to commence business as soon as the said capital of one hundred thousand dollars shall have been paid in specie, or in the bills of any of the specie paying banks of this State, and if any stockholder or stockholders shall fail to pay any instalment as required by the by-laws, his, her, or their stock, as well as all and any sum or sums of money previously paid thereon, shall be forfeited to the company.

Capital,
$100,000.

How to be paid in.

Forfeiture for non-payment.

179. Sec. XVIII. For the well ordering of the affairs of said company, there shall, (as soon as the sum of one hundred thousand dollars of the capital stock of said company shall have been paid in,) be called a meeting of the stockholders, to be held in the city of Macon, of which meeting, twenty days' notice shall be given in one of the public gazettes of said city, at which meeting, the stockholders shall proceed to elect by ballot, (each share entitling the holder to one vote,) not less than seven directors, each of whom shall own in his own right, or as one of a partnership, in right of the firm, not less than ten shares of the capital stock of said company, which directors shall continue in office until their successors shall be elected, at such time as may be regulated by the stockholders.

Initiatory
organization.

Each share,
one vote.
Seven
directors.
Qualification.

By-laws.

180. Sec. XIX. At the meeting provided for in the preceding section of this act, the stockholders shall, before they proceed to the election of directors, make and adopt such by-laws as they may think necessary and proper, in relation to the board of directors, the transfer of the stock, or transaction of business of the company: Provided, such by-laws shall not be contrary to the constitution of the United States, or to the constitution and laws of this State.

Permanent organization.

181. Sec. XX. It shall be the duty of the board of directors at their first meeting after their election, to appoint one of their body president of said company, and also a secretary and such other officers as may be necessary in the management of the affairs of said company, and in case of the death, resignation, or removal from this State, of the president or any director, or in case he or they shall cease to be a stockholder (as is required in the third section of this act), the remaining directors shall fill his or their vacancy.

Vacancies.

What business the Co. may do.

182. Sec. XXI. So soon as the board of directors are elected and organized according to the by-laws of said company, the said company shall have full power and authority under their common seal or otherwise, to make insurance on lives; to make insurance on houses, buildings, and vessels of every description, cotton, goods, wares, merchandize, freight, bottomry, respondentia and interest, against risks of every description and kind; to borrow and lend money upon such terms as may be agreed on, at not exceeding an interest of eight per cent. per annum; to buy, sell, and grant annuities, and also to cause themselves to be re-insured upon any risks upon which they may have made insurance, and upon the interest they may have in any vessels, goods, or merchandize, in virtue of any loans on bottomry and respondentia; but nothing in this act contained, shall authorize the said company to issue bank bills, or exercise the privilege of banking.

Shall not issue bank bills.

Losses, when to be paid.

183. Sec. XXII. All losses by insurance, shall be paid by said company, within sixty days after proof of the loss has been furnished, in cases not disputed, and in disputed cases, within ten days after final decision, or this charter shall be forfeited; and in all cases, the sum due, shall bear interest, after sixty days from the time of furnished proof of loss; and when any action is brought against said company, in any court of laws of this State, having jurisdiction thereof, the same shall stand on index, for trial at the first term.

When int. to com. running.

Suits to stand for trial at first term.

How much the pres't or a director may owe the company. Loans, how secured.

184. Sec. XXIII. Neither the president nor any director of said company, shall at any time, owe or be responsible to said company for more than five thousand dollars, and that in any case where money is lent by said company, except to banking institutions, or where good personal security is given, a lien upon property shall be taken to secure the re-payment, but in no case, shall a loan be made of more than half the value of the property pledged or mortgaged.

Dividends.

185. Sec. XXIV. The board of directors shall meet twice a year, at least, at such time as may be fixed by the by-laws of said company, and make a dividend of so much of the profits of said company, as may be advisable, but no dividend shall be declared except the capital paid in, be, and remain unimpaired.

May deal in stocks.

What real estate it may own.

186. Sec. XXV. The said company may purchase, have, retain, hold, sell, assign, and transfer stock, or other stock, but it shall be requisite for the conveyance to be conveyed to it, or purchase any bank stock, railroad

Privileges granted for 30 years.

and the privi
thirty years &

th.

nga nte t in t ble at t term.

ry an-to be th.
nent by ilt.

ntinuance.

the time of the
their place, and the
by a plurality of the shall, and the same shall be

Actions against joint obligors or promissors residing in different counties.

es,
by or reside another tendants, duty of the copies to be nty or counties,
cases, on the Sabbath

and to which board of directors the commissioners shall deliver the money received by them from the subscribers to the stock.

By-laws.

167. Sec. VI. At the meeting provided for in the preceding section of this act, the stockholders shall, before they proceed to the election of directors, make and adopt such by-laws as they may think necessary and proper in relation to the board of directors, the transfer of stock, and the transaction of the business of the company: provided, that such by-laws shall not be contrary to the constitution of the United States, or the constitution or laws of this State.

What business the Co. may do.

168. Sec. VII. So soon as the board of directors is elected and organized according to the by-laws of said company, the said company shall have full power and authority (under their common seal, or otherwise), to make insurance on lives, to make insurance on ships or vessels, houses and buildings of every description, goods, wares, merchandize, freight, bottomry and respondentia and interest, against risks of every kind and description; to borrow and lend money upon such terms as may be agreed on, at not exceeding an interest of eight per cent. per annum; to buy, sell and grant annuities; and also, to cause themselves to be re-insured upon any risks upon which they may have made insurance, and upon the interest they may have in any vessels, goods or merchandize, in virtue of any loans on bottomry and respondentia, but nothing in this act contained, shall authorize the said company to issue bank bills, or exercise the privilege of banking.

Shall not exercise bank's privilege.

Losses, when to be paid.

169. Sec. VIII. All losses by insurance shall be paid by said company within sixty days after proof of the loss has been furnished in cases not disputed; and in disputed cases, within ten days after final decision, or this charter shall be forfeited; and in all cases, the sum due shall bear interest after sixty days from the time of furnishing proof of loss; and where any action is brought against said company, in any court of law in this State, having jurisdiction thereof, the same shall stand in order for trial at the first term.

Interest, when to commence running. Suits triable at the first term.

Office of president.

170. Sec. IX. It shall be the duty of the board of directors, at their first meeting after their election, to appoint one of their body president of said company; and in case of death, resignation or removal from this State, of the president or any director, or in case he shall cease to be a stockholder (as is required in the fifth section of this act) the remaining directors shall fill his vacancy.

What am't the pres't or director may owe the Co.

171. Sec. X. Neither the president nor any director of said company, shall at any time, owe or be responsible to said company for more than five thousand dollars, unless as drawer or endorser of bills of exchange, and that in any case, where money is lent by said company, except to banking institutions, or where good personal security is given, a lien upon property shall be taken to secure the payment, but in no case shall a loan be made of more than half the value of the property pledged or mortgaged.

Terms of security.

Dividends.

172. Sec. XI. The board of directors shall, at least twice a year, at such times as may be fixed by the by-laws of the company, make a dividend of so much of the profits of said company, as to them, or a majority of them shall seem advisable; but no dividend shall be declared except the capital paid in be and remain unimpaired.

What prop'ty the company may own.

173. Sec. XII. Said company may purchase, have, receive, hold, sell, assign and transfer at pleasure, any and every kind and species of personal property, but shall own no real estate, except such as may be required for the convenient transaction of business, or such as may have been conveyed to it as security, or in satisfaction of debts due to it, or purchased at any public sales under process in its favor; and the privilege hereby granted shall be, and continue in force for twenty-five years, from the date of this act, and no longer.

Privilege granted for 25 years.

174. Sec. XIII. The property of the stockholders shall be bound for all contracts or liabilities made by said company, to the amount of their stock, so long as he, she, or they shall continue a stockholder, and all transfers of stock, six months previous to the failure of said company, shall not release the persons so transferring the same, from any contract or liabilities which were incurred while they were stockholders.

Stockholders how individually liable.

Effect of transfers.

175. Sec. XIV. No stock of said company shall be transferred within sixty days after the closing of the books of subscription, nor at any time by virtue of any power of attorney executed prior to the day of the organization of the said company by the election of directors.

Preconcerted transfer.

176. Sec. XV. A majority of the whole board of directors, or any ten stockholders, holding at least fifteen hundred shares of the capital stock, may call a meeting at the office of said company, at any time they may deem expedient, giving thirty days' notice thereof, in the public gazettes of the city of Savannah, and at such meetings, and in all other meetings, and at all elections, in which stockholders are entitled to vote, their legal proxies shall be received, and each share shall give the right of one vote, but no stockholder, whatever may be the number of his shares, shall on any occasion, have more than two hundred votes.

The direction or 1,500 sh's may call a meet'g of stockholders.

Proxies.

177. Sec. XVI. James Goddard, Alexander R. Ralston, Jeremiah Cowles, James Rea, Thomas Hardeman, David Flanders, Charles Cotton, Charles Campbell, William B. Parker, Thomas Taylor, Carlton B. Cole, Francis H. Williman, William Solomon, Ossian Gregory, William Melrose, Edwin B. Weed, David Ralston, William Redish, Edmund Russell, William J. Rice, John L. Jones and Erastus Graves, and such others as may be hereafter associated with them, and their assigns, be, and they are hereby declared a body corporate and politic, under the name and style of the "Oglethorpe Insurance and Trust Company of the city of Macon," by which name, they shall sue and be sued; answer and be answered unto, in any court of law or equity in this State, or elsewhere; and shall have and use a common seal, with power to alter the same at pleasure.

"Oglethorpe Insurance and Trust Co. of Macon" incorporated.

178. Sec. XVII. The capital stock of said company shall be one hundred thousand dollars, with the privilege of increasing it to five hundred thousand dollars, when the holders of a majority of the stock shall determine, in shares of one hundred dollars each; and the said company shall be allowed to commence business as soon as the said capital of one hundred thousand dollars shall have been paid in specie, or in the bills of any of the specie paying banks of this State, and if any stockholder or stockholders shall fail to pay any instalment as required by the by-laws, his, her, or their stock, as well as all and any sum or sums of money previously paid thereon, shall be forfeited to the company.

Capital, $100,000.

How to be paid in.

Forfeiture for non-payment.

179. Sec. XVIII. For the well ordering of the affairs of said company, there shall, (as soon as the sum of one hundred thousand dollars of the capital stock of said company shall have been paid in,) be called a meeting of the stockholders, to be held in the city of Macon, of which meeting, twenty days' notice shall be given in one of the public gazettes of said city, at which meeting, the stockholders shall proceed to elect by ballot, (each share entitling the holder to one vote,) not less than seven directors, each of whom shall own in his own right, or as one of a partnership, in right of the firm, not less than ten shares of the capital stock of said company, which directors shall continue in office until their successors shall be elected, at such time as may be regulated by the stockholders.

Initiatory organization.

Each share, one vote. Seven directors. Qualification.

By-laws.

180. Sec. XIX. At the meeting provided for in the preceding section of this act, the stockholders shall, before they proceed to the election of directors, make and adopt such by-laws as they may think necessary and proper, in relation to the board of directors, the transfer of the stock, or transaction of business of the company: Provided, such by-laws shall not be contrary to the constitution of the United States, or to the constitution and laws of this State.

Permanent organization.

181. Sec. XX. It shall be the duty of the board of directors at their first meeting after their election, to appoint one of their body president of said company, and also a secretary and such other officers as may be necessary in the management of the affairs of said company, and in case of the death, resignation, or removal from this State, of the president or any director, or in case he or they shall cease to be a stockholder (as is required in the third section of this act), the remaining directors shall fill his or their vacancy.

What business the Co. may do.

182. Sec. XXI. So soon as the board of directors are elected and organized according to the by-laws of said company, the said company shall have full power and authority under their common seal or otherwise, to make insurance on lives; to make insurance on houses, buildings, and vessels of every description, cotton, goods, wares, merchandize, freight, bottomry, respondentia and interest, against risks of every description and kind; to borrow and lend money upon such terms as may be agreed on, at not exceeding an interest of eight per cent. per annum; to buy, sell, and grant annuities, and also to cause themselves to be re-insured upon any risks upon which they may have made insurance, and upon the interest they may have in any vessels, goods, or merchandize, in virtue of any loans on bottomry and respondentia; but nothing in this act contained, shall authorize the said company to issue bank bills, or exercise the privilege of banking.

Shall not issue bank bills.

Losses, when to be paid.

183. Sec. XXII. All losses by insurance, shall be paid by said company, within sixty days after proof of the loss has been furnished, in cases not disputed, and in disputed cases, within ten days after final decision, or this charter shall be forfeited; and in all cases, the sum due, shall bear interest, after sixty days from the time of furnished proof of loss; and when any action is brought against said company, in any court of laws of this State, having jurisdiction thereof, the same shall stand on index, for trial at the first term.

When int. to com. running.

Suits to stand for trial at first term.

How much the pres't or a director may owe the company. Loans, how secured.

184. Sec. XXIII. Neither the president nor any director of said company, shall at any time, owe or be responsible to said company for more than five thousand dollars, and that in any case where money is lent by said company, except to banking institutions, or where good personal security is given, a lien upon property shall be taken to secure the re-payment, but in no case, shall a loan be made of more than half the value of the property pledged or mortgaged.

Dividends.

185. Sec. XXIV. The board of directors shall meet twice a year, at least, at such time as may be fixed by the by-laws of said company, and make a dividend of so much of the profits of said company, as to them, or a majority of them shall seem advisable, but no dividend shall be declared except the capital paid in, be, and remain unimpaired.

May deal in stocks.

What real estate it may own.

186. Sec. XXV. The said company may purchase, have, retain, hold, sell, assign, and transfer at pleasure, any bank stock, rail-road stock, or other stock, but shall own no real estate except such as may be requisite for the convenient transaction of business, or such as may have been conveyed to it as security or in satisfaction of debts due to it, or purchased at any public sale or sales, under process in its favor, and the privileges hereby granted, shall be, and continue in force, for thirty years from the date of this act, and no longer.

Privileges granted for 30 years.

187. Sec. XXVI. The property of the stockholders, shall be bound for all contracts or liabilities made by said company, to the amount of stock, so long as he, she, or they, shall continue a stockholder, and all transfer of stock, six months previous to the failure of said company, shall not release the person or persons, so transferring the same, from any contracts or liabilities which are incurred whilst they are stockholders.

Stockholders how far individually liable. Effect of transfers.

188. Sec. XXVII. James S. Calhoun, John Langden Lewis, Thomas C. Eavens, John W. Campbell, Charles L. Bass, Joseph Sturgis, M. R. Eavens, Hampton S. Smith, Edward Carey, John J. Boswell, Allen G. Bass, Benjamin Fort, and Seymore R. Bonner, and their associates, and all such persons as shall hereafter become stockholders in said company, shall be, and are hereby declared to be a body corporate and politic, in fact, and known by the name of the Western Insurance and Trust Company, of the city of Columbus and by that name, they, and their successors, shall, and may have continual succession, and shall be capable in law, of suing and being sued; impleading and being impleaded; answering and being answered unto; defending and being defended, in all courts and places whatsoever; and that they and their successors may have a common seal, and may change and alter the same at their pleasure.

The Western Ins and Trust Co. of Columbus incorporated.

189. Sec. XXVIII. The corporation hereby created, shall have full power and authority to borrow and loan on such terms as may be agreed upon; to make insurance upon vessels, goods, wares, and merchandize, freight, bottomry, respondentia, interest, inland navigation, and transportation, and all other marine and river risks; also, to insure and take risks against fire, and on lives; receive money on trust and deposits; and also, to loan money on bottomry and respondentia; to do and perform all necessary matters and things connected with the above objects or any of them, and they may also cause themselves to be insured against risks and for which they have made insurance, and upon the interest which they may have in any vessels, goods, wares or merchandize, in virtue of any such loans on bottomry and respondentia.

What business the Co. is empowered to transact.

190. Sec. XXIX. The capital stock of said company, shall be one million of dollars, to be divided into shares of one hundred dollars, and that one-half of the capital shall be actually paid in, before said corporation shall be allowed to commence business, and the privileges hereby granted shall be and continue in force, for thirty years, from the date of this act, and no longer.

Capital, $1,000,000. Half to be paid in. Privilege granted 30 years.

191. Sec. XXX. The stock and affairs of the said company, shall be managed and conducted by seven directors, each of whom shall be a stockholder to the amount of at least twenty shares, and a citizen of the United States, and they shall be elected at such time and place as the board of directors for the time being, shall appoint, and shall hold their offices for one year, and until others shall be chosen to supply their places, and no longer; and said elections shall be made by ballot, by a plurality of the stockholders present, allowing one vote for every share, and stockholders not personally present may vote by proxy, such proxy being granted directly to the person representing them at such election, and the first directors of said corporation shall be the seven persons first mentioned in this act, who shall continue in office until their successors are elected.

7 directors. Qualification. Term of office. Election. Each share, one vote. Proxies.

192. Sec. XXXI. The directors herein before named, shall, so soon as may be, after the passage of this act, and the directors to be chosen at such annual election shall, so soon as may be, after every election, proceed to choose out of their body, a person to be president,

President.

Vacancies.	who shall serve until the next annual election thereafter, or until another president shall be chosen; and in case of the death or resignation of the president or any director, such vacancy may be filled for the remainder of the year, by the board of directors; and in case of the absence of the president, the board of directors shall have power to appoint a president pro tempore, who shall have and exercise such powers and functions as the by-laws of the said corporation may provide.
President pro tem.
Lapsed elections.	193. Sec. XXXII. In case it should at any time happen, that an election of directors shall not be made on the day, when pursuant to this act, it shall be made, the corporation shall not for that cause, be deemed to be dissolved, but an election at any other day, to be appointed by the by-laws and ordinances, may be made.
Direction may regulate payments and transfers.	194. Sec. XXXIII. It shall be lawful for the president and directors of the said company, to regulate the terms of payment for the stock subscribed, or to be subscribed, and that the stock of said company shall be assignable and transferable according to such rules, and subject to such restrictions as the board of directors shall from time to time, make and establish, and shall be considered personal property.
Gen. powers of the direction.	195. Sec. XXXIV. The major part of the directors shall constitute a board, and be competent to the transaction of all the business of the corporation, and shall be competent to provide by by-laws, for the appointment of all officers, assistants, and servants, necessary for the management of said corporation, and prescribe the duties and salaries, and declare, and make dividends of the profits, establish rules for the management and disposition of the property and effects of the company, and all matters appertaining thereto.
What real estate the Co. may hold and convey.	196. Sec. XXXV. It shall be lawful for the said corporation to purchase and hold such, and so much real estate as shall be necessary and convenient for the transaction of its business; and also, to take and hold any real estate as security bona fide, mortgaged or pledged, to said corporation, either to secure the payment of the shares of capital stock, or to secure the payment of any debt that may be due to it; and also, to purchase on sale made by virtue of any judgment at law, or any order or decree of a court of equity or otherwise; to receive and take any real estate in payment or towards satisfaction of any debt contracted and due to said corporation, and to hold the same until they can conveniently sell and convert the same into money, or other personal property: Provided always , that it shall not be lawful for the said corporation to deal, or use, or employ, any part of the stock, funds, or money, in buying or selling any goods, wares, or merchandize, or in the purchase or sale of any stock or funded debt, contracted or to be contracted by, or under any act of the United States, or of any particular State, or to emit any notes or bills, or make any contracts for the payment of money, only except under the sale of the said corporation; and all such notes and contracts, shall be to all intents and purposes, be taken to operate as specialties at law, but it shall nevertheless be lawful for the said corporation, to purchase and hold any such stock or funded debt, as last aforesaid, for the purpose of vesting any part of the capital stock, funds, or money therein, instead of investing the same, in and upon any real security; and also, to sell, and transfer the same, and again invest the same or any part thereof, in such stock or funds, whenever, and as often as the exigencies of the said corporation, or a due regard to the safety of its funds, shall require; and also, to purchase and sell exchanges and other choses in action, and make loans of its capital stock or funds on bonds, or mortgages, or personal security, and the same to call in and reloan on like security, as the occasion may require.
Shall not be concerned in merchandize.
Shall not deal in State or U. S. stocks, except as security.
May deal in exchanges, and may make loans.

197. Sec. XXXVI. All policies of insurance, and other contracts which shall be made or entered into by the said corporation, may be made either under or without the seal thereof, and shall be subscribed by the president, or such other officer as shall be designated for that purpose, by the by-laws of the said corporation, and attested by the secretary, and being so signed, executed and attested, shall be binding and obligatory upon the said corporation, according to the tenor and intent and meaning of this act, and of such policies and contracts; and all such policies, and contracts, may be so made, and the business of the corporation may be otherwise conducted, and carried on without the presence of a board of directors, by the president, or assistant, or either, or a committee to be appointed for such purpose, and the act of such president or assistant, or either of them, or of such committee done in conformity to the by-laws of said corporation, shall be binding and obligatory on it, to all intents and purposes.

Policies and other contracts how to be authenticated.

198. Sec. XXXVII. This act shall be, and is hereby declared to be a public act, and that the same be construed in all courts and places, benignly and favorably for every beneficial purpose herein mentioned.

This is a public act, to be beneficially construed.

199. Sec. XXXVIII. The property of the stockholders shall be bound for all contracts or liabilities made by said company, to the amount of their stock, so long as he, she, or they shall continue a stockholder; and all transfer of stock, six months previous to the failure of said company, shall not release the person or persons so transferring the same, from any contracts or liabilities which are incurred, whilst they were stockholders.

Stockholders how far individually liable. Effect of transfer.

200. Sec. XXXIX. The said company shall own no real estate, except such as may be necessary for the convenient transaction of the business, or such as may be conveyed to it as security, or in satisfaction of debts due to it, or under mortgage.

Real estate.

JUDICIARY.

An Act to amend an act entitled "An Act to revise and amend the Judiciary System of this State."—Approved Feb. 16, 1799. Vol. I. 292.

1. Sec. I. The superior courts shall be held in each county in the respective districts twice in every year, by one or more of the judges of the superior courts. [The rest of this section superseded by sec. 104.]

Sup. courts to be held twice a year.

2. Sec. II. The inferior courts shall be held twice in every year in each county, by the justices of the said inferior courts, or a majority of them. [The rest of this section superseded by sec. 104.]

Inf. courts twice a year.

POWERS COMMON TO BOTH.

3. Sec. III. The said superior and inferior courts, shall have full power and authority to hear and determine all causes both civil and criminal, of which they shall severally have jurisdiction, according to the constitution and laws of this State, by a jury of twelve men, to be taken from the county, in such manner as shall hereinafter be prescribed, according to the usages and customs of law.

Jurisdiction of the superior and inferior courts.

4. Sec. IV. [Respecting adjournments. See act of 1823. Sec. 144.]

Courts of record.

5. Sec. V. The said superior and inferior courts shall be courts of record, and have power to administer oaths, and exercise all other necessary powers appertaining to their jurisdictions respectively, according to law; and where any of the said courts shall fail to meet, the proceedings in such courts shall not thereby be discontinued, but shall stand continued over in the same manner as if such failure had not been; and all witnesses going to, attending on, and returning from any of the said courts, shall be free from arrest on any civil process.

Witnesses free from arrest. Courts may compel the production of books, papers, &c. on trial.

6. Sec. VI. The said courts shall have power on the trial of causes cognizable before them respectively on ten days' notice, and proof thereof being previously given to the opposite party, or his, her, or their attorney, on motion to require either party to produce books and other writings, in his, her, or their possession,* power or custody, which shall contain evidence pertinent to the cause in question, under circumstances where such party might be compelled to produce the same by the ordinary rules of proceeding in equity; and if the plaintiff shall fail or refuse to comply with such order, it shall be lawful for the court on motion to give judgment against such plaintiff as in case of nonsuit; and if the defendant shall fail or refuse to comply therewith, the court on motion shall give judgment against such defendant as in case of judgment by default; and the said courts respectively shall have power and authority to establish copies of lost papers, deeds, or other writings, under such rules and precautions as are or may have been customary and according to law and equity.

And establish copies of lost papers.

Habeas corpus.

7. Sec. VII. The judges of the superior courts, or any one of them, and the justices of the inferior courts or any of them† in the absence of the judges of the superior courts, shall have power to issue writs of habeas corpus; and in all cases to discharge, admit to bail, or remand to jail, any prisoner, according to their discretion and the law of the land: Provided, that in all cases of a capital nature where a writ of habeas corpus shall be issued by a justice of the inferior court, it shall be necessary that one or more of the justices of such inferior court shall associate with the justice granting the same, at the return thereof, and a majority of such justices shall concur in opinion on any decision or order aforesaid: and it shall be the duty of such justices to attend, on one day's notice being given of the time and place of the return of such writ.

PROCESS.

Petition and process

8. Sec. VIII. All suits of a civil nature cognizable in the said courts respectively, shall be by petition to the court, which petition shall contain the plaintiff's charge, allegation or demand, plainly, fully and distinctly set forth, and be signed by the plaintiff, or his, her, or their attorney, and to which petition the clerk shall annex a process, signed by such clerk, and bear test in the name of one of the judges or justices of such court, directed to the sheriff, requiring the defendant or defendants to appear at the court to which the same shall be made returnable, and shall be served on the defendant or defendants at least twenty days‡ before the return thereof, by delivering a copy of such petition and process to the defendant or defendants, or leaving such copy at his, her, or their most notorious place or places of residence. And if any such process shall be delivered to the sheriff or other officer, whose duty it shall be to execute the same, so late that it cannot be to be served 17 days before court.

* As to written evidence in possession of persons who are not parties, and not living in the county, see Evidence, sec. 34, 35, 36.

† A majority necessary by act of 1823. See sec. 145.

‡ Seventeen days, see act of 1829, sec. 196; and in certain cases, on the Sabbath day, by act of 1834, sec. 235.

served in manner aforesaid, twenty days* before the sitting of the court to which it shall be returnable, such process shall not be executed, but the officer shall return the same, with the truth of the case. And if any original civil process shall be taken out within twenty days* of the next court, the same shall be made returnable to the next court to be held after the expiration of the said twenty days, and not otherwise. And all process issued and returned in any other manner than that hereinbefore directed, shall be, and the same is hereby declared to be null and void.

9. Sec. IX. All process issued by the clerks of the said courts respectively, where the sheriff who ought to execute the same, shall be any wise interested, shall be directed to the coroner of such county, and served and returned by him in the same manner as is required of sheriffs. And for the more orderly and regular proceeding in the said courts, the following rules and methods shall be observed, to wit: The defendant or defendants shall appear at the court to which the petition and process shall be returnable, and on or before the last day of the said court shall make his, her, or their defence or answer in writing, which shall plainly, fully, and distinctly set forth the cause of his defence, and be signed by the party making the same, or his, her, or their attorney; which said answer may contain as many several matters, as such defendant or defendants may think necessary for his, her, or their defence: Provided, that no person shall be permitted to deny any deed, bond, bill, single or penal note, draft, receipt, or order, unless he, she, or they shall make affidavit of the truth of such answer at the time of filing the same. And the said petition and answer shall be sufficient to carry the same to the jury, without any replication or other course of proceedings: And no petition, answer, return process, judgment, or other proceeding in any civil cause, shall be abated, arrested, quashed or reversed, for any defect in matter of form, or for any clerical mistake or omission, not affecting the real merits of the cause; but the court, on motion, shall cause the same to be amended without any additional cost at the first term, and shall proceed to give judgment according to the right of the cause and matter of law, as it shall appear to the said court, without regard to such imperfections, in matter of form, clerical mistake or omission; and no dilatory answer shall be received or admitted, unless affidavit be made of the truth thereof.

10. Sec. X. Where any defendant shall fail to appear and answer in manner aforesaid, the court, on motion of the plaintiff or his counsel, shall enter a judgment by default, and the plaintiff's claim, allegation or demand, shall be tried in all cases of judgment by default, by a jury; but no such trial shall in any case be had at the first term; and no cause whatsoever depending in the said courts shall be continued more than one term, at the instance of the same party.

11. Sec. XI. In all cases where a suit shall be instituted in any of the said courts on any bond, note, or other written obligation subscribed by several persons, who reside in different counties, the plaintiff shall have his option to institute his suit in either of the said counties, and the clerk shall issue the original petition and process, and a copy or copies in such county, against the defendant or defendants who may reside therein, in manner directed by this act; and shall also issue another original, and copy or copies thereof for the defendant or defendants, resident in other county or counties; and it shall be the duty of the plaintiff, his agent, or attorney, to cause such original and copies to be delivered to the sheriff or other officer in such other county or counties,

By whom issued, and to whom directed.

Answer or defence.

Bonds, notes, &c. to be denied on oath.

Proceedings not to abate for defect in form, but amendable at the first term.

Dilatory answers to be on oath.

Judgment by default.

Continuance.

Actions against joint obligors or promissors residing in different counties.

* Seventeen days, see act of 1829, sec. 196; and in certain cases, on the Sabbath day, by act of 1834, sec. 235.

who shall execute and return the same to the court from whence they issued, in such manner as is hereinbefore directed, and on such return the plaintiff may proceed as in other cases.*

EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

Ex. and Adm. exempt from suit 12 mos.

12. Sec. XII. No suit or action shall be issued against any executor or administrator for any matter or cause against the testator or intestate of such executor or administrator in any of the said courts, until the expiration of twelve months after probate of the will of such testator, or letters of administration, granted on the estate of such intestate.

Suits shall not abate by death of parties if the cause of action survives.

And no suit in any of the said courts shall abate by the death of either party, where such cause of action would in any case survive to the executor or administrator, whether such cause of action would survive in the same, or any other form, but the same shall proceed as if such testator or intestate had not died, under the restrictions and regulations following: When a plaintiff shall die, in any case aforesaid, the executor or administrator of such plaintiff shall, within three months after taking out probate of the will, or letters of administration, give notice to the defendant or defendants by scire facias, to issue out of the clerk's office, returnable in the manner hereinbefore prescribed for the issuing and return of process; and in cases where the defendant shall die, it shall and may be lawful for the plaintiff to issue a scire facias in manner aforesaid, immediately after the expiration of twelve months, requiring such executor or administrator to appear and answer to the said cause.

Scire facias.

Feme sole.

And where a feme sole, being plaintiff, shall marry pending any suit, the same shall not abate by reason of such intermarriage, but the same being suggested on the record, such cause shall proceed in the name of the husband and wife.

BAIL.

Plaintiff shall make oath of the am't due,

13. Sec. XIII. In all cases where bail is requirable, and the plaintiff in any action shall require bail, such plaintiff shall make affidavit before any judge, justice of the inferior court, or justice of the peace within this State, or any judge or justice of a superior court of any one of the United States, shall have annexed thereto the seal of the State from whence it shall come, and a certificate of the governor certifying that the person taking such affidavit is one of the judges or justices of a superior court of that State, of the amount claimed by him, and that he has reason to apprehend the loss of the said sum, or some part thereof, if the defendant or defendants is or are not held to bail, which affidavit shall be filed in the clerk's office, and copies thereof affixed to the original petition and process, and to the copy or copies thereof, and the amount sworn to shall be endorsed on the petition and process.†

and that he expects to lose the same unless bail is taken.

Sum sworn is to be endorsed.

Sheriff's duty with regard to bail.

14. Sec. XIV. When any civil process shall issue out of any of the said courts, whereby bail shall be required to be taken in manner aforesaid of any person or persons to answer any action in any of the said courts, the sheriff or other officer shall take a bond, with one or more sufficient security or securities, for double the sum sworn to, and shall return such bond, with the petition and process: And in case the sheriff or other officer shall fail or neglect to take such bail, or the bail taken shall be deemed insufficient by the court,

Shall be bail himself, if he neglects to take bail, or takes insufficient bail.

* When but one is served, the judgment binds his, and the partnership property. See act of 1820, sec. 115. As to the plea of infancy by one, see act of 1823, sec. 148.

† Bail may be required pending the action. See Act of 1820, Sec. 106, et seq. and at the instance of the plaintiff's agent or attorney. Act of 1831, Sec. 224.

on exceptions taken thereto, and entry thereof made at the first term to which the said petition and process shall be returned, such sheriff or other officer, and his or their security or securities, in either of the said cases, shall be deemed and stand as special bail, and the plaintiff may proceed to judgment according to the provisions of the act hereinafter mentioned. And in all cases where any defendant or defendants, of whom bail shall be required, shall refuse to give good and sufficient bail, it shall be the duty of such sheriff or other officer to commit such defendant or defendants to the common jail of the county, or if there should be no jail in the county, or the same shall be insufficient, it shall and may be lawful for the said sheriff or other officer to confine such defendant or defendants in some private house.* Nevertheless, such person or persons shall be allowed all the benefits of appearance and defence as if he, she, or they were personally present, and shall not be discharged out of custody, but by putting in bail, or by order of court.

15. Sec. XV. All bail taken according to the directions of this act, shall be deemed, held, and taken as special bail, and as such be liable to the recovery of the plaintiff; but the plaintiff, after final judgment, shall not take out execution against such bail, until a capias ad satisfaciendum shall be first issued thereon, and the principal cannot be found, and shall also issue a scire facias returnable to the said court, which shall be served on the bail at least twenty days before the return thereof; and after the return of such capias ad satisfaciendum against the principal, and scire facias against the bail, and judgment thereon, execution may issue against the principal and bail, or either of them, or either of their estates, unless the bail shall surrender the principal at or before entering up final judgment on the scire facias, either in open court in term time, or to the sheriff of the county in which such principal shall reside, at any time in vacation: And it shall be the duty of the court to order such principal into the custody of the sheriff, and the duty of the sheriff in time of vacation to receive into his custody such principal, and in either case to commit him, her, or them to jail, according to the directions of this act, any law, usage, or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. XVI. [Directing the proceedings on sci. fa. against bail, repealed by act of 1801, Sec. 3. See Vol. II. 38.†]

MORTGAGES ON REAL ESTATES.

16. Sec. XVII. The method of foreclosing mortgages or real estate, in this State, be as follows: Any person applying, and entitled to foreclose such mortgage, or his, her, or their attorney, shall petition the superior court of the county wherein such mortgaged property may be, stating the case, and the amount of his, her, or their demand, and describing such mortgaged property; and the court shall grant a rule, that the principal, interest, and cost shall be paid into court, within twelve months‡ thereafter, which rule shall be published in one of the public gazettes of this State at least once in every month, until the time appointed for payment, § or served on the mortgager, or his special agent, at least six|| months previous to the time the money is directed to be paid; and unless the principal, interest, and costs be so paid, the court shall give judgment for the amount which may be due on such mortgage, and order the property

* Or carry them to the jail of an adjoining county. See Sec. 116.

† For proceedings against bail in criminal cases, see Act of 1831. See Sec. 218, 219, 220. Bail not receivable more than twice before trial. See Sec. 230.

‡ Rule absolute to go at the next term of the court, see Conveyances, Sec. 34.

§ For four months. Ibidem.

|| Three months. Ibidem.

Proceedings against bail.

Ca. Sa.

Sci. fa.

Foreclosure of mortgages on real estates.

mortgaged to be sold in such manner as is prescribed in cases of execution, and the money shall be paid to the mortgages or his attorney; but where there shall be any surplus, the same shall be paid over to the mortgager or his agent. And in case of any dispute as to the amount due on any mortgage, if the mortgager shall appear within the time prescribed by this act, and make affidavit that he hath made payments which have not been credited on the said mortgage, or that he is entitled to sets-off which in equity ought to be allowed, the court shall appoint one or more fit person or persons to audit and liquidate the same; but either party shall be entitled to a new trial therefrom, which shall be tried in like manner as shall be prescribed for the trial of appeals in other cases.

MORTGAGES OF PERSONAL PROPERTY.

On personal property.

17. Sec. XVIII. Mortgages of personal property shall be foreclosed in the following manner: Any person or persons holding a mortgage on personal property, and wishing to foreclose the same, shall make application to one of the judges of the superior or justices of the inferior courts, and make affidavit before him of the amount of principal and interest due on such mortgage, which affidavit shall be annexed to such mortgage, and thereupon the clerk of the superior or inferior courts shall issue execution as on a judgment, which execution being delivered to the sheriff, it shall be his duty to levy on the property wheresoever the same may be found, and after advertising the same in one or more of the public gazettes of this State at least sixty days, the sheriff shall set up and expose the same to sale, and the money arising from such sale shall be first applied to discharge the amount due on such mortgage, and all legal costs, and the overplus, if any, to be paid to the mortgager: Provided always, that if any dispute shall happen as to the sum due on any mortgage, that it shall and may be lawful for the said judge or justices of the inferior courts, on affidavit, to order such sale to be postponed, the mortgager giving bond, with good and sufficient security, in double the sum sworn to be due, for returning such property when called for by the sheriff, which bond shall be assignable by the sheriff to the mortgagee, who may sue and recover thereon; but the jury shall be sworn to give at least twenty-five per cent. damages, in case it shall appear that such application was intended for delay only.

WITNESSES.

Witnesses.

18. Sec. XIX. Where the attendance of any person shall be required as a witness in any of the courts aforesaid, in any cause depending therein, it shall be the duty of the clerks of the said courts respectively, on application, to issue writs of subpoena directed to the persons whose attendance shall be required, where such persons reside within the county in which such cause may be depending, which writ of subpoena shall express the cause, and the party at whose suit it shall be issued, and shall be served on such witnesses at least five days before the court to which it shall be returnable; and which writ shall be served by a sheriff, constable, or some private person, and the return of a sheriff or constable of such service, or the affidavit of any private person, shall be sufficient evidence that such subpoena was duly executed.

Subpoena 5 days before court.

Attachment for non-attendance,

19. Sec. XX. Where it shall appear in manner aforesaid, that a witness in any cause shall have been duly summoned, and such witness shall fail to appear, it shall be the duty of the court, on motion, to issue an attachment against such defaulting witness, returnable to the next court, and shall fine such witness in a sum not exceeding three hundred dollars, unless he or she shall make a sufficient excuse for such non-attendance, which shall be judged of by the court; but shall nevertheless be subject to the action of the person at whose suit such witness shall have been summoned, for any damage which he, she, or they may have sustained, by reason of such non-attendance.

20. Sec. XXI. When a subpoena shall be served on any witness, in conformity to this act, it shall be the duty of such person so summoned to attend, from time to time, until the cause in which such witness shall have been summoned is tried, or be otherwise discharged by the court.

21. Sec. XXII. On the last day of the attendance of any witness in each term, it shall and may be lawful, on application of such witness, to exhibit his account for attendance, against the person or persons at whose suit he or they may have been summoned, and the judge or presiding justice shall examine and certify the same under his hand, which shall be countersigned by the clerk, whereupon such account so certified, shall have the force and effect of an execution, and may be levied by the sheriff or constable, according to the amount thereof, off the goods and chattels of such party, in like manner as in cases of other executions. Provided nevertheless, that where any witness shall claim, and levy for more than is really due, such witness shall forfeit and pay to the party injured four times the amount of the sum so unjustly claimed. And no party cast in any suit shall be taxed for more than the cost of two witnesses to any material point in any cause, which shall be specially certified by the court trying the same; nor shall any party be allowed to tax costs for different witnesses to different material points, where the same witnesses shall be sufficient, in the opinion of the court, to prove such material points.

22. Sec. XXIII. Where any witness resides out of the State, or out of any county in which his testimony may be required in any cause, it shall be lawful for either party, on giving at least ten days' notice to the adverse party, or his, her, or their attorney, accompanied with a copy of the interrogatories intended to be exhibited, to obtain a commission from the clerk of the court in which the same may be required, directed to certain commissioners, to examine all and every such witness or witnesses, on such interrogatories as the parties may exhibit; and such examination shall be read at the trial on motion of either party.*

SETS-OFF AND SPECIALTIES.

23. Sec. XXIV. In all cases of mutual debts and sets-off, where the jury shall find a balance for the defendant, such defendant may and shall enter up judgment for the amount, and take out execution in such manner as plaintiffs may do by this act: Provided, such defendant shall at the time of filing his answer, also file therewith a true copy or copies of the subject matter of such sets-off; and where the plaintiff shall be indebted to the defendant on open account for dealings between themselves, and where the defendant shall hold and possess in his own right, by assignment, endorsement, or otherwise, according to law, any bond, note, bill, or other writing, for money, or other thing of the said plaintiff's, such defendant shall and may offer the same as sets-off, and on due proofs shall be allowed the same.

* For the examination de bene esse of witnesses removing out of the jurisdiction of the State, see Act of 1806 (Evidence, Sec. 27) re-enacted in 1823 (Evidence, Sec. 24) Of Females, Act of 1829. Evidence, Sec. 37, &c.

Bonds, notes,
&c. of equal dignity, and negotiable.

24. Sec. XXV. All bonds, and other specialties, and promissory notes, and other liquidated demands, bearing date since the 9th day of June, 1791, whether for money, or other thing, shall be of equal dignity, and be negotiable by endorsement, in such manner and under such restrictions as are prescribed in the case of promissory notes. Provided that nothing herein contained shall prevent the party giving any bond, note, or other writing, from restraining the negotiability thereof, by expressing in the body thereof such intention.*

VERDICTS AND JUDGMENTS.

Verdicts and judgments.

25. Sec. XXVI. In all cases where a verdict shall be rendered, the party in whose favor it may be, shall be allowed to enter and sign judgment thereon at any time within four days after the adjournment of the court, at the clerk's office, for the amount of such verdict and all legal costs recoverable thereon, and no execution shall issue on any verdict until such judgment shall be entered, signed by the party or his attorney; and all the property of the party against whom such verdict shall be entered, shall be bound from the signing of the first judgment;† but where several judgments shall be of equal date, the first execution delivered to the sheriff shall be the first satisfied:§ Provided always, that any party against whom such judgment shall be

Stay of execution.

entered, may enter good and sufficient security, either in open court or in the clerk's office, within the time aforesaid, for the payment of the judgment and costs within sixty days; and if such party shall not pay the same agreeably thereto, execution may issue against such party, and the security, without any other proceeding thereon: And provided also, that in case either party shall be dissatisfied with the verdict of the jury, then, and in all such cases, either party may, within four days after the adjournment of the court in which such verdict was obtained, enter an appeal in the clerk's office of such court (as matter of right;) and if such verdict shall be obtained in the inferior court, it shall be the duty of the clerk thereof to transmit such appeal to the clerk of the superior court of the county in which such verdict shall be obtained, who shall enter the same on the appeal docket, which appeal|| shall be admitted and tried by a special jury. Provided the person or

Appeal.

Upon paym't of costs and entering security.

persons so appealing shall, previous to obtaining such appeal, pay all costs which may have arisen on the former trial, and give security for the eventual condemnation money, except executors and administrators, who shall not be liable to give such security; but if, on hearing such appeal, it shall appear to the jury that the appeal was frivolous, and intended for delay only, they shall assess damage to the party aggrieved by such delay, not exceeding twenty-five per centum on the principal sum which they shall find due; and such damages as shall be so assessed, shall be specially noted in the verdicts of such jurors, and no person shall be allowed to withdraw an appeal after it shall be entered but by the consent of the parties. And in case of a jury committing a contempt, or breaking up before giving in their verdict in any civil 25 per cent.

dam. may be given for frivolous appeals.

* By the Act of 1826, (Sec. 182,) indorsers (except on notes in bank) are not entitled to notice, and may be treated as other sureties. For damages, &c. on dishonored bills drawn on places in other States, see Sec. 147. If drawn on places out of the United States, see Sec. 184, &c. The interests of sureties protected by Act of 1831. See Sec. 216, 217.

† Except military equipments. See Militia, 21.

‡ And see Justices of the Peace, Sec. 23. How far recovery in Trespass or Trover vests the property in defendant, see act of 1830, Sec. 199, 200. As to the fraudulent enforcement of dormant judgments, see acts of 1822 and 1823. Sec. 130, 131, 132, 165.

§ This provision repealed by act of 1822. See Sec. 131.

|| As well from courts of ordinary, as other appeals. Act of 1823. Sec. 149.

case, the court may declare the same a mis-trial, and shall fine each of the offending juror or jurors in a sum not exceeding one hundred dollars. And if any party, plaintiff or defendant, be hereafter non-suited or cast, by reason of the neglect or misconduct of the attorney, who shall hereafter bring or be employed in such suit, in all cases the said attorney shall pay all costs that may accrue thereby, and the court shall immediately enter up judgment accordingly for the same.

Mis-trial.

Attorney liable for costs in certain cases.

26. Sec. XXVII. No confession of judgment shall hereafter be entered up, but in the county where the defendant or defendants may reside, or unless the cause hath been regularly sued out and docketed in the usual way as in other cases, nor until such cause be called in order by the court for trial.

Confession of judgment.

27. Sec. XXVIII. No verdict shall be received on any unliquidated demand where the jury have increased their verdict on account of interest, nor shall interest be given on any open account, in the nature of damages.

No interest on unliquidated demands.

Sec. XXIX. [Superseded by act of 1812.]

ARBITRATION.

28. Sec. XXX. In all matters submitted to reference by parties, in a suit under a rule of court or other agreement in writing signed by the parties, judgment shall be entered up by the party in whose favor the award is given, and execution shall issue for the sums awarded, to be paid as they respectively become due, and to be levied on the property of the party against whom the judgment shall have been entered up, and such other proceedings shall be had thereon by the court, as in cases of judgments entered up on verdicts of juries. Provided, that no judgment shall be entered upon an award, where it shall appear any other cause or causes stand on the docket of the court against the defendant or defendants, undetermined, before the cause in which a rule or other agreement in writing for arbitration is entered.

Arbitration.

EXECUTIONS.

Sec. XXXI. [Respecting executions—superseded, see Sec. 72-3.]

29. Sec. XXXII. In all cases where execution shall issue illegally, and the person against whom such execution may be shall make oath thereof, and shall state the causes of such illegality, such sheriff shall return the same to the next term of the court out of which the same issued, which court shall determine thereon, at such term. [The residue of this section relates to claims, and is superseded by the act of 1821: see Sec. 124, &c.]

Illegality in executions.

30. Sec. XXXIII. No sales in future shall be made by sheriffs of property taken under execution, but on the first Tuesday in each month, and between the hours of ten and three in the day;* and it shall be the duty of the sheriffs to give thirty days' notice in one of the public gazettes of the State, of all sales of lands and other property executed by him, and also advertise the same in three of the most public places in the county where such sales are to be made, and shall give a full and complete description of the property to be sold, making known the name of the defendant, and the person who may be in possession of the property, except horses, hogs, and cattle, which may be sold at any time by the consent of the defendant; and in which case it shall be his duty to give the plaintiff ten days' notice thereof, and also Sales by execution.

Hours of sale.

Sale of live stock.

* From ten o'clock in the forenoon till four in the afternoon, act of 1821. See Sec. 129. Purchasers of real estate to be put in possession. Act of 1823, Sec. 163. Purchasers of personal property under incumbrance to give bond, Sec. 206, &c. As to any purchaser who may fail to comply with the terms of sale, see Sec. 222-3.

to advertise the same in three or more of the most public places in the county where such property may be, at least ten days before the sale.

CLERKS.

Clerks' duty.

31. Sec. XXXIV. The clerks of the several courts in this State, shall copy into a book of record, all the proceedings in all civil cases in the said courts respectively, which entry of record shall be made within forty days after the determination of any cause; and the said clerks shall be allowed the sum of ten cents for every hundred words of recording such proceeding, to be taxed in the bill of cost.* And the said clerks shall also keep regular and fair minutes of all the proceedings in any of the said courts, which shall be signed by the judge of the superior, or presiding justices of the inferior courts (as the case may be) prior to the adjournment from day to day.

Must be sworn, and give bond and security.

The oath.

32. Sec. XXXV. The clerks of the said superior and inferior courts, hereafter to be appointed, shall, before they enter upon the duties of their appointments, and after being commissioned by the governor, take the following oath before one of the judges of the superior courts, or a justice of the inferior court of the county: "I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will truly and faithfully enter and record all the orders, decrees, judgments, and other proceedings of the superior (or inferior) court of the county of —, and all other matters and things which by law ought by me to be recorded, and that I will faithfully and impartially discharge and perform all the duties required of me, to the best of my understanding." And shall also enter into bond with one or more good and sufficient security or securities, to the governor for the time being, in the sum of $3,000, conditioned for the faithful discharge of the duties required of them: And the said clerks shall in virtue of their offices be justices of the peace, so far as to administer all oaths appertaining to the business of their office.

May administer oaths appertaining to their official business. Not to act as attorney.

May be clerk of both courts.

33. Sec. XXXVI. No clerk of a court or other person employed in his office, shall act as attorney in his own name, or the name of any other person, or be allowed to plead or practise in such courts, during the time he shall be employed in such office: And the same person may be clerk of the superior and inferior court of the same county; Provided, that nothing herein contained shall extend to prevent any officer of the court from prosecuting or defending any suit to which he is a party.

LAW DEPARTMENT.

Duty of solicitor and attorney gen.

34. Sec. XXXVII. It shall be the duty of the State's attorney and solicitors, or one of them, to prosecute all delinquents for crimes and other offences, cognizable by the said courts, and all civil actions in which this State shall be concerned, and to give advice or opinion in writing to his excellency the governor, in questions of law in which the State may be interested. And in case it should so happen, that neither the State's attorney or solicitors, or either of them, can attend the said courts, then the judge presiding may, and he is hereby authorized and required, to appoint some attorney at law, to prepare and prosecute the indictments and other business of the State; and such person so appointed shall be entitled to the same fees and emoluments therein, as the State's attorney or solicitors would have been entitled to.

In case of their absence, the court may appoint.

JURIES.

Their qualifications.

35. Sec. XXXVIII. All free male white citizenst above the age

* The justices of the inferior courts are authorized to allow annually to their clerks compensation for extra services. Resolution 27th November, 1802. Vol. II. 677.

t But as to clergymen, see Sec. 6A.

of twenty-one years, and under sixty years, are declared to be qualified and liable to serve as petit jurors for the trial of all civil causes for recovery of debts or damages, to any amount whatsoever; but no person shall be capable to be of a jury for the trial of treason, felony, breach of the peace, or any other cause of a criminal nature, or of any estate of freehold, or of the right or title to any lands or tenements, in any court of record within this State, who shall not be qualified to vote at elections for members of the legislature; and if any person not qualified as aforesaid, shall be returned on any jury, he shall be discharged on the challenge and proof thereof, of either of the parties to such suit, or on his own oath, of the truth thereof: Provided, that no exception against any juror, on account of his qualification, shall be allowed after he is sworn.

Sec. XXXIX and XL. [Directing the mode of selecting and drawing juries superseded by act of 1805. See Sec. 57.]

36. Sec. XLI. No grand jury shall consist of less than eighteen or more than twenty-three, but twelve may find a bill or make a presentment. [The rest of this section superseded. See sec. 57, 96.]

Grand jury not less than 18, nor more than 23.

37. Sec. XLII. The clerk of the court shall annex a pannel of the jury, containing the names of the persons drawn to serve on the grand inquest, exactly transcribed from the minute-book to the precept for summoning such grand jury; and shall also annex another pannel containing the names of the persons drawn as petit jurors for the trial of civil and criminal cases, exactly transcribed as aforesaid, to the precept for summoning the petit jurors, in the mandatory part of which precept shall be written the words following, viz.; "The several persons named in the pannel hereunto annexed," which precept, with the several pannels annexed as aforesaid, shall be delivered by the clerk of the court within three days after the drawing of such juries as aforesaid, to the sheriff of the county or his deputy.

Precept to issue.

38. Sec. XLIII. The sheriff or his lawful deputy for the time being, upon the receipt of any precept for summoning grand or petit jurors, shall cause the several persons whose names are written in the pannel thereunto annexed, to be served with a summons, at least ten days before the sitting of the court for which they are drawn and impannelled; which summons shall be in the following words, or words to that effect: "By virtue of the precept to me directed, you are hereby commanded to appear before the judge of the superior court, at the next superior court, to be held at the court-house in and for the county of —, on the — day of —, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, to be sworn on the grand jury (or as a juror for the trial of civil and criminal causes then and there depending, as the case may be:)" which shall be signed by the sheriff or his lawful deputy for the time being; which sheriff or lawful deputy aforesaid, shall make return of all such precepts, in each of which he shall set forth the names of all such persons as shall have been summoned by virtue of such writs or precepts, and the time when they were summoned, and also the names of the persons whom he may not have summoned, together with the reasons why they were not summoned, on pain of being fined by the court.

Juries to be summoned 10 days before court.

Form of the summons.

39. Sec. XLIV. The clerk of the court shall make due entry in the minute book of such court of the appearance of all jurors, and shall likewise enter and make report of the names of all such as shall make default in appearing; that if any person who shall be drawn, empannelled, summoned, and returned to serve as jurors at any court as aforesaid, shall neglect or refuse to appear, or after appearance shall refuse to serve, or shall absent himself without leave of the court, then and in that case, it shall be lawful for the court to fine such person, Defaulting jurors may be fined.

If a petit juror, $90; if a grand juror, forty dollars.

Talesmen

Oath of petit jurors.

Sheriffs, their duty.

Must give security.

Their oath.

if a petit juror, in a sum not exceeding twenty dollars, and if a grand juror, in a sum not exceeding forty dollars, unless such juror shall show good and sufficient cause of excuse, to be made on oath before any justice of the peace, and filed in the clerk's office of such court, within thirty days after opening the said court; the merits of which excuse shall be determined by the next succeeding court; and when from challenge or otherwise there shall not be sufficient number of jurors to determine any civil or criminal cause, the court may order the sheriff or his deputy, to summon by-standers or others, qualified as hereinbefore required, for the trial of such cause or causes, sufficient to complete the pannel; and when the sheriff or his deputy are disqualified from acting in the manner herein expressed, jurors shall be summoned by the coroner, or such other disinterested person as the court may appoint.

40. Sec. XLV. The oath to be administered to petit jurors in civil cases shall be in the form following: "You (A. B.) shall well and truly try the cause depending between the parties at variance, and a true verdict give according to evidence: so help you God."

SHERIFFS.

41. Sec. XLVI. The sheriffs of the several counties shall attend the superior and inferior courts in the respective counties when sitting, and by themselves or deputies, execute throughout the counties all writs, warrants, precepts and processes directed to them, issued under the authority of any judge or justice of the said superior or inferior courts, or the clerk of either of the courts; and the said sheriffs or their deputies shall have power to command all necessary assistance in the execution of their duty, and to appoint, as there shall be occasion, one or more deputies; and before any sheriff shall enter upon the duty of his appointment, and being commissioned by the governor, he shall be bound for the faithful performance of his duty, by himself and his deputies, before any one of the said judges, to the governor of the State for the time being, and to his successors in office, jointly and severally with two good and sufficient securities, inhabitants and freeholders of the county, to be approved of by the justices of the inferior court or any three* of them, in the sum of $20,000,† and the said bond shall remain in the office of the clerk of the superior court of such county, and may be sued for by order of the said court, for the satisfaction of the public or persons aggrieved by the misconduct of the sheriff or his deputy; and the said sheriff shall take and subscribe the following oath, before one of the judges of the superior, or justices of the inferior courts, and the same shall be entered on the minutes of the said court, before such sheriff shall enter on the duties of his office, to wit: "I do solemnly swear (or affirm as the case may be) that I will faithfully execute all writs, warrants, precepts, and processes, directed to me as sheriff of the county of — and true returns make, and in all things well and truly, and without malice or partiality, perform the duties of the office of sheriff of —, during my continuance in office, and take only my lawful fees: so help me God." And an oath to the same purport shall be taken by each of the deputies of the said sheriff in like manner.

* But see County Officers, Sec. 4. Evidence, Sec. 12

† Sheriff's bonds reduced in Appling, Bryan, Bulloch, Emanuel, and Montgomery, to $10,000, vol. iv. 436.—In Irwin, Carroll, Early, Randolph, Rabun, Appling, Campbell, Scriven, Lowndes and Lee, to $10,000, lb. 403.—In Dooley, Tattnall and Marion to $5,000, lb. 407.—In Wayne, to $5,000, lb. 409.—and in Ware, to $1,000, lb. 407.—In Camden and Glynn to $10,000, pam. of 1832, p. 169.—In Wayne to $1,000, pam. of 1832, p. 170.—In Baker to $10,000, pam. of 1834, p. 224.—In Union to $5,000, pam. of 1834, p. 225.

42. Sec. XLVII. In case of the death of either of the said sheriffs, the deputy or deputies shall continue in office, unless otherwise specially removed, and execute the same in the name of the deceased, until another sheriff be appointed and qualified; and the defaults and misfeasance in office of such deputy or deputies in the mean time, as well before as after the death of such sheriff, shall be adjudged a breach of the condition of the bond given as before directed, by the sheriff who appointed such deputy or deputies; and the executor or administrator of the deceased sheriff, shall have the like remedy for the misconduct, or misfeasance, or default in office of such deputy or deputies, during such intervals, as he would be entitled to if the sheriff had continued in life, and in the execution of his office, until his successor was appointed and sworn.

Liable for the conduct of their deputies.

43. Sec. XLVIII. The sheriff of each county shall, at the expiration of his appointment, turn over to the succeeding sheriffs, by indenture and schedule, all such writs and processes as shall remain in his hands unexecuted, who shall duly execute and return the same; and in case any sheriff shall neglect or refuse to turn over such process in manner aforesaid, every such sheriff so neglecting or refusing, shall be liable to make such satisfaction, by damages and costs, to the party aggrieved, as he, she, or they, shall sustain by reason of such neglect or refusal; and every sheriff, at the expiration of such his appointment, shall also deliver up to his successor the custody of the jail, and the bodies of such persons as shall be confined therein, with the precepts, writs or causes of such detention; and such succeeding sheriff shall be empowered and required to sell and carry into effect any levy made by his predecessors in office, in like manner as such sheriff could have done had he continued therein, and shall make titles to the purchasers for all the property sold under execution, and not conveyed by his predecessor.

Shall turn over to their successors all unfinished business, who shall complete the same.

44. Sec. XLIX. The sheriffs of the several counties in this State, shall have like powers and authorities, and they, and their under sheriffs and jailers, constables and other officers belonging to the court, be liable to all actions, suits, penalties and disabilities whatsoever, which they or either of them may incur for or on account of the escape of prisoners, or for or in respect of any other matter or thing whatsoever, relating to or concerning their respective offices, in the same manner as they have heretofore been liable by laws in force in this State; and no sheriffs, under sheriffs, deputy or other sheriff's officer shall act as an attorney at law, in his own name or in the name of any other person, or be allowed to plead or practise in any of the courts of this State, during the time he is in such office.

Sheriffs in what cases liable.

Shall not act as attorney.

45. Sec. L. The sheriff shall be liable either to an action on the case, or an attachment for contempt of court, at the option of the party, wherever it shall appear that he hath injured such party, either by false returns, or by neglecting to arrest the defendant, or to levy on his property, or to pay over to the plaintiff or his attorney, the amount of any sales which shall be made under or by virtue of any execution, or any moneys collected by virtue thereof.

Are subject to attachment or to action.

46. Sec. LI. If any sheriff, or his deputy or under sheriffs, shall be guilty of extortion or other malpractice in the execution of his office, upon complaint made on oath to the State's attorney or solicitors, it shall be the duty of such attorney or solicitor to exhibit a bill of indictment against the person so offending, who, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined by the court in treble the amount which he may have extorted from any person, which shall be applied, one moiety to the injured person, and the other moiety to the use of such county, and shall likewise be removed from office, and suffer such other punishments as the law directs.

And liable to indictment for malpractice.

In what cases liable to an action or attachment,

47. Sec. LII. Whenever the sheriff of any county within this State, shall fail to make proper return of all writs, executions and other process put into his hands, or shall fail or neglect to pay up all moneys received on such executions, on his being required by the court so to do, he shall be liable to an action as for contempt, and may be fined, imprisoned or removed from office, in the manner prescribed by the constitution.

and removal-ble from office.

SPECIAL POWERS OF SUPERIOR COURTS.

Sec. LIII. [Recited in the preamble of the act of 1820, Sec. 122, giving concurrent jurisdiction to the common law side of the court.]

Exceptions carried before the superior court by certiorari.

49. Sec. LIV. Where either party in any cause in any inferior court shall take exceptions to any proceedings in any case affecting the real merits of such cause, the party making the same shall offer such exceptions in writing, which shall be signed by himself, or his attorney; and if the same shall be overruled by the court, it shall and may be lawful for such party, on giving twenty days' notice to the opposite party or his attorney, to apply to one of the judges of the superior court, and if such judge shall deem the said exceptions to be sufficient, he shall forthwith issue a writ of certiorari, directed to the clerk of such inferior court, requiring him to certify and send up to the next superior court, to be held in the said county, all the proceedings in the said cause, and at the term of the superior court to which such proceedings shall be certified, the said superior court shall determine thereon, and order the proceedings to be dismissed, or return the same to the said inferior court with order to proceed in the said cause.

Shall correct errors, and grant new trials.

50. Sec. LV. The said superior courts shall have power to correct errors, and grant new trials, in any cause depending in any of the said superior courts, in such manner and under such rules and regulations as they may establish, and according to law, and the usages and customs of courts.

Sec. LVI. [Oath of the special jury, repealed. Sec. Sec. 74.]

New trials

51. Sec. LVII. In any case which has arisen since the signing of the present constitution, or which may hereafter arise, of a verdict of a special jury being given contrary to evidence and the principles of justice and equity, it shall and may be lawful for the judge presiding to grant a new trial before another special jury, in the manner prescribed by this act: Provided, that twenty days' notice be given by the party applying for such new trial to the adverse party of his intention, and the grounds of his application. And the said judge shall in all cases of application for new trials, or correction of errors, enter his opinion on the minutes of the court for his determination on each respective case.

20 days'
notice.

Before a special jury.

52. Sec. LVIII. All new trials shall be had by a special jury, to be taken from the grand jury list of the county. [As to the manner of striking the special jury, see Sec. 66.]

Judges may perpetuate testimony.

53. Sec. LIX. [The first part of this section, directing the annual convention of the judges, repealed, Vol. II. 38, and in part re-enacted in 1821. See Sec. 126.] And the said judges, or any of them, shall have power to perpetuate testimony on such terms and in such manner as is usually practiced in courts of equity.

Sec. LX. [Judges shall alternate—superseded, see Sec. 60.]

54. Sec. LXI. [Relates to suits commenced under the jud. act of 1797, repealing that to the 67th inclusive.] No justice of the peace shall sustain or try any satisfaction in damages for any trespass on the person or property of such plaintiff.*

Justices shall not try trespass.

Act of 5th December, 1801. Vol. II. 37.

56. Sec. V. In all cases brought in the said superior courts, or either of them, where either of the judges thereof shall be a party, or interested therein, it shall be the duty of three or more of the justices of the inferior court to preside at the trial of the same.†

Where judges of sup. court are interested, justices of inf. court to preside.

Act for the better selection and drawing Grand Juries for the several Counties in this State.—Approved Dec. 7, 1805. Vol. II. 272.

57. Sec. I. It shall be the duty of the justices of the inferior courts of each county, together with the sheriff and clerk, or a majority of them, to convene at the court-house of their respective counties, on the first Monday in June next, and biennially on the first Monday in June thereafter, whose duty it shall be to select from the books of the receiver of tax returns, for their respective counties, fit and proper persons to serve as grand jurors; and shall make a list of persons so selected, and transmit it under their hands to the next superior court of their respective counties; and it shall be the duty of the judge then presiding, to cause the clerk of the said superior court to make out tickets, with the names of the persons so selected, which tickets shall be put in a box to be provided by the clerk at the public expense, which said box shall have two apartments, marked number one and two; and the clerks of said courts shall, immediately after receiving such lists, fairly enter the same in a book for that purpose, to be provided at his own expense, distinguishing in separate columns the persons liable to serve as grand jurors, and those for the trial of civil and criminal causes, as pointed out by law; which said box shall be locked and sealed up by the judge, and placed in the care of the clerk, and the key in the care of the sheriff, and no grand jury shall be drawn and impanelled, but in the presence of the judge in open court, nor shall any clerk of the court, or other person having the custody of the jury box, presume, on any pretence whatever, to open the said jury box, transpose, or alter the names, except it be by the direction of the judge in open court, attending for the purpose of drawing jurors, under the penalty of being dealt with in the manner pointed out by law for malpractice in office.

Selection of grand jurors.

58. Sec. II. The said judge, in open court, shall unlock and break the seal, and cause to be drawn† out of the apartment of the said box, marked number one, not less than twenty-three, nor more than thirty-six names, to serve as grand jurors, which names so drawn out shall, after an account is taken of them, at each time of drawing, be carefully deposited in the other apartment of such box, marked number two; and when all the names shall be drawn out of the apartment number one as aforesaid, they shall then commence drawing from the apartment number two, and return them into number one, and so on alternately; but no name so deposited shall, on any pretence whatever, be destroyed, except it is within the knowledge of the judge that the said juror is either dead, removed out of the county, or otherwise disqualified by law, or the sheriff certify the same.

The judge to draw the jury.

* But see the amendments of 1811 of the constitution. Art. III. Sec. 1st.

† And see act of 1830, Sec. 210.

‡ As to cases where the inferior court may fail to draw their juries, see Sec. 104 and 5.

In failure of a court, juries to stand over to the next court.

If no selection is made at the proper time, it shall be made at or before the next superior court.

59. Sec. III. If it shall so happen, that there should be a failure of the court in consequence of the non-attendance of the judge, then, and in that case, the jurors being summoned shall stand over to the next succeeding term, in the same manner as suitors and witnesses do in like cases: Provided always, that if the said justices, sheriff, and clerk aforesaid, shall fail to make such selection on the day aforesaid, that then it shall be the duty of the said justices, sheriff, and clerk aforesaid, or a majority of them, to make such selection at or before the next superior court thereafter, which shall be held in their respective counties.

Sec. IV. [Repealing clause.]

Act of December 8, 1806. Vol. II. 328.

The judges may alternate.

60. It shall and may be lawful for the judges of the superior courts in this State, and they are hereby authorized to alternate in their districts from and immediately after the first day of January next, any law to the contrary notwithstanding.

An Act pointing out the duty of Sheriffs, in selling lands under execution.—Approved Dec. 22, 1808. Vol. II. 454.

Written notice is made to the owner or tenant.

61. Sec. I. It shall hereafter be the duty of the sheriffs of the several counties in this State, when they levy any execution on land, to leave a written notice of the said levy with the owner, if in the county, or tenant in possession, if any, or transmit the same to him, her, or them, in five days after such levy. [But see Sec. 85, as to writs of possession.]

No sheriff shall sell lands out of his county.

62. Sec. II. It shall not hereafter be lawful for any sheriff within this State, to levy upon, or sell any land which lies out of the county of which he is sheriff; any thing in any law to the contrary notwithstanding.

63. Sec. III. [Directing sheriffs to advertise in their respective circuits has been modified in so many cases, that the exceptions are believed to be more numerous than the rule—; and errors in this respect, when they occur, are always cured by the legislature. The act of 1822, Vol. IV. 403, heals all such informalities in Gwinnett, Habersham, Rabun and the whole of the Flint and southern circuits—And subsequently in the Chattahoochee circuit and in Talliaferro county, by act of 1828, Vol. IV. 342—And see the table of references to county acts at the end of the volume for any such act in relation to any particular county.]

An Act to give relief to all ordained Ministers of the Gospel, so far as respects their serving as Jurors, or doing Militia duty.—Approved Dec. 12, 1809. Vol. II. 531.

Sec. I. [Respecting militia duty. See Militia, Sec. 41.]

Clergymen excused from serving on juries.

64. Sec. II. The judges of the superior courts, the justices of the inferior courts, and justices of the peace, are hereby authorized, on application, to excuse them from service on the juries of their different courts, the application to be made in writing or otherwise.

An Act to amend the XXVIIth section of the Judiciary Law of this State.—Approved Dec. 12, 1809. Vol. II. 573.

Whereas a practice has been adopted, and now prevails in some parts of this State, of bringing suits to the superior and inferior courts for debts which constitutionally are, and by law ought to be exclusively cognizable in the justices' courts, which practice is injurious and oppressive on many of the good citizens of this State, by subjecting them to more cost than was contemplated by the constitution and judiciary laws of this State; for remedy whereof,

65. Be it enacted, &c. That where any suit shall be brought to the superior or inferior courts in this State, and the verdict of the jury shall be for a sum under $30, the defendant shall not be charged with more cost than would have necessarily accrued; Provided, said recovery had been before a justice of the peace; and the remainder of the court charges may be retained out of the sum so recovered; and if the verdict of the jury be not of sufficient amount, the plaintiff shall be bound to pay the same; Provided, this act shall not extend to, and govern cases where the demand set forth in the declaration, shall be proven to exceed the sum of $30. Provided, nothing herein contained shall extend to any case sounding in damages.

On verdicts of less than $30, no more than justices' costs.

Exceptions.

An Act to point out a regular and definitive rule for the priority of judgments, obtained in the several courts of this State.—Approved Dec. 13, 1810. Vol. II. 621.

Sec. I. From and after the passing of this act, all judgments obtained in the superior, inferior or justices courts of this State, shall be entitled to the right or claim of any money received by the sheriffs, coroners or constables, agreeable to the date of such judgment or judgments, and that all the property belonging to the defendant or defendants, shall be bound and subject to the discharge of the first judgment or judgments, obtained in either of the aforesaid courts; Provided, the demand of such right is made before any of the aforesaid officers have paid the money over to the plaintiff in interest; any law, usage or custom to the contrary notwithstanding. [All this section except the proviso is considered as supplied in the subsequent acts.]

All judgments rank by date.

If claimed in time.

Sec. II. [Directing how claims shall be tried in justices' courts, superseded by the act of 1811. See Justices of the Peace, Sec. 9.]

An Act to amend the several Judiciary Acts now in force in this State. Approved Dec. 15, 1810. Vol. II. 640.

66. All special jurors shall be taken from the grand jury list of the county, and struck in the presence of the court in the following manner; the clerk shall produce a list of the grand jurors present, and there impannelled, from which the parties, plaintiff and defendant, or their attorney, may strike out one alternately, until there shall be but twelve jurors left, who shall forthwith be impannelled and sworn, as special jurors to try the appeal cause; and in all cases the appellants shall strike first; and in case of refusal in either to strike such special jurors, after due notice given for the purpose, and proof thereof, the judge before whom such notice is given for such special jury to be impannelled, shall on behalf of such absent party, or his attorney, proceed in the same way and manner, as if the party absent or refusing had been present or consented to the same.

Special jurors, how stricken.

An Act to define the duties of the Clerks of the Superior and Inferior Courts of this State, and Sheriffs.—Approved Dec. 15, 1810. Vol. II. 664.

Whereas a practice has prevailed in the superior and inferior courts in this State, for judgments to be kept open, notwithstanding the sheriff may have returned the execution or executions bottomed on such judgments satisfied; And whereas great evil might grow out of such practice; for remedy whereof,

Satisfaction of judgments shall be immediately entered.

67. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That from and after the first day of February next, it shall be the duty of such clerks, immediately after the return of such sheriff of such execution or executions, as the case may be, to enter such satisfaction on such judgment, either in whole or in part, as per sheriff's return.

Satisfaction docket.

68. Sec. II. It shall be the duty of such clerks to keep a docket book, for the special purpose of entering the names and stating the cases of the parties, plaintiff or plaintiffs and defendant or defendants, and enter such satisfaction as aforesaid.

Subpœna dockets. Criminal docket.

69. Sec. III. The respective clerks of the superior and inferior courts of this State, shall keep regular subpœna dockets, and the said clerks of the superior courts shall also keep separate dockets for all criminal cases, which shall be entered in their regular order.

Sheriff's execution docket, how kept, and how filed.

70. Sec. IV. The different sheriffs in this State shall keep fair and regular execution dockets, wherein they shall enter all executions delivered to them, and the dates of such delivery, together with all their actings and doings thereon, and file the same in the clerk's office out of which such executions may have issued, on or before the first day of the meeting of the court to which they may be made returnable, which said dockets shall remain in the said offices, subject to the inspection of all persons concerned therein.

Surety making payment, shall have the benefit of the execution against the principal.

71. Sec. V. Where it shall appear by the sheriff's return on any execution or executions, that the same has been paid by a security or securities, it shall be the duty of the clerk to make such entry in such docket book, and such security or securities shall have the use and control of said execution for the purpose of remunerating him or themselves out of the principal for whom he or they stood security.*

An Act to amend the Thirty-first section of the Judiciary act of 1799.
Approved Dec. 14, 1811. Vol. III. 378.

Executions, how issued and levied.

72. Sec. I. All executions shall be issued and signed by the clerks of the several courts in which judgments shall be obtained, and bear teste in the name of one of the judges or presiding justices of such courts, and shall bear date from the time of issuing, shall be directed to all and singular the sheriffs of this State, and may be levied on the estate both real and personal of the defendant or defendants, or issue against the body of the defendant at the option of the plaintiff, which execution shall be of full force until satisfied, without being obliged to be renewed on the court roll from year to year as heretofore practised. And when the defendant shall point out any property on which to levy the execution, being in the hands and possession of any person not a party to such judgment, the sheriff shall not levy thereon, but shall proceed to levy on such property as may be found in the hands and possession of the defendant, who shall nevertheless be at liberty to point out what part of his property he may think proper, which the sheriff shall be bound to take and sell first, if the same is in the opinion of the sheriff sufficient to satisfy such judgment.

Property in the defendant's possession first to be taken.

* Sureties further protected by act of 1826. Sec. 175, &c. amended by act of 1831. Sec. 216 and 217.

73. Sec. II. Where any execution shall have issued or may hereafter issue against the body* of any defendant, and the same shall not have been satisfied, it shall be lawful for an execution to issue against the property of such defendant or defendants on the return of said execution, which had been issued against the body of the said defendant or defendants. And that when an execution against the body of any defendant shall have been served, the party on whom the same shall have been served, shall be released, Provided he, she, or they, shall deliver to the officer serving the same, the property which shall, in the opinion of such officer, be sufficient to discharge the debt and all costs, and give sufficient security to the said officer that the property so delivered is bona fide the property of the defendant or defendants, and subject to the discharge of the said debt. In which case the officer shall return the execution so issued against the body of the defendant or defendants, and take out an execution against the property of such defendant or defendants, and proceed to advertise and sell the property so delivered up to satisfy such execution as heretofore practised.

Where a ca. ex. is not satisfied, a f. fa. may issue.

Or property may be delivered up to satisfy a ca. ex.

What to be done with such prop'ty.

An Act to amend the LVIIth Section of the Judiciary Law of this State.—Approved Dec. 4, 1811. Vol. III. 367.

74. Sec. I. The oath to be administered to special jurors (except in cases of divorce) shall be in the words following, to wit:—"You shall well and truly try each cause submitted to you during the present term, and a true verdict give, according to equity, and the opinion you entertain of the evidence produced to you, to the best of your skill and knowledge, without favor or affection to either party; Provided, you are not discharged from the consideration of the case or cases submitted; so help you God."

Oath of the special jury.

An Act to regulate the granting Certioraries and Injunctions in this State.—Approved Dec. 16, 1811. Vol. III. 133.

75. Sec. I. From and after the passing of this act, it shall not be lawful for any judge of the superior court of this State to sanction or grant any certiorari, unless the person or persons aggrieved and applying for the same, shall have previously paid all costs which may have accrued on the trial below, and have given to the magistrate or magistrates, or justices of the inferior court, or clerk of the inferior court, as the case may happen, good and sufficient security for the eventual condemnation money, or any future costs which may accrue.

No certiorari to be granted unless costs are paid and security giv'n.

76. Sec. II. The person applying for said certiorari shall produce to the judge authorized to grant the same, a certificate from the magistrate or magistrates, or justices of the inferior court who tried the case, or clerk of the inferior court, whose duty it shall be to give said certificate, informing said judge that the costs have been paid, and security given in terms of this act.

Certificate to that effect shall be produced to the judge.

77. Sec. III. No injunction shall be sanctioned or granted by any judge of the superior courts of this State, until the party requiring

No injunction to issue unless costs are paid and security giv'n.

* Prison bounds allowed by acts of 1820 and 1821. See Insolvent Debtors, Sec. 12.

An Act to define the duties of the Clerks of the Superior and Inferior Courts of this State, and Sheriffs.—Approved Dec. 15, 1810. Vol. II. 664.

Whereas a practice has prevailed in the superior and inferior courts in this State, for judgments to be kept open, notwithstanding the sheriff may have returned the execution or executions bottomed on such judgments satisfied; And whereas great evil might grow out of such practice; for remedy whereof,

Satisfaction of judgments shall be immediately entered.

67. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That from and after the first day of February next, it shall be the duty of such clerks, immediately after the return of such sheriff of such execution or executions, as the case may be, to enter such satisfaction on such judgment, either in whole or in part, as per sheriff's return.

Satisfaction docket.

68. Sec. II. It shall be the duty of such clerks to keep a docket book, for the special purpose of entering the names and stating the cases of the parties, plaintiff or plaintiffs and defendant or defendants, and enter such satisfaction as aforesaid.

Subpœna dockets. Criminal docket.

69. Sec. III. The respective clerks of the superior and inferior courts of this State, shall keep regular subpœna dockets, and the said clerks of the superior courts shall also keep separate dockets for all criminal cases, which shall be entered in their regular order.

Sheriff's execution docket, how kept, and how filed.

70. Sec. IV. The different sheriffs in this State shall keep fair and regular execution dockets, wherein they shall enter all executions delivered to them, and the dates of such delivery, together with all their actings and doings thereon, and file the same in the clerk's office out of which such executions may have issued, on or before the first day of the meeting of the court to which they may be made returnable, which said dockets shall remain in the said offices, subject to the inspection of all persons concerned therein.

Surety making payment, shall have the benefit of the execution against the principal.

71. Sec. V. Where it shall appear by the sheriff's return on any execution or executions, that the same has been paid by a security or securities, it shall be the duty of the clerk to make such entry in such docket book, and such security or securities shall have the use and control of said execution for the purpose of remunerating him or themselves out of the principal for whom he or they stood security.*

An Act to amend the Thirty-first section of the Judiciary act of 1799.
Approved Dec. 14, 1811. Vol. III. 378.

Executions, how issued and levied.

72. Sec. I. All executions shall be issued and signed by the clerks of the several courts in which judgments shall be obtained, and bear teste in the name of one of the judges or presiding justices of such courts, and shall bear date from the time of issuing, shall be directed to all and singular the sheriffs of this State, and may be levied on the estate both real and personal of the defendant or defendants, or issue against the body of the defendant at the option of the plaintiff, which execution shall be of full force until satisfied, without being obliged to be renewed on the court roll from year to year as heretofore practised. And when the defendant shall point out any property on which to levy the execution, being in the hands and possession of any person not a party to such judgment, the sheriff shall not levy thereon, but shall proceed to levy on such property as may be found in the hands shall be recoverable in any court of law or equity in this State, having cognizance thereof.

Property in the defendant's possession first to be taken.

* Sureties further protected by act of 1826. Sec. 175, &c. amended by act of 1831. Sec. 216 and 217.

84. Sec. II. In all cases where any of the aforesaid officers shall arrest any person charged with a capital offence, he shall secure so much of the property of the person so charged if to be had, as will in his opinion be of sufficient value to defray the expense incident to such prosecution, jailer's fees, &c. and make return thereof to the next superior court of the county, and it shall be the duty of the judge of said court to order a sale thereof by the sheriff, under the same regulations as govern sheriffs' sales under executions; Provided nevertheless, that the party charged, or his agent, may replevy such goods on putting in sufficient security for the delivery of the same, or payment of all the expenses of said prosecution, conviction, or execution.*

Arresting officers in capital cases, shall seize effects to answer the costs, which may be replevied.

An Act to alter and explain the First Section of the act of Dec. 22, 1808, (see Sec. 61, &c.)—Approved Dec. 16, 1811. Vol. III. 140.

85. Sec. II.† The first section of the before recited act, shall not be so construed as to authorize any judge of the superior courts to order writs of possession to issue against a third person residing within the limits of any such survey or tract of land so offered for sale; provided also, that such person shall not be known in the suit on which such execution is founded, nor have been put in possession by, or claimed under or by virtue of any conveyance from the defendant in such suit.

Writs of possession shall not go against strangers to the suit, who are also strangers to the defendant's title.

An Act to amend and explain the XXIXth Section of the Judiciary Law of this State.—Approved Dec. 7, 1812. Vol. III. 381.

Whereas the above-recited section of the judiciary law of this State is not sufficiently explicit to effect the object for which it was intended,

86. Sec. I. Be it therefore enacted, &c. That where any attorney shall institute a suit in any of the courts of this State for and in behalf of any person or persons who resides or reside out of this State, or out of the county in which the defendant or defendants may reside, and in which such suit may be tried, such attorney shall be liable to pay all costs, in case such suit shall be dismissed, or the plaintiff or plaintiffs be cast in his, her, or their suit, and it shall be lawful for the clerk of said court to issue execution against said attorney or attorneys for the amount of the cost of said suit.

Attorneys liable for costs in certain cases for absent clients, whether they gain

87. Sec. II. Where any attorney shall institute a suit in any of the counties of this State for any person who resides out of the county in which such suit is brought, and judgment shall be obtained thereon, and the sheriff shall return the execution, no property to be found, that then the plaintiff's attorney shall be bound for the costs of said suit, and the clerk may issue his execution against the plaintiff and the attorney who brought said suit jointly, for the amount of the cost of such suit; and if any attorney shall retain in his hands any money received by him for any client, after being by the court ordered to pay over the same to the principal, he shall be struck from the list of attorneys, and never more suffered to plead in any of the courts in this State.

or lose their suit.

Must pay over client's money or be struck from the roll.

* This subject is more fully provided for by act of 1816. Penal Laws, Sec. 9 and 10. Amended by the act of 1820. See Judiciary, Sec. 118, &c., and act of 1830, Judiciary, Sec. 202, &c.

† For the 1st section of this act, see County Officers, Sec. 10.

the same shall have previously given to the party against whom such injunction is to operate, by application to the clerk of the superior court for that purpose, a bond with good and ample security for the eventual condemnation money, together with all future costs; which said bond shall be lodged in said clerk's office, subject to the order of the court, and have paid all costs which may have accrued in the case, the subject of the injunction.

The surety may be compelled to justify.

78. Sec. IV. Where any doubt arises as to the sufficiency of the security tendered to any of the persons, authorized by this act to take the same, the party so authorized to take the said security, may compel the party to justify upon oath, and such justification upon oath shall amount to such sufficiency as to exonerate the party taking the security, from any liability.

No judge to grant either out of his district, unless in certain cases.

No certiorari to a magistrate until after jury trial.

Service of injunction where the defendant resides out of the State.

Injunctions may be argued or amended the first term.

And shall be disposed of at the 2d term.

No second bill of injunction shall be granted.

79. Sec. V. No judge of the superior court shall grant or sanction any certiorari* or injunction out of his judicial district, unless there shall be a vacancy in any of the other districts, or the judge thereof be so indisposed, or be absent therefrom, so that the business of granting certioraries and injunctions cannot be speedily done; Provided, no certiorari shall be granted, to remove any proceedings from a magistrate's court, until it has been tried by a jury in said court.

80. Sec. VI. In all cases of bills of injunction where the defendant or defendants reside out of the State, a service on the attorney of the plaintiff in the original action, and a publication of a six months' rule obtained from the judge granting the injunction, shall be deemed a sufficient service.

81. Sec. VII. All bills of injunction granted by the superior court, or any of them, or which may hereafter be granted, shall stand and be considered as open for argument and amendment, at the first term of the superior court which may be holden after the passing of this act, in and for the county where the suit originated, or the first term after the granting such bill of injunction; and in all cases of injunction, they shall be disposed of, and a decision made at the second term of said court, held in and for the county where such suit originated, any law to the contrary notwithstanding.

82. Sec. VIII. The dilatory practice of granting bills of injunction a second time, after the dissolution of the first bill or bills, shall not be admissible or allowed of in any case or cases whatever.

An Act to compel Coroners, Sheriffs and Constables to receive securities on certain occasions therein expressed.—Approved Dec. 16, 1811. Vol. III. 139.

Security on claims to treble the amt shall be received.

And the property left with the claimant.

Bond assignable to the plaintiff.

83. Sec. I. In all cases where a levy is made on property which is claimed by a third person, and good and sufficient security is tendered by the party claiming the same, it shall be the duty of such sheriff, constable or coroner to take security for treble the amount of the debt, on which such execution is founded, for delivery of the property so levied on at the time of sale, (provided, the property so levied on should be found subject to such execution,) then and in that case, it shall be the duty of the sheriff, coroner or constable to leave the same in the possession of such claimant, and in case the said claimant or security shall fail to deliver the property at the time and place of sale agreeably to such bond, it shall be the duty of the officer taking the same to transfer such bond to the plaintiff in execution, and said bond shall be recoverable in any court of law or equity in this State, having cognizance thereof.

* So much as relates to writs of certiorari repealed by act of 1821. Vol. IV. 206.

84. Sec. II. In all cases where any of the aforesaid officers shall arrest any person charged with a capital offence, he shall secure so much of the property of the person so charged if to be had, as will in his opinion be of sufficient value to defray the expense incident to such prosecution, jailer's fees, &c. and make return thereof to the next superior court of the county, and it shall be the duty of the judge of said court to order a sale thereof by the sheriff, under the same regulations as govern sheriffs' sales under executions; Provided nevertheless, that the party charged, or his agent, may replevy such goods on putting in sufficient security for the delivery of the same, or payment of all the expenses of said prosecution, conviction, or execution.*

Arresting officers in capital cases, shall seize effects to answer the costs,

which may be replevied.

An Act to alter and explain the First Section of the act of Dec. 22, 1808, (see Sec. 61, &c.)—Approved Dec. 16, 1811. Vol. III. 140.

85. Sec. II.† The first section of the before recited act, shall not be so construed as to authorize any judge of the superior courts to order writs of possession to issue against a third person residing within the limits of any such survey or tract of land so offered for sale; provided also, that such person shall not be known in the suit on which such execution is founded, nor have been put in possession by, or claimed under or by virtue of any conveyance from the defendant in such suit.

Writs of possession shall not go against strangers to the suit, who are also strangers to the defendant's title.

An Act to amend and explain the XXIXth Section of the Judiciary Law of this State.—Approved Dec. 7, 1812. Vol. III. 381.

Whereas the above-recited section of the judiciary law of this State is not sufficiently explicit to effect the object for which it was intended,

86. Sec. I. Be it therefore enacted, &c. That where any attorney shall institute a suit in any of the courts of this State for and in behalf of any person or persons who resides or reside out of this State, or out of the county in which the defendant or defendants may reside, and in which such suit may be tried, such attorney shall be liable to pay all costs, in case such suit shall be dismissed, or the plaintiff or plaintiffs be cast in his, her, or their suit, and it shall be lawful for the clerk of said court to issue execution against said attorney or attorneys for the amount of the cost of said suit.

Attorneys liable for costs in certain cases for absent clients, whether they gain

87. Sec. II. Where any attorney shall institute a suit in any of the counties of this State for any person who resides out of the county in which such suit is brought, and judgment shall be obtained thereon, and the sheriff shall return the execution, no property to be found, that then the plaintiff's attorney shall be bound for the costs of said suit, and the clerk may issue his execution against the plaintiff and the attorney who brought said suit jointly, for the amount of the cost of such suit; and if any attorney shall retain in his hands any money received by him for any client, after being by the court ordered to pay over the same to the principal, he shall be struck from the list of attorneys, and never more suffered to plead in any of the courts in this State.

or lose their suit.

Must pay over client's money or be struck from the roll.

* This subject is more fully provided for by act of 1816. Penal Laws, Sec. 9 and 10. Amended by the act of 1820. See Judiciary, Sec. 118, &c., and act of 1830, Judiciary, Sec. 202, &c.

† For the 1st section of this act, see County Officers, Sec. 10.

the superior court, in any of their several counties, be, and they are hereby authorized and required in all cases where there shall or may have been a failure of the judges of the superior courts,* in drawing grand and petit jurors agreeably to law, to assemble at the court-house in their several counties, at any time which shall be to them convenient, and proceed to open their jury boxes, and draw from said boxes a sufficient number of names to serve as grand and petit jurors for their or either of their said counties at their next then depending superior courts; and the jury being so drawn, the said box or boxes again to seal and deliver, together with the keys, to the proper officer. Provided, that said assemblage and drawing shall be at least sixty days previous to the commencement of the superior court at which said jurors shall be liable to serve.

An Act to extend the powers of sheriffs and constables in certain cases.
Approved Dec. 19, 1818. Vol. III. 162.

Sheriff may arrest an itinerant person in any county in the State.

97. Sec. I. It shall be lawful for sheriffs in all cases where a bail or criminal process is placed in their hands, and the person against whom it may be, is moving about from one county to another, for the said sheriff or his deputy to follow the said person or persons into any county in this State, and serve the said process.†

Constable may arrest such person in any district in the county.

98. Sec. II. It shall be lawful for any constable, and he is hereby required, in all cases where a bail or criminal process is placed in his hands, and the person against whom the same may be, is moving about from one district to another, to serve the said process in any district within the county in which he may be constable.†

An Act to explain and to enforce the judiciary act of 1799, as respects special pleadings in the several courts of law in this State.—Approved Dec. 19, 1818. Vol. III. 384.

Whereas the said judiciary was intended for the purpose of bringing parties litigant to a speedy judicial decision, without delay, and with as little costs as practicable, and it was thereby intended, that the small omissions of parties, clerks, or sheriffs, not affecting the real merits of the cause, should in all cases (substantially set out) be amended on motion without delay or costs, and it having grown into practice in said courts to give or grant a term and sometimes nonsuit for the smallest omissions of the officers of the said courts, and as a further increase of the said practice may lead us back to all that tedious and expensive labyrinth of special pleadings, which the said judiciary intended to avoid :

All formal defects amendable without delay or costs.

99. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That in every case where there is a good and legal cause of action, plainly and distinctly set forth in the petition, and there is in substance a copy served on the defendant or defendants, or left at their most notorious place of abode, every other objection shall be on motion amended without delay or additional costs.

No special pleading allowed.

100. Sec. II. No special pleadings shall be introduced or admitted in either the superior or inferior courts of this State, (other than in equity,) which shall be conducted in the same manner as is already pointed out by the judiciary system of this State now in force, and that every case shall be carried to the jury, and tried upon the petition,

*And juries may be drawn for the inferior court out of term time. See Sec. 104, 105.

† And may carry the prisoner out of the county if there is no jail in it. Act of 1820, Sec. 116, 117.

process, and answer alone, without regard to the practice, now grown into use in the several courts of law in this State: and no nonsuit shall be awarded when the cause of action is substantially set forth in the declaration, for any formal variance between the allegation and proof.

No non-suit for want of form.

101. Sec. III. No part of an answer shall be stricken out or rejected on account of being contradictory to another part of the same answer, but the court shall be bound to suffer the whole answer to remain, if the defendant should desire it, and avail himself of any advantage he can or may have under either or the whole of the said answer, and proceed to trial accordingly.

No part of an answer shall be stricken out.

An Act pointing out the mode of collecting a certain description of debts therein mentioned.—Approved Dec. 19, 1818. Vol. III. 338.

103. From and immediately after the passing of this act, where any person shall be in possession (either in his own right or in any other capacity) of any note, bill, bond, or other obligation in writing, signed by two or more persons, and one or more of the persons, whose names are so signed as aforesaid, shall die before the payment of the money or the compliance with the condition of such bond or other obligation in writing, the person or persons holding such note, bill, bond, or other obligation in writing, shall not be compelled as heretofore to sue the survivor or survivors alone, but may at his, her, or their discretion, sue the survivor or survivors, or the representatives of such deceased person or persons, or the survivor or survivors, in the same action with the representative or representatives of such deceased person or persons, any law, usage, or custom to the contrary notwithstanding: Provided, nothing in this act shall be so construed as to authorize the bringing of any action, of any kind whatever, against the representative or representatives of any estate or estates, until twelve months after the probate of the will, or the granting of letters of administration on such estate or estates.

Representatives of the deceased co-obligor may be sued in the same action with the survivor.

An Act to authorize the justices of the inferior courts in this State to draw juries out of term time.—Approved Dec. 13, 1820. Vol. IV. 199.

104. Sec. I. From and after the passing of this act, that it shall be lawful in all cases where it happens that the justices of any inferior court, at the regular term of said court, shall omit drawing a jury to serve at the succeeding court, that the justices of said court or any three of them, with the sheriff and clerk, meet at the place of holding such court at least forty days previous to the sitting of said court, and draw a jury under the same regulation that they ought to have done in term time.

The inferior courts, when they omit to draw juries at their regular term, authorized to meet and draw a jury.

105. Sec. II. When any inferior court in this State, at the regular term of said court, have omitted drawing a jury to serve at the next court, that they shall, after the passing of this act, be authorized to draw a jury at any time, under the same regulation as in the preceding section; and that the said clerk of the inferior court shall immediately after the drawing of said jury as herein provided, make out a list of the jury so drawn, and place the same in the hands of the sheriff, or deputy, who shall proceed immediately after receiving the same to summon the jury so drawn, in the same manner as if they had been drawn at the regular term of said court; and the said jurors so drawn and summoned, shall be bound and liable to serve in the same manner and under the same penalties as if drawn at the regular term of said court; any law to the contrary notwithstanding.

When they have omitted drawing a jury, authorized to do so at any time. The clerk to make out a list, and hand it to the sheriff.

The jurors liable to serve, &c. as if drawn at the regular term.

An Act to amend the judiciary law of this State, passed the 16th day of Feb., in the year 1799, so far as to authorize the issuing of bail process in certain cases.—Approved Nov. 8, 1820. Vol. IV. 200.

Preamble. . Whereas, great inconvenience has resulted for the want of a law authorizing plaintiffs pending actions to hold the defendant to bail; for remedy whereof,

Bail may be required pendente lite. 106. Be it enacted, That in cases where an action is commenced and pending, or where an action may hereafter be commenced, and no bail shall have been required at the commencement of said action, or having been required and has or may be discharged, and the plaintiff in any such action pending the same shall require bail, such plaintiff shall make affidavit before any judge, justice of the inferior court, or justice of the peace within this State; or any judge or justice of a superior court of any one of the United States; shall have annexed thereto the seal of the State from whence it shall come and a certificate of the governor, certifying that the person taking such affidavit is one of the judges or justices of a superior court of that State, of the amount claimed by him, and that he has reason to apprehend the loss of the said sum, or some part thereof, if the defendant or defendants is or are not held to bail; which affidavits shall be filed in the clerk's office of the court in which such action is pending, and a copy or copies thereof affixed to the process to be issued by the clerk of said court in which such suit may be pending, and to the copy or copies of such process, and the amount sworn to shall be endorsed on such process and the copy or copies thereof.

Amount indorsed on the process. Process and copy to issue.

107. Sec. II. When any such affidavit is made and filed in the clerk's office of the court in which such suit is or may be pending, the clerk thereof shall immediately issue a process in the case, with as many copies as there are defendants, annexing a copy of said affidavit to each process and copy process, and which process shall be made returnable to the next term of said court after the issuing of the same, and shall be executed and returned into court by the sheriff, his deputy, or other proper officer, and when so executed and returned shall be taken and considered a part of the record in said case.

Shall be executed before the next term.

108. Sec. III. When the said process, and copy affidavit, and copy process, shall issue as aforesaid, they shall be delivered to the sheriff or other proper officer, who shall be bound to execute the same at any time before the sitting of the court to which the said process may be made returnable, under the same directions and provisions as are pointed out in and by the said judiciary act, passed in the year 1799. .

Defendants arrested under such process, to be dealt with as usual in other cases.

109. Sec. IV. All and every defendant or defendants, when arrested by virtue of said process, shall be dealt with by the officer arresting him, her, or them, in the same manner as would have been done had such defendant or defendants been arrested at the commencement of said action on bail process; and shall be discharged from said arrest in no other manner than he, she, or they could, in case such arrest had been made on bail process at the commencement of said suit; and all bail taken according to the directions and under the provisions of this act, shall be held bound and liable in the same manner he, she, or they would have been bound and liable, had he, she, or they become bail at the time of the commencement of said action; and the plaintiff or plaintiffs in said action shall be, and are hereby authorized to proceed in the same manner against the defendant or defendants and bail, or either of them, as is pointed out in and by the said judiciary act, passed in the year 1799.

110. Sec. V. The defendant or defendants so held to bail, in manner heretofore pointed out in this act, shall not by reason thereof be entitled to any delay or continuance, but the case shall proceed to trial as though bail had been required and taken at the commencement of the case; and when there are more defendants than one in such suit, some of whom reside out of the county in which such suit is pending, a second original process and copy or copies may issue, returnable to the court in the county in which such suit or action is or may be pending, which when served by the sheriff of the county where such defendant or defendants reside, or by other proper officer, the said defendant or defendants shall be subject and liable to the same provisions and restrictions as he, she, or they would have been had the bail process issued at the commencement of said case.

The trial of the case not to be thereby delayed.

Proceedings when several defendants in different counties.

An Act to authorize suits to be instituted against securities to Executors', Administrators', and Guardians' Bonds, in the same action with the principal thereto.—Approved Dec. 13, 1820. Vol. IV. 200.

Whereas, it has been decided by the Superior Courts of this State, that suit cannot be instituted against any security or securities to any executor's, administrator's, or guardian's bond, until the principal or principals to such bond shall have been sued to insolvency, whereby great injury to the interest of heirs, distributees, and others may accrue; for remedy whereof,

111. Sec. I. Be it enacted, That from and after the passing of this act, any and all security or securities to any executor's, administrator's, or guardian's bond, shall be considered as joint, or joint and several obligors (as the case may be) with the principal or principals in said bond, so as to authorize any heir or heirs, distributee or distributees, administrator de bonis non, and others concerned, to sue such principal or principals and security or securities to such bond, or either of them in the same action; Provided always, that the principal in said bond, if within the limits of this State, shall be first sued, or shall be sued in the said action with the security or securities, and shall be distinguished in said action as principal, if sued as aforesaid; any law, usage, or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

Preamble.

Sureties to, executors', administrators', or guardians' bonds considered as joint obligors, and be sued in the same action.

Proviso.

112. Sec. II. In all cases where a judgment shall be obtained, in conformity to the foregoing section, execution shall issue against the principal and his or their security or securities, or such of them as judgment may have been obtained against, which execution shall be levied on the property of the principal first; and in case such property should be insufficient to satisfy said execution, or in case no property can be found within the county where such execution shall issue, the balance or whole of such execution, as the case may be, shall be levied on and collected out of the property of the security or securities, or either of them; and in all cases when the amount or any part thereof shall be paid by the security or securities, such security or securities shall have the use and control of the execution to remunerate him or themselves, as is customary in such cases.

Executions to issue against principal and surety, to be first levied on property of principal.

When paid by the surety, he is entitled to the execution to remunerate himself. This act to be prospective.

113. Sec. III. This act shall not extend to bonds heretofore executed.

An Act to regulate the mode of prosecuting Actions against Contractors and Copartners, in certain cases.—Approved Dec. 18, 1820. Vol. IV. 201.

Whereas, doubts have arisen as to the mode of prosecuting actions against joint contractors and copartners, when one or more cannot be found, or reside without the limits of this State; for remedy whereof,

Preamble.

In suits against joint contractors or copartners, and service on one or more, the plaintiff entitled to judgment vs the defendants served.

114. Be it enacted, That from and after the passing of this act, that whenever two or more joint contractors, or copartners, are sued in the same action, and a service shall be effected on one or more of the said joint contractors, or copartners, and the sheriff or other officer serving the writ shall return that the other defendant or defendants are not to be found, it shall and may be lawful for the plaintiff to proceed to judgment and execution against the defendant or defendants who are served with process, in the same manner as if he, she, or they were the sole defendant or defendants.

The partnership, and the individual property of the person served, bound by the judgment.

115. Sec. II. Judgments so obtained shall bind, and execution may be levied on the joint or copartnership property, and also the individual property, real and personal, of the defendant or defendants who have been served with a copy of the process, but shall not bind or be levied on the individual property of the defendant or defendants who are not served with process.

Repealing clause.

Sec. III. All laws and parts of laws repugnant to this act are hereby repealed.

An Act requiring Sheriffs and Constables in any of the Counties in this State not having Jails, to convey to the Jail of an adjoining County persons by them arrested on a writ of Capias ad Satisfaciendum, or any legal process requiring Bail; and to require the Jailers of such Counties, on good and sufficient Security being given for the Jail Fees, to receive and safely keep such Prisoners.—
Approved Dec. 13, 1820. Vol. IV. 201.

The sheriffs and constables in counties where no jails are provided, shall carry prisoners to the jails of the adjoining counties. Provision.

116. The sheriffs and lawful constables in any of the counties of this State that are not provided with a jail, be, and they are hereby authorized and required to convey persons arrested by them by virtue of a capias ad satisfaciendum, or other civil process which may require bail, to the jail of any adjoining county, and to deliver such person or persons to the keeper of such jail; Provided, the person or persons so arrested shall refuse or neglect to give such bail as the officer arresting may be authorized to require.

The keepers of said jails required to receive them,

117. Sec. II. The keepers of such jail shall, and they are hereby authorized and required to receive into their care and custody any person or persons delivered to them in conformity to the preceding section, and him or them safely keep until they are delivered from thence according to law, or by direction or request of the plaintiff, his agent, or attorney; Provided, that the plaintiff, his agent, or attorney shall give bond with sufficient security to the keeper of such jail, for the jail fees and weekly maintenance of the person or persons so delivered to him for safe keeping.*

provided security is given for jail fees.

*An Act to amend an Act to provide for the payment of Costs in certain cases therein mentioned, passed 13th December, 1816.—*This Act passed Dec. 13, 1820. Vol. IV. 202.

Property held subject for the payment of costs from the time of the arrest.

118. When any person shall be prosecuted for any criminal offence, as enumerated in the before-recited act, that all the property of the person or persons so arrested may have in his, her, or their own right at the time of his, her, or their arrest, shall be deemed and held subject to the payment of all the costs which may have accrued by reason of such prosecution.

* In failure of which he may be discharged. See Insolvent Debtors, Sec. 7.

119. Sec. II. It shall be the duty of the judges of the Superior Courts, in the event of any person or persons being found guilty of any offence as aforesaid, to cause judgment to be entered up for all costs which may have accrued by reason of said prosecution.

Upon conviction, judgment to be entered.

120. Sec. III. It shall be the duty of all officers entitled to costs, on any conviction had as aforesaid, to hand in their accounts into the clerk's office of the Superior Court, within ten days after said conviction.

Officers to hand in their accounts to the clerk

121. Sec. IV. It shall be the duty of said clerk, within ten days after the receipt of the accounts in any case as aforesaid, to issue execution for the amount appearing to be due by reason thereof, directed to and collected by the sheriff, as other cases; Provided, that nothing herein contained shall be construed as to prevent courts imprisoning persons found guilty as aforesaid, until all costs are paid.*

The clerk to issue execution.

Proviso.

An Act declaratory of the fifty-third Section of An Act, entitled An Act to amend an Act, entitled An Act to revise and amend the Judiciary of this State, passed 16th February, 1799.—This Act passed Dec. 21st, 1820. Vol. IV. 203.

Whereas, the said recited section is in the words following, to wit : that the Superior Courts in the several counties shall exercise the powers of a Court of Equity, in all cases where a common law remedy is not adequate to compel parties in any cause to discover on oath all requisite points necessary to the investigation of truth and justice, to discover transactions between copartners and co-executors, to compel distribution of intestate estates, and payment of legacies, to discover fraudulent transactions for the benefit of creditors, and the proceedings in all such cases shall be by bill, and such other proceedings as are usual in such cases, until the sitting down of the cause for trial; and the courts shall order the proceedings in such manner as that the same shall be ready for trial at the third term from the filing such bill inclusive, unless very special cause be shown to induce the court to continue the same, which shall not extend to more than four terms; and all such bills shall be read and sanctioned by one of the judges, and a copy thereof served on the opposite party at least thirty days before the filing of such bill in court; and the party against whom such bill shall be filed, shall appear and answer to the same at the next court; and if he, she, or they shall fail to do so, the facts in the said bill shall be taken pro confesso, and the court may proceed to decree as to justice shall appertain; and whereas, under the construction of the said recited section, the equity side of the court has drawn to itself exclusively all cognizance of the cases in said section enumerated, even when such cases depend upon aliunde proof, to the manifest embarrassment of justice in many cases, to the injury of the good citizens of this State; for remedy whereof,

Preamble.

Equitable powers of the sup. court.

When causes to stand for trial.

Bills how served.

Answer pro confesso.

122. Be it enacted, That from and after the passing of this act, whenever any of the cases enumerated in the before-recited section, a plaintiff or complainant shall conceive that he, she, or they can establish his, her, or their claim, without resorting to the conscience of the defendant, it shall and may be lawful for every such plaintiff or complainant to institute his, her, or their action upon the common-law side of the court, and shall not be held to proceed with the forms of equity; any law or usage to the contrary notwithstanding.

Parties entitled hereafter on the common law side of the court in all cases to sue, and not as heretofore compelled to go into equity.

* The 2d, 3d, and 4th sections of this act, amended in 1830, see Sec. 202, &c.

Those who may have commenced suit at common law, entitled to the aid of equity by bill, &c.

123. Sec. II. All parties in any of the cases mentioned in the before-recited section, after the commencement of the action at common-law, may, during the progress of said suit, file his, her, or their bill for the discovery of testimony in aid or defence of his, her, or their common-law action, in all cases where the same may be necessary.

An Act to alter and amend so much of the thirty-second Section of the Judiciary, passed the 16th of February, 1799, as respects Claims of Property in the Superior and Inferior Courts of this State.—
This act passed Dec. 15, 1821. Vol. IV. 207.

Preamble.

Whereas, various constructions have been given in the different courts of this State, as it regards claims of property, which tend to the manifest injury of the community, and frequently produced not only injustice to the plaintiffs in execution, but evidently to oppress and harass them by delays of justice ;

Claimant must make oath to the property, and the officer shall postpone sale. If it be real property, claim to be returned to the county where the land lies. Claim tried at first term unless special cause.

124. Sec. I. Be it therefore enacted, That when any sheriff or coroner shall levy an execution on property claimed by any person not a party to said execution, such person shall make oath to said property, and it shall be the duty of such sheriff or coroner to postpone the sale or future execution of the judgment, until the next term of the court from whence said execution issued : Provided, the said execution is or should be levied on personal property ; but should said execution be levied on real property, and the same should be claimed in manner aforesaid, then and in that case it shall be the duty of the officer making the levy upon real property to report the same, together with the execution and claim, to the next term of the Superior Court of the county in which the land so levied on shall lie ; and the court to which such claim shall be reported, shall cause the right of property to be decided on by a jury at the first term, unless special cause be shown to induce said court to continue the case for one term, and no longer : Provided, the person claiming such property, or his agent or attorney, shall give bond to the sheriff or coroner, as the case may be, with good and sufficient security, in a sum equal to double the amount of the property levied on, at a reasonable valuation, to be judged of by the levying officer, conditioned to pay the plaintiff all damages which the jury on the trial of the right of property may assess against him, in case it should appear that said claim was made for the purposes of delay ; and every juror on the trial of the claim of property, either real or personal, shall be sworn, in addition to the oath usually administered, to give such damages, not less than ten per cent.,* as may seem reasonable and just to the plaintiff against the claimant, in case it shall be sufficiently shown that said claim was made for delay only ; and it shall be lawful for such jury to give verdict in manner aforesaid, by virtue whereof judgment may be entered up against such claimant and his security or securities for the damages so assessed by the jury, and the costs of the trial of the right of property. And provided also, that the burden of proof shall lie upon the plaintiff in execution in cases where the property levied on is, at the time of such levy, not in the possession of the defendant in execution.

Claim bond in double the value of the property levied on, conditioned, &c.

Jury sworn to give not less than 10 per cent.

The burden of proof on the plaintiff when property not found in def'ts possession. Claim not to be withdrawn or discontinued more than once

125. Sec. II. Whenever such claim of property may be made in terms of this act, the person claiming property levied on and returned to the proper court by said sheriff or coroner, shall not be permitted to withdraw or discontinue his said claim, more than once, without consent and approbation of the plaintiff in execution, or some person duly authorized to represent such plaintiff, but said court shall proceed to the trial of said claim of property in manner aforesaid, and it shall be the duty of the jury to award damages accordingly: And provided further, that either party who may be dissatisfied with the verdict of said jury, may enter his, her, or their appeal to a special jury in the Superior Court of the county where said trial shall have been had, which appeal shall be subject to the same rules and regulations as govern in appeals in ordinary cases.

* On the whole amount due on the execution, see Sec. 192.

without consent of plaintiff.

Either party may appeal.

Sec. III. So much of the said thirty-second section of the judiciary act of 1799, as regards claims of property, which may militate against this act is hereby repealed.*

An Act to compel the Judges of the Superior Courts of this State to convene at the seat of Government in this State, once in each year, for the purpose of establishing uniform Rules of Practice throughout this State.—Approved Dec. 24, 1821. Vol. IV. 232.

126. From and after the next election of judges of the Superior Courts of this State, that it shall be the duty of the said several judges to convene at the seat of government of this State once in each year, at such a time as they or a majority of them may appoint, for the purpose of establishing uniform rules of practice throughout the several circuits of this State; and it shall be the duty of the judges so convened, to notify such of the judges who may be absent, of such rules or alterations of rules as may be established as aforesaid.

The judges of the sup. courts required to convene annually to establish uniform rules of practice.

An Act the more effectually to quiet and protect the possession of Personal Property, and to prevent taking possession by fraud or violence.—Approved Dec. 25, 1821. Vol. IV. 207.

Whereas, a practice hath been followed by some persons having or laying claims to negroes and other personal property, to take or convey away the same by violence, seduction, or other means, or to harbor, or otherwise take, or cause the same to be taken, out of the possession of the adverse claimant without due course of law, and oftentimes to remove the same out of the State to the great injury of the true owner; and whereas, manifest injustice, and many serious mischiefs may arise from such a practice, which is productive of frauds, violence, and quarrels, and bloodshed,

Preamble.

127. Sec. I. Be it therefore enacted, That upon complaint made on oath by the person injured, his agent, or attorney, to any judge of the Superior, or justice of the Inferior Court, or any justice of the peace, that any negro or negroes, or other personal chattel, have been taken, enticed, or carried away by fraud, violence, seduction, or other means, from the possession of such deponent, or that such negroes or other personal chattels, having been recently in the quiet, and legally and peaceably acquired possession of such deponent, have absconded or disappeared without his or her consent, and as he or she believes have been harbored, received, or taken possession of, by any person or persons under some pretended claim or claims, and without lawful warrant or authority, and that the said deponent, or the person for whom he is agent or attorney bona fide, claims a title to or interest in the said negroes or other chattels, or the possession thereof, it shall be

On complaint to a judge or other magistrate, that a negro or other chattel has been carried away,

* As to claims on property attached, see Sec. 188, &c.

† As to fees under this act, see Sec. 201.

a warrant shall issue for the offenders and the property.

On the return of which, the question of possession in a summary way, and cause possession to be delivered accordingly.

Proviso. Bond how to be given if by the complainant.

If he fails, then a like bond to be given by the other party.

If property is not produced, the party goes to jail.

Proviso—4 years' quiet possession a good defence.

Bail may be required on trial of the right.

the duty of such judge or justice to issue a warrant, as well for the apprehension of the party so seizing, taking, enticing, receiving, harboring, obtaining, or having possession of such negroes or other chattels, as for the seizure of such negroes or other chattels themselves; and upon the return of such warrant the judge or justice shall hear evidence as to the question of possession in a summary way, and cause the said negroes or other chattels to be delivered over to the party from whose possession the same were violently or fraudulently taken or enticed away, or from whom the same absconded, or in whose peaceable possession they last were: Provided, such party shall, before such judge or justice, enter into a recognisance, with good and sufficient security, in double the amount of the value of such negroes or other personal property, and the hire claimed, if any, to cause the said negroes to be produced and forthcoming, to answer any judgment, execution, or decree that may be had, issued, or made upon such suit or action at law or in equity as the opposite party may commence or prosecute within the next four years, touching the same; and such recognisance shall be returned by such judge or justice to the next Superior Court of the county where the same is taken, to be transmitted to the court where such suit or action may be commenced; and the securities upon such recognisance shall be bound and liable for the eventual condemnation-money, and execution shall issue against them in the same manner as against securities on appeals: Provided also, that when the party taking out the warrant shall refuse or be unable to give such security, then the judge or justice may in his discretion deliver over such negroes or other personal property to the opposite party, upon their entering into a like recognisance, with security of the same nature and effect, and to be disposed of in the same manner. And if, upon return of the warrant, it shall appear that the negroes or other personal property are in the possession, power, custody, or control of the defendant, or any agent or friend of his or acting for or intrusted with them for him, and the said defendant doth not produce or cause to be forthcoming the said negroes or other personal property to be dealt with as the law directs, the said defendant shall be committed to jail; there to remain in safe and close custody, without bail or mainprise, until the said negroes or other personal property shall be produced or forthcoming to be disposed of, as aforesaid; Provided always, that no person or persons shall be so committed for refusing to produce, or cause to be forthcoming, any negro or other personal chattel which he, she, or they shall satisfactorily prove to have been in his or her quiet and peaceable possession for four years next immediately preceding the passing of this act, or next immediately preceding the issuing of the warrant.

128. Sec. II. When any person who is about to commence an action or suit at law, or in equity, for the recovery of negroes or other personal property, such person, his agent, or attorney, shall make affidavit, that he hath reason to apprehend that the said negroes or other personal property have been or will be cloigned, or removed away, or will not be forthcoming to answer the judgment, execution, or decree that shall be made in the case; and shall also state on his affidavit the value of the same, and the amount of hire claimed, if any, and add, that he, she, or they do verily and bona fide claim the said negroes or other personal property, or some valuable interest therein a copy of such affidavit shall be annexed to the petition, bill, or other process, and the original affidavit filed in the court whence such process issues; and it shall be the duty of the sheriff, his deputy, or other lawful officer serving such petition, bill, or other process, to take a recognisance, with good security, in double the amount sworn to, for the forthcoming of such negroes or other personal property, to answer such judgment, execution, or decree as may be issued or rendered in the case; and such security shall be bound for the payment of the eventual condemnation-money, and liable to execution in the same manner as securities upon appeals: and when such affidavit shall be made during the pendency of any process, a copy thereof, and of the process or subpoena, shall be served in like manner by the sheriff or his deputy, or other lawful officer, and the like security taken; and upon the defendant refusing to give such security, the property shall be seized and taken by the sheriff or other lawful officer, and delivered over to the plaintiff or complainant, his agent, or attorney entering into a like recognisance, with security; and if such property is not produced or forthcoming to be seized and taken by such sheriff or other lawful officer, the defendant or defendants shall be committed to jail, to be kept in safe and close custody until the same is produced, or until he, she, or they shall enter security for the eventual condemnation-money in the nature of security upon appeal.

An Act to alter and amend the thirty-third Section of an act, entitled "An Act to revise and amend the Judiciary System of this State," passed 16th February, 1799, so far as relates to the hours of Sheriffs' and Constables' Sales.—Approved Dec. 21, 1821. Vol. IV. 208.

Whereas, the hours of sheriffs' and constables' sales are thought to be too short, and attended with great inconvenience to the sheriffs and constables, and frequently to the injury of the parties concerned; for remedy whereof,

129. Be it enacted, That from and after the passing of this act, the hours of sheriffs' and constables' sales will be from ten o'clock in the forenoon until four o'clock in the afternoon; all laws and parts of laws militating against this act be, and the same are hereby repealed.

The hours of sheriffs' and constables' sales from 10 o'clock until 4 o'clock.

*An Act to amend the 26th section of the Judiciary Act, passed 16th day of December, 1799; and also to prevent a fraudulent enforcement of Dormant Judgments.—Approved Dec. 19, 1822. Vol. IV. 209.

A contrariety of decisions having taken place in the different circuits in this State as to the time when the property of the party against whom a judgment is entered shall be bound; and dormant judgments, by being collusively kept open, or made the instruments of fraud on innocent purchasers, and often operate oppressively on vigilant and bona fide creditors;

130. Be it enacted, That from and after the passing of this act, all property of the party against whom a verdict shall be entered and a judgment signed thereon, in conformity to the provisions of the twenty-sixth section of said act of 1799, shall be bound from the signing of the first judgment, in cases where no appeal is entered; but in cases where an appeal is entered from the first verdict, the property of the party against whom the verdict is rendered shall be bound except from the signing of the judgment on the appeal, except so far as to prevent the alienation by the party of his, her, or their property, between the signing of the first judgment and the signing of the judgment on the appeal.

Defendant's property bound from signing of the 1st judgment where no appeal. If an appeal, then bound so far as to prevent alienation between the first and final judgment.

131. Sec. II. All judgments signed on verdicts rendered at the same term of the court, be considered, held, and taken to be of equal date; and no execution founded on said judgments, obtained at the same term as aforesaid, shall be entitled to any preference by reason of being first placed in the hands of the officer.

* Amended, Sec. 165.

All judgments signed at the same term are considered of equal date.

Sec. III. [Repealed by the act of 1823.]

No judgment shall be enforced again't a purchaser of realty who has been 7 yrs., or of personalty who has been 4 yrs. in possession before levy made.

132. Sec. IV. No judgment shall be enforced by the sale of any real or personal estate which the defendant may have sold and conveyed to a purchaser for a valuable consideration, and without actual notice of such judgment; Provided, such purchaser, or those claiming under him, by such sale and conveyance have been in peaceable possession of such real estate for seven years, and of such personal estate four years, before the levy shall have been made thereon.

An Act to prevent Sheriffs, Coroners, Constables, Town and City Marshals, and all other Officers in this State from retaining costs on younger judgments, to the prejudice of the rights of older judgment creditors.—Approved Dec. 19, 1822. Vol. IV. 211.

Costs not to be retained on a younger to the prejudice of an older s. fa., except levying and advertising costs.

133. When any sheriff, coroner, constable, town or city marshal, or other officer of this State, has several executions in his hands at the same time against the same defendant, it shall not be lawful for such officer to detain the costs on any younger judgments to the prejudice of those of older date, except in a case of a younger judgment creditor shall previous to older ones point out property to the officer; then it may and shall be lawful for the officer to retain the levy and advertising costs, and no more, on such younger judgment.

An Act to make Bank and other Stock subject to Execution.—Approved Dec. 21, 1822. Vol. IV. 71.

Bank stock subject to be sold under execution.

134. From and after the passing of this act, the shares or stock owned by any person in any of the banks or other corporations in this State, shall be subject to be sold by the sheriff or his deputy under execution.

Shall be sold one share at a time.

135. Sec. II. When any sheriff or his deputy shall have placed in his hands any execution against any person who owns any stock or shares in any of the banks or corporations of this State, it shall be lawful, and he is hereby required, on application of the plaintiff, his agent, or attorney, to endorse on said execution a levy of the number of shares belonging to the defendant, and after advertising the same agreeably to the law regulating sheriffs' sales, shall thereafter proceed to sell the said shares or stock; Provided always, that he shall set up one share at a time, and shall sell no more than is sufficient to satisfy the amount of executions then in his hands.

Constables shall turn levies over to sheriff.

136. Sec. III. When any constable shall have any execution placed in his hands against any person who is the owner of any shares or stock in any bank or other corporation in this State, it shall be lawful, and he is hereby required, on the application of the plaintiff, his agent or attorney, to endorse a levy on said execution or executions in like manner; and it shall be his duty to make return of the same to the sheriff of the county in which he lives, which said sheriff shall proceed to sell as pointed out by the second section of this bill.

Certificate to be given,

137. Sec. IV. When the sheriff or his deputy shall sell any shares in any bank or other corporation in this State, he shall give a certificate of such sale to the purchaser.

138. Sec. V. The officer of the bank or other corporation, whose duty it may be to make transfers of stock on the books of the bank or other corporation, shall, and he is hereby required to make a transfer of the stock purchased under this act, to the purchaser of the same, upon his, her, or their producing certificate or certificates to the said officer.

and transfer made.

139. Sec. VI. Any transfer made by the defendant of his bank or other stock, after judgment obtained against him or her, shall be void : Provided, that notice of the obtaining of such judgment be served on the cashier of such principal bank, or any of its branches, or the proper officer of such other corporation, within twenty days after said judgment is obtained.

No transfer made by the defendant [after] judgment shall be good.

An Act to facilitate the recovery of Money out of the hands of Sheriffs, Coroners, Justices of the Peace, Constables, Clerks of the Superior and Inferior Courts, and Attorneys at Law.—Approved Dec. 23, 1822. Vol. IV. 403.

140. From and after the passage of this act, it shall be the duty of the sheriffs, coroners, justices of the peace, constables, clerks of the Superior and Inferior courts, and attorneys at law, in this State, upon application, to pay to the proper person or persons, his, her, or their attorney any money or monies they may have in their hands ; and if not promptly paid, the party or parties entitled thereto, his, her, or their attorney may serve said officer with a written demand for the same ; and if not then paid, for such neglect or refusal the said officer shall be compelled to pay at the rate of twenty per cent. per annum, upon the sum he has in his hands, from the date of such just demand, if good cause be not shown to the contrary.

Officers having in possession money collected, liable to pay 20 per cent., &c. after demand and notice.

141. Sec. II. A copy of said demand produced into court, verified by affidavit, stating when and where the original was served upon the officer, shall be prima facie evidence of the date and service thereof.

Copy of demand made prima facie evidence.

Sec. III. All laws and parts of laws militating against this act are hereby repealed.

Repealing clause.

An Act to authorize the adjournment of the Superior and Inferior Courts, and Courts of Ordinary, in certain cases by the officers therein named.—Approved Dec. 8, 1823. Vol. IV. 211.

Whereas, it frequently happens from unavoidable circumstances that the judge of the Superior courts, a majority of the justices of the Inferior courts, cannot attend at the regular term of said courts, and that a term is thereby lost, to the great injury of those concerned, as well as a delay of justice ;

Preamble.

142. Be it therefore enacted, &c. That from and after the passing of this act, that if, from any circumstance, a majority of the justices of the Inferior Court in any of the counties of this State should fail to attend at the regular term of said Inferior courts, or at any adjourned term, it shall and may be lawful for any one of the justices of the Inferior court in the county where such failure may take place, together with the sheriff or his deputy, coroner or constable, and the clerk of said court, to adjourn said court to such time as they in their judgment may think proper.

Adjournment of Inf. court on failure of a term.

143. Sec. II. If, from any circumstance as aforesaid, a failure should take place in making a court of ordinary in any of the counties in this State, either at a regular term or at any adjourned term, that it shall and may be lawful for any one justice of the inferior court, with the clerk of the court of ordinary, to adjourn said court to such time as they may think, in their judgment, proper.

Adjournment of court of ordinary by one judge and the clerk.

Clerk of the
sup. court to adjourn court by order of judge.

To be advised.

144. Sec. III. The clerks of the Superior court of this State be authorized, whenever they are informed by the presiding judge that it is not possible for him to attend the regular term of said court, from sickness or other causes, to adjourn the same to such time as he may direct; and shall, moreover, advertise the same at the court-house of the county in which said court is to be held, and one or more times in some public gazette of the State.

Sec. IV. All laws and parts of laws militating against this act are hereby repealed.

An Act to amend the seventh section of an act, entitled an act to amend an act, entitled an act to revise and amend the Judiciary system of this State, passed on the 16th day of February, 1799; and to provide for opening and adjourning the several courts of ordinary in this State in certain cases.—Approved Dec. 20, 1823. Vol. IV. 211.

Majority of the justices of the inf.
court, necessary to act on return of habeas corpus.
Sheriff or constable to attend courts of ordinary or the clerk may adjourn.

145. From and after the passage of this act, it shall not be lawful for any one or more of the justices of the Inferior courts of this State to discharge or admit to bail any person under a writ of habeas corpus, unless a majority of the justices of said court shall concur in opinion.

146. Sec. II. It shall be the duty of the sheriff of each county in this State, either by himself or deputy, to attend at the court-house of their respective counties, of each and every day of holding courts of ordinary, for the purpose of opening and adjourning said courts, unless such sheriff shall procure some constable of such county to perform such duty; and in case the sheriff shall at any time fail to comply with the requisitions of this act, it shall and may be lawful for the clerk of said court to open and adjourn such court, any law to the contrary notwithstanding.

An Act concerning bills of exchange.—Approved December 19, 1823. Vol. IV. 212.

Five per cent.
damages on dishonored bills if drawn on a person in any other State.

147. Whenever any bill of exchange hereafter to be drawn or negotiated within this State upon any person or persons of or in any State, territory, or district of the United States,* shall be returned unpaid, and shall have been duly protested for non-payment in the manner usual in cases of foreign bills of exchange, the person or persons to whom the same shall or may be payable shall be entitled to recover, and receive of and from the drawer or drawers, or the endorser or endorsers of such bill of exchange five per cent. damages, over and above the principal sum for said bill of exchange shall have been drawn, together with lawful interest on the aggregate amount of such principal sum, from the time at which notice of such protest shall have been given, and the payment of the said principal sum and damages shall have been demanded.

An Act more effectually to protect the interests of parties, plaintiffs, in suits commenced against joint obligors or promisers.—Approved December 19, 1823. Vol. IV. 212.

If any one or more joint obligors or promisers plead infancy, the action shall not abate.

148. In all cases which hereafter may be commenced against joint obligors or promisers, and any one or more of the parties defendants may plead infancy, and such plea be sustained, the action shall not as heretofore abate, but the court shall award judgment as in cases of nonsuit in favor of the party or parties so pleading, and permit the plaintiff to proceed against the other defendant or defendants to said suit, without further delay or costs.

* For places beyond the U. States, see act of 1827, sec. 184, &c.

An Act to cause all appeals from the courts of ordinary of this State to be tried and determined by a special jury of the county where the case may happen, touching the probate of wills, and granting letters of administration, in which matters of fact are involved, instead of a decision being had thereon by the court only.—Approved Dec. 19, 1823. Vol. IV. 213.

Whereas, it has heretofore been the practice in some of the judicial circuits of this State for the judges of the superior courts to hear and determine appeals from the courts of ordinary of this State, touching the probate of wills, and granting letters of administration, in which matters of fact were involved; and it being the policy of this government to retain the trial by jury in all cases in which matters of fact are involved,

149. Be it therefore enacted, That from and immediately after the passing of this act, all appeals taken up from the decision of the several courts of ordinary of this State to the superior court, touching the probate of wills, and granting letters of administration, in which matters of fact are involved, shall be tried and determined by a special jury of the county where the case may happen, in the same way and under the same regulations as other appeals; any law, usage, or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

Appeals from the courts of ordinary to be tried by a special jury.

An Act concerning Coroners and Inquests.—Approved Dec. 22, 1823. Vol. IV. 404.

Whereas, much inconvenience is now felt from the existing laws on the subject of the duties and powers of coroners;

150. Be it enacted, That from and immediately after the passing of this act every person who shall be elected to the office of coroner shall, before he enters upon the execution of the duties of his office, take the following oath or affirmation, to wit: I, A. B., coroner of the county of ———, do solemnly swear or affirm (as the case may be), that I will well and truly serve the State of Georgia in the office of coroner of the said county; that I will, to the utmost of my power, faithfully and truly execute, or cause to be executed, all writs and precepts to me directed and which shall come to my hands, and will faithfully and truly return the same, according to the best of my knowledge, skill, and judgment; that I will in no case knowingly use or exercise the said office illegally, corruptly, or unjustly; that I will neither directly or indirectly, by any means or device, or under any color or pretence whatsoever, accept, receive, take, use, or enjoy, or consent to the accepting, using, receiving, taking, or enjoying any fee or reward of or from any person or persons whomsoever, for the summoning, empannelling, or returning of any inquest, jury, or tales to or in any court for this State, or between party and party, other than such fees or rewards as are or shall be allowed by law for the same; and that I will not directly or indirectly exact or demand any manner of fee or reward from any person or persons for serving, executing, or returning any writ, precept, process, execution, or inquisition, or for any other service in my said office, other than such fees or rewards as are or shall be allowed for the same by law, but that I will in all cases and things touching the duties of the said office demean myself honestly, fairly,

Every person elected to the office of coroner shall, before entering on the duties of his office, take an oath. The oath.

and impartially, according to the best of my knowledge, skill, and judgment.

To take inquests of deaths in prisons.
Proviso.

151. Sec. II. Every coroner shall, upon view of the body, take inquests of deaths in prisons, provided such death happen suddenly or violently, and without an attending physician, unless such death be attended by suspicious circumstances; and of all violent, sudden, or casual deaths within his county, and the manner of such deaths.

Shall make out a precept to the constable
of the county, requiring him to summon a jury from the Captain's district in which the body may lie, or to appear when directed.
The form of such precept.

152. Sec. III. The coroner as soon as he shall have notice, or be certified of any death as aforesaid, shall make out a precept directed to any constable of the county where the dead body is found or lying, requiring him to summon a jury of inquest composed of good and lawful men from the captain's district within which the said body may be reported to lie, or from an adjoining district of said county, if necessary, to appear before him at the time and place in such precept mentioned and contained, which precept shall be in the form following: — County, to wit: The State of Georgia to any lawful constables of —, of the said county. You are required immediately, upon sight hereof, to summon — good and lawful men from — district, or an adjoining district if necessary, of the county of —, to be and appear before me, A. B., the coroner of the county aforesaid, at —, in the said district of said county, on the — day of —, at the house of —, in the —noon of the same day, then and there to inquire of, do, and execute all such things as, on behalf of the State, shall be given them in charge, touching the death of — (or a person unknown, as the case may be), and be you then and there to certify what you shall have done in the premises, and further to do and execute what in behalf of the said State shall be then and there enjoined upon you: in the said county, this — day of —, in the year of our Lord —.

The constable to execute it.

153. Sec. IV. The constable to whom such precept shall be directed and delivered shall forthwith execute the same, and shall repair to the place at the time mentioned therein, and make return of the precept, with his proceedings thereon, to the coroner.

Or the coroner to report his failure to the inf. court.

154. Sec. V. It shall be the duty of the coroner to certify and return every constable who shall neglect or refuse to execute the services and duties, or any of them, by this act prescribed, to the next Inferior court to be held in and for the county; which court, unless a reasonable excuse be offered, shall set such fine upon the constable offending as they shall think fit and reasonable, not exceeding fifty dollars.

A juror failing to attend liable to be fined.

155. Sec. VI. When any juror shall be summoned as aforesaid and shall fail to attend, that then and in that case the said defaulting juror shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten dollars, to be levied by execution under the hand and seal of said coroner, unless such defaulting juror shall show good and sufficient cause of excuse within ten days after said default, to be made on oath before any justice of the peace, and filed in the office of the clerk of the Inferior court, the merits of which excuse shall be determined by the next Inferior court thereafter.

7 of the 12 jury men may return verdict.

156. Sec. VII. The coroner shall swear or affirm twelve of the said jurors, who shall appear, seven of whom shall be competent to return a verdict, and shall administer to the foreman of the inquest an oath or affirmation upon view of the body, in form following; You, as foreman of the inquest, shall diligently inquire and true presentment make, on behalf of the State of Georgia, how and in what manner —, or a person deceased, unknown, as the case may be, here lying dead, came to his death, and of such other matters relating to the same as shall be lawfully required of you, according to evidence: and then shall swear or affirm, by three at a time, in order, the rest of the jurors, in form following; Such oath or affirmation as the foreman of this inquest hath taken on his part, you and every of you shall well and truly observe and keep on your part.

The foreman's oath.

The jurors' oath.

157. Sec. VIII. When the jurors are sworn or affirmed, as aforesaid, the coroner shall charge them on their oath or affirmation to declare if the death of the person, whether he or she, died by murder, manslaughter, misadventure, misfortune, accident, or otherwise; and who, and when, and by what means, and in what manner; and if by murder, who were principals and who were accessaries; and if by manslaughter, who were the perpetrators, and with what instrument the stroke or wound was in either case given; and so of all prevailing circumstances which may come by presumption. And if by misadventure, misfortune, accident, or otherwise, whether by the act of God or man; and whether by hurt, fall, stroke, drowning, or in any other way; to inquire what persons were present at the death, from whence the deceased came, and who he or she was, and his or her parents, relations, or neighbors; who were the finders of the body; whether killed in the same place where he or she was found, or if elsewhere, by whom, and how he or she was brought from thence, and of all circumstances relating to the said death; and if he or she died in prison, whether by hard usage there or not, and if so, how and by whom; and if he or she put an end to his or her own life, then to inquire of the manner, means, or instrument, and of all circumstances concerning it.

When the jury shall be sworn, the coroner required to charge them, and to what points. The full extent and powers of the jury prescribed in the investigations they are to make.

158. Sec. IX. It shall be lawful for every coroner to issue process for witnesses, commanding them to come before him to be examined, and to declare their knowledge concerning the matter in question; and the said coroner shall administer to every witness an oath or affirmation, in form following: You solemnly swear (or affirm) that the evidence which you shall give this inquest, on behalf of the State, touching the death of C. D. (or a person unknown, as the case is), shall be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth.

The coroner to issue process for witnesses.

An oath to be administered to the witnesses.

159. Sec. X. All coroners shall deliver their inquisitions to the next superior courts of their respective counties, and the said court shall proceed thereon against the offender.

Coroners to deliver their inquisitions to the next sup. court.

160. Sec. XI. Every coroner, upon any inquisition before him found whereby any person or persons shall be indicted of murder or manslaughter, or as accessory or accomplice to the said crime of murder, either before or after the fact, shall put in writing the effect of so much of the evidence given to the jury before him as shall be material; and every such coroner is hereby authorized and required to bind all such by recognisance as do declare any thing material to prove the said murder or manslaughter, or to prove any person or persons accessory or accessaries, as aforesaid, to the said murder, to appear at the next superior court of the county where the trial thereof shall be, then and there to give evidence against such offender or offenders at the time of his, her, or their trial; and shall certify as well as the same evidence as such recognisance or recognisances in writing as he shall take, together with the inquisition before him taken, and forward to the said superior court at or before the time of the trial of the party or parties indicted.

In cases of indictment, he shall put in writing so much of the evidence as shall be material, and bind all witnesses who are material to attend court, &c.

160. Sec. XII. If any coroner be remiss, and do not take inquisition as aforesaid, or do not certify as is before directed, or shall offend in any thing contrary to the true intent and meaning of this act, the superior court of the county where such offence shall be committed, upon due proof thereof by examination before them, shall for every such offence set such fine upon the said coroner as the said court shall think fit and reasonable, not exceeding $500.

A coroner neglecting his duty shall, on proof, be fined, &c.

The coroner to give bond and security in the sum of $500.
Exception.
Fees.

161. Sec. XIII. The said coroner shall, before entering on the duties of his office, give bond and security as is prescribed in the case of sheriffs, in the sum of $500, except in the counties of Chatham and Richmond, where the penalty of said bonds shall be $2,000.

162. Sec. XIV. The coroner and constable serving the process shall each receive, in addition to the fees now prescribed by law, the sum of fifty cents on each execution collected; and that the constable summoning the jury shall receive the sum of one dollar.

Sec. XV. All laws and parts of laws militating against this act be, and the same are hereby repealed.

An Act to compel Sheriffs and Coroners to deliver possession of Real Estate sold by them under executions to the purchaser, his or her agent or attorney.—Approved Dec. 23, 1823. Vol. IV. 405.

The sheriff and coroner required to put the purchaser in possession of real estate sold, &c.
Proviso.

163. When any sheriff or coroner shall sell any real estate by virtue of and under the authority of any execution, it shall be the duty of such sheriff or coroner (as the case may be), upon application, to put the purchaser, his or her agent or attorney, in possession of the real estate sold; Provided, that this act shall not authorize the officer making the sale to turn out any other person than the defendant in execution, his heirs, or their tenants, if such other person were in possession at the term of the rendition of the judgment; or if such person has acquired such possession under the judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction, or claim under the person or persons acquiring such right by the judgment of such court.

An Act to prohibit the Judges of the Superior Courts of this State from practising as Attorneys, Proctors, or Solicitors, in the District or Circuit Courts of the United States for the District of Georgia.—Approved Dec. 20, 1824. Vol. IV. 214.

Not to practise as attorneys, in the district or circuit court of the U. States.

164. From and after the 25th of November next, the judges of the superior courts of this State be, and they are hereby prohibited from practising as attorneys, proctors, or solicitors in the district or circuit courts of the United States for the district of Georgia.

An Act to be entitled an act to amend the third Section of an act passed 19th day of December, 1822, entitled an act to amend the twenty-sixth Section of the Judiciary act, passed the 16th day of December, 1799; and also to prevent a fraudulent enforcement of dormant judgments—Approved Dec. 22, 1823. Vol. IV. 214.

Judgments obtained since the 19th Dec. 1822, on which no execution be sued out, or no return made thereon for 7 yrs. declared void.
Proviso.

165. All judgments that have been obtained since the said 19th day of December, 1822, and all judgments that may be hereafter rendered in any of the courts of this State, on which no execution shall be sued out, or which executions, if sued out, no return shall be made by the proper officer for executing and returning the same within seven years from the date of the judgment, shall be void and of no effect; Provided, that nothing in this act contained shall prevent the plaintiff or plaintiffs in such judgments from renewing the same after the expiration of the said seven years, in cases where by law he or they would be otherwise entitled so to do, but the lien of such revived judgments on the property of the defendants thereto, shall operate only from the time of such revival.

166. Sec. II. When any judgment or execution has been declared void and of no effect by the construction given by any of the courts to the said third section of said act, the said judgment and execution so declared void and of no effect shall, and is hereby declared to be in as full force and effect as though the said act had not been passed.

Sec. III. The said third section of the act passed on the said 19th day of December, 1822, is hereby repealed.

Any judgment or execution declared void, under the 3d sec. of the act of 1822, are now to be in full force. 3d sec. of act of 1822, repealed.

An Act to authorize the superior courts of this State to appoint persons to assign and set off dower, and to prescribe the mode of proceeding therein.—Approved 7th Dec. 1824. Vol. IV. 214.

167. The superior courts of this State shall have power and authority, upon the written application of any person entitled to dower in any lands and tenements in this State, to appoint three fit and discreet freeholders of the county in which the application is made, and to cause to be issued by the clerk of said court a writ for that purpose, to be devised and framed according to the nature of the case, directing said freeholders, or a majority of them, to enter upon such lands and tenements, and to admeasure, lay off, and assign the part or share thereof, to which, by the laws of this State, the applicant is entitled, the persons so appointed being first sworn duly and impartially to execute said writ; Provided, that the person so applying shall give to all the parties in interest, their agents, attorneys, or guardians, twenty days' written notice, if they reside within the State; and if they reside without the State three months' notice, in one of the public gazettes of this State, of their intended application for such assignment of dower; and provided also, that the application shall not be made until the expiration of three months after the death of the person to whom the said lands and tenements belonged.

The sup. courts. authorized to appoint three freeholders and to cause a writ to issue to admeasure the same.

The persons appointed to be sworn. Provided. Notice of the intended application to be given.

Provided.

168. Sec. II. In case any person or persons who may be interested in said land, shall traverse or deny the right of the applicant to such dower (the grounds of which traverse or denial shall be plainly and distinctly set forth in writing), the court shall order an issue to be made up, and the same shall be tried by a special jury at the same term, unless it should appear to the court that the principles of justice should require a continuance, which may be allowed for one term, and no longer; and the verdict of the jury shall be final and conclusive between the parties.

If the right is traversed, an issue to be made up and tried by a special jury.

169. Sec. III. When any person is entitled to dower in lands and tenements situate in different counties of this State, application shall be made in the manner and under the restrictions hereinbefore pointed out by the superior courts in each of such counties, and the writs granted by said courts shall only extend to the laying off and assigning dower in the lands and tenements situate within the county in which such application is made.

If lands are in different counties, application to be made to the superior courts of each.

170. Sec. IV. The persons appointed for the purposes hereinbefore expressed, shall return their proceedings on such writs to the term of the superior court next ensuing the one at which they were granted, there to remain of record, and which shall be final and conclusive between all the parties concerned, unless some person interested shall show a good and probable matter in bar of the confirmation of such assignment, or that the applicant is not entitled to so much as hath been assigned; in which case the court shall permit an issue to be made up and tried by a special jury without delay, unless good and sufficient cause should be shown to the court for a continuance, which may be granted for one term and no longer; and if the jury shall find

Return to be made to the next term of the court, and to be final unless cause shown, which is to be tried by a special jury.

in favor of the return and assignment already made, the same shall stand confirmed, but if they should find against it, the court shall forthwith award another writ directing a new assignment, which shall be executed and returned as before directed, and which shall be final and conclusive to all the parties; and in all cases where the assignment so made is confirmed by the court, writs of possession, on the application of the person to whom dower is so assigned, shall be issued by the clerk of the superior court from which the writ originally issued for such assignment, to give such person possession of the lands and tenements so assigned to them.

Notice to be given to the parties.

171. Sec. V. The persons so making the assignment shall in every case give to the parties in interest ten days' notice if they reside within the State, and if they reside without the State two months' notice, in one of the public gazettes of this State, of the time and place of making said assignment.

May employ a surveyor.

172. Sec. VI. The persons making such assignment shall be authorized to appoint and employ a surveyor to assist in executing the writ to them directed, who, together with themselves, shall be entitled to such compensation for their services as the court shall deem reasonable and just, and in case the person applying for said writ shall refuse or neglect to pay the sum awarded by the court, execution shall be issued therefor as on a judgment.

His compensation provided for.

173. Sec. VII. All laws and parts of laws militating against this act be, and the same are hereby repealed.

An Act to provide for the trial of claims of slaves levied on under execution.—Approved 7th Dec. 1824. Vol. IV. 215.

Claim to be tried at the first term of the sup. or inf. court of the county from whence execution issued.

174. In all cases where a writ of execution from a justice's court shall have been levied on one or more slaves, and a claim to such slaves shall have been interposed according to the laws in force for the time being, such execution and claim shall be returned to the next term of the superior or inferior court, whichever may first happen, of the county in which such execution was issued, and shall be there tried in the same manner as other claims which by law are or shall be returnable to those courts respectively.

An Act to authorize the clerks, sheriffs, and other officers in any of the counties in the Southern, Flint, Ocmulgee, and Western Circuits, and of the county of Warren, to insert their advertisements in any gazette published in Milledgeville or within their circuits; and to compel deputy sheriffs to advertise in the same paper in which his principal shall advertise.*—Approved Dec. 17, 1825. Vol. IV. 406.

Officers in certain circuits and in the county of Warren authorized to advertise in the papers published in Milledgeville. And the deputies to advertise in the same papers. Proviso.

From and after the passage of this act, it shall and may be lawful for the clerks of the superior and inferior courts and courts of ordinary, sheriffs, coroners, and other officers of the several counties in the Southern, Flint, Ocmulgee, and Western circuits, and of the county of Warren, and they are hereby required to publish their advertisements in any of the gazettes published in Milledgeville or within their circuits.

Sec. II. The deputy sheriffs in the counties aforesaid shall, and they are hereby required to advertise their sales in the same gazette in which the principal sheriff shall advertise his sales; Provided, such sheriffs or deputies shall, within twenty days after entering on the duties of their office, give notice by written advertisement at their respective court houses, continuing the same sixty days, specifying the paper selected; also notice of such selected paper shall be given in the Georgia Journal, of Milledgeville.

* As to Warren, see Act of 1833, Pam. 308, and Local Acts in this Digest.

Sec. III. [Repealing all repugnant laws.]

An Act to define the liability of securities on appeal on stay of execution, and for the protection of bail on recognizance, bond, note, or other contract.—Approved Dec. 20, 1826. Vol. IV. 216.

175. In all cases where any person or persons hath heretofore entered himself as security on appeal or for stay of execution in any case, in any court in this State, and may subsequently thereto have paid off and discharged the execution issuing in such case, it shall and may be lawful for such security to apply to the sheriff, clerk, constable, marshal, or attorney, to whom such payment may be made, and procure an entry or certificate to be made on such execution that the same was paid by the security, and such security shall thereupon be entitled to the use and control of such execution for the purpose of proceeding against his principal.

Securities on appeal, or stay of execution, who have discharged the same, to be entitled to the control thereof for the purpose of proceeding against the principal.

176. Sec. II. In all cases of appeal where security hath been given, and hereafter given, and hereafter to be tried, it shall and may be lawful for the plaintiff or his attorney to enter up judgment against the principal and the security, jointly or severally, and execution shall issue accordingly and proceed against either or both, at the option of the plaintiff until he is satisfied; Provided, nevertheless, if the execution against the security or securities be first paid by him or them, then the execution against the principal shall still be of force and under the control of the security or securities, until the same be satisfied by said principal.

On appeal cases, judgment to be entered against the principal and surety.

Proviso.

177. Sec. III. Where security shall have been given, or may hereafter be given for the stay of an execution after judgment, execution shall issue as in cases of appeal against the principal and security, jointly or severally, and proceed and be controlled in like manner.

In stay of execution, the surety entitled to the like control.

178. Sec. IV. When any person or persons hath heretofore or shall hereafter become bail on recognizance or security, on bond, note, or other contract, and shall be sued thereon, it shall and may be lawful for such bail or security on the trial of such case to make special defence; and in case it should appear to the court that one or more of the defendants is or are securities only, and not interested in the consideration of the contract sued on, then and in such case verdict and judgment shall be entered accordingly, and further proceedings had, and privileges exercised as hereinbefore prescribed in behalf of the other securities; provided, the plaintiff shall in no case be delayed by any dispute which may arise between the defendants, but the court shall decide the issues and the verdict which may have been finally rendered on the issues between the defendants, shall relate back to the time of the verdict and judgment in favor of the plaintiff.

Securities on bonds, notes, &c. when sued, may make special defence, and judgment entered against them as securities only, and they entitled to the privileges of such.

Proviso.

179. Sec. V. In all cases in which any person or persons hath heretofore become security in the manner hereinbefore specified, and judgment has been rendered against him or them, and execution has been issued accordingly, in which they may be able to show that he or they were security only, and as such hath or have been paid off and discharged such execution, such security or securities shall have the benefit thereof, and power to control the same, for the purpose of indemnifying himself or themselves out of the property of the principal.

Same privilege to those who have become surety heretofore.

180. Sec. VI. When any security to any note, bond, or obligation, shall subscribe himself as security, such statement appended to his name on the said note, bond, or obligation, shall be held and taken as

When a person subscribes his name as security, the same to be taken as proof thereof good evidence of his being such security, and the plaintiff shall sue out original and mesne process against him accordingly.*

An Act to repeal a part of an act, entitled an act to revive and amend the judiciary system of this State, passed on the 16th day of Feb. 1799.—Approved Dec. 24, 1827. Vol. IV. 219.

Equity bills need not be sanctioned, except injunction, quia timet and exeat. 181. So much of the said above-recited act as requires the judges of the superior courts, or one of them, to read and sanction bills in equity other than bills of injunction, ne exeat and quia timet, before the filing of said bills in court, shall be, and the same are hereby repealed.

An Act to define the liability of endorsers of promissory notes and other instruments, and to place them upon the same footing with securities.—Approved Dec. 26, 1826. Vol. IV. 76.

Endorsers, &c not entitled to notice.

And the endorser taken and held as a security.

And may be sued in the same action with the principal. Bank notes excepted.

Provide.

The surety may compel the collection or be discharged.

182. From and after the passage of this act, that the practice heretofore required of making a demand of the makers of promissory notes and other instruments, for the payment and performance of the same, and their giving notice of such demand within a reasonable time to the endorsers of said promissory notes and other instruments, shall cease and become entirely unnecessary to bind said endorsers; and whenever any person whatever endorses a promissory note or other instrument, he shall be held, taken, and considered as security to the same, and be in all respects bound as security, until said promissory note or other instrument is paid off and discharged, and shall be liable to be sued in the same manner and in the same action with the principal or maker of said promissory notes or other instruments; any law, practice, or usage to the contrary notwithstanding: Provided always, that nothing herein contained shall extend to any promissory notes which shall be given for the purpose of negotiation, or intended to be negotiated at any chartered bank, or which may be deposited in any chartered bank for collection; and provided, also, that nothing contained in this act shall be construed as to prevent the endorser from defining his liability in the endorsement.

183. Sec. II. Any security or endorser may, whenever he thinks proper, after the note or instrument become due, require the holder to proceed to collect the same; and if he should not proceed to do so within three months, the endorser or security shall be no longer liable.

An Act to reduce the damages upon bills of exchange drawn on any place beyond the limits of the United States, returned protested for non-payment; and to define more precisely the mode of settling the same on the principles of exchange.—Approved Dec. 24, 1827. Vol. IV. 221.

Whereas, the damages at present established by commercial custom and judicial decision in this State, upon foreign bills of exchange returned and protested, are much too high; and whereas, a doubt exists what is the legal mode of settlement; for remedy whereof,

Bills of exchange drawn on any place beyond the U. States and returned protested, &c the holder shall

184. Be it enacted, That on the bills of exchange drawn in this State after the 31st day of January next, upon any place beyond the limits of the United States, which shall be returned protested for non-payment, it shall be lawful for the holder or holders thereof to recover from those liable for the payment thereof, the amount of the said bill of exchange, with postages, protests, other necessary expenses, and interest upon the amount of these sums from the date of the protest until the time of presenting the same for payment in this State, at the rate established at the place at which the bill was payable; and also such premium upon the face of the bill and the foreign postages, protest, and necessary expenses, as good bills of exchange upon the same place which such bill was made payable, or worth, at the time and place of its demand in this State; but if such bills are then and there at a discount, the holder shall deduct such discount upon and from the items of principal, foreign postage, protest, and necessary expenses.

* This act amended and explained by act of 1831. See Sec. 216, 217.

185. Sec. II. It shall be lawful for the holder of such bill of exchange, so returned protested as aforesaid, also to claim and receive from the person or persons liable therefor, damages at the rate of ten per cent. upon the amount for which the said bill was drawn.

186. Sec. III. It shall be lawful for the holder or holders of such bill or bills returned protested as aforesaid, to recover the legal interest established in this State, from the time of presentment for settlement until paid, upon the sum or sums to which he would be entitled by the before-mentioned mode of settlement.

An Act to facilitate the recovery of personal property in certain cases.
Approved Dec. 24, 1827. Vol. IV. 221.

Whereas, it frequently happens that suits in the different courts of law and equity in this State for personal property continue for a number of years, and that after the commencement and before the end of said suits the property in dispute increases, or has issue which cannot be recovered in any other way than by resorting to a new action; for remedy whereof,

187. Be it enacted, That while any suit or action is now pending, or may hereafter be instituted in any court of law or equity in this State for personal property, the issue of said property born or to be born after the commencement of said suit or action, shall and may be recovered in the said suit or action; and it shall be the duty of the court to allow the declaration or bill to be amended at any stage of the said suit or action, so as to include the said issue so born or to be born; any law, usage, or practice to the contrary notwithstanding.

In suits for personal property, the issue born pendente lite may be recovered. Proceedings to be amended accordingly.

An Act to regulate the trial of claims to land and negroes when levied on by attachments in the justices' courts in this State.—Approved Dec. 20, 1828. Vol. IV. 223.

188. From and after the passage of this act, when any attachment returnable to a justice's court in this State shall be levied on land which has been claimed by any person or persons not a party to said attachment, it shall be the duty of the officer levying the same to return the claim papers to the clerk of the next superior court of the county where the land lies, which court shall cause the right of property to be tried in the same manner as in other claim cases.

Claims to land levied on by justices' attachments, when returned.

189. Sec. II. When any attachment as aforesaid shall be levied on any negro or negroes, which may be claimed as aforesaid, it shall be the duty of the levying officer to return the claim papers to the clerk of the next superior or inferior court of the county in which said attachment has issued; and it shall be the duty of the courts aforesaid to cause the right of property to be tried in the same manner as in other cases of claims.

If levied on negroes.

Replevy.

190. Sec. III. The person or persons claiming as aforesaid, shall present their claim in the same manner, and be entitled to a replevy under the same rules and regulations as in other cases of attachments and claims.

Oath of the jury.

191. Sec. IV. The jury before the trial of any of the claims aforesaid, shall have administered unto them the following oath, to wit: "You do swear or affirm, that you will give to plaintiffs in attachments against claimants such damages as may seem reasonable and just, not less than ten per cent., provided it shall sufficiently appear that the claim was intended for delay only; so help me God."

Sec. V. All laws or parts of laws militating against this law are hereby repealed.

An Act to define and make certain the mode of assessing damages upon the trial of claims of property in the superior and inferior courts in this State.—Approved Dec. 21, 1829. Vol. IV. 224.

Whereas, doubts have been entertained whether upon the trial of claims of property, damages should be assessed upon the amount of the execution, or the value of the property claimed, or upon the amount of the claim-bond; for remedy whereof,

Damages on claims, how to be assessed.

Proviso.

192. Be it enacted, That from and immediately after the passage of this act, upon claims of property now pending, or which may be hereafter pending in the superior or inferior courts of this State, where damages shall be found by jury, the said damages shall be assessed upon the whole amount then due upon the execution levied, provided, the value of the property in dispute exceeds the amount of said execution, and upon the value of the property claimed when the same is less than the amount of the execution levied; any law, usage, or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

*An Act to amend an act entitled "an act to amend the judiciary of 1799, so far as relates to mortgages on real estate."—Approved Dec. 21, 1829. Vol. IV. 230.

Mortgages on real estate to be foreclosed in 6 months.

Six months' rule to be granted.

Notice how to be given.

193. From and after the passage of this act, when any person or persons, his, her, or their agent or attorney, shall petition the superior court as prescribed by the judiciary of 1799, for the foreclosure of any mortgage on real estate, the court shall grant a rule directing that the principal and cost shall be paid into court within six months thereafter, which rule shall be published in one of the public gazettes of this State, once a month for four months, or served on the mortgager, or his, her, or their special agent or attorney, at least three months previous to the time the money is directed to be paid; provided, that nothing in this act shall be so construed as to affect any mortgage which may exist at the time of the passage of this act.

Sec. II. So much of the said judiciary of 1799 and of the said amendatory act as militates against this is hereby repealed.

An Act to authorize the assignment and transfer of judgments and executions, and to make certain and uniform the practice with regard to the same.—Approved Dec. 22d, 1829. Vol. IV. 225.

From and after the passage of this act, it shall and may be lawful

* As this act entirely supersedes the act referred to, (Vol. IV. 218,) that act is omitted. Rule absolute now goes, at the next superior court. See Conveyances, Sec. 34.

for the plaintiff in any judgment or execution to sell or transfer the same by written assignment, or control, and said sale or assignment shall not be considered a discharge or satisfaction of said execution, but the assignee may proceed to collect the same for his own use and benefit, in as full and ample a manner as the plaintiff could have done if no such transfer or assignment had been made.

Judgments or executions made negotiable and transferable.

194. Sec. II. Nothing in this act contained shall be construed as to authorize the collection of any execution which may have been paid off by the defendant or his agent, and kept open for the purpose of defrauding other creditors.

Not if paid off by the defendant.

An Act to define the duties of grand jurors in this State, so as respects the time they are to be considered bound to notice offences committed in their respective counties.—Approved Dec. 22, 1829. Vol. IV. 229.

195. Grand jurors shall be bound only to notice or make presentment of such offences as may or shall come to their knowledge or observation after they shall have been sworn; but nothing in this act shall be considered as impairing their right as jurors to make presentments of any violations of the laws which they may know to have been committed at any previous time.

Duty of grand jurors attaches on being sworn.

Sec. II. All laws and parts of laws militating against the intent and meaning of this act are hereby repealed.

An Act for the relief of sheriffs in certain cases.—Approved 22d Dec. 1829. Vol. IV. 408.

Whereas, it is frequently oppressive upon sheriffs to serve and return all writs and processes within the time prescribed by law; for remedy whereof,

196. Be it enacted, That from and immediately after the passing of this act it shall not be necessary, as heretofore, for the sheriffs of this State to serve all writs and processes at common law twenty days before the sitting of the court to which the same may be made returnable, but the same may be served and returned seventeen days before the sitting of the court; Provided, nevertheless, that all writs and processes shall be copied and issued, as heretofore, twenty days before the sitting of the court to which the same may be made returnable; any law, usage, or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

The sheriff allowed to serve all writs and processes within 17 days preceding the return day. Proviso.

An Act to make valid bonds taken by the sheriffs of this State, and their deputies, coroners, and constables from defendants in execution, for the delivery of property levied on by them.—Approved Dec. 21, 1829. Vol. IV. 409.

197. From and after the passing of this act, all bonds taken by the sheriffs of this State, or their deputies, or coroners, or constables, from defendants in execution, for the delivery of property on the day of sale or at any other time, which they may have levied on by virtue of any fi. fa. or other legal process from any court, be, and the same are hereby declared to be good and valid in law, and recoverable in any court in this State having jurisdiction thereof.

Forthcoming bonds declared valid, and made recoverable in law, &c.

198. Sec. II. The bonds taken in conformity with the first section of this act shall in no case prejudice or affect the rights of plaintiffs in execution, but shall relate to and have effect alone between the sheriffs, their deputies, the coroners, and the constables, and defendants by whom given; and the sheriff shall in case excuse himself for not having made the money on any execution by having taken such bond, but shall be liable to be ruled as now prescribed by law.

Not to prejudice the rights of the plaintiffs in execution.

An Act to prevent personal property which is the subject of an action of trespass, or trover, from vesting in the defendant or defendants, to such action, by virtue of a recovery and judgment by the plaintiff, except so far as to be subject to be sold under the execution, which shall, or may issue upon such judgment of the said plaintiff, obtained by him in the said action of trespass, or trover, and to make such property first liable to the payment of the damages, recovered in said action.—Approved Nov. 25, 1830. Pam. 122.

How far the property is changed by a verdict in trover or trespass.

199. From and immediately after the passing of this act, when a verdict for damages, shall be found, or rendered in favor of a plaintiff, in trover, or trespass, and a judgment shall be signed thereon, the said verdict and judgment, shall not have the effect to change the property, which is the subject matter of the said suit, or action, or to vest the same, or any part thereof, in the defendant, or defendants, to the said suit, or action of trespass or trover, until after the damages and costs recovered by the plaintiff, in such action are paid off and discharged, except, so far as to subject the said property to be sold under and by virtue of an execution, issuing on said judgment, in said action of trespass, or trover, and to make the same liable to the payment of the damages and cost, recovered in said action.

Lien of plaintiff not affected by previous judgment against the defendant.

200. Sec. II. No judgment obtained against the said defendant, to such suit or action, of trespass or trover, prior in point of time to the said judgment, so obtained by the said plaintiff, in such action of trespass or trover, shall have any lien, or binding force on the said property, which is the subject matter of such action of trespass or trover, until after the damages and costs recovered by such verdict, and judgment of the plaintiff, in such action of trespass or trover, are first paid off and discharged.

Sec. III. All laws and parts of laws, which militate against this act are hereby repealed.

An Act to amend an act, entitled an act, the more effectually to quiet and protect the possession of personal property, and to prevent the taking possession thereof, by fraud or violence, passed the 25th day of Dec. 1821.—Approved Dec. 21st, 1830. Pam. 118.

Whereas, it becomes necessary to establish, and regulate the fees of the officers, for their services in carrying into effect, the above recited act.

Fees under the Abduction act of 1821.

201. Be it enacted, That from and after the passage of this act, the fees of the officers required to carry into effect, the before recited act shall be, for and after the following rates, to be paid by the party, against whom the decision of the justice may be made, and for which execution shall issue as on other judgments; for affidavit to obtain a warrant, and making out the same, sixty-two and half cents; for trying the same, sixty-two and half cents; for making out a recognizance, and returning the same to court, thirty-one and a quarter cents; for making out a commitment, thirty-one and a quarter cents, for each subpoena for witnesses, twelve and half cents; the sheriff, or constable, for serving a warrant upon the person, or persons, included in the same, as adverse claimants, or offenders, shall receive the same fees, as allowed by law in criminal cases; and for taking the possession of the property included in the warrant, shall receive the same fees as allowed by law, in cases of attachment.

Sec. II. All laws, or parts of laws militating against this act are hereby repealed.

An Act to amend the second, third, and fourth sections of an act, entitled an act, to amend an act to provide for the payment of costs in certain cases, passed the 13th day of Dec. 1820, as amendatory of an act, entitled an act to provide for the payment of costs in certain cases therein mentioned, passed the 13th day of Dec. 1816.—Approved Dec. 21st, 1830. Pam. 123.

202. In all cases, hereafter, that when any person shall be prosecuted for any criminal offence, as enumerated in the act passed the 13th day of Dec. 1816, that all the property, the person or persons, may have in his, her, or their right, at the time of his, her, or their arrest, shall be deemed and held subject to the payment of all costs, which may have accrued, by reason of said prosecution.

203. Sec. II. It shall be the duty of the judges of the superior courts, in the event of any person, or persons, being found guilty, or upon report made to the court, of an escape from the jail, or from an officer, having in custody any criminal, charged with the commission of any criminal offence, as aforesaid, to cause judgment to be entered up for all costs, which may have accrued, by reason of said arrest, and prosecution, in order to save the county, where the offence may have been committed, or the arrest, and escape, had from the liability of costs.

Judgment for costs to be entered on conviction, or escape.

204. Sec. III. It shall be the duty of all arresting officers, and all others entitled to costs, on any conviction, or on any proceedings for the commission of crime, where an escape is made from the jail, or from an officer, before confinement in jail, as aforesaid, to hand in their accounts, into the clerk's office, of the superior court, within ten days after conviction, or escape of any criminal as aforesaid, and in all cases where the arresting officer, does not levy on a sufficiency of property of the person, or persons, so charged, where there is property, which shall be judged of by the court, he shall not be permitted to take costs, from the county, and in receiving of costs, shall be last paid.

Officers shall hand in their accounts for costs.

205. Sec. IV. It shall be the duty of said clerk, after the judgment of said court, in cases of conviction, or of the report of the escape of any person or persons as aforesaid, within ten days after the receipt of the accounts in any case as aforesaid, to issue executions for the amount appearing to be due, by reason thereof, directed to, and collected by the sheriff, as other cases: Provided nothing herein contained shall be so construed, as to prevent courts from imprisoning persons found guilty, as aforesaid, until all costs are paid, or release any property, which may have been levied on as aforesaid, where escapes may be effected, either from the jail, or an officer having in custody, any person, or persons, charged with the commission of crime.

And executions to issue.

Provided.

Sec. V. All laws and parts of laws, repugnant to this act, are hereby repealed.

An Act to compel purchasers of mortgaged property, purchasers of life estates, or estates for term of years, in personal property, at sheriff's, coroner's or constable's sales, to give bond.—Approved Dec. 22, 1830. Pam. 119.

206. From and after the passage of this act, it shall be the duty of purchasers of personal property, under the incumbrance of mortgage, or mortgages, at any sheriff's, coroner's, constable's sale, to give bond and security, to the said sheriff, coroner, or constable, in double the value of the property so sold, (of which the officer selling shall be the judge,) conditioned not to move said property out of said State, and deliver up the same to the mortgagee, his heirs, or assigns, on demand made after foreclosure of said mortgage or mortgages: Provided the mortgagee, his agent, or attorney, shall tender an affidavit, previous to the sale thereof, to the officer selling said property, stating that he, she, or they, are just and bona fide mortgagees thereof, and that he, she or they, apprehend the loss of said property, unless bond be given in terms of this act.

Purchasers at public sales of mortgaged personal property, shall give bond on oath of mortgagee.

Also purchasers of life estates in personalty, on oath made.

207. Sec. II. When any person shall purchase at any sheriff's, coroner's, or constable's sale, a life estate, or an estate for term of years in personal property, it shall be the duty of said sheriff, coroner, or constable, to require of said purchaser, bond and security as aforesaid, for the delivery of said property to the party entitled in remainder: Provided, the same is required by said party, his agent, or attorney, who shall make affidavit of their right to said property, which shall be tendered to the officer selling, previous to sale, which bonds when taken, shall be filed in the clerk's office of the superior court, of the county, where said sale is made subject to be sued on, for the benefit and use of the said party, whenever the particular estate is determined, which said court shall have power on sufficient cause shown, to compel said obligor, to give additional security, from time to time, as justice may require, on ten days' previous notice being given.*

Or property to be resold.

208. Sec. III. On failure of said purchaser, to give bond and security as aforesaid, it shall be the duty of said sheriff, coroner, or constable, to re-sell the said property, at the risk and loss of such purchaser.

Sec. IV. All laws or parts of laws, militating against this act are hereby repealed.

An Act to prescribe the mode of proceeding under writs of ne exeat, and to amend the laws regulating the granting of writs of injunction, by the Judges of the Superior Courts of this State.—Approved Dec. 22, 1830. Pam. 125.

Defendants in ne exeat how discharged.

209. In all cases where persons may be hereafter arrested by virtue of writs of ne exeat, they shall be discharged on their giving bond, with good and sufficient security, either that they will not depart this State, or for the payment of the eventual condemnation money.

Where the judge is interested, any other judge may sanction bills, &c.

210. Sec. II. In all cases in equity, when the judge of any circuit may be a party to such suit, or when the complainant will and shall make an affidavit, that the judge of the circuit where the cause is pending, or to be instituted, is interested in the subject matter of such cause in equity, it shall and may be lawful, for any judge of the superior courts of this State, to sanction such bills in equity and grant such writs of injunction, and others as may be according to law, to effect the object of such bills.

An Act to appoint a Master in Equity for the counties of Chatham, Richmond, and Bibb, respectively.—Approved Dec. 23, 1830. Pam. 57.

Whereas, in causes in equity, in the superior courts of said counties, accounts are frequently presented, embracing transactions of many years, voluminous, and referring to numerous vouchers for their proof, and which by reason of the time and labor, necessary to be spent in investigating them, and the limited periods appointed by law, for the sessions of said courts, cannot be particularly examined by a court and jury, and hence in practice, are commonly referred to auditors for examination; and whereas, experience has shown, that it is extremely difficult to procure competent individuals for this purpose, without compensation, and thus great delays in suits in equity frequently happen.

* And see Sec. 214, 215.

211. Be it therefore enacted, That the judges of the superior courts of the counties of Chatham, Richmond, and Bibb, respectively, are hereby authorized to appoint a master in equity, for each of the aforesaid counties, whose duty it shall be to examine, audit and report, upon all accounts and vouchers, relating to any suit pending in equity in any of the courts of said counties, which may be submitted to him under an order of court; and also to superintend under the discretion of the court, all sales which may be made by order of court, under decrees in equity.

Master in chancery in Chatham,
Richmond, and Bibb.

212. Sec. II. The said masters in equity, shall be entitled to receive such compensation for their services in examining, auditing and reporting upon accounts, as the court and jury trying the particular cause, in which such master's report, is made, shall determine, the amount of compensation thus to be determined, to be taxed in the bill of costs in the cause.

Compensation to be determined by the court and jury in each case.

213. Sec. III. Before entering on the duties of his office, each master in equity shall take, and subscribe the following oath, to wit: "I, A. B. do solemnly swear, that I will faithfully discharge the duties of my appointment, to the best of my knowledge, so help me God."

His oath.

An Act to authorize the issuing of writs of ne exeat, at the instance of persons claiming personal property, in remainder and reversion, and to preserve the rights of such persons.—Approved Dec. 23, 1830. Pam. 126.

214. It shall and may be lawful, for any judge of the superior court of this State, on application to him by bill, at the instance of any person, or persons, claiming personal property, in remainder, and reversion, to grant a writ of ne exeat, or other sufficient process, to restrain the person, or persons, having the control or possession, of such property from removing the same beyond the limits of this State; or to give good and sufficient security, residing in the county, to the party claiming, in a sufficient penalty to be fixed by such judge, that the property shall be subject, and accessible to the demand of the person, or persons, entitled thereto, in the county wherein such property may be at the time of issuing of such writ: Provided, that the person, or persons, or one of them, suing for the benefit of such writ, shall make affidavit of his, her, or their right to, and of the value of the property in question; and that he, she, or they, entertain serious apprehensions, that the property will be removed beyond the limits of this State, and that his, her or their rights, will be impaired, unless a remedy be afforded for the preservation thereof.

Remainder man or reversioner of personal property may have a ne exeat, on proper oath made.

215. Sec. II. The superior court shall at the term to which such writ and bond, may be returnable, and at any subsequent term, on exceptions to the sufficiency of the bond, or of the security, or on a representation on oath, that the securities, or some of them, have removed, or are about to remove, from the county, determine thereon,

New bond may be required on showing.

and may in its discretion, require a new bond, or additional security, for the preservation of the property in controversy; and may pursue such course therein, and in the matter of said bill, as to justice may seem proper.

An Act to alter and amend an act, entitled an act, to define the liability of securities on appeal, on stay of execution, and for the protection of bail, on recognizance, bond, note or other contract.—*
Approved Dec. 26, 1831. Pam. 133.

Whereas, doubts exist, whether the security or securities, against whom judgment has been rendered, and execution has issued accordingly, upon any contract, bond or note, since the passage of the above recited act, can have legally the control of the execution where the same has been paid off by such security or securities, and they have neglected to make special defence at the trial, to indemnify themselves out of the property of the principal; for remedy whereof, Bureties may have control of executions which they have paid off. If they satisfy the court of their being bona fide such.

216. Be it enacted, That from and after the passage of this act, it shall and may be lawful for any person or persons, who have heretofore become security on any note, bond or other contract, and not interested in the consideration thereof, and judgment has been rendered against them, and execution issued accordingly, and such security or securities have been heretofore compelled to pay off such judgment or execution, he, she or they, shall be entitled to the control of the same for the purpose of remunerating him, her or them, out of the property of the principal or principals: Provided always, that it shall be made satisfactorily appear to the court from whence the execution issued, that such person or persons assuming to have the control of any judgment or execution as aforesaid, were bona fide security or securities, only upon the original bond, note or contract, which was the foundation of the judgment and execution.

Though no special defence was made at the trial.

217. Where any security or securities as aforesaid, shall fail at the trial of the note, bond, or other instrument upon which, he, she or they, were security or securities, to make special defence thereof, it shall be lawful for such security or securities to take control after payment thereof, of the said fi. fa. after complying with the requisitions of the first section of this act, and that all laws and parts of laws militating against this act, are, and the same are hereby repealed.

*An Act to make uniform the proceedings against bail in criminal cases.†—*Approved Dec. 26, 1831. Pam. 135.

On the non-appearance of the principal, the recognizance shall be forfeited,

218. Sec. I. From and after the passing of this act, when any person or persons shall enter into any recognizance, or obligation, for the appearance of another, to answer any indictment, information or presentment of a grand jury for any offence committed against the laws of this State, or who shall be bound in any recognizance, bond or obligation, to prosecute or to answer to any criminal charge, or to give evidence in any criminal case whatever, and shall fail to produce the body of his, her or their principal or principals, at the court, according to the tenor and effect of said recognizance, bond or obligation, when required so to do, then, and in that case, it shall be the duty of the solicitor general or prosecuting officer to the several courts of this State, to which said recognizance, bond or obligation shall be returnable, to forfeit said recognizance, bond or obligation in the manner heretofore practised in this State.

* Sec. 175, &c.

† Amended and explained, Sec. 230.

219. Sec. II. It shall be the duty of the clerks of the several superior courts aforesaid, to issue a scire facias on all forfeited recognizances, bonds or obligations, against the principal and security, which shall be served by the sheriff or his deputy, under the same rules which govern service of writs in civil cases, returnable to the next court from whence the scire facias issued, and if no sufficient cause shall be shown to the contrary, judgment shall be entered up by motion against the principal and security for the penalty mentioned in said recognizance, bond or obligation—If good cause be shown at that term, but not such cause as amounts to an entire discharge of the principal or his security, the scire facias shall stand to be answered to in like manner at the next term, and if sufficient cause be not then shown, judgment shall be entered up against principal and security, after which the parties to said recognizance, bond or obligation, shall become absolute debtors to the State for the sum or penalty mentioned in said recognizance, bond or obligation: Provided, nothing herein contained shall affect the rights of academics.

and scire facias shall issue, and judgment entered up at next term, or the second term, unless sufficient cause is shown.

Proviso—saving the rights of academics.

220. Sec. III. Security shall be at liberty to surrender their principal in vacation to the sheriff, or in open court in discharge of themselves from their liability.

Sec. IV. All laws militating against this act are hereby repealed.

An Act declaring and making certain the law defining the liability of endorsers, and securities to promissory notes and other instruments, when the holder thereof shall fail to proceed to collect the same after notice.—Approved Dec. 26, 1831. Pam. 136.

Whereas, the legislature of this State, did on the twenty-sixth of December, 1826, pass an act, entitled “an act, to define the liability of endorsers of promissory notes and other instruments, and to place them upon the same footing with securities,” by the second section of which act, it is provided that “any security or endorser may whenever he thinks proper, after the note or instrument becomes due, require the holder to proceed to collect the same, and if he should not proceed to do so within three months, the endorser or security shall be no longer liable;” And whereas the constitutionality of said second section is doubted, by reason of its departure from the title of said bill; For remedy whereof,

221. Be it enacted, That in every case which may hereafter arise, where the security or endorser of any promissory note or other instrument, after the same has or shall become due, has required or shall hereafter require the holder thereof to proceed to collect the same, and the said holder has not proceeded or shall not proceed to do so, within three months after such notice or requisition, the endorser or security shall be no longer liable.

The holder of a bill, note, &c. not proceeding when requested by the endorser, to collect it in 3 months, loses his claim on endorser.

An Act defining the liability of purchasers of real and personal estate, at executors', administrators', guardians' and sheriffs' sales, when they refuse or fail to comply with the terms of such sales.—Approved Dec. 27, 1831. Pam. 130.

222. From and after the passage of this act, any individual who may become the purchaser of any real or personal estate at any sale which shall hereafter be made at public outcry by any executor, administrator, guardian, or sheriff, and shall fail or refuse to comply with

Purchasers at public sales, not complying with the terms, liable for either the full amount, or the loss on a resale.

the terms of such sale when required so to do, shall be liable for the amount of such purchase money, and it shall be at the option of such executor, administrator, guardian, or sheriff, either to proceed against such purchaser, for the full amount of the purchase money, or to resell such real or personal estate, and then to proceed against the first purchaser, for the deficiency arising from such resale, and in case of sheriffs' sales, such suit may be brought in the name of the sheriff for the use of the defendant or plaintiff in execution, or any other person in interest, as the case may be.

Note or memorandum unnecessary.

223. Sec. II. No note or memorandum in writing, shall be necessary to charge such purchaser at such sale, and who shall become such by reason of such real or personal estate being knocked off to him, as the highest bidder.

Sec. III. All laws or parts of laws, militating against this act, are hereby repealed.

An Act to amend the Judiciary law of 1799, in relation to bail, and also, to amend an act entitled "An Act to amend the Judiciary law of this State, passed the 16th day of February, 1799, so far as to authorize the issuing of bail process in certain cases," passed the 8th day of November, 1820, so far as to authorize agents, attorneys in fact or at law, to hold to bail in all civil cases.—Approved Dec. 26, 1831. Pam. 137.

Agent or attorney may hold to bail in civil cases.

224. Sec. I. From and after the passage of this act, it shall and may be lawful for any agent, attorney in fact or at law, to hold to bail in all civil cases, and under the same rules and restrictions as are pointed out in the before recited acts on that subject.

Sec. II. All laws and parts of laws militating against this act are hereby repealed.

An Act to amend and alter the oath of Bailiffs, who take charge of Special and Petit Juries, and for other purposes.—Approved Dec. 26, 1831. Pam. 138.

Whereas, the oath now administered to bailiffs require them to keep the juries without meat, drink, or fire, candle light and water only excepted; and whereas it often happens that in cases of much litigation, juries are unable for a great length of time to agree upon a verdict, and are thereby exposed to cold and hunger: for remedy whereof,

Oath of bailiffs of special juries.

225. Sec. I. Be it enacted, That the following shall be the oath to be administered to all bailiffs, sworn to take charge of special and petit juries in the superior and inferior courts of this State, to wit: You shall take this jury and all others committed to your charge, during the present term, to the jury room or some other private and convenient place, where you shall keep them without meat, drink or fire, candle light and water only excepted, (unless otherwise directed by the court.) You shall not speak to them yourself (nor suffer others to speak to them) unless it be by leave of the court, to ask them if they have agreed upon a verdict or are likely to agree. All this you shall do to the best of your skill and power—so help you God.

The court may allow juries to have food and fire at its discretion.

226. Sec. II. Whenever it shall so happen that the jury is confined in the investigation of any case, for a length of time, which exposes them to hunger or cold, or both, the court may, on application from said jury, direct them to be furnished, at their own expense, with such nourishments as in his own judgment may seem just and proper; and permit them to have provisions and fire, or either, if circumstances should, in the judgment of the court, require it.

227. Sec. III. The said bailiffs shall receive from the county treasurer, or clerk of the court, where there is no treasurer, of each county, $1 per day in addition to their present fees, for each day the said bailiffs shall serve in attendance on the juries.

Bailiffs fee for attendance.

An Act to make Bank and other corporations subject to Garnishment, and to regulate proceedings against Garnishees, in certain cases.—Approved Dec. 24, 1832. Pam. 113.

228. From and after the passing of this act, all banks, banking companies and other corporations in this State, shall be liable to garnishment both in cases of attachment and in cases at common law; and it shall be their duty to answer under their corporate seal by their presiding officer; and in all cases a summons addressed to the corporation and served upon its presiding officer, shall be deemed and held sufficient.

Banks and other corporations liable to garnishment.

How served.

[See Sec. repealed by the act of 1835, pam. 103.]

229. Summonses in garnishment shall in all cases be served personally, otherwise they shall not be binding; and in all cases where any corporation shall answer, the subsequent proceedings shall be the same as those now provided by law in cases of other garnishees: Provided, that nothing herein contained, shall be so construed so as to make banks or other corporations liable to be garnisheed for the salary or salaries, or any part thereof, of any officer or officers of said banks or other corporations.*

Summonses to be always served personally. Subsequent proceedings. Proviso.

An Act to alter and amend an "Act to make uniform the proceedings against bail in criminal cases."†—Approved December 24, 1832. Pam. 116.

Whereas the laws now of force in this State are susceptible of a construction which enables persons in criminal cases by repeated renewals and forfeitures of their bail bonds and recognizances, to elude and procrastinate their trial, and thereby defeat the ends of justice; for remedy whereof,

230. Be it enacted, That from and after the passage of this act, it shall not be lawful for any person or persons whomsoever, to give bail more than twice for the same offence, before trial therefor.

No offence bailable more than twice before trial.

Sec. II. All laws and parts of laws militating against this act, are hereby repealed.

An Act to authorize plaintiffs in ejectment to recover such mesne profits as they may be entitled to in said action of ejectment by way of damages, and to prevent a separate action for mesne profits.—Approved Dec. 19, 1834. Pam. 78.

231. Sec. I. It shall be lawful for all plaintiffs in ejectment to add a count or counts in their writ of ejectment, and to submit evidence to the jury, and recover by way of damages all such sum or sums of money to which they may be entitled by way of mesne profits, together with the premises in dispute.

Mesne profits may be recovered in ejectment with the land.

* This section repealed by act of 1834, pam. 45, and restored by act of 1835, pam. 103.

† Sec. 218.

And execution for it to go with the writ of possession.

No separate action allowed.

But a former defendant now plaintiff, may have an action on the case for damages formerly recovered against him.

232. Sec. II. It shall be the duty of the several clerks of the superior courts to incorporate in the execution of habere facias possessionem a clause directing the sheriff to collect all such sums of money as, by the finding of the jury, shall have been awarded to the plaintiff in ejectment as mesne profits.

233. Sec. III. No plaintiff or plaintiffs in ejectment, in cases which may hereafter be instituted, shall be permitted to have and maintain a separate action in their behalf for mesne profits which have accrued, or may accrue, to him or them from the premises in dispute.

234. Sec. IV. In case an action of ejectment be brought by the defendant in the first action of ejectment for the premises recovered of him, and a verdict obtained in his favor, it shall be lawful for him to institute an action on the case for such damages as may have been collected from him as mesne profits in the first action, and under such action it shall be lawful for him to give in evidence the verdict obtained by him in the second action, which shall be deemed and taken to prevent the judgment obtained in the first action as operating an estoppel.

An Act to authorize the issuing, suing, and executing attachments on the Sabbath-day, in certain cases.—Approved December 20, 1834. Pam. 77.

Whereas, it sometimes happens that persons residing near the lines of this State leave the State on the Sabbath-day, and thereby place it out of the power of their creditors to stop them or their property to satisfy debts owing by them; for remedy whereof—

Attachment and bail process may be served on the Sabbath.

Provido.

235. Be it enacted, That it shall hereafter be lawful to issue and serve attachments and bail processes on the Sabbath-day, in the same manner and under the same rules, regulations, and restrictions as are now provided for the issuing and serving of the same on other days: Provided, the person or persons applying for such attachment or bail process shall, in addition to the oath heretofore required to be taken, swear that he apprehends the loss of his debt, or some part thereof, unless said attachment or bail process shall issue on the Sabbath-day.

Sec. II. All laws and parts of laws that militate against this act, are hereby repealed.

An Act to define the mode in which costs under the act entitled "An Act to revise and amend an act for ascertaining the fees of the public officers of this State, passed 18th Dec. 1792," shall be taxed and collected in future.—Approved Dec. 20, 1834. Pam. 93.

Whereas, in some circuits of this State a variety of practice, in relation to the taxation and collection of costs, has obtained under the above recited act; for the purpose of rendering the mode uniform and consistent with the design of the legislature in said enactment—

Costs not payable till after judgment.

236. Be it enacted, That from and after the passing of this act suitors shall not be required to pay the court costs, or any part thereof, at the several progressive steps or stages of their suits, as has been required by the decision of some of the courts;—but that the mode heretofore practised in other courts, viz. the taxation of the costs which plaintiffs were supposed to have paid to the entering up of judgment, in the judgment of the plaintiffs,—be, and the same is hereby declared to be the true intent and meaning of the act of 1792 upon this subject; and that the officers of courts be, and they are hereby prohibited from demanding or receiving the cost or fees which the said fees bill or the acts amendatory thereof prescribes, until after judgment, and then to be raised by the execution of plaintiffs from defendants, if enough can be collected for such purpose; if not, then by a fi fa, or ca sa, issued under the order of the court first had and obtained, out of plaintiffs.

Sec. II. All laws or parts of laws militating against any of the provisions or directions of this act are hereby repealed.

An Act to alter an act entitled an act for the better selection and drawing Grand and Petit Jurors for the several counties in this State, passed on the 7th day of December, 1805, so far as respects the counties of Floyd, Walker, Murray, Gilmer, Union, Lumpkin, Forsyth, Cass, Cherokee, Paulding and Cobb.—Approved Dec. 22, 1835. Pam. 139.

237. Sec. I. From and after the passage of this act, it shall be the duty of the justices of the inferior court, together with the clerk and sheriff of the said counties of Floyd, Walker, Murray, Gilmer, Union, Lumpkin, Forsyth, Cass, Cherokee, Paulding and Cobb, (or a majority of them,) to convene on the first Monday in January next, or in case of failure from accident or otherwise, in meeting on that day or any subsequent day that may be agreed on by a majority of them, within sixty days thereafter, and proceed to the selection of grand and petit jurors, as in the said recited act pointed out.

Juries in the new counties may be drawn within 60 days from 1st Monday in January.

238. Sec. II. It shall be the duty of the said justices, together with the clerk and sheriff aforesaid, of the counties aforesaid, to convene annually on the first Monday of January, or within sixty days thereafter, and select grand and petit jurors, as pointed out in the first section of this act and the recited act aforesaid.

Sec. III. [Repeals all contra.]

An Act to enable defendants in action at common law, to give in evidence, a partial failure of the consideration of the contracts upon which such action may be brought.—Approved Dec. 26, 1836. Pam. 157.

239. Sec. I. From and after the passage of this act, whenever any action or actions shall be commenced at common law, founded upon any contract or contracts, it shall, and may be lawful, for the defendant or defendants to such action or actions, upon the trial thereof, to give in evidence to the jury, that the consideration or considerations, upon which said contract or contracts are, or were founded, have partially failed, any thing in any law or custom to the contrary notwithstanding: Provided, that such plea of partial failure shall only be pleaded in such cases, under such circumstances, and between such parties, as would now admit and allow the plea of total failure of consideration: And provided further, that the plea contemplated by this act, shall be fully and specially pleaded at the first term of the court to which the action may be returnable, and not at any time thereafter, either at common law, or on the appeal.

Partial failure of consideration may be proved in actions at common law.

Proviso.

Proviso.

Sec. II. [Repeals all conflicting acts.]

An Act to authorize any one distributee or person interested in an estate, to institute proceedings in equity, without joining as complainants, or making respondents, other distributees residing in the jurisdiction of the court.—Approved Dec. 29, 1836. Pam. 158.

240. From and after the passage of this act, it shall, and may be Bills for account or distribution need not join all parties interested.

Proviso.

lawful, for any one distributee, or person interested in any estate, to institute his or her bill, or other proceeding in equity, to compel an account or distribution of an estate, without joining as complainants, or making respondents, the other distributees, or persons having an interest in said estate, residing within the jurisdiction of the court: Provided, however, it shall be the duty of such complainant, to state in his or her bill, or other equitable proceeding, the names of all the distributees, or persons having an interest in said estate, that the court may be enabled to ascertain the amount of the distributive share, to which such complainant is entitled, as nearly as practicable.

An Act to prevent Sheriffs and other Officers, from levying on and selling growing crops, except in certain cases.—Approved Dec. 29, 1836. Pam. 251.

Growing crops not to be sold separately by the sheriff.

Proviso.

241. Sec. I. From and immediately after the passage of this act, no sheriff or other officer, shall hereafter levy on any growing crop of corn, wheat, oats, rye, potatoes, cotton, rice, or any other crop usually raised or cultivated by the planters or farmers of this State, nor sell the same until the said crop or crops shall become matured or fit to be gathered: Provided, this act shall not prevent any of said officers from levying on and selling crops, as heretofore practiced, when the debtor or debtors shall abscond or remove from the State or county, nor from selling growing crops with land.

Sec. II. All laws, and parts of laws, militating against this act, be, and the same are hereby repealed.

An Act to compensate persons who may be compelled to attend the Superior Courts of this State as witnesses in behalf of the State, in counties other than where such person or persons may reside.—Approved Dec. 30, 1836. Pam. 278.

State's witnesses attending out of their county, to receive $2 per day and mileage.

From the county funds

Whether there be a conviction or not.

Affidavit.

Costs still to be collected from defendants.

242. Sec. I. From and after the passage of this act, that any person or persons who may be compelled, by subpœna or recognizance, to attend any of the superior courts of this State, as a witness on the part of the State, in counties other than where such person or persons reside, shall receive for each day, while he or she may be in attendance on said court, the sum of two dollars, and the like sum of two dollars, for every thirty miles, he, she, or they, may travel, in going to, and returning from said court, which said several sums shall be taxed in the bill of cost, and paid for, out of the county funds, in such county as the case may be pending, as soon as such case may be disposed of by said court.

243. Sec. II. Any person or persons, who may attend the superior courts as above directed, shall be entitled to such pay as is therein stipulated; whether there be a conviction of the defendant or not, upon his making affidavit before some judge of the superior, or justice of the inferior court, or justice of the peace, to the number of days which he, or she has been in attendance on said court, and the number of miles he or she will travel, in coming to and returning from said court, which said affidavit must be signed by the presiding judge, and countersigned by the clerk of said court, and in that case, it shall become a warrant on the county treasurer, or clerk of the inferior court of such county wherein the witness has been in attendance.

244. Sec. III. Nothing herein contained shall be so construed, as to prevent the cost being collected in the same manner as heretofore pointed out by law, from any defendant or defendants in State cases.

245. Sec. IV. So much of said cost when collected, as has been paid out by the county treasurer, or the clerk of the inferior court, to witness or witnesses who may reside without the limits of such county, shall be paid over by the sheriff or clerk of the superior court, to such county treasurer or clerk of the inferior court, as may have paid the same, and be applied to county purposes.

The following table of court terms is corrected up to Dec. 1836.

SUPERIOR COURTS.

EASTERN CIRCUIT.

Bulloch: On Thursday before the first Monday in November, and Thursday before the fourth Monday in March.

Wayne: On Friday before the second Monday in November, and Friday before the first Monday in April.

Camden: First Monday in April and second in November.

Glynn: On Thursday after the second Monday in April, and the third Monday in November.

McIntosh: Third Monday in April, and the Wednesday after the third Monday in November.

Bryan: On the first Monday in December, and the Thursday after court in Liberty county.

Liberty: Wednesday after the first Monday in December, and the Monday following the court in McIntosh.

Effingham: Second Monday in December and May.

Chatham: First Monday in January, and third Monday in June.

MIDDLE CIRCUIT.

Columbia: Second Monday in March and September.

Washington: Fourth Monday in March and September.

Montgomery: Second Monday in April, and Thursday after the first Monday in October.

Tattnall: On Thursday after the second Monday in April, and the second Monday in October.

Emanuel: Third Monday in April and October.

Scriven: Fourth Monday in April and October.

Burke: First Monday in May, and the third Monday in November.

Jefferson: Third Monday in May, and the second Monday in Nov.

Richmond: First Monday in June, and the first Monday in Jan.

NORTHERN CIRCUIT.

Taliaferro: Third Monday in January and July.

Wilkes: Third Monday in February, and fourth in July.

Madison: Second Monday in March and September.

Elbert: Third Monday in March and September.

Warren: First Monday in April, and the Tuesday after the first Monday in October.

Hancock: Second Monday in April and October.

Oglethorpe: Third Monday in April and October.

Lincoln: Fourth Monday in April and October.

WESTERN CIRCUIT.

Clark: Second Monday in February and August.

Walton: Third Monday in February and August.

Jackson: Fourth Monday in February and August.

Gwinnett: Second Monday in March and September.

Hall: Third Monday in March and September.

Franklin: Second Monday in April and October.
Habersham: Third Monday in April and October.
Rabun: Fourth Monday in April and October.

OCMULGEE CIRCUIT.

Baldwin: First Monday in May and November.
Morgan: First Monday in March and September.
Greene: Second Monday in March and September.
Putnam: Third Monday in March and September.
Wilkinson: First Monday in April, and Tuesday after the first Monday in October.
Jones: Third Monday in April and October.
Jasper: Fourth Monday in April and October.

SOUTHERN CIRCUIT.

Laurens: Second Monday in March and September.
Twiggs: Second Monday in April and October.
Pulaski: Third Monday in April and October.
Telfair: Fourth Monday in April and October.
Irwin: The Thursdays thereafter.
Appling: The first Monday in May, and the third Monday in Nov.
Ware: On the Thursdays thereafter.
Lowndes: On the Mondays thereafter.
Thomas: On the Mondays thereafter.
Decatur: On the Mondays thereafter.
Dooly: On the Mondays thereafter.

FLINT CIRCUIT.

Crawford: Third Monday in February and August.
Upson: Fourth Monday in February and August.
Pike: First Monday in March and September.
Monroe: Second Monday in March and September.
Newton: Fourth Monday in March and September.
Butts: First Monday in April, and Thursday after the first Monday in October.
Henry: Second Monday in April and October.
Houston: Fourth Monday in April and October.
Bibb: Third Monday in May and November.

COWETA CIRCUIT.

Meriwether: Fourth Monday in February and August.
Coweta: First Monday in March and September.
Fayette: Second Monday in March and September.
DeKalb: Third Monday in March and September.
Cobb: Fourth Monday in March and September.
Campbell: First Monday in April, and Tuesday after the first Monday in October.
Currol: Second Monday in April and October.
Heard: Third Monday in April and October.
Troup: Fourth Monday in April and October.

CHATTAHOOCHEE CIRCUIT.

Stewart: First Monday in February and August.
Randolph: Second Monday in February and August.
Early: Third Monday in February and August.
Baker: Fourth Monday in February and August.
Lee: On the Thursdays thereafter.
Sumter: First Monday in March and September.
Marion: Second Monday in March and September.

Talbot : Third Monday in March and September.

Harris : Second Monday in April and October.

Muscogee : Third Monday in April and October.

CHEROKEE CIRCUIT.

Paulding : Wednesday before the second Monday in February and August.

Cass : Second Monday in February and August.

Cherokee : Third Monday in February and August.

Forsyth : Fourth Monday in February and August.

Lumpkin : First Monday in March and September.

Union : Second Monday in March and September.

Gilmer : Wednesday after the second Monday in March and Sept.

Murray : Third Monday in March and September.

Walker : Fourth Monday in March and September.

Floyd : First Monday in April, and Tuesday after the first Monday in October.

Murray : Fourth Monday in March and September.

Walker : First Monday in April, and Wednesday after the first Monday in October.

Floyd : Second Monday in April and October.

Paulding : Wednesday before the second Monday in February and August.

INFERIOR COURTS.

EASTERN CIRCUIT.

Wayne : Last Monday in December and May.

Camden : First Monday in January and June.

Glynn : Second Monday in January and June.

McIntosh : Third Monday in January and June.

Bryan : Fourth Monday in January and June.

Liberty : Second Monday in January and June.

Bullock : First Monday in February and July.

Effingham : Second Monday in February and July.

Chatham : Third Monday in February and July.

MIDDLE CIRCUIT.

Columbia : Third Monday in June and December.

Washington : Fourth Monday in January and July.

Montgomery : First Monday in February and August.

Tattnall : Second Monday in February and August.

Emanuel : First Monday in January and July.

Scriven : Second Monday in January and July.

Burke : First Monday in January and July.

Jefferson : Third Monday in January and July.

Richmond : Fourth Monday in October and April.

NORTHERN CIRCUIT.

Madison : Second Monday in January and July.

Elbert : Third Monday in January and July.

Oglethorpe : Fourth Monday in January and June.

Lincoln : First Monday in February and July.

Hancock : First Monday in February, and third Monday in August.

Warren : Second Monday in February and August.

Wilkes : First Monday in May and fourth in September.

Taliaferro : Third Monday in May and November.

WESTERN CIRCUIT.

Franklin : Fourth Monday in January and July.

Rabun : First Monday in July and January.
Gwinnett : Second Monday in June and December.
Jackson : First Monday in January and July.
Clark : Fourth Monday in October and second Monday in May.
Habersham : Second Monday in July and January.
Hall : Fourth Monday in January and July.
Walton : Third Monday in May and November.

OCMULGEE CIRCUIT.

Wilkinson : Second Monday in July and January.
Jones : Fourth Monday in July and January.
Jasper : Fourth Monday in January and July.
Baldwin : First Monday in February and August.
Greene : First Tuesday in January, and second Monday in June.
Morgan : First Monday in June and December.
Putnam : Third Monday in June and December.

SOUTHERN CIRCUIT.

Twiggs : Fourth Monday in January and July.
Lowndes : Third Monday in January and first in June.
Thomas : First Monday in January and July.
Dooly : Third Monday in March and September.
Decatur : Fourth Monday in January and second in June.
Telfair : First Monday in April and second in October.
Irwin : Fourth Monday in January and first in July.
Laurens : First Monday in June and December.
Pulaski : Third Monday in January and July.
Appling : Third Monday in June and December.
Ware : Fourth Monday in June and December.

FLINT CIRCUIT.

Bibb : Second Monday in February and August.
Houston : Fourth Monday in March and September.
Butts : Second Monday in January and July.
Crawford : Third Monday in May and November.
Upson : Fourth Monday in May and November.
Pike : First Monday in June and December.
Monroe : Second Monday in June and December.
Newton : Fourth Monday in June and December.
Henry : Fourth Monday in January and July.

CHATTAHOOCHE CIRCUIT.

Stewart : Second Monday in April and October.
Randolph : Second Monday in May and November.
Early : Second Monday in January and July.
Baker : Fourth Monday in January and July.
Lee : Fourth Monday in May and November.
Sumter : First Monday in June and December.
Marion : Third Monday in May and November.
Talbot : Third Monday in June and December.
Muscogee : First Monday in June and December.
Harris : Second Monday in June and December.

COWETA CIRCUIT.

Merrithew : Fourth Monday in April and October.
Heard : Fourth Monday in May and November.
Troup : Third Monday in June and second in January.
Fayette : Third Monday in June and second in January.
DeKalb : Second Monday in July and January.

Campbell: Second Monday in June and December.

Cobb: Third Monday in June and December.

Carrol: First Monday in February and August.

Coweta: Fourth Monday in June and December.

CHEROKEE CIRCUIT.

Paulding: On the third Monday in May and November.

Cass: Fourth Monday in May and November.

Cherokee: First Monday in June and December.

Forsyth: Second Monday in June and December.

Lumpkin: Third Monday in June and December.

Union: Fourth Monday in June and December.

Gilmer: First Monday in July and January.

Murray: Second Monday in July and January.

Walker: Third Monday in July and January.

Floyd: Fourth Monday in July and January.

CITY COURTS.—AUGUSTA.

An Act to establish a Mayor's Court in the city of Augusta, and to add an additional member to the city council thereof.—Approved Dec. 19, 1817. Vol. III. 993.

1. Sec. I. From and after the first day of January next, the chief magistrate of the city of Augusta shall be known and addressed by the appellation of mayor, and not intendant of the city of Augusta. Title of mayor.

2. Sec. II. A mayor's court shall be established, and the same is hereby created and established in the city of Augusta, to go into operation after the first day of January next,—And the aforesaid mayor of the city of Augusta shall be, and he is hereby constituted judge of the said court. Mayor's court established.

An Act to amend the foregoing.—Approved December 17, 1818. Vol. III. 994.

3. Sec. I. From and after the passing of this act, the mayor's court of the city of Augusta—shall have cognizance of all causes of a civil nature, &c.—which shall be tried by a jury of twelve men, to whom shall be administered the oath prescribed by the judiciary act of 1799 for jurors in other courts, which trial shall be final;* but the judge of said court may nevertheless grant a new trial when, in his opinion, the principles of law and justice, and the rights of the case require it. And the mayor is hereby authorized and empowered, in term time or vacation, to draw and impanel jurors for the trial of such causes, who shall be resident within the jurisdiction of said court, and who shall be qualified and liable to serve as petit jurors in the superior and inferior courts of this State, and to cause the said jurors to be summoned by the city sheriff, at least five days before the sitting of the court, and to fine them for non-attendance or misconduct, not exceeding ten dollars for any one offence. No appeal.
New trials.
Drawing jurors.
Their qualifications.
How summoned.

Sec. II. [The first part of this section is superseded by subsequent acts.] But if the said court, from any cause whatever, shall fail to meet, the proceedings in said court shall not thereby be discontinued, but shall stand continued over in the same manner as if such failure had not taken place. And the jury summoned to attend such court shall stand over and be considered as the jury for the next term, and be liable to In failure of court, all causes stand continued, and also jurors.

* Appeals now allowed, see act of 1831.

Witnesses and jurors free from arrest.

Mode of instituting suits in the mayor's court.

Service.

Appearance, and answer.

Issue.

Dilatory pleas.

Default.

No trial at the first term.

Any one of several joint obligors, &c.
may be sued separately.

Affidavit for bail.

And subsequent proceedings.

attend at such succeeding term, any law, usage, or custom to the contrary notwithstanding. And all witnesses and jurors going to, attending on, and returning from said court, shall be free from arrest on any civil process.

4. Sec. III. All suits or causes, cognizable by, and which may be commenced in the mayor's court of the city of Augusta, shall be by petition to the said court; which petition shall plainly, fully, and distinctly set forth the plaintiff's charge, allegation, demand, or cause of action, and shall be signed by the plaintiff, or his, her, or their attorney; to which petition the clerk of the mayor's court shall annex a process signed by him, which process shall bear teste in the name of the mayor, as judge of said court, and shall be directed to the sheriff of the city of Augusta, requiring the defendant or defendants to appear at the court, to which the same shall be made returnable, and shall be served on the defendant or defendants, at least five days before the return thereof, by delivering a copy to such defendant or defendants, or by leaving such copy at his, her, or their most notorious place or places of residence. And all process issued and returned in any other manner than as herein directed, shall be null and void. And the defendant or defendants shall appear at the court, to which the petition and process shall be returnable, and on or before the last day of the said court, shall make his, her, or their defence or answer in writing, which shall plainly, fully, and distinctly set forth the cause of the defence, and be signed by the party making the same, or his, her, or their attorney; which said answer may contain as many several matters, not inconsistent with each other, as may be deemed necessary for the defence: provided that no person shall be permitted to deny any deed, bond, bill, single or penal, note, draft, receipt, or order, unless he, she, or they shall make affidavit of the truth of such answer at the time of filing the same. And the said petition and answer shall be sufficient to carry the cause to the jury. And no dilatory answer shall be received, unless affidavit be made of the truth thereof. And if any defendant shall fail to appear and answer as aforesaid, the court may, on motion, give judgment by default, but the cause shall nevertheless be tried by a jury at the succeeding term; and no cause cognizable in said court shall be tried at the first term.

5. Sec. IV. In all cases where a suit shall be instituted in the said court, on a bond, note, or other written obligation, subscribed by several persons, and which in its nature is joint, several, or joint and several, or upon any joint, or joint and several contract whatever, whether verbal or written, express or implied, and whether made by copartners in trade or any other persons whatever, it shall be lawful to commence suit against any one or more of the persons who have signed such instrument of writing, or who are parties to or bound by such contract, and who shall reside within the jurisdiction of said court, and a service upon any one or more of the persons against whom the action is commenced, shall be deemed a sufficient service to enable the party plaintiff to proceed with his said suit or action, against the person or persons so served, and the court may give judgment accordingly.

6. Sec. V. In all cases where bail shall be required, the party requiring bail shall make oath before the mayor, or any member of the city council, or before any one of the judges of the superior courts, the justices of the inferior courts, or justices of the peace, within this State, of the amount claimed by him, and that he has reason to apprehend the loss of said sum or some part thereof, if the defendant or defendants is or are not held to bail. And the subsequent proceedings shall conform to those prescribed in cases of bail in the superior and inferior courts, by the judiciary act of force in this State, due regard being had to the nature of the different tribunals.

7. Sec. VI. The clerk of the mayor's court shall be, and he is hereby authorized and required to issue subpoenas to compel the attendance of witnesses, upon the application of any party in a cause pending in said court, which subpoena shall be directed to the person whose attendance shall be required, when such person shall reside within the limits of the corporation of Augusta, which subpoena shall express the cause and the party at whose suit it shall be issued, and shall be served by the city sheriff or any other person, on said witness, at least one day before the court to which it shall be returnable; and the affidavit of the person serving the same, shall be sufficient evidence of such service: and witnesses thus subpoenaed shall be bound to attend till the cause in which he, she, or they shall be summoned, shall be tried, and on failure to attend, shall be subject to attachment, and also to an action at the suit of the party aggrieved by his, her, or their non-attendance; and each and every witness shall be allowed fifty cents per day for each and every day he, she, or they attend, by virtue of such subpoena, to be recovered in the manner pointed out by the laws now in force, for the recovery of the amount due witnesses for their attendance on the superior and inferior courts of this State.

Witnesses and subpoenas.

8. Sec. VII. Where any witness resides beyond the limits of the corporation of Augusta, it shall and may be lawful for either party, on giving at least three days' notice to the opposite party, or his, her, or their attorney, accompanied with a copy of the interrogatories intended to be exhibited, to obtain a commission from the clerk of the court, directed to two or more persons as commissioners, to examine all and every such witness or witnesses on such interrogatories as the parties may exhibit, and such examination shall be read at the trial on motion of either party.

Interrogatories.

Three days'
notice.

Two or more commissioners.

9. Sec. VIII. All executions shall be issued and signed by the clerk of the mayor's court, at any time after the signing of judgment by the party or his attorney; and shall bear teste in the name of the mayor as judge of said court, and shall be directed to the sheriff of the city, and may be levied upon the estate, both real and personal, of the defendant or defendants, or issue against the body of the defendant or defendants, at the option of the plaintiff, which execution shall be of full force until satisfied.* And in all cases of illegality of execution, or claims of property, levied upon by virtue of any execution issuing from the mayor's court, the like proceedings shall be had thereon, as are prescribed in cases of executions issuing from the superior and inferior courts of this State, by the judiciary act of 1799. And all sales of property levied upon, by virtue of any execution issuing from the mayor's court, shall be on the third Tuesday in each month, at the market-house in the city of Augusta, and between the hours of ten o'clock in the forenoon, and three o'clock in the afternoon of the day. And it shall be the duty of the sheriff to give at least ten days' notice in one of the public gazettes of the city of Augusta, of all sales of property executed by him, and also to advertise the same at the court-house and market-house in said city, and which advertisement shall make known the names of the parties to the execution.

Execution
may issue immediately after judgment.

Illegality and claims.

Sheriff's
sales.
Days of sale.

Advertisement.

10. Sec. IX. From and after the passing of this act, it shall and may be lawful for the mayor, or any member of the city council of the city of Augusta, to issue attachments returnable to the mayor's court in cases (within the jurisdiction of said court) where both debtor and creditor shall reside without the limits of the State of Georgia, or where

Attachments,
by whom to be issued.

In what cases.

* See act of 1828.

How directed and levied.	the debtor alone resides without those limits, or where a debtor shall be actually removing from the city of Augusta, or so absconds or conceals himself, that the ordinary process of law cannot be served upon him, in the same manner, and upon the same terms, as are prescribed for the issuing attachments returnable to the superior and inferior courts of this State; which attachment shall be directed to the sheriff of the city of Augusta, and shall be levied upon the property of the defendant, within the corporate limits of the said city, in like manner as is prescribed for the levy of attachments, returnable to the superior and inferior courts of this State; provided , that every attachment shall bear teste in the name of the mayor or member of council issuing the same, and shall be by the city sheriff publicly advertised at the door of the house in which the mayor's courts are holden, at least five days before the sitting of the court; and the proceedings under attachments in the mayor's courts shall be the same in all cases where such proceedings can be made applicable, as are prescribed by the attachment acts of force in this State, any law, usage, or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.
And advertised.
Other proceedings.
Election and qualification of the clerk.	11. Sec. X. It shall and may be lawful for, and it is hereby made the duty of the city council of Augusta, at their first regular meeting after the first day of January in each and every second year, to elect by ballot, a clerk for the mayor's court, and a sheriff for the city of Augusta, who shall take an oath, and give security as herein pointed out: that is to say, the clerk so elected, shall take the following oath, before the mayor, or any member of the city council: "I do solemnly swear or affirm, that I will truly and faithfully enter and record all the orders, decrees, judgments, and other proceedings of the mayor's court of the city of Augusta and all other matters and things which by law ought by me to be recorded, and that I will faithfully and impartially discharge and perform all the duties required of me, to the best of my understanding"—and such clerk shall enter into bond, with one or more good and sufficient security or securities, to the governor for the time being, in the sum of one thousand dollars, conditioned for the faithful discharge of the duties required of him; and the said clerk shall, by virtue of his office, be justice of the peace, so far as to administer all oaths, appertaining to the business of his office; and it shall be the duty of said clerk, to copy into a book of record, all the proceedings in said court, for which he shall be allowed the sum of ten cents for every hundred words of recording such proceedings, to be taxed in the bill of costs; and the said clerk shall also keep regular and fair minutes of all the proceedings in the said court, which shall be signed by the judge of the said court; and the city sheriff shall, in like manner, take the following oath: "I do solemnly swear (or affirm as the case may be) that I will faithfully execute all writs, warrants, precepts and processes, directed to me as sheriff of the city of Augusta, and true returns make, and in all things well and truly, and without malice or partiality, perform the duties of the office of sheriff of the city of Augusta, during my continuance in office, and take only my lawful fees;" and an oath to the same purport shall be taken by the deputy of the said sheriff, should he think proper to appoint one, which he is hereby authorized to do in like manner; and the said city sheriff shall enter into bond with two good and sufficient securities to the governor for the time being, and his successors in office, in the sum of ten thousand dollars, conditioned for the faithful performance of his duty, by himself and his deputies; and which bond the mayor or any member of the council, is authorized to take; and the said clerk and sheriff shall in every instance continue in office, until a successor shall be appointed and qualified, notwithstanding the period shall have Clerk's oath.
Bond.
Justice of the peace ex officio .
His duty in recording.
His fees.
Minutes.
Oath of sheriff and deputy.
Bond.
Clerk and sheriff shall continue in office until elapsed for which they shall have been elected; and the clerk and sheriff upon going out of office, shall turn over to their successors, all papers and process of what nature or kind soever in their possession; and the said succeeding sheriff shall be empowered and required to carry into effect any levy made by his predecessor, and shall make titles to the purchasers for all the property sold under execution, and not conveyed by his predecessor; and the same remedy may be had against the said clerk and sheriff, as is prescribed by the judiciary act against clerks and sheriffs, in the respective counties of this State.

the qualification of their successors, to whom they shall turn over all papers, &c. Sheriff shall finish the business of his predecessor.

12. Sec. XI. The clerk of the mayor's court, and the sheriff of the city of Augusta, shall be authorized to charge, demand, and receive the same fees that the clerks of the superior courts, and the sheriffs of the respective counties in this State, are by law authorized to charge, demand, and receive for the performance of similar duties; and shall have the same remedy for enforcing payment of their fees respectively as are employed by those officers respectively, any law, usage, or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

Their fees the same as other clerks and sheriffs.

An Act to amend an act establishing a mayor's court in the city of Augusta, and also the several laws incorporating said city.—Approved Dec. 9, 1822. Vol. IV. 210.

Sec. I. and II. [Superseded by subsequent acts.]

13. Sec. III. The sale day of the sheriff of said city shall be on the first Tuesday in the month; and in all cases of levy on real estate or negroes, the time of advertising and all other proceedings shall be the same as is required by law of the county sheriffs in similar cases.

Day of sheriff's sales.

14. Sec. IV. The said mayor's court shall not maintain jurisdiction of more than one case at the same term between the same parties, when such causes can be legally joined in one action, although the same may be on different contracts; but the same shall on motion be consolidated, and the defendant shall not be bound to pay any more cost than would have accrued on one action; and when on such consolidation the amount demanded shall exceed the jurisdiction of said court, as hereinbefore expressed, the plaintiff shall be non suit.

Certain causes may be consolidated.

Costs.

An Act for the better organization of the mayor's court of the city of Augusta, and for changing the name of the same.—Passed in 1826. Vol. IV. 218.

15. From and after the passing of this act, the court now known as the mayor's court of the city of Augusta, shall be called the Court of Common Pleas for the city of Augusta.

Style changed.

16. Sec. II. The judge of the said court shall be elected by the legislature immediately after the passing of this act, and shall hold his office for the term of three years, unless removed therefrom by the governor, on the address of two-thirds of both houses of the general assembly.

Judge elected by legislature.

Sec. III. All laws and parts of laws militating against this act are hereby repealed.

An Act to regulate the jurisdiction of the court of common pleas for the city of Augusta, the fees of the attorneys, clerk, and sheriff thereof, and for diminishing the number of its terms from twelve to four during the year; and for other purposes.—Approved Dec. 19, 1828. Vol. IV. 224.

17. From and after the passage of this act, the court of common

Jurisdiction
of the court.

pleas for the city of Augusta shall have jurisdiction over any suit or action ex contractu, wherein the principal debt amounts to the sum of two hundred and fifty dollars, exclusive of interest ; and in any suit or action ex delicto, wherein the damages claimed do not exceed the sum of two hundred and fifty dollars, but not in any suit or action over which justices of the peace have hitherto had jurisdiction.*

Sec. II. [Fixing the court terms—superseded.]

Attorneys'
tax-fee.

18. Sec. III. The attorneys practising in said court shall receive as a tax-fee on all suits brought before said court, and perfected to judgment, the sum of three dollars ; and on all suits brought and settled before judgment, the sum of two dollars.

Sheriff's
fee.

19. The clerk and sheriff of the court aforesaid shall have and receive but two-thirds of the fees heretofore allowed to each respectively by law, and the practice of said court to be charged as costs against the suiters in said court.

Clerk to collect the Judge's fee.

20. Sec. IV. It shall be the duty of the clerk of said court, upon the institution of any suit, to collect and receive from the plaintiff the fee which is allowed by law to the judge of said court, and required to be advanced at the institution of said suit.

The lien of judgments defined.
Executions.

21. Sec. V. All judgments obtained in said court shall have a lien on all property belonging to defendant throughout the State, and all executions shall be directed to the city sheriff, and all and singular the sheriffs of the State of Georgia, and may be levied on property throughout the said State ; Provided, that the city sheriff shall levy all executions on property within the limits of the corporation.

The manner of suing the clerk and sheriff in said court prescribed, &c.

22. Sec. VI. The sheriff and clerk of said court shall be liable to be sued in said court, in the same names in which other parties are made defendants ; and when the clerk of said court shall be defendant in any suit or action, it shall be the duty of said clerk to copy the petition upon which said suit is founded, and annex a process thereto, which shall be signed by the judge of said court, and shall be served in the same manner as in other cases ; and it shall be the duty of the clerk aforesaid to make out final process in any case in which he may be interested, which shall be signed by the judge of said court, and executed as in all other cases ; and when the sheriff of the court aforesaid shall be defendant in any suit brought before the court aforesaid, it shall and may be lawful for the marshal of the city, or any one of the city constables, to effect service on said city sheriff, and such service shall be deemed good and valid ; and it shall moreover be lawful for the marshal, or any city constable, to execute all processes against the sheriff, and the proceedings thereon shall be the same as in other courts.

Attachments, evidence, depositions.

23. Sec. VII. All laws regulating attachments in relation to evidence and the taking of depositions by interrogatories, in force in the superior courts of this State, shall be of force in the city court.

Sec. VIII. All laws or parts of laws repugnant to the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

An Act to amend the several acts respecting the court of common pleas of the city of Augusta.—Approved Dec. 21, 1829. Vol. IV. 226.

Jurisdiction of the court of common pleas of the city of Augusta prescribed.

24. From and after the passage of this act, the court of common pleas for the city of Augusta, shall have jurisdiction in all civil cases (except such as involve title to real estate, or that may fall within a magistrate's jurisdiction), where the sum claimed, or the demands of the plaintiff, shall not exceed the sum of three hundred dollars, exclusive of interest.*

* As to jurisdiction, see Act of 1836.

25. Sec. II. The judge of the said court of common pleas shall, in the absence of the judge of the superior, have concurrent jurisdiction with the justices of the inferior court in all matters of habeas corpus, and shall also have full power and authority to issue warrants upon criminal charges, to examine persons apprehended under said warrants, and to commit, discharge, or admit to bail in the same manner that a justice of the peace may now do; Provided, that the offence charged, and upon which the said judge may issue his warrant, hath been committed, or that the same is alleged to have been committed in the said city of Augusta. Concurrent jurisdiction with inf. court in habeas corpus. Proviso.

26. Sec. III. The judge of the said court of common pleas, or any member of the city council, shall have full power and authority to issue attachments, which shall be returnable to the said court, and within the jurisdictional amount of the same, in all those cases where a judge or other officer may now, according to law, issue attachments.† Issue of attachments.

27. Sec. IV. In all cases brought in the said court where the judge thereof shall be a party or interested therein, it shall be the duty of a justice of the inferior court of Richmond county to preside at the trial of the same. When judge is interested.

28. Sec. V. All actions commenced in said court for the recovery of rent, or arrear, shall be tried at the first term, unless good cause be shown for a continuance; and judgment shall be given upon all writs of scire facias against bail at the term of said court to which they may be returnable, unless sufficient cause be shown for a continuance.* Rent cases.

29. Sec. VI. In all cases where a suit shall be instituted in the said court, on any open account, bond, note, or other obligation in writing, against two or more persons, and any of the defendants in said suit shall reside out of the city of Augusta, the clerk of said court shall make out an original petition and process, and a copy or copies thereof for each county in which the defendant or defendants may reside; and it shall be the duty of the plaintiff, or his attorney, to deliver the said original and copy to the sheriff of the county in which the defendant or defendants may reside, whose duty it shall be to serve the same, and to make due return thereof to the said court, and the plaintiff shall then proceed as in other cases; provided, that at least one of the defendants reside in said city, and be served with process. Where more defendants than one, and one resides out of Augusta, how process shall be served. Proviso.

Sec. VII. [Superseded.]

30. Sec. VIII. Any party against whom a judgment may be entered, may stay the levy of execution for the space of sixty days, on payment of all costs, and giving good and sufficient security within four days after judgment for the payment of the debt so recovered, and all future costs which may accrue therein; and if such party shall fail to pay the same agreeably thereto, execution may issue against such party and the security, without any other proceeding thereon. Stay of execution.

Sec. IX. Any law or parts of laws militating against the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

An Act to amend an act, entitled an act, to amend the several acts respecting the court of common pleas of the city of Augusta.—Approved Dec. 21, 1830. Pam. 53.

31. All suits, instituted in the court of common pleas, of the city of Augusta, shall in future be confined to party defendants, who reside at Defendant must live in Augusta.

* But see Act of 1836.

† See Attachments, Sec. 27.

the time of commencing suit within the corporate limits of the city of Augusta.

Sec. II. Any law, or parts of laws militating against this act are hereby repealed.

An Act to amend the several acts regulating the courts of common pleas, for the city of Augusta.—Approved Dec. 26th, 1831. Pam. 93.

Judgment by default. 32. From and after the passing of this act, in all cases brought in said court, wherein no plea shall be filed, the court shall award judgment upon proof of the plaintiff's demand.*

Appeals. 33. From and after the passing of this act, in case either party shall be dissatisfied with any verdict rendered in any cause in said court, an appeal shall be allowed to such party, upon compliance with the law now of force regulating appeals; but the said appeal shall not be transmitted to the superior court as heretofore, but shall be tried as is hereinafter directed.

Special jurors, how drawn, 34. Immediately after the passing of this act, and every second term thereafter, it shall be the duty of the judges of said court, with the aid of the clerk and sheriff of said court, to select from the list of tax returns made to the city council of Augusta, fit and proper persons to serve as special jurors in said court, who shall reside in said city, and it shall be the duty of the clerk of said court, to make out tickets with the names of the persons so selected, which tickets shall be put in a box to be provided by the clerk, which box shall have two apartments, marked number one and two, and the clerk shall immediately after receiving such list fairly enter the same in a book to be provided by him for that purpose, which said box shall be locked and sealed up by the judge and placed in the care of the clerk, and the key in the care of the sheriff, and no jury shall be drawn and empanelled, but in the presence of the judge in open court, and it shall be the duty of the judge in open court at each time, to unlock and break the seal, and cause to be drawn out of the apartment of the said box marked number one, twenty-three names to serve as special jurors at the next term of said court, which names so drawn out, shall after an account is taken of them at each time of drawing, be deposited in the other apartment of such box marked number two: and when all the names shall be drawn out of the apartment number one as aforesaid, they shall commence drawing from number two and placing in number one, and so on alternately.

summoned, 35. The twenty-three persons whose names shall be drawn as aforesaid, shall be summoned in the same manner as petty jurors now are in said court, and in case of failure of any of them to attend, each of them so failing shall be fined in a sum not exceeding twenty dollars.

and struck. 36. When any appeal cause in said court, shall be called for trial, it shall be the duty of the clerk to furnish list of the special jurors in attendance, and a jury of twelve shall be struck in the same way and manner as is now required by law in the superior courts; and in case a sufficient number of special jurors should not attend, the court shall have power to attach and bring in those who are in default or to summon tales jurors or both. And on all special jury trials in said court, the jury shall have the same power to assess damages, as special juries have in the superior court, and shall be sworn; "well and truly to try the causes submitted to them, and true verdicts to give according to law and evidence."

Damages.

* And see Act of 1836.

37. When any application shall be made to said court by any insolvent debtor or debtors, for the benefit of the act for the relief of honest debtors; and a suggestion of fraud or concealment or both, shall be made by the creditor or creditors of said debtor or debtors, the said suggestion shall be tried before the special jury. Insolvencies. Issue of fraud or not.

38. In all appeal causes in said court, the same costs shall be taxed as are taxed in the superior court in such cases; and all the expenses of furnishing record books, dockets, fire wood for clerk's office, and stationary for the use of said court, shall be paid out of the money that may be collected for jury fines, and the balance remaining at each term after paying said expenses, shall be paid to the city council of Augusta. Appeal costs. Jury fines.

39. Whenever bail shall be required in any case about to be instituted in said court, it shall be lawful and sufficient to serve the defendant with a process and copy of the affidavit as in cases of bail pending the action, and at the term to which the said process is returnable, the plaintiff shall file his declaration, and the subsequent proceedings shall be as in other cases; and whenever such process with a copy of the affidavit annexed and a copy or copies of such process and affidavit, shall be placed in the hands of the sheriff of said court, it shall be the duty of said sheriff to arrest the defendant or defendants, to serve him, her or them, with a copy or copies of said process and affidavit, and to deal with him, her or them, as is now required by the laws of force in this State, regulating cases where bail is required. Bail, affidavit and subsequent proceedings.

40. In the absence of the judge of said court by indisposition or otherwise, it shall be the duty of the clerk or sheriff of said court to open and adjourn the same from day to day, as circumstances may require. Clerk may open and adjourn.

All laws and parts of laws militating against this act, are hereby repealed.

An Act to give jurisdiction to the court of common pleas of Augusta, of certain cases of insolvent debtors, and to alter sessions of said court.—Approved Dec. 24, 1832. Pam. 115.

41. The judge of the court of common pleas of the city of Augusta, shall have concurrent jurisdiction, with the judges of the superior courts and justices of the inferior court, in all cases where any debtor shall be arrested and committed to jail in Richmond county, under mesne process, or under execution from any of the courts of this State; and when any application shall be made by any such debtor to the judge of the court of common pleas, for the benefit of the insolvent laws, the same proceedings shall be had in said court of common pleas, as is now required by law, when such application is made to the judges of the superior courts or justices of the inferior court. Concurrent jurisdiction with sup. or inf. court in certain insolvent cases.

42. The sessions of said court, shall hereafter be held in each and every year, on the second Monday in February; on the second Monday in April; on the fourth Monday in May; on the fourth Monday in July; on the second Monday in October; and on the second Monday in December.* Court terms.

All laws and parts of laws militating against this act, be and the same are hereby repealed.

An Act to amend the several acts in relation to the court of common pleas of Augusta.—Approved Dec. 22, 1834. Pam. 92.

43. From and after the passing of this act the following fees shall Court fees.

* Altered; see Act of 1836.

be collected by the clerk of said court, of the persons and in the manner that may be pointed out by rule or order of said court, and shall be taxed in the bill of costs in the cases in which they are paid, viz.—On all suits brought in said court where plaintiff's demand shall not exceed one hundred dollars, the sum of two dollars shall be taxed; on all suits where the plaintiff's demand shall exceed one hundred, and not exceed two hundred dollars, the sum of three dollars shall be taxed; and on all suits where the plaintiff's demand shall exceed two hundred dollars, the sum of four dollars shall be taxed; and on each claim case, on each traverse of an answer to a summons in garnishment, on each appeal cause, and on each suggestion of fraud (where any debtor shall apply for the benefit of the insolvent laws), the sum of three dollars shall be taxed: which fees shall be paid by the clerk to the judge of said court* (as the compensation of the judge for the discharge of the duties of his office), at such time or times as said court may by rule or order direct; and on failure to pay the same, the clerk may be attached as for a contempt, and the same may be recovered in an action upon the bond given by the clerk, against him and his securities.

For the judge's compensation.

Garnishment.

44. Sec. II. Said court shall have jurisdiction in all cases in garnishment, as well when the debt of the garnishee to the defendant shall exceed, as when it shall fall short of, the sum of three hundred dollars.†

De bene esse and duces
tecum.

45. Sec. III. All laws of force in the superior courts of this State in relation to the taking of evidence by interrogatories under commission or de bene esse, and in relation to subpoenas duces tecum, shall be of force in the court of common pleas of Augusta.

An Act to amend the act incorporating the city of Augusta, and the several acts amendatory thereof.—Approved Dec. 24th, 1835. Pam. 30.

City council may bind over offenders to the
sup. court.

Sec. IV. From and after the passing of this act, when any person shall be summoned and shall appear before the city council to answer for a violation of the city ordinances, and upon an investigation of the charge it shall appear to the city council that such individual has committed an offence punishable by the laws of this State, it shall be the duty of the city council to bind over him or her, with good and sufficient security, to appear at the next term of the superior court of Richmond county to answer for such offence, and in case such offender shall refuse or be unable to give security, the city council may commit him or her to jail, or discharge him or her on his or her own recognizance, at the discretion of the said city council.

Vacancies.

Sec. V. When any vacancy shall hereafter happen in the office of the clerk or sheriff of the court of common pleas of Augusta, by death, resignation or otherwise, the city council shall proceed to fill such vacancy as soon as practicable; and until the same is filled, the marshal of the city shall be competent and it shall be his duty to serve any process issued from or returnable to said court, directed to the sheriff of said city.

Marshal may act as sheriff pro hoc vice.

An Act to amend the several acts in relation to the city of Augusta, and the court of common pleas of said city.—Approved Dec. 30, 1836. Pam. 116.

[The first and second sections relate to the city council of Augusta.]

46. Sec. III. From and after the first day of January next, the

* Now payable to the city council. See Act of 1836, Sec. IX.

† The general act of 1822 (see Attachment, Sec. 27) is extended by its sixth section to all city courts.

court of common pleas of said city, shall have jurisdiction of all cases where the defendants reside in said city, in which the debt, (exclusive of interest,) or damages claimed, shall be above the jurisdiction of a justice's court, and shall not exceed the sum of five hundred dollars; and of all claim causes, where personal property is levied on under executions from said court. Jurisdiction of the court.

Sec. IV. The judge of said court, or the mayor, or any member of the council of said city, shall be authorized to issue warrants directed to the sheriff of said city, authorizing him to distrain for rent in arrear: May issue warrants of distress.
Provided, the sum claimed be within the jurisdiction of said court, and all subsequent proceedings shall be the same in said court, as if the said warrants had been issued by a judge of the superior, or justices of the inferior court.

Sec. V. The sessions of said court, shall, after the first of January next, be quarterly; namely, on the second Monday of February, May, August, and November, in each year, and that, in all cases where the defendants shall fail to plead, judgment may be entered by the court at the first term, upon proof of the plaintiff's claim or demand, but the defendant shall be allowed an appeal from such judgment within the time, and in the manner now prescribed by law. Court terms.
Judgment by default.

Sec. VI. All mortgages upon personal property, for an amount within the jurisdiction of said court, may be foreclosed in the said court, in the same way and manner, as in the superior or inferior court, and all subsequent proceedings thereon, shall be in said court, and such as are prescribed by the law now of force. Foreclosure of mortgages.

Sec. VII. In all cases of the return of any distress warrant or mortgage execution, to said court, for further proceedings, the same fee shall be paid by the plaintiff, as in other cases of like amount. Sheriff's fees in distress or foreclosure.

Sec. VIII. All suits in said court shall be commenced at least ten days before the time to which they are returnable, and the process shall be served on the defendants at least eight days before the session of said court. Commencement of suit and service of process.

Sec. IX. From and after the first day of January next, the said city council shall pay to the judge of the court of common pleas, a salary, annually, of one thousand dollars, in payments of two hundred and fifty dollars each, immediately after each of the sessions of the said court, limited and appointed in this act, and that the clerk of said court shall pay over to the said city council immediately after each session, all fees which the judge of said court is now allowed by law. Judge's salary.

[The three remaining sections relate to the city council.]

CITY COURTS.—SAVANNAH.

An Act for the organization of a court of Common Pleas, and of Oyer and Terminer, for the city of Savannah, and for repealing the Civil Jurisdiction given by the Laws of this State to the Mayor and Aldermen, or to the Mayor of said City.—Approved Dec. 18, 1819. Vol. III. 387.

47. Sec. I. There shall be organized in the city of Savannah, on the last Monday in October next, a court of record to be styled the court of Common Pleas and Oyer and Terminer, for the city of Savannah, which said court shall have cognizance of civil cases, in assumpsit, debt, covenant, trover, and of actions on the case when the damages or cause of action shall not exceed the sum of two hundred nor shall be less than thirty dollars, and the said court shall have criminal jurisdiction of all minor offences committed within the limits Style of the court.
Civil jurisdiction from $30 to $200.
Criminal jurisdiction.

of the city of Savannah, and which do not subject offenders to confinement in the penitentiary.

47. Sec. II. The judge of said court shall be elected by the legislature immediately after the passing of this act, and shall hold his office for the term of three years, unless removed therefrom by the governor on the address of two-thirds of both houses of the general assembly for that purpose, and the said judge shall have power and authority to hear and determine all civil causes of which the said court has jurisdiction, and to give judgment and award execution thereon: Provided always, that either party in any such cause shall be entitled to a trial by jury upon entering a demand therefor in writing on the docket of the said court, before the opening of the court on the first day of the term to which the said cause is returnable, and upon giving security for the payment of the eventual condemnation money and costs, as upon the entry of appeals under the judicial statute of this State.

48. Sec. III. The said court is empowered to compel the production of books, papers and writings, in the possession of any party to a suit in said court, containing evidence pertinent to the case in question, conformably to the VIth section of the judicial statute of this State.

49. Sec. IV. The process in civil suits in said court shall be conformable to the VIIIth section of the judicial statute of this State, excepting that the process to all suits in said court shall be annexed by the clerk of the court, and served by the sheriff of the same, ten days before the return thereof; and for conducting proceedings in said court, the provisions contained in the IXth section of the judicial statute shall be in force to carry to trial any suit in said court, according to the mode prescribed in the second section of this act.*

50. Sec. V. When any defendant shall have been served with process, he shall file his answer in writing in the terms of the judicial statute, on or before the opening of the court at the term to which the same is returnable; if the defendant shall fail to file his answer in manner aforesaid, the judge of the said court shall note the default on the docket, and shall in such case and in all cases which are not docketed for trial by a jury in terms of the proviso of the first section of this act, proceed to give judgment and award execution thereon at the same term, upon due proof of the plaintiff's claim; but in all cases which are so docketed, an imparlance shall be allowed until the next succeeding term.

51. Sec. VI. In all cases in said court in which bail is required, that the bail and proceedings thereon shall be conformable to the laws of this State, or to such statutes upon the same subject, as may be hereafter enacted by the general assembly.

52. Sec. VII. The XIXth, XXth, XXIst, and XXIIId sections of the judicial statute of this State, shall be in force in the said court, excepting that writs of subpoena shall be issued by the clerk of said court, and served by the sheriff of the same, a city constable, or some private person; and that the provisions of the act passed the 16th December, 1811,† to alter and amend the XXIIId section of the judiciary law of this State, passed the 16th of February, 1799, shall likewise be of full force in said court, excepting that it shall not be necessary to give more than three days' notice of an intention to take testimony by commission, which commission it shall be the duty of the clerk of said court to issue upon application therefor.

* As to garnishments, see the general act of 1822 (title, Attachments, Sec. 27.) which, by the VIth Sec. is extended to all city courts.

† See Vol. III. 380.

53. Sec. VIII. The XXIVth, XXVth, XXVIIIth, XXIXth, XXXth, XXXIst, and XXXIId sections of the judicial statute of this State, shall be in full force in said court, excepting that all claims to property made under the provisions of the XXXIId section aforementioned, shall be returned by the sheriff of the court to the clerk of the superior court of Chatham county, in ten days after the institution of such claim, to be decided upon by a jury at the ensuing term of the superior court of said county.

Set off.
Negotiable
paper.
Unliquidated demands.
Attorneys.
Arbitration.
Executions.
Illegality, and claims.

54. Sec. IX. No confession of judgment shall be entered up in said court, unless the defendant resides within the city of Savannah, and unless the cause has been regularly sued out and docketed, nor until such cause is called in order by the court for trial.

Confession of judgment.

55. Sec. X. All sales of property taken under execution by the sheriffs of said court, shall be made conformably to the laws of the State regulating sheriffs' sales.

Sheriffs'
sales.

56. Sec. XI. In all cases in which a verdict shall be rendered in said court, the party in whose favor it may be, shall be allowed to enter and sign judgment thereon, at any time within three days after the adjournment of the court, at the clerk's office, for the amount of such verdict and all legal costs, and no execution shall issue on such verdict until such judgment shall be entered by the party or his attorney.

Entry of judgment in 3 days after verdict.

57. Sec. XII. The clerk and sheriff hitherto of the mayor's court of Savannah, shall be the clerk and sheriff of the court created by this act, but such clerk and sheriff shall continue to perform all the duties required of them by the ordinances of the mayor and aldermen of the city of Savannah, and the said clerk and sheriff are hereby declared to be entitled to the same fees as are by law allowed to the clerks and sheriffs of the superior and inferior courts of this State.

Clerks and sheriffs.

Fees.

58. Sec. XIII. The recorder of the city of Savannah shall, in the event of the absence of the solicitor general of the district, prosecute all delinquents for crimes and offences cognizable by said court, and the said recorder, in all criminal prosecutions conducted by him, shall be entitled to receive the same fees as by law are allowed to the solicitors general of the State, reserving to the solicitor general of the district the right to conduct such prosecutions, and to receive the same fees as allowed by law in the superior courts of this State.

The recorder may act for the solicitor in his absence.

The fees.

59. Sec. XIV. The clerk of said court shall copy into a book of record to be provided by the mayor and aldermen of Savannah, all the proceedings in all the civil cases in said court, which entry of record shall be made within twenty days after the determination of any cause, and the clerk shall be allowed ten cents for every hundred words of recording such proceedings, to be taxed in the bill of cost; and the said clerk shall keep from day to day, regular minutes of the proceedings of said court, which shall be signed by the judge.

The clerk shall keep a record and minutes.

Fees of recording.

60. Sec. XV. All the duties and liabilities attached to the clerks of the superior and inferior courts, and to the sheriffs of the counties, are hereby attached to the clerk and sheriff of this court, and the judge of said court is empowered to exercise the same authority over the clerk and sheriff, as is legally exercised by the judges of the superior courts over the clerks of the superior courts, and over the sheriffs of the counties.

Clerk and sheriff, their duties and liabilities, the same as other clerks and sheriffs.

61. Sec. XVI. All persons residing in the city of Savannah, and who are liable to serve as jurors in the superior court, shall be liable to serve as jurors in this court; and it is hereby declared to be the duty of the said court to conform to the laws in force in this State, pointing out the mode of selecting, drawing and summoning jurors for

Juries,

who liable to serve.

Defendants. the superior court; and the XLIVth section of the judicial statute is hereby declared to be in full force in said court; and the oath to be administered to all juries in said court upon the trial of civil causes, shall be the same as is by law administered to the petit jurors in the superior courts.

Jurors' oath.

Drawing jurors. 62. Sec. XVII. The judge of the said court shall, previous to the adjournment of either of the terms of the same, draw, conformably to the laws of this State, twenty-four persons to serve as an inquest or grand jury for the said court and city, and twenty-four persons for the trial of all civil and criminal cases of which the said court has jurisdiction, but no inquest or grand jury for the said court shall consist of less than eighteen persons; though twelve persons of any grand jury may find a bill or make a presentment; and it is hereby declared, that the mode of proceeding and trial in all criminal cases in said court, shall be the same as is pursued in the superior courts in this State; and that the oath to be administered to jurors and witnesses upon the trial of criminal cases, shall be the same as is administered to jurors and witnesses in criminal cases in the superior courts.

Grand jury.

Petit jury.

Criminal proceedings.

Oaths of the clerk and sheriff. 63. Sec. XVIII. The clerk and sheriff of the court created by this act, shall respectively take the oath required by the judicial statute of this State, to be taken by the clerks of the superior and inferior courts, and by the sheriffs of the counties, excepting that in the clerk's oath, the following words shall be substituted, (after the words "and other proceedings,")—"of the court of common pleas and of oyer and terminer for the city of Savannah," and in the sheriff's oath the same style of the court shall be inserted after the words "as sheriff," and the said oaths the judge of the said court or the mayor of the city of Savannah, is hereby empowered to administer.

Sec. XIX. [Repealed.]

Judge's salary. 64. Sec. XX. The salary to be allowed the judge of the said court shall be thirteen hundred * dollars, to be paid quarterly by the treasurer of the city of Savannah, out of the funds of the corporation of said city; and the said judge, before he enters upon the duties of his office, shall take the following oath or affirmation, either before the governor or before commissioners by him for that purpose appointed, to wit: "I do solemnly swear, or affirm, that I will administer justice without respect to persons, and do equal right to the poor and to the rich, and that I will faithfully and impartially discharge and perform the duties incumbent upon me as judge of the court of common pleas and of oyer and terminer for the city of Savannah, according to the best of my abilities and understanding, and agreeably to the constitution of this State and the constitution of the United States—so help me God."

His oath.

Attorney's tax fee. 65. Sec. XXI. The attorney's fee in each cause brought in said court, shall be one half of the fee by law allowed upon cases commenced and tried in the superior courts, and upon all cases brought in the said court, there shall be assessed the sum of three dollars, to be paid upon the institution of the same, to the clerk of the court, who shall make quarterly returns of the fees so received by him, and pay over the amount to the treasurer of the city of Savannah, under the penalty of five hundred dollars, to be enforced by attachment against the clerk as for a contempt.

City tax fee.

Certiorari. 66. Sec. XXII. When either party to a cause in said court shall take exceptions to any proceedings in a suit affecting the real merits of the same, it shall be the duty of the said judge, to cause to be made and filed of record in said court, a just and true statement of the facts relating thereto, and of all legal points arising therein, and the said party, after a full compliance with the law of the State, regulating the granting of certiorari, may apply to the judge of the eastern district for a writ of certiorari, who shall issue the same if he shall deem the exceptions taken to be sufficient.

* One thousand, see Sec. 60.

67. Sec. XXIII. All suits and other processes which have been instituted or ordered in the mayor's court of Savannah, and which shall remain undecided, and unexecuted on the last Monday in October next, shall be transferred to the court created by this act; and it shall be the duty of the court to proceed to the determination and trial of all such suits, conformably to the provisions of this act; and the records of the said mayor's court are hereby declared to be a part of the records of the court created by this act; and the clerk of this court shall, upon motion first made to the court for that purpose, issue execution upon all judgments which have been or may be obtained in the said mayor's court.

This court to proceed in cases which originated in the mayor's court.

Records of the mayor's court.

An Act to repeal the nineteenth section of an act, entitled "An act for the organization of a Court of Common Pleas and Oyer and Terminer for the City of Savannah; and for repealing the civil jurisdiction given by the laws of this State to the Mayor and Aldermen, or to the Mayor of said City;" to prescribe the terms at which the said Court shall hereafter be held; and to compel the attendance at said terms of the Constables drawn by the Mayor and Aldermen of said City.—Approved Nov. 30, 1821. Vol. IV. 205.

68. Sec. I. The nineteenth section of the said act for the organization of a court of common pleas and of oyer and terminer for the city of Savannah, be, and the same is hereby repealed; and that there shall be hereafter the following terms of the said court in each year, to wit: on the third Monday in October, on the second Monday in December, on the fourth Monday in January, on the second Monday in March, on the fourth Monday in April, on the second Monday in June, on the second Monday in July; and that all suits, writs, and processes which have been instituted heretofore, and made returnable to the terms of the court as they have been heretofore held, and which after the passing of this act shall remain undecided and unexecuted, shall be acted upon at the terms of the said court hereafter to be held according to the provisions of this act.

The 19th sec. of the recited act repealed.

Terms of holding the court of common pleas, &c. in the city of Savannah.

69. Sec. II. Such persons as have been, or may hereafter be drawn or chosen by the mayor and aldermen of the city of Savannah as constables for said city, shall be compelled to attend the terms of said court, to execute the orders and processes of said court; and on failure of such attendance, after having been required to do so by the sheriff of the said court, that the judge of said court is hereby authorized and empowered to proceed against any defaulter by an attachment for contempt.

Persons chosen as constables bound to attend the terms of said court.

An Act to authorize the Stay of Executions to be issued on Judgments obtained in the Court of Common Pleas and Oyer and Terminer for the City of Savannah, by Defendants, on entering Security and Payment of Costs, for sixty days.—Approved Dec. 19, 1822. Vol. IV. 210.

70. From and after the passing of this act, it shall and may be lawful for defendant or defendants, against whom judgments may be obtained and entered in the court of common pleas and oyer and

Stay of execution authorized in the court of comm. pleas andoyer and terminer for the city of Savannah.

Cost to be paid and security given.

terminer for the city of Savannah, upon the payment of the costs of said judgments, and entering into good and sufficient security before the clerk of said court, within four days after the rendition and entering of the judgment aforesaid, for the payment of the judgment, interest, and all future costs to accrue thereon, shall be entitled to a stay of execution or executions for sixty days; and if such party or parties shall not pay the same agreeable thereto, then and in such case execution may issue against him or them, and their security or securities, without any other proceeding thereon.

Sec. II. All laws or parts of laws militating against this act are hereby repealed.

An Act to authorize the Judge of the Court of Common Pleas and Oyer and Terminer for the city of Savannah to hold special or extraordinary courts for the summary trial of causes therein enumerated, and to empower the Mayor of the city of Savannah, also to hold such special or extraordinary courts, and to regulate Seamen or Mariners, and to prevent them from being harbored or running in debt.—Approved Dec. 26, 1831. Pam. 96.

Whereas, masters and commanders of vessels, trading to the city of Savannah, are often greatly distressed by the neglect or desertion of their seamen, which is in general occasioned by the practices of keepers of taverns and tippling houses, and ill-disposed persons, to the great detriment and hindrance of the trade of said city: And whereas, the provincial act of 1766, is found to be inoperative for the want of a court of summary jurisdiction; for remedy whereof,

Special courts for cases of seamen.

71. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That from and after the passing of this act, it shall and may be lawful for the judge of the court of common pleas and oyer and terminer for the city of Savannah, and also for the mayor of the city of Savannah, upon the petition made to either of them by any ship master, supercargo, owner or consignee of any vessel, or any articulated seamen, who shall have any dispute or difference with any person touching any contract, agreement, sale, promise, debt or demand whatsoever, or shall be charged with any assault or battery; or trespass to the person; not punishable with death or imprisonment in the penitentiary, setting forth [in] such petition the nature of his, her or their case, and at the same time making oath that he, she or they cannot, without great inconvenience and damage to him, her or them wait the determination of such matter in difference, or the trial of such charge, by the ordinary and usual course of proceeding in the courts of the State; to order, and the said judge or the said mayor, is hereby required and directed to order and appoint a special or extraordinary court, to be held within forty-eight hours after the grant of such order for the trial of any such cause, matter in difference, charge or trespass.

On 12 hours' notice, the judge shall determine summarily.

72. Sec. II. At the time and place which the said judge or mayor shall appoint, the parties being duly notified by twelve hours' previous notice of such time and place, shall attend personally, or by attorney, before the said judge or mayor, and the said judge or mayor, shall then hear the parties, and shall in a summary manner proceed to judge and determine such cause, and shall forthwith by the usual process of said court, execute the judgment of said court in such cause, unless exceptions to such judgment shall be taken by either party on the pronouncing said judgment—and if either party shall so except to any such judgment, it shall be his duty forthwith to apply to the judge of the superior court of the eastern district for a certiorari founded on Exceptions.

Certiorari
from sup.
court super-sedes.

such exception, which if allowed by the judge of said district within twenty-four hours after the rendition of such judgment, shall be a supersedeas thereof—and in case of the absence of the judge of said district, then time shall be allowed to the party making such exception, until the return of said judge, the said party giving good bond and security to the other party in the sum of $200, conditioned to abide the final decision of the cause.

Bond and security.

73. Sec. III. The said judge or mayor shall at such special or extraordinary courts, have full power to try each cause in which captains or commanders of vessels or articulated seamen are concerned as parties; in the most summary and speedy manner, and to compel the attendance of witnesses by the most summary process that can be devised, and that no more delay shall occur in the trial of such causes than such as are indispensable to the due administration of justice.

Trials to be speedy.

Coercion of witnesses.

74. Sec. IV. And for the purpose of avoiding vexatious arrests and fraudulent detention of articulated seamen, be it further enacted that it shall not be lawful for any keeper of a tavern or tippling house, or any other person, when an articulated seaman shall have been committed to jail by his captain, owner or consignee, to lodge a detainer under the pretence of civil process founded on a debt—but that in such case, when an articulated seaman [or seamen] shall have been committed to jail by any captain, owner or consignee of a vessel, it shall be the duty of the jailer to surrender such seaman upon the requisition of such captain, owner or consignee so committing him, notwithstanding any detainer which may or shall have been lodged against such seaman founded on civil process.

Seamen not to be kept in jail by detainer.

75. Sec. V. It shall not be lawful for any sheriff, constable or other officer, to arrest any articulated seaman on civil process within twenty-four hours next immediately before the time which shall have been designated by advertisement for the sailing of such vessel, or after the lapse of such time, if such vessel shall have been detained beyond that time by adverse winds or other causes—and in case of any such arrest within such time, the said judge or mayor shall have full power and authority to discharge such seamen instantly on the application of the captain, owner, or consignee, showing that such arrest was made after the time in this section prohibited, and further, that the officer making such arrest shall be punishable by indictment in the said court, and on conviction, shall be sentenced by the said court to a fine not exceeding $100.

Seamen not to be arrested within 24 hours of sailing.

76. Sec. VI. The provincial act of assembly, entitled "An Act to punish seamen or mariners neglecting or deserting their duty on board their respective ships or vessels, and for preventing seamen and mariners from being harbored or running in debt," passed sixth March, 1766, shall be, and is hereby declared to be, in full force, and that the said judge or the said mayor shall in the summary manner aforesaid, exercise all the powers, jurisdiction and authority by that act vested in justices of the peace, and that the said judge or mayor shall be and hereby is fully empowered to carry into effect the provisions of that act as fully and to all intents and purposes, as justices of the peace could have done immediately after the passage of said act.

Act of 1766 in full force.

Mayor same power as justices of peace therein.

77. Sec. VII. If any articulated seamen shall after the passage of this act, be arrested under civil or criminal process, issued by any justice of the peace or justice of the inferior court, the captain, owner or consignee of the vessel, to which such seaman shall be under articles at the time of such arrest, shall be entitled to apply to the said judge or mayor for a summary hearing and determination of such cause of arrest in the manner in the first and second sections of this act pre-

Arrests of seamen to be immediately tried by judge or mayor.

scribed, and the said judge or mayor shall have full power and authority to take jurisdiction and cognisance of such cause, and finally to decide the same; and it shall be the duty of the officer making such arrest and of the justice from whom the process emanated, on the requisition of the said judge or mayor, to transmit to the said judge or mayor all documents and papers in relation thereto.

Sheriff and clerk to attend special courts.

78. Sec. VIII. The sheriff and clerk of the said court of common pleas and oyer and terminer for the city of Savannah, shall in person or by deputy attend such special or extraordinary courts, and shall be entitled to the same fees that by law they are now entitled in ordinary cases; and that it shall be the duty of the clerk of said court to require of the plaintiffs in such cause the sum of three dollars, which shall be paid to him for the use of said city, to be taxed in the bill of costs against the losing party.

Costs.

An Act to authorize the Judge of the Court of Common Pleas and Oyer and Terminer of the city of Savannah, and the hamlets thereof, to draw juries for the summary trial of such causes as by an act passed on the 26th day of December, 1831, the said judge is authorized to hold special or extraordinary courts.—Approved Dec. 21, 1833. Pam. 56.

The judge to draw juries for special courts.

79. It shall be the duty of the judge of the court of common pleas and of oyer and terminer of the city of Savannah, in all causes for the summary trials of which he has, by an act passed on the 26th day of December, 1831, been authorized to hold special and extraordinary courts, to draw the necessary jury or juries as authorized by the 16th section of the act of the 18th December, 1819, creating said court, forthwith, or within twenty-four hours after the petition has been made, upon which by said act the said judge is required to hold special or extraordinary courts.

Sec. II. All laws or parts of laws militating against this act are hereby repealed.

An Act to amend an act entitled an act for the organization of a court of Common Pleas and of Oyer and Terminer for the city of Savannah, and for repealing the Civil Jurisdiction given by the laws of this State to the Mayor and Aldermen or to the Mayor of said City, passed December 18th, 1819.—Approved Dec. 19, 1834. Pam. 91.

Salary of judge.

80. From and after the passing of this act the salary to be allowed the judge of the court of common pleas and of oyer and terminer for the city of Savannah shall be $1,000, to be paid quarterly to the said judge out of the funds of the corporation of said city.

Sec. II. [Repeals so much of the 19th section of the act of December 18, 1819, as requires parties to give security to entitle them to a jury trial.]

All laws or parts of laws militating against this law are hereby repealed.

An Act to Incorporate the Town of Darien.—Approved Dec. 12, 1816. Vol. III. 1011.

Sec. I. II. and III. [Directs the appointment of city officers and organizes the police.]

Conservative powers of

81. Sec. IV. The intendant and members of the said council, shall each of them have full power and authority to keep peace and good order within the said town, to issue warrants, and cause all offenders to be brought before them, and on examination, either to release, admit to bail, if the offence be bailable, or commit to the custody of the sheriff of the county of McIntosh, except in cases hereafter provided for, whose duty it shall be to receive the same, and keep in safe custody until discharged by due course of law; and the said intendant and every of the members of the said council, for the time being, shall be vested with all the powers and authorities that justices of the peace are vested by the laws of this State, and shall exercise the same, in every part of the said town, for the preservation of the peace and good order thereof.

82. Sec. V. It shall and may be lawful for the said intendant, or in his absence, any three of the council, and they are hereby empowered at any time after the passing of this act, to hold courts once in every month throughout each year, to appoint such officers as they may think necessary, to settle and allow said officers reasonable fees, and to have jurisdiction of, and to hear and determine all civil causes not involving the right or title to any land or real estate, so the demand in each suit does not exceed the sum of fifty dollars,* and to give judgment and award execution therein according to law,—Provided, that if any party to a suit, shall feel him, her, or themselves aggrieved by the decision of the said court, it shall and may be lawful for such party to enter an appeal within three days after such trial, first paying all costs which may have accrued on such trial, and giving sufficient security to abide and perform the sentence of the court* at the trial of the appeal; and all appeals from the decision of the said court, shall be tried at the succeeding court day, unless good excuse is given for continuing longer such trial; which trial shall be by a jury of seven men, whose verdict shall be final,—Provided, such continuance shall not exceed three terms.

83. Sec. VI. The said intendant and council shall have the like power and authority to hold to bail for debts within their jurisdiction, under like restrictions as pointed out for the superior and inferior courts; and shall have power to draw and impanel jurors for the trial of appeals, who shall be resident within their jurisdiction, and shall be qualified and liable to serve as jurors, to cause them to be summoned at least five days before the said court, and to fine them for non-attendance or other misconduct, in such manner as they may think proper; and shall have power to award execution for such fines, and cause the goods of the persons so incurring such fines, to be sold by virtue thereof: Provided, such fine shall not exceed ten dollars.

84. Sec. VII. The said intendant and council shall, in all judicial proceedings, have reference to, and be governed by the laws in force in this State, for regulating the judicial proceedings thereof; and the said court of intendant and council thereof, is declared to be a court of record, and any persons necessarily going to, being at, or returning therefrom, shall be free from arrest on any civil suit.†

85. Sec. VIII. The town marshal shall have the power of selling real estate in said town under execution, issued by the intendant and council: Provided, all sales made by him of real estate or negroes, shall be on the first Tuesday in each month, and advertised at least thirty days.

Sec. IX. and X. [Relates to work on the streets and commons.]

86. Sec. XI. The intendant and council shall have power and authority to confine all insolvent debtors within their jurisdiction, as well

Mayor's court.

Monthly
terms.

Its jurisdiction.

Appeal to a jury.

Juries.

The court shall be governed by the judicial acts.

Court of record.

City marshal may sell real estate.
How that and negroes are to be advertised.

Confinement of debtors and others.

* But see Sec. 44.

† See Attachments, Sec. 27.

in Darien jail.

as all offenders against the peace and good order of the State, in the jail of Darien, until such time as the county shall build a jail at the court-house.

An Act to make the town of Darien a city, and to amend the foregoing act.—Approved Dec. 18, 1818. Vol. III. 1014.

Sec. I. and II. [Changes the style of the town to that of "city," and directs the election of a mayor and aldermen in the place of intendant and council.]

Jurisdiction of the court $100.

The mayor's court, the same as was that of the intendant and council.

Advertisement of marshal's sales.

87. Sec. III. The jurisdiction of the mayor's court of the city of Darien shall be increased to one hundred dollars; and in holding the mayor's court for the trial of civil causes, the mayor shall preside, and he shall be allowed the same fees as are allowed to the mayor of Savannah, on sums of like amount; and any person dissatisfied with the decision of the mayor, may appeal to a jury, in the manner now provided for in the intendant and council's court of the town of Darien; and the same proceedings shall be had on all such appeals; and it shall be lawful for the city marshal to advertise his sales in any gazette in the city of Darien.

JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.

An Act for the appointment of county officers.—Approved Feb. 16, 1799. Vol. I. 201.

Inferior court shall appoint constables, who shall give bond and security.

And take an oath.

Where no candidates to be drawn for.

$40 for refusing to serve.

Justices may issue attachments returnable to the
sup. and inf.
courts.

1. Sec. V. The inferior court shall at their first term in each year, appoint at least one, and not more than two fit and proper person or persons in each militia company district to serve as constables,* who shall hold their appointments for one year, and until a successor shall be appointed, and before such constables enter on the duties of their appointments, they shall give bond and good security to the governor of this State for the time being, in the sum of one hundred and fifty dollars,† for the faithful discharge of their duties, and shall also take the following oath before a justice of the inferior court or justice of the peace: "I do solemnly swear, or affirm, that I will duly and faithfully perform all the duties required of me as constable of the county of _____ according to the best of my abilities and understanding." And where it shall so happen that no fit and proper person or persons offer themselves as candidates, the said court shall pass an order directing the justices in any district, or one of them, to draw not exceeding two persons from such company, to serve as aforesaid, who shall be liable to a fine of forty dollars, to be levied by order of the said inferior court, on refusal to act, or procure some other person to serve for him. The Judiciary Act of 1797. Vol. I. 271.

2. Sec. LXXI.—‡ And the said justices respectively may, and are hereby fully authorized and empowered, to issue attachments re-

* Now annually elective by the people, see Sec. 41, &c.

† Five hundred dollars. See Sec. 34.

‡ All but this latter part of the 71st section is repealed or superseded. At least I can find nothing which ousts the justices of the authority here given. It was suffered to remain, probably, for its obvious importance in giving to the attachment laws a duly active operation.

turnable to the superior or inferior courts, under like circumstances, and in like manner as the judges or justices of the said courts are empowered to do.

An Act to compel the Justices of the Peace in this State, to keep a fair and regular Book of Entry.—Approved Dec. 13, 1809. Vol. II. 572.

3. Sec. I. From and after the first day of March next, it shall be the duty of each justice of the peace in this State, to keep a fair and legible book of entry of all civil proceedings had before him, for the recovery of debts, &c. Justices of the peace to keep a book of entry of all civil proceedings.

4. Sec. II. In all cases where any justice of the peace in this State, shall resign or remove out of the limits of the district, for which he shall have been appointed, it shall be the duty of such justice to deliver the said book, or a fair copy thereof, to his successor in office, within sixty days after he may be commissioned, or deposit the same with the clerk of the inferior court. Said books to be delivered to successors.

An Act to alter and amend the several Judiciary Acts now in force in this State, so far as relates to Justices' Courts.—Approved Dec. 14, 1811. Vol. III. 363.

Whereas the said acts are not found to answer the purposes for which they were intended;

5. Sec. I. Be it enacted, &c. That from and after the passing of this act, the justices of the peace in the respective company districts, or any one or more of them, shall have authority and jurisdiction to hear and determine all suits on any liquidated demand or account, for any sums of money not exceeding thirty dollars,* by summons or warrant; Provided, That no justice of the inferior court, clerk, sheriff, or practising attorney, being a justice of the peace, shall try any warrant, or give judgment thereon in any civil case whatsoever; and the said justices are hereby authorized and empowered to give judgment and award execution thereupon; Provided nevertheless, that either party being dissatisfied, shall be allowed an appeal, on payment of costs and giving security for the eventual condemnation money within three days after judgment; or the party cast may stay the levy of execution forty days, on payment of cost, and giving security within four days after judgment; but no stay of execution shall be allowed after an appeal trial, for a longer time than twenty days; in which case, the security on the appeal, together with the security for the stay of execution, shall be liable for the debt and cost.—And it shall be lawful for any person or persons, who has or have in his, her, or their hands any bond, note, or account, which was given for any sum exceeding thirty dollars, and the amount of which has been reduced by any payment, or payments or offsets, to the sum of thirty dollars, or under, and which payment or payments are endorsed on the back of such bond, note or account; or where any bond, note, account or other agreement (gaming debts excepted) which in its original exceeded the sum of thirty dollars, but has been reduced by bond or bonds, note or notes, although of equal date, and payable at the same time, to a sum or sums under or of thirty dollars each, that then and in every such case it shall and may be lawful for any person or persons, who has or have in his, her, or their hands, any such note or notes, bond or bonds, or accounts as Jurisdiction of justices of the peace.

Proviso.

Appeals.

Within three days.

Stay of execution within four days.

Debts originally over $30. have been reduced by payments to that sum or under.

* Exclusive of interest and cost.—See Sec. 38. And also in some criminal cases, by virtue of the amendment of 1811 of the constitution, Art. III. Sec. 1.

aforesaid, to bring suit thereon in the justices' court in the district where the debtor or debtors may reside; and the justice or justices are hereby authorized to give judgment for whatever sum in his judgment appears to be due.

Appeals, how to be tried.

6. Sec. II. All such appeals shall be tried before any one or more justice or justices in the company district in which the cause originated, by five jurors, to be drawn, impannelled and sworn as hereinafter directed, and in no other manner whatsoever, whose verdict shall be final and conclusive between the parties (except removed by certiorari;)

No civil proceedings to be had, but at the stated time and place.

Provided always, that no justice or justices of the peace shall hold any justices court, or pass any judgment in any civil case, on any other, or more than one day in each month, which day they may appoint in their respective districts; nor at any other place than that specially mentioned in the warrant or summons; which place shall be as near central as convenience will admit, which warrant or summons shall be served by any constable of the district in which the defendant may reside, duly appointed and sworn to the faithful execution of his office, either by giving a copy to the defendant in person, or by leaving a copy thereof at his, her, or their usual and notorious place of abode, at least ten days before the day of trial; and it shall be the duty of the constable serving the summons or warrant, to make an entry of service thereon in writing, and sign such return.

Warrants, by whom, and how served.

Where co-obligors or promisors reside in different counties or districts.

7. Sec. III. Where a suit shall be instituted in any justice's court on any bond, note, or other written obligation, subscribed by several persons living in different counties or districts, the plaintiff shall have his option to institute his suit in either of the counties or districts, and a copy of the original process being served on either or each of said obligors or promisors by an officer duly authorized, who shall make a return thereof under his hand to the person applying for such service, or the court from which the original issued; and on such return being made, the justice or justices shall be authorized to enter up judgment against the several obligors or promisors, or either of them, who shall be summoned as aforesaid.

Attachments.

In what cases to issue.

How issued.

Directed, and levied.

Garnishees.

Garnishee's answer.

Traverse of the garnishee's answer.

Trial thereof.

8. Sec. IV. It shall and may be lawful for any justices of the peace, upon complaint made on oath by any person, that his or her debtor resides out of this State, or is actually removing without the limits of the same or any county thereof, or absconds or conceals himself, or stands in defiance of a peace officer, so that the ordinary process of law cannot be served upon him, to grant an attachment against the estate of such debtor, or so much thereof as shall be of sufficient value to satisfy the plaintiff's demand and cost; which attachment shall be directed to, and levied by any lawful constable of the county where the property may be found, upon the estate of such debtor wherever to be found, either in the hands of any person indebted or having effects of such debtor in their possession, and summon such person or persons to appear at the court to be held in and for the said district to which said attachment may be made returnable, there to answer upon oath what he, she, or they are indebted to, or what effects of such debtor he, she, or they hath or have in their hands, or had at the time of levying such attachment; which being returned executed, the court may by order compel such person or persons to appear and answer as aforesaid. And where any person in whose hands such attachment may be levied, shall deny on oath owing any money to, or having in his, her, or their hands any effects of such debtor, it shall and may be lawful for the plaintiff, or his attorney or agent, to traverse such denial, and thereupon an issue shall be made up, and the same shall be tried at the next term, by a jury of five persons, drawn, impannelled and sworn, in like manner as in appeals; but on good cause being shown on oath, the trial may be put off one term at the instance of either party, and no longer; and if found against such garnishee, he, she, or they shall be subject to pay the plaintiff such sum as shall be so found, and cost; and the court shall order judgment to be entered thereupon against such garnishee as against the original debtor: Provided, That such justice of the peace shall, before granting such attachment, take bond and security of the party to whom the same may be granted, in double the sum sworn to by the attaching creditor, payable to the defendant, for satisfying and paying all costs and damages which may be incurred by, or happen to the defendant, in case the plaintiff suing out such attachment should discontinue or be cast in his, her, or their suit; which bond shall be returned to the court to which such attachment may be returnable; and such attachment shall be tried at or before the second justices' court after the one to which it may be made returnable; and the party entitled to such costs and damages, may bring suit and recover thereon: and every attachment issued without such bond being taken, or where no bond shall be returned to the court with the attachment, the said attachment is hereby declared to be illegal, and shall be dismissed with costs; Provided always, That every attachment which may be issued as aforesaid, shall be attested by the justice issuing the same, and shall be by the officer levying the same, publicly advertised at the place of holding the courts in said district, and at one or more public places in the county, at least fifteen days previous to the court to which said attachment may be made returnable; and if any attachment shall be issued within fifteen days of the next court, such attachment shall be returnable to the succeeding court, and shall be tried as heretofore directed. And all goods and chattels, lands, and tenements, attached, shall be repleviable by the defendants giving bond, with good and sufficient security, to the officer levying the same, which bond he is hereby empowered to take, compelling the defendant to appear at the court to which such attachment may be made returnable, and to abide by and perform the order of such court; Provided nevertheless, That all goods and effects attached and not replevied, agreeable to the provisions of this act, where the same shall be of a perishable nature, the said justice or justices of the peace shall, on motion of the plaintiff, his, her, or their attorney or agent, order a sale of the same; and the proceeds of such sale shall be paid into said court, and by them applied to the discharge of the plaintiff's demand, if established, and costs; and the balance, if any, returned to the defendant, or his attorney: Provided nevertheless, That all sales of perishable property under attachment, shall undergo the same formalities of other constable's sales under executions; and whenever any attachment shall be returned served in the hands of a third person, it shall be lawful, on his or her appearance and examination, in the manner hereinafter directed, to enter up judgment as against the original debtor, and award execution for the money due by him or her to the absent debtor, and against such property or effects as may be in his or her hands or keeping, belonging to such absent debtor, or so much thereof as will be of value sufficient to satisfy the judgment or judgments and costs. And all such goods and chattels, levied on as aforesaid, and not replevied, shall, after the plaintiff has established his demands, be by order of the court sold and disposed of, for and towards satisfying the plaintiff's judgment, in like manner as if the same had been taken under execution; and where the property so attached and sold as aforesaid, should prove insufficient to satisfy the debt and cost, or where the same shall be of the nature of real estate, then and in that case, it shall be the duty of said justice to issue execution or executions, Continuance.

Judgment against the garnishee. Attachment bonds.

Condition thereof.

Attachments, when to be tried.

Attachment bonds recoverable.

Irregular attachments void.

How attested.

How advertised.

Replevy.

Condition of the bond.

Perishable articles may be sold.

How sold.

Judgment on the answer of a garnishee, and execution,

to be levied on the goods attached, where they are insufficient, or the property attached may be real estate, execution shall go for the amount unsatisfied.

Debts returned by garnishees, to be sued for and applied by the court. Evidence.

for the amount of said judgment and cost, or so much thereof as remains unsatisfied. And when any person, as garnishee, returns debts due to the absent debtor, the court shall order the same to be sued for, and when recovered, subject to the order of the court.

Oath of the parties.

Set-off.

Continuance of causes.

Claims of property.

Affidavit of claim.

Bond.

Trial of the claim.

One continuance.

Bail.

Witnesses.

Defaulting witnesses.

Compensation of witnesses.

But two witnesses to one point.

Fines.

Interrogatories, how taken out.

9. Sec. V. In all cases brought before any justice's court, the best evidence the nature of the case will admit of shall be required; nor shall any person, plaintiff or defendant, be permitted to prove his or her account, by his or her own oath, without first making oath in writing, that he or she hath no other evidence whereby to establish the same that is in his or her power to procure; and in all cases of mutual debts and sets-off, the said justice or justices may enter up judgment for the defendant, where it shall satisfactorily appear that there is a balance due him or her; and on good cause being shown on oath by either party, the said justices may postpone the trial three terms, and no longer; and where an execution is levied on property claimed by any person not a party to said execution, it shall be the duty of the constable to postpone the sale of such property, and make return thereof to the first court in said district: Provided, the person putting in such claim shall [first make oath in writing, that said property is not liable to said execution,* and shall also] give bond and security in double the amount of such execution, which bond the constable is hereby authorized to take, payable to the plaintiff in execution, with condition to pay all costs and damages which he or she may sustain, in case it should appear such claim was frivolous and intended for delay only, recoverable in any court having cognizance thereof; and it shall be the duty of the said court to cause the right of property to be tried at the next term by five jurors, to be drawn and impanelled in like manner as appeals, and on good cause being shown on oath, the court may postpone the trial for one term, and no longer.

10. Sec. VI. The said justices shall have power and authority to hold to bail for debts within their jurisdiction, under such restrictions and regulations as prevail in the superior and inferior courts.

11. Sec. VII. Any justice of the peace may issue summonses for witnesses resident within the county in any case to be tried before him, which shall be served five days before the day of trial; and such witnesses shall be subject to a fine not exceeding $10 for default, at the discretion of said justice, and moreover be liable to the party grieved by action, in any court having jurisdiction of the same, for any damages he may sustain by such default, who may issue execution for the amount of said fine; Provided sufficient excuse shall not be made at or before the next court day; provided also, that all witnesses duly summoned, and attending said court, who may reside out of the district where such court may be held, shall receive seventy-five cents per day for their attendance; and provided also, that there shall not be taxed in the bill of cost the expense of more than two witnesses to prove the same fact; and it shall be the duty of all persons summoned as aforesaid, to attend from time to time until the cause shall be determined, or they be otherwise discharged by the court; and all fines shall be paid into the hands of the inferior court for the use of the county; and when any witness resides out of the county, whose evidence may be material for either party in any cause pending in the said justice's court, it shall and may be lawful for the party wishing to obtain such testimony to obtain a commission from the justice issuing the summons, first giving the adverse party, his agent, or attorney, five days' notice, accompanied with a copy of the interrogatories intended to be exhibited, which commission shall be directed to any two or more freeholders, one of whom shall be a justice of the peace, to examine on oath all and every such witness or witnesses; and such examination, when so taken, shall be sealed up by the commissioners, and directed to the magistrate by whom it was issued, and on returning the same shall swear* that it has undergone no alteration from the time of his receiving it of the commissioners; and the commission and interrogatories so issued, executed, and returned, shall be read on the trial at the instance of either party.

* But see Sec. 31.

How returned.

12. Sec. VIII. The method of drawing jurors for the trial of appeals, and all other cases in justices' courts in each district, shall be as follows: The justice or justices residing in each captain's district, in conjunction with the commanding officers of said district, shall, once in every two years, procure or make out a list of all persons liable to serve as jurors in the superior courts, who may be residents in their respective districts, and shall write the name of every person so liable on a separate piece of paper, which shall be deposited in a box, in an apartment, marked No. 1, and shall draw therefrom not less than five, nor more than seven of the names, so before deposited, from time to time, to try the causes so depending before them, which names so drawn shall be entered in a book by the justice presiding at the drawing thereof, and shall be deposited in an apartment of said box, marked No. 2; and after all the names are drawn from No. 1, they shall commence drawing from No. 2, and so on alternately: Provided that no justice shall presume to draw any jury, but on a court day, and in public, and by a person not interested in any suit to be tried by said jury; and any person so drawn, and summoned by a constable five days before court, neglecting to appear, shall be fined by the justice or justices in a sum not exceeding three dollars, unless such juror shall show sufficient cause of excuse on oath at the next term; and in all cases of deficiency of jurors, the constable, by the direction of the justices, shall fill and complete such jury from the bystanders: Provided there shall not be less than three of the original pannel on such jury; and they shall for every verdict by them given in be entitled to twenty-five cents, to be paid by the party in whose favor such verdict may be given, and to be taxed in the bill of costs.

Juries, how to be drawn.

Proviso.

Defaulting jurors to be fined.

Tales men.

Jury fee.

13. Sec. IX. The oath to be administered to the jury on the trial of appeals, also for the trial of the right of property, and on a traverse trial in justices' courts, shall be as follows: "You shall well and truly try the cause now pending between A. B. plaintiff, and C. D. defendant, and a true verdict give according to equity, and the opinion you entertain of the evidence produced to you, to the best of your skill and knowledge, without favor or affection to either party, provided the case is not withdrawn; so help you God."

Oath of the jury.

14. Sec. X. Where any person or persons, charged with any offence, and brought before a justice or justices of the peace, shall be discharged for want of sufficient cause of commitment, the justice or justices may, in his or their discretion, discharge the party with cost, or direct the cost to be paid by the prosecutor.

Justice's discretion as to costs in criminal cases.

15. Sec. XI. No person shall be permitted, in any trial in said justice's court, to deny his bond, note, or bill, for money, or other thing, unless such person shall first make oath in writing to the truth of such denial.

Bonds, notes, &c. not to be denied, but on oath in writing.

16. Sec. XII. In case any person or persons, after being summoned to answer any complaint for debt, before any justice of the peace, shall,

Persons removing before or

* That the person delivering in the deposition shall make this oath is undoubtedly the meaning of the statute.

after judgment.

before the sitting of such court, remove out of the district, such justice may nevertheless give judgment against him, her, or them; and if any person shall after judgment of such court remove out of the district or county before satisfaction made, such justice may, in either case, issue execution against such person or persons, which execution, being backed by any justice of the county where such person or persons, or his, her, or their property may be found, may be levied by any lawful constable of said county.

Ten days residence gives jurisdiction.

17. Sec. XIII. If any person or persons shall live or reside within any county or district for the space of ten days, the same shall constitute a sufficient residence so as to authorize the justices of said county or district to proceed against him, her, or them, before any company district court, as hereinbefore pointed out for all debts within their jurisdiction.*

Where there is no justice, any adjoining justice may act.

Where the justice is a party, the cause shall be tried in the court nearest to the defendant.

Justices may be indicted for malpractice in office.

18. Sec. XIV. In case there be no justice of the peace resident in any captain's district, then it shall and may be lawful for a justice, in any adjoining district, to proceed in like manner as if the defendant was an inhabitant of his district; and all cases in which a justice of the peace may be a party, shall be tried in the nearest justices' court to the residence of the defendant in said county, and not within the district in which he may reside.

19. Sec. XV. The justices of the peace of the respective counties shall be, and they are hereby declared to be liable to prosecution and trial, by indictment, for mal-practice in office; and it shall be the duty of the attorney or solicitor-general, on complaint made to them, or either of them, on oath, by any person or persons, to frame and prefer a bill of indictment to the grand jury of the county in which the justice or justices complained of may reside, containing the merits of the complaint specially set forth; which indictment, if found by the grand jury, after hearing the evidence and the parties, shall be tried by a petit jury; and if convicted on such indictment, the judgment of the court may extend to fine and removal from office, or either, at discretion. [See Penal Laws, Sec. 209.]

The surety satisfying an execution shall have the control of it.

20. Sec. XVI. When it shall appear by the return of a constable on any execution or executions, that the same has been paid by a security or securities, it shall be the duty of the justice or justices to make an entry thereof in their docket book, and such security or securities shall have the use and control of said execution or executions for the purpose of remunerating him, her, or themselves out of their principal, although such execution may have been levied and property sold to satisfy the same.

Constables' sales how to be advertised.

And where held.

Hours of sale.

21. Sec. XVII. It shall be the duty of constables to advertise all intended sales at two or more of the most public places in their proper district, and at one or more of the most public places in the county, at least fifteen days before any sale, and shall give a full and clear description of the property to be sold; and all constables' sales shall be at the place of holding justices' courts in the several company districts, and on a court day, and that between the hours of ten and three o'clock.

Real estate and negroes.

Not to be levied on where a sufficiency of other personal can be found.

22. Sec. XVIII. No constable shall be authorized to levy on any negro or negroes, or real estate, unless there is no other personal estate to be found sufficient to satisfy the debt, and then and in that case, they are hereby authorized to levy on the same wherever to be found, and deliver over the execution or executions to the sheriff of

* Itinerant persons may be arrested on a bail or criminal process in any district, see Judiciary, Sec. 96.

† Or on trial, see Sec. 33.

the county, with a return of the property levied on, who shall proceed to sell the same, with such formalities as are prescribed for the sale of real estates.

23. Sec. XIX. All judgments which may be obtained in, and executions issued from, any justice's court after the passing of this act, shall bear equal dignity with judgments obtained in and executions issued from the superior or inferior courts, and shall bind all the property of the defendant from the date of the said judgment; and also all the property of his, her, or their securities from the time of their entering themselves as such until the same shall be satisfied.

24. Sec. XX. A reasonable compensation shall be allowed to constables, for carrying property levied on to the place of sale, when there appears an absolute necessity for so doing, to be adjudged of by the justice or justices resident in said district.

25. Sec. XXI. It shall be the duty of the constables of the several districts to levy all executions put into their hands agreeably to the tenor thereof, and to make due returns of the same, together with all summonses or warrants, to the court to which they may be made returnable; and if any constable shall fail to execute and make returns, or pay to or account with any person for whom he may have received money on any execution, within ten days after the reception thereof, the person so injured as aforesaid, may upon application to any justice within the district where said constable may reside (and in case there should be no justice in said district, then an application to a justice in any adjacent district) whose duty it shall be to grant a warrant to such applicant against such constable, and such justice shall, upon proof thereof, award judgment and execution for the same and all cost against such constable, and also fine him for such abuse in a sum not exceeding ten per cent. on the amount so withheld: and in case of neglect or refusal to serve and return any warrant or summons as aforesaid, may fine the constable so offending, in a sum not exceeding the amount of the debt due by the defendant; and all constables shall moreover be subject to be prosecuted and tried for mal-practice in office, in like manner as herein pointed out for justices of the peace, and liable to like pains and penalties.

26. Sec. XXII. From and after the passing of this act, justices of the peace and constables throughout this State, shall receive the following fees for the services hereinafter mentioned, and no more.

JUSTICES' OF THE PEACE FEES IN CRIMINAL CASES.

For affidavit to obtain a warrant, 25 cents; for making out a warrant, 25 cents; for making out a commitment, 25 cents; for making out recognizance and returning the same to court, 25 cents; for each subpoena for witnesses, 12½ cents.

IN CIVIL CASES.

For a warrant or summons, 25 cents; for each cause tried by said justice, 25 cents; for affidavit to obtain an attachment or to hold to bail and taking the bond, 50 cents; for each execution, ca. sa. or attachment, 25 cents; for taking interrogatories and certifying the same, one dollar; for drawing jury and making out venire, 25 cents; for each cause tried by said jury, 25 cents; for each affidavit where there is no cause pending, 25 cents.

CONSTABLES' FEES IN CIVIL CASES.

For serving a warrant, summons, or subpoena, 25 cents; for each additional copy, 25 cents; for attending each trial in a justices' court 25 cents; for summoning a jury, 50 cents; for each cause tried by Judgments, how to bind the property.

Of the defendant. And his surety. Constables may be compensated for conveying property to the place of sale. Duty of constables in levies, services, &c.

Their liability for misconduct.

By application to a justice of the peace.

By prosecution in the sup. court.

Fees.

Of a justice in criminal cases.

In civil cases.

Of a constable in civil cases.

said jury, 25 cents; for levying and advertising an attachment, 25 cents; for levying a ca. sa. or execution and advertising, 25 cents; carrying a prisoner to jail, per mile 4 cents; for carrying a negro to and from jail when under execution, per mile 4 cents; for keeping a horse, mare, mule, ass, or ox, per day, 12½ cents; for each head of neat cattle, per day 3 cents; for each head of sheep, goats, or hogs per day 2 cents; and shall moreover be entitled to five per centum on the amount of sales made by him under execution.*

Parties may settle cases on payment of costs.

If the defendant is insolvent, the plaintiff is liable for costs.

27. Sec. XXIII. In future any person or persons who may institute any suit or suits in any justice's court, shall be at liberty to settle or withdraw the same at any time, on payment of the cost which may have already accrued. And in all cases where execution or executions may issue and being returned with an entry of service thereon, no property to be found whereon to levy, the plaintiff is hereby liable and bound for the cost, and that on refusal to pay the same, execution may issue for the said amount against the said plaintiff.†

Sec. XXIV. [Repealed.—See Roads, Ferries, and Bridges, Sec. 17, 29.]

Where justices or constables are parties.

Where no constable in the district, any in the county may act.

In such case, the justices may fill the vacancy.

28. Sec. XXV. It shall be lawful for any constable of the county to serve any warrant or summons wherein any justice of the peace or constable may be a party, and to summon any witnesses and to serve any bail warrant or attachment, and to make due return thereof to the court to which the same may be made returnable; and where it may so happen that there is no constable in the district, it shall and may be lawful for any constable in the county to act in the said district, in all respects as if such constable had been appointed for said district.

Justices may punish contempt in term time.

29. Sec. XXVI. The justice or justices in any district having no constable, is or are hereby authorized and empowered to appoint not exceeding two fit and proper persons within the said district, to whom they shall administer the oath of office, who shall give bond and security as pointed out by law. And the person or persons so appointed shall continue in office until the next inferior court, and until a successor is duly appointed and qualified.

30. Sec. XXVII. The justices of the peace of the several districts shall have power during the sitting of their respective courts, to fine or imprison any person or persons for contempt of said courts, to be adjudged of by the said justice or justices, in any sum not exceeding $2, or imprisonment for a term not exceeding two days for each offence, which said fine when collected, shall be paid over into the hands of the inferior court for county purposes.‡

Sec. XXVIII. [Repeals all conflicting laws]

Act of November 23, 1814. Vol. III. 382.

Claimant, his agent, &c. make oath of property to the best of his belief.

31. So much of the Vth section of the above recited [the foregoing] act as requires persons claiming property under execution, not a party to such execution, to make oath that such property is not liable to such execution, be and the same is hereby repealed. And in all cases of executions from any justices' courts in this State, levied on property claimed by any person not a party to such execution, such

* By the act of 1819, these, with the other fees of county officers, are increased 25 per cent, see State Officers, Sec. 2.

† And the justice may require non-residents to deposit or secure the costs. See Sec. 35.

‡ May rule their constables, and may be ruled in the superior court themselves, for money in their hands. Sec. 39, 40.

person shall make oath that such property levied on is his, her, or their right and property, or his, her, or their property as attorney, agent, guardian, executor, or administrator, as the case may be, to the best of his, her, or their knowledge and belief, and shall moreover give security in terms of the said Vth section.*

An Act to amend the Vth Section of an act for the appointment of County Officers. [See Sec. 1st of this title.]—Approved Dec. 13, 1816. Vol. III. 152.

Whereas the said Vth section of the act aforesaid, points out the mode of appointing constables for the several counties in this State, and directs the manner of their giving bonds, but points out no mode by which the bonds can be sued, in case of the neglect of duty in said constables—for remedy whereof:

32. Be it enacted, &c. That all constables hereafter appointed, shall, before they enter upon the duties of their appointments, take the oath prescribed by the said Vth section of the act above recited, before any justice of the inferior court or justice of the peace; and those constables resident in the cities of Augusta and Savannah, shall give bond with two or more good and sufficient securities, in the sum of $400,† to the justices of the inferior court of the counties of Richmond and Chatham, conditioned for the true and faithful discharge of the duties of their office; and all other constables shall give bond in the sum of $200,† for the faithful discharge of the duties of their office, payable to the justices of the inferior courts of the respective counties, which bond, or bonds so given, shall be deposited in the clerk's office of the inferior courts of the respective counties in this State, and be taken by or before any justice of the peace, and may be sued by order of the inferior court, upon the application of any person or persons who shall make it satisfactorily appear that they have been injured by the misconduct or neglect of duty in said constable; which suit shall be brought in the superior courts, for the use of the person or persons so injured—any law to the contrary notwithstanding.

Constables' bonds, how taken, and sued on.

An Act supplementary to the act of 14th December, 1811. [See Sec. 5th of this title.]—Approved Dec. 12, 1816. Vol. III. 384.

33. In all cases in justices' courts, commenced against joint obligors or promisors, if any one or more of them shall make it appear to the satisfaction of the court, that he, she, or they, signed said obligation as a security, or securities only, it shall be the duty of the justice to enter up judgment against him, her, or them, as such, and award execution in the same manner, which when satisfied by such security, or out of their property, he, she, or they shall have the control and benefit of said execution, for the purpose of remunerating him, her, or themselves, out of their principal in the same manner as if they had been security on the stay of execution—Provided, judgment and execution shall be against the principal also.

On proof of the fact, judgment and execution to go against a surety as such, who shall have the benefit of it against the principal, on payment thereof.

Act of December 19, 1818. Vol. III. 163.

34. Sec. III. Each and every constable shall give bond with two or more securities, to be judged of by the justices of the peace in their respective districts, in the sum of $500, (unless said district be in a town, and in that case $1,000,) for the faithful performance of the duties of their office of constable.

The amount of constables' bonds, in town and country.

* See Sec. 9 of this title.

† But see Sec. 34.

Act to amend the Judiciary act of this State, so far as respects Justices of the Peace.—Approved Dec. 9, 1819. Vol. III. 386.

Justices may require non-resident plaintiffs to deposit or secure the cost.

35. From and after the passage of this act, it shall and may be lawful for all and every justice of the peace in this State, on application of any non-resident of the county or State, for any civil process, to require said non-residents to deposit the cost, or give sufficient security for the same, any law, usage, or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

An Act to regulate and establish an uniform practice in Justices' Courts.—Approved Dec. 9, 1819. Vol. III. 386.

The practice in justices' courts shall be uniform. First term.

36. Sec. I. From and after the first day of January next, the proceedings in the justices' courts shall be uniform throughout the State.

Second term. Proviso.

37. Sec. II. The first term shall be deemed and considered as the appearance term, when the case shall be docketed on what shall be called the appearance docket, and on the defendant failing to appear, judgment shall be entered by default as in the superior court, and at the second term, unless there is a sufficient showing, judgment shall be entered up: Provided nevertheless, the party or parties shall be entitled to an appeal agreeably to the judiciary law now in force in this State.

May give judgment for $30 exclusive of interest.

38. Sec. III. All justices of the peace shall have power, in all cases of debt or liquidated demand, to give judgment for any sum not exceeding $30, exclusive of interest and cost.

An Act more effectually to compel Justices of the Peace and Constables to pay over moneys received or collected by them in their official capacities.—Approved Dec. 22, 1820. Vol. IV. 203.

May be ruled before the sup. court for money collected.

39. Justices of the peace shall be so far considered officers of the superior court as to be subject to be ruled under similar regulations as are customarily pursued in relation to any other officer of said court, when they shall refuse or neglect to pay over any moneys which they may have received or collected in their official capacity.

Constables may be ruled by the justice.

40. Sec. II. Constables shall be subject to be ruled by their respective justices' courts, and compelled to give an account of their actings and doings, or pay over moneys which they may have received or collected in their official capacity, under the same regulations as are pursued in the superior court, in relation to officers of said court.

An Act to make Constables elective by the people; and the mode of taking their Bonds; and to point out their duty in certain cases.—Approved Dec. 22, 1829. Vol. IV. 407.

Constables to be elected by the people annually.

41. An election shall be held at the place of holding justices' courts in each captain's district, on the first Saturday in January of each and every year, by persons entitled to vote for members of the general assembly, for at least one, and not more than two constables; which election shall be superintended by at least one of the justices of the peace and two freeholders; who shall hold his or their appointments until the first Saturday in January next thereafter, and until his or their successor is elected and qualified.

42. Sec. II. Before any constable shall enter on the duty of his appointment he shall take the usual oath, and enter into the usual bond, to be approved of by the justice or justices of the peace of their respective districts.*

To take an oath and give bond, &c.

43. Sec. III. When an election should fail to be held at the time aforesaid, or a vacancy should happen, it shall be the duty of the justice or justices aforesaid to advertise an election in three of the most public places in their district, giving at least ten days' notice of the time and place, which shall be conducted in the same manner as aforesaid; and who shall hold his, or their appointment until the first Saturday in January next thereafter, and until his or their successors is elected and qualified.

In case of a failure to hold said elections, what shall be done.

44. Sec. IV. Whenever notes for collection shall be placed in the hands of the constable, it shall be his duty to grant receipts for the same, and pay over the amount when collected to the plaintiff, or his, her, or their agent or attorney, unless there should be conflicting claims, it shall then be the duty of the constable to report the same to the next justice's court of said district, subject to the order of said court.

Must receipt for notes and account for money collected.

Sec. V. All laws and parts of laws militating against this act are hereby repealed.

An Act for the recovery of costs in Justices' courts in certain cases.—
Approved Dec. 26, 1831. Pam. 140.

45. Sec. I. From and after the passage of this act, in all cases carried up by writ of certiorari, from a justice's court, to the superior court, and the said certiorari shall be sustained by the said court, and the proceedings in the court below set aside, without further order; and in all cases carried up in like manner from a justice's court, to the superior court as aforesaid, and the writ of certiorari shall be sustained, and a new trial ordered, the plaintiff in certiorari, provided he finally succeeds in his cause, shall recover of the defendant all cost that he or she may have been compelled to pay and lay out before a certiorari could be granted.

Certiorari—costs recoverable if certiorari is sustained.

46. Sec. II. It shall be the duty of justices of the peace in all such cases, as are mentioned in the foregoing section, to issue execution in the name of the prevailing party, for all costs that may have accrued in the said case.

Execution to issue for costs.

Sec. III. All laws and parts of laws militating against this act, are hereby repealed.

An Act to amend an act entitled an act to make Constables elective by the people, and the mode of taking their bonds, and to point out their duty in certain cases.—Approved Dec. 20, 1834. Pam. 100.

47. From and after the passage of this act it shall and may be lawful for the justices of the peace in the several militia districts in this State, or either of them in the absence of the others, to appoint constables for special purposes or to meet sudden emergencies, in cases where the constable elected by virtue of the act aforesaid shall be absent from the district for which he was elected, or shall from providential causes be disabled or prevented from discharging the duties of his office.

Justices may appoint constables in certain cases,

* Bonds made previous to Dec. 22, 1834, payable to the governor, declared valid. Sec. 49.

and no others. 48. Sec. II. Nothing in this act shall be so construed as to authorize justices to appoint or deputize constables in any case or cases whatever except those before specified.

Sec. III. All laws and parts of laws militating against this act are hereby repealed.

An Act to make valid Constables' bonds in certain cases.—Approved Dec. 22, 1834. Pam. 225.

Whereas, many constables' bonds have been made payable to the governor and his successors in office instead of having been made payable to the justices of the Inferior court, in pursuance of the law passed 22d December, 1829; for remedy whereof—

Certain constables' bonds made valid.

49. Be it enacted, &c. That any bond or bonds which may have heretofore been given by any constable or constables of this State under the law above referred to, and made payable to the governor, shall be and are hereby considered and taken as good and valid as if the same had been taken and made payable to the justices of the inferior court, in compliance with the law aforesaid.

Sec. II. All laws and parts of laws militating against this act are hereby repealed.

LAND.—CAROLINA GRANTS.

An Act for establishing and confirming the titles of the several inhabitants of this province to their respective lands and tenements.—Approved Nov. 24, 1759. Vol. I. 309.

Forasmuch as many suits and contests may hereafter arise by means of pretended ancient titles to lands and tenements, derived from and under the late lords proprietors of Carolina, the conditions of which titles have not been complied with, and the lands have since been re-granted: for remedy and prevention whereof, Grants since 9th June 1732, made good against all previous to that time.

1. Be it enacted, That all and every person and persons, that are now possessed of or do hold any lands or tenements whatsoever within the said province of Georgia, by and under grants from the late honorable trustees for establishing the colony of Georgia,* or by and under grants from his majesty, obtained since the surrender of the charter of the said trustees, are hereby established and confirmed in the possession of their several and respective lands and tenements; and such grants thereof are hereby accordingly ratified and confirmed, and declared to be good and valid to all intents and purposes whatsoever, against all, and all manner of persons claiming any estate or interest therein, by and under the said lords proprietors of Carolina, or by or under any former grants, obtained before the date of his majesty's charter to the said trustees for establishing the colony of Georgia, any act, law, or statute to the contrary notwithstanding.

* See note to the next statute.

An Act for the better strengthening and settling this province, by compelling the several persons who claim to hold lands within the same, under any grant or grants from his majesty, witnessed by the governor of South Carolina, to bring or send into this province a number of white persons, or negroes, in proportion to the lands they claim to hold, agreeably to his majesty's royal instructions for granting lands and to cultivate and improve the same; and for better ascertaining the said several tracts of land, by regulating the surveys and marking the lines thereof, and recording the several plats in the surveyor general's office; also for registering and docketing such grants in the other proper offices in this province.—Approved March 25, 1765. Vol. I. 310.

Whereas sundry persons hold, or claim to hold, great tracts and quantities of very valuable lands to the southward of the river Alatomaha, within this province, by virtue of or under grants from his majesty, witnessed by the governor of South Carolina, on pretence that those lands were then in the said province of South Carolina.* And whereas it will be highly prejudicial to this province, in case the said grantees do not bring or send into the same a number of white persons or negroes, in proportion to the lands they hold or claim to hold as aforesaid, agreeably to his majesty's royal instructions for granting lands, in order to cultivate and improve the same, or other lands within this province:

And whereas the surveys, or pretended surveys of the said lands, or the greatest part thereof, were made with so much precipitation, that, from various informations received, it appears very few, if any of the said tracts of land were actually surveyed, or the lines run, and trees marked, agreeable to the usual and standing instructions in that particular, and which is absolutely necessary for ascertaining the same, by reason whereof not only great frauds and abuses may be committed, as well with respect to his majesty's rights as in diminution of the public or provincial tax, but also for want of the lines being actually run and marked, the taking up and improvement of the other lands contiguous to those granted in Carolina as aforesaid is greatly obstructed; for few or no lines appearing, and no records or entry of the said plats and grants being made in any of the offices in this province, by which the situation of the said lands may in any wise be discovered, or ascertained; the surveyor general and his deputies cannot know how or where to execute or run out such warrants for surveying and laying out the contiguous lands, as are now issued by the governor of this province, to or for any person or persons duly qualified to obtain the same; wherefore, for remedy of all frauds, abuses, injuries, and inconveniences in and about the premises:

2. Sec. 1. Be it enacted, That all and every person and persons whatsoever to whom any lands, now within this province, have been

All South Carolina grants, south of the Alatomaha, how to be made known and established.

* This may refer to grants issued by Governor Boon in 1763. It is known to most of the citizens of this State, though perhaps not to all, that Georgia was taken out of the larger colony of Carolina. This was done by royal letters patent of the 9th of June, 1732, to Gen. Oglethorpe and the other trustees appointed to establish a settlement. Granting to them, for the purposes of the trust, the lands between the Savannah and the Alatomaha rivers; and westward from the heads of these rivers (as was afterwards settled by the peace of Paris, in 1763) to the Mississippi. In the same year (of 1763) a royal proclamation annexed to Georgia "all the lands lying between the rivers Alatomaha and St. Mary's." This gave rise to one of the territorial disputes (as to the lands westward of the sources of these rivers) which was settled by the convention at Beaufort [Vol. I. 682.] It is South Carolina grants, previous to this proclamation, for lands between those rivers, and below a line from the head of St. Mary's to the confluence of the Oconee and Ocmulgee, to which this statute must relate.

If the grantee appears personally, what proof he must make.

granted by any grant or grants from his majesty, witnessed by the governor of South Carolina, or their heirs and assigns respectively, and all others whatsoever, holding or claiming to hold any lands within this province, under such grants as aforesaid, shall and do within six months from and after his majesty's royal approbation of this act shall be received by the governor or commander in chief of this province for the time being, or notified to him and published in the gazette of this province, appear before the said governor or commander in chief in council, in their own proper persons, or by their attorney or attorneys lawfully constituted and appointed, and shall produce his, her, and their grant, or grants, for any lands so held or claimed to be held by him, her, or them, as aforesaid; and if such grantee, or grantees, or those claiming under them, shall appear personally, then he, she, or they, shall make proof upon oath, and in such other and further manner as may be required, to the satisfaction of the said governor or commander in chief and council, that he, she, or they respectively have, within this province, a family of white persons or negroes, amounting in the whole to the number of one person for every fifty acres of land contained in their respective grant or grants, (allowing one hundred acres for the master or head of such family, if he shall be come to settle within this province,) agreeable to his majesty's royal instructions for granting lands to any of his subjects in this province; and shall also prove upon oath, and give such further satisfaction and assurance to the said governor or commander in chief and council as they shall require, that the negroes so brought into this province by him, her, or them, are brought bona fide, with an intention to settle and improve the lands, so held or claimed to be held by him, her, or them, or to cultivate and improve other lands within this province, and not with any fraudulent or secret intention of removing them, or any of them back, or carrying them, or any of them out of the said province again, after having obtained an admission or allowance of his, her, or their qualification in support of the said grant or grants, to and for the lands held, or claimed to be held by him, her, or them respectively.

If they appear by attorney they shall send their grants, together with an affidavit to the governor.

Form of the affidavit,

3. Sec. II. If any such grantee or grantees, or any or either of them, their heirs, or assigns, or any other person or persons whatsoever, holding or claiming to hold any lands within this province, under such grants as aforesaid, shall appear by his or their attorney or attorneys, that then and in such case, every attorney or attorneys shall and do not only produce the grant or grants of his and their constituent or constituents, but also an affidavit made by such constituent or constituents respectively, in the form following, that is to say: "I, A. B. of (inserting the person's name and place of abode,) do solemnly and sincerely swear in the presence of Almighty God, that I have sent into the province of Georgia (inserting the number) slaves, my own property, and that the said (inserting the number) slaves are by me bona fide intended to remain and be employed in the cultivation of lands or otherwise, in the said province, and that I have not sent the said negroes into that province with a view, or secret intention to obtain an admission, or allowance of my qualification (as required by the act of assembly of the said province, in that case made and provided), in support of my grant from his majesty, witnessed by the governor of South Carolina, for (insert the quantity) acres of land, to the southward of the river Alatamaha, in the said province of Georgia, and after having so obtained such admission or allowance of my qualification as aforesaid in support of the said grant, then fraudulently to remove the said negroes, or any of them, back again, or to carry or send them, or any of them out of the said province : So help me God ;” and which said oath shall be made and taken by every such person and persons as aforesaid, before the chief justice of the said province of South Carolina, for the time being, or one of the assistant judges in the said province, and shall be attested by such judge, and have a testimonial under the great seal of the said province, in the manner usually done in cases of affidavits, transmitted to be made use of as proof or evidence in other provinces or places ; and after being produced before the governor or commander in chief of this province, in council as aforesaid, the said affidavit and affidavits shall be lodged and remain with the clerk of the council, and on all future occasions whatever shall be deemed, held, and allowed as legal evidence, either for or against the said party, in all courts and places whatever, within this province. And such attorney or attorneys, shall also give such further satisfaction and assurances as the governor or commander in chief and council shall require.

with a testimonial and great seal of South Carolina annexed.

Provided nevertheless, That where any of the said grantees, or those claiming under them, during the time allowed for producing his, her, or their grant or grants, and performing the several other matters and things hereby required, shall be absent from the said province of South Carolina, in Great Britain or elsewhere, that then such absent person or persons, may be permitted to give proof of, and in the premises aforesaid, under the mayoralty seal of any corporation, or if in any other province, then under the seal of such province, instead of the oath hereby required to be made in, and produced under the seal of the province of South Carolina ; and in all other respects to do and perform as is herein required of those who actually reside in South Carolina, and yet appear by attorney, any thing herein contained to the contrary notwithstanding.

Absent grantees, how to substantiate their affidavits, &c.

4. Sec. III. Upon the qualification of any such person or persons as aforesaid, for the lands contained in any such grant or grants, being admitted and allowed of by the said governor or commander in chief and council, all and every such person and persons shall and do, within three months from the time of allowing and admitting such qualification, record his, her, or their plat or plats in the surveyor general's office, and register his, her, or their grant or grants in the register's office, and also enter a docket thereof in the auditor's office in this province. And if any of the said grantees, their heirs or assigns, or others claiming by, from, or under them, shall refuse or neglect, either personally, or by his, her, or their attorney or attorneys as aforesaid, to produce his, her, or their grant or grants, within the said term of six months as aforesaid, from and after his majesty's royal approbation of this act shall be received by the governor or commander in chief of this province for the time being, or notified to him and published in the gazette of this province as aforesaid, or either personally or by his, her, or their attorney or attorneys as aforesaid, to make proof and give such assurance as aforesaid, to the satisfaction of the said governor or commander in chief and council as aforesaid, with respect to their qualification, to have and to hold the lands respectively claimed by them as aforesaid, and to cultivate and improve the same, or other lands, within this province, or to record their plat or plats, or to register and docket their grant or grants, after his, her, or their claim or qualification, allowed as aforesaid, within the time limited as aforesaid, for that purpose ; that then in any or either of the said cases of refusal or neglect to do any or either of the matters and things herein and hereby required, the said grant and grants shall be null and void, and the said lands so held or claimed to be held by such person or persons

When and where qualifications and grants are to be recorded.

All grants declared void on failure to comply with this act.

respectively, is hereby expressly declared to be forfeited to, and revested in his majesty, his heirs and successors, and shall from thenceforth be deemed held and taken to all intents and purposes as vacant land, and it shall and may be lawful to and for the governor or commander in chief of this province for the time being, with the advice of the council, to order warrants for surveying, and to proceed to grant the same to any person or persons whatever, pursuant to his majesty's royal commission and instruction for that purpose.

Lands improperly surveyed, to be resurveyed.

5. Sec. IV. If on producing the said grants or any or either of them, it shall appear by the plats annexed to the same, and certified by the surveyor general of South Carolina, that the said lands have not been actually surveyed and admeasured, the lines and trees thereon not being set down and marked according to the direction of the usual and standing instructions given for surveying and admeasuring lands, and for marking the lines and returning the plats thereof; or if the said governor or commander in chief and council shall have any other cause or reason to believe the said lands have not been actually admeasured as aforesaid, or that any abuse has been committed in the surveying and admeasuring the same, that then, and in either and every such case, before the said grants are registered and docketed in the offices aforesaid, it shall and may be lawful for the governor or commander in chief in council, to order the said lands to be resurveyed; and every such tract of land shall within six months thereafter be accordingly resurveyed by the surveyor general of this province, or such person or persons as he shall appoint, at the expense, costs, and charges of the respective grantees, or those claiming to hold under them, so that the situation and quantity of land specified in such grant may be known and ascertained, and that all frauds and abuses and other inconveniences may be prevented.

Or else the grants to be void,

6. Sec. V. If any person or persons whose plat or plats annexed to his, her, or their grant or grants shall appear irregular and defective as aforesaid, or who shall for any other cause or reason, by order of the governor or commander in chief in council, be directed to get the lands they claim to hold resurveyed as aforesaid, shall refuse, neglect, or delay to cause and procure such resurvey to be made and returned into the said surveyor general's office, within the time limited as aforesaid, for that purpose, that then and in every such case, the said grant and grants for the lands so held, or claimed to be held, by such grantee or grantees respectively, and all others claiming to hold, by, from, or under them, shall be null and void, and the lands so held, or claimed to be held by such person or persons respectively, is hereby expressly declared to be forfeited to, and revested in his majesty, his heirs and successors, and shall from thenceforth be deemed, held, and taken to all intents and purposes as vacant land, and it shall and may be lawful to, and for the governor or commander in chief of this province, for the time being, with the advice of the council, to order warrants for surveying, and to proceed to grant the same to any person or persons whatsoever, pursuant to his majesty's royal commission and instructions for that purpose.

and may be regranted.

This act suspended till his majesty's approbation.

7. Sec. VI. Neither this act, nor any thing therein contained, shall be of any force or effect, but the same wholly suspended until his most sacred majesty's royal approbation and allowance thereof shall be signified to the governor or commander in chief of this province for the time being, any thing thereinbefore contained to the contrary thereof in any wise notwithstanding.

An Act to prevent frauds and abuses in the admeasuring and laying out his majesty's lands in this province.—Approved March 5, 1765. Vol. I. 313.

8. Sec. I. [Reciting the frauds and abuses that had been committed in consequence of the employing as chain carriers, negroes, and white persons not sworn. Enacts that after two months from the date of this act, no survey shall be made but with sworn chain carriers. Superseded, see Sec. 39.]

Sec. II. [All deputy surveyors shall take an oath therein mentioned. See Sec. 39.]

Sec. III. [All deputy surveyors shall give bond in 200 pounds, to be recorded in the secretary's office. See Sec. 39.]

Sec. IV. [Deputy surveyors shall forfeit 100 pounds for making a fraudulent survey. Obsolete.]

HEAD RIGHTS, &c.

An Act for opening a land office, and for the better settling and strengthening this State.—Approved June 7, 1777. Vol. I. 316.

Whereas there remains much vacant and uncultivated land in this State, the settlement of which is of the highest importance, wherefore it becomes necessary that all due encouragement should be given to persons to come and settle in this State, and by that means promote the increase of its inhabitants :

10. Sec. I. Be it therefore enacted, &c. That from and immediately after the passing of this act, an office shall be opened for the purpose of applying for and obtaining vacant lands, by persons entitled to the same in this State, under the regulations and rules hereinafter set forth; that is to say: Every free white person, or head of a family, shall be entitled to, allotted, and granted him, two hundred acres of land,* and for every other white person of the said family fifty acres of land, and fifty acres for every negro, the property of such white person or family: Provided, the said white person or family shall not have rights for more than ten negroes, and that they have not had land heretofore granted them in virtue of, and in right of the said ten negroes; and the governor or commander in chief for the time being, with the advice and consent of the executive council, shall have full power, and are hereby authorized to grant such tracts or lots of land to such person or persons so obtaining lands as aforesaid, under and by virtue of this act, and he or they shall, within six months, settle, plant, cultivate, and live on the same;† or in case such person or persons shall be disturbed in time of alarm or annoyance by any enemy, and obliged to remove from the lands so granted, such person or persons shall return to their respective settlements or plantations as soon as the enemy shall be repelled or removed, or the situation of affairs will permit.

11. Sec. II. All and every person or persons, who heretofore have had allotments of land in the province, now State of Georgia, and have continued and resided in said State, and all and every person or persons, who have settled on lands not allotted or granted heretofore, shall be continued on said lands, and confirmed in a title thereto, in preference to any other person or persons: Provided such person or persons so settled on, and possessing such lands, have rights, and are entitled to have the same granted him or them, according to the true intent and meaning of this act.*

* For head rights allowed in 1780, see Sec. 22; and in 1783, Sec. 32.

† This condition modified in 1780, see Sec. 22. Further defined in 1783, (Sec. 32, 34.) Dispensed with in 1784, (Sec. 62,) and again required by act of 1785, see Sec. 67.

Sec. III. [Directing absent claimants of lands to be notified by proclamation to return within six months, and settle, and cultivate them, or they should be deemed vacant—repealed by the first section of the next act.]

Allotments or grants not to be transferred until after five years' residence thereon.

12. Sec. IV. If any person or persons obtaining a confirmation of former allotments of land, or shall obtain a grant for lands now vacant, they, or their heirs or assigns, and shall not continue on the same under the regulations of this act, for and during the term of five years, he or they shall not be allowed to assign the said grants or allotments, and such assignments are hereby declared to be invalid and of no effect; and such lands so assigned shall be deemed vacant, and may be re-granted to any person or persons, who shall prove to the satisfaction of the governor and council, that the former possessors or occupiers of such lands have actually left the same, and this State.

Two shillings per hundred acres, and of five fees.

13. Sec. V. No other charge or expense, except the rent of two shillings for each hundred acres of land as heretofore, shall be laid on the said lands, but the expense of surveying and granting the same,† for and during the space of one year. And the lands so to be granted shall be surveyed and laid out in the following manner: viz. In either a square, or oblong figure, the length not to be more than double the breadth, as the nature of the lands may be, unless such as may lie between lands already granted, or that may hereafter be granted, and be bounded by such lines as may be necessary, or where such lands lie between the forks of rivers or creeks, then to be bounded by the said rivers or creeks;‡ and all persons that have had lands ordered them, and have not taken out grants for the same, or sold their warrants or rights for the same, or are either dead or left the State, such person or persons as have bought such warrants or rights and titles as aforesaid, and continued in this State, shall have such lands granted them, agreeable to such order or warrant so purchased.§

How to be surveyed.

Transferred warrants.

Persons building a grist-mill on vacant land entitled to one hundred acres.

14. Sec. VI. And in order to encourage the building of mills in this State: Be it enacted, &c. That if any person or persons shall build, or cause to be built, a grist-mill on any vacant land, he or they shall have one hundred acres of land reserved until the said mill be built and fit for use, and then shall have, and be entitled to receive a grant for the same; and every person or persons building, or causing to be built, a saw-mill on vacant land, shall have five hundred acres of land reserved until the said mill be built and fit for use, and then shall have, and be entitled to, and receive a grant for the same, as an encouragement for building such saw-mill, he, she, or they, paying the usual fees for surveying and granting the said lands.

For a saw-mill, five hundred acres.

Iron works, two thousand acres.

15. Sec. VII. Any person or persons willing to build a furnace or bloomery for working iron, and that will give security for completing the same, and shall actually continue making iron for the term of five years or upwards, shall be entitled to a reserve of two thousand acres of land, in one tract, and at the expiration of said term to have a grant for the same.||

Forge for making bar iron, two thousand acres.

16. Sec. VIII. Every person or persons who shall build a forge for

* See further as to pre-emptions, Sec. 19, 41.

† Purchase money required in 1783 and 1784, Sec. 32, 35, 53. Granted free of purchase as far as 1000 acres in 1785, Sec. 65.

‡ And as to marks and stations, see Sec. 54. The beginning corner, and the names of the surveyors and chain carriers, must be annexed to each plat, Sec. 81, 85. Where plats are lost, or not recorded, see Sec. 80, 90.

§ But transfers of warrants prohibited from 10th Dec. 1794, Sec. 87.

|| A similar provision in the act of 1780, Sec. 25.

making of bar iron, and give security for completing the said work, and shall actually continue the business of making bar iron for the term of five years, shall be entitled to a reserve of two thousand acres of land, in one tract, at the expiration of the said term, and shall have a grant for the same.*

17. Sec. IX. No person or persons, who have had lands already granted for their family, shall be entitled to land under this act. Former grantees not entitled. Continuation.

18. Sec. X. This act shall continue and be in force until the first day of January, in the year of our Lord 1778, and from thence till the end of the next session of the assembly.

An Act to amend and repeal part of the foregoing.—Approved Sept. 16, 1777.
Vol. I. 318.

Sec. I. [Repeals the third section of the foregoing act.]

19. Sec. II. If any person or persons have heretofore had allotments of lands within this State, on any special contract heretofore made, and have paid the deposit money required, such person or persons shall have a grant or grants for the same. Holders of former allotments, &c. to have grants for the same.

And whereas the constitution of this State directs, that each county shall keep the public records belonging to the same; and as a change of government may have rendered it unnecessary that the grants of land should be audited as formerly:

20. Sec. III. Be it enacted, &c. That all surveys which are legally made, and returned into the surveyor general's office, shall be recorded, and a certified copy thereof delivered to the attorney for the State, so that fiats may be by him prepared and delivered without delay to the secretary's office, that grants may be made out and signed for the said lands agreeable to the constitution, which said grants shall be registered in the county where such land lieth; † which record shall be, and is hereby declared to be good and valid in law, any thing herein before to the contrary in any wise notwithstanding. Grants to be recorded in the surveyor general's office, and in the county surveyor's office.

21. Sec. IV. This act shall be and continue in force until the first day of January next, and from thence to the end of the next session of assembly. Continuation.

An Act for the more speedy and effectual settling and strengthening this State.
Approved Jan. 23, 1780. † Vol. I. 319. §

And whereas the rich and healthy lands in Wilkes county, and elsewhere in this State, remain unsettled, to the great detriment of the commerce and strength of the same, while many of the citizens of this State are suffering by their lands being in the hands of the enemy;

* A similar provision in the act of 1780, Sec. 25.

† Not now necessary, see Sec. 78. See further as to the forms of passing grants, Sec. 35, 69.

‡ The date of this act, as to the year, appears by Watkins, 237, to have been ascertained, not by the act itself, but by a recital in the preamble of an act in July 1783. [See Vol. I. 132.] Now as Augusta and Savannah were both in possession of the enemy, from the last of January, 1779, to the 5th of June, 1781. [I. McCall's Hist. 175, 192, 379, 421;] and as there can be found but this one act, public or private of that year, there seems some grounds to doubt whether the legislative body sat in 1780. The compiler has never been able to hear of any. The Legislature did sit in January, 1783; and may not that be the true date? There may have occurred a clerical or typographical omission of the word "three" in the preamble in July, 1783, which, in its phraseology, seems to indicate two sessions in the same year; for it speaks of the act in question as having been passed in the January session of the year mentioned.

§ To the XIth Sec. inclusive, relative to Augusta—superseded by act of 1783. Vol. I. 132.

and others being willing to settle and defend the same, as heretofore mentioned.

Head rights. 22. Sec. XII. Be it therefore enacted, &c. That every citizen of this State, as well as any citizens of any other State, shall be entitled to a grant of land, in the following manner: viz. two hundred acres of land for the head of a family, and fifty acres for each member of the same, whether white or black; to be laid out any where in this State, not in the possession of the Indians. Provided, that every such person, before he shall obtain such grant, shall bring the whole of his family into this State, and himself take and subscribe the oaths of government. And provided also, that he shall give security to his honor the governor and council for settling the same within nine months next thereafter.

Proviso.
Grantees must bring their families, and take the oaths of government, within nine months.
Preference
given to settlements under the commissioners.

23. Sec. XIII. Where it shall appear that the commissioners under the former government sold and made allotments to any persons, who have settled, and still possess the same, such persons shall have grants in preference to any other persons whatever.

Sec. XIV. [Exempts Wilkes settlers from militia service for two years—obsolete. Sec. XV. Directs 100 acres of land to be laid off for the town of Washington, to be sold and granted as directed in this act respecting the lots in Augusta. See Vol. I. 319—20. Local. Sec. XVI. Directs all holders of surveys, who are out of the State, to come in, and settle their lands, within three months from the proclamation which the governor is empowered to issue, or their lands shall be deemed vacant. Time extended, see Sec. 46.]

24. Sec. XVII. The following shall be the form of all grants of land within this State:

By authority of the Legislature of the State of Georgia.

Form of Grants.

I, A. B., governor and commander in chief of the said State, by and with the advice of the executive council of the same, now present, do give and grant to C. D. all that, &c.—To have and to hold the said tract of land, with all the premises and appurtenances, to him the said C. D., his heirs and assigns for ever, in fee simple.

Given under my hand and the great seal of the said State, this — day of — in the year of our Lord God, one thousand seven hundred, &c.

By his honor, &c.*

And whereas it will tend greatly to the interest and strength of the State to establish manufactories of iron: to the end therefore of encouraging able and proper persons to undertake the same, 9000 acres granted to persons giving security to build a forge, bloomery, or furnace.

25. Sec. XVIII. Be it enacted, &c. That any person or persons who will give approved security to his honor the governor and council, for erecting proper and effectual works for that purpose, shall be entitled to a grant of two thousand acres for a forge, and two thousand acres for a bloomery, and two thousand acres for a furnace.

And whereas it may so be that a number of warrants and returns of plats may be lost in our late confused state: for remedy whereof,

Grants to issue where the plats, &c. are lost.

26. Sec. XIX. Be it enacted, &c. That where it shall appear upon oath that any such paper or description of land may have been lost, that grants shall pass for the same notwithstanding, free of new expense.†

Surveys on the Indian land declared null and void.

27. Sec. XX. No warrant, survey, or plat, made or laid out in the lands yet within the lines of the Indians, shall be held valid, and the same is hereby declared null and void, to all intents and purposes whatever, nor shall any grant which may hereafter be surreptitiously obtained, be deemed legal, or of any effect.

* For the forms afterwards used, see Sec. 43, 82.

† As to deaths or intermarriages, see Evidence, Sec. 14, 15.

And whereas no grants have yet been signed and passed for many allotments, warrants and returns of land;

28. Sec. XXI. Be it therefore enacted, &c. That his honor the governor in council be empowered to sign, seal, and pass grants for the same as soon as possible; and to all other persons who shall apply for lands in the terms of this act, and of the before-mentioned act, commonly called the land act. The governor or to sign and pass grants, &c.

Sec. XXII. [Empowers the governor to issue a proclamation and send agents to invite settlers.—Obsolete.]

Whereas certain persons, citizens of this and the State of South Carolina, and friends to the independency of the same, claim, that the lands in the county of Wilkes were originally given up and ceded to the government of great Britain by the Creek and Cherokee Indians, in satisfaction and discharge of certain debts and arrears due by the said Indians to the said certain persons commonly called Indian traders;

29. Sec. XXIII. Be it therefore enacted, That any person having or pretending to have any such claim, do lay their claims and accounts before this or some future house of assembly, to be examined; and whatever claims shall be found just and proper, and due to the friends of America, shall be paid by treasury certificates for the amount, payable within two, three, and four years, and carrying six per cent. interest. Claims of Indian traders to lands in Wilkes county, to be examined and adjusted by the assembly.

Sec. XXIV. [Appoints commissioners for Augusta and Washington.—Local and temporary.]

30. Sec. XXV. This shall be deemed a public act, and shall be given at any time specially in evidence. A public act.

An Act to amend the several Acts for the better regulation of the Militia of this State.—Approved Aug. 20, 1781. Watk. 238.

And whereas numbers of persons are daily absenting themselves, and leaving their fellow-citizens to encounter the difficulties of the present crisis,

31. Sec. VIII. Be it enacted, &c. That any person or persons who shall produce a certificate from the commanding officer of the district to which he belongs, to the legislature of this State, (on the total expulsion of the enemy from it,) of his having steadfastly done his duty from the time of passing this act, shall be entitled to two hundred and fifty acres of good land (which shall be exempt from taxes for the space of ten years thereafter;*) Provided such person or persons cannot be convicted of plundering or distressing the country. Soldiers and others, faithfully doing their duty, entitled to a bounty of 250 acres of good land, exempt from tax ten years.

An Act for opening the Land-office, and for other purposes therein mentioned.—Approved Feb. 17, 1783. Vol. I. 323.

Whereas it will tend much to the benefit and advantage of this State, that the unlocated lands within the same be granted out, and that all due encouragement be given to the immediate settlement thereof,

32. Sec. I. Be it therefore enacted, &c. That from and immediately after the passing of this act, the land-office shall and the same is hereby declared to be opened, and all and every person and persons applying for land agreeable to the terms hereinafter mentioned, shall be entitled to a grant of the same, that is to say, each master or head Land-office opened. Head rights.

* And see Sec. 33, 60.

Rates of purchase.

Proviso.

No one person to receive more than 1,000 acres. Twelve months' previous settlement and cultivation necessary.

The governor or shall issue warrants to officers, soldiers, and others, agreeable to their certificates.

Settlement and cultivation necessary to obtaining a grant.

To be a surveyor general for the State, and a surveyor for each county. Duty of county surveyors.

Shall record all plats in two months, &c. and transmit a copy thereof in three months to the surveyor general's office. Duty of the surveyor general. Form of executing grants.

